Last year the play which won the Cody Award went on to win the Southern Ontario College Drama Festival and was then invited to attend the Eastern Ontario College Drama Festival but was prevented from doing so by the nearness of exam time.

Student Management

When first started the plays were selected, cast and directed by the professors. Soon the students were given more responsibility and a few years ago every phase of the production was turned over to the students.

This has been developed to the extent that now the entire evening's stage management is co-ordinated by one student. The executive of the Drama Committee is made up of President and Vice President of the various college dramatic clubs.

Blurb School

They Rise By Night

By IAN MONTAGNES

"I'll give one dollar to the person who can tell me what major contribution to advertising was made in the fourteenth century." This wasn't a radio quizmaster speaking It was Mr. Alec Phare speaking to the students following the University Extension Course in Advertising.

That isn't the only way Mr. Phare tries to maintain interest in his lectures.

Displaying a pound of tea at one session, he explained that an ad had to be written to fit the small cards inside the package. The pupil coming closest to the copy already in use received the pound of tea!

This is only one of the many Extension Courses which take place four nights a week in the buildings at the South end of the campus. The Subjects covered stretch from Sociology to Accounting and from Personnel Administrative to Chinese.

The 14,000 people attending the courses are from every station of life and of every age. One of the students at the Advertising course is the General Manager of a large milling company; the majority are just going into business. One student comes all the way from Hamilton each week; there are also students from C & F at Toronto.

Mr. Phare tries to make things a little different each week. One week he will have a special lecturer; another time he will have a movie, and he is planning to have radio and television demonstrations. The guest speakers are experts in their fields; the last lecturer was Arthur Benson, Production Manager of a large Canadian trade paper, who spoke on writing advertising copy for newspapers.

Phare himself is no newcomer to the advertising industry. He has worked in it for thirty-five years and is now Managing Director of R. C. Smith and Son. This is his eighteenth year teaching the subject.

People come to the course for all kinds of reasons. Those attending the lectures on academic subjects come merely from interest in the subject, or self-improvement. Those attending the business lectures are looking for advancement in their company or maybe just for a refresher.

In addition to these and completely separate from the other courses, are the lectures leading to a B.A. Mostly teachers follow these lectures which correspond to a Pass course but which take between five or six years.

The most popular courses in the academic field are home furnishing, public speaking, and accounting; those in the business courses are salesmanship, advertising, and purchasing.

The Extension Courses are run by the University under the direction of Dr. W. J. Dunlop. Many University professors and lecturers are included in the staff. This is the thirtieth year they have been running.

Some of the courses however are conducted by outside organizations. For example, that on Advertising is run by the Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto, which presents certificates at the end of term.

The courses have had many successful graduates. This is particularly noticeable in the Pass Course for Teachers, which boasts some top educators as former students. One is now in Abyssinia, setting up an educational system for Haile Selassie. Others are principals at some Toronto high schools.

The most interesting case though, is that of Mr. Phare's former cab driver. After months of driving Mr. Phare to the lectures, the cabbie decided to take the course himself. He is now the advertising manager for a large firm producing agricultural implements.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... David Armour, 5T2
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Art Payne

ASSISTANTS: Collette Ferguson, Kathlyn Smith, Jim Simpson, Don Stevenson

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1949

American Mongrels

With the need for college training at an all-time high, all students looking for higher education must have read with interest the recent announcement from Texas concerning the establishment there of a new university. Texas millionaire George Armstrong said last Sunday that he plans to use fifty million dollars worth of mineral rights to establish in Fort Worth or Port Arthur a university based on his ideas of democracy and the supremacy of the white race.

That this will be a radically different school, something new on the North American college scene, there can be little doubt. One of the ideas to be taught in the college will be that Jews and Gentiles together in the schools tends to "mongrelize the American race."

If all the departments in this new college are to be as radical as the anthropolgy department, the curriculum should be an interesting study in perversion. The only group of people we have ever heard of which might be called an "American race" is the red Indian and that "race" seems to be in greater danger of extinction than of "mongrelization." The ancestry of the rest of the American and Canadian nations is so mixed up that any attempt to keep it from further mixing is lost labor.

Another of Mr. Armstrong's private whims is that any instructor of "African or Asiatic origin" is unfit to teach in his new university. The principle behind this idea has been propounded before but it still sounds forth with a clear note of cowardice.

In making the announcement of the establishment of the new university, Mr. Armstrong said, "I want a school for white Christians only and we need education on Communism and true constitutional government." Though his meaning is obscure, this statement sounds as if Mr. Armstrong considers white Christians the only people capable of administrating a true constitutional government based on Communist principles; not any sillier than the other ideas to be taught at Armstrong University.

Mr. Armstrong had previously offered his fifty million conditioned dollars to Jefferson Military College of Natchez, Mississippi. After announcing that the Board of Trustees of that College had accepted his offer on his terms, he found the Board had reconsidered and decided to refuse.

Knowing how hard it is to find enowments for educational institutions we are sure the Board of Trustees of Jefferson Military College must be a group of men with either high principles or a great fear of public opinion.

This new university sounds like a fine opportunity for students—students with few moral principles (preferably none)—to get in on the ground floor of a new and obviously different type of education.

While most of the world makes a sincere effort toward inter-racial understanding, people like this "educationalist" —people with more money than brains and bigger mouths than either wallet or brains—undo much of the work that has been done in the field of racial tolerance.

Our Readers Write

Condemns Arrangements

Editor, The Varsity:

There is a point where college spirit and exuberance cease to be amusing, elevating or inspiring and become merely destructive, cruel and infantile. For some of us this point is reached sooner than for others, but on Saturday last any non-exuberant individual attempting to line up for seats at the south-east gate of Varsity Stadium must surely have been somewhat taken aback.

It is one thing to laugh and cheer at the hilarious antics of screamingly funny blue and white horses or at a long train which effectively if rudely blots out the visiting team's band display with a less than musical horn, but when four women are seen in tears, one obviously badly hurt, before the game even starts, college spirit has surely gone too far. There was no organization at the entrance gate beyond a bewildered group of marshals and policemen which seemed quite overcome by the surging mob and certainly did nothing to stem its onrush or succour its victims.

There were no queues; only a seething crowd of frenzied students each of whom was apparently striving spiritedly and violently to get ahead of the next, meanwhile relentlessly forcing those at the front against metal railings and those in the middle to near suffocation.

Somebody is responsible for this. There used to be a separate line for each college to follow, but on Saturday those in charge grossly overestimated the average maturity level of students filled with a quality which in recent weeks has provoked much criticism, physical injury and mental atrophy, namely college spirit, and so failed to provide any supervision of the crowd.

I suggest that steps be taken to insure that similar chaos does not occur next Saturday.

N. Bruce McLeod,
IV Trinity

Upholds Medina

Editor, The Varsity:

Re. Mr. Morton's letter in last Friday's Varsity dealing with the accusation, trial, condemnation and sentence of the American Communist leaders:—

(1) These men were accused of actions and meditated actions punishable under an American federal statute duly enacted by the elected representatives of the American people in Congress. They were accused of an offense known to the law of the land.

(2) But accusation alone did not automatically bring condemnation and sentence by a government tool called "judge". Condemnation resulted from the opinions, on the evidence of a jury of the Americans

(Continued on Page 7)

University Health Service

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

NEW STUDENTS AND ATHLETES: the health examination is compulsory. Appointments must be made by November 4th.

ALL OTHER STUDENTS: the health examination is voluntary. Appointments are now being accepted.

Contact the Health Service, 43 St. George Street
Telephone: Men—MI 9644, Women—MI 2646

1949
RUGBY FILM
in
HART HOUSE THEATRE
Tuesday, November 1
1:00 o'clock
Admission 10c
RED FEATHER

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICE
Second Mental Health Discussion Period
"The Price of Knowledge"
Discussant: Mr. J. R. Seeley, Department of Psychiatry
Thursday, 3rd November, at 8.00 p.m.
in the Lecture Theatre, Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place.
ALL STUDENTS ARE INVITED, BUT ESPECIALLY FIRST YEAR

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

ART CLASS

The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

ARCHERY

Shooting will take place in the range tonight at 7.30.

GLEE CLUB

There will be a regular rehearsal of the Glee Club in the Music Room at 5.00 p.m. today.

RECORD HOUR

A Library Record Hour will be held in the Record Room at 1.30 today.

CAMERA CLUB

Instructional classes in Film Developing and Contact Printing will begin tonight. Members desiring to attend, please sign lists in Camera Club rooms immediately.

TALK IN ART GALLERY

Mr. John Ensor whose work is now on exhibition in the Hart House Art Gallery, will give a talk on the show on Thursday, 3rd November, at 1.30 p.m. in the gallery.

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, Noyember 1, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

1,000 Tickets On Sale Today For McGill Tilt

About 1,000 reserved-seat tickets went on sale yesterday morning for the Varsity-McGill game here next Saturday. The sale, for the student body only, opened at 9 a.m. at the Stadium box office on Devonshire Place. The greatest buying period was until about 10.30, after which time till the closing of the sale at noon, students just "trickled" in.

The McGill student body and alumnae requested another 1,000 of the tickets, and that number has been sent for sale in Montreal.

This leaves a final 1,000 more DAY at the Toronto agencies and tickets which will go on sale TO-the the Hart House box office at 9 a.m. This sale is for the general public, but any students who were unable to get their extra tickets yesterday at the stadium may do so today according to the Athletic Association.

There will not be the line-ups there were last week, for most of the seats used for the grads are on the general sale at the agencies, and not available at the Athletic Office.

Post Office Employment To Use 2000 Students During Holiday Season

Yesterday saw the first students applying for Post Office Christmas rush employment. Applications for men were being received at the Students' Administrative Council in Hart House and women were applying at the S.A.C. offices in the basement of U.C.

There are three different positions open — letter carriers, letter sorters, and mail porters. A mail porter's job consists of those duties which do not fall into the first two classifications.

All positions pay the same wage of 70 cents an hour. The duration of the employment is between 8 and 13 days and each day is broken into three shifts from 8 a.m. - 3.30 p.m.; 4 p.m. - 11.30 p.m.; and 12 midnight to 7.30 a.m. Applicants can work at the Post Office sub station nearest their home, and within reason can choose which shift to work on.

Mr. E. J. Halse, a representative of the National Employment Service who is handling the applications through the S.A.C. offices in Hart House, stated that there are 6,834 openings in the Post Office at Christmas. However he thinks that only 2000 of these positions will be filled by university students.

By 2 p.m. yesterday over 200 men had applied and approximately 60 women and the halls of Hart House were still jammed. Students interested in the jobs were advised to hurry their applications.

Motion Pictures Powerful Medium Richter Claims

The freedom of the artist is limited in film making, Hans Richter told a group of students in the Museum Theatre yesterday.

"The main reason for this limitation is that the production of a film is complicated," Richter said. "A lot of organization, technical and money problems involved cut down the freedom of the artist."

In his talk on "Art and the Experimental Film" sponsored by the Art and Archaeology department, Richter stressed the artist working with film is not allowed to be an artist in the same way as in the fine arts. Despite this curb on the artist there is a widespread desire to use film as a creative medium. "For it still remains," Richter continued, "the most powerful medium of our modern society.

"In the last 20 years I have tried to show that this curb on the artist can be changed," said the producer-director of "Dreams That Money Can Buy." Throughout Europe and

(Continued on Page 7)

Conductor

SIR ERNEST MacMILLAN

Gargoyle Show Leg Held Up — Tickets To-day

Follies tickets go on sale in the rotunda at 2 p.m. today. "Goils and Gargoyles" will open at Hart House Theatre on November 11, and will run through six performances on that and the following evening.

It is hoped that an immense high kicking leg will be prominently displayed on the walls of UC either today or tomorrow. However, the publicity committee is meeting with some objection and may have to delay the presentation of this masterpiece until a more opportune moment.

The skits after some delay and trouble with censors, etc., are finally well under way. Practises have been numerous, and there will be many more for all the cast before the show hits Hart House some ten days hence.

Float Committee Announces Winners

Trinity College was given undeserved credit as winner of second place in last Saturday's Float Parade in yesterday's The Varsity. Chairman Dave Hughson of the Blue and White Float Parade Committee has announced that the winners of the Float Parade were: First — School of Architecture with their Train of Tomorrow; Second —SPS; and Third — St. Michael's College.

Meds Show Praised As "Unifier"

The ticket sale for Panacea has started to mount as the resistance between faculties and colleges melts before the energy of the Medical Socity.

The first All-Varsity Dance to be sponsored by one faculty would seem to be due for success at latest reports. Most of the other colleges have added their support to the growing list of enthusiasts.

There are Panacea tickets for sale at all the college society offices except UC and Vic, and pledges for support from the others are now being enacted.

This dance will be one of the largest affairs ever undertaken by one society, and includes displays of swimming as well as the usual variety of dancing. Three orchestras will be in attendance, Benny Louis, Jim MacDonald and Len Duke.

Two Variety Shows will be put on at this All-Varsity Dance, in the Great Hall. They will feature the Medical Glee Club as well as other visiting artists.

Commendations have been showered on the Medical Society for their efforts to foster University Spirit, instead of the usual insular attitude met on the various campi within so large a University ". . . its success will be of great benefit to the University and a feather in the cap of the Medical Society . . ." is a typical reaction to the plans, and a direct quote from a letter of acceptance from the St. Mike's SAC.

Saturday Lineup Crush Threatens Fans' Safety; Students Demand Action

Action will soon be taken to satisfy complaints of crowding and jostling in the lineup for last Saturday's rugby game, UC Lit President Jack Hoolihan announced yesterday. He said the student councils of St. Michael's, Victoria and University Colleges, in conjunction with Athletic Directorate Financial Secretary J. P. Loosemore will issue a statement in The Varsity tomorrow in which they will outline plans to prevent a repetition of the situation.

Several Girls Mauled

Hoolihan said several men students have reported that their girl friends were badly mauled, jostled and frightened when the crowd surged into Varsity Stadium after the entrance was opened. He complained that there should have been more than one entrance for the students and more ushers to handle the crowd.

"The conduct of the students was a disgrace to the University," Hoolihan stated. "Also, the facilities were totally inadequate in respect to entrances, ushers and seating."

He said he had personally seen several girls in tears and in obvious pain. One girl had been pinned against a steel post by the hurrying students for at least three minutes.

"At one time the fellow behind me had his back pressed against mine," Hoolihan commented. "I am sure he was trying to force his way through by pushing with his feet against the people behind him."

(See letter in "Our Readers Write" column on page two for another student's opinion on the matter.)

New Sections Give Stadium Needed Room

Warren Stevens, University of Toronto athletic director announced last week that the seating capacity of Varsity Stadium will soon be increased to accommodate a possible 23,500. The concrete stands on the northwest and southwest corners will be completed, with a total of nine new sections.

The plans for these additions have been on file since 1924, but the need for a larger seating capacity has only recently become acute. Since the increase in enrolment, costs have delayed the work on extension. Director Stevens had hoped to get the work done at a reasonable price last summer.

Plans for the near future include completing the concrete horseshoe by building on the west side, thus increasing the total seating capacity to 30,000. Also contemplated are the renovation of the covered stands, building 5,000 seats in the corners of the stadium next spring, and adding a new concrete floor to the arena in 1950. This will make possible basketball games at which, with floor seats, there will be seating accommodation for 6,500, and an increase to a 4,800 capacity at hockey games.

Director Stevens foresees a future extension to the arena which will join it to the Museum, and contain squash courts, basketball courts, a swiming pool, and other attractions. Meanwhile he is concentrating on allowing more fans to see the rugby games with less physical torture.

Tragedy Follows Victory Doctor Collapses At Game

Tragedy followed victory on Saturday as Dr. Frederick W. Hipwell, 56-year-old diabetes specialist, took ill during the Varsity-Western game and died soon afterwards at the Western Hospital. Dr. Hipwell was a close friend of the late Sir Frederick Banting of the Banting Institute, and took over his practice when Sir Frederick went into research work.

Dr. Hipwell graduated from the Toronto medical school in 1917 having previously attended Victoria College and Alliston High School. A veteran of the Medical Corps of World War I, he served on medical boards during World War II. He was on the staff of the Western Hospital, vice-president of the University of Toronto medical alumni, and medical advisor to the Royal Bank of Canada.

Dr. Hipwell was a member of the American Diabetes Association and an Honorary Fellow of the New York Diabetes Association. His specialization did not interfere with his maintenance of the Child Welfare Clinic which he started in 1919, and in which he took a keen interest. His favourite hobby was photography, and he took the last pictures of Sir Frederick Banting in the latter's home prior to his departure on an airplane trip which resulted in his death in a crash over Newfoundland.

Phyllis Marshall Plus Skule Four At A.C.-D.C. Dance

The Electrical-At-Home, official dance of the Electrical Engineering course at S.P.S., will take place this Friday, Electrical chairman Ernie Weston announced last night. The dance, open to all four years of Electrical Engineering, will be held in Columbus Hall.

Entertainment planned includes blues singer Phyllis Marshall and the Four Flushers, an infamous Skule quartet.

Commenting on the program, Weston said, "Phyllis Marshall's singing is promised to send tingles back and forth from the end of your toes to the tip of your fingers." The Four Flushers have several new numbers on tap, and Jack Evans, who will be handling the dance chores, is very easy to dance to."

Tickets are now obtainable from class reps.

Nice Passing

The Mustangs were not the only ones who took a beating at Saturday's game. An ardent Blues supporter became so excited with Toronto's forward passing that he attempted one with an empty whisky bottle. The receiver got such a clout on the head that he was removed to Toronto General Hospital for four stitches. Fifth Precinct Police Station welcomed the passer. It was discovered that neither were students.

Wasting No Time

All This And Youth Too!

Henry Kaplan, director of the Victoria College Dramatic Society production, "All My Sons," is a Varsity graduate who has definitely established himself in the dramatic world. Only 23-years-old, he has already had considerable experience in U.S. and Canadian theatre.

During hish years as an undergrad at U.C., Hank was closely associated with the Hart House productions, assisting Robert Gill in directing during the season of 46-47, and taking part in the production of "St. Joan", "The Infernal Machine," and "Winterset."

Outside of Hart House theatre, he directed "Awake and Sing" which won the Cody Award for the year 46-47, and the All Varsity Revue in 1946. He also did the choreography for the U.C. Follies during three successive years, and for the Meds Daffydil Nite.

In the summer of 1947, Hank spent thirteen weeks in Woodstock, N.Y., working with such celebrities as Elissa Landi, Ilka Chase, and Edward Everett Horton. Last summer he spent in dramatics in Lyndonville, Vermont. In the 1948 summer season he stayed in Canada, directing an eight week season at Bracebridge, Muskoka.

Last year he directed an arena production, the first of its kind in Canada, called "The Silver Cord," for St. Michael's Dramatic Society. His direction of "Another Part of the Forest" was rewarded when the play won the prize at the Central Ontario Drama Festival. He successfully turned his directing talent to the movies with the U. of T. film society documentary film "As the Twig is Bent."

Commenting on his visits to the U.S., Hank says that he would prefer to stay in Canada except that the opportunities for young artists are rare. He believes that there is room for a permanent national theatre in Canada as well as the recently established professional theatres in large population centres.

Tall dark and handsome, Hank obviously doesn't have much time for extra-dramatic interests. His tastes are rather Epicurean, and those associated with him know him as a lover of good menus and by his habit of adding the suffix "at all" to almost every sentence. The Vic Drama Club assures him that they are hardly proud 'at all' to have his invaluable assistance with "All My Sons" this year.

Giving out with the emotions are John Finlay and David Gardner while rehearsing for the Victoria College Dramatic Society Production of "All My Sons" which will be presented at Hart House Theatre Thursday November 3 through Saturday November 5, under the direction of Henry Kaplan.

INST. MGMT. ELECTIONS BE ON THE LOOKOUT

First Year Institutional Management election results were: Undergraduate Society First Vice-president, Ebbie Lipson; Treasurer, June Buist; First Year President, Mac McKay; Vice-President, Jack Pattenick; Secretary-Treasurer, Bill Slater.

Women's Page

Finds US Coeds Chic, Girls Here Friendlier

By FRED BOTTOME

(Ed. note—Fred attended the University of Connecticut for two years on the GI Bill of Rights before he came to Toronto last year. He likes it so much at Varsity that he persuaded a couple of his pals to join him here.)

I have had the opportunity to compare women in universities both in Canada and the States and I like them all. The Canadian woman is well adjusted, amiable, and willing to strike up a friendship without a defensive attitude. They are not as aloof, haughty or false. It's a pleasure to meet a woman and know she isn't putting on a big front just to impress the male.

Spirit is stronger towards the university, its outside functions and fraternities. This leads to better male participation for he enjoys their admiration and appreciation in everything from football to school plays.

Not As Smart

The Canadian woman, whether intrinsically conservative or just not style conscious, doesn't dress as smartly or as carefully. By dressing carefully I mean matching ensemble, dressing for the occasion at all times or wearing a girdle, if needed, when in public. I'm sure it's more comfortable without one but oh . . . those bulges. They haven't followed the style trend from their hair to their hose.

The American woman is frequently on the defensive and it's her normal self when meeting a person. She strives to make an impression and it appears as an effort. If it's a male she's meeting, there is the defensive preparation to rebuke his advances, with the assumption that all men are after the same thing. The male has to break the ice, which is all right, but it takes so long to warm things up. Of the two universities I attended I found this true more so in New England than in the south.

American Girls "Spoiled"

They are harder to please or satisfy and expect more money to be spent on them. This causes them to be spoiled, which they are, but yet are not as happy as the Canadian.

The women south of the border are more feminine, being graceful and smartly dressed. One won't find them coming to class in a tea dress. A woman may look feminine in slacks, if she can wear them, and I think it's proper attire during the winter. Maybe the American woman has to look more alluring because of competition. You may catch any fish with the right bait.

Will someone please tell me when the next boat leaves for Lower Slobovia?

Skule Girl

"Not Sure About Forty Beers"

By HERB WOOD

You wouldn't believe it, unless we told you, but there are eight girls enrolled in SPS and along with the two frosh we met the other day it brings the grand total to ten. That is, as far as statistics at hand indicate.

Joan Musgrave, I Ceramics and Jane Philips I Chem. were easily holding their own with the other nimble-footed engineers on the hills behind the University library.

Concentrates on Bubble

At the moment this reporter found her, Miss Musgrave was concentrating like crazy on the spirit bubble on the levelling rod she was holding. Steadying the rod between he palms of her hands and with head bent she looked for all the world like a supplicant at vespers.

As you may have guessed, the essential thing is to keep that stick level. By the way, have you ever tried talking, let alone question someone who keeps his head bent? Anyone can see this was a difficult interview. Eventually, we got around to the subject of engineering.

(plug) "Engineering is wonderful", said Joan. "I guess I got the bug from Dad, he's an engineer.

"Golly, looking at this bubble is making me cross-eyed."

Not Sure About Beer

"Miss Musgave would you like to make a statement on the engineers' theme song?"

"I can sing the song easily enough, but as far as the forty beers are concerned . . . I'm not sure."

Checking with the three other male members of her surveying group we found them in full agreement regarding Miss Musgrave, as a colleague. "Miss Musgrave is a good head to work for, oops, I mean with", said Bill Goggin, I Metallurgy. Further she is indispensable when it comes to carrying delicate instruments.

Say doesn't a transit come under that classification?

One more point fellows. Doesn't it distract you when you're looking through the transit and a girl's face shows up along with stick measurements?

"Doesn't bother us a bit" they chorused. "Here take a look."

Hum . . . I see what you mean. Her face is upside down.

Jane Chains

Further up the hill we met Jane Philips. She was busy chaining. that's an engineering term I picked up during the day. She was nice about the whole thing, even took time out to sit down and talk.

I couldn't help but notice the strange way she was moving her head from side to side as we talked. I tried to follow, just to be polite, mind you, till I felt like a ping-pong ball.

Then I caught on. She was shielding her eyes from the sun with the shadow from my head. Silly of me not to have seen that in the first place . . . wasn't it?

Miss Philips, do you really like climbing over these hills and tearing your nylons to boot? Yes, she was enjoying the whole thing too.

Accepted as Equals

According to Miss Philips, she has been planning for the last four years to enter engineering. "Engineering is something practical, and a degree is a form of life insurance." she said. She would like to wok in a big industrial plant like Du Ponts. But in the next breath, she stated that she also wanted to be a housewife.

That the engineers have accepted the girls as equals is evidenced by the election of Miss Philips as first year rep. to the International Chemical Club.

On Other Campi

By Canadian University Press

The latest style in college headgear has been introduced on the McGill campus. Called a "wiggy", the hat is a cotton creation with six alternately colored panels and a visor.

It has been adapted from a type of hat which is, allegedly, "all the rage on American campuses just now". It is hoped that men as well as women will wear the innovation.

✣ ✣ ✣

"Girls—get on the ball" is the current slogan at Ubyssey. In an effort to get more people out to UBC football games, little gold footballs are being offered to the first fifty girls who take five men to the game against Central Washington College. The girls can use any tactics they wish to get their men into the game — but they must all buy tickets. Privilege passes aren't any good.

✣ ✣ ✣

At McMaster, a small group of "farmers" disposed of part of their bumper crop of tomatoes by showering the door of the University building.

✣ ✣ ✣

There was a maiden Circassion
Was loved by a gen'leman of fashion
* * * * *
* * * * *
(The asterisks indicate passion).
—Cup.

✣ ✣ ✣

My Lady beware of cupid,
And list to the lines of this verse.
To let a fool kiss you is stupid,
To let a kiss fool you is worse.
—Cup.

Abductors

(Continued from Page 1)

me get her back. Very disgusted."

Contacted last night Whaley still did not know where Miss Ellis was being kept, but seemed to be very eager to see her again. He said that he would try to be on hand when she was returned at one o'clock.

In the meantime the UC Lit have started to take legal action against the Engineering Society. A writ of information was sworn before a magistrate, and action is awaited by the executive of both the Society and the Lit.

BE ON THE LOOKOUT

Our roving reporter, Jack Campbell, is on the prowl again. He is busy circulating among the coeds on the campus trying to find out what they think is wrong about the men on the campus. Got any ideas?

ROAMAROUND DANCE
AFTER THE McGILL GAME SAT. NITE NOV. 5

Dancing In:
- Hart House Gyms
- Drill Hall
- And Others

Ticket Sales Today At:
- S.A.C. — Hart House
- Women's S.A.C., Room 62, U.C.
- Skule Stores
- V.C.U. Offices

Music by Art Hallman, Johnny Perkins, Stan Patton & Others
McGill will be there too.

Leader in College Show for 25 Years

U.C. FOLLIES
"Goils And Gargoyles"
Hart House Theatre, Nov. 11 and 12
TICKET SALE OPENS TODAY
2-4, U.C. Rotunda

REGULAR SALES:
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Nov. 2, 3 and 4 — 10-2, Rotunda

PRICES:
Fri. Show and Dance — $3 per couple
Fri. Dance (3 big orchestras featuring Frank Bogart) — $1.50 per couple
Sat. Show — $1.50 per couple (singles sold)
Special Sat. Dance — 50c per couple

FRI. SHOW RESTRICTED TO UC-PHE

ARRANGE TO GET YOUR TICKETS EARLY DON'T BE DISAPPOINTED

After McGill-Varsity Game
COLOSSAL
RUGBY DANCE
featuring
Mart KENNEY + Boyd Valleau
2—BALLROOMS—2
Royal York Hotel
TICKETS—3.00 Per Couple—at 112 St. George or Door

In loving memory of the late Doubting Thomas. He had a terrific pair of GABARDINE TROUSERS TAILORED TO HIS MEASURE WITHIN 5 DAYS for ONLY $14.95 at

Embassy Clothes
287 COLLEGE ST.
Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. on the south side.

Alas the shock killed him.

Male Advice

How To Trap A Man

By BOB DNIEPER

Girls! You beautiful creatures, ful! Have you ever thought of apping a man? Yes? Well, your omen's Editor asked me for the en's angle on trapping same, so am hereby lecturing on how to ap men.

There are two schools of thought man-trapping: to wit and viz.. e women's side and the men's de. The women's side is of course e one that tells you that you ve to make yourself alluring, lead m on, play hard to get, and resort other obnoxious routines. Now give you the True Word, the en's side.

Slow Ground Attack

In the first place, pick out the rect of your affections-to-be (not e object of attack as the women uld say), and decide definitely at he is the only one for you is puts you into the proper sub-ssive frame of mind. Next, figure a way to meet him, or be intro-ced; if you happen to be a swell looking blonde, you could console yourself with the thought that he is probably breaking his neck in hopes of meeting you.

When you have made "First Contact," reassemble your forces for a slow ground attack. During this period you should do little things for him, such as carry his books, shine his shoes, mind his kid sister when he's out on a date with another girl, or any such small favors.

Simple Dinner

When the groundwork has been laid, you could open up with your big guns . . invite him to dinner. The dinner should not be unduly large or fancy the first time—roast turkey and caviar sandwiches will suffice if accompanied by champagne. After the dinner you should make him feel right at home by sitting him in the softest chair in the house, taking off his shoes and putting your father's slippers on his itsy-bitsy feet. Cuddling up to him and telling him what a big strong handsome he is helps too.

You must, of course, look your sharpest when he is around . . wear your best nylons, slinkiest dress, and highest heeled shoes, even to his classes. If he does ask you out then, indicate to him that you would rather go dancing at the Sea-Breeze (35c) rather than to the Royal York, and that you would rather eat at Sloppy Joe's than at Winston's.

Wash His Shirts

Lending him your father's car, or if he is in residence, washing his shirts, will greatly enhance your chances. If you do all these things, chances are that after some months you will become indispensable to him, and he will be trapped.

BUT . . . if you are a beautiful looking babe, and are as nice as you think you are, just show yourself to him once . . . that will be sufficient.

(Women's Ed. note—The opinions expressed in this article are not necessarily those held by us. Anyone disagreeing with our noble writer from the Sports staff should address complaints. However anyone wishing to try out the above advice should phone Bob at EL. 2514. We're sure he'd be delighted to act as the recipient of your first attempts.)

Distaff Side

By ANNE BURTON and MARGOT MURRAY

Over the Homecoming Weekend epidemic was begun. It appears be contagious, since it obviously reads with great rapidity. What is Why Fall Fever, of course! his rampant disease reared a small d timid head at last Friday ht's pep rally, but a general sog-ess in the crowd and immunity wholesale Varsity spirit quickly alled it. But at Saturday morn-'s float parade, Fall Fever re-ned with the noise of the Lady odiva Memorial Band and the clang the Train of Tomorrow's bell.

No doubt the germs of the disease re spread in the crush at the dent's entrance to the Stadium, ause at two-fifteen as rugby m met rugby team in mortal mbat on the green sward, the demic was already taking its t. Witness the scene at halftime, h the intermingling of chariot es, the Birth of the Blues, the stern band (sadly overpowered the above-mentioned bell), and uncontrolled clowning.

And how many times did you up up and down like a jack bbit (or behave like a jack ass) en they played the Blue and ite? Is not this indeed a vast d (un) dread malignant plague that (if you'l pardon the expression) has taken hold of the student body?

Fall Fever has an insidious way of attacking. During the game ("We want a touchdown!") did you find that the men around you shouted "What a tackle!" and "How about that line!" with much greater gusto than ever before? Did you also find that you had a slight clue what all this shouting was about, instead of being sweetly ignorant of what was going on in the seething mass of players that were chasing around the field? Couldn't you tell by the general feeling in the air when the great touchdown was made, instead of having to wait for the cartwheels and singing?

Didn't you catch yourself yelling "offside" as a player crossed the line of scrimmage too soon—and then marvel that you knew what offside and line of scrimmage were, instead of having to ask the man behind you? Didn't you find that an insane and uninhibited urge to cheer wildly, applaud the drunks, march with the band, leap around, snake dance, and generally exhaust yourself suddenly overwhelmed you?

We did. We are amazed. And we are dead beat. Such is Fall Fever.

And so to bed.

VIC'S CORNER

Homecoming week-end! It was a great success Two things merit space in this column

First, Vic did have a float in the parade, but it didn't get past University Ave Trees can do horrible things to a paper Yates Cup standing 10 feet above a truck platform!

Second point deals with student entrances to Varsity Stadium Last week's big jam was a tragic experience. If you have a scrap of paper handy write a note to The Varsity, or better still to Uncle Syd Let's hope things are better this Saturday, and that we can have more than one door for 8,000 students to use!

• • •

Theatre night at Vic this week. It's our own production of All My Sons. Showing at Hart House Thurs. to Sat. It promises to be a choice bit of drama so don't miss it. The idea of setting a night aside for drama has many merits. Think it over.

In the dramatic mood, so remember our Scarlet and Gold. The production is due in four weeks. Choral work is under two happy souls, Suddey Sutherland and Bevy Shoemaker. The dear girls want the choralites loitering around Vic by Thursday, 2 p.m., for a rehearsal.

The Voice of the Deep, a movie provoked by the discovery of sea noises, when men had always believed it to be the "silent deep", will be shown under VCF auspices in Co-ed Common Room today at 1.20. Sounds interesting.

• • •

Free bath! The gals certainly are starting clean-up week a little early! Anyway they are having a Splash Party at Lillian Massey Pool on Tues., 8 p.m. They'll be watching for those that can swim too!

This seems to be all from gals sports office. Now to the gents' dressing room!

• • •

Rugby rooters: The Mulock Cup is definitely on its way back home, to the spot it knows best. Our dashing gridders took Meds 19-0 and are planning specially for this Thurs. tangle with UC.

Soccer fans in Vic are hep over the spirit in the team this year. Trinity, last year's champs, provide opposition this Wed. Vic tied them once this year.

Lacrosse I are still undefeated, too. They took SPS 9-6 and tied Meds 8-8. UC will turn up on Tues. to make it a game.

Basketball practices in Little Vic Gymn are now in the process. Curator Bob Reid plans to put in a worthwhile entry, one more opportunity for the fellows, to get into sports if they have time. Hockey is to be iced next week, too. Get conditioning!

• • •

Athletic Colors, a goal for all men, aren't too tough to get! Want to find out? Your exec had the details mimeographed, now available with one or two minor corrections posted on the Athletic Board Minutes of the exec. meetings for VCAU are to be posted from now on, says Director Al Strike. It's part of the new policy to acquaint the public of how they are governed throughout the college.

• • •

Impromptu Debates get going this week. A wonderful chance to test a tongue! Even if you aren't on the list drop around about 1.20 most days to room 14 or 18 and enjoy some good sport, education and entertainment.

Decorations for the Vic Informal Nov. 25 ($1.50), become the major headache in the next few weeks. Nadyne Smith has cheerfully taken the job over A bouquet of roses and tons of luck, Smitty! And still being "arty", we owe a king-sized "thank you" to Carol Graydon for such a wonderful job on the Vic poster hung at the All-Varsity last Friday.

SCM open forum Thurs., 4 p.m., room 21. Prof. Van Wych will lead discussion on Christianity and Medical World.

ISS Frolic at Vic, the vice-pres. duty, is set for next Tues. A wonderful hullabaloo with everything from a net-work radio show to a penny toss will be scheduled. Keep next Tues. free, and pass the word around.

The tea dance was an unexpected success, the gang confess. Another in a week if we are lucky!

Acta has a new office! It's hidden on St. Mary's street somewhere. You might see a few signs if you look hard enough around the '80's".

• • •

Snoopography. Our secretary! Jess Nugent is 5'5" of sunshine (unquote). Only 19, she came from the corn patch to Etobicoke and finally got to Vic. She loves athletics and music. Sing Jess! Have you any interests? "My interests are very! . . . and if you put that in I shall beat you . . ." She hangs out at Tart House, but has partialities to Middle House, it seems

To a wonderful week-end,
Still sneerily,
Pik

P.S.—Popular request to continue sneer week again!

(ADVERTISEMENT)

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS R
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

To the Student—
When purchasing ring covers and Loose Leaf of any description ask for the DOMINION LINE, the finest quality obtainable
See your Bookstore,
DOMINION BLANK BOOK CO. LIMITED

INTERNATIONALISM
. . . Just a word?
STUDENT SERVICE INTERNATIONAL
Help make it a world reality . . .
SUPPORT YOUR
I.S.S.

THE VICTORIA COLLEGE DRAMATIC SOCIETY
ARTHUR MILLER'S POWERFUL DRAMA
ALL MY SONS
NOVEMBER 3, 4, 5,
Hart House Theatre
DIRECTED BY Henry Kaplan
• TICKETS $1.00
HART HOUSE THEATRE BOX OFFICE

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO DRAMA COMMITTEE
PRESENTS
EROS AT BREAKFAST — TRINITY
LOVE OF ANNUNCIATTA — UNIVERSITY COLLEGE
SUNDAY COSTS FIVE PESOS — ST. MICHAEL'S
HART HOUSE THEATRE
TUES. NOVEMBER 1
8:15 P.M. 50 CTS.

Concert Hall, Royal York Hotel
Bobby Gimby's Orchestra
ALPHA CHI OMEGA FRATERNITY
presents
THE FOOTBALL DANCE
Tickets at the door or 10 Sussex St., KI 1216
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5th
9:00 p.m.
$3.00 per couple

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

Wymilwood

Norah Drewett - Geza de Kresz

The Sunday Evenings Series of Wymilwood concerts opened with Norah Drewett, pianist and Geza de Kresz, violinist, in a program of sonatas.

It was most gratifying to have Norah Drewett share the honors with her husband in the billing. Although this policy is customary in the de Kresz' recitals, there are still a depressing number of hard-working pianists who are referred to as merely accompanists and are left holding the music at the sonata's conclusion. Let it be remembered that a sonata is a musical idea expressed by the joint performance of two instruments.

The best performance of the evening was the third Delius sonata. This composition is a far more definite and convincing work than much of the composer's material, and fortunately, the de Kreszes combined to give it a sincere performance without the vagueness that marks too many renditions of Delius' works.

They were not so fortunate however with the opening G-major Mozart sonata. Mr. de Kresz exhibited a disheartening spindly tone while choppiness was too evident in Mme. de Kresz' passage work.

The performance of the characteristically romantic E-flat major sonata of Richard Strauss was decidedly bewildering. It alternated between missed effects with a good deal of futile banging on Norah Drewett's part, and true insight into the melodic lines of the work.

Not the least enjoyable part of the evening were the reminiscences of meetings with Richard Strauss which the de Kreszes shared with their audience.

Lillian Becker.

Solomon

Last night Solomon, the English pianist, was heard at Massey Hall. This is his third American tour and he was given an enthusiastic welcome by an audience that didn't quite fill the Hall.

The performance was more than satisfactory, although the program tended to lighter work than might have been expected. He opened with a lyrical interpretation of the Bach-Busoni "Choral Prelude, 'Sleepers Awake'," which was perhaps not quite conventional. The lyric quality tended to hide the contrapuntal vigor and clarity.

This was followed by a Mozart sonata, B flat (K333), which made the usual recital ending a flat, limp thing of questionable value. It was typically Mozart in its gracefulness, sparkle and verve, but there was also the feeling that much thoughtfulness had gone into the performance. The cadenza passages were fully exploited with the help of delicate and subtle coloring.

The peak of the program was Brahms' "Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel." The themes were boldly stated in a complex, harmonic pattern, and the work seemed to be built around every technical difficulty available to composition for piano. Yet the luxuriantly flowing themes, especially of the Andante Cantabile, their restless modulation and the violence of their harmonic movements were rendered with masterly precision.

The "inevitable" Moonlight Sonata opened the second half of the program. It gave the pianist full scope for the display of that exacting power so requisite for the interpretation of Beethoven. The third movement was rendered with supreme polish, although Solomon took great liberty with those passages which permitted flexible rubato treatment.

The program concluded with a group of Chopin compositions. These were given a liquid treatment, and we somehow felt that they had been hastily dismissed. The group as a whole was presented with spirited zest, and without the sentimentality of the usual "modern" treatment.

The evening's work was clear and definite. There was no hesitation in Solomon's attack, and we must remark on his sparing use of the pedal. Although delicately used in the Mozart, it was in the third movement of the Beethoven that this was most evident. Both technique and result were surprising in the swiftly changing harmonies of that work.

To an unfailing technique he added his keen, musical perception which gave distinction to the performance and especially to the Brahms. It might be said that he somehow senses the modern spirit in the classics without doing violence to that which makes them essentially classics, their beauty and design. In many ways this performance reflected the characteristic reserve of the English virtuoso.

G. Bell and H. Ennever.

♣ ♣ ♣

Anne Of The Thousand Days

Famed playwright Maxwell Anderson holds the conviction that a play should be the story of what happens in the mind and heart of a man or woman, and why. He has proved this theme in five great historical dramas: Joan of Lorraine, Mary of Scotland, The Masque of Kings, Elizabeth the Queen, and Valley Forge. Last night's performance of his new play, "Anne of the Thousand Days," is further proof.

Stars of the play were Rex Harrison (Henry VIII) and Joyce Redman (Anne Boleyn). In great drama we must believe not necessarily in the theme, but certainly in the characters, and that belief is based upon what they say and do. What was said and done in the Anderson drama intensified belief to the point where the audience might well view what went on before them—the tradgedy, the comedy, the pathos, the wit, the humor, and even the vulgarity—and honesty say, "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

A great play must have a tremendous uplift in thought and purpose—uplift was implicit in every line, in every move, in every act of the Playwright Company's living, breathing panorama of the two royal lives.

Struggle is basic to a drama's worth. In Anderson's drama Anne struggles with Henry, with her parents, with Wolsley; Henry struggles with Wolsey, the people, Catherine of Aragon, and the Pope. Struggle and conflict are intrinsic to the atmosphere—conflict abounds not only between characters, their

(Continued on Page 7)

Movie Review

Dreams That Money Can Buy

At long last an experimental movie has been produced that does not need a Baedeker's Guide of Symbolism to understand it. This movie is Dreams That Money Can Buy, and is being shown at intervals during the next ten days at the Museum Theatre.

Produced by Hans Richter, in the art and movie world since 1913, it is an example of co-operation between artists and composers in the creation of cinema art, since a number of the outstanding individuals in the field of modern art have collaborated on this film.

The theme is simple and of the type rather popular these days: the psychological; yet it is not hashed up or made esoteric, it retains a unity and dispenses with the mumbo-jumbo. A young man, Joe, finds he can supply frustrated people with dreams, and seven people are the recipients of seven dreams.

The first is a meek little statistician whose dream is "Desire," showing a young sleeping girl the images her slumber co... Iron bars with long dark d... walls and a phantom lover g... unreal and unknown qualit... mind - wandering. This se... produced in collaboration with ... Ernst, is particularly well done... you have to do is relax and le... your inhibitions and prej... about modern art.

"The Girl With the Pre-fa... cated Heart" is an analysis of ... machine age morals can do t... mance. All the actors are st... window mannequins and, the... are designed to heighten the ... sion of artificiality. Catchy ... are sung by Josh White and L... Holman:

"Oh Venus was born out of ... foam
Oh Venus was born out of ... foam
But a goddess today if she'... Grade A
Is assembled upon the Assem... Line."

Definitely humorous it conve... bit of pathos in the stiff movem... and the glittery music by John... touche.

The fourth dream is a screen ... terpretation of Marcel Duchamp... painting "Nude Descending ... Staircase" and has the same m... By superimposition you see ... seems to be a bevy of nude wo... winding down a stairway and ... the scene changes to colored ... which imitate their movement... abstract form.

Other "dreams" are by Man R... Fernand Leger, and Hans Richt... own Narcissus. This last mention... is exceptional but it should ... seen, heard and not mouthed b... reviewer. Before ending Le... Applebaum should be congratulat... for the fine job of music direct... in this film.

Jack Ferg...

ISSue No. 1

OBJECTIVE: $10,000

APPARATUS: 14,000

METHOD:
(1) Direct Canvass
(2) Special Events
x Wayne and Shuster
x Giant Auction
x Talent Hunt
x Maple Leafs
x ISS Frolic
x Pep Rally Dance
Etc., etc.

CONCLUSION:
Your support is vital

Watch for ISSue No. 2

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH

DAILY MAIL

CIGARETTE TOBACCO

PLEASE DON'T TELL A SOUL

Please don't tell anyone what a terrific, original dance PANACEA is. Think of the poor people who left off getting their tickets until too late.

Fox example look at what they are going to miss:

Rx 3 Orchestras
Rx Water Ballet
Rx Variety Show
Rx Continuous Movies
Rx Fortune Tellers
Rx Swim Meet
Rx Music Program
Rx Novelties Galore
Rx Square Dancing

NOV. 4 HART HOUSE 9:00 P.M.

Get Your Tickets From:

- S.A.C.
- Panacea Stand in front of Hart House 1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. every day
- Medical Society Office 1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. every day

Students Administrative Council

★ RADIO COMMITTEE ★

Name .....

Age ..... Sex .....

Faculty ..... Course .... Year .....

Home Address .....

Toronto Address .....

Telephone Number .....

Radio Interests

Acting .....

Writing .....

Announcing .....

Radio Experience .....

.....

Other Information .....

.....

Would you be interested in attending a course of 12 lectures in acting, given by Mavor Moore ☐, in script writing by Ed. Grey ☐, and an additional course of lectures given by outstanding personalities in radio and journalism ☐? The cost will be $3.00 for one course, $6.00 for two. The third course is free for anyone enrolling in either of these courses.

All students interested in attending the Radio Workshop or in taking part in University Radio will please fill out this questionnaire and hand it in to the Porter's Lodge Trinity, Alumnae Hall, Victoria, St. Michael's, the S.A.C. Office in Hart House, or the Women's S.A.C., Room 62 U.C. Basement, by Friday of this week.

SIGMA ALPHA MU

ANNIVERSARY BALL

KING EDWARD HOTEL

Mart Kenny's Orchestra

$4.00 couple

SAT. NOV. 26

DRESS OPTIONAL

Proceeds to Mount Sinai Hospital and U. J. A.

ORTSWOMAN

(Continued from Page 8)

beat Vic Freshies "B" with a of 12-9. It was a close, fast and both teams fought hard. teams were evenly matched ughout.

C. Freshies displayed some ex- ball handling when they beat I with a score of 29-11. The yuards proved too much for and with Joan Muny gaining nts for her team, UC had the r hand throughout the game.

e most exciting game of the ing started out slowly but pick- up at half time. This was a close even match between St. Hilda's and Vic Soph's "A". The score was 19-15 in favour of St. Hilda's. Vic displayed some good team play but their basket shots were off their mark and kept their score down.

✣ ✣ ✣

Medicals are a must for basket- ball players. Your team can be dis- qualified if they are not in. Man- agers must make sure the SAC Of- fice have medical reports for all their players.

✣ ✣ ✣

From Dawn To Darkness

Miss Baxter's spectacular swim- ming show "From Dawn to Dark- ness" will again be produced. This time it will take place in Humber- side Collegiate Pool on Nov. 7.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

(Continued from Page 8)

last play of the game; it would be bad enough if it pened before that, but on the last play! Talk about irony. o said Varsity was lucky?

The hockey practices have started already, but the hes don't have any idea about the teams strength (or of same) yet. Varsity didn't cop the championship in k-scrambling last year, but they came close, and were ays threats. They beat Queen's by a big score, and when sity beats Queen's by a big score in anything, it is a essful season no matter what. If we might stick our e into the hockey coaching department, we would like to gest that if the team is a little weak on the forward line, y get Ferne Watson to play at centre. She trebled the trick by scoring nine goals in one game last year. But opposition would probably invoke some rule prohibiting s from playing.

The hockey team will take a nice long jaunt to Ann or over the Christmas holidays for another annual go h the U. of Mich. The Michiganders won both games year, the first time in history they didn't lose to Varsity. Such cold talk, and the rugby season not nearly over!

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Jr. SPS	vs St. M. W. Thompson, Sherwood, Tyndall
	West	4.00	Forestry	vs Dent ..... Emon, Klarman, Wolf
SOCCER	North	4.00	Dent	vs Emman ..... Rooks
	South	4.00	Jr. U.C.	vs Jr. Vic ..... Montemurro
LACROSSE		1.00	U.C. I	vs Vic I ..... Prendergast, Stuckey
		4.00	St. M. A	vs Med II ..... Walder, Hastings
		6.30	Knox	vs Pharm ..... Warren, Phillips
		7.30	Med III	vs Trin ..... Warren, Phillips
SWIM	LEAGUE	4.00	Vic I	vs U.C. I ..... Edwards
		5.00	Dent	vs St. M. ..... Shepherd
		5.00	SPS III	vs Inst. Mgt. ..... Shepherd
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Law	vs For. B ..... Goodman
		4.00	Jr. SPS	vs Jr. Vic ..... Scott
		5.00	Sr. Vic	vs Sr. SPS ..... Scott
		6.00	Sr. U.C.	vs Med I Yr ..... Scott
		7.00	Wyc	vs Knox ..... Edwards
		8.00	St. M. B	vs SPS IV ..... Edwards

HOCKEY STANDING COMMITTEE MEETING TODAY — 1.00 P.M.

Senior Interfaculty Harrier

HIGH PARK — SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH — 10.00 A.M.

ENTRIES WILL BE ACCEPTED IN THE INTRAMURAL OFFICE, HART HOUSE, UNTIL 5.00 P.M., FRIDAY, NOV. 4TH.

TRANSPORTATION: A bus is provided for the intercollegiate team competing against Buffalo and for the markers. Others will have to provide own transportation. Take Bloor car, west, direct to High Park Club House, Bloor St. entrance. Dressing room accommodation pro- vided.

The race will start at 10.00 a.m. sharp. All competitors should leave town at 9.15 a.m. at the latest.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

Blue and White Show, Convocation Saturday night, black silk ker- with large red roses. Women's C. Office, Room 62, U.C.

FOUND

FINELINE pen in K.C.R. last day night. Contact Pete—OR. 3012.

EARN MONEY

ing your spare time canvassing ory offices. PI. 4881 at any time.

WANTED

army officer's greatcoat, size 36-38, ht 5'8". Will be required in about weeks. Apply Box 5, S.A.C. Of-

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Heimar about your formals, etc. gross from Knox College. Stu- discount. Further particulars or ntments. Ring RA. 5978. (Even- ppointments arranged.)

FOR RENT

clean room in newly decorated ment close to University. Apply Bill, MElrose 9776.

FOR SALE

of Tails, 2-piece, size 36, good dition, 9 to 5. 251 College St. RA.

UPLANDS SKI CLUB

accepts members - Ski Trails - - Dancing - Parties. Dining lockers, showers available. Fur- nformation at S.A.C. or Athletic ce.

TYPIST

Experienced typist will do your typing at home. Call HY. 4025 evenings or week-ends.

LOST

Sheaffers red and black stripe pen. No clip. Wednesday, October 26, near Skule Building. R. S. MacLennan, RA. 3331.

P.A. SYSTEM

Rentals — Super Sound: Dance music for your next class, year or house par- ty. Stage and orchestra work. Largest stock of rental equipment on the campus. Call Don Eller, HO. 0868.

FOR SALE

Chemical lab equipment; graduate's complete set. Reasonable HA. 6056.

LOST

Red plaid scarf. Varsity Stadium or nearby, Saturday. Please phone Gord Cameron, RA. 7113.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Rem- ingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demon- stration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

LOST

LOST—One pair of glasses. Clear plas- tic rims — Eaton's Case. Last week near Vic. Phone Alex., MU. 1989.

• WHAT'S ON TODAY •

NEAR EAST CLUB

Near East Club meeting tonight at 8:00 P.M. at Wymilwood in the Blue Room. Miss Angele Bouzaine, fresh from the Near East will lead a discussion on LEBANON. All in- terested welcome. Near Eastern Music and refreshments.

✣ ✣ ✣

S.P.S. DISCUSSION

S.P.S. discussion group, "What is Christianity About", will meet today, 1:00 P.M., in the S.C.M. Office, first floor Hart House. Bring your lunch to the first meeting.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC SPLASH PARTY

Vic Splash Party will be held to- night at 8 p.m. in the Lillian Massey Pool. Medicals are necessary for all participants.

✣ ✣ ✣

ISS LIAISON MEETING

There will be a meeting of the ISS Liaison Committee at cam- paign headquarters, 119 St. George St. this afternoon from 3 until 6. All faculty and col- lege representatives are urged to be there.

✣ ✣ ✣

SCHOOL OF NURSING

The School of Nursing will hold its annual Uniform Dinner at the school on Tuesday, Nov. 1, with a program to follow at the Royal Con- servatory of Music Recital Hall. Undergraduates and Post Graduates are cordially invited to attend.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC V.C.F.

The film "Voice of the Deep" will be shown in Alumni Hall at 1.20 p.m. today.

✣ ✣ ✣

SOCIAL WORK CLUB

The Social Work Club will hold their Film Night tonight at 7 p.m. in the O.T. Huts, 6 Devonshire Place. Comments on the films will be given by Dr. Jaffrey, School of Social Work. Non-members will be charged 25 cents.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERS' FILMS

The first program of films will be shown to engineers to- day between 1 and 2 p.m. in Room 1035 of the Wallberg (chemical engineering) Build- ing. All engineering students are invited. Lunches may be eaten during the show. This is the first of a series of film shows sponsored by the engin- eering society and will be pre- sented every Tuesday and Thursday at the above time.

✣ ✣ ✣

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club will meet to- night at 8 in the Sun Room at Wymilwood. This will be an in- formal discussion meeting, so bring some questions. Students in other departments and faculties are wel- come. Non-members: 15c. admis- sion.

✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. WOMEN'S SWIMMING CLUB

There is a meeting of the Swimming Reps of all the facul- ties at 5.15 today in Room 66 of the U.C. basement.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

There will be the regular meeting of the U.C. Christian Fellowship to- day in Room 95 of U.C. basement, at 1.20 p.m. Speaker: The Assistant Chaplain, RCAF North West Com- mand Station, Edmonton.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE FILMS

Rugby films will be shown in Hart House Theatre today from 1 to 2 p.m. The 10 cents ad- mission will go to the Red Feather Campaign.

• COMING EVENTS •

U.C. FRENCH SOCIETY

Il y aura une réunion de la Société Française de U.C. jeudi, le 3 novem- bre, à 8h15 au Women's Union Theatre. On présentera une pièce en un acte, Gros Chagrins, une chanteuse, June Rowat, et Vingt Questions. Tout le monde est invité.

✣ ✣ ✣

RUSSIAN NOVELISTS

Professor L. I. Strakhovsky will lecture on Fyodor Dostoy- evsky (The Idiot and The Brothers Karamazov) on Wed- nesday at 5 p.m. in Room 3, University College, as one of a series of lectures on great Rus- sian novelists.

✣ ✣ ✣

CANTERBURY CLUB

"Viewpoints of Europe" will be talked of by Miss Mary McCrim- mon and Mr. Temple Kingston on Wednesday in Wycliffe Common Room at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. PLAYERS' GUILD

The U.C. Players' Guild will cast for the second bill of one act plays this Wednesday. Time and place will be listed on the notice board in the south-west corner of the rotunda.

✣ ✣ ✣

UTDU DEBATE

"Resolved that Canada should recognize the new Chinese people's government" will be the topic of the UTDU debate to be held on Wednesday night at 8p.m. in the UC J.C.R. J. B. Salsberg, MPP, will be guest speaker. Persons speaking in this debate will be eligible for the American debating tour.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC SCM DISCUSSION GROUP

Vic SCM will hold a dis- cussion group with the topic "Has Paul A Message For Us?" in the Household Science Build- ing Office at 1 p.m. on Wed- nesday.

✣ ✣ ✣

RUSSIAN CIRCLE

The first meeting will be held on Wed., Nov. 2, in the Women's Union, at 8:00 p.m. All those who are interested are invited to attend. Tea a la Russe and Slavic music will constitute part of the evening's program.

✣ ✣ ✣

FINE ART CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Fine Art Club on Thursday, Nov. 3, at 8:15 in Wymilwood. Mr. Vickers will speak on "The Use of Colour Photography In Art Education," and will illus- trate his lecture with slides taken during his trip through France this summer.

✣ ✣ ✣

JUNIOR PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Professor E. L. Fackenheim will speak to the Junior Philosophy Club next Thursday, November 3, on the subject "Progress, Reaction, and Other Slogans." The meeting will be held in Croft Chapter House, at 7:45.

Readers Write

(Continued from Page 6)

of whom these were of the same race as Mr. Robeson and two of the accused.

(3) This evidence was presented to the jury in a trial which lasted nine months, with the defense law- yers speaking for eighty-five per cent of the time during which the court was in session.

(4) For nine months the judge was violently insulted in the Inter- national Communist Press; his life was threatened by letter and tele- phone; his court was picketed each day by communists carrying signs demanding an acquittal.

(5) In view of those facts, read the judge's summing up to the jury, Mr. Morton. His fairness was superhuman.

6) All this obviously proves that these saintly men have been perse- cuted and sentenced — without cause, in an unfair trial — by a Fascist Wall Street flunkey. It was all done, no doubt, in cheap retalia- tion against the sentences handed out to the Fascist Catholic pre- lates in Eastern Europe who of course were really guilty of the very blackest of treason.

Three cheers and a bottle of vodka to Mr. Morton for revealing the hideous injustice to the stu- dents of the University of Toronto.

R. Hughes,
IV U.C.

Condemns Roam-around

Editor, The Varsity:

Not knowing whom to mail the bomb to, I am writing you in the hopes that you will pass on the blast. My beef concerned is the Roam-around dance.

Having spent a buck and a half for a ticket, buck for dance, half for show, I was wondering how to get my buck back. Roaming around is alright, but dancing is a far more enjoyable exercise, and dear editor, we did not have one single dance. Furthermore, we didn't even get within earshot of a single band.

After the show we stood in line for Hart House just long enough to realize we hadn't a chance, so decided to honour "Dear Old Trin- ity" with our presence.

We had just neatly disposed of our coats, when alas, we hit an- other stagnant lineup. Next we tried the J.C.R., but here too some- thing more than human was needed to brave the mob. No sane person would risk choking in the Drill Hall.

Time was marching on. Backing away from the J.C.R., we bumped into some fellow wanderers who hopefully mentioned Vic. Maybe you can get a psychologist to ex- plain the mental process involved, for I too, connected Vic with the Roam-around. Alas! A quick jaunt over showed Vic to be locked tighter than H---.

A quick glance at the time con- firmed our fears, that by the time we would arrive at the O.T. huts our only exercise would consist of snapping to attention for the Na- tional Anthem. Thus our last hope was dashed to the ground and there was naught to do but return home.

Now, dear editor, my question is this, "Should those responsible for the dance be allowed to flood us with tickets without arranging for adequate floor space?"

Ah well! such is life, and anyway my girl make a delicious cup of coffee.

Russ Jacobs,
IV U.C.

Art, Music and Drama

(Continued from Page 6)

purposes, their plans, but in the mind of the King himself.

Rex Harrison's creation of the royal role soared above the bawdy, earthy, lecherous Henry VIII of his- torical fact. Through the medium of cunningly, inoffensively placed soliloquies the audience was drawn into the motives within his mind. A life of glorified, self-legalized polygamy and periodic assassination drew our sympathy, stirred our understanding even when that life appeared at its lowest ebb. Restraint and judicious insight characterized Rex Harrison's otherwise husky, fiery, yet coolly subtle creation of his role.

The play begins in retrospect. Anne Boleyn, captive in her Tower cell, begins a narrative of her life with the king, and so the play un- folds. The development begins with Henry's resolution to win the hand of Anne. Her lusty refusal and ar- rogant defiance of the king's advances were played to the hilt by flame-haired, petite Joyce Redman of London's Old Vic. Every move- ment, every step, every eye's flash, all combined, all contributed in perspective to the actress' interpre- tation of the Queen. Her voice alone, irrespective of its relation to her part, was magnificent.

Although merely an episodic series of incidents relating a matrimonial excursion of an English king, "Anne of the Thousand Days" brings to the stage a beautiful object having an orderly arrangement of parts, a grandeur and a magnitude. King Henry is a man of high estate who sets out to overcome all obstacles in his path in order to have a son. His plans, his hopes, his actions are brought to naught, not by the forces with which he struggles, but by an unseen hand.

Deep pathos pervades the action, relieved constantly by the blustering wit and humor of the king which at times occured so frequently that we were in doubt concerning the nature of the play. But as the soli- loquies of both Anne and King Henry revealed, of the tragedy of the innermost thoughts, unsustained and unresolved in action, no doubt remained: "It might be easier to forget you living than to forget you dead."

In speeches and soliloquies of strength and force, of cadenced rise and fall, Maxwell Anderson has created a great play.

William Glenesk.

Motion Pictures

(Continued from Page 4)

America independent films are be- ing made in an attempt to loosen control of the film medium from big companies and producers "who want to make a lot of money."

Richter compared the movie in- dustry to shoe-making. The shoe- maker, he said, tries to find the shoe that is fashionable and then turns out as many as possible.

"If you don't have the passion to make films, keep your fingers off," warned Richter. "It is very easy to begin a film but very difficult to was not meant as a film but as "a finish it."

The first film produced by Richter consummation of our work in paint- ing." As an abstract artist, he was interested in using color and forms as a universal language. At first Richter and his fellow artists tried to achieve movement by putting designs on pieces of paper and then arranging them on the floor to see the changes and relationships of forms. Later they tried scrolls and in 1919 decided to put it on film.

His current effort, "Dreams That Money Can Buy," is a culmination of Richter's off-trail ideas in movie- making.

Halder Gets First Peek As Hockey Blues Start

By JOHN KENNEDY

Wally Halder, new senior Blue hockey coach had his first glimpse of the hockey hopefuls last night at Varsity Arena. About 45 players of all degrees of skill and in all kinds of garb showed up to try and win a place on this year's edition of the big bad Blue.

✣ ✣ ✣

Although there was apparently an ammonia leak in one of the pipes the choking gas did not seem to bother the players as they tore up and down the rink getting their first taste of scrimmage this season.

✣ ✣ ✣

Not many of last year's team were there, the only ones noticed being Cec Turcotte, who will probably be the spark plug of the team, defenceman Wilf (Digger) Digby and Fry, right winger.

✣ ✣ ✣

Halder was not the only coach watching the practice, as Jack Life and Bill Wade of the Intermediates and Juniors respectively, were watching the proceedings and disparaging some of the better players in hopes of getting them on their teams.

✣ ✣ ✣

Conspicuous by their absence were Harry Boyd and Bill Spence who will not be with the team this year. Boyd is doing post-grad work and will not be able to find time to turn out with the team for which he played so well last year.

✣ ✣ ✣

Some of the players are still labouring under the delusion that it is fall and are playing football. Rich Howson and Artie Bell both of the '48 team are still displaying their football wares for the intermediates.

✣ ✣ ✣

Joe (Krusher) Kane forsook the Balmy Beach football club of the ORFU league long enough to put in an appearance on defence. Last season Joe played most of his hockey for the Intermediates.

✣ ✣ ✣

Joe's running mate of the Intermediates, Don (Garth) Campbell also was playing defence and was doing quite a bit of body checking, contrary to the orders of Halder, however nobody got hurt.

✣ ✣ ✣

Wes Moore should be a sure bet for the seniors. He is small but extremely fast, and is in good condition due to his football efforts with Dents. The "Rabbit" played intermediate last semester.

✣ ✣ ✣

One defenceman who should be able to replace La Rose or Eccleston is John (Porky) McDougall up from the Junior Bees. He looked pretty good out there last night. Another forward from the juniors is Al Conboy, who although small has played a lot of hockey and knows how to take care of himself.

✣ ✣ ✣

The players worked pretty hard and kept going from 5 to 7 p.m. The widely assorted costumes showed the various teams the boys had played for before and some were more suitable for last night's Hallowe'en celebrations than for a hockey practice. One brave fellow was playing in strides and a white shirt.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

Usually Mr. James Coleman, columnist for one of The Varsity's contemporaries, concerns himself in his column with slow horses, touts, and his own track losses. Once in a while he writes about sports in which humans take part, and every three or four years he devotes one day's labor to University football. His latest Varsity effort appeared Monday, and after reading it, we are of the opinion that Mr. James Coleman should have (as he would say) stood in bed.

We quote (and we hope Mr. Coleman doesn't sue us for plagiarism) "It is worthy of comment that Kelly was particularly conspicious when the play was directly in front of the University of Toronto bench. Obviously, Kelly plays his best before a critical and applausive audience." Yeah, Yeah, obviously, obviously. May we ask how any times Mr. Coleman has watched Kelly play, and how well Mr. Coleman knows Kelly?

Jay Jay made two good plays in front of the bench, and made innumerable others away from the bench. The only explanations we can find for Mr. Coleman's attitude is that Dr. Dunsmore's Old Family Remedy has affected his vision so that he has lost all the peripheral qualities of his eyes. Kelly is a good ball player, and he is no grandstander; he does the same as the rest of the boys . . . . when the coach sends him out he goes out and gives the best he can.

Mr. Coleman's statement gives people the wrong impression. Those who have ever played rugby know that when time is in they don't know where the grandstands or benches are, much less stop to think about putting on an extra good show. The remarks were unwarranted, unkind, and full of hops. We suspect that Mr. Coleman was just trying to be funny, but failed to put across his mirthful tone.

* * *

An error appeared in Monday's issue which we would like to correct. The University Harrier team ran in a triangular meet between Varsity, Niagara University and Buffalo State Teachers College. It was not for the senior intercollegiate championship, which will be held in Detroit at a later date. However, Buffalo State is a good track college and fielded a strong harrier squad, but Varsity won. The harrier team seldom gets very much publicity, and they work harder at their sport than any football team ever did. Our hat is off to them.

* * *

Varsity fielded a really patched-up club Saturday, but it's going to be worse. The ones that were not dressed don't seem to be much better, and those that were dressed have sprung more injuries. The complete report on the state of the team's health won't be in till the team doctor makes his examinations, but it looks like some of last Saturday's stalwarts will be playing the McGill game in spirit only. Bob Masterson thinks he will have to bring up a couple more intermediates. Murray Hadlow got his nose smashed on

(Continued on Page 7)

Reed Trophy -Standings-

As of last night UC was winning the Reed Trophy points race by the slimmest of margins. The points that follow are for entry only in the various events. Points are for football, volley-ball, lacrosse, soccer, swim league, junior and freshman harrier, track, golf and tennis. Last year's winners, St. Mike's, are fairly well down the list at this point and last year's runners-up, Forestry, occupy the same position that they ended up in last year, namely second.

When group championships are taken into account the picture is bound to change but as of now the points are for entry only. UC 2,044, Forestry 2,010, Meds 1,918, Trinity 1,899, St. Mike's 1,846, Vic 1,814, SPS 1,498, Knox 1,344, Wycliffe 1,320, Emmanuel 1,316, Dentistry 1,242, Architecture 1,136, Instit. Mgt. 803, Pharm. 576, Law 312, Music 192.

Senior Vic Edge SPS In Soccer Duel 2-0

One of the most thrilling intramural soccer games of the season was played last night on the front campus, with Senior Vic just nosing out Sr. SPS by a 2-1 score. Vanstone scored the initial counter for the Artsmen, and Mercer made it 2-0 early in the second half, when he completed a beautiful Vic combined movement by driving home a pass from Delfosse. At this point Skule got organized and they dominated the play for the rest of the game. The engineers' front line, spearheaded by Rigabert held the ball in the Vic area, and they were supported by strong defensive work which featured some powerful booting by left fullback Moffat. Skule's efforts were rewarded when Wootton found a hole in the Vic defense near the end of the game.

Secret Practice Reporter Is Told

The Blues were busily prepping for their forthcoming game with the McGill Redmen last night behind the locked gates of Varsity Stadium. One reporter was forcibly ejected with the result that we have no further news of what went on.

However it was learned before the reporter was removed that Bill Brewer, who played a terrific game Saturday will not be able to play next week. Bill has torn ligaments in his left knee, and has trouble even walking. Al Stevenson will play no more for the Blues this season as he bruised his heart in the game with Western in London. Good news is that Wally London will probably be ready to start Saturday.

Sportswoman

At the Senior "T" Reunion Dinner last Saturday night, there was a gathering of athletically-minded women from as far back as 1920 grads right up to two who will graduate in June.

Actually the first T's for women were presented in 1910 by the Women's Toronto University Athletic League formed in 1905. By 1916 a new design for T's had materialized, bearing the University of Toronto coat-of-arms.

In 1920 the first senior colors were awarded to members of the Intercollegia' Basketball Team, as well as three excellent swimmers. Since that time many outstanding sportswomen have won this precious recognition and as the years roll on others will be added to the growing list of women who have something to show, forever, of their sports activities at Varsity.

✣ ✣ ✣

Softball

St. Mike's softball queens were knocked out of the running yesterday, when Vic I defeated them 7-5 The Vic gals batted only three innings, while the Saints pounded out four to no avail.

The weather didn't help any as cold hands made fielding difficult, but the shivering players chased the ball with as much vigor as ever. This win gives Vic first place in the 'B' series finals.

✣ ✣ ✣

Basketball

PHE II and UC Soph's "A" started off the basketball games for the evening with a one-sided game. The score was 17-3 for PHE. Ann Harland and Pat Montgomery of PHE gained most of the points for their team.

(Continued on Page 7)

VARSITY SPORTS

St. Mike's Lacrosse Bees Outfight Meds; Win 4-3

St. Michael's Bees and Pre-Meds staged a rough and tumble lacrosse game yesterday afternoon, with the Bay Street Collegers coming out on the long end of a 4-3 count. The first half was highlighted by two brief displays of fisticuffs with no decisions being awarded. All members of both teams took part and two penalties resulted. McRae and Mahoney took time out for St. Mike's to toss in a goal apiece, with Sims and Vince of Meds coming out with the same output to tie the score at two-all by half time.

St. Mike's forged ahead in the second half on goals by Sabadasz and Mahoney and they never gave Meds an opportunity of taking over the lead although Jones did manage to pot a goal from far out to move Meds within one goal of the winners. The second half was not quite as rough as the first, only one penalty being dished out.

UC Thirds Vs. Jr. SPS

In the lunch hour lacrosse presentation UC thirds also won by the narrow margin of 4-3, beating Junior Skule. Four penalties were imposed, two to each team. Lo Skule got all three of his goals, while UC spread the around evenly with Jewson, Edwards and Herman all one.

Intramural Footb Standings

Complete intramural foot standings up to and including night follow:

	Won	Lost	PP	Pa
Group 1
Vic	3	0	39	6
Sr. SPS	2	1	7	11
Med 1	1	3	25	37
UC	0	3	15	42
Group 2
Jr. SPS	3	0	19	2
St. Mike's	1	1	18	12
Trinity	0	3	2	15
Group 3
Forestry	2	0	26	21
Dents	2	1	36	3
Med II	0	3	6	55

on the sideline

By SHIRLEY SHERBOURNE

Splash! gurgle! glug!

Come on in swimming! The water's swell, you'll meet friends and new, and we're sure you won't mind wetting hair a little!

Besides, girls, it's not only fun, but it's as simple A B C! Here's all you have to do: first, if you haven't as received your medical, just phone or visit the Health Ce at 43 St. George St., MI 2646, make an appointment, have yourself checked over.

Next, scoot up to the Household Science building sneak along the side alley to the Lillian Massey puddle. if you prefer, hike across the campus to the UTS pool, sit ed at the corner of Bloor and Huron Sts.

Then, quick like a bunny, slip into your favorite s suit, pull a cap over those curly locks, and after a mom hesitation while you decide whether to dive or jump—sp —and suddenly you find yourself covorting and gurgl in the H2O—having a wonderful time!

Whether your interest lies in diving, synchronized, sp swimming, or perhaps a little of all three, there is a defi need for YOU! And, of even greater importance, is fact that you are needed NOW!

Try-outs for all faculties for both Intramural and Int collegiate teams are continuing to-morrow and Thurs Practices for these will be on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays of the weeks following.

Since the Intramural meet is scheduled for Novem 16, there remain only six practices before the contest swimmer must show up at five of these practices to m herself elegible to enter the meet in Hart House. Pre time is flying, gals, better hustle!

While each faculty is whipping their mermaids into shape for the November competition, the Intercollegiate t will be hard at work, training for their proposed trip Hamilton on December 3, when they'll try their skills speed against a McMaster swim squad.

In case you've missed it and would still like to join "get-in-and-swim" movement, here's the schedule again

UTS Pool	LM Pool
5:30—Intercollegiate speed
6:30—Intercollegiate diving —Intramural style	Intramural synchroniz
7:30—Intramural speed and diving	Intercollegiate synchroniz

So you can't even dog-paddle more than one length the pool and you always jump off the diving board with eyes closed and your nose held—So what? You can still out to the Splash Parties (Vic's is to-night at 8:00, by way) and take advantage of the recreational swim every afternoon after 3:00 o'clock.

So—come on girls—whether you're a twenty-l second speedster, a crack diver, or just like to splash a for the fun of it—let's all sing—dum-de-dum—Don't pair, use your head, wet your hair, use the LMpool

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Sunny and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 29 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Wednesday, November 2, 1949

You Will Pay If You Park— UBC, McGill

Vancouver, Oct. 26 —(CUP)— Students and faculty parking in non-allocated parking places at the University of British Columbia will be subject to administration fines up to five dollars, it was announced this week.

Because of ample parking space now available on the campus, the administration feels that no cars should be in the wrong or prohibited areas. Parking spaces have been allotted to both faculty and students.

✣ ✣ ✣

Montreal, Oct. 26 —(CUP)— The regulation forbidding students to park their cars on the McGill campus is to be more rigidly enforced here. Stiffer penalties have been passed by the Senate and Board of Governors.

Only members of the administrative and academic staff who have applied for and have been granted permission are allowed to park their cars on university grounds. First infraction will bring a warning but subsequent violations will bring lines of two, five, 10 and 15 dollars — the amount increasing with the number of offences.

J. B. Salsberg Will Address Debate Union

"Resolved that Canada should recognize the new Chinese people's Government" will be the topic at the University of Toronto Debating Union debate to be held in the Junior Common Room on Wednesday, November 2, at 8 p.m. The guest will be J. B. Salsberg, MPP, Shirley Endicott, II Vic, and Jack Hoolihan, IV UC will be the government speakers, while the opposition will consist of Margaret Kearns and David Quigley, IV SMC. The speaker of the house will be Elmer Sopha, IV UC.

Persons speaking in this debate will be eligible for the American tour which will commence toward the end of this month.

J. B. Salsberg is the LPP member of the Ontario legislature from St. Andrews. He is one of the two LPP members of any legislature in Canada.

ILLUSTRATED TALK ON RUINED TEMPLE

Dr. Homer A. Thompson of the Institute for Advanced Studies, Princeton and former professor of Art and Archeology at the University of Toronto, will give an illustrated lecture on "Pericles Among the Hesperides" in the Museum Theatre at 5.00 p.m. today.

Dr. Thompson, who is well-known to Toronto audiences for his talks on the excavations in the Agora of Athens, will use newly-found statues to reconstruct 'gable groups' of the Theseum, a Greek temple.

Memorial Union At Queen's

—Toronto Star Photo

Queen's University has a Students' Memorial Union (shown above) and University of Toronto Students are currently trying to figure out ways of financing one on this campus. The Queen's Union is the centre of all co-ed activity and was opened last Saturday by Governor-General Alexander.

No War Hysteria In East States Budapest Delegate

Less war hysteria was seen in Eastern Europe than in the Western hemisphere during the "cold war", declared Mary MacCrimmon, SCM secretary, when questioned in a discussion period following the U. of T. Peace Council meeting, last week in Victoria College.

Communism: A Religion

Mary MacCrimmon, delegate to the Budapest Youth Festival last summer, was the first speaker on "Eastern Europe and World Peace." She told of her conversation with a Hungarian doctor, a Communist, who stated that "Communism, insofar as it claims the total loyalty of its supporters, is a religion."

During her speech the speaker stressed the necessity of a "middle way" between Communism and the Western democracies. She suggested that a reconciliation should be effected by teaching the good points of Communism to non-Communists, and, on the other hand, demonstrating the benefits of Western ideologies to the Communists.

Production Level Raised

"There is a spontaneous response by the people to the new economic order," said Reva Steinberg, III Pass, the second speaker at the meeting, who had also attended the Budapest Youth Festival as a delegate of the U. of T. LPP Club.

"This response," she said, "is because in the New Democracies the socialist's competition has raised production levels and given more of the necessities of life to the common people rather than to just a particular class. The Communist party is giving the people leadership and anticipating their needs."

Cheerleader, Gargoyle Given Back To UC Lit For Two Show Tickets

One University College cheerleader and one wooden Gargoyle were returned to the UC Literary and Athletic Society by the Engineering Society at a noon hour ceremony on the UC front steps yesterday.

Joan Ellis, the returned cheerleader, arrived in the Skule Pierce-Arrow automobile with a Skulemen escort. The Gargoyle, forcibly removed last week from the foot of the east staircase in UC, was formally returned in the form of sawdust.

Later in the afternoon, the Cannoneers gave back the original dragon, unaltered in form. Despite SPS claims that the dragon had been branded, no new marks were revealed.

The two missing UC properties, both held as hostages for the Skule Cannon, were exchanged for two UC Follies tickets; the highest bid made at the gathering.

U.S. College Declines Gift By Millionaire

Natchez, Miss.—(Exchange)—Jefferson Military College has turned down an endowment of $50,000,000 offered to it on the condition that it would agree to teach white supremacy.

The endowment was offered to the school by Texas millionaire George Armstrong and consisted of all his mineral rights in Mississippi. The college trustees of the 147-year-old college called its financial situation "desperate" when they made public the breaking of all ties with Armstrong.

Armstrong immediately announced he plans an Armstrong University in Texas where he will "put in any stipulations I want."

He said the mingling of Jews and Gentiles in schools tends to "mongrelize the American race. I want a school for white Christians only and we need education on communism and true constitutional government. I thought I had a clear understanding with the Jefferson Military College trustees."

In a statement the trustees said there had been "a complete misunderstanding between Armstrong and the board of trustees." They added, "The policies announced by Judge George W. Armstrong are not, never have been, and never will be the policies of Jefferson Military College, so long as any member of the present board of trustees is in any way connected with the institution."

Submit Report On Crush At Stadium Gates

Action to relieve the extreme crowding experienced at the student entrance to Varsity Stadium has been taken by the UC Literary and Athletic Society, with the support of the Victoria College Union and the St. Michael's SAC.

Four Suggestions

A report submitted to Athletic Directorate Financial Secretary, J. P. Loosemore, listed four changes which the above societies felt would facilitate handling of the crowd of students attending the football games. The four points are:

(1) That the stadium should be opened at noon;

(2) That more entrances be made available;

(3) That iron pipes should be sunk in the ground to aid the marshals in keeping the crowd orderly; and

(4) That the ushers should be supervised to ensure that they seat the students and distribute the programs more properly.

UC Lit President Jack Hoolihan said that Loosemore had been very co-operative. "I have been talking to Loosemore," he said, "and he is in agreement with our point of view."

Changes For McGill Game

Hoolihan said that three entrances will be open for the students at Saturday's game and the entrances will open earlier than usual. Marshals will form the students into orderly groups and ushers will direct the groups inside the stadium. The extra student entrances will be announced later this week.

"One cause of the incident (last Saturday's lineup crush) was that a large number of the students showed very little common sense," thereport said, "They were unwilling to wait their proper turn. Consequently, the press in front of the wickets was unbearable. Several women fainted and some were sick. It is indeed a telling commentary on University men when it is quite evident that they pushed and shoved so hard that women in the crowd fainted.

"Supervision of the crowd of 9,000 was non-existent.

"Any system among the ushers was not discernible to the average student," were some of the remarks in the report.

CCF Secretary Lewis Open Meeting Speaker

DAVID LEWIS, CCF National Secretary, is speaker at the University of Toronto CCF Club open meeting, today, 1 p.m., in Room 115, Economics Building.

Lewis, born in Poland, came to Canada in 1921. At McGill, he won awards for public speaking, edited the student monthly, and was also secretary of the Montreal Labor Party.

In 1932, Lewis won a Rhodes scholarship. On his return to Canada from Oxford, he practised law for three years. Active in the CCF party since its beginnings, he was elected to the National Council in 1936. In January 1937, he became full-time National Secretary for the Party.

Lewis was one of the chief initiators of the Co-operative Commonwealth University Federation (CCUF), formed in 1946.

Campus Profiles

Lazy Author At Vic

By AILEEN FRITZ

"There is no striking change in the attitude of university students of today, although they seem to be more resigned about political and social questions. They are not as idealistic as those of fifteen years ago," said H. Northrop Frye, Professor of English and Religious Knowledge at Victoria College, in an interview yesterday. Professor Frye said the average student today dislikes both capitalism and communism; and feels that the middle way of socialism has not been sufficiently proven. Students have a 'wait and see' attitude," he said.

80 Words a Minute

Professor Frye was born in Sherbrooke, Quebec, but at the age of eight, his family moved to Moncton, New Brunswick, where he received his public and high school education. He became a champion speed typist by means of a six-month scholarship at a business college in the Maritimes, but doubts now whether he could still attain his speed of more than 80 words per minute.

He entered Victoria in 1929, and graduated in 1933 from the Philosophy (English or History option) course. From there, he went on to Emmanuel College, where he received his degree in 1936. Not content with these achievements, Professor Frye went abroad, and took post-graduate work at Oxford.

Edited Acta

In his final year at Victoria, he was editor of The Acta, "It was just about the same as now; very much disliked by undergrads who thought it was the production of a small literary clique."

An acknowledged literary artist, Professor Frye is editor of the Canadian Forum. He began his association with the staff as literary editor, and "more or less moved into the position of managing editor." He considers Canadian Forum an impartial and disinterested discussion of public and cultural affairs in Canada, and tries to keep it that way.

Lazy About Writing

At present, Professor Frye is working on the problem of symbolism and allegory in the works of poets like Spenser. Asked about his writing, he claimed he has done very little, and was perhaps a bit lazy about writing unless there was a specific deadline. "I seldom write for the love of writing." On the whole, Professor Frye feels that Canadian literature has progressed and matured in the last ten years, especially in the field of poetry, and that there are more serious poets today than a decade ago.

"Fearful Symmetry", a critical study of Blake, is the professor's best-known work. The book was accorded high praise when it appeared.

Besides being a writer and critic, Professor Frye is an accomplished pianist. This knowledge was rather forced on him at the tender age of three, he says, when his mother used to remove him to the next room to amuse himself at the piano while his sister entertained guests in the living room. Today, his interest in music centres around the works of the classical Elizabethan composers.

Social Purpose Negative

Professor Frye feels that the main purpose of a university today, rightly or wrongly, is to increase the social confidence of its students. "The university does this in a negative way, because those who do not attend university, feel left out of things," he said. "The universities are too closely allied with the middle class, and I would like to see more scholarships for students from farms and small towns."

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... David Armour, 5T2
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Knight
ASSISTANTS: Eileen Fine

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1949

Tools And Stooges

It is getting to be jolly good sport for various individuals about the country to take pot-shots at the universities of Canada for being "hot-beds" of Communism.

Last year it was Dr. Watson Kirkonell and Controller David Balfour. The U.S. government started the ball rolling this year by suspecting and detaining a university co-ed on a charge of inflammatory speech making. Now the popular theme has been taken up by a columnist for one of the downtown papers.

In his column yesterday morning, Mr. Frank Tumpane came out with the statement that "every once in a while a nest of Communists is uncovered in a Canadian university." Since the rest of the column is devoted to Communist activities on the Toronto campus, it is reasonable to suppose that Mr. Tumpane is also referring to the University of Toronto campus when he speaks of uncovering "nests of Communists."

The Communists operate quite openly at the University under the euphemistic name of Labor Progressive Party and any "uncovering" would be quite superfluous.

All in all, Mr. Tumpane seems willing to forget or overlook some salient facts when he talks of university students being "stooges" for the Comunist doctrines.

In the column he says, "This Communist-front organization (the Peace Council) violently opposed establishment of a chain of radar defenses in our Arctic regions." Whether or not he is speaking of the University of Toronto Students' Peace Council or the Toronto Peace Council is not clear but he implies that the students' group is the one in question.

The campus Peace Council has never gone on record as opposing radar defenses in the Arctic. The group has often repudiated suggestions that it is allied with the Toronto Peace Council and has never endorsed carte blanche the policies of the larger body.

By such subtle omissions anyone could build up a fine case for believing that university students are "members or stooges for a party which uses lies, deceit and moral perversion as ordinary political tools."

In the last paragraph of this column, Mr. Tumpane resorts to a tricky practice, that of generalizing from the facts of a particular case. Because only one of three letters published in last Friday's issue of The Varsity dealt with a question of ethics, Communist ethics at that, he insinuates that student thinking is confined to such subjects as the parking of bicycles and the high cost of posters. No answer is given; none is needed.

Feeling as he does that increased student opposition is the result of any effort on the part of the public to tamper with freedom of association and speech, Mr. Tumpane will probably regard this editorial in the same light.

Once again The Varsity clarifies its stand.

We are as opposed to Communism as is Mr. Tumpane. We believe that the Communist Party and its fellow travellers are corrupting and perverting the minds of many Canadian youths. But we do not believe that opposition to this state of affairs should be based on such generalities and culled information as Mr. Tumpane presents.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICE

Second Mental Health Discussion Period

"The Price of Knowledge"

Discussant: Mr. J. R. Seeley, Department of Psychiatry

Thursday, 3rd November, at 8.00 p.m.

in the Lecture Theatre, Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place.

ALL STUDENTS ARE INVITED, BUT ESPECIALLY FIRST YEAR

University Health Service

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

NEW STUDENTS AND ATHLETES: the health examination is compulsory. Appointments must be made by November 4th.

ALL OTHER STUDENTS: the health examination is voluntary. Appointments are now being accepted.

Contact the Health Service, 43 St. George Street

Telephone: Men—MI 9644, Women—MI 2646

Critical General Survey of BUDDHIST LITERATURE

MIMEOGRAPHED SELECTIONS

LECTURES — DISCUSSIONS

6 week classes beginning

November 2nd, at 8 p.m.

All University Students Welcome

TORONTO Buddhist CHURCH

134 HURON STREET WA. 5265

Services at 11 a.m. Sundays

The Annual Open Organizational Meeting of the

RUSSIAN CIRCLE

will present the famous film

The Marriage

(Russian dialogue, English subtitles)

Women's Union, Wednesday, November 2, 8 p.m.

Refreshments

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢

DAILY DOUBLE

WHAT'S ON TODAY

TRINITY DEBATE

The motion that "No freshman in Trinity College should be allowed to join a fraternity in his first year, and agreement not to do so should be a condition of entry into the College" will be debated at 7.15 p.m. tonight in the Chapel. Visitors are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

M. Henri Gouhier of the Sorbonne will speak on "L'avenir du theatre" in Emmanuel College at 8.30.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

The program to be presented at 4:30 today in the Mechanical Bldg.

Monteverdi — Ecco Mormorar
Schubert — Der Doppelganger (Kipnis)
Leoncavallo — Pagliacci Prologue (Grantforte, La Scala)
Brahms — Concerto in A flat for piano & orchestra (Schnabel-Boult-BBC Symphony)

✣ ✣ ✣

UTDU DEBATE

"Resolved that Canada should recognize the new Chinese peoples Government," will be the topic of the UTDU debate to be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the JCR. Mr. J. B. Salsberg, M.P.P., will be the guest speaker. Persons speaking in this debate will be eligible for the American debating tour.

✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. C.C.F.

David Lewis, National Secretary of the C.C.Y.M. will speak to an open meeting of the U. of T. C.C.F. Club today at 1.00 p.m. in room 115 of the Ec. Building.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN BADMINTON GROUP

The Newman Badminton Group will meet at 7.30 tonight in the COTC Drill Hall.

LACROSSE

St. M. A 17, Med. II, 2.
UC I, 9, Vic I, 5.

SOCCER

Jr. UC, 2; Jr. Vic, 2
Emman, 3; Dents, 0

B-BALL (WOMEN'S)

Vic Soph B. defaulted to Meds.
UCC Sr. B. 31; Vic Sr. B. 2
Vic Freshies A, 26; St. Hilda's Freshies A, 17.

I. S. S. TALENT HUNT AT VIC

ELIMINATION FRIDAY IN VIC

Finalists at Vic Feather Frolic

Winner to All Varsity Finals

Champ to Wayne and Shuster Show!

BAND PRACTICE

To-Day

5 p.m. in the

Drill Hall

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room tonight at 7.30.

REVOLVER

There will be a shoot in the Hart House range tonight at 7.30.

SQUASH

The Hart House Individual Tournament for the A. F. Coventry Cup will be held during the first two weeks in December. All members, both undergraduate and graduate, interested in completing, please sign the lists posted in the Squash Corridor.

LEE COLLECTION

The Lee Collection (medieval and renaissance works of art) will be open to members of Hart House on Wednesday from 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. The general public will be admitted on Visitors' Day (the last Sunday in each month) between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

ISS NEWS

VOL. 1—NO. 3 | INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE IN CANADA | NOVEMBER, 1949

WSR Rest Centre At Combleux

Part of the International Camp at Combleux in the French Alps. There are several of these camps where students with a good study record who are in definite ned of rest and nutrition can come. A medical certificate is necessary and the stay is from one to thre months. These camps also form a centre for study and many international friendships are formed which contribute to better understanding in Europe.

ISS Seeks $7,000 Varsity Objective For National Fund

The Toronto Committee of the International Student Service is openings its annual campaign for funds on Thursday with a 7,000 dollar objective to be realized through campus entertainments and a personal canvass on the campus. Money realized in the campaign will go to a variety of ISS projects.

Announce Support

The President of the University and the official student organizations, SAC and NFCUS, have released statements officially supporting the ISS campaign for funds.

In a letter President Smith designated November 3-10 as "ISS Week" and pledges the full support of the University in view of ISS's ideals and practical endeavours in strengthening international ties and bringing the universal university community closer to realization.

The Students' Administrative Council received a report on the activities of the Toronto ISS Committee and has endorsed their program and campaign. The Toronto NFCUS Committee which is co-operating with ISS in certain projects such as the Carabin Week-end also has endorsed the campaign.

The faculties and colleges of the University have been most co-operative in supporting the campaign and in staging events in the colleges.

Need Funds

In trying to carry out practical projects which will at least partially achieve its ideals ISS always needs more money than it has. Almost the only source of income is from the student campaigns carried on across Canada. At the National Conference to be held in Montreal November 11 and 12 delegates from all the local committees will try to allocate existing funds among projects. One project which must be supported is the scholarship program for the twenty-five students which ISS brought to Canada this year.

This year the local committee has framed a policy of action on this campus which will benefit students at Varsity. A collection of information on foreign scholarships and exchanges available and on summer travel opportunities is now underway. Similarly plans to help students who come here from other countries are receiving attention. All these activities require the work of many students and those on a national level require financial support.

Postal Friend Is Just Like Passport Abroad

"Dear unknown friend" writes a Bulgarian student from behind the Iron Curtain. And in answer, ISS provides another service in its "Correspondence Committee" which supplies both Canadian and Foreign students with the names of people who can share common interests through writing to each other.

Letters are continually arriving at the University, whose writers are anxious to exchange facts and ideas with Canadians. They come from the continents of Europe, Asia, South America and Australia. To obtain a correspondent, I.S.S. has application forms. These forms, when completed, tell the nationality of the person with whom the applicant wishes to communicate, as well as the age and interests, etc., of the applicant himself. The forms are then sent to the National Office of the International Students' Service, where correspondents are arranged.

Praises Friendships

Hans Lange, a thirty-five-year-old German, although not a student, said in a letter received: "It is my great conviction that international friendships are a great thing." He was recalled from his job in Liberia in 1942 to Germany. Arlindo Silva of Brazil wants to "exchange ideas about our countries." He is "very fond of Canada", and speaks English, French, Spanish and Portuguese.

The interests suggested in the letters are varied. An Italian boy wishes to find out the unemployment situation and working conditions here in Canada. A medical student expresses a broader concern in being "highly interested in all the things the world has to show."

Varsity Grad Visits

The success story of an I.S.S. correspondence is illustrated by a '49 graduate of the University of Toronto. This summer while travelling in Europe, he visited Germany and contacted his correspondent. They arranged a meeting, and the Varsity graduate stayed with his friend at his home.

For further information, McDonald can be contacted at HY. 7731. He has announced that following the I.S.S. campaign next week, this service will be effective.

Monthly News Service For Canada And Europe Exchanges Student News

The next time you see an account of student activities in Norway, or of university research in France it will probably carry the credit line of Unipress, the young and still struggling International University Press Service. Unipress, though an independent organization, is backed by ISS because it helps to bring University communities closer together.

The international headquarters are in Amsterdam from which a web of correspondents spreads to the universities of then Western European countries and Canada. Stories on student life, activities and new academic information are relayed to Amsterdam where they are translated and printed in a monthly bulletin which is mailed to university newspaper subscribers.

The Norwegian students' decision on affiliation with IUS, the annual "sit-down" strike at Geneva for better conditions, living conditions at Bombay, are thus relayed around the world in the student press. Gradually students will feel a community interest growing. Besides straight news there are many interesting features on the colorful student customs which bring an appreciation of the diversity of national cultures.

Unipress' birth and growth have not been easy. It has largely been the work of three hard-working students, Boelie Poolman of Amsterdam, Clifford Smith of Manito-

(Continued on Page 4)

Work Done By ISS

ISS Information Bureau To Help Students Plan Travel, Study Abroad

Have you missed a chance to study in Europe? Due to ignorance, numerous scholarships, student exchange facilities, and opportunities for summer travel have been neglected in the past. The I.S.S. Scholarship and Exchange Service is compiling this information and will publicize it next term.

Norwegian Has Trouble

Last summer a Norwegian student tried to arrange an exchange through the Registrar. He offered to care for a Canadian student in Norway for from four to five years, in return for similar care in Canada while he studied chemical engineering here. However, the Registrar lacked the means and the time to contact anyone here. I.S.S. was asked to arrange the exchange.

Study With Pay

In the field of scholarships and fellowships, similar opportunities exist. For example, ten Canadian students, intending to enter the teaching profession can spend a year studying in France at a salary equal to that they might expect as teachers; two graduates in medicine can study abroad under a National Research Council award of nearly $2,000 a year; ten engineers are offered similar facilities; a graduate in the social sciences can spend a year at the London School of Economics on study directed to the benefit of Western Canada. This list just taps the reservoir of unused and unknown scholarships which I.S.S. is delving into.

Finally in the field of summer travel, Canadian students interested in going abroad are forced to contact commercial travel bureaus that know little of their special interests. American student associations in the last few years have not only published handbooks on student travel, but have arranged transportation, itineraries, and contacts with European students. I.S.S. is striving to end this inadequacy in Canada.

ISS Gives Help To Foreign Students

Ibadan is a Nigerian river town some couple of hundred miles up country from Lagos. It is rather more than three bungalows and a bank, for it is clearing house for thousands of square miles of upland estates. It even has a university, with an excellent department of tropical agriculture.

How would you get to the University of Ibadan? Where could you get information about it? How would you travel to Lagos, find transport up country, enroll yourself at Ibadan, learn your way about the campus, get to know people?

Problem For Many

You have never thought of going to Ibadan, so you have probably never realized that all these problems, multiplied several times, face the hundreds of foreign students who enroll each year at Varsity, students from Argentina, Jamaica, Holland, Hungary—one from the University of Istamboul.

To deal with their problems, to attract, welcome and orient them, I.S.S. is planning to set up this year a committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students, the first of its kind on any Canadian campus. Several volunteers have already offered their services

(Continued on Page 4)

Foreign Student Needs Could Be Satisfied In International House

This year ISS is considering ways and means of establishing an international house on the campus. There are many foreign students at the university and there is a definite need for some focal point at which such students can gather. At present there is no centre to which foreign students can go; and there is only one organization, the International Students Organization, which tries to bring them together.

If Toronto University is to keep up its reputation as a world famous university then it must expect a large enrolment of foreign students. This is a great opportunity to improve international student relations, to discuss the university abroad, and to inform ourselves of out the world. That is why an International House could play an important role here. It would be the world information desk of the University.

At this moment a committee, including the Warden of Hart House, is investigating this prospect. They have before them the example of universities like Columbia, where there is a large and important International House doing the work of a students' United Nations. The committee realizes that Canada is playing an increasingly large part in

(Continued on Page 4)

On Campus With ISS

SHOW A MIDI, Convocation Hall, at 12 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 3. The Hall, airy as an Alp and hollow as a tomb, will be open to feature a Wayne and Shuster show. It will be a fast-moving review of what happens on a campus, including the inimitable style of joke synonymous with the names of the comedians. Mr. Bissel, a high member of University brass, will be on hand, and the famous Kallinike has consented to make a personal appearance.

✦ ✦ ✦

CASINO, Friday night. Interesting indigenous customs and accessories, untouched by the impact of the outside world, will feature the Casino Dance to be held after the I.S.S. sponsored Pep-Rally. Added attraction will be the kick-a-poo joy juice et al which will be sold at the Panacea Concession, run by I.S.S. Gorgeous members of the fairer sex will be on hand to aid proceedings.

HALF-TIME AT FOOTBALL GAME, Saturday, the sub-deb idea of what the game is all about, presents an I.S.S. Band Formation. Name bands will make modest noises later in the afternoon for the tea-dancing to be held at various stations about the campus. These last will also bear the sponsorship of the I.S.S.

✦ ✦ ✦

NOON MOVIES, the next best things if you can't afford to eat, will be held Monday. Where they will be held is yet a good question, and if they will be held is yet another question, but we think it's a good idea anyway.

✦ ✦ ✦

MAPLE LEAF HOCKEY GAME, Varsity Arena, Tuesday, at 4 o'clock. The Maple Leaf Gardens have shifted their centre of gravity for the afternoon for the benefit of those who will pay a pittance of 25 cents to see a world-famous team in the throes of an ice-battle royal. At least it will provide relief for those who would like to see somebody else work for awhile.

✦ ✦ ✦

WHAT'S YOUR BEEF? and a bland and witty magician will set a brisk pace for the Victoria-I.S.S. Frolic on Tuesay night at 7.30. A galaxy of choristers, the founders of night life, will be operating their ageless grins and gams to aid in the entertainment, and musicians will also be on hand, just to help out, you understand.

✦ ✦ ✦

HOW MUCH AM I BID? will start off the I.S.S. auction of a three year's supply of lost articles around the campus. Fountain pens, gloves, unmentionables ... come and bid on Wednesday. Who knows what you may find? It's an easy way to become a candidate for one of the ten best-dressed gen-hounds.

✦ ✦ ✦

WAYNE AND SHUSTER? a bright

(Continued on Page 4)

ISS News

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE

The ISS News is published by the Toronto Committee of the International Student Service, a non-political, non-sectarian organization registered under the Dominion Charities Act. The News is published to support the annual ISS campaign for funds and further the aims and ideals of the International Student Service.

EXECUTIVE OF THE TORONTO COMMITTEE

W. G. McDOUGALL — KENT McDONALD
ZIAVA MURRAY — ROSEMARY DUFF
DONALD SCROGGIE — JACK TINKER
PATRICIA MARLOWE — JANE HILL
NANCY SOOTHERAN — GLEN ROSS
ED EBERLE — DON SCROGGIE

NOVEMBER, 1949

The Price Of Peace

Gradually man is learning that peace is not a state which automatically follows the end of a world war. Gradually he is learning that the signing of surrender treaties brings something more to think about than "bluebirds over the white cliffs of Dover."

Man learns the lesson slowly because he fails to realize that peace has a price, that certain sacrifices must be made continually if peace is to be maintained. As principal James has said, in connection with the International Student Service drive for funds at McGill last year, "the peace of the world and our prosperity will not be safeguarded by official plans and treaties. They depend upon the action of individuals, upon public opinion, upon individual acceptance of responsibility. Our gifts to these campaigns are more than the measure of our generosity; they are the indication of the price that each one of us, as an individual, is willing to pay for the chance to create a better world."

At campuses across the country I.S.S. committees are once again launching their campaigns for funds in the sincere belief that peace will always be remote unless material and intellectual relief are provided for the needy and the suffering. It is surely not too much to hope that in Canada the spirit of internationalism is still alive and strong. I.S.S. is the only Canadian movement that represents students on the international level. If university education means anything it means an interest in and the support of such movements.

Distinguished Leaders

ISS Supporters

HONORARY PRESIDENT

His Excellency, Field Marshal, The Right Honourable the Viscount Alexander of Tunis, G.C.B., K.G., Governor-General of Canada.

HONORARY VICE-PRESIDENTS

Mr. W. M. Birks; The Hon. and Rev. H. J. Cody; President W. T. R. Flemington; Mr. J. R. Gilley; Mrs. W. L. Grant; Mrs. Joseph Harris; Dr. C. P. Martin; His Eminence James Cardinal McGuigan; Mrs. Newton Rowell; President Sidney Smith; Mr. E. J. Tarr; Prof. H. Wasteneys.

PRESIDENT, Dr. N. A. M. Mackenzie.

VICE-PRESIDENTS, Professor Marcus Long; Dr. Leon Lortie.

TREASURER, Mr. E. M. Nichols.

NATIONAL SECRETARY, Mr. M. H. Saunders.

ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

Mr. G. Campbell; Dr. V. Carson; Mrs. W. H. Clark; Prof. R. David; Dean H. N. Fieldhouse; Mr. W. Goldring; Mr. G. Hutchinson; Mr. N. Ignatieff; Prof. L. E. M. Lynch; Mr. E. A. MacDonald; Prof. J. S. Morgan; Prof. I. R. Pounder.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Mr. Ace Beach; Mr. Russell Bell; Prof. A. Anstensen; Prof. H. R. C. Avison; The Rev. C. H. Bauer; Mr. Lorne Calhoun; Mrs. W. H. Clark; Mr. P. Daniel; Prof. R. David; Mr. R. DeMarsh; Dr. A. V. Douglas; Mr. J. Y. Grenon; Mr. B. Sawyer; Mr. M. Gelber; Prof. J. Gibson; Mr. N. Ignatieff; Prof. A. Laurendeau; Prof. M. Long; Mr. Wm. McCosh; Mr. M. Robinson; Mr. J. Roy; Mr. G. Trahan.

National Office, 43 St. George St., Toronto, 5, Ont. International Office, 13 Rue Calvin, Geneva Switzerland.

ISS Students Visiting Here Aim High

The five ISS scholarship students studying at the University of Toronto have set their sights high for their careers after university. These students from Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, are getting accustomed to their courses here, and already have some ideas on the eternal question facing university students, "What are you going to do when you graduate?"

Mingling of Cultures

To their life in Canada, these students bring both a solid background of European culture and education, and also, the benefit of their studies at Varsity.

Joseph Bottlik, astudent in III philosophy at Victoria, and a native of Hungary, would still like to become a professor. His brother George, III Trinity, wants to go into business when he graduates from political science and economics. But he says Canadians are not aware of their own country, and so he would like to do a Master's degree on the subject of Canada's economic potentialities.

Plans Indefinite

It must be remembered that all of these students are very indefinite about their future plans. This is to be expected, since they have been in Canada for only seven weeks, and as one of them put it, "We really do not know the possibilities in Canada."

Another political science student, Sigmund Knaul, II UC, studied philosophy and journalism in Poland. There, he wanted to go into journalism, and then into politics, if that is possible. Next in his preference list, is the External Affairs Department, where he feels his languages might be useful. And lastly, Sigmund would like to do social work research.

Banking and market research are the fields which attracted Miroslav Pechan in Czechoslovakia. While at university there, he worked in the field of consumer preference, and would like to utilize this experience in Canada. At any rate, business is his general field. He is in IV C. & F. at St. Mike's.

The one girl in the group, Yarka Pletichova, III modern languages at U.C., wanted to be a university professor in Czechoslovakia. Here in Canada she thinks it would be better to become a high school teacher. She speaks Czech, German, Italian, French, Russian, and of course, English.

These five students are making a cultural and educational addition to Canadian life, not only in the future, but right now. They are bringing part of the world to Varsity classes and residences.

Careful Use

(Continued from Page 3)

then you might try to estimate their quality and I think you will agree that these people have a real contribution to make to the intellectual life of this country.

3. Relief. The need for relief is diminishing very rapidly in Europe and Asia but it would be a mistake to suppose it has ceased. The I.S.S. used its influence to secure medical supplies, food, blankets, etc., worth $25,000 for students in Italy, Germany, Greece and India.

Support Rest Homes

Contributions have been made to rest-homes where students, most of them former members of underground movements, are gradually regaining their health. T.B. is the major disease and our organisation is supporting Sanitaria where the students can continue their studies while recuperating.

These are only a few of the activities. In terms of money they represent a value of about $100,000. So your $18,000 was parlayed into [illegible] larger amount. Not a bad record.

... who can measure the ultimate benefits in terms of money? We are dealing with human beings, with international problems, with some of the most tragic effects of the last War and the present disturbed condition of the world. Your contribution made it possible for Canadians to help in the alleviation of distress.

There is much more to be done, much more than we can describe. We suggest that the above record of success ought to make an even greater contribution this year. Every little helps and nothing is too much where so much must be done and there is so little time in which to do it

Five Questions About ISS

WHAT IS ISS?

As the name would indicate, the International Student Service is an international federation of national university groups banded together for a common purpose: the realization of what might be called the "University ideal" in all phases of social, political, national and international life. As so conceived, the objective is to be found in the tolerance, objectivity and friendship characterizing the university community. In realization it will be found in free discussion of common problems, understanding of opposing points of view and a willingness to cooperate and aid in any possible way in solving the material and intellectual problems of the university community.

WHAT IS ISS OF CANADA?

It is the national group operating as an independent member of the international body within Canada. It was originally founded shortly after the First World War to aid in the work of relief as it affected European students and professors. Since its inception the many problems of university life have necessitated broadening of its general interests. The members of ISS of Canada are the various committees or students and staff-members active on the various colleges and university campuses across Canada. The policy and projects of the National Organization are reviewed and determined in national convention wherein the member-committees can use their democratic privileges to the full. Execution of such plans is in the hands of an elected Administrative Committee.

WHAT HAS ISS DONE IN THE PAST?

The traditional efforts of ISS of Canada were directed towards student relief and university reconstruction. Money collected was distributed through the agency of World Student Relief in cooperation with Pax Romana and other interested international groups. Two international student seminars have been organized, one in 1948 at Ploem in Germany and one in 1949 at Breda in Holland. Some 130 Canadian and European students came together for lectures, seminars and discussions during a six-week period that enabled them to live and share their own nations experiences together. A scholarship plan has been developed and is in execution to aid in the re-settlement of some few of the 8,000 students in D.P. camps in Europe, all of them victims of the fluctuating tides of European political life.

WHAT CAN WE EXPECT FROM ISS IF WE SUPPORT IT WITH OUR FUNDS?

First, an accounting to student delegates from all contributing universities of the funds collected and expended by the national body. Secondly, a program for the following year that will be developed from some or all of the following projects: student relief, the international seminar (if outside funds are forthcoming), continuation of the D.P. Scholarship plan, the development of student exchange scholarships, perpetuation of the seminar idea on each campus in cooperation with existing student-groups, provision for welcoming foreign students coming to Canadian universities through cooperation with other organizations of national education programs (i.e. some agency to fulfill the requirements met in many universities by International Houses), the promotion of discussion groups of staff and students bearing on problems of the university community itself. All these are merely suggested activities and must be sanctioned by student representatives before being adopted.

HOW IS OUR MONEY SPENT BY ISS

It is spent in the manner directed by the national conference. In the past, relief, the D.P. plan and administrative costs have largely accounted for expenditures. Projects are assessed their individual share of administrative costs. In return such administration has made it possible for I.S.S. to raise funds from outside sources (I.R.O., C.C.R.U., provincial governments and private sources) that have served to defray the cost of further projects (the Seminar Plan for example) as well as a share of administrative costs.

ADA MACKENZIE

IMPORTED SPORTSWEAR

44 BLOOR ST. WEST — PHONE KINGSDALE 2222

Three for Your Christmas Book-List

Swans and Amber

By DOROTHY BURR THOMPSON

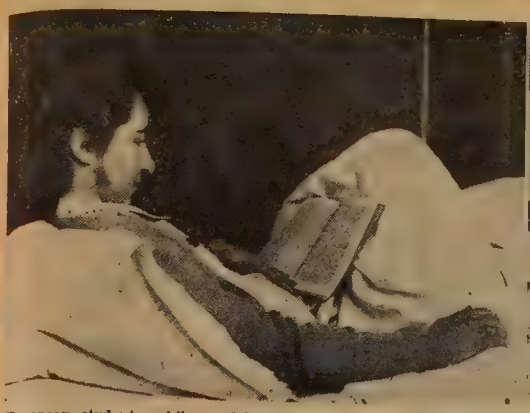
Delightful translations and adaptions of early Greek poetry—as modern today as they were in the seventh century B.C. Illustrated with piquant black and white drawings borrowed from Greek vases. $2.75.

Values of Life

By E. J. URWICK

The mature reflections of this late distinguished social scientist on man's ends and ideals. With an introductory essay by John A. Irving. $3.50.

Half-hours with Great Scientists



By CHARLES G. FRASER

A treasure house of fascinating information for scientists young and old is contained in this warm and human story of experimental physics. Illustrated. $6.00.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO PRESS

Trade Orders: S. J. R. Saunders

Help And Self-Help Is ISS Ideal

European students, while receiving aid from the ISS, do a great deal for themselves too. Above, an unnamed Dutch student is studying while recovering from tuberculosis at the student sanitorium at Leysin in Switzerland. Part of Canada's contribution to World Student Relief through ISS goes to the support of these sanitoriums. They are trying to reduce the high TB rate which is a consequence of the war. Meanwhile Guido Luigi, on the right, an English student at the University of Rome, is shown at his laboring job by which he supports himself at the University. Many Italian students are paying their way in this manner. ISS funds through World Student Relief go to provide medical assistance for these students which is badly needed.

Careful Use Swells Value Of ISS Funds

Last year you contributed to the I.S.S. Your contribution was part of a Canadian total of approximately $18,000. Naturally you would like to know what your contribution accomplished. Here is part of the story in brief.

1. International Summer Seminar. 130 students from Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, Holland, the United Kingdom, Indonesia, Surinam and Canada met in Holland to discuss "The Individual and Modern Society" under the direction of such outstanding Canadian professors as Profs. Lower, Corry, Bladen, Brady and others.

Everybody talks about the advantages of getting people from different countries together to eliminate misunderstandings. The I.S.S. is, so far as we know, the only University organization in Canada that has ever done anything so concrete as an actual international seminar.

Done Their Bit

If there is any truth in the suggestion that the best way to export knowledge is to wrap it up in a person, then this organization has done its bit to carry our belief in democracy and the assurance of our support to the students of Scandinavia and Western Europe in their struggle against their enemies.

2. D. P. Students. Every undergraduate worth his salt has a high opinion of men and women who are willing to give up their homes, their countries, their futures for the sake of their convictions. There are over 8,000 students in the D. P. camps of Germany and Austria who have done just that.

The International Refugee Organization which looks after them is slated to cease operations next June. The countries admitting D. P. immigrants prefer labourers and domestic workers. So the future looks pretty grim for these students.

D Ps In Despair

Sometimes they are tempted to think that heroes ought not to live since honors are given only to the dead. Those who live are likely to become international nuisances and to gain an undeserved contempt from the people who ought to admire them.

The I.S.S. in co-operation with the Canadian Immigration authorities and through the generosity of the Canadian Universities and student contributions was able to offer 25 of these people a new chance to live. You ought to get acquainted with the D. P. scholarship students at your University and learn what it means to suffer for ideas. And

(Continued on Page 2)

Sixteen Nations Achieve A Common Understanding During Summer Seminar

By GEOFFREY PEARSON

Have you ever heard of Bouvigne? I don't suppose so. Many years ago a battle was fought there, but that is a dry fact and not one to which we can attach much signifigance. Another battle was founght there, this summer, a sham battle really, in which a hundred and twenty individuals from sixteen different nations participated.

The prize was understanding and everyone won a part of it, some carrying away more than others according to their method attack. All went away glad of the experience, enriched by it, and attached to it for many years by the strong, vibrant cords of memory. It is this attachment which I would like to try and explain. Why was the Second Canadian I.S.S. Seminar in Europe a success? What made it unique, and wherein lay its value?

Knew War

The second battle of Bouvigne was fought in the buildings and on the grounds of a beautifully kept Dutch noble family, now used by Catholic social workers as a home and training school. To this spot came 48 Canadians, 21 Germans, 17 Dutchmen, and students from twelve other nations.

They were older than the average university student in Canada. The majority knew and had experienced war, but were unskilled in the arts of peace, puzzled by the prospects of meeting foreign students and sceptical of the purposes of international education.

The European students were at first self-conscious, wary, a bit formal, uncertain of what was expected in such a cosmopolitan community. Some were not as fluent in English as others and held back in confusion. The German group was suspicious of motive and intention in the most harmless remark and sensitive to every straw in the wind. This tension was broken by a small nucleus of shock troops, a few Canadians and two or three of the more gregarious Europeans, who managed, with the help of sundry beverages, to break through the crust of reserve and formality that stymied communication in the first few days.

Canadians Hosts

Once the barrier had been pierced defences crumbled rapidly. The Canadians, acting as hosts, introduced the Europeans to the North American custom of easy familiarity, direct speaking, and the use of first names. Many bewildered continentals were Christened anew with nicknames which bore the closest resemblance we could find to phonetic pronunciation.

Once the guests were tagged it was again the job of the shock troops to speed up the process of communication. Dutch gin, or Geneva, served to oil the wheels, and the spotlight of conversation was turned on many subjects — German militarism, the Russian threat, international order, music, education, etc.

The names of Otto, Tony, Jon "of Norway", Horst, Rene, Ladislav soon became associated with a personality, an ability, a habit or an eccentricity. In short they began to live. Once the participants at Bouvigne started to act as human beings in their own right, and not as representatives of another nation or culture, the spirit of Bouvigne began to assert itself.

Active Spirit

It did not manifest itself in any one way particularly. It was diverse, variable, compounded of many elements, the product of interaction and association, and of personal contact. It grew, not from our common knowledge, but from our common experience and common dissatisfaction. Those students who were not dissatisfied, who were ignorant, indifferent or negatively content to listen, played little or no part in forming this spirit.

The efficiency of the administration, the lectures given, the character of the topic, "The Individual and Society", contributed comparatively little. Without them the whole would have collapsed into confusion, but they acted only as a skeleton.

The vital organs functioned elsewhere. These comprised such things as the canteen, where beer was sold and argument passed back and forth across the tables. They included the cafes of the city of Breda, a half mile away and a veritable bridge, in the summer of 1949, to better understanding between peoples. There was the "Bouvigne Star", our daily paper, which guaranteed "all the news that fits" and provided an American brand of journalism that left many foreign students puzzled, most of them amused, some aghast, but which served to knit everyone together and made us all more conscious of the community in which we lived.

Music Vital Part

Music was a vital part of the seminar. The weekly dances, the folk dances, the folk songs of many lands, piano and violin, these all vitalized the feeling and atmosphere at Bouvigne. The ping-pong tables in the courtyard were in continuous use, late into the night, and prompted an energy and incentive rarely excelled by the Olympic games, far out-weighing the most intense discussion or the sharpest exchange of views.

These were the props, the solid materials, about which was woven a spirit of friendship and tolerance I would not have thought possible in a five weeks' project of this nature. I suppose the core of it was the "bull session". We used to meet every night at about twelve o'clock in "Toronto", one of the downstairs reading rooms.

The patrons varied from night to night, but they usually comprised a few determined spirits who had started in on beer after supper and switched to a private supply of gin somewhere along the line. These were joined by the odd vagrant who had been to town that night and missed the twelve o'clock lockup, necessitating a friend inside to do the trick. It was generally during one of these garrulous excursions into aspirations that all masks came off and the welter of opinions, ideas, and prejudices that inhabit the recesses of the modern mind were boldly pronounced.

Heated Discussions Held

It was not uncommon, as the evening progressed, for the central topic under discussion to fragment and splinted into heated exchanges, in a variety of languages, about the merits of the Progressive Conservative party, the Dutch-German border dispute, the Czech Communist coup and British Labour policy. All the while the repertorial staff clicked industriously away in the corner, trying to make next week's edition of the "Free Press" or the "Sun".

Not everythin gat Bouvigne was disparate or indiscriminate. We had two lectures in the morning and two hour seminar groups in the afternoon, the latter directed by the Canadian professors present. These were probably of more value to the European students than to the Canadians.

On the whole, the fusion of interest did not come in the academic schedule. It came in the concerts, the debates and discussions, the guest speakers, the weekend trips and in a lot of little things. It came when Saara, a Finnish student, played Sibelius and Dario, from Rome, led the singing of 'gaudeamus igitur', or Santa Lucia. It came when the Montreal and Laval students gave the barber shop harmony version of 'Au Claire de la Lune'.

Unforgettable Names

It grew up with the student council, unfamiliar to the European students; and roundly criticized each day on the editorial page of the "Star". It matured at the tables

(Continued on Page 4)

Scene Of Seminar

Kasteil Bouvigne, the traditional hunting castle of the Orange family, set in the midst of beautiful formal gardens was the scene of the Second International Summer Seminar of the ISS held at Breda, Holland this summer. Here 130 Canadians and European students met to study and learn about each other's countries. The Seminar was entirely financed by grants from the Provincial governments, the Canadian Council for Re-construction through UNESCO and private subscriptions and was administered by the International Student Service of Canada.

I.S.S. To Sponsor Visits Of Carabins And Austrians

40 U of M Students Renew Annual Trip

Preparation for the second Carabin week-end is well under way. This exchange week-end with the University of Montreal was started last year, and was so successful that it was decided to make it an annual affair.

Forty University of Montreal students invaded Toronto on the evening of December 3 last year and from then until Sunday afternoon the tempo of high excitement never died, but rather grew steadily until the spirit between the two groups of students reached unbelievable proportions.

Both the French speaking and English speaking students were at first wary of each other, but the cold wall soon broke down under the force of common student interests.

In January 40 Varsity students, including 20 of the stars from the All-Varsity Review, represented the University of Toronto at the University of Montreal. "Operation Culture" was undertaken with more than a little enthusiasm, and every bit of it was well warranted. The delegates were royally entertained, at a series of parties, dinners and luncheons.

However it was not only the numerous entertainments which left an impression, it was rather something intangible; a deep bond of mutual friendship, and a spirit of mutual

(Continued on Page 4)

Singers And Dancers Coming From Austria

The mountain is coming to Mohammed! For all of us who can't go to Europe, the ISS is bringing Europe to us in the persons of 31 Austrian students who will descend upon the Toronto Campus on November 26, for one big weekend.

The students are hand-picked singers and dancers from all over Austria who are making a tour of the United States, with this one side trip into Canada, in order to learn about the New World and tell us a little about the Old.

Learning about each other will be done in the most pleasant manner imaginable. The Austrians will present a musical extravaganza in Massey Hall on Saturday night, November 26 to which the general public as well as the University students will be admitted. The show has been beautifully costumed and is of concert-hall calibre.

For university students they will do readings of Austrian poets, present "Jedermann", the favorite Salzbury Festival attraction, and give lectures on Austria.

Need Residence

The main purpose of their trip, however, is to meet and to know Canadians. They will stay with students for the week-end, be shown the city, attend college dances and generally participate in our College life. If you would like to have any one of them stay with you, please contact Marg Haultain (Vic III).

(Continued on Page 4)

Singers & Dancers

(Continued from Page 3)

Besides discovering America for themselves and spreading international goodwill and knowledge on this continent, this tour will have much wider repercussions. When they go home, these students will lecture and give accounts of their impressions. Although their visit will be great fun for all involved, underlying it is a more serious note.

Austria today is occupied by the four powers. It lies on the border between Western Europe and the Iron Curtain.

Here is a wonderful chance to enlarge friendships — friendships which must be the foundation for any harmony in our international relationships. We predict that when the weekend of November 26 is over, the whole University of Toronto will be enjoying a case of "Tyrolean-itis".

U. of M. Students

(Continued From Page 3)

student understanding.

On December 9 another group of 40 students will represent Varsity at the home of the Carabins. Plans are being made at both ends for the biggest and best weekend yet. More information will, however, be available in the near future so that everyone interested will have a better chance to find out about it.

On Campus With ISS

(Continued from Page 1)

new show built on the ashes of an I.S.S. seminar. For 50 cents you can see the two merry travellers trot through various European "situations" on the financial backing of I.S.S. It's a new script, written specially for the event, and will be broadcast on a C.B.C. Trans-Canada show. Come on Thursday and see the seminar group as others see them!

ISS Gives Help

(Continued From Page 1)

to chief planner Temple Kingston, Trinity.

Will Meet Students

The friendly Relations committee will arrange to have students arriving for the first time in Canada met at Halifax, Malton or the Union Station. It will help them deal with the Immigration department and customs. It will assist them in enrolling at Simcoe Hall, and guide them about the campus until they are familiar with it.

It will find them temporary housing—have you ever tried to find a hotel room in a strange, crowded city? It will even try to help them over that hurdle of homesickness—the first Christmas abroad—by asking Toronto families to invite them to Christmas dinner, and by arranging tickets to concerts and theatres.

Have U.S. Counterpart

The committee is modelled on the National Student Association of America's similar nation-wide institution, founded forty years ago by Dr. John K. Mott. Like its U.S. counterpart, the committee will endeavour to print a pamphlet of information about Canadian universities, and arrange with the Department of External Affairs to make it available to Canadian embassies and trade commissions round the world.

I.S.S. hopes that Toronto's committee on Friendly Relations will be copied on all Canadian campuses, for the work of welcoming and orienting foreign students can only be carried out fully and efficiently by a liaison of universities from coast to coast, directed by a national secretariat.

Finally, the committee hopes to be able to offer help and information to Toronto students planning travel abroad. If I.S.S. can finance its ambitious plans, the day may come when it will be as easy for you to sign on for tropical agriculture at Ibadan University as it is to enroll at Simcoe Hall—in fact, easier.

16 Nations

(Continued from Page 3)

of the hotel Dennenoord and those of the small cafe down the road. It flourished in Dutch homes and on Dutch trains. It was there when Martin, the economist, challenged the Catholics present to explain the population problem in Holland. The English students represented it when, in the best traditions of His Majesty's parliament, they took opposing sides in every public debate. Heinz will be remembered for he assured us he came in 57 varieties.

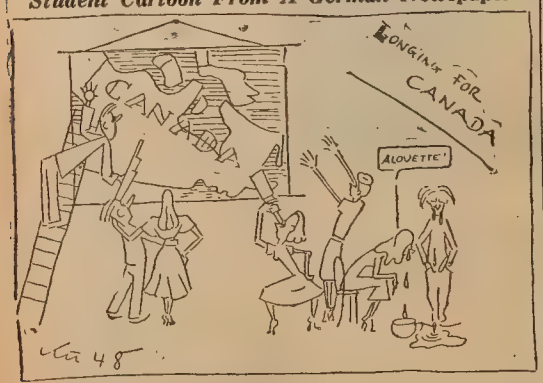
Carl, a tall, thin Anglophile from Dusseldorf, put on an unforgettable performance one night when he lustily sang "Rule Britannia" from beginning to end. All this adds up to a simple thing — a list of names and the memories associated with them. Horst, Otto, Franca, Calude, Don, John, Helene, Esio, Bucky, Saara; this is the spirit of Bouvigne.

You will say it is unreal for such a diverse group to form a harmonious community.

Foreign Student Needs

(Continued From Page 1)

world affairs and that it is the job of her universities to reflect this contribution. We have been provincial too long. Every summer now, Canadian students travel to Europe and other parts of the world. When they return they find no outlet where their experiences can be shared.



It is time that our universities officially recognize and encourage this new understanding by promoting such undertakings as International House. ISS is attempting to forward this idea now. We hope that you will think about this, talk about it and encourage its realization.

Monthly News

(Continued From Page 1)

ba and now at Oxford, and Casimir Bierenbroodspot of Amsterdam. The idea was born at the First Canadian Seminar held at Ploen and since then these three and many others have given their time to further Unipress as an instrument of international understanding. The subscription fee of five dollars barely covers costs of production, let alone pay for the staff and it is only by expanding on this continent that Unipress can establish itself on a permanent basis. Hopes for increased circulation this year, if realized, will mean a permanent expanded Unipress service which can only benefit student bodies across the world.

Student Cartoon From A German Newspaper

COMPLIMENTS OF MACDONALD DRUGS

10 Million or so Canadians Can't be Wrong

Their favourite snack must be good. Yes, it's

HONEY DEW and a RITZ CARLTON

A plump, juicy weiner in a golden crusted bun—mustard to suit your taste. Teams up perfectly with a cold refreshing Honey Dew!

"Honey Dew, The Drink For You".

HONEY DEW COFFEE SHOPS

67-47

• Easy Ways to Current Events Study

• Read - - Behind the Headlines

• Published seven times a year by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs

• Recent issues —
• Eastern Europe in Flux
• Atlantic Partnership
• The People's Health

15c each - $1.00 for 8 issues

Call in or write to C.I.I.A. 230 Bloor St. W.

Visit Our Free Library — Loans if you wish

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE
FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1948 - 49

Projects undertaken during the year 1948-49 and the value thereof including all funds raised locally and nationally, and grants towards the costs of specific projects:

DISPLACED PERSONS PROJECT

25 students brought from Europe and placed in Canadian Universities for one year's study:

Average value per student

Travel $250, Selection $100, Reception $100, Fees $175, Personal $300, Lodging $450——Total $1375.

Total value $34,375, Less $500 from last year's campaign——$29,375.

EUROPEAN SEMINAR

Held in Holland with 50 Canadians and 70 Europeans in attendance. This money was raised entirely from individuals, Provincial governments and the CCRU. $37,000

GRANT FROM CCRU to ISS-WSR FOR RELIEF

This money to be spent in Canada for educational and medical supplies for war-devastated universities. $25,000

CAMPAIGN RESULTS

Funds raised from students and faculty. $19,000

GENERAL CONTRIBUTIONS

From individuals and foundations. $1,900

TOTAL $112,275

NATIONAL ISS EXPENDITURES

Education and publicity	$3,718
Administrative Salaries	6,539
Office Maintainance	2,249
Administrative Travelling (including selection of DP Students)	1,662
Annual Conference	75[illegible]
Sundries	4[illegible]
Total cost of administering ISS program	$14.9[illegible]

This statement is for the purpose of explanation. An audited statement now in preparation will be published at the annual conference in Montreal November 11 and 12.

Simpson's welcomes you to the fifth season of

SYMPHONY 'POP' CONCERTS

a series of 26 concerts by

THE TORONTO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

with Sir Ernest MacMillan, Conductor . . .
Paul Scherman, Assistant Conductor . . . and a prominent guest star every week . . .
bringing you your hour with music, broadcast every Friday evening — over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC

Simpson's

COMING EVENTS

SIGNAL CORPS

All Ex-RCCS Students are invited to attend a reunion of the Signal Corps in the Signals Armouries, 185 Spadina Ave., on Sat. Nov. 5, at 8:00 p.m.

MENTAL HEALTH DISCUSSION GROUP

The second of the Mental Health Discussion Group Series will meet Thursday, November 3 at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital. Mr. J. Seeley, Department of Psychiatry, will discuss "The Price of Knowledge."

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. MARRIED STUDENTS CLUB

A box-social will be held in the J.C.R. Fri. Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. Ladies should pack enough lunch for two.

✣ ✣ ✣

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Med I	vs Sr. SPS .... Luck, Garside, Milnes
SOCCER	North	4.00	Sr. Vic	vs Trin I ..... Smalley
	South	4.00	Wyc	vs Pre-Med ..... Seumarine
LACROSSE		1.00	Med I	vs Sr. SPS ..... Raymond, Prendergast
		6.30	Dent	vs Vic II ..... Chambers, Klarman
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Jr. U.C.	vs Med II Yr. ..... Brown
		6.30	Dent A	vs Pre-Med ..... Cole
		7.30	Pharm	vs SPS V ..... Cole
		8.30	Trin B	vs U.C. VI ..... Cole

GRAD HOCKEY PRACTICES

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 2, FRIDAY, NOV. 4

7:30 to 9:00 a.m.

VARSITY

All interested in trying out for the team are requested to attend these practices.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE FOR THE

ROAMAROUND DANCE

AFTER THE McGILL GAME SAT. NITE, NOV. 5

Dancing In:
- Hart House Gyms
- Drill Hall
- Burwash Hall

Tickets At:
- S.A.C. — Hart House
- Women's S.A.C., Room 62, U.C.
- Skule Stores
- V.C.U. Offices

Music by Art Hallman, Johnny Perkins, Stan Patton and others

McGill will be there too.

FOLLIES

NOV. 11 - 12
HART HOUSE

FOLLIES

Tickets 10 - 2
UC Rotunda
Today, Thurs., Fri.

FOLLIES

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU 3575.

UPLANDS SKI CLUB

Now accepts members - Ski Trails - Skating - Dancing - Parties. Dining room, lockers, showers available. Further information at S.A.C. or Athletic Office.

WANTED

One army officer's greatcoat, size 36-38, height 5'8". Will be required in about three weeks. Apply Box 5, S.A.C. Office.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Call Helmar about your formals, etc. Student, across from Knox College. Student's discount. Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

FOR SALE

Chemical lab equipment; graduate's complete set. Reasonable HA. 6056.

LOST

Red plaid scarf. Varsity Stadium or Tuesday, Saturday. Please phone Gord Cameron, RA. 7113.

LIFE INSURANCE

Low cost preferred plan $10,000 for $6.00 a month. For details call HU. 3929.

LOST

Gold and bloodstone signet ring, Saturday night, between Trinity & St. George St. or thereabouts. Finder please contact W. Farmer, at KI. 0435. Reward.

FOR RENT

One or two rooms furnished with grill privileges in beautiful home. Very quiet. Nice location. 435 Palmerston Blvd. LO. 6235.

FOR SALE

A gentleman's suit of tails. Fit a 34 to 36 size. Excellent condition—$25.00. Private. 300 Keele near Annette.

FURNISHED ROOM

Young man to share light housekeeping room with O.C.E. student—5-minute walk to Hart House $6 per week. KI. 0042. 395 Huron St.

TYPIST

Experienced typist will do your typing at home. Call HY. 4025 evenings or week-ends.

ALTERATIONS

Of all types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise KI. 0457 near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

DON'T UNDER-ESTIMATE THE POWER OF A SUIT!

Many a success story first got its start in a Nat Freedman suit. Don't be timid, be tailored by Nat. You, too, can be a success!

NAT FREEDMAN CLOTHES

551 Bloor St. W.
(Near Bathurst)

Hours—Everyday 9-6.30
Friday and Saturday 9-9

SORRY!

Due to circumstances entirely within our control we are permanently out of stock of high pressure salesmen (?) who pounce on you the moment you open their door, deluge you with memorized superlatives and extravagant claims urging you to BUY! BUY! BUY!

All that WE have to offer is our warm, PERSONAL attention to EVERY INDIVIDUAL STUDENT, lots and lots of truly good cloths and flawless tailoring AT SENSIBLE PRICES. Just visit us and see for yourself.

Yes, just five minutes from the campus lies the STAIRWAY SHOP of . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE ST. MI. 9010

a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE on the South side

SLAX WITHIN 5 DAYS FROM CHOICEST GABS, FLANNELS, and COVERT CLOTHS FOR ONLY $14.95

PANACEA

★ An All Varsity Dance

★ Run at No Profit as a Contribution to Varsity Spirit

★ Entertainment of Every Kind

● 3 Orchestras ● Water Ballet ● Variety Show ● Continuous Movies ● Fortune Tellers ● Swim Meet ● Square Dancing ● Novelties ● Music Program

★ Meds is Your Host for this Grand Dance

Get Your Tickets Now At:
- S.A.C. Office — Hart House
- Panacea Stand in front of Hart House 1:00 — 2:00 p.m. every day
- Medical Society — Room 107 1:00 — 2:00 p.m. every day

TONIGHT 8:30

"Startling screen wedding of modern art and psychiatry." —New York Times

"dreams that money can buy"

A Feature Film in Colour
Guest Speaker, Music-Director
LOUIS APPLEBAUM
Fri. & Sat., Nov. 11, 12, 8.30 p.m.
MUSEUM THEATRE
Also Fri., Sat., Nov. 11, 12, 8.30 p.m.
Tickets ($1.20). Rendezvous Book Shop, 734 Yonge. At Museum from 7 p.m. eve of performance.
Modern Art Exhibit Till Nov. 12

THE VICTORIA COLLEGE DRAMATIC SOCIETY

ARTHUR MILLER'S

POWERFUL DRAMA

ALL MY SONS

NOVEMBER 3, 4, 5,
Hart House Theatre
DIRECTED BY Henry Kaplan
● TICKETS $1.00
HART HOUSE THEATRE BOX OFFICE

JR. PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Professor E. L. Fackenheim will speak to the Junior Philosophy Club on the topic: "Progress, Reaction and other Slogans," Thursday at 7:45, in the Croft Chapter House.

Everywhere people are changing to PEPSI-COLA

Mrs. M. E. Jones, Montreal housewife, says, "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because it's a favourite with family and friends alike." And it is! Sparkling Pepsi-Cola is first choice for refreshment with millions of Canadians. Take home a 6-bottle carton today. You get 12 full glasses for only 30¢. Compare the taste. Compare the value. You'll never again be satisfied with any other soft drink.

"My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives us better flavour and bigger value," says Leo Barrette, Ottawa student. And that's true of the new quick-drink size Pepsi, too. You get 8 full ounces of sparkling Pepsi-Cola for only 5¢. Once again, you get more for your money when you buy Pepsi!

for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

Mikemen And Foresters Win Football Tilts

Dents, Jr. SPS Zeroed In Hard Grid Battles

FORESTRY-DENTS

A hard driving Forestry football aggregation registered their third win of the season yesterday afternoon as they blanked the Dents' third group entry by a 7-0 score. The green and white gridders held a 2-1 win over Dents prior to yesterday. The Forestry squad was led by a brilliant front wall which Dents could not seem to match until the third quarter.

The Forestry major was the culmination of a long march in the second canto which their superior line play made possible. Sheldon threw a touchdown strike which Austin toted across for five points. Sheldon made the convert good to bring the halftime score to 6-0.

The third quarter play took on a much evener sheen as the Dentist's front wall showed signs of revival. Both teams made marches without any real scoring threats.

Sheldon hit the scoring column again late into the final frame. He booted a nice punt behind the Dents' goal and Clark, Forestry left end made the tackle behind the touchline on the Dents' ball carrier.

Lineups

Forestry	Position	Dents
Masterson	C.H.	Ryan
Austin	R.H.	Woolidge
Collict	L.H.	Hickman
Sheldon	Q.B.	Simpson
Booth	F.W.	Mewha
Clark	R.O.	McKusker
Julian	L.O.	Gregus
Magnus	R.M	Holt
Winters	L.M.	Lampe
Devries	R.I.	Lalonde
Dowsett	L.I.	Hannah
Vernon	C.	Daneka

Forestry subs: DeComkey, Armstrong, Nelson, Bell, Hundt, Boake, McKay, Beatty, Honeyborne.

Dents subs: White, Moore, Stefanin, Masaros, McMillan, Cudmore, Bayne, Gallagher, Hicken, Hrabowski.

ST. MIKE'S - JR. S.P.S.

St. Michael's College scored an unlooked for upset yesterday on the back campus as they whitewashed their erstwhile conquerors Jr. SPS in a 36-0 fiasco. The Collegians were tops all the way as they took the win to stay in the Mulock running.

The double blue squad rolled up nineteen points in the first half with their fast breaking offensive style while dominating the play up to this point. Skule recovered much strength in the second half and were in scoring position twice but failed to capitalize.

Gerry Washington, who showed real driving power throughout the contest scored three majors for the mikemen to lead the scorers. Tony Adams who called signals for the winners scored two touchdowns and booted a rouge for eleven points and Bud Brennan made five good converts. Another contributor to the St. Mike's total was D'Arcy Mulligan who made a fine catch of an Adams pass in the dying minutes of the game to score the last major.

John Prendergast played an outstanding game for Jr. Skule as he went for consistent gains through and around the line and caught a brace of passes to complete a fine performance.

Lineups

St. Mike's: Halves, Washington, O'Heany, McIntyre, Grossi, Neville; Q.B., Adams; centre, B. Kite; insides, McKenna, Brennan; middles, Bergin, O'Keefe; ends, Carr, Dowling; subs, Tierney, Ross, Weil, Mulligan, O'Keefe, Belak, Sullivan, Mauchly, O'Hara, Davin, Giblin.

Jr. SPS: Halves, Beattie, Hotchkiss, Muirhead, Stayan, Fleury; Q.B., Slattery; ends, Perry, Riddell; middles, Laubitz, Greesley; insides, Rayse, Snider; centre, MacPherson; subs, Carr, Prendergast, Brown, Bush, Mowatt, Pullen, Barnhart, Spencer.

Soccer Blues Go To Guelph Today Face OAC Teams

Following their comfortable victories over Western last Saturday, the Blues Senior and Intermediate Soccer teams travel to Guelph today to oppose Ontario Agricultural College. The Aggies are likely to provide sterner opposition than was encountered from Western, for while their style of play is not particularly notable for its degree of craft and skill, they specialize in a robust and dashing "kick-and-rush" game which may upset the Blues, who prefer to play in the Scotch tradition of close interpassing, keeping the ball "on the carpet."

O.A.C. Seniors have already defeated Western 4-2; whether Varsity can settle down to play their usual constructive game in spite of the knock-about.

Join Now Through EATON'S!

THE ONE DOLLAR BOOK CLUB

Two Free Books to the New Member!

No dues, no fees . . . join now and we will send you without charge your choice of any two of the current best sellers on our list. These books in the publishers' retail editions sell ordinarily at prices up to 3.50 each. You can also choose any third book in the list for your first selection at 1.00. As a member you go right on making very substantial savings with every book you buy. The purchase of as few as six books a year fulfills your membership requirements. Members receive each month a descriptive folder called "The Bulletin".

For further information call,

TR. 5111

Book Dept. — Eaton's Main Store — Main Floor

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

Freeman's

FORMAL PRICE POLICY

Since Freeman's was first founded in 1919, they have endeavoured to serve the Campus with Formal Wear to the best of their ability.
The main objective of the firm is to make it as convenient as possible for the students to attend all formal affairs.

In keeping with this policy, the student price policy of a reduction of $1.00 will be continued—$6.00 includes the suit and all accessories.

When the bid says "Formal"—be sure to visit Freeman's.

2 CAMPUS STORES TO SERVE YOU 2

256 College St. — KI. 0991 (At Spadina)

556 Yonge St. — KI. 3271 (At Wellesley)

"Tailored to fit like your own"

Freeman's

ENGINEERS

Meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada

Thursday, Nov. 3, 1949

8:15 p.m.

Room 2034, Wallberg Building

"ENGINEERING FEATURES OF THE NEW BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA BUILDING"

Discussed by

The Consulting Structural and Mechanical Engineers and by the General Contractor

After McGill-Varsity Game

COLOSSAL

RUGBY DANCE

featuring

Mart KENNEY + Boyd Valleau

2—BALLROOMS—2

Royal York Hotel

TICKETS—3.00 Per Couple—at 112 St. George or Door

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE DE U.C.

veut annoncer une réunion demain soir à 8h15 au Women's Union Theatre. On presentera Gros Chagrins, pièce en un acte, June Rowat, chanteuse, et Vingt Questions. Après le programme, il y aura des rafraichissements et la danse. Admission 25c. Tout le monde est invité.

OFFICIAL CREST PINS AND RINGS UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

. . . . may be purchased to your order in three places

S.A.C. OFFICE
ROOM 62
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

EDWARDS
INSIGNIA JEWELLERS
536 BAYVIEW AVE.,
MO. 4212

SHORNEYS
OPTICIANS
70 BLOOR ST. W.
(cor. Bay St.)
Written S.A.C. order required

Unless it is something "special" approximately 2½ weeks are required to complete an order. All Rings are made to your measure, and Guards are individually cut.

DRINK

5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Ove-cast and Colder

VOL. LXIX, NO. 30 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Thursday, November 3, 1949

Still Seek Male Choristers

Men of the All-Varsity mixed choir raise their voices in robust harmony as rehearsals move into high gear. Though there is no dearth of willing female talent, choir director Lee Hepner still needs a few masculine voices to round out his ensemble. He hopes to get them before the choir makes its first public appearance.

SAC Exchange Closes Books On First Year

Al. Burns (IV C&F) has issued a financial statement for the S.A.C. Student's Book Exchange showing that 1,070 students brought in books this fall. Total sales were $8,104.62, of which $7,294.16 has been picked up. The approximate number of books sold was 6,400, or an average of four per vendor. Books remaining have been stored and insured and will be brought out again in the spring when the exchange reopens for intake of books to be sold next fall. Records are now at the S.A.C. office, where enquiries should be directed.

CAMSI Plan Request Of $25 Minimum Wage For Canadian Internes

London—(CUP)—Aid in obtaining a minimum wage of $25 per month for internes will be solicited by C.A.M.S.I., it was decided at the annual meeting of C.A.M.S.I. at the University of Western Ontario last week. The Canadian Medical Association and Association of Canadian Medical Colleges will be asked to help give weight to the request.

The three day conference decided that C.A.M.S.I. will seek to affiliate with the British Medical Students Association with possible summer student exchange possibilities. The University of Saskatchewan will also be invited to join C.A.M.S.I.

It was agreed that instrument-purchasing by C.A.M.S.I. will be discontinued and that the students' summer employment service will be expanded by co-operation with the General Practitioner Section of CMA and with the local schools.

The policy of the CAMSI Journal was reorganized with a future subsidy of 20 cents per student being given to the Journal.

D. G. Watson, R. Tasker and D. Harrison of the University of Toronto were winners in the art exhibition. Another competition was announced: the Charles E. Frosst Cup for the best undergraduate medical journal published in Canada.

Peter Heaton was the U. of T. medical school delegate.

Caput Gives Nod To Group Devoted To Baha'i Faith

Caput approval has been given to a newly formed campus organization, The Baha'i World Faith, Caput Secretary J. C. Evans said yesterday.

The new group is headed by Jameson Bond, IV Cic, who explained the aims of the religious organization. "The purpose of the new group is to make available to other university students information regarding the aims and scope of this new world faith," he said. "Since its founding a little more than a century ago it has grown to a world wide community of several million members, with adherents in 94 countries."

The Canadian Baha'is were officially recognized last April as a national religious body by an act of The House of Commons and the Senate. At present, accredited representatives of the Baha'i Faith attend regularly, non-governmental and human rights commission meetings of The United Nations at Lake Success.

The organization has spread rapidly in North America in the past few years, Bond said. "We have built a temple on the shores of Lake Michigan in the Chicago suburbs. The Baha'i House of Worship was designed by a French-Canadian, Louis Bourgeouis, and symbolizes in its unique architecture the unity of all religions."

Pres. Smith to Unveil Plaque At First Meeting of RCI Sat.

On Saturday, November 5 the Royal Canadian Institute will mark the opening of its 101st session with a talk by the President Dr. V. B. Meen. He will address an open meeting on the subject "Mineralogy —A Science and a Hobby."

Dr. Sidney Smith, President of the University of Toronto will unveil a plaque commemorating the Centennial of the Institute, which was celebrated last April.

Dr. Meen will illustrate his lecture with experiments and lantern slides in natural color. His pictures are now in use in most of the universities of Canada and at one university in the United States.

Several branches of the hobby of mineralogy will be discussed by Dr. Meen in his address, the first of a series presented by the Royal Canadian Institute.

ISS Campaign Headquarters
119 St. George Street
MI. 8741
Chairman: Don Scroggie

Should Recognize Red Chinese Gov't. U.C. Debaters Say

Canada should recognize The Chinese Communist government a University College debate decided last night by a vote of 42 to 22. The resolution was upheld by Shirley Endicott, II Vic. and Jack Houlihan IV UC, and opposed by Margaret Kearns and David Quigley of IV St. Michael's. J. B. Salsberg, Labor Progressive MMP for St. Andrews, guest speaker, supported the government in a speech from the floor.

The decision was based on the dual plea of mutual benefit and world peace. Shirley Endicott said the Chinese people had for the first time "thrown off foreign domination and exploitation." She said it was not a case of Soviet aggression, but "a people's movement." The Chinese revolution was a success, she said "It is folly on the part of the Canadian government to refuse to recognize this fact."

"You can't ignore one quarter of mankind," she declared. Large benefits in trade and commerce would follow Canadian recognition of the new Chinese government, she claimed.

Margaret Kearns, first speaker for the negative, insisted it was not merely an issue in Canadian foreign policy, but rather a case of diametrically opposed ideologies—Christian democracy against Communist tyranny. She said the new Chinese government was not a de facto government, that there was still a nationalist government, representing 200,000,000 people. By recognizing the Communist government, she said Canada would obliterate the sacrifice made in the war in the Pacific, and throw away her only political weapon.

Jack Houlihan, second government speaker, affirmed that it was not a case of democracy versus slavery, but of expediency. He said China had never had a democratic government and that it would be hard to surpass the graft and corruption of the Chiang Kai-Shek government. He said non-recognition of the Communist government would cause future ill-will since the revolutionary victory was an accomplished fact. He continued the emphasis on trade, adding that the Canadian government had no right to impede trade because of "silly sentimental qualms." Trade with China would be material help to the Canadian West, and aid Asiatic progress, he asserted.

The last speaker, David Quigley, asserted trade on terms such as those offered in Communist countries was unwanted. He pointed out Lenin placed China second in the line of communist advance, and that to recognize the Communist government would be a step towards jeopardizing the peace of the world and the sovereignty of nations.

J. B. Salsberg, asserted the importance of recent events in China had been played down in the interests of the "cold war campaign."

The world has made a sharp turn, whether for good or bad, he said, and it was the opportunity to choose between the sovereignty of the Chinese people, or to deny them their national rights. He reminded the House of the long and glorious history of China, its vast potential wealth and high standard of culture, and asked what right anyone had to hinder their progress along the lines laid down by their republic's founder, Sun Yat-Sen.

President Asks Country Training Be Given Meds

Medical students should be apprenticed to general practitioners in rural areas during their undergraduate years, President Sidney Smith told the Ontario Hospital Association at their 25th anniversary dinner Tuesday.

Leading physicians, consulted recently, said the scheme had been considered by the profession for some time and was a good idea.

Dr. Smith suggested clinical training in a large well-equipped modern hospital might not be the best training for a young graduate in rural areas where such facilities did not exist. He pointed out only 10 per cent of those ill seek hospital care and the rest are treated by the general practitioner. This, he feels, is the reason why medical students should be apprenticed to the rural doctors where they would receive practical experience.

The doctors agreed but wondered who would choose the general practitioner to whom a student would be apprenticed. Those present at the dinner said some men would be a hindrance while most would be a help.

Free Noon Show Opens ISS Drive For Funds Today

The International Student Service campaign for funds to carry on their work during the coming year opens today. "We hope to raise $7,000 this year so that we will be able to expand our Toronto services," ISS Campaign Chairman Don Scoggie said yesterday.

During the next seven days, which have been designated as International Student Service Week by University President Sidney Smith, the ISS will present a varied program of events, designed to publicise the ISS and raise the $7,000 objective set.

Free Show Opens Drive

ISS Week opens officially today at 1 p.m. in Convocation Hall, with a free noon-hour show. Featured on the program will be comedians Wayne and Shuster, pianist Sue Davidson, the Lady Godiva Memorial Band, a pantomime act from "Panacea", and boogie pianist Barb Radfern.

Dean Bissel will be present to make a short speech on behalf of President Smith, and Kallinike is expected to arrive with greetings from Greece.

Five free tickets to "Panacea" will be given away at the show. Five tickets to the Roamaround Dance this Saturday will also be offered as prizes, and there will be ten tickets to the Wayne and Shuster show. University College is planning to donate two tickets to "The Follies".

In addition to University officials, campus organizations, including the SAC and NFCUS, have pledged their support to the campaign. The faculties and colleges are also co-operating with ISS.

Need Money

ISS needs the money for many projects. One which must be supported is the scholarship program for European students studying in Canada.

ISS also plans to provide information on foreign scholarships and summer travel opportunities.

Plans for an international house on the campus are in progress.

News Staff Meeting

Will the following members of The Varsity news staff and any others really interested in writing for The Varsity, attend a meeting in the news office, Room 78, UC, at 1:00 p.m. today:

Hal Brown, Marg World, Ian Vorres, S. Rosen, Claire Echlin, Marg Allen, Chuck Rea, Jo Shone, Miriam Kelly, Joanne McWilliams, Carol Whitefield, Dean Smith, Pat Grandy, Nancy Graham, Jim Simpson, Fraser Fairlie, Ed Rasky, Carol MacKinnon, Norm Sherman, Pat Ciglen, Ivan Aron, Ian Montagues and C. Mack.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Morttsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Boss, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dmieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... David Armour, 5T2
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER, 3, 1949

Fifty Cents....

"Money," says the song, "is the root of all evil." Which may or may not be true. There is a small chorus in the song which says: "Take it away, take it away, take it away."

Recently we have been thinking about money. Mainly we have been thinking about fifty cents. That isn't as odd as it might seem, for fifty cents is a powerful force in the hands of the young. Did you ever sit down to figure out what it can do?

Fifty cents will buy you two beers (bottled) or five beers (draft) at the local oasis. It will buy one and a half — almost — packages of cigarettes. Fifty cents is the key to ten bottles of pop, seven chocolate bars, one lunch in Hart House, or a show (if you go in the afternoon).

Yes, fifty cents is a powerful weapon. One that they keep taking away.

Today we suggest a new use for fifty cents. We would like to change the chorus of that song to read: "Give it away, give it away, give it away!

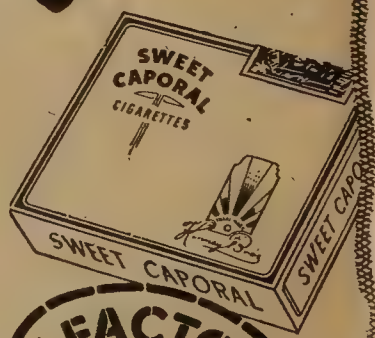
Each year at this university the student is asked to give away money for various organizations and causes. They are all worthy; they are all heartily endorsed. There is one which we think, for students at least, deserves as much support as we can give it, morally and financially. That organization is the International Student Service.

Last year the ISS asked 15,000 Toronto students for $10,000. They got about $4,000. This year the ISS is asking 14,000 Toronto students for $7,000. That was how we got interested in fifty cents — 50 times 14,000 equals success for the Toronto ISS Campaign for funds for the coming year.

We believe that University of Toronto students should support the ISS. We believe that they should support the ISS because:

. . . The ISS embodies in its program one of the most progressive international ideals to be found in any student organization anywhere in the world. The ISS seeks to realize this ideal through "free discussion of common problems, the understanding of opposing points of view and a willingness to co-operate in any possible way in solving the intellectual and material aids of the university community."

. . . You get your money's worth from ISS. They know how to spend money. Last year they sent 48 Canadians to Canadian ISS seminar in Holland which 130 students attended. They brought to Canada 25 displaced persons of outstanding ability to study in Canadian universities. They administered $25,000 worth of student relief. Canadian students contributed about $18,000 of the $112,275 spent last year. Money came also from the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO, provincial governments and private individuals.



. . . The ISS, while the results of its work may not be immediately and startlingly evident, is constructively building through its programs and projects the kind of international goodwill and understanding which make "peace" a practical objective. It brings to Canada new and valuable citizens through its displaced person program. And if you were a student at some far off university recuperating from tuberculosis at an ISS supported sanitarium, this editorial wouldn't be necessary.

So fifty cents is important. Money may be the root of all evil; it is also a means to a lot of good. Give some of yours

AT THE GAME

Smoke and enjoy SWEET CAPS

...They're FACTORY ✓ FRESH

King Fellowship On First Award Won By Veteran

The first W. L. MacKenzie King fellowship in external affairs has been awarded to Jack Douglas Herbert, Saskatoon, President Smith announced recently.

Endowed by a group of the former prime minister's friends, the fellowship is for a year's study at the University of Toronto, where Mr. King was himself a scholarship winner in 1893.

The fellowship is awarded on the basis of personality and initiative as well as academic ability. According to the terms set forth by its founders, "the candidate should be worthy of representing Canada to those living beyond its borders."

The first winner was born in Saskatoon, joined the RCAF at 19 and got a medical discharge after four years' service.

Discount on Books

(Continued from Page 3)

counts were so completely eliminating profits that book store owners were being forced to adopt sidelines, such as greeting cards, to remain solvent, he said. Yet book prices were being inflated, Gray stated. The trade had revived after Macmillan's and other publishers adopted the policy "net prices" which could not be changed without permission by the retailers.

(See page seven for a statement by Mr. Gray about relations of his company with the University of Toronto Press Book Store.)

CCF Can Aid

(Continued from Page 3)

economy is to use all productive capacities to the utmost, the speaker said. "The planned society must continually strive to increase these capacities because the needs of the people are continually increasing."

"If we had been fortunate enough at the end of the war to have governments in the western part of the world ready to go ahead with international economic plans without set-backs by private enterprise, we would be much farther ahead than we are now," Mr. Lewis concluded.

PEP RALLY

Back Campus
FRIDAY AT
8:15 P.M.

Before Meds' Pgnacea and I.S.S. Dance at Hart House ★ Bands — Fireworks — Skits — Cheerleaders — Fun ★
Everybody Out Early

ONLY 23 DAYS
TO GET YOUR DATE FOR
"THE DANCE OF ROMANCE"
Vic Informal
HART HOUSE—NOVEMBER 25

U. C. MARRIED STUDENTS' CLUB
BOX SOCIAL
J.C.R. — Friday, November 4 — 8 p.m.
For information please phone RA. 6252; LY. 7089

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

BRIDGE

The Hart House Bridge Club will meet this evening at 7.15 in the Music Room.

ARCHERY

Archery shooting will take place in the range at 7.30 tonight.

ART CLASS

The art class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

TALK IN ART GALLERY

Mr. John Eaton will give a talk on his exhibition which is now on view in the Hart House Art Gallery. The talk will take place at 1.30 today in the gallery.

SQUASH

The Hart House Individual Tournament for the A. F. Coventry Cup will be held during the first two weeks in December. All members, both undergraduate and graduate, interested in competing, please sign the lists posted in the Squash Corridor.

THE VARSITY

Thursday, November 3, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

C.C.F. Can Aid World's "Mess" — David Lewis

The capitalistic system has made a "mess" of world economy and the C.C.F. system would be an improvement, was the argument presented yesterday to the University of Toronto C.C.F. club by C.C.F. National Secretary David Lewis.

"I have never been overcome with the efficiency of the present capitalistic system," Mr. Lewis said. "Two world wars and depressions have indicated that anyone qualified for the various technical work which has to be done could not possibly make a worse mess."

Criticizes Students

Stating that the students of today do not give enough thought to problems of the world, the national secretary said, "Most of the undergraduates of today have spent the thinking part of their lives in an atmosphere of war and the capitalistic prosperity of peace. Those who have studied economics know that this prosperity cannot go on forever. A change is inevitable in the working of the so-called economic laws of a capitalistic society." Students should give more thought to these problems, he said.

The attitude of thinking people to proposed social systems usually assumes two lines the speaker said. The first line assumed the form of the question, "Can one have economic and social planning and still retain freedom?" "Capitalism has only laid the foundation for the democratic house of freedom," he said. "If these foundations are exposed too long without walls and a roof they will crumble just as surely as physical walls."

The second line along which thought on social planning tends is whether or not the C.C.F. would be any improvement on the present system, Mr. Lewis said. He added that the C.C.F. would certainly be an improvement on the capitalistic system.

"If socialism were taken in the C.C.F. sense and not the distorted sense of totalitarianism, the four freedoms would mean something for the first time to the ordinary person," he said.

The major purpose of a planned

(Continued on Page 2)

Victoria Debate Series For Thomson Trophy Was Begun This Week

The Thomson Impromptu Debates, sponsored by th Victoria College Debating Parliament, were started this week with a noon hour debate on Tuesday and another to come this Thursday.

The Thomson Trophy, now on display Vic, was given to the Debating Parliament by Gordon Thomson, last year's Speaker of the House. Names of the two contest winners will be engraved on the trophy, and both winners will be awarded a cup.

First and second years will debate on Tuesdays and Thursdays, while the other years will test their oratorical skill on Wednesdays and Fridays. The contest is to continue until all but four entrants are eliminated. These will be sent to McMaster for an inter-collegiate debating tournament.

Panacea For Sore Eyes

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

They look dry and demure here but these winsome mermaids will raise quite a splash in Hart House pool Friday night when they appear as an eyefilling highlight of "Panacea", Medical Society's annual show. From left in rear: Cay Catto, III PHE, and Ruth Volpe, PHE grad. From left in front: Jackie Tobian, II Meds, Ruth McKerrow, IV Food Chem, Zi Murray, III Arts, and Peggy Quiggan, III Arts.

'Liquid, Solid, Gas Not All' Physicists' Society Told

London, Oct. 28 —(CUP)— Discovery of a fourth state of matter, a super fluid which denies the laws of gravity and conducts heat better than silver or copper, was described last night by Dr. A.D. Misener, M.A., Ph.D. F.R.S.I., new head of the University of Western Ontario physics department

The substance, known as liquid helium II, was explained before an open meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Association of Physicists in the Science building. Liquid helium II is found when helium is lowered to a temperature of 2.18 degrees absolute, in the neighborhood of minus 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

While studying for his M.A. at the University of Toronto, Dr. Misener became interested in the unique properties of the substance. He was attempting to measure its viscosity when some of the incredible properties became apparent. Even the use of some Rube Goldberg type of inventions failed to produce factual results. The only conclusion was that a superfluid existed.

Dr. Misener continued his experiments at Cambridge and while attempting to measure the thermal conductivity of liquid helium II he uncovered the "super properties" Liquid helium II conducts heat 1,000 times better than do silver or copper, the best modern usable conductors. Other experiments revealed that the liquid defies gravity.

The two-fluid theory provides an explanation for the phenomena. Some of the atoms are at absolute zero while others are not.

The meeting was the first this year for the local group.

Drama Props Mutilated E'en Pranksters Blamed

Hallowe'en pranksters destroyed part of the set for the Vic Dramatic Clubs play, "All My Sons," on Monday night, Club President Dave Gardner announced yesterday.

On October 31, following the rehearsal of the play to be presented tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night in Hart House, the porch and steps which form part of the scenery were left outside Vic's front door. The following day only broken boards remained.

"For just one unthinking moment we censured our rivals," Gardner admitted. "However, on cooler reflection, we realized that university students could never stoop so low."

Discount On Books Causes High Prices Says Macmillans

General practice of price discounting in the retail book trade causes much disruption and eventually has "an inflationary effect" on book prices, General Manager J. M. Gray of the Macmillan Company of Canada said in an interview yesterday.

Price War Boosts Cost

While discounting his company's refusal to sell any books to the University of Toronto Press Book Store as long as they are to be sold at a discount, Gray said price wars between book retailers eventually make the trade so unstable that the general price level is raised.

"We deplore price cutting as a general principle," the official stated. He emphasized, however, that Macmillan's are not directly affected by retail price discounts. But in 25 years or so the whole book business would be in difficulty as retailers went out of business.

"I am afraid University book store officials do not realize their policy has had repercussions throughout the trade," Gray commented. "If they were working in a vacuum, we couldn't care less. But as long as they are competing with other tax-paying stores, they must work on a fair, competitive level."

SAC "Too Hasty"

"I doubt that more than two dollars per student is involved in this discount," he added. "What is involved from our point of view is the basic health of the retail book business."

He said he considers the action of SAC in condemning his company's policy to be rather hasty. He had studied the SAC brief on book prices and it had dealt mainly with problems of the used book trade. No proper study of the new book business had been made.

When asked whether Macmillan's allow any of their books to be sold at a discount the official said their only two chief exceptions to the rule. Toronto vocational high schools had been allowed a discount for 25 years. This had apparently been allowed because there had been difficulty in aquiring special, technical books in private stores. It was also the custom to sell at a discount to teachers.

To illustrate how impartially the policy of a "list price" is applied, Gray told of another university book store that had attempted to raise prices. This had been disallowed.

Discounts Cut Profits

He said the Macmillan Company of England adopted in Britain the policy of a list price—when book retailers were rapidly going out of business, 75 years ago. Price dis-

(Continued on Page 2)

Don't Bar Frosh From Frats, Debaters Decide

Freshmen should be allowed to join fraternities, Trinity College Literary Institute debaters decided yesterday evening, in Trinity Chapel.

The resolution "that freshmen in Trinity College be not allowed to join fraternities in their first year and that this be a condition for entry into the College" was defeated by the House by a vote of 55-13.

Not Indicting Frats

The government opened with the remark, which was often repeated and emphasized, that the motion was not an indictment of fraternities, but rather a desire to serve the best interests of the college and the freshmen.

The affirmative continued by saying that because of the pressure of fraternity pledging the freshmen have no time to discover the opportunities offered by the College itself. Later the freshman finds he is so involved with his course and his fraternity, that he cannot contribute enough time to College. Thus the College is the loser.

However, after one year of experience in the College, he would discover its opportunities and, if he did join a fraternity, would continue to devote an even portion of his time to it.

Fear Loss of Liberty

The negative countered by saying that if this resolution were passed the resulting curtailment of individual liberty would be in direct opposition to the purpose of the University which is to teach freedom.

Furthermore, if, as the government suggested, the fraternity members were neglecting the College, should not one declaim the other College members who spent a large portion of time on their studies or on some other extra-collegiate activity, and contributed little to the College.

Frat Men Lead

They pointed out that fraternity men were in predominance on the various committees in the College.

As a substitute the negative suggested that a counselling system be established to warn the freshmen about the dangers of too-hasty decisions.

The speeches from the floor consisted mainly of comments pro and con on the arguments — little new material was added.

After the defeat of the motion the leader of the Opposition, explaining that the topic was not really worthy of discussion by the Institute, waived his privilege of calling for a vote of want of confidence.

How's That Again?

Lending a sympathetic ear to the woes of young Garrick Hagon is John Finlay, III Victoria, during rehearsal of "All My Sons", a Vic dramatic society production slated to open in Hart House theatre tonight. Directed by Henry Kaplan, the play will be shown for three successive nights.

Life In New World

It's Like Being Born Again

By HERB WOOD

A Polish youth lay on his stomach concealed in the underbrush of a German forest, his ear pressed to the earth listening to the ever-growing churning of American tank tracks.

By his side lay a German peasant also hunted by the Gestapo as a deserter from the German Army. He had concealed the youth for seven days from the guards of near-by Dachau until the danger became too great; then they both fled to the forest. And for the past two weeks they had been lying concealed. They did not talk and every rustle sent a shiver of fear down their backs.

Set Free

Then the American tanks arrived. Struggling to his feet he made his way to the nearest American tank, disregarding the German soldiers that were running about in utter confusion.

According to his own testimony, this Polish youth after his liberation literally went mad for two days. He couldn't speak or talk . . Perhaps his condition was aggravated by his lack of food for three days.

"If the war had lasted for just two more days . . I wouldn't have lived," he said. "In those days a delay of two weeks in the liberation would have made the difference between life and death for thousands."

Life In Camp

Time heals everything someone said. What if you had lost your parents in Auschwitz, or your four brothers? But life in a concentration camp had its moments of hope. Like the time the R.A.F. fighter planes buzzed the camp, sending the vaunted SS diving for the bunkers like so many rabbits.

But better by far was the cheery wave from one of the low flying planes. At times like that you span of hope and of life itself went beyond the span of a day, an hour. A feeling that everyone at Dachau slept with, ate with, looked with.

But that was in another world. Today he is here, at the University You probably pass him every day and never know . . .

ISS Scholar

"Your country shall be my country," he said simply. "I would like you to say, for me, how very, very grateful I am to those who fought to free me — otherwise I would be dead now."

"It is like being born again to be here in Canada. And also im-

(Continued on Page 5)

ART MUSIC DRAMA

Ecomium Britteni Et Pearis

When Benjamin Britten and Peter Pears stage a song recital in the Concert Hall of the Conservatory, what is the poor reviewer to do but verbally to add his piping treble to the barbarian thunder of applause which ensued. The trouble is that apart from being a state occasion (an ambassadorial visit to the republic of Canadian Arts) it was a thoroughly excellent recital. How does one do such beauty and precision justice without sounding like an occasional orator?

A song is made up of a pattern of words, involving both dramatic and prosodic stresses and inflections, more or less embedded in a pattern of music having its own quite different structural demands. The question for the composer is how far should the music negate itself in order to further the literary context, and how far the literary and dramatic elements should disappear into pure music.

The eighteenth century liked a florid style which expanded single syllables in long and often quite decorative runs. The usual style of singing these passages is to concentrate upon the musical rather than the dramatic element. This commonly produces a performance in which the words are rather more embedded in musical pattern than less. Mr. Pears, however, gives the greatest attention to the literary and dramatic content, insisting, almost above all, that the word be present. This produced what is, for me, a different kind of Purcell. The runs were sung correctly but with an ever so smooth transition between notes so that the word retained its verbal identity. This gave the effect of the word standing out against the music — something held in conjunction with it but not merged.

This treatment of songs serves to emphasize not only the difference between literary and musical demands, but the artful imagination of the composer who has been able to combine these two elements into a structure where both are served and neither minimized — where, indeed, a new pattern of contrapuntal stress still is suggested by the simultaneous but not perfectly matched patterns of word and music.

This was the first hearing for me of the 'Seven Sonnets of Michelangelo'. Within their smaller scale of instrumentation, they seem to have the same type of imaginative interest as the later 'Serenade for tenor, horn and strings'.

One element of further interest in the 'Sonnets', was the employment of what was unmistakably an Italian type of melodic phrasing and interval-spacing. This intermittent hint of the Italianate line seemed appropriate to the Italian words, not merely for local colour, but simply because the Italian style, being invented for the Italian language, is the freest and most appropriate medium for the Italian vowel and the ornamental inflections.

The applause last night was perfectly sincere. It seemed however to begin its roar rather too soon to be spontaneously induced by the music just then sung. I think the audience, like myself was taking this opportunity to applaud the composer also for 'Peter Grimes' which so recently delighted our ears.

Jack Ferguson.

\+ + +

Drama Festival

Eros at Breakfast, The Love of Annunziatta, and Sunday Costs Five Pesos, were presented at Hart House Tuesday night by Trinity, U.C., and St. Michael's colleges respectively. This combination offering of the U. of T. Drama Committee was of a higher calibre than evenings of one-acters usually are or are even expected to be.

Eros at Breakfast, the first, is populated by a cast who represent the various sections of a young man's constitution. The young man is at breakfast and he has just fallen in love, and his liver, solar plexus and reason are variously affected. Mr. Robertson Davies (our own!) has included the correct number of anatomical and national references (so that we may have fun and be cultural patriots all at once), and seems delighted with his situation which is admittedly cute, but doesn't come to anything. This piece was of course the drawing card but by no means overshadowed the other two.

Sunday Costs Five Pesos, the

(Continued on Page 5)

Virginia Dare

Beautiful White Crepe BLOUSES

to Wear Now...and to Put on Your Christmas List

$5.98

Guipure lace makes this fine silky crepe blouse as daintily feminine as can be. The notched collar, the yoke inserts, and the deep cuff are of Guipure lace, one of this year's favourite fashion notes by Lee Stock—finished with tiny crystal clear buttons down the back. 12-20. White only. Just.....$5.98 panels of pleats make this Lee Stock crepe skirt ideal for any occasion. Finished with pocket flaps, self belt and neat zipper side closing. 12 to 18, Black or Navy $6.98

$6.98

$5.98

Smartly Tailored panel tucks—just like a man's dress shirt, outlined with rows of dainty lace-like edging for a soft effect. The "diamond" studs are removable; the little tailored collar is specially smart this year. Rich heavy quality white crepe, sizes 14-20, at only.....$5.98

$3.98

A lovely Lee Stock Original Design. There's a dainty lace collar, and a delicate lace edging right down the front, and round the cuff of those pretty bracelet length sleeves. The buttons sparkle against the silky soft quality crepe It's a dainty dress up blouse. 12-20 in White and only.....$3.98

Virginia Dare

MAIL ORDERS—A personal service for your convenience. Send money order to 146 Yonge Street, Toronto.

A STORE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

VIC'S ISS PROGRAM

1) ISS TALENT HUNT

— Preliminaries for Vic Friday — (Winner to All-Varsity finals and Wayne and Shuster Show)

2) VIC'S ISS FROLIC

— "WHAT'S YOUR BEEF?"
— ED McCURDY, CBC STAR
— VIC'S TALENT HUNT FINALS
— SIDE GLANCES!!!
— DANCING

"Frolic at Vic and Boost your ISS!"

PANACEA

TICKETS ON SALE S.A.C. HART HOUSE

$2.00 Per Couple

SORRY!

Due to circumstances entirely within our control we are permanently out of stock of high pressure salesmen (?) who pounce on you the moment you open their door, deluge you with memorized superlatives and extravagant claims urging you to BUY! BUY! BUY!

All that WE have to offer is our warm, PERSONAL attention to EVERY INDIVIDUAL STUDENT, lots and lots of truly good cloths and flawless tailoring AT SENSIBLE PRICES. Just visit us and see for yourself.

Yes, just five minutes from the campus lies the STAIRWAY SHOP of . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE ST. MI. 9010

a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE. on the South side

SLAX WITHIN 5 DAYS FROM CHOICEST GABS, FLANNELS, and COVERT CLOTHS FOR ONLY $14.95

I S O MEETS THURS. NOV. 10

WHAT'S ON TODAY

NFCUS

NFCUS executive meeting will be held in Trinity College Board Room at 5 p.m. this afternoon.

NURSING

The Undergraduate Nurses' Christian Fellowship will be held today in the Demonstration Room, School of Nursing, at 1 p.m. The speaker will be Russel Self.

FINE ART CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Fine Art Club to-night at 8:15 in Wymilwood. Mr. Vickers will speak on "The value of Colour Photography in Art Education," and will illustrate his lecture with slides taken during his trip through France this summer.

UC SINGERS

The U.C. Singers will practise to-day from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Women's Union Theatre.

I.Z.F.A.—HILLEL

SPECIAL MEETING from 1:10—2 p.m. to-day at the Zionist Building, 651 Spadina Ave. Bring your own lunch.

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular weekly meeting will be held at 1:25 today in room 336 of the New Mechanical Building. All welcome.

VIC FORUM

Today in R.22 Vic, the second forum will be conducted by Dr. Van Wyck on 'The Christian Influence in Medicine.' 4:10 p.m.

UC PARLIAMENT

RESOLVED: That this House does not support the American policy towards Tito. Today. 4:00 p.m. Junior Common Room.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The Junior Philosophy Club is holding a meeting at 7:45 tonight in Croft Chapter House. Professor E. L. Fackenheim will speak on the topic "Progress, Reaction, and other Slogans."

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

Gershwin—Rhapsody in Blue (Gershwin-Whiteman); Chausson—-Poeme (Menuhin—Enesco—Paris Symphony); Franck—Symphony in D min. (Stokowski—Philadelphia).

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE

Ce soir, à 8h15 au Women's Union Theatre, la Société Francaise de U.C. présentera une pièce en un acte, Gros Chagrins, une chanteuse, June Rowat, et Vingt Questions. Tout le monde est invité.

It's Like Being Born

(Continued from Page 3)

portant. I am regaining my faith in human nature."

Sigmund Knaul II Pol. & Ec. is one of the twenty-five Displaced Persons brought out to Canada this year by the ISS. Five of them are at the University of Toronto, with the others placed in Universities across the country. This is part of the ISS plan to re-settle the intellectuals of Europe.

The ISS is completely responsible for the students. The University has given free tuition.

New Friends

Sigmund is staying at the Campus Co-operative Residence and is very happy. "Everyone is so kindly, so friendly," he said. "Students stop and ask me how I am getting along, and if there is anything they can do for me. The professors are very helpful and encouraging."

It is so much easier to get along when there is a circle of friends, he said. "It makes you feel at home too." By the way, will you come over to the co-op, and have supper with me?

Art, Music & Drama

(Continued from Page 4)

concluding play, boils down to almost nothing in plot (a lover's quarrel, slapstick and Spanish, with a bit of a rib at the relative cost of minor sins — see title) but was inflated into some loud laughs by Antoinette Seguin, Margaret Kearns and Audrie Lowrie, three very funny girls.

The most ambitious and interesting playlet was as usual the "heavy" — The Love of Anunziatta based on a novel "Christ in Concrete" by Pietro di Donato. Anunziatta's love is her faithless Italian - immigrant husband. On Holy Thursday she has a premonition of his death; on Good Friday she knows he has died, and on Easter Sunday she dances with him at his funeral and prepares to reincarnate him in her unborn child. Partly a true experience, the play also seems to be a Biblical allegory. Capitalizing on the obscurity of the theme, actors and director went ahead with bold strokes and created an eerie and powerful atmosphere out of those paired contrasts so dominant in modern art forms: somnambulistic excitement, mysticism and crudity, reality and stylization, here against a stark and simple layer set of black and white, depth and shadow. Music, rarely successfully ventured in plays, can sustain a mood between scenes and heighten it during, and in this case actually did so, with excellent effect and timing. Chris Taylor's direction was artistic and daring and Selina Whyne, Eric House and Eileena Kaye put across three strong individual performances still within the single building mood of the play.

Jim Dickinson

WHAT'S ON TODAY

"THE PRICE OF KNOWLEDGE"

The above subject will be discussed tonight by Mr. J. R. Seeley of the Department of Psychiatry, at the second meeting of the Health Service Discussion Groups on Mental Hygiene. All students are welcome. 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital.

What happens to a girl when she's too pretty?

What happens when television takes over universities in Canada and professors have to go into the plastering trade?

Have you heard of a student who registered in university in 1850 and didn't graduate until 1950?

Is vaudeville dead and buried?

. . . The answers to these and many other questions and problems you have will be answered at the U. C. Follies of '49 at Hart House Theatre Nov. 11 and 12.

Marcus Longjohn Anthony,
Ph.D., K.C.R.

(3-5 p.m.)

U.C. it's this way...

GOILS AND GARGOYLES ..... You've seen the posters all over the campus announcing your U.C. Follies of '49. If you went to the Red and White night last week, and we saw lots of you there, then you heard the opening number, "We're All For U.C." It sounded as if it might be destined for eternity too, along with last year's hit, "Follow the Blues".

There's a reason. Susie Davidson, composer of "Follow the Blues", has written some new songs and so has the co-producer and director Jane Young.

To sing these songs, the Follies have some stars from the show last year, Janice Johnson, Evan Scott and Ted Follows. And we're proud to present two newcomers to the Follies singing cast. They are Sylvia Grant and Bill Copeland who played a leading part in the Fantasy of '49 last spring.

Pat Watson this year is directing some humorous acts as well as acting in them. Scripts have been written by well-known college script-writers, Michael Hornyansky, Susie Davidson and Anne Burton. These acts have four prize directors of humour, Pat Watson, Pearl Parnes, Al Shaw and Ben Goldberg.

The chorus lines under the expert direction of Louise Burns are in the best shape they have ever been. We can't mention any more names right now but even these few help us to understand why the co-producers, Jane Young and John Bull, look so happy when they tell us that this year's is the largest and best cast in Follies history.

And everyone in U.C.-P.H.E. can be sure of a ticket if you buy it right away. This week you U.C. people alone can buy tickets to the Friday night performance. Tickets are on sale in the Rotunda every day from 10-2. From the look of the line-up when sales opened on Tuesday you'd better not wait though since certain shows will probably be sold out early. Be sure and specify the night and the time that you want to see the show when you buy your ticket.

We nearly forgot to mention a special feature. Skule denied that the cannon ever left the "little red school house. However, we have proof that it did. At the Follies a movie of the "Steal" will be shown, when 65 U.C. men grabbed the Skule cannon.

Friday night the Dance will be in Hart House and those holding Saturday show tickets can, of course, go to that dance. But there will be a dance on Saturday night, too. A U.C Room-Around There will be a small orchestra in the Women's Union, dancing and refreshments in the J.C.R., and dancing at '73. These dance tickets are 50c and available in the Rotunda.

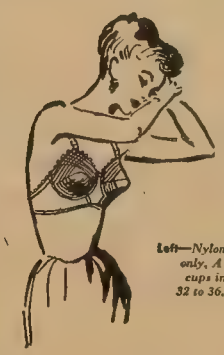
As we say good-bye until next week we also say is it any wonder that at lecture after lecture amongst students who know college shows best it's the FOLLIES 2-1.

ALSO ATTENTION CAST. There will be a FINAL rehearsal of the SINGING chorus on MONDAY night at 7:30 in the LONG Common Room of the Women's Union.

(ADVERTISEMENT)

$31.75 TAILORED-TO-MEASURE BRITISH TWEED SUITS $31.75

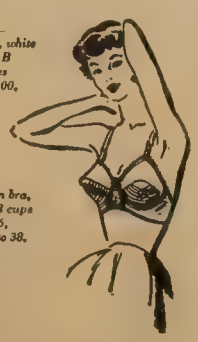
16 Clothes and a full range of styles to choose from — smart-looking, comfortable, economical.



We call on you at your convenience.
Phone W. A. DICKINSON at RA. 2521

A DAVANTRY TAILORS SPECIAL

Evangeline



One of the first in Canada with the

New "Lovable" Brassieres $1

Give your figure a lift . . . keep your budget down with "Lovable" bras. You can have a wardrobe of perfectly proportioned "Lovable" brassieres for about what you'd usually pay for just one figure-flattering, smoothly-fitting bra. Expertly made of finest quality materials in styles to go with your new fall fashions.

Left—Nylon bra, white only, A and B cups in sizes 32 to 36. $1.00.

Right—Rayon satin bra, white only, A and B cups in sizes 32 to 36, C cup in sizes 34 to 38. $1.00

SIZES 32 to 38 in graduated bust sizes

A New Feature!

"Lovable" Bra with Pad, $1.50

Padded bra of rayon satin with Latex foam pads that slip in securely and slip out for washing. Sizes 30 to 36 in white only.

Evangeline

- 113 Yonge at Adelaide
- 751 Yonge at Bloor
- 1458 Yonge at St. Clair
- 3414 Yonge at City Limits
- 444 Eglinton W. at Castleknock
- 656 Danforth at Pape
- 62A Bloor at Bay

UPTOWN STORES OPEN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TILL 9.00 P.M.

OTTAWA • [illegible] • LONDON • HAMILTON • GUELPH • ST. CATHARINES

Our Readers Write

Reply To Hughes

Editor, The Varsity:

In reference to Mr. Hughes' letter, appearing in The Varsity for Tuesday, I feel compelled to forego sampling his generous gift of "Vodka" long enough to correct some glaring errors which the above-named has committed, presumably in his haste to add to the already plentiful stock of red-baiting propaganda.

In the first place, I have never used the name of "Morton"; (no—not even as a "cover name"!).

And now to deal with Mr. Hughes' manuscript point by point:

(1) The eleven were railroaded for "conspiracy to teach or advocate the overthrow of the government" under the Smith Act: The Communists were not allowed to prove that they did not advocate force and violence. The precedent of the Schneidermann and Bridges cases show that the U.S. Supreme Court believes that Communists can be loyal American citizens. It remains an open question whether the Smith Act violates the First and Fifth Constitutional Amendments and the Bill of Rights.

(2) Mr. Hughes appears disturbed at finding no colour bar in the jury. Has the Klan been slipping, then, since the Peekskill Incident? What blatant racism!

(3) Our critic implies that the prosecutors spoke for but fifteen per cent of the time that the court was in session. Could it be that they had no case, and no need of one before this hand-picked, wealthy jury? Perhaps this explains why important defense statements were not admitted as evidence: Why bother, if the verdict is a foregone conclusion!

(4) Poor Mr. Medina: for nine months he has been picketed, denounced and exposed. What could be the reason—could it be a prejudiced court?

(5) Our "superhumanly fair" Superman, Mr. Medina, evidently thought it rather sporting to have an unprejudiced chap like Russell Janney on the jury, who according to sworn affidavits had publicly urged a "fight to the death" against communism before the trial. Shall we look at the other jurors? My stomach is none too strong!

(6) In this chapter Mr. Hughes begins to make sense, if only in fun. However, if the trial at Foley Square was merely retaliatory then Medina and McGohey have surely outdone themselves, for their counterparts in the Nazi Reichstag Fire Trial failed to convict either the defence lawyers or Georgi Dimitroff, the main defendant.

Well, Mr. Hughes, I'm afraid I'll have to stick to my traditional forty beers: your brand of Vodka does not agree with me.

Let us hope that the Medina-McGohey brand of "democracy" does not fare well with freedom-loving Canadians and Americans.

O. M. Grant,
II SPS.

✣ ✣ ✣

Jokes Too Peppy?

Editor, The Varsity,

I wish to protest the level of jokes in the Med skit at the Friday Pep Rally. Some of them were definitely "below the level."

I think there were some Artsmen there who were unaccompanied by their parents. And besides some of us Theologs had to clap our hands over our ears, after each obscene pun.

I think that a student's commission must act to draw the line in such entertainment. Perhaps my trouble is that I got my Arts from Western; or perhaps I haven't seen the light. Maybe, I don't know . . .

Signed
Dean Smith, II Knox

ISSue No. 2

NOVEMBER 3 — NOVEMBER 10

A donation to ISS buys your share in...

—international co-operation.

—friendship for Canada.

—aid to world peace.

Campaign Opens

TODAY

FREE NOON-HOUR SHOW
CONVOCATION HALL
—"MUSIC, SKITS AND STUFF"—

• COMING EVENTS •

U.C. RECORD HOUR

A program of choral music will be given in the Women's Union Long Common Room tomorrow at 4.30. Works from Gregorian chant to modern choral technique will be represented by Keith Giraird.

✣ ✣ ✣

COMMERCE CLUB SMOKER

C. E. Fraser (C.B.C.) will speak on Radio, Television, and Business at Brennan Hall, (St. Michael's College), at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

"The B.N.A. Act — How It Should Be Amended" will be the subject of a panel discussion to be held in Wymilwood at 8.00 P.M., Monday, Nov. 7. The following faculty members are scheduled to participate: Profs. V. W. Bladen, R. M. Dawson, W. T. Easterbrook, B. Laskin. Non-members welcome; admission 15c.

✣ ✣ ✣

S. C. M.

Come on Monday, Nov. 7 at 1.20 p.m. to hear Rev. John Francks speak in Trinity College on 'The Christian in Politics.'

✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. C.C.F.

There will be a general membership meeting of the U. of T. C.C.F. Club at four o'clock, Friday, November 4, in Room one, Trinity College. Guest speaker will be Jim McNeill, National C.C.F. Treasurer. Non-members will be very welcome.

HILLEL

Oneg Shabbat

FRIDAY, NOV. 4, 1949

Beta Sigma Rho
15 Admiral Rd.

8:30 p.m.

ALL WELCOME
BRING YOUR FRIENDS

PANACEA

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER

Club 252

DANCING
EVERY SATURDAY
8.30 p.m.
HENDERSON HALL

10 PIECE ORCHESTRA | 252 Bloor West Opp. Varsity Stadium | ADMISSION 50c

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby

BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL
MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.
TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

DON'T FORGET THE HILLEL FALL FROLIC
SAT. NOV. 5
YESHIVAN AUDITORIUM
(COLLEGE and MONTROSE AVENUE)
9 P.M.
$1.00 per couple
ENTERTAINMENT DANCING

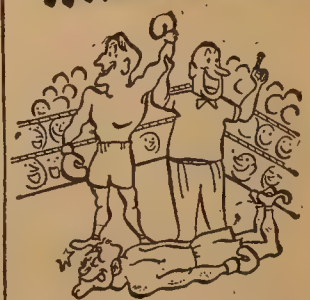
Freeman's

FORMAL PRICE POLICY

Since Freeman's was first founded in 1919, they have endeavoured to serve the Campus with Formal Wear to the best of their ability.
The main objective of the firm is to make it as convenient as possible for the students to attend all formal affairs.

In keeping with this policy, the student price policy of a reduction of $1.00 will be continued—$6.00 includes the suit and all accessories.

When the bid says "Formal"—be sure to visit Freeman's.



2 CAMPUS STORES TO SERVE YOU
256 College St. — KI. 0991 (At Spadina)
556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270 (At Wellesley)

2 "Tailored to fit like your own"

Freeman's

After McGill-Varsity Game
COLOSSAL
RUGBY DANCE
featuring
Mart KENNEY + Boyd Valleau
2—BALLROOMS—2
Royal York Hotel
TICKETS—3.00 Per Couple—at 112 St. George or Door

"WINNER and still CHAMP"

10 years in the ring and still unbeaten in popularity! ALPACAMA . . . handsomely styled, masterfully tailored, mothproof and showerproof. Your best bet for smartness, value and true warmth without shoulder-dragging weight!

THE GENUINE M. PACAMA

$45.

ALPACAMA

Canada's Most Famous Coat

At Leading Stores From Coast-to-Coast

102 ®REG. CAN. PAT. OFF.

OPUS '49 DANCE
BENNY LOUIS ORCHESTRA
CASA LOMA THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17
Sponsored By: The Undergraduate Association of the Faculty of Music and Student Council, Royal Conservatory of Music
DRESS OPTIONAL Dancing 9-1 $2.50 PER COUPLE

TEXT OF MacMILLAN LETTER

Editor, The Varsity:

Recent issues of The Varsity discussing our relations with the University of Toronto Press Bookstore force me to ask for a hearing in your columns. I have been reluctant to take this step, because I believe that the present difficult situation has grown out of a series of misunderstandings and any brief statement runs the risk of further beclouding the issue.

The Macmillan Company of Canada appears (The Varsity, October 27th) to have been condemned unheard by the Students' Administrative Council. Yet surely that is the most responsible group in the student body and must be aware that no firm takes so serious a step as we have taken without believing that it must do so. I believe that the fact that our margins are the same, whether books are retailed at a discount or not, is understood, so our motives should not be in question.

It is the policy of this House to sell books for resale at its established list prices. And any customer who will not respect those list prices compels us either to assist him to a favourable competitive position, or to suspend supply in fairness to those who do. Moreover, no commercial bookstore dealing in new textbooks can sell those books at any discount without incurring a loss. As this House has recently, at some sacrifice, taken steps which it hopes will contribute to the strengthening of the Canadian retail book trade, it is not to be expected that we will support a move which, in our opinion, has precisely the opposite effect. Hasn't every university and every student a profound interest in the continued health of the retail book trade?

We have been asked to accept without question (and without previous consultation) the decision of the Board of Governors to sell textbooks through the Press Bookstore at 10% discount. This decision it appears was the result of a brief presented in March, 1949, by the S.A.C. The brief was well organized and clear, but it was based on inadequate research and contains errors which have multiplied into the present problem. The book business is not simple and there was no reason to suppose that otherwise busy students could reduce its complexities to a few statements after talks with one or two bookstores (specializing in used books) and one specialized publisher (the University of Toronto Press). Data on second-hand books was made the basis for conclusions on the new book business which were not adequately supported. The brief simply does not understand the operational basis of the book business, and yet that basis is traditional and no secret.

In spite of the evidence of hard work and good-will the presentation of such a brief was not really worthy of the Students' Administrative Council, and its apparent acceptance by the Board of Governors seems regrettable. Is it "sabotage" in us, as has been charged, that we are unwilling to set aside our policy so casually?

We are perfectly willing now, as we have been, to discuss this matter with the S.A.C. or the Board of Governors. All we ask is that neither body condemn us unheard or continue to affirm its adherence to a course of action which, we suggest, was adopted without full consideration of all factors; these include the University's position in the community.

John Gray,
Managing Director,
Macmillan Company.

SENIOR INTERFACULTY HARRIER

SATURDAY, NOV. 5th — HIGH PARK — 11.00 a.m. (note change in time)
Entries close Friday, Nov. 4th, at 5.00 p.m. Intramural office.

SPEED SWIMMING

(Physical Education — Men)

Instructional classes in Speed Swimming will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays at 1.00 p.m., starting November 7th. Report to Mr. Goodman in the Swimming Pool.
Physical Education Credits will be granted.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Vic	vs U.C.	Pasternak, Burleigh, Newman
	West	4.00	St. M.	vs Trin	Stepkowsky, Sutherland, Stewart
SOCCER	South	4.00	St. M.	vs Jr. SPS	Beverly
LACROSSE		1.00	St. M. B	vs Forestry	McFadden, McPherson
		4.00	Med III	vs St. M. C	Raymond, Stuckey
		6.30	Pharm	vs Inst. Mgt.	Raymond, Chadwick
SWIM	LEAGUE	4.00	Emman	vs Vic II	Maslen
		4.00	SPS III	vs Wyc	Maslen
		5.00	Med I	vs SPS I	Tobe
		5.00	Forestry	vs SPS II	Tobe
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	U.C. III	vs Jr. SPS	Carr
		4.00	Music	vs St. M. C	Kroll
		5.00	Vic III	vs Arch	Kroll
		6.00	Dent B	vs U.C. IV	Kroll
		7.00	St. M. A	vs SPS III	Cohi
		8.00	U.C. V	vs Knox	Cohi

GATE ARRANGEMENTS FOR STUDENT SECTION McGILL GAME ON SATURDAY

South gates on Devonshire Place will be opened for students in addition to the regular entrance at the south of the Arena. For those passing through the barriers at the south of the Arena the gate in the brick wall at the south east corner of the Stadium may be used in addition to the Arena doors. Students are requested to utilize the entrance on Devonshire Place as well as at the south door of the Arena so that the load will be evenly distributed. If all entrances provided are used there will be no delay, but it will be necessary for a large number to use Devonshire Place entrance instead of the Arena if the overcrowding evident at the Western Game is to be relieved.

Students are asked particularly to assist the marshals by forming line in single file behind each entrance. If this is not done it is impossible to admit the large numbers involved in an orderly fashion. There are 8 entrances on Devonshire Place and 8 at the Arena, and if they are all utilized access to the student section will be gained with ease by everyone.

Do your part and observe the following points:

1. Use both Devonshire Place and Arena entrances.
2. Walk—do not run.
3. Do not shove others—you may cause injury.

Vox Varsity

Vox Varsity, a radio column devoted to activities of the SAC radio committee, will appear in this space weekly beginning next Thursday. In it will be details about the radio workshop, the university's new F.M. station, CJRT, at the Ryerson Institute of Technology, and plans for the proposed bi-monthly shows over CJBC.

All students interested in the radio workshop who haven't yet filled out application forms are urged to do so immediately. The entry blank appears today and tomorrow.

Auditions for the workshop's half-hour radio series, beginning Nov. 17 over CJRT-FM, will be held today in West Hall, U.C. at 4 p.m.

Letters to Editor

Right To Punish

Editor, The Varsity:

The writer of the editorial "Self-Annihilation" in the Monday, Oct. 31 issue of The Varsity believes that punishing an avowed criminal intention by the Communists is tantamount to self-destruction by the Government. He ignores the fact that the Government and people, if they do not have the right to punish, are put into an absurd position. Under the guise of protecting one freedom, freedom of speech, they would permit the destruction of that freedom and also of all their other freedoms by the dictatorship the Communists openly admit they intend to set up if they get the opportunity.

It is not a matter of books and ideas, nor an issue of "thought control". The Communists are not merely operating a legitimate political party to seek reforms and agitate for eventual socialism. They have a specific intent everywhere to overthrow every Government by force and violence at the earliest time that circumstances will permit. They do not use words in the realm of ideas, but in the realm of action. These are words calculated to teach and incite overthrowing of Governments by force and violence. The United States of America has recognized this implicit danger to the general welfare of its society. Its Congress has legislated against all those who would by force and violence overthrow its government by the Smith Act of 1940. In accordance with this act, the United States Government has just successfully prosecuted a case against eleven top Comunist leaders. That is as far as they have gone. The United States is not going towards Fascism as the editorial writer suggests. They have not outlawed the Communist Party. The United States is however deeply concerned about the Communists and their activities for it is realized there that force and violence cannot be ignored though they are not immediate threats.

Lawrence Weller
Graduate Studies.

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

HOCKEY

U.C. - P.H.E.

All U.C. - P.H.E. men interested in Interfaculty hockey report to Varsity Arena at 1 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Bring your own sticks and equipment. Check your eligibility at the Intramural Office. Get your Medical.

Students Administrative Council
★ RADIO COMMITTEE ★

Name .....

Age ..... Sex .....

Faculty ..... Course .... Year .....

Home Address .....

Toronto Address .....

Telephone Number .....

Radio Interests

Acting .....

Writing .....

Announcing .....

Radio Experience .....

.....

Other Information .....

.....

Would you be interested in attending a course of 12 lectures in acting, given by Mavor Moore ☐, in script-writing by Ed. Grey ☐, and an additional course of lectures given by outstanding personalities in radio and journalism ☐? The cost will be $3.00 for one course, $6.00 for two. The third course is free for anyone enrolling in either of these courses.

All students interested in attending the Radio Workshop or in taking part in University Radio will please fill out this questionnaire and hand it in to the Porter's Lodge Trinity, Alumnae Hall, Victoria, St. Michael's, the S.A.C. Office in Hart House, or the Women's S.A.C., Room 62, U.C. Basement, by Friday of this week.

Brrrrrrrr! After standing out in the frosty open spaces on the Back Campus on Tuesday, watching the juniors absorb a sound licking from S.M.C., I was pretty glad to learn that our collective sporting attentions will soon be diverted to the more pleasant (for spectators at least) indoor tilts, to wit, basketball and hockey. Don't get he impression that I have given up on the kids; far from it. Just watch their drive in the next joust, against Trinity, St. Mike's or what have you. One poor game after three straight wins isn't going to sour my attitude; Dave Monroe has a fighting squad there, and the kids won't be denied, come playoff time, mark my words.

To get back to the other sports: Harry Wilson reminds me that we have the Big Gym reserved for Thursday night (tonight) from 8:30 till 9:30, pee emma, for all those sharpshooters who want to try out for berths on the various interfaculty basketball quintets. This is the year we get that Sifton Cup back, remember fellows?

Don't start giving us any excuses, either; we've heard enough of them as to why the Swimming and Volleyball teams defaulted a game apiece, or why the Harriers were so sparsely populated by the eager faces of Skulemen. Anyone is eligible, so pull on a pair of shorts, sharpen up the old eye, and get out there tonight.

Jim Sinclair, i/c of hockey, and therefore leader of the band that is going to keep the Jennings Cup at SPS, says that there will be an important meeting of all interested in playing on a Skule interfaculty team (there are enough to make room for all of you) next Monday, the 7th, from 5-6 in the afternoon. The actual location of the meeting is as yet not definite, so watch the Sports board near the Stores, and leave that time clear. This is one sport where we can really clean up Reed points, at least with a full effort.

Boy, that boss of mine, "Pops" Soulis is really going to town this year. Early in the week he wowed the Faculty supervisory board with a comprehensive breakdown of the A.A. budget for '50, forcing his points home with the aid of a large graph of cost vs. enrolment. Then on Tuesday he skipped off downtown to the inner sanctum of CKEY, where Joe Crysedale recorded an interview which will be broadcast tonight from 10:50 to 11:00 p.m. The chit-chat is primarily to tell the rest of the ignorant world all about the interfaculty setup, but I wouldn't be at all surprised if Gawge slips in an odd TOIKE OIKE here and there, just to liven the confab.

As I mentioned above, SPS has defaulted two games so far, one in volleyball, the other in swimming. I hope you chaps who were supposed to play are quite proud of yourselves. Perhaps there are extenuating circumstances that I haven't heard of; at least I hope so. At any rate, such things not only lose us trophy points, but they go a long way to help to prove to the rest of this institution exactly what certain people who fill these pages regularly, have been saying. That Skule spirit comes in a bottle, and other similar vile remarks.

Let's make those two the end of the whole matter, and get back on the business of gathering all those cups that are just lying around the Arts colleges, begging to be returned to Skule, where they should be anyway.

Sayo-Nara,
BENNY.

Soccer Intermediates Win, Seniors Lose

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

We walked into the Athletic Association offices this morning with the intention of scaring up one measly old ticket to the McGill game for a friend of ours, and met a member of the U.T.A.A. staff. "Here," we thought, "is the man. He'll give us a ducat." We felt sure of this because the man is Bob Masterson's cameraman; you know, the guy that takes all those movies of the games.

But before we could open our mouth, this esteemed gentleman asked us if we could get him a ticket. We were surprised to say the least . . . the first fifty girls that bring five men around here. Even the team staff can't get those beautiful pasteboards.

What a different situation at the University of British Columbia; there they are promoting attendance by giving out prizes for ticket sales. This give-away takes a novel form to say the least . . . the first fifty girls that bring five men apiece to the wickets get little gold footballs to pin on their lapels.

The UBC Thunderbirds play the American colleges immediately below the border, and usually get beaten, which may explain in part the low attendances. It has always been our considered opinion that no team should be very strong or very weak in any league. It may be all right for the winning team, people will come just to see them win, but the other teams' cash intake will dwindle. The ideal situation is where the teams are evenly matched and no one can predict a win.

So leave us not bewail and bemoan the sad fact that Varsity isn't trampling the opposition . . . nice thought though.

✣ ✣ ✣

The Football intermediates have a go with the Western Colts this Friday, and will be looking for their first win against the junior Mustangs. Game time has been changed from 2:15 to 3:00 Post Emma. If Julie Hansen can duplicate the feats of touchdown scoring which he performed against the McMaster Marauders, the Less Big Blues should have no trouble.

✣ ✣ ✣

In one of the most bitterly contested soccer games we have ever had the pleasure of attending, the second year P & H E beat the freshmen 5-1. On the very first kick one man was knocked senseless (there are some who say that fizz-edders are senseless anyhow, but we do not subscribe to this view) and the hard, close play continued throughout the game. Only the refereeing marred the excellence of play; the officials were always booting the ball to the advantage of the frosh. (Ed. Note: How did that get in there?)

✣ ✣ ✣

ODDS AND ENDS AND ACORNS: . . . It is our personal opinion that both the soccer teams will cop their respective championships this year. The intermediates have a better team than usual, and so far have been murdering the opposition (especially Western). Looks like Vic will take the Group Interfac rugby this year, and if they do, it will be largely due to their line. Group 2 seems to be well in the grip of SPS jrs., but they won some close and disputed ones and were wallopped 36-0 by St. Mike's. Trinity still claim they can beat the engineers. Either Forestry or Dents will probably take the third division, but who knows. And we wish the coaches would brief the players on the rules of the game. Penalties (earned penalties, that is) are all too frequent.

Sportswoman

As the weather gets colder and damper thoughts are shifting inwards to the warmth of badminton and basketball courts, as well as the tepid waters of the swimming pool.

Swimming

Recreational swimming has started in the LM pool from 4:30-6.00 every afternoon. There is a nominal fee that covers the whole year for the privilege of having a swim any time under the supervision of a qualified life guard.

For those who missed the aqua show "From Dawn to Darkness", there will be a return engagement at Humberside Collegiate next Tuesday night, November 8. Tickets are to be sold at the door before the performance which begins at 7.45.

Splash Party

Ina Chuhaldin copped the ornamental swimming and the diving at the Vic Splash Party last Tuesday night, while Doreen Duff shone in style swimming and won the back stroke event.

In the free style race Dawn Douglas took the top honours. From the evening's results Joan Dales, Vic's swim rep, will be able to garner a good team for the Intramural meet on November 16.

Field Hockey

PHE II goes to Hamilton tomorrow to meet the field hockey squad of McMaster, while Joyce Rous's team composed of all faculties will play Havergal College, on their south playing field.

Meds Score

After trouncing PHE IV in a rousing softball game on Tuesday, Meds went on to defeat PHE II yesterday with a score of 11-4.

At the end of the first inning the Fiz Edders were leading 3-0, but the game was Meds' after the second inning and they kept ahead.

Elva Rampton, PHE, did a very good job as catcher and managed to bat a homer in the third, while Irene Hain, Meds, tallied two.

Basketball

PHE III bowled over Vic Sr. A 27-9 in a swift moving basketball tilt last night. The fast play resulted in much sloppy ball handling, but it also enabled the Fiz Ed gals to confuse Vic's weak guard line.

Marg. Doyle and Edith Schaeiter were high scorers for Fiz Ed with eight points each. The Vic forwards tossed their shots time after time, but luck just didn't seem to be with them, especially in the second half.

Aggies Top Seniors 2-0 Ints. Take 1-0 Victory

SENIORS

By BILL LEACH

How are the mighty fallen, and the kingdoms of soccerdom perished! Yesterday at Guelph the O.A.C. soccer team defeated the fancied Blues Senior Squad 2-0, in a miserable game. The Blues were late, short two regular players, carrying some injured ones, and soundly walloped to boot.

Playing the type of football that should have been banned long ago, the Aggies refused to let the Blues play anything. The rushing, bustling, hard-hitting style of the Aggies gave their supporters plenty to hoot about, but the frustrated efforts of the Blues caused the bus driver little excitement.

The game was dominated by the Aggies defence, whose main principle seemed to be— "if you can't get the ball get the man", and many hard knocks were given and taken. Gone was the sparkle of the Blues' forward-line, who were without Antoni — the full-backs were shaky throughout — and the one player who really played up to par was Capt. Ted Evans, who found the going to his liking. Erri Thompson is deserving of mention, as he played a sturdy game, while Jim Allen showed lots of "fight" (disgusting word) on the left wing.

Aggies' first score came about 20 minutes from the kick-off, from a fine drive by their right-winger. So determined were they that the Blues should not score that at times as many as seven of their players could be seen in the goal-mouth. From a break away in the second half Lawson put in the second tally, and from then on the Blues dominated the game. A few chances were missed, many shots were blasted over the bar, but no score came. Coach Barton predicts that it will all be different next time. In the absence of Manager Babcock, Montemurro did a very commendable job.

VARSITY TEAM: Reed: Moffat, Mercer; Leach, Evans, Thompson; Kuchkuda, Barton, Moffat, L., Wyler, Allen.

Knox dominated the play throughout the game, and missed many fine scoring chances. The Forestry goal-tender Keenan, and the Knox fullbacks McQueen and MacIntyre were outstanding for their respective teams.

Knox is at the top of the fourth group in Interfaculty Soccer, having been led to no defeats by experienced captain Wally Welch.

INTERMEDIATES

By GENE RAYMOND

The Varsity Intermediate Soccer Blues continued their winning streak by edging out the Aggies Intermediates 1-0 at Guelph yesterday afternoon in a game of fluctuating fortunes.

The game was a ding-dong tussle from start to finish with both teams' defences holding the spotlight. Both forward lines worked with machine-like precision but met stubborn opposition on reaching the back lines. On the general run of play honors were evenly divided and the Blues were lucky to register the lone item early in the second half.

For the first 15 minutes of play in the first half Aggies organized several dangerous raids with Hirokichi and Douane doing the spade-work. Timely interceptions and effective clearances by Broadhurst and Schuler, however, broke up these threatening situations. The Blues soon got into their stride and carried the ball into the Aggies' area. Rigabert, Montemurro, and Wilson combined to a nicety and gave the opposing defence a harassing time. So persistent were the Blues' attacks, at this stage, that the Aggies' defence was forced to cede no fewer than nine corners, all of which proved abortive due to the brilliant saving by Kingston in the defending goal. The first half ended without either team scoring.

The Blues continued their offensive on the resumption of play. As a result of a fine piece of combination on the right flank, Wilson received, lobbed over a defender, and Montemurro was on the spot to head goalwards. Kingston was out of position and King made a vain attempt to intercept but only succeeded in helping the ball further over his own goal-line with his hands. Varsity one up. The Blues seemed contented with their slender lead and play developed into mid-field exchanges with Broadhurst and Andresen for the Blues, and Kennedy, for Aggies, excelling in their positions. The dying stages of the game saw the Aggies trying hard for an equalizer. Steady and continuous pressure was brought to bear on the Blues' defence as the entire Aggie team pitched into the offensive. However, the Blues' two inner forwards, Rigabert and Oschaduk, dropped back and rendered invaluable assistance to their team's hard-pressed defence, which held on stubbornly until the final whistle sounded.

Knox Takes Win In 1-0 Soccer Tilt

In a clean well-played soccer game exhibition yesterday afternoon, Knox defeated Forestry 1-0. The Knox goal was scored by Wally Welch on a 'picture play', which featured some brilliant passing on the part of the Knox forwards.

Wycliffe Wins 3-1 In Soccer Display

In a keen and bright soccer game on the campus yesterday, Wycliffe College defeated Pre-Meds to the tune of 3-1, to take over leadership of their group. Pre-Meds put up a good show all the way, but found an early deficiency of two goals too great an obstacle. Umpherville scored twice for Wycliffe, and the third one was a neat header by Cheesman from Brightling. Baker and Toppin were good for the winners.

VARSITY SPORTS

Valentti Stars In Skule Win

By MAL CRAWFORD

By MAL CRAWFORD

The arm and foot of Paul Valentti struck fast and sure to give Senior SPS a lead they never lost, as they trampled Meds 14-6 yesterday afternoon. On the opening play, Valentti tossed a sleeper pass to Rowe, who wound up the play on Meds twenty-five yard line. Another pass, Valentti to Rowe, and two bucks, took them to the two, and Cradell carried over. Valentti converted.

About five plays later, after a poor kick by Meds which barely crossed the line of scrimmage, Skule was again in scoring position. Adare around end and Brown through the centre took play to the fifteen, Adare rounding the end from there for the major. Valentti again converted.

After the first quarter, Meds seemed to tighten up. Freeland broke through very often, once knocking down a pass as it left the passer's hand when Skule seemed to be rolling for another touchdown. Deveber made several lovely tackles on the kick receivers when they were out in the clear, and the centre of the line seemed to bolster up as the game wore on. However, SPS's big line outplayed their opponents fairly steadily, and appeared able to produce a first down almost at will. They were using a winged T attack much like Lou Little's winged T at Columbia. A lot of plays with a nine man line gave them plenty of power. They did little passing, only six, but completed half, a good average in any league.

Adare was their best ground gainer, and showed a lot of power cutting in on end runs, breaking through a lot of tackles with sheer drive. Valentti's kick-off after the second touchdown was the best boot of a game which featured a lot of good kicking. It went well over the goal-line, and the receiver was rouged for a single point.

Meds could rarely gain on the ground, but did pretty well in the air. Al Varga completed six of seventeen heaves, Anderson and Hobson doing most of the catching. Skule's 5-4-2-1 defence allowed his blockers a good chance to protect him, though two or three interceptions resulted.

It was Varga's passing that gave Meds their only major in the second quarter. A pass to Anderson, deflected off Valentti's hands, took the doctors to Skule's twenty. Two more produced the TD, Hobson catching the payoff pass.

Gabe Varga's interception of Valentti's pass on Skule's thirty seemed to have them rolling, but another interception by SPS and a sixty yard punt by Valentti pushed play into Meds' end for keeps. The final tally was a single by Valentti on a placement attempt which went wide.

SPS and Victoria are now tied for first place on points, each having six for three wins, but Vic has played one less game.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

UPLANDS SKI CLUB

Now accepts members - Ski Trails - Skating - Dancing - Parties. Dining room, lockers, showers available. Further information at S.A.C. or Athletic Office.

WANTED

One army officer's greatcoat, size 36-38, height 5'8". Will be required in about three weeks. Apply Box 5, S.A.C. Office.

FOR RENT

Bathurst-Dupont—Large room, double bed, spring mattress, hot water. Phone LL. 0423.

FOR RENT

Furnished room -young man to share light housekeeping room with O.C.E. student—5-minute walk to Hart House. $6.00 per week. KI. 0042, 395 Huron St.

FOR RENT

Comfortable room near St. George St. for young man, bathroom shared with one other; constant hot water, good breakfast. KI. 7349.

LIFE INSURANCE

Low cost preferred plan, $10,000 for $6.00 a month. For details call HU. 3929.

LOST

Gold and bloodstone signet ring, Saturday night, between Trinity and St. George St. or thereabouts. Finder please contact W. Farmer at KI. 0830. Reward.

FOR SALE

A gentleman's suit of tails fit a 34 to 36 size. Excellent condition—$25 Private—300 Keele, near Annette.

FOR RENT

One or two rooms furnished with all privileges in beautiful home. Very quiet. Nice location. 435 Palmerston Blvd. LO. 6235.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Heimar about your formals. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount. Further particulars appointments. Ring RA 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

ANOTHER CRUCIAL GAME FACES THESE MEN

JACK GRAY

ED. FISHER

BOB MASTERSON

DICK BROWN

BILL DANYLCHUK

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Overcast and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 31 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Friday, November 4, 1949

Tensions Arising From Education Is Lecture Subject

Last night in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital Dr. John Seeley of the Department of Psychiatry addressed a group of students and staff at the second of a series of Mental Health Lectures.

His topic was "The Price of Knowledge," and the talk he gave touched on some of the anxieties that a student faces when he sets out to acquire an education at a University.

"Knowledge causes an internal division," said Dr. Seeley, "for it forces us to face a choice of beliefs."

Expelled from Paradise

"The expulsion from any fool's paradise is a natural consequence to learning, for with the knowledge of facts there remains no possibility of self-deception," he said.

An important feature of Dr. Seeley's talk was the cause of tension, and how it originates in our knowledge that the majority can be wrong. "This tension is what gives us drive, and can be a healthy state of mental activity."

Another cause of tension in the educated class is the forcing of the individual to choose one vocation. This results in specialization, and this says Dr. Seeley, in turn causes alienation from others with whom the individual was in contact and sympathy.

Education is Alienation

"The act of education is an act of alienation from the masses. Students can never be the same as their former associates knew them."

"The compensation for this pain arising from education is compensated in the sweetness of knowledge itself," asserted Dr. Seeley, "and the alienation from one class results in the formation of new groups more amenable to the character of the educated man."

After the formal talk there was a discussion period during which there were many questions from the audience. The chairman for this part of the program was Dr. Gossage of the University Health Service.

The point was made by one of the members of the group that most of the students present would never be forced to face the tensions

(Continued on Page 6)

Parlow To Use Pianist In HH Quartet Concert

The Hart House Sunday night concert will feature something novel November 6. Due to the absence of one of its members the Parlow string quartet is including a pianist, Leo Barkin, as the fourth musician. They will play the Beethoven piano quartet in E flat major and the first piano quartet, opus 15, in C minor by Faure.

The leading member of the quartet is Kathleen Parlow, violinist, who was put on the same level as Jascha Heifitz and Jehudi Menuhin by New York critics. The other members of the quartet are Stanley Solomon, violinist, and Cornelius Kaselstyn, cellist.

Checking Up

Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

No, not Skulemen this time but Forestry students. Ironically they are surveying the campus right at the point where a part of what remains of a university forest is being hacked down to make way for the widening and new bridge on Queen's Park Crescent. The foresters turning their backs on the destruction they deplored so energetically in their float last Saturday, are W. Maslin, H. Peacock, V. Mawpah and R. Patrick.

Comedians, Hockey, Sale Bissell, All Aid ISS Drive

The International Student Service officially opened its annual drive for funds, yesterday at 1 p.m. at a free noon-hour show.

The large turnout of students which flocked to Convocation Hall for the show soon filled the entire main floor and overflowed into most of the second and third floor galleries.

The entertainment portion of the program featured a visit from two prominent Varsity alumnae: Comedians Johhny Wayne and Frank Shuster. They were introduced by Dean Bissell (representing President Smith of the University), who reminisced "these boys were in the first class I ever taught here; look how far they have come since then!"

In a burst of laughter, applause and fanfare from the Lady Godiva Memorial Band, Johnny Wayne rose and spoke for his partner and himself, whose names, as Dean Bissell had put it, "were now household words in this country."

Johnny's ability to ad-lib was soon in evidence, as he thanked the I.S.S. for the invitation to appear and he hoped that they would raise their total of $7,000 in their annual drive for funds. He then revealed that he and Frank had almost gone to McGill for their university educations, but were refused admission because they didn't have their re-

(Continuel on Page 5)

US Policy On Tito Voted Down, 15-9 By U.C. Parliament

The American government's policy towards Tito was condemned by a 15-9 vote of the U.C. Parliament Thursday afternoon.

Government leader Harold Carter, III Pass Arts, spoke for the resolution "Resolved that this house oppose the American policy towards Tito".

Tito Will Give Way

Carter warned that both Tito and Stalin are Communists, and thus fundamentally opposed to the Western democracies; sooner or later Tito will have to give in to Russia and end the rift between these two countries that are essentially alike in political doctrine.

Defines American Policy

Jack Geller, II Pass Arts, defined the American policy as a "calculated risk" that we must be willing to take. "Tito is not fighting Communism," he said, "but Russian Imperialism"; Tito is a nationalist and it will be in his interests to keep on our good sde. Geller also pointed out that "the U.S. has been giving nothing to Tito for nothing."

Horace Krever, III Pol. Sc., claimed no Communist is a nationalist; he thought the fight between Tito and Stalin is only a personal feud of jealousy. In the event that there is not a reconciliation between Tito and Stalin, the continent will be plunged into war and "all the European countries will go Communist," he said.

Second speaker for the Opposition Joan Easser, II Pol. Sc., denied that Communism and nationalism are incompatible. She also spoke of Yugoslavia's strategic position in Europe, and showed how U.S. might better maintain a balance of power if Tito's country comes under her influence.

Speaking from the floor, the member from Cohen pointed out

(Continued on Page 6)

Varsity Students Win Six Awards In Actuarial Exams

Six University of Toronto students have won prizes for their high marks in the early examinations of the Society of Actuaries, it was announced recently.

The prizes are among 20 offered annually by the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association "to encourage promising young Canadians of outstanding mathematical ability to seek a career in the actuarial field", association officers said.

The successful University of Toronto students are: Alan D. Murch, III UC; Robert C. Dowsett, IV Vic; Albert L. Wright, IV Trinity; John P. Mayberry, IV UC; Clayton L. Jackson, IV UC, and UC grad, William H. Aitken.

Mayberry and Murch each won $200, and the others received $100 each. Wright and Jackson have previously won prizes.

In announcing the awards the association said there is a steady demand for qualified actuaries on this continent, with attractive em-

(Continued on Page 6)

Chessmen

You Gotta Be One Of The Boys

By ROCKY MARTINO

Up in the wide blue yonder of Hart House — the second floor to be exact — is the Chessroom. On the door is the simple sign "Chess-Room"; on the door should be the sign, "Through this door pass the best Tenors and Baritones on the Campus — Basses keep out."

With a Figaro here and a checkmate there the hours pass into days in this timeless den of that ageless game. Everywhere about the room sit hunched up figures peering intently at a tabletop covered with black and white plastic figures. These figures hop about the board helter-skelter.

Chess Figures

One piece in particular never knows where it's going. Sometimes it's on a black, sometimes on a white square. I asked its name and I was told it was a Knight. To me it looked more like a horse.

The other pieces seem more in keeping with their names. For instance, the King does have a crown although the Queen seems to play a bigger part in the game. Everyone attacks the King but runs away from the Queen. Even in a Chess game the women hold sway.

The other chessmen are different. They move in all directions and some of them even breathe. One of them even smokes a cigar.

Chessmen Happy

These chessmen sit in chairs and move the lesser pieces about the board. From their throats come fierce growls and guttural sounds. Occasionally a word of English drops from their lips, but usually it's some dirge concerning a "Pair of Golden Earrings" or sometimes about "That Lucky Old Sun." Once in a while some pawn or other swings into "La Donne e mobile" although he usually quiets down at the magic word "Check."

There must be some magical command in that word. Maybe there's some special way of saying it or maybe it depends on the person, but whenever I say "Check" they laugh in my face. One day I said, "Checkmate, mate and not check, mate." Then I laughed; after five years I'd won my first game.

Chessman Wins Game

With a shriek of joy I said, "Now that I've wone my first game, I'll start going to lectures again." The room became suddenly silent. The "Chess-Carusos" stilled their voices; the "drummers" stilled their fingers; the others just stared at me. A faux pas! Horror of horrors — that word had been mentioned. Of the two things banned in the chessroom I had mentioned the never-never one. I tried to hide behind my victorious King but those who know me can well realize the impossibility of this.

Hoping to appease the awe stricken chessmen, I offered to do everyone a favour. "Does anyone want anything from the Tuckshop?" That did it. The chocolate bar chewing members merely gave me a frigid stare and kept on playing. For a moment I didn't quite know what was wrong. Then I remembered. The other unmentionable was the bringing of food into the chessroom. This time I tried to hide behind a pawn — with as much success.

Now it was absolutely necessary for me to reinstate myself. How could I do that. I cudgeled my brains until the solution to my problem struck me. I would write a feature eulogizing my fellow chessmen. Here it is. By the way, where do you turn in your membership for the Chessroom?

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 3742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Gleneck, 5T0
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... David Armour, 5T2
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1949

Yes! We're Touchy

With the passing of the "cold war" we have entered into a period of very warm peace. Everybody is on edge and nerves are becoming frayed.

In his column yesterday morning, Mr. Frank Tumpane of the Globe and Mail suggests that we may have chips on out shoulders which we are anxious that he knock off. He suggests further that we may be a bit touchy when the subject of Communism on Canadian campi is introduced.

To his first suggestion, we answer that we have no chips for him to belt off our shoulders. To his second suggestion, we readily admit we are touchy and irritable when the subject of Communism in Canadian universities is tossed about.

Most of the criticisms directed at Canadian colleges is channelled to an eager public through the columns of large and powerful daily newspapers. Almost all the justified replies to the critics come in the small and narrowly circulated college papers.

Why should we not be touchy when all criticism immediately reaches hundreds of thousands of readers willing to believe the worst about college students, and when any justification for the students' actions is passed on to a small handful of people, most of whom know beforehand that the criticisms are largely nullified by the facts of the case?

Many of Mr. Tumpane's arguments fall into this classification. Nullified by the facts of this case.

We face facts with Mr. Tumpane. The Toronto Peace Council and the Students' Peace Council were promoted by Communists. But the latest workings of the campus group indicate that it is conscientiously trying to get rid of the last traces of the comrades in its ranks. Most of those now connected with the group are sworn non-Communists. The Varsity, for one, is willing to reserve judgement.

The United Nations Association of Canada has asked the Students' Peace Council to join its organization. Perhaps another reason to doubt Mr. Tumpane's condemnation of the students' group.

Lastly, Mr. Tumpane is inclined to think that The Varsity is "stating a belief and washing its hands." "What are you doing," he says, "To lead democratoc opinion at the you doing," he says, "to lead democratic opinion at the

As explained elsewhere on this page, we are doing as much as is possible within the limits of ethical journalism.

A check through The Varsity files for this year reveals the following things.

In the editorial columns we have spoken nineteen times on university affairs. Five times we have taken a positive stand on democratic principles. Twice we have come out positively on a question of ethics. Two editorials have been in the nature of explanations and may be regarded as neutral. On the subject of the U.S. government's policy toward Canadian students and professors, we wrote six editorials. In answer to critics, we wrote two more.

Of the letters from readers that we have printed, twenty five deal with university affairs. Five were pro-Communist in tone and four were anti-Communist. Five more were concerned with questions of ethics and one dealt with the Shortliffe case.

In view of this, we do not feel that we "are giving undue space to Communist activity." Nor do we feel Mr. Tumpane's implied criticism of The Varsity's lack of constructive criticism along democratic lines justified.

Aims And Targets

Every once in a while somebody takes a good whack at The Varsity, for one reason or another. Usually it is an irate student. Yesterday it was Frank Tumpane, columnist for the Globe and Mail.

Even though Mr. Tumpane was very gentle about it, he did have some things to say—some things which made us sit back and reconsider the aims of the university newspaper.

Mr. Tumpane suspects we are giving undue space to communist activities at The University of Toronto. He says: ". . . I suggest this condition is your own fault. Why don't you promote something for our side. . . . An idea, as The Varsity has pointed out, can be combatted with in idea. But only if the right idea is presented with force, clarity and above all, insistence."

The Varsity, in common with most newspapers, attempts to publish news, features and run an editorial column. Its main function is to publish the "news"—reports of events on this and other campi which are of interest to students. "News," as such, is treated as it should be on any reputable newspaper—it is presented as clearly, as fully, as simply and with as little editorial comment as it is possible for us to do.

The university newspaper serves a large group of university students who hold widely divergent opinion. It is dedicated to the principle which we believe lies behind all university training—an unbiased, free and fearless approach to the truth through free discussion and association—and it cannot afford to present one view to the exclusion of others, especially in its news and letters clumns.

We do not create the news—we print it. Any organization on this campus which has a program of interest to students is eligible for space in the columns of The Varsity. This space is given at the discretion of the editors, but it is a dangerous practice for the undergraduate editor to decide what is newsworthy and what is not when he bases his decision on his own political convictions. Whether we like communism or not, there are still two sides to the question.

As for The Varsity editorials we have already stated our position. We are not particularly interested in joining the witch-hunt in which many American and Canadian papers are engaged, because we are afraid of the consequences of such action. We believe that the democratic ideal, so hard to define, when properly presented to the majority of people, will hold its own any day against the communist ideal.

It is time that the newspaper publishers, editors and columnists realized that perhaps a better way to fight Communism than by being afraid of it, is to present the Communist ideas, along with the democratic ideas, objectively and without bias. Free discussion will bring out the falsehoods and the sham. It will bring out the weaknesses of our way of life, and the dangers we face. It will show us the urgent need to build a better democratic ideal so that men will want to choose Democracy instead of Communism.

We are against Communism not because it is Communism, but because it defeats and destroys intellectual freedom. We believe that a system of thought and social organization which allows intellectual freedom, and therefore free discussion, is a better system than one that does not. It is on that basis that we print our news, and letters, and our editorials.

The force of communism in the world today is not to be measured by the 40 highly active members and supporters of the L.P.P. Club at the University of Toronto. And since we do not have to follow public opinion in publishing our papers, we prefer to present to our readers all sides of a very large question rather than to strain and sift the news.

In 1895 The Varsity published the following quotation above one of its editorial colunms:

"Suffer yourself to be blamed, imprisoned, condemned; suffer yourself to be hanged; but publish your opinions; it is not a right but a duty."

The quotation still applies!

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢ DAILY DOUBLE

●WHAT'S ON TODAY●

HILLEL

An Oneg Shabbat is being held tonight at the Beta Sigma Rho House, 15 Admiral R. at 8.30 p.m. All members of Hillel and I.Z.F.A. are invited and are requested to bring their friends.

✣ ✣ ✣

C.C.F. CLUB

There will be a general membership meeting of the U. of T. C.C.F. Club at 4 p.m. today in Room 1, Trinity College. Guest speaker will be Jim McNeill, National C.C.U.F. Treasurer. Non-members will be very welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

EMMANUEL COLLEGE

Emmanuel College presents the first Sunday evening musicale at the College on November 6 at 9 p.m. Guest artists will be the Choir of Deer Park United Church, conducted by John Weatherseed, FRCO. The programme will consist of hymns and secular songs. Refreshments will be served. All faculties invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

The first meeting of the Baha'i Student Group will be held Monday in Room 64, U.C. at 1 p.m. Guest speaker will be Ross Woodman, M.A. who will speak on "World Unity Through World Faith". All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

You are cordially invited to the Missionary Tea to be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday in the Women's Union. Come and hear Lon Fulton, Staff Member of the WEC.

✣ ✣ ✣

I.Z.F.A. — HILLEL

There will be an outing to the Hechalutz Training Farm at Smithville, Ont., on Sun., Nov. 6. Contact Wally Reiter, ME. 9888 or Ann Eisen, KI. 5656 for further information.

✣ ✣ ✣

COMMERCE CLUB

There will be a Commerce Club Smoker, Tuesday, Nov. 8. Mr. E. C. Fraser of the CBC will speak on Radio, Television and Business at Brennan Hall, St. Michael's College at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

NFCUS EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Will all students on the campus who are here on the NFCUS Exchange Plan please meet in The Varsity office at one o'clock today.

AFTER THE PEP RALLY TONIGHT IT'S

PANACEA

★ Your Last Chance For Tickets
★ Only $2.00 a couple ★ Tickets Obtainable From:
- S.A.C. Office — Hart House
- Medical Building
- Panacea Stand in Front of Hart House

An All-Varsity Dance Run at No Profit As a Contribution to Campus Spirit.

SEE YOU THERE TONIGHT

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

LECTURE SERIES

"THE ROMANCE OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN CANADA"

The first lecture will be given by THE HON. AND REV. H. J. CODY, C.M.G., LL.D.

Friday, November 4, at 8.30 p.m.

West Hall, University College

Students and Public are cordially invited

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT TICKETS

A limited number of single tickets for the concert on Sunday evening next will be available at the Hall Porter's desk today. The programme will be presented by Kathleen Parlow, violinist, Stanley Solomon, violist, Cornelius Ysselstyn, 'cellist, and Leo Barkin, pianist.

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 today.

CAMERA CLUB

Members are reminded that prints for the monthly Show beginning Monday, 7th November, should be handed in to the Hall Porter no later than 5.00 p.m. today.

THE VARSITY

Friday, November 4, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

New Members For NFCUS Toronto Hope

Four more universities may soon be members of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, NFCUS Toronto Committee Chairman Tom Symons announced at the Committee's executive meeting in Trinity College boardroom yesterday.

Loyola and Sir George Williams College, both of Montreal, and Ottawa's Carlton and St. Patrick's Colleges have made inquiries about entering NFCUS, Symons said.

"As far as I know, there will be no major Canadian university not represented in NFCUS after these universities have joined," he commented.

Want SAC Grant

After discussing finances for the Carabin Weekend in Montreal, slated for the first week in December, the Committee passed a motion recommending that SAC grant $300 to help finance train fares for the weekend.

Dick Sadleir, Chairman of the Joint NFCUS-ISS Carabin Weekend Committee, said his committee felt the students who go to Montreal on the weekend should not pay more than $5 to $7.50 of the train fares, which will probably cost about $12.50.

The Committee would then finance the visit of University of Montreal students to Toronto by means of subscriptions from business firms.

During the Toronto NFCUS Committee's discussion of plans to aid students to travel to Europe in the summer, Warren Wilkins, III Trinity, described a system used in the United States to ensure that students can buy passage overseas.

He said students often decide to make a summer visit to Europe after it is too late to buy tickets. In Northfield, Mass., however, there was an organization called "Youth Argosy" which had established itself as a Cunard Line ticket agency. Thus it could buy tickets early in the year and sell them to youthful travellers in the spring and early summer.

Wilkins said such a scheme, if organized on this campus, could be financed by means of the normal profit earned by ticket agencies.

The Committee passed a motion indicating its approval of any plan to aid overseas travel for students. It was also decided to offer aid to the NFCUS committees of the University of Montreal and McGill University, who are investigating sea and air travel overseas.

The Committee also voted to have a letter written to the Federal Government inquiring why German students are not allowed to come to Canada to study. Chairman Symons commented that Canada is apparently the only country still having such a restriction.

'Progress A Technique' Dr. Fackenheim Address To Jr. Philosophy Club

"It is vicious to confuse good and evil with progress and reaction, and it is a threat to democracy" said Professor Fackenheim speaking to the Junior Philosophy Club last night on "Progress, Reaction and Other Slogans."

To clarify the terms the speaker put progress and reaction into four classifications. Progress is first of all, a technological development which has no moral connotations. An example of this is that once man has come from the stone age to the machine age he can not return to the first.

A second type of progress is a change that take place at a given time, such as a fashion.

The most important kind of progress the speaker contended was that of a technique which is utilized for good ends. The end in view, however, must be morally valid.

The last meaning for progress states whether a thing is good or evil in itself. That is to say, the rule of the majority is intrinsically good.

Professor Fackenheim concluded by saying that in politics the end of the government is for the common good and that the techniques used were either good or evil and determined whether or not a movement was progressive or reactionary.

Smile Darn Ya Smile

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

With all the talk about cannons and dragons a lot of people have lost sight of the fact that there are going to be girls and men in the U.C. Follies. Janice Johnson and Ted Follows are busily rehearsing their dance routine for the show which opens a week tonight in Hart House.

Austrian Students Coming To Perform, Tour Campus

A group of Austrian students and teachers will arrive on the University of Toronto campus Nov. 26 to observe the life of Varsity students. This group will be sponsored while here by the Toronto Committee of the International Student Service, Chairman Bill MacDougall announced Tuesday.

Show Austrian Culture

The group of students, 14 girls and 17 boys, will arrive in New York Nov. 15 and will begin a tour of 64 American campi and one Canadian campus — Toronto. The purpose of the group's trip is a nationwide tour of the United States and Canada in which they intend to present to the people of North America various phases of Austrian culture and in this manner to cement the bonds between the two peoples. They come from all parts of Austria and represent a true picture of Austrian youth today.

They will present two concerts at each stop with the presentations at universities consisting of readings of Austrian poets, presentation of a play and lectures and discussions about Austria. To the general public they will present an evening of Austrian music, songs and dancing.

ISS Will Guide

The ISS will act as guides for these students during their stay on the Toronto campus. ISS Correspondent Director Kent McDonald announced the plans to make the weekend as informal as possible for the purpose of acquainting the Austrian students with campus life in Toronto. The group will be accommodated in the private homes of the students of the university.

The ISS officials have announced the following temporary time-table. They will arrive on the Toronto campus Friday, Nov. 25, and will give lectures to the German Club of the University of Toronto and the International Relations Club in which they will stress cultural activity in Austria. In the evening they will attend a dinner at which they will meet university officials and receive their official welcome to the city. After the dinner it is hoped they can attend a dance to be held on the campus that evening.

Saturday morning will find the students on a tour of the campus followed by lunch with their hosts at the students' regular eating places both on and off the campus. This will acquaint the Austrians with the way the Toronto student lives. Small parties, informal tours of the interesting sights of Toronto, and other informal gatherings are planned for the afternoon.

Present Concert

Saturday evening will find the Austrians performing at Massey

(Continued on Page 4)

Canadians Narrow, Deny Potentialities Fisher Tells Skule

"Canadians are mixed up in their thinking. They have no sense of humor, never let themselves go. They are prejudiced, snobbish, narrow minded and have not the force nor the energy to represent something to the rest of the world beside the products they export", said CBC Commentator, John Fisher, in an address to the Mechanical Club at Hart House

Fisher has travelled widely throughout the country and has a tremendous interest in Canada's problems. He says that the country is denying its potential greatness by maudlin, mawkish sentimentality about Britain and the Commonwealth that makes Canadians afraid to express themselves nationalistically.

The prejudices regarding foreigners; the lack of understanding of French Canada, all of which is as much Canadian as the English speaking population; the lack of support for native Canadians; all these contribute to a need for more understanding and a unity of national expression, says Mr. Fisher.

"There is no room for prejudice in a united parliament of man. Every time we show a loophole we are losing a lot in democracy."

Fisher says he has a great belief in Canada's future. He feels that it is great to be a Canadian in a country where one never knows what new development is going to spring up tomorrow. He particularly emphasized the potential greatness of the country and exclaimed that the country is crying for engineers, that the challenge for a country that "hasn't even started yet" for the engineering profession is unlimited particularly in the bush country, the St. Lawrence, and the West.

Canada's need for more cultural national expression, more understanding of itself, its prejudices, the realization that the old order has changed, and that it can no longer be narrow minded or provincial were stressed by the speaker.

UC Players' Need Actors, General Help

Casting for two one act plays will take place this Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. These are the plays to be presented by the U.C. Players' Guild on Wednesday, Nov. 30 in the Women's Union.

This year the Guild is making a drive for a bigger and more active membership. With ten plays still to be staged a large, active membership is essential. There is a need for actors, actresses, directors, writers, stage managers, painters and typists. Experience is not necessary, merely a yen to "get into the act."

So that new or prospective members may become more aware of the Guild's activities an open meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 16, in the Women's Union. At this meeting Professor Grant will speak on the relative merits of various "Hamlets" from Ford Brown to Olivier. This will be done with the aid of recordings by the artists.

In addition there will be a guest speaker from the Canadian theatre, and Mr. Eric Christmas, star of the English stage, will be present to do some of his monologues.

This year there will be no production of a three act play by the Guild. Believing that a series of one acts allows more talent to be displayed and gives greater opportunity to the members, the Guild will produce these one act plays only.

Notice of all Players' Guild activities are listed on the notice board in the south-west corner of the U.C. Rotunda.

CORRECTION

Thursday's Varsity carried a story on the debate held in the J.C.R. and wrongly attributed the debate to U.C. The debate was sponsored by the U.T.D.U.

Watch Your Toes

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

With so much depending on the outcome of the next two games, Blue and White Society promoters are expecting a surge of Varsity spirit at the pep rally tonight on the back campus. After the rally, there will be another street dance, weather permitting, and crowds equalling those of last week are expected. Shown above is part of the crowd that assembled for the dance last week-end, previous to the Saturday victory of the Blues.

Our Readers Write

Reporting Unfair?

Editor, The Varsity:

The name of your publication, The Varsity, would infer that it is an all-faculty paper with news for all at Varsity rather than serving any one group. I must say that recently your items force me to agree with those who call it the 'Artsman's Gazette'.

On the day after the sly and treacherous abduction of our cannon you headlined that as a great feat and tried to make Skule look sick. When some engineers retaliated by taking the UC dragon (and, I might add, by much bolder and more honorable means) you gave that a most tiny paragraph indeed. Therefore this morning I awaited with interest your write-up of last Friday's remarkable and most impressive display of Skule spirit: I refer to the capture of our field-piece.

Today, as I had roughly foreseen, you gave Skule's Friday exploit a small write-up; particularly small when you consider the number involved in contrast to the pitiful showing on the infamous occasion of our cannon's abduction. You erroneously state that tear-gas was used. It was smoke and contributed little to our success as far more charging Engineers were smoked than UC types. But what really takes the cake is the inference that our outnumbering of UC was the secret of our success — if we outnumbered them it was due to their running away. At first a small band of Skule valiants started Northwards across the campus and were spontaneously joined by many others quick to rally to the cause. At UC, according to your article on Friday morning, the UC football team and others were supposed to defend the cannon. They must have deserted the cause instead of rallying to it. Yet I admit that the sight of the fast-growing and fast-approaching band of resolute Skulemen was enough to make an Artsman tremble.

I also thought the use of news of the supposed abduction of a UC cheerleader to detract from our great march across the campus a poor show. Besides our disdain is of the 'men' of UC not the lassies; and I'm sure Mr. Bob Hetherington of Meds (and Ajax?) will gladly testify to the gentlemanly courtesy shown Skule's guests.

In parting I could suggest that UC try to recover their funny old dragon in a display of spirit equal to ours. We did not cry for the Cannon back but d—— well took it back!

Hoping, Mr. Editor, that you will enlighten the recently misinformed undergrads of Varsity by the publication of this letter and reminding you, sir, that "we don't give a d—— for any d—— man who doesn't give a d—— for us," I am,

Yours truly,
Bryan S. Berting,
II Civils.

✦ ✦ ✦

Reply To Grant

Editor, The Varsity:

I feel bound to reply to one point of Mr. Grant's letter in The Varsity, Nov. 3, which was an answer to mine of an earlier date.

I remarked that the condemned Communists were tried by a jury which included three Negroes, and that two of the accused were also Negroes. My purpose was to suggest that this jury was not packed with unfriendly white men, but contained representatives of a race which has good reason to be dissatisfied with the present American system of government. I was happy about this; I thought it pointed to fairness. I am not happy about Mr. Grant's comment: "Mr. Hughes appears disturbed at finding no color bar in the jury . . . What blatant racism!"

I am unable to believe that such an interpretation of my statement could be made in good faith. I recall Lenin's advice, "Make use of any . . . concealment or perversion of the truth" to discredit an opponent. I feel that this pretty little bit of perversion of truth by Mr. Grant discredits any and all opinions that he may express on the whole subject.

R. Hughes,
IV U.C.

BLUE AND WHITE ANSWERS CHARGES

While it is true that last Saturday's roamaround dance was crowded, we would like to point out a few pertinent facts regarding the conditions under which we must work in order that our position may be more clearly understood by the students.

The Blue and White Society is more or less obligated to provide entertainment on the Saturday nights following each home rugby game for as many students as wish to participate. With the policy of the Royal York hotel to refuse ballroom space to any student government organizations for football dances, we are forced to stay on the campus. Here, our problem is one of space. Hart House, providing the largest area of danceable floor space under one roof, is definitely limited in number to 1,800 people in the two gyms. As a result, we must limit the dance to a few of the student body, (a fact which would result in long lines on the day of ticket sales,) or else we must practice the current policy of having a roamaround dance.

The roamaround dance, in order to be within the means of every student, is presented at a very low cost. This means that we must make up in quantity what we lack in quantity (i.e. high prices.) Not only do these dances provide a service for Saturday nights, but the profits derived are used to give the students other services such as the Friday night pep rallies, which entail considerable expenses that cannot be paid for in any other way.

As for the remark that we flood the dance floors, the Blue and White Society has never sold more tickets than would accommodate the total number of people allowed on the dance floors being used for any particular night. Until the evening of the dance the actual number of people that will turn out is not known, because so many people do not wish to buy tickets until the Saturday night of the dance. If we were not to sell tickets at the door, we would disappoint many more people than those who complain of overcrowding.

As is our custom we are presenting a roamaround dance this Saturday night after the McGill game. There will be dancing in Hut, House gyms, the Drill Hall and Burwash Hall, and the music will be supplied by Art Hallman, Bob Cringan, Stan Patton, and Johnny Perkins. The Art Hallman orchestra is being supplied by a downtown store in aid of ISS. Tickets will be sold on Saturday night at the S.A.C. office in Hart House. We trust that with these facts before them, the students will continue to patronize these dances with the same spirit that they have shown in the past.

Bill Turner, Chairman,
Blue and White Society.

Austrian Students

(Continued from Page 3)

Hall where they will present an evening of Austrian music, songs and dancing. ISS Chairman Bill McDougall announced last night there are 15 organizations outside the university, led by the Austrian and German groups of the city who will give their full support in selling tickets for the performance. Mr. McDougall also announced there would be about 700 seats for the performance sold to students on the campus.

Group Is Non-Profit

The group was formed after the First World War as a token of gratitude for aid rendered by the United States and England to the Austrian students. The group, Ami für Studentwanderungen, has the support of the Austrian Foreign Ministry, and is a non-profit organization. The performances will raise money to use for expenses on the tour. The money, after expenses are met and their "angel", a British man, is repaid, will be left in banks on this continent for the purpose of financing other tours by Austrian students.

You get both when you buy Arrow Pajamas!

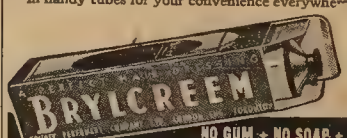
Handsome fit and sleepful comfort from the day you buy 'em, until you stop wearing 'em!

Seamless centre seam in the trousers! Plenty of room everywhere! SANFORIZED trade marked—guaranteed never to shrink out of fit. See your Arrow dealer! Cluett, Peabody & Company of Canada Limited.

Look for the Registered Trade Mark ARROW

ARROW PAJAMAS

Made by the makers of Arrow Shirts



AT TIMES LIKE THIS...

Good Grooming calls for BRYLCREEM

At all times when good grooming counts, a single application of BRYLCREEM "The Perfect Hairdressing" will keep your hair neat, tidy and well-groomed. BRYLCREEM—by actual survey, the largest selling hairdressing in Canada. Available in handy tubes for your convenience everywhere

7-49R

NO GUM + NO SOAP + NO ALCOHOL + NO STARCH

SEX

.... shopping days left to get tickets for the U.C. Follies, Nov. 11 and 12, Hart House Theatre.

On Sale 10 - 2 U.C. Rotunda

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

NOT 1
NOT 2
BUT ..... 4!!

OF CANADA'S FINEST ORCHESTRA

On Sat., Nov. 5th for a gala nite of dancing at the Roamaround

ART HALLMAN
STAN PATTON
JOHNNY PERKIN
FRED EVIS
BOB CRINGAN

AVAILABLE THROUGH!

THE OFFICE OF MART KENNEY

125 DUPONT STREET TORONTO KI. 3147

Freeman's

FORMAL PRICE POLICY

Since Freeman's was first founded in 1919, they have endeavoured to serve the Campus with Formal Wear to the best of their ability.

The main objective of the firm is to make it as convenient as possible for the students to attend all formal affairs.

In keeping with this policy, the student price policy of a reduction of $1.00 will be continued—$6.00 includes the suit and all accessories.

When the bid says "Formal"—be sure to visit Freeman's.

2 CAMPUS STORES TO SERVE YOU

256 College St. — KI. 0991 (At Spadina)

556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270 (At Wellesley)

2 Freeman's "Tailored to fit like your own"

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1 00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

UPLANDS SKI CLUB

Now accepts members - Ski Trails - Skating - Dancing - Parties. Dining room, lockers, showers available. Further information at S.A.C. or Athletic Office.

FOR RENT

Comfortable room near St. George St. for young man, bathroom shared with one other; constant hot water; good breakfast. KI. 7349.

LIFE INSURANCE

Low cost preferred plan, $10,000 for $6.00 a month. For details call HU. 3929.

BUYING MICROSCOPE?

Save $50-80 by buying now Exceptional offer by a leading supplier. For details phone Fred Granger at RA. 0201 after 6.

FOR RENT

Bathurst-Dupont—Large room, double bed, spring mattress, hot water. Phone LL. 0423.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount. Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

LOST

A.T.L. card (495840 - S.P.S.) at or after Western game Oct. 29, possibly between Stadium and St. George & Harbord Please notify Harold E. Cook at RA. 8148.

GIRLS, FELLOWS

Badminton, squash, tennis restringings and repairs at low prices. For overnight service, leave racquets with Hall Porters at Trinity or Victoria Burwash.

TYPING

Expert typing by experienced stenographer. Also duplicating. Pick-up service. HY. 0923.

LOST

Back campus Friday night—dark blue make-up case containing lipstick, etc Phone Jean—LO. 8677.

FOR RENT

Furnished room—young man to share light housekeeping room with O.C.E. student—5-minute walk to Hart House. $6.00 per week. KI. 0042, 395 Huron St.

FOR SALE

A gentleman's suit of tails fit a 34 to 36 size. Excellent condition—$25.00 Private—300 Keele, near Annette.

ART — MUSIC — DRAMA

All My Sons

A biting, pungent, shattering attack on the society of our day took place at Hart House Theatre last night. It was the Victoria College Dramatic Society's production of Arthur Miller's (Death of a Salesman) All My Sons.

The play was in three acts and combined unity of place (the backyard of an American home), unity of action (the conflicts within and between the members of that home), and unity of time. From the first act, which in its entirety exposed the situation, introduced the characters, and set forth the drama's theme, the action dragged, the dialogue was monotonous and slow, and the characters moved like pawns in a chessman's hand. Drama ought to invite its watchers into the life that it endeavours to recreate. A forceful play should not hit out blatantly, should not force itself across the footlights. Essential to a conjuring of the imagination is the creation of an aesthetic distance between watcher and the watched. This principle was absent in Act I of All My Sons.

Decor and setting were incongruous to the play's theme. Joe Keller was a wealthy man, but his back door was a crude shambles of a half-porch, and the back of his house resembled more a New York tenement than the home of an industrialist newly rich. To add insult to injury the garden furniture was expensive, new and slick. Thus, disbelief in the play's reality ran strong in the first act. Lighting was bare and white.

Then came the blow. Like a thunderbolt shattering the night All My Sons suddenly came to life. Its first-night tremors vanished.

Conflict between Chris Keller, the son, and his father emerged, their tempers bristled, their ideologies clashed. Thus arose the play's message, its teaching, its theme. Joe Keller, the father, is the emblem of the age. He worshipped the great god Wealth. His goal was respectability, his philosophy "dog eats dog". Joe Keller was a smug, self-preserving, small-town manufacturer who sent out defective airplane parts during the war which brought death to the fliers. By accusing his partner of the crime, he escaped justice and his partner was sent to jail. From this episode stems all the struggle in All My Sons.

Chris Keller rebels against his father's mechanistic materialism, against the ambitions that he has for him. David Gardner's portrayal of the son simmered with agitation, finally burst to the climax in Act III. He knew the meaning of control, the value of light and shade in his eloquent speech, his sense of pause, of tension, of communicating the strength of his convictions (as Chris Keller) to the end of the play.

John Finlay punched across the father with an impact and a strong feeling for the role. His portrait surged with intensity, and even as he became the object of a growing detestation, one could not help but feel him to be the product of an age that aims only at material success, at the adoration of wealth, and consequently enlisted one's sympathy and understanding thereby.

The entrance of George Deever (the imprisoned partner's son) who came to prevent his sister from marriage to Chris Keller, was the first real crisis in the play. George McCowan's portrayal bristled with dramatic power. His bitter, inflamed soul came through with his first step on stage. Not one word was spoken, no gesture made, yet we knew why he had come and what he was about to do. Suspense clung to his every move.

Deborah Turnbull's Anne Deever by comparison was weak and unconvincing, and her movements were artificial and obviously planned. But Jean Scroggie's relatively minor role of a neighbour (Sue Bayliss) brimmed with vitality, suited the action to the word, the colour to the meaning, without flaw. Beth Robinson developed her Kate Keller slowly, pathetically, strikingly, to drive home by means of hysteria and a bubbling state of emotion the deep, erratic pathos of her dilemma.

All My Sons presents a moving, ringing mirror to the false gods of life. It hits out at sociological evil in our times. Last night's performance of All My Sons evoked Aristotle's proverbial catharsis and in so doing hit hard.

William Glenesk.

\+ + +

Weaving Exhibition

This exhibition of early Ontario weaving, in the Royal Ontario Museum, is composed of the work of Samuel Fry, Moses Grobb, and Abraham Nash, Mennonites, who lived in the Niagara district during the middle of the 19th century. This exhibition is the first result of research that museum is making into the history of weaving in Ontario.

The exhibition shows the evolution of weaving from the simple hand loom to the complexities of the jacquard loom. The weaving industry was carried on at home. Samuel Fry wove a double faced twill table cloth for each of his children, from flax grown on his farm near Vineland. One of these table cloths in almost perfect condition after eighty years is on display. Another important piece of linen work is the huck weave table mat produced on a ten harness, which establishes Moses Grobb as an expert linen weaver, although he is better known for his jacquard coverlets.

The earliest cloth is plain with the weft running over and under, alternate strands of the warp. Variety was gained later by using different colours in the warp and weft. The warp, consists of the strands which run the length of the cloth and the weft of the strands which runs crosswise.

The famous double cloth coverlets, of Samuel Fry, have two cotton warps and a wool weft, which results in the same pattern on both sides of the coverlet, but with the colour scheme reversed. As the ultimate in home weaving came the jacquard loom. The patterns, of which the four roses, with the rose and crow border and the four sided flower pot are typical, seem to have been brought from the States. The thread was coloured by vegetable dyes, of which the blue and red jacquard work are excellent examples.

Phillip Creighton.

\+ + +

TSO

Although the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Concert on Tuesday evening was not, by any means, a succession of bad performances, there may be some justification for the present fashion of disparaging Sir Ernest's efforts. It would be better, however, to say that he does very well with what he has.

The Orchestra's handling of Mozart is usually quite good, and the Symphony No. 40 in G Minor was not an exception.

Smetana's popular tone poem, The Moldau, was one of the best offerings of the evening. From the gently descriptive first passages the melody spilled into a patriotic theme which grew to the crescendo, whereupon the brass section waxed a little too enthusiastic and drowned the melody successfully once or twice.

John Knight's performance of Liszt's Piano Concerto in E Flat Major was the highlight of the evening. He displayed delicate timing and a very sensitive touch on the keyboard; welcome indeed after the thundering we had heard immediately before. Those passages which can so easily be mere finger exercises he made liquid and graceful, ending the Concerto in brilliant technical form. He modestly offered as an encore, Prelude No. 2 by Gershwin, and treated with a beautiful lightness.

The Orchestra also played Afternoon of a Faun by Debussy—rather sweetly, because of a shallowness in the horn tones and the piece lost much of its sensuous charm.

Charmian Reading.

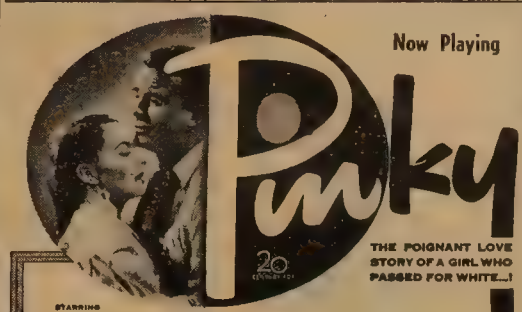
Comedians

(Continued from Page 1)

leases from the Calgary Stampeders Football Club! He concluded his remarks by inviting all students to the Wayne and Shuster radio show on Thursday night, at the C.B.C. Concert Studio. Defining the C.B.C. he quipped: "The C.B.C., the only non-profit organization on Jarvis Street."

Between the giving out of innumerable tickets to lucky people in the audience, Bob Johnston found time to introduce excellent piano numbers by Sue Davidson and Barbara Redfern, interview the Greek, Kallinike, and pass on a wealth of information about the program of events for I.S.S. week.

These events will include Friday's Pep Rally and Dance, a concession at Panacea, the All-Varsity show sponsored by Meds, a display at Saturday's McGill game, the Roamaround, Football Movie show at Hart House Theatre, Monday; the Maple Leaf hockey game at the Arena, Tuesday; a talent hunt and an auction. Proceeds from all these events go to the I.S.S. fund.



15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

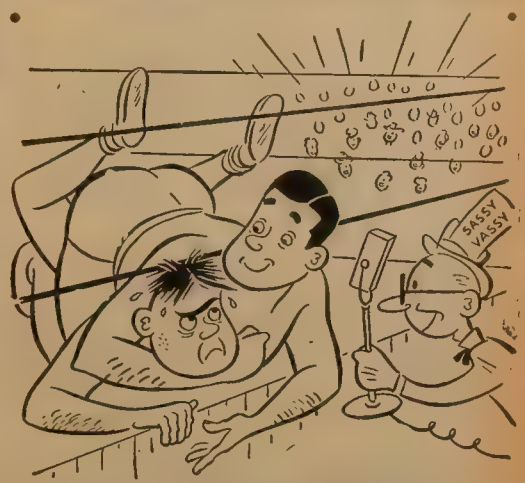
UNIVERSITY GRADUATES are offered an accelerated secretarial course which will lead to responsible positions in the business world.
WELLER COLLEGE
SELECT SECRETARIAL SCHOOL
2 ST. CLAIR AVE. E. - HY. 2311
Principal, Miss E. McCumber



STUDENT WANTED
To Operate U.C. Lit. P.A. System
Pay approx. 85c per hr.
Apply: Bill Francis
Lit. Office, J.C.R.

SPECIAL STUDENT ADMISSION
Daily To 6.00 P.M. (Sat., 5.00 P.M.)
Please Present Your A.T.L. Card At Box Office
35¢ INC. TAX

Now Playing

Pinky
THE POIGNANT LOVE STORY OF A GIRL WHO PASSED FOR WHITE...!
STARRING
JEANNE CRAIN · ETHEL BARRYMORE
ETHEL WATERS · WILLIAM LUNDIGAN
PRODUCED BY DARRYL F. ZANUCK DIRECTED BY ELIA KAZAN
UNIVERSITY
A FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE
BLOOR ST. WEST NEAR BAY

"700 Millions March to Socialism"
SOVIET UNION
CHINA
POLAND
CZECHOSLOVAKIA
HUNGARY
BULGARIA
RUMANIA
ALBANIA
Leading the Invincible Camp of World Peace TIM BUCK
and
A. A. MacLEOD, M.P.P. at a
1917-1949 CONCERT—CELEBRATION
SUNDAY, NOV. 6, 8 P.M. MASSEY HALL
"Stretch out the Hand of Friendship"
Doors open 7:00 p.m. Admission Free
U. of T. L.P.P. Club

You Can't Wear Overhead
Why Pay For It?
OUR VALUES ARE BIG BECAUSE OUR OVERHEAD IS SMALL. Moreover, we buy all our cloths Direct—there is NO middleman. We will smartly and promptly tailor your next PAIR OF TROUSERS, SPORTS JACKET, TOPCOAT or SUIT AT THE MOST REASONABLE PRICE IN TOWN. Just try us out and see for yourself.
Yes, more students than ever are heading for the "FIVE MINUTES FROM THE CAMPUS" STAIRWAY SHOP OF . . .
EMBASSY CLOTHES
287 College st. MI.9010
a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE on the South side
SLAX WITHIN 5 DAYS FROM CHOICEST GABS, FLANNELS, and COVERT CLOTHS FOR ONLY $14.95

"Hold on, folks! Handsome Harry is saying something to his opponent. Let's listen!"
(On the air.)—"Say, you lug! If you'd lick Dry Scalp with "Vaseline' Hair Tonic you'd have nice looking hair and get across with the crowd, too."
Vaseline HAIR TONIC
TRADE MARK
"VASELINE" IS THE REGISTERED TRADE MARK OF THE CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. CONS'D.

Concert Hall, Royal York Hotel
Bobby Gimby's Orchestra
ALPHA CHI OMEGA FRATERNITY
presents
THE FOOTBALL DANCE
Tickets at the door or 10 Sussex St., KI. 1216
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5th
9:00 p.m.
$3.00 per couple

First Church of Christ Scientist

St. George St. at Lowther Ave.

Branch of The Mother Church,

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6th

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Subject

"ADAM AND FALLEN MAN"

SUNDAY SERVICES

11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Pupils and visitors up to the age of twenty years welcome.

11 A.M.

WED. EVENING MEETING

Including testimonies of healing through Christian Science

8 A.M.

FREE PUBLIC

READING ROOM

Where the Bible and authorized Christian Science Literature may be read, borowed or purchased.

120 BLOOR STREET WEST

All are Welcome

ST. JAMES' CATHEDRAL

Cor. King and Church Sts.

8:00 a.m. HOLY COMMUNION

8.30 A.M.—MATTINS

9:15 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION

11 A.M.—HOLY COMMUNION

Sermon: THE DEAN

MORNING SUNDAY SCHOOL

3:00 p.m. Sunday School

7:00 p.m.—EVENSONG

Sermon:

The Rev. Wm. C. Bothwell

Holy Communion

Wed. and Fri., 7.30 a.m.

TRINITY COLLEGE CHAPEL

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6

8:15 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION

11:00 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION

Preacher:

The Reverend

Dr. F. W. Beare.

All students of the University are welcome at all services in the College Chapel.

PARK ROAD

Park Rd. and Asquith Ave.

Minister

Rev. C. G. Stone, D.D.,

Remembrance Sunday

11 a.m.—"THIS ABOVE ALL"

(Communion Service)

7 p.m.—"WHAT VOCATION SHALL I CHOOSE?"

(Youth's Questions (5)—panel discussion)

Muriel Gidley—Director of Music

KNOX

Spadina and Harbord

Minister: Rev. Robert Barr, M.A.

9.45 a.m.—Adult Bible Class

11.00—THE TEMPTATION STORY

(6) "The Fear-Vanquishing

7.00 p.m.—HIS GLORIUS NAME

Love of Jesus"

8.30 p.m.—KNOX FELLOWSHIP

(7) "Jesus, the Redeemer"

Rev. Morris Zeidman will give an informative lecture on "The Synagogue and Its Worship"

Students cordially invited to all services.

CHURCH of the REDEEMER

Bloor St. West and Avenue Road

RECTOR;

REV. H. R. HUNT, M.A., B.D.

8 A.M.

Holy Communion

11 A.M.

RECTOR:

"CHRISTIANS IN THE MAKING"

3 P.M.

Bible Class conducted by Rev. M. J. Cathcart, B.A.

7 P.M.

RECTOR:

"THE VALUE OF CRITICISM"

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

Bloor Street East

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY

8 A.M.—HOLY COMMUNION

11 A.M.—SERVICE OF REMEMBRANCE attended by The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada and affiliated organizations, and the Upper Canada College Cadet Battalion.

Preacher: CANON WILKINSON

3.30 P.M.—ORGAN RECITAL

Harvey Robb

7 P.M.—ANNUAL CHURCH SERVICE OF THE IMPERIAL ORDER DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE

Preacher: CANON WILKINSON

Organist: Charles Peaker, Mus. D., F.R.C.O.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WELCOME

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

BLOOR W. at WALMER RD.

DR. E. CROSSLEY HUNTER, Minister

John W. Linn, Organist.

"RELIGION AND ATOMIC ENERGY"

will be Dr. E. Crossley Hunter's subject Sunday evening, continuing the series

"RELIGION IN A SCIENTIFIC-MINDED WORLD"

Dr. Hunter will answer questions on the evening sermon at the FIRESIDE HOUR.

U.S. Policy On Tito

(Continued from Page 1)

that "the balance of power" has been throwing Europe into wars all through history. By supporting Tito we will just be widening the rift between the two worlds, he thought.

Opposes Policy On Moral Grounds

The member from Sutherland opposed the American policy on moral grounds, disparaging any dependence on undemocratic governments like Yugoslavia to uphold our democratic ideals.

The member from Bloom urged a realistic attitude—supporting Tito is a lesser evil than letting Russia swamp the only country that has so far been able to successfully stand up to her. He saw Tito's stand as a fight against Russian imperialism.

WALMER ROAD BAPTIST CHURCH

(1 block north and west of Spadina and Bloor)

(Near the University)

Rev. C. Howard Bentall, B.A., B.D.

Rev. David B. Phillips, B.A., B.D.

11 a.m.—"THE EARTH IS THE LORD'S"

12.05—BIBLE SCHOOL

Young People's Classes

7 p.m.—"SPLIT THE WOOD AND THERE AM I"

COMMUNION

Harold G. Williams

Organist and Choirmaster

Young People's Activities

Monday and Thursday

BLOOR ST. UNITED CHURCH

Corner Bloor and Huron Streets

Ministers:

Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, S.T.M., Ph.D., D.D.

Rev. Kenneth Irving Cleator, B.A., B.D., S.T.M.

Organist and Choirmaster

Frederick C. Silvester

11 a.m.

DR. HOWSE

7 p.m.

Student Service

DR. HOWSE

will preach

PRESIDENT SIDNEY E. SMITH and DONALD EVANS

(President, S.C.M.)

will assist in the service.

LOIS MARSHALL, Soloist

RECEPTION

following service.

James Milligan will sing

Donald Harron will read

REFRESHMENTS

BRING A FRIEND

6.40 P.M. ORGAN RECITAL

THE VICTORIA COLLEGE DRAMATIC SOCIETY

ARTHUR MILLER'S

POWERFUL DRAMA

ALL MY SONS

NOVEMBER 3, 4, 5,

Hart House Theatre

DIRECTED BY

Henry Kaplan

● TICKETS $1.00

HART HOUSE THEATRE BOX OFFICE

Tension Arising

(Continued from Page 1)

aroused by education, for these problems were the special property of those who took exception to the accepted formulae.

After the forum there was a luncheon supplied by the hospital, and the people present carried on the discusion in informal groups.

Varsity Students

(Continued from Page 1)

ployment opportunities in the insurance business.

A fellow of the Society of Actuaries is recognized as a qualified actuary and the examinations ordinary require upwards of five years to complete after university graduation.

Shows, Dancing And Talent Hunt For ISS Frolic

On Tuesday night, November 8, Vic is presenting a gigantic ISS Frolic reminiscent of last year's Feather Fair, Don Lawson, vice-president of the VCU, announced yesterday. At the Frolic, which begins at 7 p.m., there will be door prizes given, dancing in Alumni Hall, and booths of all kinds run by the residence girls. These will include a penny toss, fortune-telling, a beauty salon, flower girls, a telegram delivery service on the campus and refreshment stands.

Lawson said there will be two shows of "red hot entertainment" presented during the evening. Featured will be the program "What's Your Beef" and Ed McCurdy, the Burl Ives of the CBC. It is even rumored that negotiations are being made for Lily St.-Cyr to come from Montreal but final word has not been received.

ST. PAUL'S - AVENUE RD. - CHURCH

121 Avenue Road—3 blocks above Bloor

11 A.M.—TAKE UP THE QUARREL

6.40 P.M.—ORGAN RECITAL

7 P.M.—FUMBLES ARE COSTLY

(No. 6 in the Stories of Jesus)

Thursday 8.45 p.m. Albert E. Cliffe of Montreal, by telephone broadcast "Have you a handicap?"

A warm welcome to students at all times.

ISSue No. 3

Future INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE Features

25c Casino and Drill Hall Dance 25c

Fri. Casino atmosphere and games of skill with food to replace the pep used up at the rally will feature the Friday Drill Hall Dance. Two bits a body.

25c MUSIC COURTESY EATON'S 25c

Mon. U. C. TALENT SHOW

JCR 1.00 - 2.00 p.m.

Admission 10c

Snack Bar Closed 1:15 — 1:45 p.m.

Semi-finalists will be presented with prizes at Wayne and Shuster Show.

Tue. VIC FUN FROLIC

A fast-moving show and frolic with "WHAT'S YOUR BEEF" and CBC star Ed McCurdy plus campus characters.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE FOR THE

ROAMAROUND DANCE

AFTER THE McGILL GAME SATURDAY NITE, NOVEMBER 5

Dancing In:

- Hart House Gyms
- Drill Hall
- Burwash Hall

Tickets At:

- S.A.C. — Hart House
- Women's S.A.C., Room 62, U.C.
- Skule Stores
- V.C.U. Offices

Music by Art Hallman, Johnny Perkins, Stan Patton and Bob Cringan. McGill will be there too.

Every Student Needs these Famous

DIXON PENCILS

Everywhere a pencil is needed, students will find that one or all of these three time- and quality-tested Dixon Pencils, will do a truly satisfactory job:

"TICONDEROGA"

The fast, smooth writing pencil—easy on the hand, no push, no effort. Makes clean, definite marks. Rubber eraser in strong metal ferrule with double yellow bands. 8 degrees from 2B to 4H.

"ELDORADO"

The master drawing pencil, made with Typhonite leads. The first choice of artists, engineers, and draftsmen everywhere. Makes sharp, crisp, even lines, every time—without crumbling. Made in 17 degrees from 6B to 9H.

"THINEX"

Here are colored pencils that really sharpen up. Thin leads of smooth, even texture and surprising strength, with points that stand up. Made in 24 permanent moisture-proof pastel shades.

ORDER FROM YOUR REGULAR SUPPLIER

Made in Canada by

DIXON PENCIL CO. LTD.

Montreal, Newmarket, Toronto, Vancouver

SPORT SCHEDULE — WEEK OF NOV. 7th

FOOTBALL (all games start at 4.00 p.m.)

Mon., Tues., Wed., Nov. 7—East Trin vs Jr. SPS Luck, Gibben, R. D. Thompson
8—East Forestry vs Dent Stepkowsky, Garside, Sutherland
9—East U.C. vs Med I W. Thompson, Gibben, Sukmanowski

Thur., Fri., 10—East Jr. SPS vs St. M. .... Smylie, Burleigh, Salsberg
11—East Sr. SPS vs Vic .. Pasternak, Klarman, Davidson
West Dent vs Med II .... Emon, Newman, Sherwood

SOCCER

Mon., Nov. 7—South 4.00 Jr. SPS vs Forestry ..... Foulkes

Tues., 8—North 4.00 Trin I vs Sr. SPS ..... Babcock
South 4.00 Knox vs Emman ..... Leach

Wed., 9—North 4.00 Sr. Med vs Jr. SPS ..... Seunarine
South 4.00 Pre-Med vs Jr. U.C. ..... Smalley

Thur., 10—North 4.00 Emman vs Dent ..... Babcock
South 4.00 Forestry vs St. M. ..... Leach

LACROSSE

Mon., Nov. 7—1.00 U.C. I vs Med I ..... Prendergast, McFadden
4.00 Inst. Mgt. vs Knox ..... Ross, Dugan

Tues., 8—1.00 Forestry vs Pre-Med ..... Chambers, McPherson
4.00 U.C. II vs St. M. A ..... Chambers, Phillips
6.30 Vic II vs U.C. III ..... Hastings, Klarman
7.30 Trin vs Med III ..... Hastings, Klarman

Wed., 9—1.00 Vic I vs Sr. SPS ..... Raymond, Ross
7.30 Knox vs Pharm ..... Chambers, Dugan

Thur., 10—1.00 U.C. III vs Dent ..... Chadwick, Stuckey
4.00 Med II vs U.C. II ..... Raymond, Walder
5.30 Jr. SPS vs Vic II ..... Chambers, Warren
7.30 St. M. B vs Forestry ..... Warren, Chambers
8.30 St. M. C vs Trin ..... Chambers, Warren

Fri., 11—1.00 Sr. SPS vs U.C. I ..... Prendergast, Hastings
4.00 Med I vs Vic I ..... Raymond, Chadwick

SWIM LEAGUE

Mon., Nov. 7 4.00 Emman vs Inst. Mgt. ..... Shepherd
4.00 St. M. vs SPS II ..... Shepherd

Tues., 8 4.30 Vic I vs Trin ..... Hamilton
5.00 Med I vs U.C. I ..... Hamilton
5.00 Arch vs Vic II ..... Hamilton

Thur., 10 5.00 Forestry vs Med II ..... Rosen
5.00 SPS III vs Vic II ..... Rosen

VOLLEYBALL

Mon., Nov. 7 1.00 Med II Yr vs For. B ..... Dies
4.00 U.C. IV vs For. A ..... Edwards

Tues., 8 1.00 Jr. U.C. vs Law ..... Brown
4.00 SPS V vs Arch ..... Fine
5.00 Med I Yr vs Sr. SPS ..... Fine
6.00 SPS III vs Dent A ..... Fine
7.00 SPS IV vs Trin B ..... Bernstein
8.00 Pre-Med vs St. M. A ..... Bernstein

Wed., 9 1.00 Inst Mgt vs Music ..... Goodman
6.30 Pharm vs Vic III ..... Cohl
7.30 Trin A vs Jr. Vic ..... Cohl
8.30 Emman vs Wyc ..... Cohl

Thur., 10 1.00 Sr. SPS vs Sr. U.C. ..... Brown
4.00 Jr. Vic vs U.C. III ..... Kroll
5.00 St. M. A vs Dent A ..... Kroll
6.00 SPS VI vs St. M. C ..... Kroll
7.00 For. A vs Dent B ..... Seunarine
8.00 SPS IV vs U.C. VI ..... Seunarine

Fri., 11 1.00 SPS III vs Pre-Med ..... Carr
4.00 St. M. B vs Trin B ..... Carr

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY PLAYERS — NOTE

Practices commence at Varsity Arena on Mon., Nov. 7th. For detailed information see your college and faculty notice boards or see your hockey representative.

Mon., Nov. 7—12.30 - 1.30—Forestry
— 1.30 - 2.30—Vic
— 4.00 - 5.00—Arch
— 8.00 - 9.00—Wyc
— 9.00 - 10.00—Pharm

Tues., Nov. 8— 1.00 - 2.30—U.C.
— 8.00 - 10—S.P.S.

Wed., Nov. 9— 1.30 - 2.30—Law
— 4.00 - 4.45—Emman

Thur., Nov. 10—12.00 - 2.00—Trin
— 4.00 - 5.00—U.C.
— 8.00 - 9.00—S.P.S.

Fri., Nov. 11—12.00 - 1.00—Med
— 1.00 - 2.00—Vic

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Med II vs Forestry	Smylie, Carr, Salsberg
SOCCER	North	4.00	Dent vs Trin II	Franco
	South	4.00	St. M. vs Sr. Med	Leach
			(POSTPONED TO MONDAY)
LACROSSE		1.00	Dent vs Jr. SPS	Prendergast, Ross
		4.00	U.C. II vs St. M. A	McFadden, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Inst Mgt vs SPS VI	Dies
		4.00	Sr. U.C. vs Sr. Vic	Kroll

SPEED SWIMMING

(Physical Education — Men)

Instructional classes in Speed Swimming will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays at 1.00 p.m., starting November 7th. Report to Mr. Goodman in the Swimming Pool.
Physical Education Credits will be granted.

GATE ARRANGEMENTS FOR STUDENT SECTION

McGILL GAME ON SATURDAY

South gates on Devonshire Place will be opened for students in addition to the regular entrance at the south of the Arena. For those passing through the barriers at the south of the Arena the gate in the brick wall at the south east corner of the Stadium may be used in addition to the Arena doors. Students are requested to utilize the entrance on Devonshire Place as well as at the south door of the Arena so that the load will be evenly distributed. If all entrances provided are used there will be no delay, but it will be necessary for a large number to use Devonshire Place entrance instead of the Arena if the overcrowding evident at the Western Game is to be relieved.

Students are asked particularly to assist the marshals by forming line in single file behind each entrance. If this is not done it is impossible to admit the large numbers involved in an orderly fashion. There are 8 entrances on Devonshire Place and 8 at the Arena, and if they are all utilized access to the student section will be gained with ease by everyone.

Do your part and observe the following points:

1. Use both Devonshire Place and Arena entrances.
2. Walk—do not run.
3. Do not shove others—you may cause injury.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE — NOV. 7 - 11

Games — O.C.E.

Mon., Nov. 7	Tues., Nov. 8
5.30-6.30—Saints Sr.-Jr. vs. P.H.E. III	Saints Soph vs. U.C. Soph
6.30-7.30—Saints Fr. vs. P.H.E. I	Physio A. vs. Vic. Sr. B.
7.30-8.30—Nurses vs. Vic. Soph B.	Vic. Soph A. vs. P.H.E. II
8.30-9.30—St. M's P. vs. Meds.	Vic. Fr. A. vs. U.C. Fr.
Wed., Nov. 9	Thurs., Nov. 10
5.30-6.30—Vic. Soph B. vs. St. M. B.	St. M. A. vs. U.C. Sr.-Jr. B.
6.30-7.30—P.H.E. III vs. U.C. sr-jr A	P.H.E. I vs. Vic Fr A
7.30-8.30—Viv Sr. A vs. Saints Sr.	Meds vs. Nurses
8.30-9.30—Vic Fr. B vs. Physio B.	U.C. Soph vs. Vic. Soph A.

Fri., Nov. 11
Physio B. vs. O.T.
U.C. Fr. vs. Saints Fr.

Practices L.M.

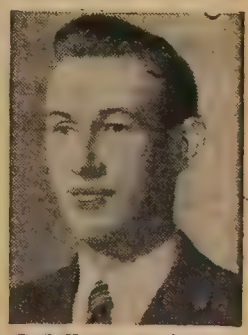
Mon., Nov. 7	Tues., Nov. 8
5.00-6.00—Saints Soph	U.C. Sr.-Jr. A.
6.00-7.00—P.H.E. II	O.T.
7.00-8.00—Physio	U.C. Sr.-Jr. B.
8.00-9.00—

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL SCHEDULE — WEEK OF NOV. 7TH

Trinity Southeast Corner —

Tues., Nov. 8—P.H.E. I vs. Meds ..... Fraser-Haley
Wed., Nov. 9—Losers of Tuesday's game vs. Vic. I ..... Haley-Hume
Thurs., Nov. 10—First game of finals—Winners of Tuesday's game vs. winners of Wednesday's game

Morrison-Eddis



For constant Smoking Pleasure
Roll your own with
"EXPORT"
Cigarette Tobacco

ALSO AVAILABLE IN ½ POUND TINS

BAND PRACTICE

5 P.M. — DRILL HALL

Basil Kearney, men's wear salesman in Kingston, Ont., changed to Pepsi-Cola because, he says, "Pepsi really satisfies my thirst, doesn't just tease it." That's important. When you take time out for refreshment, you want something that really hits the spot! Take home a carton today—6 big, big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢

Teen-agers, too, are changing to Pepsi-Cola. Margot Rudland, Toronto student, says, "My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola for its better flavour and bigger value." And that's true of the handy new quick-drink size Pepsi, too, Margot. You get more for your money—costs only 5¢. Try Pepsi in the new 8-ounce bottle today. You'll find it at your nearest cooler.

More and more people are changing to
PEPSI-COLA
for Finer Flavour and Better Value
Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

VARSITY at QUEEN'S

NOVEMBER 12th, 1949

Excursion and Ticket Arrangements
For Those Following the Team to Kingston

STUDENTS' ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL SPECIAL VARSITY TRAIN

SPECIAL RATE—$5.40 RETURN
Saturday, November 12th
Leaving Toronto, 8.15 a.m. (Daylight Time)
Arriving Kingston, 11.50 a.m. (Daylight Time)
RETURN ON ANY TRAIN EXCEPT 7.47 P.M. (Daylight)
N.B. TICKETS WILL NOT BE VALID RETURNING ON TRAIN 15 LEAVING KINGSTON 6.47 P.M. E.S.T. (7.47 p.m. Daylight)
THE S.A.C. OFFICES WILL SELL COMBINATION TRAIN AND GAME TICKETS ONLY
Please note time of sale . . .
Today 9.15 a.m.
Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House
Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, U.C.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

For those travelling by car priority slips will be issued on Monday morning at the north door of Varsity Arena off the Bloor St. parking lot, and only those showing an exchange slip to the cashier will be able to obtain tickets.

The ticket sale will commence at the Stadium Box Office, Devonshire Place, at 9.00 a.m. on Monday, and exchange slips will be honored in order of issue. Holders of exchange slips must be on hand at the Stadium in their proper order when the sale commences at 9.00 a.m.

Exchange slips issued at north door, Varsity Arena on Monday morning prior to sale.

Sale commences at Stadium Box Office at 9.00 a.m.

EVEN FOUR-LEGGED PEOPLE

look perfectly natural in Nat's two-pant suits. The rest of us can be perfectly fitted, too. Totter in to see us, today.

NAT FREEDMAN CLOTHES

551 Bloor St. W.
(Near Bathurst)
Hours—Everyday 9-6.30
Friday and Saturday 9-9

UC Ties Favored Vic; Irish Blank Saints

Third Quarter Thrust Gives St. Mike's Victory

By JOHN KENNEDY

The hard-luck team, Trinity College, lost another tough decision to St. Mike's last night on the back campus, being edged out by the score of 12-0. In the first half the Buttery Boys, led by hard-running Bill Sparling, continually pressed the inept Mikemen and had the ball on the Double Blue's goal line on two different occasions. The St. Mike's line held both times however and foiled Trinity's attempts. Obviously the game was not as one-sided as the score would indicate.

St. Mike's came out of the doldrums however in the third and fourth quarters to sew the game up and won going away. Steve Carr was injured in the first half and was carried off the field with a severe leg injury.

One-Two Punch

Working rapidly in the third quarter, St. Mike's, lead by skillful ball-handler Tony Adams made their first determined goal line attack. The one-two punch of Adams and Washington paid off after repeated slashes at the end of the Trinity line. Adams around left end, Washington around right, Adams again to the two yard line and then Washington rolled over for the major. Reliable Bud Brennan made no mistakes of the convert.

Late in the fourth quarter the now deadly St. Mike's attack struck again. On passes by Tony Adams the Mikemen moved into scoring position again and once more Washington crossed the Trinity line. Brennan converted to end the scoring.

Line-ups:—
St. Mike's—Halves, Washington, O'Heany, McIntyre, Grossi,; QB, Neville; centre, Kite; insides, McKenna, Brennan; middles, Bergin, O'Keefe; ends, Carr, Dowling. Alternates: Tierney, Ross, Weil, Mulligan, Belch, Sullivan, O'Hara, Giblin.
Trinity—Halves, White, Hunt, Linklater, Skinner; QB, Gledhill; ends, Hall, MacIntosh; middles, Wardrop, Meredith; insides, T. Thompson, M. Thompson; centre, Scrivener. Alternates: McCarter, Sparling, Macdonald, Beattie, Rogers, Hogg, Leischman Andison, McLaughlin, Bell, Greey, Griffiths.

Bob's Crystal Ball Has Scouts Beat

Bob Masterson was peering into a crystal ball-like affair yesterday afternoon and making prodigious notes. The above-mentioned gadget is the film editor, a device by which the coach can look at each play and note which players are getting their assignments and which are not. The moving picture film of the McGill game was being examined yesterday and the film editor was giving Masterson lots of material with which to harangue the Blues. This film editor is far handier and more accurate than the most elaborate system of scouting such as used by McGill and Western.

Secret practices were the rage this week, both Varsity and McGill holding sessions behind locked gates. The Blues are in better mental frame after their stirring conquest of the Mustangs here last week than they were in Montreal. Injury lists are not cheerful but a few veterans will be back in action, notably Captain Arch Jones, Greg McFadden and John Chorestecki.

'Mediates Out To Beat Colts In Game Today

An Intermediate Blue football squad that has finally hit its stride will strut out onto the field at Varsity Stadium this afternoon at 3 p.m. to show the Western Colts that their victory over the Blues two weeks ago was simply one big accident.

The Intermediates have been struggling to regain the form and spirit they displayed last season, and last week in their game against McMaster in Hamilton they found the right combination. Led by a charging line which foiled all McMaster offensive attempts, and sparked by the brilliant plunging of Julie Hansen and pass interception of Rich Howson, the Intermediates showed power enough to down any squad in the Intermediate League.

If the baby Blue line will show the fight it demonstrated in Hamilton, we feel that chances are all in favour of a Varsity victory today.

There are only a few changes in the Blue lineup for today's game. Ron McLennan, a tackle who turned in a terrific effort for the Intermediates against McMaster, has been called up to play for the big Blues tomorrow. Bill Davis, 2 back who injured his ankle in the McMaster game, will be replaced by McCagherty, a former end. Johnny Green will dress in place of Terry Howsley in the I back spot.

However, the Blue line is intact except for McLennan, and backs like Julie Hansen, Bob Leeming, Al Haig, Jack Birkenshaw, and Rich Howson are expected to turn in top performances for the game.

Time is 3 p.m. this afternoon at Varsity Stadium. Admittance is free, so turn out to support the Blues and see a good football game.

Lineup:
5 Backs—Bell, Birkenshaw.
4 Backs—Bazos, Haig.
3 Backs—J. Hansen, Leeming.
2 Backs—Hansen, McCagherty.
I Backs—Green, Howson.
Ends—Russell, Keiczor, Gawinsky, Roe.
Middles—Noonan, Whitehead, Shay, Howard.
Insides— Hyde, Hames, Dowsett, Brown.
Centers—Sutherland, Murray.

Miles Racks Up Major In Last Two Minutes

By MAL CRAWFORD

Three long passes in succession by Morris culminating in a sensational diving catch by Bill Terry on Vic's one yard line gave UC a 6-6 tie with Victoria in the final two minutes of play, in their interfaculty game yesterday. UC is now out of the running, as they needed a win to stay in the playoff race, while Vic is one point ahead of SPS for the league leadership in group one.

The UC line more than held their own against the highly-rated Vic front wall, as Grasser, Davidson, Hynbida and Smith, to mention the most outstanding, repeatedly held Vic's running attack back. It was through the air that the Vicmen looked their best, Harry Damp doing most of the passing, completing five of seven tries, but after they scored their touchdown at the start of the fourth quarter, they abandoned the aerial route and tried unsuccessfully to strike through the ground. Their pass attack looked very sharp; they had receivers in position almost every time, and Damp's hard throws were hitting them with remarkable regularity.

Morris Singles

Bob Walker put UC in position to score in the first minute when he tore thirty yards around left end to Vic's twenty-five. Vic held them there, and Morris kicked into touch-in-goal for a single point.

Charlie Fick started the last quarter off with a bang by running fifteen yards around the short side after what appeared to be a mix-up in the backfield. Damp threw a perfect pass to Reid and another to Fick, then ran twenty on a tricky end run they borrowed from Western Mustangs. Mel Reid then scored the major going around the same end. "Nevermiss" Little converted.

Line-ups:—
Vic.—Quarter, Lodge: halves, Rumbell, Gore, Dryden, Little; centre, Rogers, insides, Ledger, Colbert; middles, Barfour, Hill; ends, Anderson, Howard Alternates: Morgan, Newell, Kilgour, Zimmerman, File, Dyle, Fick, Walton, Damp, Sumner, Reid, Ralph.
U.C.—Quarter, Mitteff: halves, Barnhill, Walker, Miles, Jewson; centre, Webb; insides, Grasser, Smith; middles, Duggan, Davidson; ends, Hynbida, Yates.
Alternates: Morris, Shapiro, Terry, Cullen, Hendreson, Hyrnyshyn, Wass, McKenzie, Wilson, Ellis, Taylor, Steinberg.

Soccer Aggies Meet Blues Here

In view of their 2-0 defeat by OAC at Guelph on Wednesday, the Senior Soccer Blues will be hard pressed to retain the Blackwood Trophy this year. Provided that OAC and Varsity remain unbeaten until the end of the schedule, it will then be necessary for the Blues to beat the Aggies by more than two goals in the return game. If Varsity should win by only two clear goals a play-off game would be necessary.

As a consequence, the spirit of the Senior team is keener than ever, and everyone is looking forward to a fine game this Saturday, when the Blues play McGill in their return exhibition game. The Blues won at Montreal 4-1, but the Redmen play a good clean brand of soccer, and should give them some tough opposition to-morrow, win or lose. The game is due to start at 11 a.m., and a large turnout is expected.

The next game for the Seniors is the annual exhibition fixture with Buffalo State Teachers College at Buffalo next Wednesday.

Team for to-morrow: Reed, Moffat, D. Broadhurst, Wotherspoon, Evans, Thompson, Kuchkuda, Brton, Antoni, Wyler, Allen.
Subs: Leach, Moffat, L.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

So the Big Blues got troubles, eh? Their—pardon—our club is patched up badly and the boys that will be playing are mostly injured to some degree. Reminds us of the wartime tire situation . . . most inner tubes had patches on the patches. Bob Masterson of course is pessimistic about the shape the team is in, and he has been giving the scribes the big story in, shall we say, a pessimistic tone.

Don't let the paper fool you . . . Bob is only following the inherent trend of all coaches to wail and weep perpetually. He is epitomizing Weeping Pete, but we think he expects the Blues to win, injured as they are. One thing, though the team spirit is at an all time high for this year, and that means a lot.

McGill have had their scouts out to every unsecret practice the Blues have had this past week and had a whole boatload of eagle eyes picking up the dope on the recent Western game. Bob Masterson was forced to have a secret practice Monday. "No use giving them a whole week to practice defensive formations", said Bob. "And anyhow," he continued, "we might not have practiced new plays at all. Let McGill find out." We did not ask him what they did do Monday, but we are fairly sure that the Montreal debacle will not re-occur.

Remember when we told about our little inner man? He hasn't given us any word on the McGill game yet, but he did tell us that the Blues would cop the championship. Guess that means they'll win the McGill game. If they don't, we'll never show our face on St. Catharines St. again.

Big Pep Rally again to-night, as usual, on the back campus. Those rallies are exhausting, but fun, and we believe it is the duty of every student as a supporter of our University to attend. The only reason we admit as legitimate for missing the rally is taking a beautiful blonde out. And we are sure there are not more than 1,000 of those around here, so we expect to see 12,000 out on the back campus to-night. (Quit shoving, bub, you can't reach those cheerleaders anyhow.)

The Toronto Maple Leafs will be around the campus next Tuesday; more particularly, they will stage a Blues vs Whites game at Varsity arena at 4.00 p.m., to which the public will be admitted. Admitted, that is, if they have paid 25c to the I.S.S. ticket taker at the door. This is part of the ISS drive for seven grand, and in addition to helping a worthy cause, you will be seeing a team almost as good as the Varsity Seniors if you go.

Okay! Everybody out to the Intermediate game today at three, the rally at 8.30, and the BIG GAME tomorrow. The Blues do their best, let's give them our best. Rah! Rah! Rah!

Sportswoman

The softball semi-final games have come to a dead stop with the one scheduled for today put off until next week. However by Tuesday the play-off teams should be decided and the finals are to be the best-of-three series. Each game will consist of seven innings.

Ground Hockey

Joyce Rous, IV Trinity, will have her ground hockey players out in full force this afternoon when they play at Havergal, with its team of stick-wielding enthusiasts. The game begins at 3.30 and spectators are welcome to see how this game is actually "run."

Basketball

With Joan Mooney hooping in basket after basket U. C. Fr. defeated Saints Fr. by a score of 32-16. Both teams displayed some very good passing and intercepting plays.

The saints with Nancy Allen taking the lead had many occasions to even up the score but they could not seem to click.

In the second game of the evening St. Mike's A team made a rousing comeback in the last quarter to down Physio 20-17.

Phyllis Wilks hooked the most points for the losers who were leading until the third quarter.

Kay Schenck bagged fourteen points for St. Mike's, coming through with the precious tallies when they were most needed.

Both teams were well-matched and suspense was high until the last quarter.

O.T. knocked the daylights out of Physio B with a 29-13 score. The game started slowly with Physio leading in the first quarter, but O.T. pepped up by the fast-playing Barb Armstrong surged ahead to take the game.

FOOTBALL
Vic. 6, U.C. 6
St. Mike's 12, Trinity 0
LACROSSE
For. 14, St. M. "C" 1
SOCCER
St. Mike's 0, Jr. S.P.S. 0

EATON'S

Colour Harmony for Lips and Costumes With HELENA RUBINSTEIN'S
"4-COLOUR KEYS TO BEAUTY"
Four Purse-Size Lipsticks on Chain with Heart-Shaped Metal Mirror!

Blonde — Medium Brown — Brunette — Red Head — Silvergrey! Whatever you are, there is a lipstick "four cast" colour keyed for you . . . in the colour range of your costume. Now you will know what shades are self-harmony colours . . . your dramatic shades . . . your subtle tones . . . with your individual chain of four Helena Rubinstein purse-size lipsticks (each a different shade) attached to heart-shaped metal mirror. Set 2.00 Trained Helena Rubinstein Consultants Will Gladly Assist With Any of Your Beauty Problems.

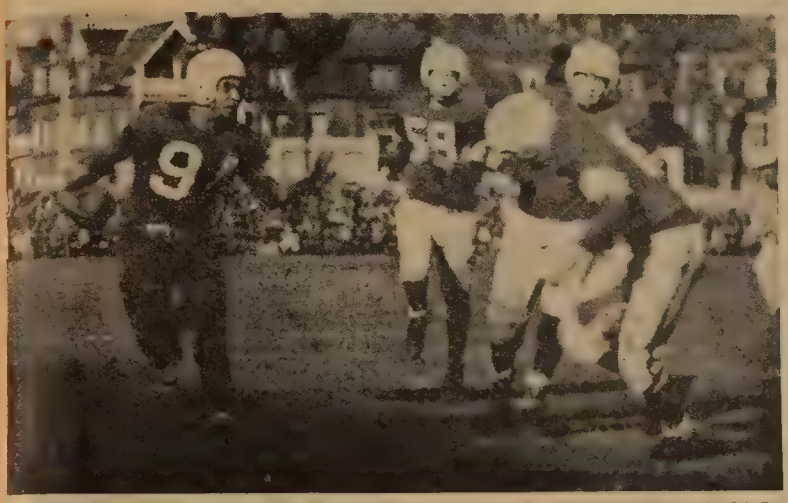
Phone TR. 5111

EATON'S — Main Store — Main Floor — (Dept. 312) and EATON'S — College Street — Main Floor

T. EATON Co LIMITED

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY



The Weather
Ove-cast and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 32 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Monday, November 7, 1949

Down But Not Out

FRIGID FANS SEE BLUES LOSE

Look At That Man Run!

—Varsity Staff Photo by Bob Rapp

For those who have not already guessed the Toronto player who is getting ready to straight-arm three on-rushing Redmen is Dick Brown, star Varsity half back. The McGill player hustling up in the background (58) is Jim Mitchener, one of the best ends in the intercollegiate league. The other McGillain villains are unidentified. Brown accounted for two of Varsity's points on long singles.

Redmen Win 12-8 Interceptions And Fumbles Costly

By BILL ROSS

Nothing, it seems, was the matter with old McGill on Saturday when her rugged football representatives fought their way to a 12-8 win over Varsity at the Bloor Bowl before 20,500 well-chilled fans. The McGillians overcame an 8-5 deficit in the third quarter to wrap up the contest when George Valois worked his way from the twelve on an end sweep, rolling the last two yards to a McGill victory.

McGill Played Well

Costly fumbles and pass interceptions played a large role in the Varsity downfall while the glue-fingered Redmen bobbled only once themselves. The hard tackling Redmen intercepted five of Varsity's aerial attempts and completed three out of four of their own.

The big Blues had it all over McGill in the first downs department, beating out a total of sixteen to McGill's nine. But the Obeck-coached Redmen were always able to capitalize on their opportunities and scored both majors from twelve yards out. Rocky Robillard was the payoff man on the first McGill touchdown while Toronto's lone major was carried over by Bill Danylchuk.

Robillard's successful drive on the first touchdown of the contest came when teammate Terry Rogers blocked a varsity kick and recovered on the Blue twelve yard line. Rocky, who was a triple threat man in the strictest sense of the word all day, broke through centre for five yards. On the next play he again took the ball and followed beautiful blocking through the right side of the line for the score. The convert was blocked by Alec Lawson.

Varsity took possession of the ball on the McGill twenty when the officials ruled that Irving had deliberately knocked Brown's kick out of bounds at that point. Wally London who played a steady running and tackling game crashed through centre for a gain of six yards but Varsity was penalized for holding on the following play. Cummings booted a single on the next down for the first Varsity score.

A Cummings to Gray pass and a McGill penalty for rough play set the stage for the next Varsity rouge. Wally London ran back Irving's kick to the McGill forty one. Cummings fought his way to the McGill thirty three and Brown was stopped for no gain. Brown then hoisted a lovely kick to the deadline. Dick Brown punted his second single from this point. McGill 5, Varsity 3 at the half.

Varsity started the second half with determination as McGill failed to make yards from the kickoff and Danylchuk was not given yards on Robillard's short kick.

A Cummings to Lawson pass was good for six and Dick Brown travelled the sidelines for eleven to the McGill eleven yard line. London made ten yards on two tries to the one yard line. Brown made a nice handoff to Danylchuk who sliced through the left side of the line for the major. Brown attempted to convert on a spinner but was stopped as Varsity lead McGill 8-5.

Minutes later Irving unleashed a beautiful thirty five yard pass which Blauer took on the Varsity twelve. From this point Valois took a shovel pass and skirted the right end for the major. Robillard converted. McGill 11, Varsity 8. McFadden was rouged to complete the scoring for the game in the fourth quarter.

Still A Chance

"Here's how Varsity can win the championship: If Western beats McGill, and Varsity beats Queen's, Varsity will be tied with McGill for second place. Under the rules of the league, a second-place team must be clearly second and must have beaten the first-place team to force a playoff. If Varsity wins and McGill loses, Varsity will play McGill, and if Varsity wins this, they play Western. If they beat Western, the Blues are still champs.

Varsity-Built Sailplane Passes Test

The first University-made sailplane in Canada was successfully test flown this past weekend at Oshawa Airport by fourth year students and assistants of the Faculty of Aeronautical Engineering, University of Toronto.

"Everything came out on the dot and we are very pleased with the results," said Professor Loudon, head of the department. "The purpose of the plane's construction was to add life to the subject of aeroplane design." The sailplane will be used in research of up and down currents in relationship to aeroplane flight. It was made in the basement of the Electrical Building.

Construction of the plane was done by Les Racey, mechanistic technician; and design by Beverly Czerwinski of the A. V. Roe Company who supervised the lofting, or laying out of design by the students. Thirteen students also assisted Mr. Racey for one hundred hours.

"Handled Beautifully

"The plane handled beautifully," said Mr. Racey. It is a conventional design, single place sailplane of plywood and fabric construction. The sailplane has a wingspread of forty-five feet, a fuselage twenty-two feet long, and stands six feet high. The weight is three hundred and sixty-two pounds.

Using a car as a tow, Mr. Czer-

(Continued on Page 7)

Concourse Echoes Songs At Union Station Welcome

Hundreds of Varsity students were down at the station for over an hour Friday night awaiting the special train from McGill. The lower concourse echoed to the strains of gaily sung college songs.

✣ ✣ ✣

One lady arriving with a porter carrying her bags, and all dolled up in furs and nylon, was greeted by a shrill chorus of whistles and howls. The unidentified lady waltzed up the ramp, returning the banter with a wide smile and waving arms.

✣ ✣ ✣

The people who turned out for Pep Rally were glad of a chance to go up Devonshire Place with the snake dance. For the first time this year there were streetcar trolleys to be pulled, and the students hadn't forgotten the trick.

✣ ✣ ✣

Panacea, the All-Varsity dance sponsored by the Medical Society, was a success. The entertainment lined up was aimed to satisfy the tastes of all the many visitors. Cartoons were run in the Debates Room, and there was a concert in the Music Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

The goal-post squad included one fledgling doctor, for as the Society of Protectors were carrying the uprights away he cried, "We may have lost the odd game, but we haven't lost a goal-post yet!"

✣ ✣ ✣

The visitors were in a party mood Saturday night, much to the discomfort of the other patrons at the Ry. The house detective was on the run from dusk to dawn as the celebrants voiced their joy.

✣ ✣ ✣

Most people think that there were few casualties at the game, but one of the spectators at the goalpost fight got the butt end on the end. Butt!

Carl Swan Weds, Was Ajax Padre

Former students of the Ajax division of the University will remember Carl Swan who was their padre throughout the entire Ajax episode.

Today at 4 p.m. he will be married to Miss Barbara Simpson in Christ Church, Deerpark. Reverend Swan has invited all Skulemen to attend the ceremony.

The invitation is directed to all those now on the Toronto campus who were at one time at Ajax. This will of course include all the engineers here.

How Ardent Can You Get?

Noting an unusual red light in the doorway of the Athletic Wing of Hart House at a late hour last night, an inquisitive Varsity reporter investigated and found two students from St. Michael's College slumbering peacefully, a red construction lantern marking their presence. On being awakened they revealed that they were lining up for game and train tickets for the football game in Kingston next week. The dormant ones were Bud Giaschi and Len Martin, first year students, who stated that they were confident of sleep, had apples to eat, cards to play with and that they were too lazy to rise at 5 a.m. as many of their friends intended to do.

SHORTLIFFE UNINTERESTED

Montreal.—(CUP)—Although the ban excluding Dr. Glen Shortliffe has been lifted by the U.S. Immigration Department, the Queen's professor has indicated that he will not be following previous plans to teach at an American university. One reason "is the faith that Queen's had in me. I am very grateful for it and happy that it has been vindicated."

Museum Model Moves

Cabot's Ship Docks At Archives

By HERB WOOD

"America was discovered by Cabot from Bristol," the late President Roosevelt once said.

The model of the Good Ship Matthew that carried Cabot to America can be seen at present in the Canadian exhibit of Dr. Sigmund Samuel located in the Canadiana Gallery of the Royal Ontario Museum. Due to the expansion of Dr. Samuel's collection in the last ten years this Gallery has become too small.

Build New Archives

As a result, in co-operation with the University of Toronto and the Province of Ontario, Dr. Samuel is assisting in the erection of a new building being built behind the University Library.

The ground floor will contain the Canadiana Gallery, where Dr. Samuel's Collection will be properly and permanently shown. The size of the collection will enable the pictures to be changed periodically. The remaining floors will be devoted to the Provincial Archives. Total cost is expected to be about $400,000. Dr. Samuel has contributed $150,000 towards the structure and the Province of Ontario is bearing the rest of the cost.

The collection of pictures bearing on early Canadian historical subjects has well over one thousand pictures, maps and charts, much of which is over one hundred years old. "I hope the public may find enjoyment and instruction in viewing them," said Dr. Sigmund Samuel.

Also Has American Data

This collection also contains some interesting views of American cities, and harbours of the pre-revolutionary period when the Thirteen Colonies were still under the British Flag. Dr. Samuel has also succeeded in collecting many books on this topic, some of which are in the Museum; they will eventually form a library that will be open to advanced students, and historians under the supervision of a competent librarian.

The Archives Building is being constructed of hewn Credit Valley limestone in keeping with the ashlar construction of near-by university buildings. The front facade will present four figures of heroic size representing Wolfe, Montcalm, Amherst, and La Salle, respectively from south to north.

Building Odd Size

The back of the building will have three stories, and the front two, because of the construction over the dried up bed of the old Taddle river. There will be a sixteen foot bridge joining the top floor of the stacks in the University Library with the second floor of the Archives buildings.

The bridge will be connected to the stacks by a copper expansion joint of accordian design that will contract and expand with changes in temperatures. There will be a sliding plate in the floor. The weight of the bridge will be carried on two rollers. Six inches in diameter, and one and a half feet long.

The corner stone of the Archives Building will be laid by Dr. Sigmund Samuel on Nov. 19, at 3:30.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T2
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
Acting CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Don Stevenson

ASSISTANTS: Barbara Brown, Lillian Becker and Audrey Parrett

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1949

Communism On The Campus

(The following editorial is reprinted from the McGill Daily, student newspaper of McGill University. In view of the recent criticisms directed at University of Toronto students and The Varsity, the editors of The Varsity feel they are not laboring a point by reprinting it here.)

A growing problem for university students is that touched upon a recent letter to The Daily by Professor R. B. Y. Scott of the Faculty of Divinity. He pointed to the unfairness of a letter written by Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, and published in The Gazette.

Dr. Kirkconnell, a sincere opponent of Communism, has a habit of writing in such a fashion that the reading public is bound to believe there are more Communists among Canadian university students than there actually are. The net result, of course, is the fact that Dr. Kirkconnell's pronouncements on communism on the campus must be treated with some reservation.

Dr. Kirkconnell's letter listed the Student Christian Movement as being one of several organizations which had delegates at the Budapest Congress of "World Federation of Democratic Youth." He gave no further details, apparently being unconcerned at the impression he was creating. President N. A. M. MacKenzie of the University of British Columbia, one of the strongest supporters of the Student Christian Movement, pointed out last year that Communists seep into the organization but that did not mean the S. C. M. was Communist. Even Dr. Kirkconnell, we think, would hesitate to brand President MacKenzie a Communist.

Similarly, there are Communists in the Canadian Army, being fed and clothed out of public funds. So far, Dr. Kirkconnell has not written in such a fashion that the public is suspicious of the Canadian Army being a Communist organization.

Dr. Kirkconnell's false impressions appear to be catching in the Maritimes. The Halifax Chronicle-Herald published a remarkable series of three articles June 3, 4 and 6 of this year. This newspaper attempted to show that because the National Federation of Canadian University Students had considered sending a delegate to the International Union of Students, a Communist-dominated organization, Canadian student leaders were being taken in by Communist propaganda. The truth, which the Halifax Chronicle-Herald carefully avoided, was that some Canadian students felt there would be benefit in presenting Western ideas at any gathering of European students. This may have been too idealistic a viewpoint, but the fact remains Canadian student leaders were not being flapdoodled by Communist propaganda.

The Halifax Chronicle-Herald pointed out that a great deal of Communist propaganda reaches Canadian university newspapers from Europe. This is quite true. The Daily has a rather fat file of this material. But the Maritime paper went on to say: "Received by the university student newspapers, some, if not a great deal of it appears in print in those publications." This statement could not be further from the truth. We read every newspaper and we can only say there is absolutely no foundation for this statement. The Daily has these newspapers on file and we challenge The Halifax Chronicle-Herald, the RCMP or any other interested organization to prove that statement.

We can only suggest that Dr. Watson Kirkconnell and the editors of The Halifax Chronicle-Herald read a story we read in public school. It was about a young fellow who cried "wolf" too often. He destroyed himself.—C. K.

Portrait—The Artist As A Cynic

Sing a song of Skulemen,
A bottle full of rye,
Peering through the transits
As co-eds hurry by.
They talk a lot of drinking,
Their stories turn you pale,
Most of them get roaring drunk
On a glass of gingerale.

Sing a song of Hart House
There isn't any doubt,
Co-eds are a passing fad,
Better keep them out—
Don't cry little co-eds
Never mind my dears,
You'll have a union of your own—
In ninety-seven years.

Sing a song of Varsity
Unbiased as can be Never jeers at Skulemen
Never lauds U.C.,
Never covers up the news,
Prints whate'er it finds,
Never read by anyone
In their proper minds.

—Themistocles.

Our Readers Write

Fifty cents Minimum

Editor, The Varsity:

As campaign organizer for the ISS drive in Knox College, I feel that my effort has been greatly impeded by Thursday's editorial entitled, "Fifty Cents."

The ISS is dependant upon smaller faculties for its support. Last year SPS, the largest faculty, realized less than 4% of its objective, while UC got approximately 1%.

The Knox men, a small faculty, were delighted to read that only fifty cents was all that was asked (so they thought). And, sure 'an begorra, I'm having a tough time to make all these Scotch men realize that more than fifty cents per student is needed if our objective is to be reached.

Dean Smith,
II Knox.

Ed. note: Fifty cents was cited as a minimum amount if everybody in the university gave to ISS. If anyone can give more, be he in Knox College, or SPS, or UC, it will certainly help the ISS to reach their objective of $7,000.

COMING EVENTS

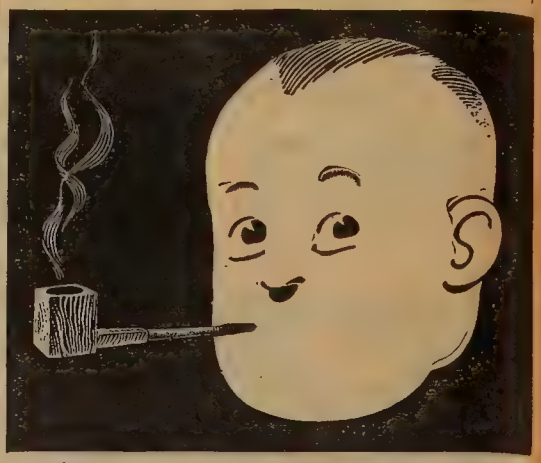
PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

At the next meeting of the Philosophical Society on Thursday, Nov. 10, Prof. J. P. deC. Day of Christ Church, Cambridge, will speak on "The Justification of Induction". The meeting will be held in Croft Chapter House at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

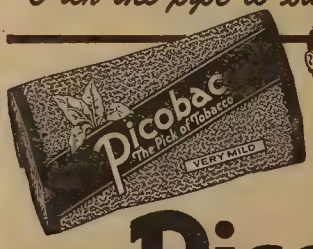
VIC VCF

Dr. E. Crossley Hunter will speak in the Chapel tomorrow at 1:20 p.m. His topic will be "Does modern science make it harder or easier to believe in God?"



New Weston Rink Opens For Season

Weston, Nov. 6.—Weston's new $125,000 community arena opened its doors last night to a capacity crowd of more than 3,000 persons.



Owen Sound's entry in the Midget NHL put the rink's sports activity under way with a 7-4 win over Stratford. Free skating was held after the game. William McCormick, manager of the arena, said provisions were being made for regular free skating for children during the winter.

The rink, located on the recreation centre, Florence Ave. W., was financed by voluntary subscriptions, with assistance from Conn Smythe, general manager of Maple Leaf Gardens.

NEVER PUT A SQUARE PIPE IN A ROUND FACE!

Pick the pipe to suit Your Type

When you've picked your pipe right—pick your tobacco right. Pick Picobac the pick of pipe tobaccos.

Picobac

Picobac is Burley Tobacco—the coolest, mildest tobacco ever grown.

WREN Association Annual Ball

★ HMCS YORK
★ FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18
★ THE STARDUSTERS ORCHESTRA

Dress Optional . . . Dancing 9 to 1 . . . $3 Couple
(Tickets at door or phone: GR. 1258 — ME. 4094)

THE STARDUSTERS

VARSITY'S FAVORITE ORCHESTRA!!

FOR THE FULL BAND OR OUR SMALLER ORCHESTRA
PHONE ME. 4455

S.A.C. BULLETIN

RADIO WORK WORKSHOP

Second audition Nov. 8 (Tuesday) 4 p.m.
West Hall, University College

ALL VARSITY MIXED CHORUS

Rehearsal Tonight at 8 p.m. Women's Union Building

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 today.

REVOLVER

Shooting will take place in the Hart House Range tonight at 7.30.

GLEE CLUB

The regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held in the Music Room at 5.00 p.m. today.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 tonight.

TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL

The first in the series of Tuesday Informal Recitals will be presented by Mr. John Tracy, Clarinetist, II St. Michael's College, in the Music Room tomorrow at 1.25 p.m. Mr. Tracy has been soloist with the University of Toronto Symphony and the Blue and White Society for the past two years.

SQUASH

The Hart House Individual Tournament for the A. F. Coventry Cup will be held during the first two weeks in December. All members, both undergraduate and graduate, interested in competing, please sign the lists posted in the Squash Corridor.

THE VARSITY

Monday, November 7, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

CCUF Clubs Campaign For Forum Seats

Canadian Co-operative University Federation campus locals in the Prairie Provinces are in the midst of election campaigns for their "Parliamentary Forums", National CCUF Treasurer Jim McNeill said at a CCF club meeting in Trinity Friday afternoon.

He explained that political clubs on campi in the West receive seats in their Parliamentary Forums in proportion to the votes which they receive in these elections. He said at one campus the Conservative Club and the Social Credit Club have agreed on a coalition.

Help Campaign

CCUF club members in Saskatchewan are also taking an active part in provincial by-elections, McNeill reported. Federal Minister of Agriculture "Jimmy" Gardner and Saskatchewan Premier "Tommy" Douglas are speaking for the Liberal and CCF candidates, he said.

McNeill suggested that members of the University of Toronto CCF Club should try to revive the League for Social Reconstruction, an organization which does research in social problems.

League Not Active

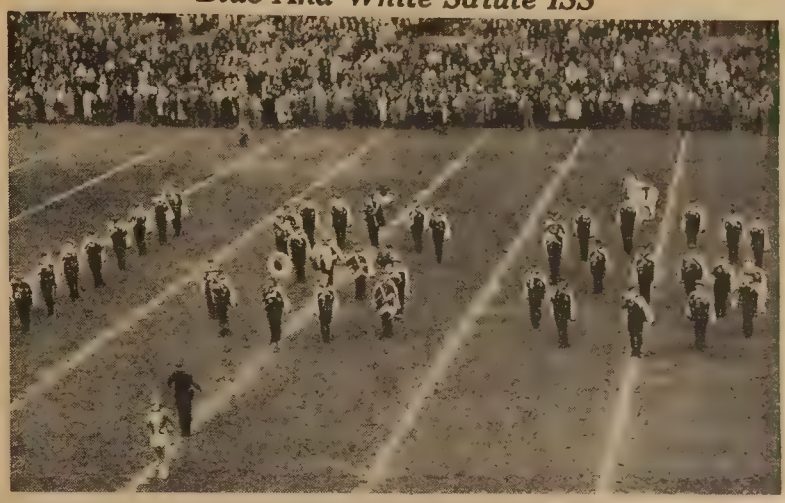
CCF Club President Gord Milling explained that the League used to be active at the University of Toronto and the University of McGill, but is not doing much work now.

McNeill then suggested that students writing theses could be contacted and asked to write their theses on social problems. Milling replied that this was done last year and the practice is being continued this year.

Present Brief

McNeill reported that the University of Saskatchewan - CCUF Club presented a brief to the Royal Commission on the Arts, Letters and Sciences. He said it was well publicized in western newspapers.

The national office of the CCUF is in great need of funds, McNeill said. He suggested membership and publicity drives and a canvass for money as methods to raise funds.



UC LECTURE

Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, D. Litt., will speak on the topic "On the Way to Greatness", Friday, Nov. 11 at 8:30 p.m. in UC West Hall.

COMMERCE CLUB

C. E. Fraser of the CBC will speak at the Commerce Club Smoker, Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m., in St. Michael's College, Brennan Hall.

Blue And White Salute ISS

Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

The Blue and White Band are shown above at Saturday's Varsity-McGill football game playing "Gaudeamus Igitur", the international students' song in honor of the International Students' Service currently conducting a campaign for $7,000 at the University of Toronto. The song dates from the middle ages, when universities were springing into being, and is well-known and often sung among university students in Europe.

Nationalist Rise Inside Germany Is Reported

Montreal.—(CUP)—Loss of faith in terms of political purpose is the reason behind the recent resurgence of German nationalism, according to Professor F. M. Watkins of the Political Science and Economics department of McGill University. This loss of faith coupled with an inconsistent policy towards German recovery has caused a dangerous vacuum in terms of German political idealism and a veering towards the doctrine that has brought a certain measure of glory to Germany, albeit of short duration, he said recently.

The efforts of East and West to give Germany a new political doctrine have failed, he continued, because of the Western "sitback policy" and Eastern attrition policy.

Prof. Watkins expressed doubt as to whether there is an immediate remedy for German naitonalism, in view of the fact that both East and West have adopted the policy of currying favour of the movement.

NFCUS Education Aid Brief Will Be Conference Topic

Halifax N.S. (CUP)—The progress being made on the NFCUS brief on Federal Aid to Education will be the main point of discussion at the NFCUS executive conference at the University of Montreal Sunday November 13.

Announcing the executive meeting NFCUS president Richey Love of Dalhousie University said the brief on Federal Aid to Education will be presented to the Royal Commission on Arts Letters and Science when it sits at Halifax in January.

President Love stressed the importance of the Royal Commission brief and pointed out that the preparatory work is being done by students of Dalhousie University, University of Toronto and University of British Columbia, who have been compiling their material over a period of several years.

Those attending the executive conference in addition to Love are Vice-Presidents Art Mauro (University of Manitoba), Western Canada; Paul Demerais (University of Ottawa) Ontario; Don McPhail (University of New Brunswick) Eastern Canada; Gilles Bergeron (University of Montreal) Quebec, who is handling the details for the executive meeting; and permanent Secretary Treasurer Don Seldon (McMaster University).

Wayne, Shuster Show To Star ISS Winners

The winner of the ISS talent hunt, to be chosen Tuesday, 1 p.m. in Hart House Theatre, will perform on the Wayne and Shuster show Thursday evening at the CBC McGill St. Studio, ISS Publicity Director Jack Tenker said yesterday. Approximately fourteen winners of the faculty talent hunts will be judged by Robert Gill and CBC star Giselle. The winner will receive merchandise prizes; two worth $15 and two worth $10.

Student Pageants For ISS Fund Start Tomorrow

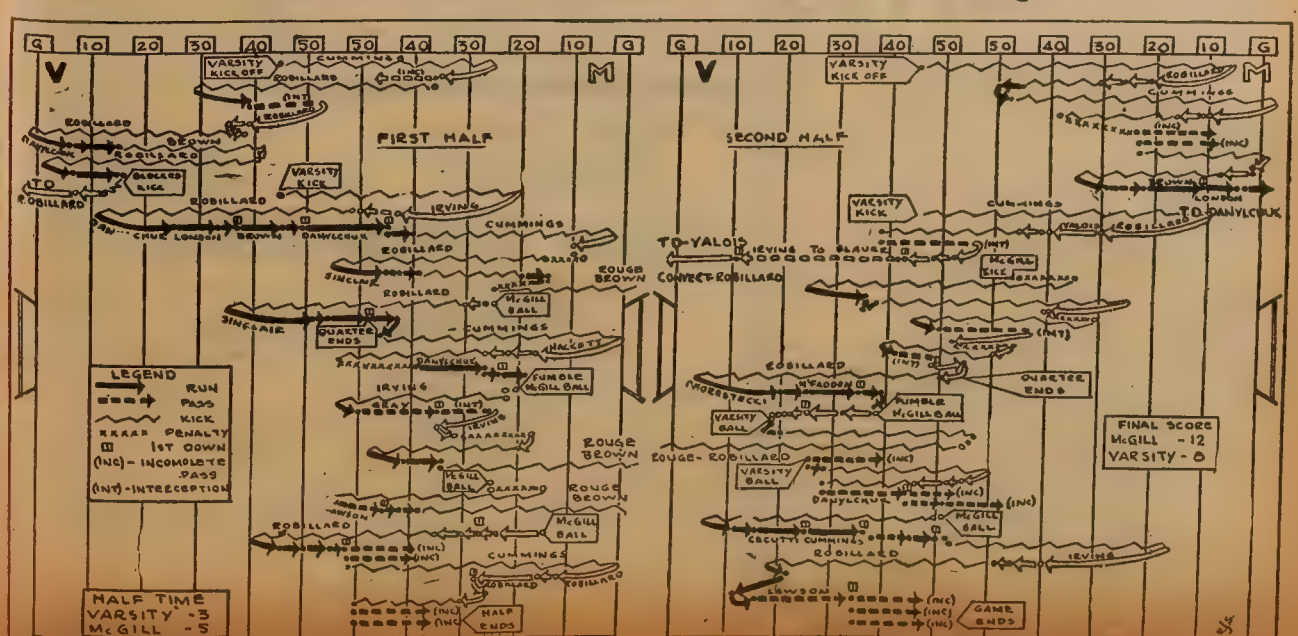
Vic and UC are holding talent shows for the ISS this week. Both the VCU and the UC Lit will hold shows which will present their contribution to the ISS talent show.

Today at 1 p.m. the JCR will be the scene of the UC presentation. There will be a charge of 10 cents for those who want to see the show, and the bar will be closed from 1:15 to 1:45.

At Vic the show will take the form of a Frolic, with door prizes, dancing, booths and refreshment stands.

VCU vice-president Don Lawson promises two shows of "red hot entertainment." Among the attractions for the stage show will be the program "What's Your Beef," and Ed McCurdy of the CBC.

Both of these shows are starring student talent as well as the guest artists who will appear in feature roles. UC's show will be based on student acts, and the Vic Frolic will be in the nature of a variety show.



More Order, No Pushing At Stadium

Permitting student entrance through the Devonshire St. gates, rope-guides on the queues and extra marshalls on hands were effective in maintaining orderly entrance to the stadium on Saturday. There was no shoving and most people were admitted within twenty minutes. UC Lit President Jack Hoolihan said he was completely satisfied with the new gate system. Another student, whose wife was badly mauled in the previous week's entrance rush, also said there was considerable improvement.

Students will no longer have to worry about mobbing at the entrance, when the stadium is expanded, stated Athletic Directorate Financial Secretary J. P. Loosemore. There are plans for more entrance facilities. The stadium is to be expanded by next year.

The condition at the Varsity game was caused to a large degree by the large crowd, which had been on the campus to observe the parade, going to the stadium in one mass. When the gates were opened the crowd flooded in from the side of the lines, with the resultant jam For the remaining game this year admittance will be by reserve seats only.

Sokolowski Charts Trib's Victory

Art ∞ Music ∞ Drama

TSO Pops

At Friday night's Pop Concert, a packed house received with warranted enthusiasm the playing of the young Canadian pianist, John Knight. Mr. Knight, fresh from his New York triumph, well deserved a packed house. He played magnificently and with a virtuosity far-reaching his young years. He chose the Myra Hess arrangement of Bach's Adagio in A Minor as the first number of his solo group and rendered a confident interpretation with a studious approach. From Bach, he turned for contrast to Chopin's well-known Ab Major Etude. His handling of the ornamentation and intricate rhythmic patterns was done with the utmost skill and assurance. Particularly noticeable was his delicate nuancing and excellent pedalling. To further prove his virtuosity and again in contrast, he played the difficult Khatchachurian Toccata. He executed the intricate runs and huge chords in this number with a master's skill. Throughout his playing Mr. Knight showed no affectations nor mannerisms. For encores he chose the Chopin Black Key Etude and Eugene Goosens short but exacting Punch and Judy Show, which he played with lightning speed. All the skill and musicianship that he showed in his solo numbers was verified in his interpretation of the Liszt Hungarian Fantasy in collaboration with the orchestra.

The orchestral portion of the programme included works by Chabrier, Mozart, Von Suppe, R. Strauss and one Canadian, Howard Cable. Mr. Cable's Newfoundland Sketches were well received.

The four sketches are scored for strings. They create an atmosphere full of the simplicity and quaintness of sea-faring folk. The Sea Captain was perhaps the most interesting of the sketches, with its rollicking pizzicato almost throughout.

From Chabrier's almost blatant Marche Joyeuse, Sir Ernest turned to the delicate Mozart G Minor Symphony No. 25. In this number the bassoon passage at the end of the Andante and the wood-wind and horn section in the Menuetto were welcome relief from the typical Mozartian strnig-emphasized scoring. The grace and charm of Strauss's Rosenkavalier Waltzes and the brusqueness and the noise of Von Suppes Light Calvary Overture, presented the orchestra to us in two completely different moods and proved to us their versatility.

G. Russell Brooks.

Emmanuel Musicale

The grey Gothic plaster of Emmanuel College resounded Sunday night with exultant song. Cause of this exultation was the Choir of Deer Park United Church under the vigorous direction of John J. Weatherseed F. R. C. O., organist and choir master of the church.

Three a capella (unaccompanied) 16th Century Anthems of Tallis; All People That On Earth Do Dwell —Farrant; Lord For Thy Tender Mercy's Sake, and Sir William Byrd's Ave Verum Jesu Lambe Of God, opened the performance and were the highlight of the night.

With Thomas Tallis' majestic anthem choir and conductor transformed the college lecture hall into a great cathedral. Hall accoustics (like Massey Hall) allowed no echoes, yet amplified to great effect the chorus of 35 voices to sound like 135.

Conductor Weatherseed knows the meaning of resonance in song. That knowledge charged his interpretation with a glowing warmth increased magnitude of his choirs offerings a hundred fold in Farrant's Thy Tender Mercys Sake—Purcell's Rejoice In The Lord and Bach's Chorale: Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring.

In the choral number there was no question of technique. Characteristic of the Deer Park choir's performance throughout was each section's reverent sense of balance and inter-fusion of harmony requisite to faithful rendering of a capella 16th century work.

Evident from last night's program sung by the choir of Deer Park Church is the startling fact that much of the world's great music goes unheard, and that we need not look far for competent performers of these great choral works.

William Glenesk.

✦ ✦ ✦

Radio: Stage 50

Last night we were served a dull dish of tripe called "Caste" (a play by Robinson), as originally presented in 1867 with adaptations by Mr. Sinclair. It wouldn't last a two-night stand in our Parish church. A more miserable and foolish relic of Victorian shallowness would be hard to find. It rivalled even the drunkard which luckily was graced with some clever, if irrelevant, singing.

Described as a dramatic comedy its most interesting quality was why it was so described. My innate cynicism prevents me from seeing drama in the conflict of empty creatures who are neither human beings nor symbols. Its humorous features are best brought out in a quick resume of the plot.

It seems this low cast wench's mother dies and she is forced to slave over her drunken father who keeps them in poverty. Then she meets this upper caste chappie who marries her, thereby estranging his mother. He, after a few happy months (too bare of sticky music) leaves for India where he is killed. She has his baby; lets her father booze her money away, and generally goes down hill fast. This side-splitting burlesque was sobered at ten to ten by the arrival of the hero who really didn't die. After explaining how he escaped (did you strangle him to death? Well, he didn't get up), the snotty mother and snobbish friends and the good low class workers kiss and make up and all is rosy. A note of almost hysterical hilarity is reached by getting rid of father by giving him five dollars a week if he will "drink himself to death." The play ends in a sustained chuckle as father says, "I'm willing to try."

The production was marked with courage as there were some valiant attempts by the cast to stick to the same accent that they started with.

The dialogue sparkled with such lines as "You forget I am a lady!", "You forget I am a mother!", "They have given you to a plumber and my heart is broken now", "I am a woman, a wife, and a widow; touch me if you dare!"

I found no deeper implication in the realm of sex or sociology. A recent talk by Mr. Gill on Hart House Theatre contained something appropriate here. He pointed out that they were not running an historical society, presenting old plays because they were old. This play fell into this class—no inherent value, just an antique. Still all productions cannot be successes and this past week we had Mr. Arkularis and Shaw's "The Village Wooing" which were among the finest radio plays I've heard.

—Murray Pashler

HART HOUSE DEBATE

"Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom" will be the topic of the Hart House Debate Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m.

ISSue No. 4

MONDAY — J.C.R. — 1-2 P.M.

U. C. TALENT HUNT

Leaf's Exhibition Game

Big-time hockey talent in a fast game for a thin quarter.

TUESDAY — VARSITY ARENA — 4:00 P.M.

TALENT HUNT FINALS

at

ALL VARSITY TEA DANCE with

S.A.C. LOST - AND - FOUND AUCTION

WEDNESDAY — DRILL HALL — 4:00 P.M.

WAYNE and SHUSTER SHOW

McGILL STREET STUDIO

A rollicking satire on Varsity life features Thursday night show over C.B.C. network.

THURSDAY NIGHT ADMISSION 50c

TICKET SALE TODAY — S.A.C. OFFICE, HART HOUSE

STAMMERING

Stammering corrected by modern scientific methods. Dormitory & Camp. Helpful 48-page booklet gives full information. Write today for FREE copy.
W. D. Dennison, 543 Jarvis St. Toronto

WARNING!

DON'T STUDY AT NIGHTS

without pausing for

REFRESHMENTS and RELAXATION

at

OPEN . . . 9 - 10 P.M. . . . MON. - FRI.

VIC TUCK SHOP

You'll Have a Fit!!

. . . when you wear our trousers.

YES, ENGLISH IMPORTED GABARDINES, FLANNELS, and COVERT CLOTHS are TAILORED AS TROUSERS WITHIN 5 DAYS FOR

ONLY $14.95

at the "five-minutes-from-the-campus"

STAIRWAY SHOP of

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 College st. MI.9010

a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE on the South side

Ask your schoolmates about us!

JUST ARRIVED!

ORIGINAL SPORTS JACKET CLOTHS. Hand-tailored to measure for $37.50. Handstitching throughout.

WATCH FOR

OPUS '49 DANCE

NOVEMBER 17

30th

SMASH YEAR!!

S.P.S. presents

Hart House Theatre, November 17, 18 and 19

SKULENITE

TICKET SALE OPENS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1949

IN MINING BUILDING ONLY

SALES

IV YEAR — Wed., Nov. 9, 8:30-12
(Thurs. & Sat. performances only)
III YEAR — Thurs., Nov. 10, 8:30-12
I & II YEARS — Thurs., Nov. 10, 1-4
ALL YEARS — Fri., Nov. 11, 10-4
Remaining tickets will be put on sale to all Faculties from Mon., Nov. 14 till sold in the Engineering Stores.

PRICES

Thursday (Show Only) 75c per person
Friday & Saturday — Show and Dance — $3 per couple
Friday — Dance Only 9-1, featuring Benny Louis & Jack Evans, $1.50 per couple Saturday — Dance Only, 8-12, featuring Benny Louis & Modernaires, $1.50 per couple

AND FOR YOUR ENTERTAINMENT BOTH NIGHTS . . . .

FRANK PALMER

Direct from the night club circuit

BRING YOUR A.T.L. CARD

Only One Couple's Ticket Per Person

FROLIC AT VIC FOR YOUR I.S.S.!!

A tremendous night of shows, girls, games of opportunity, dancing!

TUESDAY 7 P.M.

FEATURING

— "What's Your Beef?"
— C.B.C.'s Ed McCurdy
— I.S.S. Talent Hunt Finals (All-Varsity)
— Booths of Opportunity (Telephone, etc!)
— Dancing
— Tickets to King Cole Trio
Woody Herman
Casino
Hockey game
Theatres!

"Trip Into Vic and See Your I.S.S"

Movie Review

The Wizard Of Oz

This movie (at Uptown) is being modestly advertised by M.G.M. as a "Masterpiece Reprint." Surprisingly enough, that is just what it is.

In 1939 the Wizards of the Culver City lot got together and came up with one of the few live-actor film fantasies that ever really got off the ground. Naturally, it wowed the kiddies, (including this reviewer). For in addition to Oz. himself, it had a little girl and her dog, surrounded by witches, fairies, a live scarecrow, a tin woodsman, a cowardly lion and an emerald City which were unmistakably the real McCoy. Yet the picture was just as popular with adults. This is, no doubt, because it was not merely lavishly, but cleverly produced by some of the finest talent available.

If you saw "Captains Courageous", "Tortilla Flat", or "Gone With The Wind," you don't have to be told that Victor Fleming is one of Hollywoods best directors. As usual he has made the most of the considerable material at hand.

Technicolor was just the thing for the land "Over the Rainbow," and to emphasize its lovliness by contrast, the scenes at home on a dusty Kansas farm were shot in dull sepia tones. (Incidentally, there are some wonderful shots of an extremely convincing twister.)

A musical fantasy must have an appealing and appropriate score. E. Y. Harburg and H. Arlen provided it with one of their best, including "Over the Rainbow," "Off to See The Wizard," "Merry Old Land of Oz," "Ding, Dong! The Witch Is Dead" and "If I Only Had A Heart."

Armed with a good script, which follows the book just closely enough, a perfect cast turns in a number of charming performances. Judy Garland, though considerably younger, even then was a good actress, and is at her best as Dorothy.

Powerful support comes from Jack Haley as the Tin Man, Ray Bolger—the Scarecrow, Chas. Grapewin—Grampa, Margaret Hamilton—Bad Witch and Bill Burke—Good witch. Outstanding, however, are Bert Lahr as the Cowardly Lino and Frank Morgan as a travelling palm-reader and, later, as half the population of Emerald City, including the "Wizard."

If you missed this movie when you were small, don't miss it now. If you saw it, go back and take a second look. You'll find it's better than ever.

D. Davidson.

• COMING EVENTS •

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP

Please reserve Wednesday, Nov. 16, for the next meeting in Wymilwood at 8 p.m. The speaker will be Dr. J. Stanley Glen, of Knox College, who will choose a subject pertinent to university students.

✣ ✣ ✣

ITALIAN CLUB

The first meeting of the Italian Club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 8, in the Women's Union at 8:15 p.m. Miss A. Campbell will show slides taken during her recent trip to Italy. The officers of the club will be elected at this meeting.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC CCF

"The How and Why of Nationalization" will be the subject of a discussion to be led by Elmer Sopha, IV, UC, at the next meeting of the UC unit of the CCF club, to be held in Room 4, UC, this Wednesday at 1 p.m.

SPACE FILLER

Overheard in the Royal York Hotel during the Western Weekend party last Friday night was this scintillating bit of conversation:

He: "I think the rhinoceros is preposterous, don't you?"

She: "Oh, it's all a matter of taste, I suppose."

NOTICE

PLEASE NOTE CHANGE FROM THE DATES APPEARING IN OUR CURRENT CALENDARS

At Commencement next Spring there will be nine separate Convocation ceremonies according to the following schedule:

LATE MAY — Agriculture and Veterinary Medicine at Guelph

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 6th — Honorary Degrees and Graduate Degrees

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7th — morning and afternoon — Applied Science and Engineering — Architecture

THURSDAY, JUNE 8th — morning: Professional Schools — afternoon: Arts

FRIDAY, JUNE 9th — morning: Arts — afternoon: Arts

LATE JUNE — Medicine

ORGAN RECITAL

by

Frederick Silvester

TODAY

Convocation Hall

5 p.m.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICE

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

SECOND YEAR

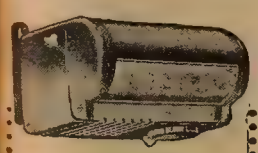
All Second Year male students who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity of a medical check-up, must make an appointment before November 15. Telephone MI. 9644.

Victoria College
VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Tuesday—1:20 p.m. Victoria Chapel
Dr. E. Crossley Hunter
"Does Modern Science Make It Harder Or Easier To Belive In God?"

OPENING MEETING TODAY

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

Speaker: ROSS WOODMAN, M.A.



Subject: "THE GOAL IS WORLD FAITH"

Place: ROOM 64, U.C.

Time: 1 p.m. today All Welcome

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL

MANUFACTURING CO. LTD. TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

Hillel Chats

First Session

"The Jew in the Modern Community"

Tuesday, November 8 — 4-5 p.m.

U.C. — Room 64

Everybody Welcome

1948

"... as good as a Broadway show."
... The Globe and Mail

"... hits just the right note in interesting entertainment."
... The Varsity

U. C. FOLLIES

"Goils and Gargoyles"

HART HOUSE, NOV. 11, 12

1949

- Choreography by Louise Burns.
- Comedy by Mike Hornyanski, Susie Davidson, Anne Burton, Bea Goldberg, Alvin Shaw.
- Ted Follows, of "The Drunkard".
- Doug Stuart, Broadway ballet dancer.
- Sylvia Grant, operatic and musical comedy singer.
- Bill Copeland, lead last year in "Down in the Valley".
- Evan Scott, of "Crime and Punishment".
- 11-piece Professional Orchestra.
- Frank Bogart and his orchestra.

TICKET SALE:
From 10-2 — U.C. Rotunda
Tickets for Fri. show restricted to U.C.—P.H.E. until tomorrow.

...from the family dog to your rich Aunt Harriet

... for any gift at any price, let a Simpson Gift Consultant advise you.

SIXTH FLOOR ... QUEEN-YONGE

SIMPSON'S

U. C. SENIORS

APPOINTMENTS FOR GRADUATION PICTURES MAY BE MADE

In U.C. Rotunda — Tuesday and Wednesday

11 - 2

LA SOCIÉTÉ FRANCAISE DE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE PRÉSENTE

KNOCK DU LE TRIOMPHE DU LA MÉDECINE

De JULES ROMAINS

THEATRE HART HOUSE, — LE 15 NOVEMBRE. BILLETS — U.C., HART HOUSE ENTRÉE .75 — $1.00

Students Served Meals For Dime

Palmerston, Nov. 6.—Local high school students now eat their lunches more cheaply than if they were at home. The basic meal costs 10 cents. A half-pint of milk is only 3 cents.

The new system was inaugurated by Principal E. C. Gray, who announced on opening day that students could have second helpings and all the bread they could eat—free. The rush was so great he had to roll up his sleeves and help dish out the stew.

Displacement of the little toe under or over the next one is usually due to narrow pointed-toed shoes.

In 1814 Holland still had only the 300 miles of highway used for several centuries previous.

GETS RESEARCH REWARD

Cleveland.—One of the country's top research honors went to Fred H. Haggerson, president of Union Carbide and Carbon Corp., New York. The award the 1949 Medal for the Advancement of Research was presented at the annual banquet of the American Society for Metals.

NAMED TO HEALTH UNIT

Cobourg, Nov. 6.—Dr. D. F. Damude has been appointed to the staff of the Northumberland and Durham counties health unit as a public health veterinarian. Dr. Damude holds the diploma in veterinary public health from the University of Toronto.

The shape and quality of oysters are determined by the conditions under which they grow.

A Danish vacuum cleaner which has just appeared on the market is made of plastic and light metal and weighs only 6¾ pounds.

COMING EVENTS

DEBATING UNION

Trials will be held by the University of Toronto Debating Union on Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 1 p.m. in Room 8, University College. The subject for the trials will be "Resolved that Canada should have a Central Government." Speakers are to be chosen for a debate with the University of Western Ontario on Wednesday, Nov. 16.

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

1889 1949

Fifty years ago the horse-drawn dray was the vehicle used to transport freight and heavy merchandise along the streets. Today trucks of all types and sizes move goods along our streets and highways. Speeds and loads have been steadily increased through better engineering and better materials used in truck construction. Strong, tough, shock-resisting Nickel alloys are almost universally used for gears, crankshafts, frames and many other parts.

Nickel Brings Dollars to Canada

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

INCO

CANADIAN NICKEL

FIRST PRODUCED IN CANADA IN 1889

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

THE INTERNATIONAL NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, 25 KING STREET WEST, TORONTO er

WHAT'S ON TODAY

CARNEGIE RECORD MUSICALE
The musicale today in the Mechanical Building at 4:30 p.m. will feature Handel's "Sonata in D," Beethoven's "Violin Concerto," and Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2."

✣ ✣ ✣

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB
There will be a Panel Discussion on the topic "The B.N.A. Act—How It Should Be Amended" at 8 p.m. tonight at Wymilwood. The following faculty members will compose the Panel: Professors V. W. Bladen, R. M. Dawson, W. T. Easterbrook, and B. Laskin. Students in other departments and faculties welcome. Non-members: 15c admission.

✣ ✣ ✣

BAHAI STUDENT GROUP
Ross Woodman, M.A., will speak on "World Unity Through World Faith" at 1 p.m. today in Room 64, University College.

✣ ✣ ✣

LPP FORUM
"Should Marxism be a compulsory subject in the University?" will be the topic discussed at the LPP Forum today at 1 p.m. in Room 11, UC.

Varsity Built

(Continued from Page 1)

winski took the plane into the air first at Oshawa Airport, then skimmed four or five feet above the ground to test the controls. In the second flight, it was towed to two thousand feet by a Tiger Moth and made a free flight of twelve minutes under the control of Mr. Racey.

Because of a ruling that doesn't allow the University to own or operate an aircraft, the plane has been sold to the Toronto Gliding Club.

It was pointed out by Les Racey, that a sailplane is theoretically capable of indefinite flight, whereas a glider is towed into the air, then simply glides back to earth.

The construction of the sailplane gave the fourth year students the unique opportunity of seeing their blueprints resolved into components used in building the plane.

Passes Backfire

(Continued from Page 1)

Lineups

Western — Robinson, Gallow, Stephens, Cork, Strobel, Farley, Burgess, Snelly, Floyd, Philip, McNickol, McDonald, Gossage, McNulty, Porter, Beatty, McPhee, Carrol, McMurdo, Vincent, Jerome, Williams, Black, Sokol.

Varsity—Sutherland, Murray, Hamew, Alley, Dowsett, Noonan, Hyde, Shay, Howard, Whitehead, Russel, Gawinski, Roe, Kelczor, Green, Birkenshaw, Bell, Howson, McGaghgerty, Hansen, Leeming, Haig, Bazos, J. Hansen.

Overheard at the football game "My goodness but those cheerleaders must be cold I wonder if they would like some of this Prestone (Advt.) my friend Louie is imbibing."

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS
Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Students discount. Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

LOST
A.T.L. card (495840 - S.P.S.) at or after Western game Oct. 29, possibly between Stadium and St. George & Harbord. Please notify Harold E. Cook at RA. 8148.

LIFE INSURANCE
Low cost preferred plan, $10,000 for $6.00 a month. For details call HU. 2939.

BUYING MICROSCOPE?
Save $50-80 by buying now. Exceptional offer by a leading supplier. For details phone Fred Granger at RA. 0201 after 6.

FOR RENT
Bathurst-Dupont—Large room, double bed spring mattress, hot water. Phone LL 0423.

TYPING
Expert typing by experienced stenographer. Also duplicating. Pick-up service. HY. 9923.

LOST
Pair man's brown leather gloves, practically new. Blk. R.C.M.P. stamped inside. Cheesman, MT. 7319.

FOR SALE
Officer's khaki serge tunic, 2 pairs trousers, greatcoat, size 36-38, A-1 condition. Will sell at fraction of cost. Phone HY. 7331 after 6 p.m.

TYPIST
Thoroughly experienced—theses, manuscripts, etc. 15c per page. 20-lb. bond, 1 carbon, minor corrections free. HA. 0462.

LOST
Back campus Friday night—dark blue make-up case containing lipstick, etc. Phone Jean—LO. 8677.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE
Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY
Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

FOUND ARTICLES

U.C.
Scarves and Kerchiefs
Gloves
Spectacles and Cases
Fountain Pens
Variety of Text Books
Propelling Pencils
Raincoats

HART HOUSE
Gloves
Scarves
Slide Rules
Raincoats (men's)
Lighters

STADIUM
Motor Rugs
Camera

LIBRARY
Fountain Pens
Gloves

MEDICAL Medical Instruments
Fountain Pens
Scarves
Gloves
Raincoats

ECONOMICS
Fountain Pens
Gloves and Scarves
Raincoat

CONSERVATORY
Gloves
Scarves
Jewellery

GROUNDS Lighter
Jewellery
Change Purses
Spectacles

The above articles have been found in buildings as indicated. Enquiries may be made at the University Police Office, south basement of Simcoe Hall, from 1 p.m. - 2 p.m., Monday through Friday.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	North	4.00	St. M. vs Sr. Med	Barton or Babcock
SOCCER	East	4.00	Trin vs Jr. SPS	Luck, Gibben, R. D. Thompson
	South	4.00	Jr. SPS vs Forestry	Foulkes
LACROSSE		1.00	U.C. I vs Med I	Prendergast, McFadden
		4.00	Vic II vs U.C. III	Ross, Dugan
SWIM LEAGUE		4.30	St. M. vs SPS II	Shepherd
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Med II Yr vs For. B	Dies
		4.00	U.C. IV vs For. A	Edwards

OAKWOOD COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
War Memorial
Unveiling and Dedication
8:00 p.m., 9 November, at the School

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!
GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE
United-DeForest
Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage
Your Nearest Branch
633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

"Tailored to fit like your own"
FORMAL RENTALS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS
Freeman's
256 College St. — KI. 0391
(At Spadina)
556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270
(At Wellesley)

SPEAKING OF SPORT

(Continued from Page 8)

downs. (And please, no letters telling us what a cad and poor loser we are).

Bob Masterson drilled the team in a defence that was guaranteed to stop McGill cold, and it did, too. But Vic Obeck concentrated on breaking up Varsity's pass offence, and succeeded. If Varsity had not fumbled and gave McGill so many intercepted passes, the Blues would have won in a walk; their ground attack was really clicking. Oh, well, such is life, and the Blues will still win the championship . . . . they've got a good team. They'll win, that is, if Western beats McGill next week.

✣ ✣ ✣

In a little talk with Vic Obeck after the game, we had the McGill Hockshop Association explained to us. It is a strictly aboveboard deal, and has been used in many American colleges; as a matter of fact, Vic told us he made use of the system at his own college in his undergrad days. Vic was disinclined to believe that the University of Toronto or their alumni had never subsidized a player; not only did he disbelieve, but he laughed heartily when we ventured that little comment. More about loans and stuff later . . . . lower left is getting kind of crowded.

Coming Tommorrow: The story of the Varsity-Carlisle Indians (when Jim Thorpe was their star) game.

HOCKEY
U.C. - P.H.E.
All U.C. - P.H.E. men interested in Interfaculty hockey report to Varsity Arena at 1 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 8.
Bring your own sticks and equipment. Check your eligibility at the Intramural Office. Get your Medical.

When It's Time To Eat, It's Time To Refresh

Ice cold Coca-Cola is a natural partner of good things to eat. 5¢
COCA-COLA LTD. — TORONTO

VARSITY at QUEEN'S

NOVEMBER 12th, 1949

Excursion and Ticket Arrangements For Those Following the Team to Kingston

STUDENTS' ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL SPECIAL VARSITY TRAIN

SPECIAL RATE—$5.40 RETURN
Saturday, November 12th
Leaving Toronto, 8.15 a.m. (Daylight Time)
Arriving Kingston, 11.50 a.m. (Daylight Time)
RETURN ON ANY TRAIN EXCEPT 7.47 P.M. (Daylight)

N.B. TICKETS WILL NOT BE VALID RETURNING ON TRAIN 15 LEAVING KINGSTON 6.47 P.M. E.S.T. (7.47 p.m. Daylight)

THE S.A.C. OFFICES WILL SELL COMBINATION TRAIN AND GAME TICKETS ONLY
Please note time of sale . . .
Today 9.15 a.m.
Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House
Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, U.C.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

For those travelling by car priority slips will be issued on Monday morning at the north door of Varsity Arena off the Bloor St. parking lot, and only those showing an exchange slip to the cashier will be able to obtain tickets.

The ticket sale will commence at the Stadium Box Office, Devonshire Place, at 9.00 a.m. on Monday, and exchange slips will be honored in order of issue. Holders of exchange slips must be on hand at the Stadium in their proper order when the sale commences at 9.00 a.m.

Exchange slips issued at north door, Varsity Arena on Monday morning prior to sale.

Sale commences at Stadium Box Office at 9.00 a.m.

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH DAILY MAIL
CIGARETTE TOBACCO

Last Minute Spree Upsets Intemediates

Rugger Blues Win Finals

By ALEC DOUGLAS

Varsity beat McGill soundly, 8-0, to win the intercollegiate championship on Saturday. Wanderers seem to have taught their erstwhile victims a few lessons in the valuable art of winning a game. The kicking of the Varsity team was vastly superior to anything that McGill had to show, but besides this there was consistent spirit and drive in the heavier Toronto team, and very few mistakes. It must have been discouraging for the losing McGillmen to see two extra men in Toronto's threequarter line, while their scrum could make no headway against the blue and white forwards.

Shawn Cameron played a brilliant game, alternating between the scrum and three-quarters as Toronto defended or attacked. Don Glen, who converted a penalty kick and a "try" played a strong running and kicking game. Gaunt, at stand-off half, kept up the strong attack which beat down the McGill defence so that they could not stop the powerful teamwork of the scrum which culminated in a score between the posts by Sam Toy.

Great Eclat Yet!

McGill started off with far too little drive to do anything. Despite John Glen (yes—Don and Bob's brother), who led the scrum with great eclat and set an example of hard playing to the whole red team, the McGill forwards lacked the weight to bring any threat to the Varsity forwards. Only twice did they heel the ball cleanly from the set scrums, and then the McGill backs showed speed and skill. In the last twenty minutes of the second half they seemed to wake up, and hit Toronto like a tornado. There were two penalty kicks which there was no excuse to miss, and they nearly scored two or three times. If their passing had been as good as Varsity's they would have undoubtedly crossed the line.

Passes Backfire; Blues Lose 23-5 To Western Colts

By BRUCE MacDONALD

Ending the game with a fourth quarter explosion that netted three thouchdowns, the Western Colts ran up a 23-5 score to trounce the Intermediate Blue squad in Varsity Stadium last Friday afternoon. The Varsity pass attack, relying on the able pitching arms of Bob Bazos and Al Haig, was the only real ground gainer the Blues had, but when it began to backfire in the final stanza the Colts really had a field day. Two of their touchdowns came after Blue passes were intercepted at mid-field and run to the Varsity 10 yard stripe.

In the second quarter, Bob Bazos put Varstiy in scoring position with his passing and running and then Al Haig tossed one to Rich Howsen who scampered over for the only Blue score of the afternoon. The convert attempt by Jack Birkenshaw was unsuccessful.

The Colt line was a major factor in the Western success. The gaping holes they put in the Varsity defense coupled with poor tackling in the Blue secondary positions allowed fast Western backs to knock repeatedly on Varsity's front door.

Colt Standouts

McMurdo, who completed two touchdown passes, along with Sokol and Black were standouts in the Colt backfield. Cork, always strong on the Western line, played an outstanding game and even managed to score a touchdown when he caught a pass that was juggled by one of his teammates on the Blue goal line.

With a strong wind blowing down the field from the north, the choice of ends made a great difference in the kicking and Western used it to the best advantage. When it came their turn to face the breeze, the Colts made enough yards on the ground to make up for the longer Blue kicks.

Blue Offensive

The Blues threatened only twice in the whole game, once when Western fumbled the opening kickoff and later during the second quarter. The first threat blew up when a Varsity fumble was recovered by the Colts on their own 5 yard line, but the second resulted in the Haig to Howson touchdown combination.

Bazos played his best game of the year offensively, but could not seem to make every tackle a good one. Linemen Doug Shay, Harry Hyde, and Murray Hames turned in good performances for the Blues, while snap Gerry Sutherland was outstanding in defensive play.

Scoring

2nd Quarter—
1. Colt T.D. (Gerome).
2. Varsity T.D. (Howson).

3rd Quarter—
1. Colt rouge (Vincent).

4th Quarter—
1. Colt T.D. (Sokol).
2. Colt convert (Vincent)
3. Colt T.D. (Cork)
4. Colt T.D. (Sokol).
5. Colt convert (Vincent).

(Continued on Page 7)

McGill Redmen Soccerites Drop Close One To Blues

By BILL LEACH

Playing the type of soccer that one can enthuse about, McGill Redmen were a trifle unlucky to be beaten by the Varsity Senior Blues here on Saturday. In a very evenly contested game, Varsity edged their Montreal rivals by a 2-1 score. The feature of the game was the greatly improved play of the McGill team, which was particularly noticeable throughout the first half, at the close of which they held a 1-0 lead.

Injuries In First

The Varsity boys were hampered by injuries for most of the first half, and did not get into their stride until the chips were down, but even then it came as a surprise to see the Redmen beating the Blues man for man in the initial period. Their approach work was admirable, and only a certain hesitancy in the forward-line prevented the half-time score from being more in their favour.

One should never do things by halves, but apparently the Blues were blissfully unaware of this conduct-factor, for their second half display was a complete metamorphosis from that of the first. During the latter part of the game the boot was literally on the other foot, for then it was Varsity who were seen to advantage, whose forwards were so dangerous, and whose efforts were rewarded by two grand goals.

Kadar Scores

The first goal of the game was the climax of a series of McGill attacks on the Varsity defence, when Kadar finally scrambled the ball into the net after a goalmouth skirmish. McGill looked very keen at this point, but their finishes were lamentably weak, and although Hendrickson and Reballedo both missed chances, were unable to add to their score. Soon after the change-over the Varsity forwards, who had been ragged and indecisive in the first period, took over control of the game. The McGill defence held on grimly, and it began to look as if they might even maintain their winning margin, until Barton centred the ball across the goalmouth to Alain Wyler, who neatly headed in the equaliser. Now it was the Blues who had the chances, and soon Barton, who seems to be at his best against the Reds, took a pass from Wyler, slipped it through the middle to Antoni, and the centreman promptly booted home a left-footed drive.

Plaudits To McGill

Evans, despite momentary lapses, played good football for the Blues, and Tom Broadhurst made a creditable debut with the senior squad, but the real plaudits of the game must go to the McGill team, who proved themselves opponents of no small merit, providing us with the most closely-contested game on our own campus for this season.

Buffalos Coming

The next Senior game is against the Buffalo State Teachers College at Buffalo this coming Wednesday. This is a fixture which never fails to arouse comment, as the Teachers play their soccer after the manner of American rugby. That is, they play 24 or 25 men to a team, complete with cheer-leaders, etc., and the actual game is played in four quarters of 22 minutes each, while such novel rules as the charging of the goalkeepers are prevalent. Despite the embarrassing numbers of the opposition, Varsity usually wins this annual game.

Lineup (Varsity): Reed, Moffat, Broadhurst, Wotherspoon, Evans, Thompson, Kuchkuda, Barton, Antoni, Wyler, Allen, Leach, Moffat, L.

St. Mike's Win Fourth Cinch Boxla Group

St. Michaels College A's took their fourth straight lacrosse win to cinch their group in Hart House on Friday as they downed the UC II by an 8-5 margin. Pat Duffy was tops for the mikemen with five counters while Fred Grossi notched two and Al Chadwick added the remainder.

A protest was lodged in the Dents —Skule II game which the dentists won by a 4-2 score. The game was poorly played and exceeding roughness culminated in the injury of a Dents player who received a broken ankle.

VARSITY SPORTS

Forestry Cop Playoff Spot Winning 32-0

By DAVE BUTTERS

Forestry smashed Jr. Meds to the ground in an interfaculty game Friday, and then walked over them to a 32-0 victory. Spearheading the smashing Forestry attack were the arm of Sheldon and the terrific plunging of Austin. These two players together accounted for 24 points of the 32 points scored by the Forestry team.

Forestry took the Meds kick-off and ran it to Meds 5 yard line where Austin smashed over for a TD on third down. The touchdown was converted by Sheldon whose kicking ability kept the physicians in their own territory for most of the game. Soon afterward Sheldon passed from Meds 25 yard line to Clarke in the end zone for Forestry's second touchdown which Sheldon converted.

The second half began when Railton was rouged behind the line on Sheldon's kick-off. Again Sheldon's educated toe came into action and booted a drop-kick between the uprights midway in the third quarter. The Forestry line came into action again and combining terrific blocking by the line with the passing arm of Sheldon and Masterson Forestry drove through the rest of the game to earn 11 more points.

The strong Forestry line led by Price, Winters and Devries outplayed the Meds line and formed more than adequate protection for Sheldon and Austin in passing and line plays. Jones and MacGilvray were outstanding for the Meds line while Railton and Wilson played strong games for the losers in the back-field.

Line-ups:—

Meds Jr.—Halves, Wilson, Taylor, R. Mackenzie; quarter, Colwell; flying wing, Railton; ends, Jones, Kilty; middles, Moran, McGilvray; insides, Irwin, Armstrong; center, Johnson; alternates: Worling, Aeselsteine, Colopinton, D. MacKenzie, Rundle, MacIntyre, Kerr, Naibery, Hilts, Martin, Pace, Tench.

Forestry—Halves, Masterson, Collict, Austin; quarter, Sheldon; flying wing, Booth; ends, Clarke, Price; middles, Julian, Magnus; insides, Winters, Devries; center, Dowsett; alternates: Vernou, Boatty, Seeley, Hundt, Honeyborne, McKay, Bell.

FRIGID SOCCER DENTS BEATEN BY HOT TRINITY

Trinity 'B' Soccerites Friday outplayed and outscored a half-frozen Dents team. Scoring once in the first half and twice in the last Trinity won 3-0. Scorers were Harry Hill, Doug Orr, Murray Jackson, and

The game was a complete reversal of form to the first round game played between these two teams in which Dents outplayed the Buttery Boys but were defeated on a penalty shot 1-0. Trinity was never in danger during the game.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

One of the guys from a downtown paper covering the Varsity - McGill game came out after the game with what he thought was a deathless quote . . . quote . . . Varsity is down, but not out, unquote. As a matter of fact, Varsity is neither down nor out; as it has so far turned out, Varsity has almost as much chance now of winning the championship as they did on Saturday morning. All that has to happen come next week-end is for Western to beat McGill and for Varsity to beat Queen's. We will then be faced with a playoff schedule lasting well into Christmas exams.

However, and be that as it may, the game showed one thing—we've got a good coach in Bob Masterson. The Blues came up with a defensive formation that had the Redmen buffaloed all the way, and their ground attack piled up the yardage. In the first half McGill's longest ground gain (outside of their first touchdown) was seven yards, and if you remember, at Montreal the Redmen just walked all over the Blues' ground defence. If we might be so bold as to comment in this unsportsmanlike fashion, we think McGill was extremely lucky not to be beaten by two touch-

(Continued on Page 7)

on the sideline

By JOAN HUME

Field Hockey.

The two Varsity Field Hockey teams carried their colours high during the week-end with the all Varsity team holding the Havergal girls to a blanket score while the PHE II team downed the McMaster players by a 3-0 count.

It was the second time that the Varsity team had tied their game, the first was a 1-1 encounter with McMaster, and as before much of the credit for preventing any scoring goes to Marg Martin, the goalie. She was ably supported by Ruth Himpzan, Jessie Marriner and Elizabeth Revel. Elizabeth was particularly quick in intercepting the ball and passing it out to her forwards. Jane Thompson and Jean Saunderson did their best to lead offensives as did Ziara Murray but they were hemmed in on all sides by the well co-ordinated Havergal girls.

The Phys-ed girls downed the McMaster 3-0, winning their first game, having previously lost to Havergal. Although the score belies a one-sided game this was not the case. The McMaster team had top notch forewards, but fell down in the defense department which was certainly the PHE fort.

There will be one more game in Field Hockey scheduled, called for next Friday but the time has not been announced. There are no more practices so the game with the Trinity Boys should be the final touch to a very successful season.

Remember

all the times you felt like winning the game when Joyce and Barb turned out to see you play. That time you clouted the double into right field just because one of your roommates gave you a cheer.

Well this week will see the semi-finals and the finals of the softball scedule. Your support could mean the difference between a win or loss. All the games start at 1:15 so get there early to grab your place.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Cloudy and Warm

VOL. LXIX, NO. 33 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Tuesday, November 8, 1949

Trinity Head Hart House Debate Guest

Provost R. S. K. Seeley of Trinity College is to be honorary visitor at this Wednesday's Hart House debate. He will participate in the debate on the question:

"Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom."

The debate will be held in the Debates Room, Hart House, Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

Affirmative speakers will be G. A. H. Pearson, Trinity, and H. Carter, University College. Opposition speakers will be J. H. G. Morden, Wycliffe, and F. C. Furlong, St. Michael's.

E. W. Sopha will be Speaker of the House. J. Medcof is Clerk of the House.

Nineteen Names On Awards List Of SPS Faculty

Nineteen person were included in the list of awards in the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering which has been approved by the University of Toronto Senate. The complete list follows:

Algoma Ore Properties Admission Scholarships ($800 each): D. F. Sherwin, St. Catherines; W. L. Angus, Toronto. Second Garnet W. McKee, Lachlan Gilchrist, Geophysics Scholarship ($90): R. M. Scarlett, Calgary, Engineering Alumnae Admission Scholarships ($300): D. R. Stevenson, Windsor. Class of 1949 Admission Scholarship ($300): S. Morris, Hamilton. Emmerson Wickett Memorial Scholarship (Admission) ($100): G. R. Jackson, Toronto, Kennecott Copper Corporation Scholarship ($750): R. B. Fahrig, Brandon, Man.

Admission awards announced by the Senate include:

John McCrae Scholarship: M. D. MacKinnon, Guelph. Hugh Innis Strang Memorial ($250): Miss Helen Montgomery, Goderich. Douglas M. Burgess Memorial Scholarship ($150): R. L. Hooper, Port Credit. Robert Bruce Scholarship ($100): G. S. Cohen, Toronto. Ontario Hockey Association War Memorial Scholarship ($200): K. T. Jenkins, Hamilton.

Ontario Minnesota Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd. Bursary ($500): A. W. Gnyp, Kenora. Students Administrative Council Scholarship ($300): S. L. Stocco, Timmins.

In the Ontario College of Education the Lau a L. Ockley Scholarship in Home Economics ($100) has been awarded to Miss L. J. Webb, Toronto.

Other awards granted include:

Sir Edmund Walker Scholarship ($150): H. P. Brent, Toronto; J. A. S. Evans, Hespler. John Macara (Barrister of Goderich) Scholarship ($400.) R. D. Russel, Toronto and O. A. Chistoff, Toronto jointly.

ISS Seminar Interlude

Time out for relaxation at the ISS Seminar in Utrecht, Holland, last summer finds three of the Canadian members comparing notes on the progress of the discussions. The three are (l. to r.): Professor L. E. M. Lynch, assistant professor of philosophy, St. Mike's, professor J. A. Corry of the Queen's University political economy department, and Ed Eberle, one of the University of Toronto student delegates.

Remembrance Day Concert To Replace UC Records

Members of the Faculty of Music will present a Memorial Concert in the Women's Union Theatre next Friday from 4-6 p.m. "Art Lewis, Chairman of the Record Committee, has announced that this concert will take the place of the regular U.C. Record Hour that day.

The concert will be in the form of vocal, instrumental and ensemble music programmed by Jack Watson, III Music. All university students are invited ... no admission fee will be charged.

Included in the program will be: Margo MacKinnon, mezzo-soprano, singing Bach's "Be Thou With Me" and Nipper Benson singing four art songs accompanied by an instrumental quartet — "Nymphs and Shepherds", "The Trees They Grow So High", "When Jesus Christ Was Four Years Dead" and "When Love Is Kind".

The modern school of piano music will be represented by Ken Strathdee, Graham Jackson and Frank Churchley who will play "Waltz in E Major" (Moszkowski), "Prelude in G Minor" (Rachmaninoff) and "March Wind", respectively. A trumpet trio, a quartet, and violin solo will also be on the program. Joy Alexander, soprano, will sing three Schumann songs and three Schubert songs.

Jack Watson and T. L. Roy will sing two baritone groups and Deltra Eamon, lyric-coloratura, will sing "Leise, Leise, fronne Weise" from Von Weber's Die Treichutz.

Over 300 Girls For ISS Tagging Aim At $7,000

Today is Tag Day for the international Student Service. Don Scroggie, Chairman of the ISS Campaign said late last night. "Over 300 girls will be out to ask for your donations to the current campaign for $7,000." he said.

Tagging will continue all day. "This is our big drive for funds, and we hope that the students will respond generously," Scroggie said. The ISS funds will go to run the ISS activities during the coming year. Among these is the plan for bringing displaced persons to study in Canada, and a relief program for foreign university students which ISS has conducted since the war.

Also on today's agenda is The Semi-Final judging in the ISS talent hunt to be held in Hart House Theatre at noon. Fourteen contestants from many faculties and colleges will appear before judges

(Continued from Page 7)

Co-op House Living Better Than Frat, Debaters Agree

"Living in a Co-Operative Residence is more beneficial to a student while at University than living in a Fraternity." This was the motion upheld at a debate at an educational meeting of the Campus Co-Operative Residence, Inc. held in Rochdale House, Thursday evening. Glen Eyford, Grad Engineer, and Paul Rondea, III Dents from Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity opposed the motion. Bernard Warren, IV SPS, and Edward Campana, II Pharmacy made up the winning team, while the speaker was Fred Furlong, St. Mike's, Vice-Chairman of the University of Toronto Debating Union.

Charges Fly

The affirmative charged the fraternities with being dependent on outside groups, such as alumni, and fostering upon members a sense of dependence. Charges of loose moral standards and social discrimination were also made. They pointed out also that the cost of living in a fraternity was twice the cost of living in the co-op.

The fraternity members charged the co-op with a base materialistic attitude, claiming such a philosophy to be dangerous to the individual. The opposition answered the affirmative charges and stated that the basis for most of them was a lack of understanding of fraternity principles. They stressed their beneficial alumni affiliations, social intercourse with sororities, and their spirit of brotherhood based on Christian principles.

The debate was sponsored by the kagawa group of the Co-op education program and Kay Smith was in charge of arrangements. Gretta Wong, a Co-Op Alumna and Dennis Morphy, a Phi Kappa Pi Alumnus assisted the speaker as judges.

The opposition team, the speaker and judges were the guests of the Co-Op at dinner while other members of Phi Kappa Pi were present for the debate and spoke from the floor against the motion.

DVA Starts Docking Vet's Pay Cheques For Missed Lectures

A stricter policy on the part of DVA officials towards student veterans is indicated by the disclosure last night that DVA cheques have been issued to students with amounts deducted for all lectures missed.

Cheques Docked

The back of each cheque bears the statement: "In endorsing this cheque I hereby certify that I have been in regular attendance in my course of training for the period indicated."

This statement has apparently been the means by which certain students in some of the smaller faculties have been docked in their allowances.

A student in Music, III, said last night, "The last pay cheque I received was for the full amount. But I had to sign a statement that I would accept a reduction on the next one for a few days I missed at the beginning of the term."

Lecturers in the smaller faculties have been checking attendance of each student in their classes. Another student from the Faculty of Music said, "Apparently DVA has requested from the staff a list of those students who have missed lectures and is basing its pay reductions on this information."

Loses Pay For 5 or 6 Days

One student said he had missed "5 or 6 days" at the beginning of the term. "I did not have a room at the time so I had to take a hotel room for myself and my wife," he said, "I advertised in the papers for a room and had to stay in the hotel to answer phone calls. I explained this to the Registrar of the faculty but DVA still required me to sign the statement accepting a pay reduction in the next cheque."

The large enrollment in Arts and Science faculties prevents any attendance check. Most of the students felt the pay reduction was justified but they complained that unless the reduction applied to stu-

(Continued on Page 7)

Asiatic Rebirth Of World Import — Pandit Nehru

Berkley, Cal. — (Exchange) — "A change of world importance has come over the international scene — the renaissance of Asia. It is perhaps the most outstanding fact of this and the next generation." With these words Pandit Jarawaharlal Nehru, prime minister of India, keynoted his address before the students of the University of California.

"Just as the United States has windows overlooking the east and west, India has many windows looking out on the Asiatic continent," he continued. Later in the address he said "We speak of peace and prepare for war," in this age of paradox. We move from one expedient to another, never quite catching up . . . I am convinced that any policy or ideology which ignores truth and human feeling can lead only to a bad result. If we seek peace, we must labor for peace, not war."

SORRENTO SINGER UC FOLLIES REP IN ISS CONTEST

Bill Copeland will represent University College at the semi-finals of the I.S.S. talent hunt tomorrow at Hart House. He was first prize winner when the I.S.S. and U.C. Lit. Society presented their Talent Quest in the Junior Common Room in U.C. yesterday. Sylvia Grant was judged second.

Pearl Parnes as M.C. presented a variety of other talent during the U.C. Talent Quest. June Rowett of the Red Mill cast, accompanied by Vickie Sherr, sang an aria from "Romeo and Juliet." Maika Goldenberg accompanied himself on the piano when contributing the traditional Hebrew song "Eli, Eli."

First place was taken by Bill Copeland of the U.C. Follies with his "Come Back to Sorrento." Sylvia Grant, second place winner, gave her rendition of the Sequidilla from Carmen. Joyce Kramer completed the sequence of singers with her presentation of "Summertime."

Frank Churchley played the prelude in G Minor by Rachmaninoff. Ron Bailey monologued, in appropriate costume, the sad plight of Mrs. Murgatroyd and her first encounter with cocktails in a bar alone to celebrate her "twenty-fifth wedding anniversary" with a supposedly ungrateful husband.

Newman Club Delegates Hold Annual Convention

Kingston — (CUP) — Delegates from across Canada and the United States arrived at Kingston last week to attend the Canadian National Convention of the Federation of Newman Clubs being held at Queen's University. The visitors, more than one hundred strong, were received by Queen's Newman prexy, Bern Henheffer, and reception chairman Dick Machlem. Following the planning of the 1950 Newman Club programs the delegates were entertained at a banquet and dance.

VARSITY NEWS STAFF MEETING

Will the following people who signed up as news writers for The Varsity attend a meeting to be held at one o'clock today, Room 11, University College:?

Jane Abbott, Margaret Allen, Bob Armstrong, Bob Ashforth, Arthur Balfour, Barbara Bambridge, Gerald Bedard, Sam Baltman, Claire Bacchus, Yvonne Bateman, Anne Berkovits, Louise Biely, Marilyn Black, Jim Braden, Hal Brown, Valerie Brown, Olga Bruchovsky, Audrey Burke, Francis Bussell, Joan Candee, Pat Ciglen, Verna Chandler, Jon Christensen, Elaine Cohen, Phyllis Cornett, Ral Direnfeld, Gwen Dudley, Lell Eberle, Viola Evans, Christa Erdel, Pat Ewing, Harriet Ezra, Willa Feeke, Grace Foy, Aileen Fritz, Pat Goeters, Caroline Gratton, Edith Greenberg, Norm Gulko, Merrie Glazeman, Tobe Herlick, Barbara Harris, Paul Higgins, Al Hoad, Sally Hogg, Dede Hyde.

Prue Jarvis, Shirley Johnston, Joan Kelday, Ken Landry, Joan Langlois, Pat Marlow, Marilyn Malcolm, Mary Martin, Anita Mendel, Clark Miles, Mitzi Moffat, Barbara Murphy, Betty Murphy, Helen McCauley, Katherine McDermott, Donna McDougall, Carol McKinnon, Adlith McLaren, Bob McLaughlin, Harold Nelson, Mildred Newman, Norma O'Dell, Ted Pim, John Pinderton, Tom Pope, Dolores Robinson, Marlene Rosner, Bruce Rogers, Ruth Roseman, Sidney Rosen, Sylvia Ross, Russell Christie.

Norma Shankman, Jo Shone, Mary Skeans, Pauline Smith, Thurston Smith, Leonore Steiner, Ellen Stevenson, Walt Stewart, Terry Stott, Caroline Straham, Marion Swann, Ian Vorres, Ev Walker, Ben Weinstein, Carol Whitefield, Henry Wilkins, Mike Wright, Colin Murray, Jim Armour, Miriam Kelley, Ann White, Ralph Wintrop.

This meeting is extremely important, so make it a point to attend if at all humanly possible.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moriteugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
Acting CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Art Payne
ASSISTANTS: Mary Ann Wheeler, Cathy McDermott

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1949

All Is Not Quite Right...

Something is wrong at the University of Toronto.

We've talked about it before, quite a number of times. We called it student apathy and disinterest. But it has always been difficult to define, difficult to lay your finger on, a hazy feeling we had after attending meetings at which there was a low level of interest, or writing columns which nobody gave a damn about.

And now we have had a new symptom pointed out to us. The cancer is growing, slowly and insidiously, and is threatening to cripple, if not destroy, some of those features of university extra-curricular life which we feel are important.

It is particularly concerned with Hart House, and with those activities carried on there which might be described as "cultural". The attendance to debates, whose topics are never frivolous nor unimportant to the thinking university student, is down—drastically. A large part of the Music program of the House has been discontinued. And the Art groups and The Library Evenings (there were 25 people at the last one) are not being supported.

It would be quite easy to lay the blame for these conditions on the Hart House authorities if quality of the Hart House program were down. It would be understandable if there had been a large drop in the registration of the University. It would be easy to point and say: "This is the reason and that is the reason" if the level of interest in similar activities were up at other points on the campus.

But the Hart House program isn't a poor one in any way; University registration remains at a high level; and interest is down all over the campus. Last week 24 students voted in a U.C. Parliament debate which condemned American government policy toward Tito.

The trouble lies elsewhere. And unless we are very careful we may lose some of the outstanding advantages we have here at The University of Toronto. We may not be able to have speakers whose important positions in the life of our country make them valued guests at our debates and meetings. We may not be able to get outstanding artists to appear at concerts without paying them prohibitive fees. We may lose the opportunity to have the best Canadian minds help us in our thinking because we really aren't interested in thinking anyway.

We are trying to discover some of the reasons for this decline of student interest in those activities of this university which give students an opportunity to develop their thinking and their appreciation of the problems and culture of our nation and our heritage. The problems are large and pressing. The culture is a wide and interesting one.

This Wednesday night the Hart House debate will be on the apparent loss of academic freedom in the university. Provost Seeley, of Trinity College, will be the Honored Guest, and will give one of the few positive declarations of opinion made on this matter by a head of a university in this country of which we have knowledge.

It would be nice to think in November, 1949, that God was in His heaven and all was right with the world.

All is not quite right. We will never be able to do something about it unless we take an active, intelligent and continuing interest in our problems when the opportunity is presented to us.

It is never greater than when we are undergraduates. The time to do something is now.

Igor In Free Enterprise

Dear Editor,

I need your help again.

It's all about my old friend Igor Beaver, Espionage Agent (new and second hand state secrets a specialty, also secret football plays and uranium wholesale and retail).

I ran into Igor Saturday at Varsity Stadium. His black beard bristling in the breeze, a wiener in one hand and a bottle of vodka in the other, Igor sat chanting "James McGillovitch" in his deep Cossack baritone. Igor's loyalties are basically with the Blues, but as a good comrade, he welcomed the chance to cheer for the Big Red Machine.

Standing there shivering in my coat which is as thin as a Skuleman's excuse for an overdue assignment, I decided a swig of vodka would hit the spot, so I walked over to Igor. After I had placed a shot of the 180-proof from the Volga where it would do most good, Igor asked me a question.

"Themistocles, old Tovarovitch," he said, tossing a rock at the referee who had just called a bourgeois-capitalistic 15-yard penalty against his team, "as I came in the gate a shady-looking character tried to offer me a $1 ticket for $4. What is this? According to the party line, inflation in Canada isn't due to go that far until next March 21. Please to explain."

I then told Igor about the quaint plutocratic custom known as ticket-scalping.

"Hm!" sai dhe, "Is happening the

(Continued on Page 7)

NOTICE

It is important for American veterans to know that receipted bills submitted in support of a claim for reimbursement in VA Form 7-1964 must fully identify the following:

a. Items purchased and their prices

b. Vendor and vendee-veteran

c. Date of the transaction

d. Vendor's acknowledgment of receipt of payment

NOTICE

Certificates of attendance in connection with the payment of the first instalment of University of Toronto Scholarships

(not including College Scholarships)

may be obtained at the Registrar's Office, Simcoe Hall

U. C. SENIORS

Biography Cards may be picked up in the Registrar's Office or in the Lit. Office — and MUST be turned in at either of these places by NOV. 15.

Photo appointments are being made today and tomorrow (if there are times left) in the Rotunda from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

THE TRANSCENDENTAL PHILOSOPHY of the Diamond Sutra
An Introduction to Buddist Idealism
8 p.m., Tuesday, November 8
ALL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ARE WELCOME
TORONTO Buddhist CHURCH
134 HURON ST. WA. 5265
Services 11 a.m. Sunday

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

CAMERA CLUB

The bi-monthly series of noon-hour movies will begin on Wednesday, 9th November, at 1:15 p.m. in the Club Rooms. All members of the club are invited to attend.

LEE ROOM

Mr. Russell Harper will be in attendance in the Lee Room on Wednesday, 9th November, between 5.15 and 6 p.m. and will give a talk on the Lee Collection. All interested members are invited to attend.

DEBATE — 9th NOVEMBER

The second Hart House Debate will take place on Wednesday, 9th November in the Debates Room at 8.00 p.m. when the Honorary visitor will be The Rev. R. S. K. Seeley, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Provost, Trinity College. The following Resolution will be debated: "Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom." All members are cordially invited.

GLEE CLUB

The regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held in the Music Room at 5.00 p.m. today.

LIBRARY RECORD HOUR

The Library Committee is presenting a record hour at 1.30 p.m. today when excerpts from Julius Caesar, readings by T. S. Eliot, and "I Can Hear it Now" will be included in the programme.

ART CLASS

The art class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

ARCHERY

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 tonight.

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, November 8, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

World Unity Possible Now Baha'i Claims

"Mankind now has in its possession the raw materials for a world civilization," Ross Woodman, University College, teaching fellow in Arts, told a student body at the first public meeting of the Baha'i Student Group yesterday. "What it lacks is the recipe for combining those raw materials into a dynamic, coherent and organic whole.

"In the past, great civilizations have found their centre of cohesion in some form of moral code springing from a religious impulse," he continued. "But today religion, far from being the basis of unity, is a fundamental cause of disunity."

The speaker cited the divisions within the Christian faith between the Christian and Jew, Jew and Moslem, and Moslem and Hindu.

"The Baha'i World Faith," Mr. Woodman went on, "asserts that religion is relative, not absolute, progressive, not final. The evolution of man from the family group to tribal society, to city state, nation state and now to the world state has been given direction through the advent in different ages of prophets of God." The speaker cited Abraham, Moses, Christ and Mohammed.

"Each one of these teachers," he went on, "raised humanity to a new level of social consciousness and provided the centre for a new civilization. Today, however, we are living in the midst of the disintegration of these great civilizations. What is needed is a new resurgence of prophetic power to provide the necessary cohesive force for a world civilization."

The speaker concluded by stating that the Baha'is believe such an event has taken place with the coming of Baha'u'clah who declared his prophetic mission in the mid-nineteenth century.

Baha'u'clah, the Baha'is believe, has fulfilled the promises of the Hebrew prophets through the coming of the era of world unity in which all men will be united as citizens of one world and members of one world faith.

$10,000 Grant Received By ISS For 1950 Seminar

A grant of $10,000 has been received from the Canadian Council for Reconstruction Through UNESCO to help the International Student Service hold next summer's European Seminar, Dr. Marcus Long said yesterday.

The grant enables ISS to go ahead with definite plans for next year's meet. Several other offers of outside help have also been made, a spokesman said. Discussion of next year's location and plans for the seminar will be made at the ISS Conference to be held in Montreal next week-end.

Girls, Girls, Girls

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

These gorgeous gals are an enticing example of the entertainment offered at the U.C. Follies Friday and Saturday nights. Performing in the three shows nightly will be the luscious lassies pictured above. Front row—Barb Bainard, Joan Carin, Ann Carew; back row—Joan Ellis, Mary Anne Chisholm, and Gilda Newman. Follies executives say tickets are available at the Hart House box office for all shows.

Senate Announce Awards Granted Graduate Students

The University of Toronto Senate approved awards for 33 persons in the School of Graduate Studies in a list released yesterday. The complete list follows:

R. V. Lesueur fellowship in Romance Languages ($500 and tuition fee): Sara Elizabeth Harrison, of Moncton, N.B. Reuben Wells Leonard fellowships ($500 each): English, John Scott Baxter, Vancouver, and John Howard Stevens, Toronto; Philosophy, Walter Baillie Carter, Toronto; Psychology, Charles F. Preston, Willowdale; History, Frank A. Walker, Blenheim.

Sir Joseph Flavelle fellowships: Philosophy, Amina El-Baroudi, Etobicoke ($750); Psychology, Ruth Vera Dettmer, Kitchener ($500); Mathematics, Paul Leo Butzer, Montreal ($250). George Sidney Brett Memorial fellowship ($500): Political Economy, John Edward Baxter, Ellerslie, P.E.I. Alexander Mackenzie Research fellowships ($500 each): Political Economy, Brian Austin Barton, Altrincham, Eng; History, Allan Reaman Turner, Braddock, Sask.

George Paxton Young Memorial fellowship in Philosophy ($300 plus tuition): Amos Robert Rogers, Berry Mills, N.B. T. A. Russell Research fellowship ($1,000): William Charles Winegard, Caledonia. Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Ltd. fellowship ($1,000): Robert Harry Stover, Highgate.

Dow Chemicals of Canada fellowship ($1,500): Ralph Nelson Wensley, Ajax. Ramsay Wright scholarship ($600 plus tuition): Miss M. L. Narayan Rao, Bombay, India.

C.I.L. fellowship in Chemistry ($1,000): Donald Arthur Smith, New Westminster, B.C. Shell Oil Company Research fellowship ($750 plus fees): William Shelson, Toronto. E. F. Burton fellowship in Physics ($1,000): Arthur C. Lauriston, Chatham. Inco scholarship ($500): Edgar George Pye, Toronto.

H. W. Price Research fellowship in Electrical Engineering ($900): L. A. Borth, Kitchener. J. B. Tyrell fellowship in Economic Geology ($500): Leo Gerard Phelan, Toronto. James William Woods fellowship ($500): Political Economy, John Kenneth Carson, Orangeville. Kresge fellowship ($1,200): Political Economy, Robert Wyatt Keyes, Toronto.

Wallberg Research fellowships ($1,500 each): Albert Hanson, Calgary, and Albin Iver Johnson, Toronto. Garnet W. McKee scholarship ($800): Boris Peter Stoicheff, Toronto. Garnet W. McKee-Lachlan Gilchrist scholarship ($800): Frank William Charles Boswell, Hamilton. Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co. Ltd. fellowship ($750): Donald Barrett Mutton, New Tor-

(Continued on Page 6)

'Political' Supreme Court To Interpret Constitution Advocated For Canada

A suggestion that Canada should develop a kind of "political" supreme court similar to the Supreme Court of the United States caused the most controversy at the Political Science Club—sponsored panel discussion held last night in Wymilwood, on the topic, "The British North America Act —How It Should Be Amended."

Laskin Panel Member

Prof. B. Laskin of the University of Toronto School of Law put forward the idea while speaking as a member of the panel which included Professors R. M. Dawson, V. W. Bladen and W. T. Easterbrook, all of the Department of Political Science and Economics.

"Courts are merely another agency of government," Prof. Laskin said. He said courts in a federal state like Canada "have a duty to put new meanings into old words." This was necessary because the problem of the distribution of powers between the provincial and federal governments could not be well handled by legislative amendment.

"Once you started a process of legislative amendment, it would become a political football," he said.

He emphasized that the Supreme Court would give new interpretations to the constitution in response to long-term changes in circumstances and popular opinion, but it would not become the tool of the party in power.

Ridicules Theory

Prof. Dawson ridiculed the "Compact Theory" in regard to the BNA Act, whose supporters believe Canadian Confederation was set up by a "compact" of the provinces and therefore cannot be amended except with provincial consent.

He said only politicians support this theory but that there is need to protect the provinces from encroachment on such fields as education and the retaining of the English and French languages.

Prof. Easterbrook said the main economic implication of the proposal to change the method of amending the BNA Act is the question of how the national income should be distributed among the provinces. Any plan of distributing the wealth would be blocked by the large provinces unless there were more centralization of political power.

Tuck Co-op Will Refund 10 Per Cent

St. Michael's College Co-operative will pay a patronage refund of 10 per cent on all business done last year, President Bud Brennan announced at the annual meeting Sunday evening. The refund will be paid in cash to all members who have full loans in the Co-op, and payment will be deferred of all those who have partial loans.

Members of the Co-op were asked to turn in their receipts so that the Co-op could pay the refund.

Marg. Kearns and Bill Broadhurst were elected to the Board of Directors during the evening.

Howard Harris, auditor for the United Co-operatives of Ontario, who explained and commented on the balance sheet and audit report he had made up for the St. Michael's Co-op, said that after watching the organization for the past three years, he was very pleased with the solid financial condition of this student endeavour.

Bud Brennan, in his business report to the members, told of the purchase of new furniture and the pay raises that the Board of Directors had authorized early this Fall.

He also announced that for all members of the Co-op who are interested in learning more about their Co-op, or of the Co-ops in general, there will be a meeting of the Education Committee next Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Lower Lecture Hall at St. Joseph's College.

Two Radio Shows, Stands, Dancing, At Vic Fun Fair

Victoria College presents its gigantic ISS Frolic tonight, reminiscent of last year's Feather Fair. At the Frolic, which begins at 7 p.m., the door prizes will be tickets to the Casino, tickets to hear Woody Herman and the King Cole Trio in Mutual Street Arena on Wednesday night, and theatre tickets.

Included in the entertainment will be dancing in Alumni Hall and booths run by the residence girls. Two radio shows will take place during the evening. Featured will be "What's Your Beef?" and folk-singer Ed McCurdy, the Burl Ives of the CBC.

Included in the booths will be penny toss, fortune-telling, a beauty salon, flower girls, a telegram delivery service and refreshment stands.

Aids To Living

Cokes Come Sterilized Now!

By HERB WOOD

Did you know that "sterilamp is on guard for your health twenty-four hours a day.? If you don't think so just take a run down to Hart House some of these nights and peek in the window of the lunch room. See that eerie blue light flickering in the corner — that's it.

This big red icebox that the Coca Cola people have so generously installed is one of the boons of this dread old world. Not only will this device give you a cold drink sterilized by "sterilamp", it will give you change for a quarter with a nickel taken out in trade. And another thing, there's a mirror strategically placed so you can observe your own reaction as you quaff a cup.

Checks Teeth

One patron of this icebox was seen to saunter up and call a drink then happen to take a look at himself. Well my goodness you never saw such a change in a man.

Coughing up his last gulp and using that well-known double take, this chapple went through the movements of his male movie counterpart on noticing a beautiful girl pass.

He was seen to pass his hand appraisingly over his chin, tilt his head to the right, then to the left, then lean forward to make a closer examination of his teeth. Opening his mouth a little farther, he poked a finger in and did a careful investigation of the upper and lower teeth.

Gets Stage Fright

But the climax came when he stuck out his tongue and said "Ah . . ." Now by this time quite a crowd had collected behind this chapple. They had, in their deep interest and concentration been subconsciously imitating every movement. So when he said "Ah", they did too.

Caught in the act, as it were, our friend became completely stage struck and was last seen hurrying out the door . . .

Coke People Use Psychology

Far be it from the Coca Cola people to develop feelings of inferiority in their patrons, rather, it is a simple case of trying to be helpful. Now you must agree that this is a darn good idea and precisely what every good citizen should practice.

So instead of having your friends tell you to go and have a shave or go blow your nose — take a squint yourself in the mirror, and save the embarrassment.

We don't like to point it out at this point, but here is where the Coke people use psychology. They can see you will feel obliged for the information regarding the state of your appearance. What would be more natural and gentlemanly than to show your gratitude?

To assist you in squaring yourself, the machine will gladly change your quarter or dime. In addition the nickels with which the machine pays off are handy when it comes to making a phone call.

New Trend In Social Lie

Aside from the unfortunate experience that one chapple had with the red dispenser, we feel the introduction of this machine opens up a new trend in University social life. In the same way as the barbershop quartet was part and parcel of the horse and buggy days, the automat washer stations, the meeting place of the hen-pecked husband, so our red ice box will come into its own.

With the addition of a foot rail around the machine, the boys could hitch one foot on it and buy round after round and still be able to go home instead of having dinner with a good friend.

In summing the whole case up, one coke patron remarked that it beat the coffee queue and besides it was good to the last drop.

Forestry To Adopt New Yell

The Forestry student who submits the best school yell will be awarded a prize of $5, President E. K. Dreyer announced at a recent meeting of the Forestry Club.

"The only yell at present available seems hardly suitable to the campus," said Mr. Dreyer.

Women's Page

Finds Many Opinions On "Perfect Woman"

By ROCKY MARTINO

What is "The Perfect Woman?" Does such a creature exist? Is she merely the brainchild of a professor as J. Arthur Rank would have us believe, or is she made of flesh and blood? I decided to try my hand at finding the answer to this perplexing problem.

I asked Bob Dnieper what his opinion was. Bob, who wrote a story last week on "How To Trap A Man," told me she really existed. The Perfect Woman "makes her boy friend feel he is the perfect man. She always treats him about 10% better than he treats her. Naturally she must have certain essential ingredients: money, a car; and she must serve free-flowing champagne and turkey when she asks me in for a 'bite' to eat." When I asked him if he had any results from having his 'phone number in last week, he lit a cigarette, threw the match away, smiled, and said: "The darn thing rang from noon till midnight but I didn't mind."

Mulling over his answer I decided to go to a lecture. After an hour on the curves of Differential Geometry, I asked Doug Hall (M&P III) what his opinion was. "There ain't no such equation." Stan Gural grinned and said: "The only approach to a perfect woman is the 'Queen' in Chess."

"But Given A Tongue"

Babel Beeman (exchange student from Smith College who takes classes with us) entered the conversation with: "I don't know about any perfect woman but I've often heard it said, 'Woman was created beautiful but given a tongue.'" —

Upon Stan's insistence, I went off for a game of Chess. While in this room I continued my queries. I got a lot of stares, laughs, and more statements about the "Queen." Paul Greenan (Eng.&Bus. I) finally broke down with his version of the perfect woman: "She has to be nice looking. Her character must be staunch and her personality interesting and vivacious. Most important of all, she must be a good cook."

Said Stan Liebra of Pre-Meds. I: "The Perfect Woman must have charm, poise, dignity and beauty. She should be neat and must not be boisterous. She must be a good dancer and, above everything else, a good cook and housekeeper."

"Every Woman Perfect"

At this point I began to worry. I had asked numerous people and none as yet had given an opinion which closely resembled my own. I decided to keep trying, hoping against hope that I was not alone in my characterization of "The Perfect Woman."

During a "Theory of Potential" lecture I asked Earl van Clef and Irving McMerrin their opinions. Both had none to offer. Both of them said they considered every woman perfect. Both were from SPS.

At this point it suddenly dawned on me that I asked the wrong people. I should have asked a statistician. Carl Mallwy, IV Act.Sc., said: "After a deep probe into the statistics compiled to date I have no opinion to offer save that she must be a good conversationalist—that is to say, she must be able to put good points forward." —

There was still one avenue of approach. Walter Stewart (Soc&Phil I), the man who went to Annesley Hall. I couldn't get in touch with him directly so I had a mutual

(Continued on Page 5)

One Of The Smith Girls

Not Fed Raw Caribou Meat

By OLGA BRUCHOVSKY

"I'm used to seeing girls attend classes in blue jeans or tartan shorts, not skirts," commented Mabel Beeman on the main differences between Varsity and Smith. Located in Northampton Mass., Smith, is the largest private women's college in the United States, and it carries a student exchange service with the University of Toronto. This year there was only one exchange—between Landon Mackenzie of Trinity and Mabel Beeman of Smith, who is now at Trinity herself.

"Your educational system is different here," she went on to say. "That's why I'm in a course all by myself. What I'm trying to do is to major in mathematics, so I take math with third year M & P, third year engineers and second year M & P.

"Engineers Underfoot"

Did she find much of a change between co-education and a girls' college? "Naturally, there's a change in the appearance of the campus. There are men everywhere. How can you help but notice the engineers underfoot! Of course men are an asset to any college. But, I think that co-education and girls' colleges is an overworked subject." Asked if she prefered Canadian College men to American, she refused to make a general comment. "You can't lump them all together because they're not lumpable. They're all different. It all depends upon the individual."

But, besides men, there's something else that Varsity has, that a girls' college never has. That's football and Pep Rallies. "And I have never seen anything like the bag-pipers. They're — well — just fascinating!"

"But, you can't really compare Smith and Varsity because one is a college, and the other a university. The U. of T. is so much bigger and so much more confusing. At Smith, with the exception of a few, all girls lived in the thirty five or so residence houses. My house Lawrence is a co-operative, which means that we did all the work except cooking."

Toronto Lights Blink

"The residence life here is different in that I find that there's greater emphasis on year feeling. It's more difficult to know girls in other years. The freshies initiations there, by the way, are much milder. And clothes are very informal. I didn't go around in jeans or shorts myself, but lots did."

She finds it very strange to see Toronto lights blinking at her, and still stranger, to see many "little cars." And — oh — the water is HARD.

She decided to apply for exchange because of personal contract with girls from Canada, three of whom were living with her.

"Raw Caribou Meat"

"They told me I might find Canadians more reserved toward strangers than I was used to. In some cases this has proven true, in others, it hasn't. They also told me you were going to feed me raw caribou meat as a sign of friendship."

But, she thinks that Canadians aren't very different from Americans, nor did she expect them to wear "green horns and purple tails." As for Toronto weather, well, she was "greeted by weeks of rain."

She is very pleased about being an exchange student. "It's very good to get outside of your own country, for you can see your own country from the outside and another country from the inside."

Trinity N.B.—She has never had crumpets and tea.

Many Coeds Hitch Hike, Are Luckier Than Boys

Are girls successful as hitch hikers? This question arose some time ago, so we decided to ask some of the co-eds, and a few of the boys their opinions on girl hitch hikers.

The co-eds are entuhsiastic about this business, and go at it with vim, vigour and vitality. Many, including a lot of Fizz Edders, come to school that way in the morning while many others hitch hiked around Canada and Europe during the past summer.

The girls get the rides too, and in fact the boys were forced to admit that they got them easier than the male hitch hikers did.

The boys admitted that given the choice of picking up either a male or a female passenger that they would almost invariably pick the gals, so you co-eds are all set! Some morning when a pair of you are running late for that nine o'clock lecture try thumbing a ride. If you have as much success as we understand that you ought to have, we are willing to bet that you'll soon become an old hand at it.

—N.G.

Distaff Side

by Anne Burton and Margot Murray

If you girls look around the campus objectively from an observer's point of view, you will notice that men are definitely types.

Most girls know about the B.T.O. (alias B.M.O.C. or V.I.P.). But for those who haven't been genned up yet, The Big Time Operator, (alias Big Man on Campus or Very Important Person) is about the most noticeable. He's both efficient and officious. He gets things done—but sister! The way he does them! You can't miss the B.T.O. because he sticks out like a sore thumb in campus life. But who really does the work? It's that little man behind the scenes with a harrassed worried look on his face—and a list as long as Boss B.T.O.'s arm (with, of course, a hearty handshake on the end).

Then there's the "real casual" type. This, like so many players on the McGill team, is an American import. In the '20's he was known as a "smoothie". He's the kind of a man whose mind is an open book—written in Chinese (Greek for those in Chinese Studies). No matter how many times you go out with him you never know what play is coming next—pass, kick, or long run (in the opposite direction).

The dissipated type is another campus character, most commonly seen on Monday mornings. His identifying marks are bloodshot eyes, complete with deep, dark circles, a two-day beard, slept-in clothes, and a "coffee, coffee, my kingdom for a cup of black coffee" look about him. What more need be said?

Another type of college man is hardly a type at all—he is only half a type. If you ask him if he is a man or a mouse, he'll probably squeak back at you. This is the timid person that you see scurrying by (keeping close to the wall and in the shadows) books and briefcase in hand. He's the one whose overcoat always seems too large, and whose head always seems too small. Everybody likes him, and still everybody ignores him—except when necessity arises for a few clues from a good set of notes!

Last but not least is the Life of the Party, the man who is an amateur pianist, tap-dancer, singer, juggler, comedian, and bartender. At parties he is indispensable—or so he keeps telling everybody . . . you could even believe him if you didn't know better—so enough said!

Or is it? Just one more word—we may sound cynical and bitter about men, but who could help but be if they looked at men objectively? Subjectively speaking, of course, we love 'em!

GET TAGGED TO-DAY!

SUPPORT YOUR I. S. S.!

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE

GIVE WHAT YOU CAN

BUT GIVE GENEROUSLY

Remember—I.S.S. is a UNIVERSITY organization

Talent Hunt Semi-Finals
TODAY—1.00
Hart House Theatre

- Finalists to Wayne and Shuster Show
- Admission 10c
- All-Varsity

JUDGES

GISELLE
ROBERT GILL

SUPPORT YOUR I.S.S.

N H L HOCKEY TEAM

TODAY — VARSITY ARENA — 4 P.M.

THE LEAFS

In a Special Blues vs. Whites Game for ISS

Only a Quarter

Have You a Widowed Jacket

All alone—looking for its mate? How's about fixing him up with FLANNEL GRAY or BLUE GABARDINE? (Olive's nice, too). They'll make a grand couple.

Yes, we will tailor-to-your measure the smoothest, smartest-looking slacks that ever sheated your legs for

ONLY $14.95

AND IN 5 DAYS, TOO

You know, more students than ever before are flocking to the friendly, "FIVE-MINUTES-FROM-THE-CAMPUS" STAIRWAY SHOP of . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 College st. MI.9010

a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE on the South side

JUST ARRIVED. ORIGINAL SPORTS JACKET CLOTHS. Hand-tailored-to-measure for $37.50 (reg. $42.50). Handstitching throughout.

ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS

WAYNE AND SHUSTER

THURSDAY NOV. 10

ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS ISS

"EXPORT"

CANADA'S FINEST CIGARETTE

NOV. 17 — 9 - 12:30

Presented by Students' Council
Royal Conservatory of Music

OPUS 49
Dance
at CASA LOMA

TICKETS $2.50

Obtainable from Executive of Students' Council

Men's Fashions

It Takes Freud To Explain

What will the well-dressed young man about campus wear? Most anything, is the answer. You name it, look around for awhile and you'll be sure to find some fellow wearing it. This applies to practically every combination you can think of — from polka-dotted bow ties to orange striped socks.

Until one goes out of his way to inquire about and notice what the boys at U. of T. are wearing, one has a general idea that they all wear tweed jackets and dark pants. What a false impression that is! Even the most cursory search will reveal that for color and originality our college men can't be beat.

What exactly do they wear? Beginning our survey from the ground up, we'll turn first to shoes. A heavy favorite is a sturdy brown oxford type, many having the new thick sole in either leather or crepe rubber. Loafer and moccasins retain their followers but many are turning to the last word in fashion-suede shoes, particularly navy blue ones.

Handmade Socks Popular

There are two opposing camps on the socks question — one giving its assent to conservative blacks or greys and the other vetoing all but brightest patterned creations possible. Whatever their views, they all agree on their love of handmade socks. So girls, if you want to win your way to HIS heart, get out those knitting needles now!

Trousers are usually brown, grey or navy with a few conservative checks or plaids thrown in. The age-old question of suspenders vs. belts seems to have a majority favoring belts at present.

A V-neck sweater over a shirt and tie is always a popular combination and here again the hand knit sweater gets a rousing hand. White shirts rate much higher than colored ones but are rapidly being replaced by flannel shirts. This is where a fellow's artistic talent (or lack of it) shows up. We wonder if even Freud could explain the workings of a mind that wears a wine shirt and a red and yellow sweater or a shirt and a tie of violently opposed plaids. It isn't only birds that wear bright colors to attract the female of the species.

Bing Disapproves Too

When it comes to ties, no two minds seem to agree so to each his own. There are even some, besides Bing Crosby, that disapprove of ties altogether.

In the realm of jackets, masculine-looking tweeds seem to be king. Corduroy jackets, with lots of pockets, are making a strong bid for popularity too. Suits are ideal for dates, but they aren't too common on campus. When choosing a suit, we'll leave the style and the color up to you, fellows, but (and this is a purely personal opinion) don't make a dark pin stripe!

The "86" Not Coeds

According to the ads, 86 out of 100 women prefer a man who wears a hat, but judging by the unpopularity of hats on campus, those 86 women can't be coeds. One of those neutral-colored trench coats seems to be a must for fall and spring wear while an overcoat or warm parka and jacket combination is indispensable during the winter.

Though fancy watch chains or tie clips are generally out a large number of men do wear rings — a signet ring, a class ring or even a wedding band.

Whether you are impeccable in a Varsity blazer and neat navy trousers or impossible in a dirty shirt and unpressed pants, you can still be in style. For what is the well-dressed young man on campus wearing? Fellows, it's entirely up to you!

—L. K.

Many Opinions

(Continued from Page 4)

friend ask his opinion. I later found out that when Walt heard what I wanted, he screamed and at last reports had left the city.

"Silly Question!"

Peter Wade (M&P III), popular photographer - about - Varsity, who has photographed most of the beautiful women on the campus, gave an artist's conception of the Perfect Woman: "What a silly question. It must be obvious!"

I was lost. Nowhere could I get the answer I wanted. There's nothing left for me to do but tell you all myself what I consider to be the perfect woman.

"The Perfect Woman is a co-ed at the University of Toronto." Need I say more?

ARCHERY CLUB

The first meeting of the women's Archery Club will be held Wednesday, November 9 at 4.30 p.m. in the Lillian Massey Gym. The purpose of the meeting is to find out what times those interested can shoot. The club hopes to be able to use the Drill Hall after Christmas in addition to the Margaret Eaton gym on Wednesday afternoons.

HART ACHES

Rx Hart Balm
BY AIMEE LA COUER
The other day I received the following letter at my Hart House office signed 'Co-ed.'

Dear Miss La Coeur:

I would appreciate any advice you could offer me on the following problem which I am referring to you as you are a graduate of the School of Hart Knocks. I sincerely hope you may be able to help me. Herewith is my story.

I came to this university in September because of the recommendation given to it by one, Doctor Dan Q. Pid, a well-known heart specialist, who stated that there was no better place in Canada for me to get a B.A. and further my education than at Hart House. Naturally, on my first day, I proceeded immediately to Hart House with the intention of enrolling in the courses there. But, Miss La Coeur, would you believe such discrimination, I was refused admittance, at a time when numerous other students walked in and out on their own volition.

Thinking that perhaps the porter thought me ill-qualified, I immediately produced my senior matric, my letter of acceptance and A.T.L. card, hoping to hear him murmur "Open, Sesame!" But, no, the door remained closed to the mysteries within. However I resolutely stood in the portal, determined not to be pushed around, and insisting upon my right to see the Registrar.

Even this small request was denied, and I was only allowed to see someone called The Warden. He heartily sympathized with me but regretted he could not in any way help me to obtain a B.A. or further my education in Hart House. Instead, he advised me to enroll in any one of the courses at one of the four Arts colleges on the campus. As a last desperate measure, I produced the references that were given me by Doctor Q. Pid, namely, that I was of sound heart, mind and body. But, the Warden's only comment upon examining these was "I'll escort you personally to the door." Really, I am at a loss to know why the good doctor ever recommended such an institution.

Since that disappointing experience, I have become duly registered at ——. But, I am finding that I am making little progress towards obtaining a B.A. Rumor has it that it takes four years, whereas the doctor made me believe it was only a matter of weeks. Furthermore, my course is quite one sided—that is—purely academic. I was led to understand that it was co-educational. Needless to say, I have searched far and wide for the "co" of my education but still have not found him. In summary, I repeat my problem. How can I get a B.A. in the shortest time possible? Secondly, how can I obtain co-education?—Co-ed. XXX

❖ ❖ ❖

Dear Co-ed XXX—

I am very much afraid that you have been misled by Dr. Dan Q. Pid who is up to his old tricks again. His sense of humor often gets the better of him. What he meant by getting a B.A. in a few weeks at Hart House was (well what can you expect from the old rascal) that the bachelors of the Arts are very numerous in that locale. Naturally what you were after was a degree, not a man, of course, in Hart House. . . .

But, I have given your problem some serious thought. Seeing how you wish to "broaden your co-education" and get a B.A. also, I recommend the following step . . . that you forget all about lectures and solely concentrate on getting a B.A. (not the degree, but the male). Thus, will you not only complete your co-education, but you will also get a B.A. (male) who will someday get a B.A. (degree) so that after you glide down the aisle with him you may truly tell everyone that you got a B.A. Simple, isn't it?

Yours in love,
Aimee La Coeur.

CAMPUS MORAL: What a School of Education Hart House Could Be!

VIC'S CORNER

"Pal", sezs Pik, "you gung be scribe this week". Nah'", I mutters thru' clenched teeth, "I doan wanna be scribe I wanna go wit de boys to the rugby game". "Pal", sezs Pik, "you gung stay here, I gung to the game with the boys". Then he grabs me little hip-flask (the one that me dear old mother gave me on me tenth birthday) and bolts for the door. Snarling viciously (already I have been having a few snorts) I lunges for me old pal Pik. Seizing a nearby 12th cent. battle-axe I makes a swing for the skull of me dear old pal Pik. But already he is slamming and bolting the door and me battle-axe has split in twain me quaint old 18th cent. easy chair. Mumbling incoherently I crawls to me nearby liquor closet (the one that granny gave me), downs a few stiff snorts of absinthe and plans me revenge.

"To be or not to be ... swrat", I sezs to meself. "Yes" I sezs, in truly prudent-like manner I shall inscribe a truly incoherent Vic's Corner. Between gulps of absinthe and puffs of opium I shall let me imagination run free. I shall bring shame to the column of me old pal Pik".

But then I reconsiders. "A pal's a pal for a' that", I always sezs I must swallow me pride I must give with the info to the good people of Vic". Me bloodshot eye scans the teletype placed in the corner of me room. For an hour I am engrossed with all the news that aint fit to print. Then I finds a few printable items.

• • •

I.S.S. Frolic at Vic tonight. The biggest carnival north of the Mardi Gras. Talent (radio shows, yet), music, a midway, women ... need one say more? See you there. I.S.S. merits your support.

"Scarlet and Gold", the Vic revue is doing further casting this week. Notices on the bulletin board. Remember the date of the show, Nov. 18.

The "Dance of Romance" comes Fri., Nov. 25. Four orchestras, a show and plenty of romantic atmosphere. Get a date now with that lovely femme you've been eyeing for the past month. Watch for ticket sales.

Formal or informal for the Vic At-Home (the Dance of Distinction)? Men, let the executive know your opinions. Remember two things: first, the At-Home was formal before the war, second, even Meds and S.P.S. have formal At-Homes. Why not Vic?

• • •

Watch for the bold new Acta, out this week. Strange things are done in the Acta mag by the men who mail for words. Why not add your original touch to the next edition? Editor Horry Green is offering $75 in prizes for literary work and especially wants contributions of photos and art work. Acta office at 80 St. Mary's St. Hours are 1.00 to 3.00, Mon. thru' Fri.

Don't forget Nov. 15, the deadline for Torontonensis Information cards.

• • •

"'Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all". A debatable point? Yep, sure was at one of the Impromptu Debates last week. There are better and funnier topics to come. Join the fun today. Thurs. and Fri., Rooms 14 & 18, from 1:20 to 2:00. Audience welcomed.

Budding Machiavellis, take note. Prof. Adams of Oxford speaks Wed., Room 23, at 1.00 on "Christian Ethics in the Political World". Here may be the answer to all Political Cynicists on the campus.

Keep next Monday evening open for the Vic Debating Parliament. An excellent resolution is before the house: "Resolved that Democracy implies Socialism". Rumour has it that a certain Mr. Joliffe of well-known political views might be at the debate to defend the cause of socialism. Watch for further announcements this week.

This person says that "All My Sons" was an excellent production. If you don't agree just read the reviews. Nary a harsh word!

Pull on your woolies, pin on your colours, get set to root for the game of the year; Vic vs Senior S. P.S. this Fri. The boys only tied U C last week. Maybe they've been seeing too many Varsity-McGill games. Hope it isn't catching, play for Vic.

Our soccer lads are starting to roll. Skule bit the dust and Trinity was forced to another tie last week. Championship spirit seems to be in the air.

Room for everyone in Vic athletics. Four hockey teams are lined up this year. Junior practices this Friday. P.T. credits given automatically.

Twenty minor league basketball teams needed. Sign the team lists on the bulletin board. Form your own team and sign as a group.

Freshmen again; John Coles last week captured the Vic tennis singles championship. Looks like the talent runs in the family.

Here's to yuh! (Ugh! I oughten to drink this awful absinthe stuff).

PIK'S PAL

U.C. Follies
GOILS AND GARGOYLES
Fri., Nov. 11 Sat., Nov. 12

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!
GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE
United-De Forest
Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage
Your Nearest Branch
533½ Spadina (at Harbord)

FRANK BOGART
and His Orchestra will play at
The U.C. Follies Nov. 11 and 12

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

ANY TIME
From 10 to 12
U.C. Follies Tickets
U.C. Rotunda

ISSue No. 5
To-day
- Tag Day
- Hockey Game—Leafs Varsity Arena—4.00
- Talent Hunt, Semi-Finals —Hart House Theatre
- Vic I.S.S. Frolic

To-morrow
- Giant Auction and T-Dance 4.00-6.00—Drill Hall
- Bridge and Dance The Huts—8.00-11.00

and finally
- Wayne and Shuster Show —9.30 McGill Studio —Talent Hunt Finals —Door Prizes

GIVE GENEROUSLY
Support YOUR I.S.S.

FRUSTRATED??
Then meet the girl of your nitemares TONITE 7 p.m. when you
FROLIC AT VIC FOR I.S.S.
Women, Shows, Girls, Games, Gals, Dances

Dancing — VARIETY NIGHT — Refreshments
Thursday, November 10, 8 o'clock at Women's Union
INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS' ORGANIZATION

(ADVERTISEMENT)

Art - Music - Drama

Light Up The Sky

Sam Levene showed again what an actor can do for a play when he dominated the new Moss Hart comedy "Light Up the Sky." The play scored heavily on snappy dialogue that hit the audience like one of Bruce Cummings' passes hitting a receiver. The team of the play includes well known Lynn Bari and Margie Hart, the girl that swivel hipped her way through many a line (chorus that is).

The play itself is the story of an opening night, and the effects of the play within the play on those concerned, the backer, the star, the author, and the director. The first quarter, pardon, act, takes place before the play goes on — everybody filled with optimism. In the second act their play is over, and apparently is a flop, but wait a minute there's a happy ending. In the third stanza a Shriner throws a touchdown past when he unfolds the denoument. The play within the play is really a success.

Light Up the Sky is worth seeing; it has a plot but the dialogue carries it. Its characters are real and contrasting; and Sam Levene as the financial angel turns in a great game.

He is natural and gives the humor in his lines a continuity that makes the audience see him as the genuine article. On stage he is Sidney Black the producer, not Sam Levene the actor. The others in the cast, unfortunately, are actors on a stage. In spots their acting is good, in others, well, they are smeared behind the line of scrimmage.

Lynn Bari as a self-centred star actress does her job but we wondered whether in some places it was her part or herself on the stage. Mary Mace as Lynn Bari's mother gives a good performance and does credit to the snappy humor in her part. Light Up the Sky is good and worth seeing.

Robert Dnieper.

Autumn Crocus

For the 30th anniversary the University Alumni Dramatic Club have dug up C. L. Anthony's "Autumn Crocus." This is a play out of the early '30s when the legitimate stage was content to be small-scale and domestic in its serious moments, before the playwrights of the '40s began to administer their strong medicine to the perennial invalid of the show business.

As respite from too much strong medicine, last night's audience, myself included, found this production pleasant and relaxing. It's a story of "the fleeting romance and one beautiful memory to last us the rest of our dreary lives" variety, and the acting level is generally of a very good calibre. The brief encounter takes place in an inn in the Austrian Alps, and the smitten are a travelling school marm (Elizabeth Mascall) from Manchester and the inn keeper (Douglas Ney). Since the inn keeper is married the school teacher goes on her way and they live sadly ever after.

Also visiting at the Inn are a variety of mad-English types, including a young couple who are conducting an experiment in free love and an elderly pair of church-mice who are interested. None of these have anything very profound to say but say it with a good deal of humor. Agatha Leonard, as the lady's travelling companion, is especially good and so are Christina Templeton and Dixon Wagner as the clerical couple.

On the critical side I suggest that Douglas Ney exude a trifle less joy of living, and that the love scenes are the play's weak point. The lines are a bit trite to begin with and Ney and Miss Mascall could avoid a comic effect by bringing them down to earth and underplaying them.

But on the whole the evening was most enjoyable, and a nod to the interior set which is quite a bright and cheery affair and helps things along immensely. Presented at Hart House Theatre through Wednesday.

Jim Dickinson.

Youth And Chopin

Almost nightly at the Royal Conservatory Concert Hall, students of that institution appear in recital, open to the public free of charge. As an experiment, to test our standard and to renew our concepts of the institution's pedagogy, we went Friday evening to an all-Chopin concert presented by senior students of Faculty member Boris Berlin.

This year commemorates the centennial of the composer's death, to the celebration of which Alexander Brailowsky and Witold Malcuzinsky will play all-Chopin recitals later this year at Massey Hall. Thus curiosity was aroused to hear Chopin at the hands of youth. Our curiosity received its reward.

Characteristic of the performances were a sprightly lightness of delivery as in Patricia Wickstrom's playing of Chopin's C sharp minor and E minor Valses, combined with a subtly controlled rubato as in Moira Magnan's rendition of the Fanaisie-Impromptu or in the difficult G Minor Ballade played by Rudy Toth.

Three Etudes, the Gb major, E major and D major were presented by Sheila Stewart, presented with a freshness and a technical command unexpected from student ranks. The pianist set forth the E major theme in quiet moving tones, shaded the rubato with accurate finesse.

In each of the renditions one felt these youthful pianists always held something in reserve, never pounding, speeding or distorting for effect. Their approach was studious but not studied, their manner clean-cut, stable and tempered with an attitude of humility before the music they played. Chopin's highly romantic composition is so easy to distort and sentimentalize, to play effectively but not accurately.

Last night's refreshing performance by the students of Boris Berlin spoke well for their pedagogue's principles of pianoforte, that many pianists we have heard in downtown concert debuts might well consider, and profit considerably thereby.

William Glenesk.

♦ ♦ ♦

Parlow Quartette

On Sunday evening a capacity audience in the Great Hall of Hart House was treated to a delightful programme by the Parlow Quartet. The musicians were Kathleen Parlow, violinist, Stanley Solomon, violist, Cornelius Ysselstyn, 'cellist, and Leo Barkin, pianist.

The programme opened with the Piano Quartet in E Flat Major, by Beethoven. The high point of the evening, which had many such moments, was the Andante Cantabile movement of this work. The opening theme, played by the piano, moves to all parts as it develops. The delicate passage of this movement in which the 'cello and violin play an interweaving duet was performed exquisitely. The maintenance of strong rhythm, which is so important in all of Beethoven's works, was never forsaken. The performance of this work was thrilling in fervour and intensity.

The other work was the First Piano Quartet in C minor, by the French composer Gabriel Faure. This is an example of extremely difficult contrapuntal writing, but it was masterfully handled. The allegro movement introduces the theme, which is played in unison by the three strings. It is interesting to note that each time that his theme appears it is played in unison before it moves on to the several parts. This is an old musical device used to emphasize an important passage, but seldom will one hear this device used to better advantage.

Throughout the whole work there is a tremendous rise and fall in intensity. The Quartet preserved a fine musical line, never allowing the music to become "lumpy" as it moved from one extreme to another.

Every time that Miss Parlow presents a programme, the audience expects a rare musical treat. The crowd on Sunday evening was in no way disappointed.

James W. Kilgour.

Senate Announces

(Continued from Page 3)

onto.

Ontario Forest Industries Association scholarship in Forest Entomology ($250): Alfred John Warwick, Toronto. Canadian Institute of Steel Construction fellowship ($1,000): Leo Schenker, Toronto. Comineo Research fellowship ($750): Oliver John Clyve Runnalls, Toronto.

Movie Review

University Film Society

An uproarious, ribald French comedy and an interestingly humanized documentary film were presented by the University Film Society in the Museum Theatre Sunday afternoon, Oct. 30.

"Have You Nothing to Declare", the French film, uses a brand of situation humor that left the audience gasping for breath. Neither the language nor the sub-titles were any hindrance to "getting" the humor.

Professor Papillot, an entomological researcher, whimsically portrayed by the noted French actor Raimu, is absorbed in the study of the "life" and customs of beetles (who, evidently, are very circumspect and reticent). His laboratory assistant, and new son-in-law, Edmond, cuts short his honeymoon. He has a terrible problem (especially for a Frenchman) and he comes to Professor Papillot for help. He and his bride were going by train to Holland when a customs inspector entered their compartment and asked, "Have you anything to declare?" His entry came at a most inopportune moment and afterwards, whenever Edmond kisses his wife, the image of the customs inspector comes between them.

The professor's books on the "life" of the beetle are of no help. He goes to a psychiatrist on behalf of his son-in-law and when he asks advice for his "dear friend" the psychiatrist believes him to be referring to his own problems, in a round-about way. He gets no help, and turns to an old flame,— Angele Pie for advice. She is the dresser at a night club. When discussing Edmond's problem with her in the only private room available —the sound room—the loudspeaker system is accidentally turned on and the club patrons hear the moving details of Edmond's dilemma.

When Edmond comes for the professor, the club M.C. is singing about Edmond's difficulty. Edmond beats him up and thus symbolically conquers his psychic block. He regains the glint in his eye.

There are no "musical extravaganza" interludes foisted on the audience, to take up footage, time, and patience as in the contemporary American corts at humor. There are no girl-pursuing-a-man-type sequences. On the whole, the picture is healthier, less inhibited and caustic than those we usually are fated to sit through. "Have You Nothing to Declare" is a screen play by Jean Aurenche and Yves Allegret, directed by Leon Jeannon.

The documentary, "World of Plenty," deals with world food distribution—especially as it affects Britain. Paul Rotha, the director, is in the forefront of innovators of the documentary film field, both in Britain and abroad. The film is at times humorous, and at times starkly realistic as the factors influencing food distribution are shown.

Casino Review

Not Only Words But Music

Sarah Vaughan, whose voice has been imitated as often as Billy Eckstine's, relies purely and simply on her ability as a singer to put herself across at the Casino this week.

Opening in a medium bounce tempo with the oldie "Love Me Or Leave Me," Sarah exhibits all the rich flavour and smooth styling that has made her famous. She fills in intervals between lines with extended variations and begins and concludes with more amazing melodic phrases — sheer musicianship.

Her repertoire consists mainly of such standard Sarah songs as "Mean To Me," "Body and Soul," "I Get A Kick Out of You," "Don't Blame Me," and the beautiful "Everything I Have Is Yours." Her long introduction on the first word of the latter song made every Queen Street habitue sit up and take notice. However, Sarah is possessed of a very charming sophistication, perhaps too much so for such an audience; a little more showmanship would have enabled her to get a bigger hand than she did.

Noteworthy also was pianist Jimmy Jones, Sarah's regular accompanist, who contributes very tasty, delicate backgrounds.

Sarah is a graduate of the old bands of Earl Hines and Billy Eckstine, from which she gained respectively her sense of controlled rhythm and her unique jazz springing from bop. When she opens her mouth to sing you hear not only words but music. In a word, Mrs. Vaughan's little girl has "class."

The remainder of the stage show seems to have elevated its standards for the occasion — probably quite coincidentally. Standout features are the Gregory girls in an ambitious little effort with a Chinese motif in which weird lighting and luminous colours are employed very effectively. Main character in this is Duke Alden who also operates marionettes elsewhere in the show. Comic Looney Lewis dispenses the usual brand of humour but is actually clever in spots. The skit begins with a take-off on Rhett Butler and Scarlet O'Hara but ends with insulting repartee between Looney and the skit's "director."

The film is a detective melodrama, "Follow Me Quietly," with William Lundigan and a Canadian actress from the Maritimes, Dorothy Patrick.

Chuck Rea.

U.C. HAS HAD ITS CHANCE

REMAINING TICKETS FOR THE U.C. FOLLIES

ALL SHOWS AND BOTH DANCES

NOW ON SALE AT

● Economics Bldg. Main Rotunda

● Medical Building

● The Skule House

● U.C. Main Rotunda

10 — 2

Shows at 7.30 9.00 10.30 This Friday and Saturday

Dances Friday (Hart House) and Saturday

SPEAKING OF SPORT

(Continued from Page 8)

coming and going, and it was Thorpe's 75 yard booting that kept Toronto from scoring. Thorpe picked up a fumbled ball and ran down a clear field for the only Carlisle score in the second half. The game ended after regulation time at 49-1 for the Indians.

We quote the following tripe— "The two teams met on the 30 yard line. And suddenly the air was full of flying Canadian bodies that landed with terrific thuds on the turf." . . . . "A Toronto player caught the ball and behind a wall of interference began to run. Did we say run? He advanced just five yards before six wild Indians swooped down and tackled him simultaneously . . . the Toronto player was out cold." Mr. Bill "Veritas" Stern then goes on to say that Thorpe began calling for no interference, and scored every time. "Thorpe stood grinning behind the goal posts, . . . while on the field were five unconscious Toronto players". "The Canadian players decided not to risk their lives any further. So after the ball was passed they got out of the way of the Indians". Then Mr. Stern tells us the Indians were not satisfied with this, and began chasing the scurrying Toronto players all over the field, and knocking them down before scoring touchdowns.

That's "Accurate" Stern's account of the game. But it ain't the way we heard it; from Mr. T. A. Reed, who was at the game, and remembers it well. The sports pages of the papers of Oct., 1912, support Mr. Reed. The Toronto's actually gave the Indians a good fight; they tackled and kicked and ran very well. They had never heard of down-field blocking, with the result that one defensive would go in to make a tackle on the ball carrier without block-breakers. The Indians made very liberal use of forward passes, which the Canadians had never even seen before. It was really a wonder they could hold any team at all to 44 points.

It would be okay with us if Stern used his nonsense as an after-dinner speech or something, but he puts it into A BOOK! With a fairly large circulation in the States at that! Plenty of American's will get the wrong idea about the sports abilities of Canadians.

WOMEN BOWLERS

Arrangements have been made under the Athletic Privileges Fee for women students to bowl at

THE MIDTOWN ALLEYS
505 Bloor St. West

Monday to Friday afternoons 1:00 - 5:00 p.m.

20 GAMES A SEASON AT $2.00

Bowling Cards must be obtained from Elizabeth Ross, Cody House, MI. 4733 or

Victoria—Joan Gore—HU. 3161
Trinity—Kay Kress—MI. 8451
St. Mike's—Jackie Heffron—LY. 2069
U.C.—Peggy Kougham—MI. 3243
Nursing—Anne Cowan—MI. 4550
O.T.—Glenna Wylie—MI. 3642

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East 4.00	Forestry vs Dent	Stepkowsky, Garside, Sutherland
SOCCER	North 4.00	Trin I vs Sr. SPS	Babcock
	South 4.00	Knox vs Emmau	Leach
LACROSSE	1.00	Forestry vs Pre-Med	Chambers, McPherson
	4.00	U.C. II vs St. M. A	Chambers, Phillips
	6.30	Inst. Mgt vs Knox	Hastings, Klarman
	7.30	Trin vs Med III	Hastings, Klarman
SWIM LEAGUE	4.30	Vic I vs Trin	Hamilton
	5.00	Med I vs U.C. I	Hamilton
	5.00	Arch vs Vic II	Hamilton
VOLLEYBALL	1.00	Jr. U.C. vs Law	Brown
	4.00	Inst. Mgt vs Music	Fine
	5.00	Med I Yr vs Sr. SPS	Fine
	6.00	SPS III vs Dent A	Fine
	7.00	SPS IV vs Trin B	Bernstein
	8.00	Pre-Med vs St. M. A	Bernstein

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount. Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

LOST

A.T.L. card (495840 - S.P.S.) at or after Western game Oct. 29, possibly between Stadium and St. George & Harbord please notify Harold E. Cook at RA. 9148.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration JU. 9321 or JU 3575

TYPIST

Manuscripts, essays, theses, plays, etc. Call HU. 4544.

FOR RENT

Large newly decorated, furnished room, also kitchenette, suitable for one or two. Two blocks south of Dental School. KI. 9058.

WANTED

Male student to share room. Quiet, reasonable, near University. KI. 7982.

NOTICE

Delicious, home-cooked meals. Exclusive home-life atmosphere. A few openings available. MI. 1492.

TRANSLATIONS

Scientific and Lit. translations, French and German ex. at low fee by person with Medical and Chemistry training in Edinburgh. Phone MU. 0614 or write Box 6, S.A.C. Office.

WANTED

Passengers from Scarboro-Birchmount district for 9 a.m. lectures. Leave 5 p.m. Phone OX. 1992.

LOST

One Ronson lighter and cigarette case at the North goal posts on Saturday afternoon. Colour — brown. Pinder please call Steve, WA. 5233. Reward.

FOR RENT

Would like gentleman to share warm clean room in apartment. Twin beds. Phone KI. 3784.

LOST

One black Waterman's pen—MI. 9563.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

COMMERCE CLUB SMOKER

C. E. Fraser of the C.B.C. will speak to the Commerce Club Smoker today on Radio, Television and Business. Meeting will be held at Brennan Hall (St. Michael's College) at 8 p.m.

ROYAL ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY

The Society will show the 40-minute sound film "The Story of Palomar" today at 8 p.m. in Room 132, McLennan Physics Laboratory. Meeting is open to the public.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

The Daily Musicale in the Mechanical Building at 4:30 today consists of: Brahms — Academic Festival Overture (Walter and Vienna Phil); Schumann — Carnaval (Myra Hess); and Beethoven — Symphony No. 7 (Toscannini and N.Y. Phil).

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC VCF

Dr. E. Crossley Hunter will speak in the Chapel today at 1.20 p.m. His topic will be "Does modern science make it harder or easier to believe in God?"

HILLEL

The first session of "Hillel Chats" will take place this afternoon from 4-5 p.m. at U.C. room 68. The subject of discussion will be "The Jew in the Modern Community". Everyone welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

ITALIAN CLUB

The first meeting of the U. of T. Italian Club will be held today in the Women's Union at 8:15 p.m. Miss A. Campbell will talk and show slides on her recent trip to Italy. The officers of club will be elected at this meeting.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Come and take part in a discussion on: "The Concept of Morality in the Christian Faith", to be led by Mary McLaughlin and Cal Chambers. Time: 1:20 p.m. Place: Room 96, U.C. basement.

✣ ✣ ✣

LAW CLUB

His Honour Judge Forsythe will be speaking on the Federal Department of Justice, in Croft Chapter House tonight at 7:30 p.m.

• COMING EVENTS •

DEBATING UNION

Trials will be held by the University of Toronto Debating Union on Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 1 p.m. in Room 8, University College. The subject for the trials will be "Resolved that Canada should have a Central Government." Speakers are to be chosen for a debate with the University of Western Ontario on Wednesday, Nov. 16.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE DEBATE

"Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom" will be the topic of the debate Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

SLAVIC STUDIES

Prof. L. I. Strakhovsky will speak on Leo Tolstoy (War and Peace) in Room 8, University College, Wednesday at 5 p.m. This is one of a series of Great Russian Novelists.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.T.D.U.

The University of Toronto Debating Union has arranged to debate with The University of Western Ontario on Wednesday, November 16th. Trials to select speakers to represent the UTDU will be held on Wednesday, November 9th at 1 p.m. in room 8 of University College.

✣ ✣ ✣

PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

At the next meeting of the Philosophical Society on Nov. 10, Prof. J. P. deC. Day of Christ Church, Cambridge, will speak on "The Justification of Induction". The meeting will be held in Croft Chapter House at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

I.S.S. BRIDGE NIGHT

Everyone is welcome. Wed. Nov. 9, 8 p.m. in the P.T. Huts for Bridge, Card Games and Dancing sponsored by Physical Therapy. 25 cents admission for I.S.S.

✣ ✣ ✣

LIBERAL CLUB

Norman Matthews, President of the Ontario Liberal Association, will address a meeting of the U. of T. Liberal Club on Thursday, Nov. 10. Also presented will be a report of the recent Montreal convention.

✣ ✣ ✣

HUMANIST CLUB

A meeting of the Humanist Club will be held Friday, Nov. 11, in Room 6, U.C. to discuss apathy to social issues.

✣ ✣ ✣

VICTORIA COLLEGE FRENCH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Victoria College French Club at Wymilwood on Monday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be Jeanine Couillard, who will talk of French-Canadian life. Efforts are being made to procure the French-Canadian film "L'Habitant".

✣ ✣ ✣

WOMEN'S ARCHERY

There will be a meeting of the Women's Archery Club in Lillian Massey gym, Wed. Nov. 9 at 4.30 p.m. All those who signed for the club are asked to attend. This is the first meeting.

✣ ✣ ✣

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS' ORGANIZATION

A meeting (the Hungarian Night), on Thursday, Nov. 10, 8 p.m. in the Women's Union theatre.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP AND SCHOOL OF NURSING

There will be a party on Nov. 10, at 7:45, 150 St. George St. The film "Voice of the Deep will be shown. All members of each group are cordially invited to attend.

Champus Cat

(Continued from Page 2)

"Hm!" said he, "Is happening the same thing the last time I passed Maple Leaf Gardens. Every time a big crowd wants to get in where there isn't enough room, comes ticket-scalpers, no?"

"Exactly," I assured him.

He sank into deep thought, so deep that he even failed to take notice of Stella McCord at half-time, a very unusual state of affairs, indeed, for Igor. Finally his pondering bore fruit.

"Themistocles, my paldvitch," he announced, "in Toronto is one place especially where there are more crowds than room; the Yonge Street car-line at 5 o'clock. Comes next week I will go down to King and Yonge and scalp street-car tickets."

I can't dissuade him from the idea. He is needed desperately by underground headquarters, and he won't come unless someone persuades him that he is being foolish.

Dear Editor, he trusts The Varsity implicitly. Maybe if you wrote an editorial it would convince him. Do help us, it's urgent. We need him.

Besides if he makes money, think of what will happen to free enterprise.

Sincerely,
Themistocles

Over 300 Girls

(Continued from Page 1)

Robert Gill, Hart House Theatre director, and Giselle, well known CBC chanteuse. Four of the contestants will be picked to appear before the Wayne and Shuster Radio Show on Thursday night when the finals will be held.

At four p.m. an exhibition hockey game will be held in Varsity Arena between the Maple Leaf Blue and White teams. Admission to the noon hour show will be 15 cents, to the hockey game, twenty-five cents; proceeds to the ISS campaign.

Sportswoman

(Continued from Page 8)

Hatch, PHE, bagged 16 points, while Nancy Allan played a sound game.

It was hard and fast when PHE III met St. Hilda's Srs., but the Fizz Edder's unbeaten team came through 21-14 over the Saints. Marg Doyle hooped in several baskets.

Nurses were victorious over Vic Sophs B with a score of 25-11. Donna Parr tallied nine points and Ann Cowan six for the winners.

Meds slaughtered St. Mike's 29-7 in the last game of the evening. The Meds guard line was solid, and forwards Beth McCrea and Betty Line snared eight points each.

DVA Starts

(Continued from Page 1)

dents in all faculties it seemed unfair to dock the pay of a certain group. "I am perfectly willing to accept a short pay because of lectures missed but it does seem like discrimination that only those students in the small faculties are affected," one said.

DVA officials were not available for comment last night.

Our Readers Write

Contrary To Tumpane

Editors, The Varsity:

We wish to commend your stand and to clarify our own position in your recent controversy with Mr. Frank Tumpane, Toronto Globe and Mail columnist. Your position, in accordance with the ethics of journalism, seems to be one of "peace if possible, but the truth at any rate"; Mr. Tumpane's seems to be one of "anti-communism — at any price"; ours is that "peace rules the day, whether reason rules the mind." Consequently, our object is not, contrary to Mr. Tumpane, to convince Canadians "to weaken themselves in a military sense," but to strengthen themselves in common sense.

On the premise that peace is both possible and necessary, we strive to examine critically current issues and policies, to stimulate discussion of them and to promote peace through support of the U.N.

Our program has, we believe, been consistent with our aims. Last fall we sent delegates to the Toronto Peace Council, considered their divergent reports, and used the TPC resolutions as a basis for discussion — without endorsing them "carte blanche," as The Varsity pointed out.

We declined an invitation to affiliate with the Toronto Peace Council on the grounds that our program would be largely educational and adapted to the needs of the students. At the same time we are sympathetic to all groups working for peace. Similarly, we welcome supporters of any political stripe, who subscribe to our basic principles.

Your suggestion to the contrary, we are not discriminating against any party but are refusing, like The Varsity, to jump on the witch-hunting bandwagon.

We followed up the discussion of the resolutions with a film and informative talk on the Indonesian question. Last spring we sponsored a forum on the Atlantic Pact with J. B. McGeachy of the Globe and Mail and Leslie Morris of the Canadian Tribune, as speakers.

Contrary to Mr. Tumpane, we have never "opposed the establishment of radar defences in our Arctic regions."

The newly-elected executive began this year with a campaign designed to make students more UN-conscious. Our activities consisted of the distribution and sale of UN literature, and the showing of three films. We have had two forums, one on the atomic deadlock, and one on Eastern Europe.

At present, we are occupied in discussion groups based on Professor Sommerville's "Philosophy of Peace," and next term, plan to study the atomic problem. On the thesis that apathy and ignorance are dangerous to peace, we are planning a questionnaire and program to combat these forces.

Mr. Tumpane's thinking suffers from a lack of logic and of honesty. His fallacy (of the un-distributed middle) runs thus:

Communists want peace.
These students want peace.
Therefore, these students are Communists.

We suggest that to successfully combat an idea, another idea must be presented not only with force and insistence, but with more clarity than Mr. Tumpane has shown, and above all, with truth. Communists are democratically represented on, but by no means dominate the council. It will be interesting to see which of Toronto's newspapers publish this statement.

Mary Ringsleben,
J. Omar Walmsley,
Shirley Endicott,
Barbara Bambridge.
(On behalf of the University of Toronto Peace Council.)

ISS Notes

The ISS is an all Canadian Campil. Its purpose is to carry out a programme devoted to international education, and university welfare. The ISS is an international body with headquarters in Geneva.

✣ ✣ ✣

During the past two summers ISS has sponsored international seminars in Germany and Holland. These seminars have done much on a small scale to improve international relations. Next summer the seminar is going to be repeated in France.

✣ ✣ ✣

The ISS has brought five European students from DP camps in Germany to study at the U of T. These students are registered in the four arts colleges. These students have come to Canada with high hopes which must be fulfilled.

Junior Skule Take Lead In Group Two

VARSITY SPORTS

UC Win Boxla Fourth Decisioning Meds 6-5

Winnig their fourth straight game by the narrowest of margins, UC edged Meds IIn a rough and tumble lacrosse game in Hart House noon yesterday. The win only made certain that UC will be the team to beat in the Dafoe Cup finals when they come later in the year. They have eight points while their nearest competition has four.

Four For Young

This was the second time this year that UC beat Meds and both games were won only by one goal. Dutch Young and Pete Byrnes were the 'he-roes' for the red and white cause. Dutch led all scorers, netting four goals, while team-mate Byrne, guarding the twine played a sensational game and held the Meds to five goals. If it hadn't been for Byrnes the score could easily have been reversed.

Two For Axe

Frank Chambers, veteran boxla player played his usual steady game and added one goal to the point output. Emile (The Flying Frenchman) Blouin, played a whirlwind game and got the remaining UC counter.

Axe Haliburton, one of the stars of last year's cup final droofed in two goals to lead his team. He was ably assisted by Al Varga who got one goal, as did Anderson and Mohr. Four penalties were handed out, two to each team.

Forestry Drubbed 11-0 By Jr. Skule

High Score

In one of the highest-scoring interfaculty soccer games in recent years, Junior SPS went hog-wild last night to annihilate Forestry 11-0. The win firmly established Skule in first place in group two. The game was as one-sided as the score would indicate as the engineers dribbled the ball up the field and scored practically at will. Atucha and Jessop were the largest calibre guns in the scoring, both kicking home four counters. Francos and Dos Santos completed the scoring, Francos getting two and Santos one.

Close Game Here

In the very opposite type of soccer game St. Michael's College won over Senior Meds by the narrowest of margins, eking out a close 1-0 win.

The game was for the most well-played, the players using their heads to great advantage. The lone scorer was Girandy.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

After long listening to Bill Stern's football broadcasts we have suspected that Bill Stern was made up of 10% facts on play, 20% work done by his spotters, and 70% baloney. We are now sure of this composition. It would not be so bad if Stern confined his blunders to the field of radio where they would go unnoticed, but he sticks his hand into the business of writing books. A blunder in a book cannot be corrected in another sentence.

More particularly, we are referring to Bill Stern's "Favorite Football Stories", a collection of humorous and interesting stories about the American gridiron written in Stern's own style of broadcasting, (you know, Podunk Corners is playing One-Horse County Teachers College, and Stern describes it as one of the greatest football classics ever played).

Anyhoo . . . . Bill (that's an i, Mr. Typesetter, even though you do know him) Stern wrote a little story about the Carlisle Indians-Toronto Varsity game here in Toronto. According to him, the Blues were just simply ridiculous, and Carlisle could have scored 150 points. In the whole story, Stern has exactly one fact correct——the game was played in Toronto.

We quote. "The University of Toronto issued a football challenge to them . . ." In the first place, Carlisle did not play the University of Toronto team; they played a congregation of Old Boys which included three team members. In the second place, no challenge was issued; it was arranged for charity by a professional promoter.

"The first half was to be Canadian football and the second American style." . . . . sheer nonsense! The first half was played American rules, and the second a combination of Canadian and Amerk. Stern quotes the half-time score as Toronto-3, Carlisle-0; actually it was Carlisle-44, Toronto-0. Stern continues—" . . . and the Canadian football squad might have been maimed for life had not a merciful time-keeper tooted the whistle with 15 minutes to go". Ha! In the second half the Toronto Old Boys had Jim Thorpe

(Continued on Page 7)

Leaf Whites Leaf Blues For ISS

It isn't very often that one can see the professional hockey champions of the wuuurrrld, our own Toronto Maple Leafs, cavort up and down the ice-lanes for anything less than a couple of hard-earned bucks. But that is exactly what is going to happen today at four o'clock up at Varsity Stadium for the benefit of ISS.

Through the efforts and co-operation of Warren Stevens and Mr. Griffiths, the Leafs will indulge in an intra-squad practice game commencing at four chimes — which means that the Arts students will still have time for their afternoon ales and then get back in time to see Connie's Cuties.

A slight admission price of $ .25 — twenty-five cents — will be charged — that's only one less beer, theologs — with all profits going to ISS.

With "Wild Bill" Ezinicki now back in playing form, it should be quite interesting to all observers to compare the respectve body-checking abilities of Ezzie and "Bashing Bill" Barilko. Or whether Max Bentley has any more trouble scoring on Turk Broda than on Jack Gelineau for instance; or for all to see if Harry Watson, providing he uncorks one of his jet-propelled rushes, forgets that he is playing on a somewhat smaller ice surface and should end up in the freezing-plant in the north end.

Come early to get your seat in the rafters, and at the same time help a very worthy cause.

Varsity Meets Soccer Buffaloes Today In States

Tomorrow the Blues Senior soccer team travel to Buffalo to play their annual exhibition game with the Buffalo State Teachers College. The bus will leave Hart House at 9 p.m. and those players unable to be there at that time are asked to notify the Athletic Office today. There is usually lots of room in the bus, and any supporters who would like to go with the team would be welcome.

Annual Game

This annual game, although inclined to be on the rough side, is a very spectacular one and one which the Varsity boys enjoy immensely as a rule. It takes a while to get used to the idea that at any moment the entire opposition may be substituted en bloc, and the hearty cheer-leading sometimes proves distracting, but the Blues, who normally use but two or three extra men usually give a good account of themselves. Last year Varsity fought their way to a 3-2 victory, while they won quite easily two years ago. Tomorrow's squad, although without Thompson, should do well.

Team: Reed, Moffat, Broadhurst, Wotherspoon, Evans, Thompson, Kuchkuda, Barton, Antoni, Wyler, Allen. Subs: Leach, Moffat, L. Reserves: Mercer, Montemurro. Any other players travelling bring togs. Bus returns at 9:30 p.m.

Sportswoman

There are only two more softball games to be played before the finals begin on Thursday. Today PHE I comes up against the invincible Meds team, and the winner automatically becomes a play-off team.

However the losers of today's game have a second chance tomorrow when they play Vic I. The outcome of this brings in the other finals team.

Correction

Unfortunately there was an error in this column last week concerning the return engagement of the aqua show "From Dawn To Darkness". Actually it is being shown for the benefit of the Secondary Schools tonight and the tickets are all gone.

Basketball

PHE I defeated St. Hilda's Freshies 32-20 in a hard fought basketball tilt last night. Alma

(Continued on Page 7)

SPS Win Fourth Edging Trinity 5-1

By JOHN LEE

In a fumble-ridden football contest last night on the back campus, Junior Skule pulled away from Trinity in the last quarter to win by 5-1 score. Trinity led all the way through the ball game on a single kicked by Buck Rogers, lanky half-back in the first quarter. Dave Brown got a major for Skule late in the last quarter after Trinity had fumbled on their own three.

Sensational Run

With only a few minutes in the game remaining, Trinity made another show of strength on a spectacular 80 yard run by fleet Red Andison, that carried Trinity to the Skule ten. Aften two fruitless pass attempts, and with only one play remaining, Trinity elected to try a plunge and were stopped cold on the SPS five to end the game.

Although Trinity held a point margin throughout the game, the junior engineers dominated the play in the first and third quarters. One of the most sensational plays in the game was a kick that was blocked by SPS and then dribbled by a Trinity player to the Skule ten. The dribbled kick carried about 45 yards plus beating the average of most of the punts. With their backs to the goal-posts the Skule line held magnificently and didn't give the Buttery Boys a chance to major.

Rogers Singles

When the Skule kicker dropped a snap out that was recovered by Trinity to start the second quarter, Buck Rogers took the opportunity to hoof a coffin-corner effort that the Skule safety man had no chance of running out.

After a listless second and third quarter Junior Skule got back into the game when they blocked a Trinity kick on the three. On a run around the right end of the line with Dave Brown carrying Skule surged ahead with the margin of victory. Brown just made the line and that was all. The convert was unsuccessful.

Spectator Trouble

Fighting back desperately on runs by Thompson and passes by John Gray, Trinity fought right up to the final whistle. Taking a pass on his own thirty, Red Andison speedy half, scooted up the sidelines and went 80 yards to the Skule ten before he was hauled down. If the spectators had not been about ten yards out on the field at that point he might have been able to get farther. Something should be done about that problem at interfaculty games. The game ended with Trinity vainly attempting to score from right in front of the SPS goal posts.

Line-ups:

Line-ups:—

Trinity: Flying wing, Andison; halves, Macdonald, McCarter, Scrivener; quarter, Meredith; snap, Gray; insides, Linklater, Skinner; middles, Hunt, Hall; outsides, MacIntosh, White; alternates: Wardrop, Rogers, Thompson, Leichman, Thompson, M. McLaughlin, Reid, Eastmuir, Beattie, Hogg, Bell, Griffith.

Junior SPS: Flying wing, Carr; halves, Prendergast, Pullan, Bernhardt; quarter, Snider; snap, Gritton; insides, Hotchkiss, Stoyan; alternates Brown, Neff, Bush, Macpherson, Mowatt, Greenly, Kerr, Laubitz, Fleury, Muirhead, Royce, Spencer.

SPS Win Harrier; Buffalo Beaten

SPS piled on points in their search for the Reed Trophy when they won the senior interfaculty Harrier meet Saturday. With low points winning, SPS came out with 33 followed by UC with 39, Trinity 52, Vic 56 and St. Mike's also with 56.

Hryshko of St. Mike's came in first closely trailed by Wortman of Vic, Flowers UC, Niblock UC and Greene, SPS.

In an intercollegiate meet held in Buffalo, Toronto picked up all but one of the places between first and fifth.

In the first ten places Toronto missed only the fourth, seventh and ninth spots.

George Doull, ran the five miles, 110 yards in a record time of 27:26. He was pushed all the way by teammate Webster of SPS who eventually came in second. Barr of SPS came in third followed by a Buffalo runner. Fifth place went to Varsity i nthe form of Green.

The first five runners on each team went to make up the final score with lowest points winning. Toronto emerged with 17 points to Buffalo's 43.

on the sideline

By CONN SPARROW

The battle of the sexes!

There has been a lot of talk about this subject, as well as a great deal of writing. However the actual research on whether men were superior to women or vice versa commenced yesterday at noon when the St. Hilda's women took on a team composed of various well-known men of the Trinity staff in a rough and exciting softball game.

From the very beginning the gals held the lead and try as they did the men couldn't catch up. The first inning ended with a close 6-5 tally.

Cheered on by an audience, where men were definitely in the majority, the second inning saw four runs for the women and only one run for the men. Actually they didn't have a chance with the deft fly-catching of Helen Johnstone.

By the third inning the men were getting winded and decided to stick in a few substitutes, fresh from the Buttery. But to no avail—the Saints were still full of wim and vigor.

The final score at two o'clock was 11-9 for the feminine side of the family. So there you have it—we beat, we won, we defeated the men!

Just what could be plainer from these facts and figures than the unprejudiced conclusion that women are stronger. We might add that where there is strength there is superiority.

However it was not strength nor lack of strength that was so prominent during this "battle of the sexes", but the tremendous amount of enthusiasm of the players and their audience.

The men took their defeat with a smile on their faces, so let's not be to smug, because there have been lots of times when we have lost—and only to our own side of the fence—with a grumble and a groan or a down-cast glare.

After all somebody has to lose sometime!

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather: Clear and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 34 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Wednesday, November 9, 1949

VCU Meet Talks Float, Dance, Pin

Monday night's meeting of the Victoria College Union discussed the Vic At Home, the new Vic show, the Vic Float Parade entry and the new Vic pin. The meeting was attended by two delegates from University College, Jane Hill and Rosemary Duff.

The newly appointed graduate chairman to the Assembly, Jim Nethercott, Vic 4T9, presided over the meeting, and in an interlude between the presentation of numerous reports was presented with an honorarium in the shape of an official hammer, by the V.C.U. Assoc. Pres., Phoebe Templeton.

At Home

Several topics of interest to Vic students and, to the campus as a whole were discussed. Most outstanding among these was the debate as to whether the Vic At Home should be strictly formal this year. Jack Birkenshaw, V.C.U. Social Director, suggested that as a formal, the dance could be held in the Great Hall, Hart House; and the money saved on the hiring of a number of small bands for various rooms could be spent on flowers for the girls, thus eliminating the expense of corsages.

The debate on the issue centred on whether the Assembly felt itself able to represent the student body on the subject, or whether the allegedly unsatisfactory method of a plebiscite should be reverted to before the final decision was made. The final result was that the Assembly was reassured of its powers and the dance was almost unanimously voted formal.

Tuck Shop

Stan Kurisko, V.C.U. President, reported that the renovations decided on by the last assembly for the college tuck shop would soon be under way. The tuck shop hours are 10.15 - 4.30, and 9.30 - 10.00 p.m. Women are permitted to use the tuck shop except from 1130 - 2.00, when it is reserved as a lunch room for Vic men, the original purpose for which the shop was founded.

Bill Mercer, chairman of the committee set up to investigate the design for a Vic pin, moved that the assembly accept the committee's recommendation of a V-shaped pin embracing a Vic crest and having the words Victoria, U of T on the bottom. This design was voted the best, and it was stipulated that the pins carry the appropriate year guards and are made of a standardized quality. The class of 5T3 will be the first Vic class to wear an all-Vic pin, college tradition up to this year having each freshman class executive design its own year pin.

Vic Show

The new Vic show, The Scarlet and Gold, was reported by producer John Finlay to be progressing satisfactorily. The show will be put on at Eaton Auditorium on November 6 only. Six student censors were appointed to the show at the suggestion of the producer.

The disastrous fate of the Vic entry in the Homecoming weekend float Parade was discussed, and it was admitted that trees or no trees, the float representing the Yates Cup was not up to the mark. It was suggested that the Third Year executive be appointed as definitely in charge of the Vic float next year, with others working in conjunction.

The presentation of numerous other reports, many of which, like the V.C.U. Budget and the Men's Athletics, provoked considerable discussion, prolonged the meeting almost to midnight, when it was remarked that the Assembly was too tired to give sufficient thought to the Constitutional Amendments which were on the agenda, so the President called a special meeting for Monday, Nov. 14 at 1.10 p.m. to consider this.

The I.S.S. is planning to inaugurate a service to aid foreign students arriving on the campus in finding residences, arranging courses, and smoothing out their problems.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

Eenie, Meenie, ...

—Varsity Staff Photo

Santa's last year helpers are busy sorting mail at the post office. Now everyone can get into the act. Forms for these Christmas jobs can be picked up at the S.A.C. Office. So don't delay. You too can handle the mail.

Auction Has White Slaves ISS Also Offers Longies

Only forty more shopping days till Christmas? Yup, winter is a comin' on! But, don't rush to the attic for grandpa's red flannels, just go to the giant ISS Auction being held today from four to six in the Drill Hall.

For zero weather, how much will Auctioneer Bob Johnson, III C & F Trinity be offered for one (complete with moth holes) semi-long underwear (what's that?). How about snowshoes to go with this outfit? And an overcoat? But, these are not all.

For a souvenir of Hart House, girls, be sure to put your bid in for the blue gym shorts being auctioned off. Want to get a "close-up" of all your professors? Provide yourself with a pair of one of the thirty-eight spectacles being "given away". And, why freeze at Queen's this weekend, when motor rugs and a camel-hair lining are all yours for the bidding.

The feature attraction will be the auctioning off of "white slaves" namely, a girl and a boy, who can be bought for the day to—type essays, scrub floors, etc. "That is," commented Don Scroggie, Campaign Director for the ISS, "if we can get someone."

The articles to be auctioned are those turned in to Simcoe Hall during the past six years. There are one hundred and fifty scarves, some cashmir and silk, thirty-three fountain pens, thirty-eight propelling pencils, two hundred and fifty textbooks, six leather note-books, a Ronson lighter, kerchiefs, umbrellas and gloves among them. A Tea Dance will follow the auctioning.

Talent Hunt Semi Finals Won By UC

Sylvia Grant, IV U.C., star of the "U.C. Follies" and the "Red Mill," was judged first in the I.S.S. talent hunt semi-finals held yesterday in Hart House Theatre for her rendition of the Sequidilla from "Carmen." Miss Grant was accompanied by Bill Marwick, of the School of Music, who also accompanied two of the other contestants.

In second place was Audrey Laurie, of St. Mike's who gave a monologue parodying a radio cooking class.

The Four Flusher, Skule's singing quartet, placed third with their rendition of "That's Where My Money Goes" James Kilgour, II Vic sang Handel's "Where E'er You Walk." Bill Copeland, who tied with Miss Grant in the U.C. talent hunt held Monday, gave a repeat performance of "Come Back to Sorrento."

Different from the other performances was that of Al Fairlie, I Trinity, who mystified the audience with a series of magic stunts. Margaret Muttart, School of Nursing sang "When Roses Bloom." The show ended with a tap dance by Herb Wedderburn, III S.P.S.

Judges were Robert Gill, director of the Hart House Theatre, and Giselle, star of stage and radio.

Pearl Parnes, who emceed the show said afterwards, "All the contestants were of very high calibre and I know that our very competent judges found the decision very difficult to make."

Give Lawyers Law Faculty Positions

Two directions in which modern legal education must develop are demonstrated in three new appointments to the School of Law, President Sidney Smith said Monday night. The University, he said, is bringing students into contact with actual fact problems as they present themselves in the practioners office. It is also training a profession which will play its part in solving the broad problems of society.

In line with the first objective, Dr. Smith said the University is appointing a number of associate lecturers, each a leading practioner in in his field. Duties of an associate will be to supply junior demonstrators who will pilot students through actual office problems and integrate them with the work of the classroom. The associates also will advise full-time faculty members about the curriculum, keeping it in line with modern conditions and safe from any "ivory tower" stigma.

(Continued on Page 3)

NFCUS President On Tour To Visit Campus Saturday

Halifax, Nov. 8,—(CUP)—Richey Love, President of The National Federation of Canadian University Students, will pay an official visit to the University of Toronto Saturday in the course of a tour of Central Canadian Universities. This will be the first visit of the NFCUS president to Toronto since his election at the NFCUS Conference in Ottawa last September.

Love will spend most of his time in Toronto discussing NFCUS business with local NFCUS leaders. He will also meet with the local committee to confer with the members on projects currenly carried on by the Toronto NFCUS Committee.

In particular they will discuss the phamplet "NFCUS and You", being published by the national office of NFCUS under the supervision of the Toronto Committee, and the NFCUS Brief on Federal Aid to Higher Education to the Massey Commission on the Arts, Letters and Sciences, on which much of the preperatory work is being done by Toronto students. Love will also speak on NFCUS in the future, emphasizing Toronto's leading role in NFCUS activities.

While in Toronto the NFCUS president will meet with R. A. Bryce, president of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce to discuss NFCUS projects that affect Canadian citizens in general and the Canadian businessman's attitude towards these student activities.

CJBC Threatens Show Needs Color Talent Search On

"We want more color". This was the statement that Robert McGall, station manager of CJBC, told members of the SAC Radio Committee yesterday afternoon.

An agreement was finally reached between Mr. McGall and the committee to go ahead with a recorded broadcast to be used at the CBC's discretion.

No Color—No Show

McGall told the committee that he was unsatisfied with the public response to the shows of previous years and that unless the students of the University could put on a more colorful, professional show, the project would have to be abandoned.

In addition, the lack of technical staff at CJBC made it impossible to present a "live" broadcast, as has been done in the past. This was unfortunate but arrangements could be made to record the show in the afternoon for presentation in the evening.

Larry Bouchier, Director of Radio, said he would submit the proposal to the students participating in radio, whom it was understood would have to be available in the afternoon to attend rehearsals at the CBC. Mr. McGall said that about four hours of studio time would be the minimum amount for each half-hour broadcast.

Enough Talent Here

It was felt by members of the committee that there was sufficient talent in the University to present a broadcast of wide appeal. It was with this in mind that they met Mr. McGall to see if the University couldn't retain its weekly program which had been cancelled by McGall for the above reasons.

The committee it going ahead on the understanding that only by conscripting the best taleht on the campus and with the production of shows of wider appeal will the contact with the CBC be maintained.

U of T Liberals To Hear Address By Party Leader

Norman L. Mathewes, K.C., President of the Ontario Liberal Association, will be the guest speaker at an open meeting of the University of Toronto Liberal Association to be held in the Junior Common Room of University College at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. Mathews will speak on "The Ontario Provincial Leadership Question", a problem brought to the fore by the resignation of Mr. Farquhar Oliver early in September.

"Mr. Mathews is chairman of the Leadership Committee, and has an inside track on what is happening," a U. of T. Liberal Association spokesman said last night. "We hope to have prospective candidates for the provincial leadership as guest speakers during the year. Mr. Mathews will outline the situation for us first."

CBC Stars To Rib Life At Varsity

The college scene is due for a satirical treatment at the hands of Wayne and Shuster Thursday night when they put on their regular show on behalf of ISS. Winners of the ISS Talent Hunt will be presented on the program and prizes awarded.

The McGill Street studio will be treated to something new as ex-Shuster air the more frantic side Varsity comedians Wayne and of university life over the national

THE BOYS

CBC network. Intimate knowledge of college life has given these radio stars the inside knowledge to take off institutions such as the Soviet Political School and the pilgrim-

(Continued on Page 3)

Skule Culture Group Aids ISS

The Lady Godiva Memorial Band did their bit for the I.S.S. on Tuesday at 1:00 p.m., when they played Capt. Kennedy's composition "Hold that Tagger." "(Steven Foster turned over in his grave recently it was because the band has been playing some of his best loved pieces. "Massas in the cold, cold ground" was played in a distinctive new arrangement that vaguely resembled the old tune.

At this point the band turned down a request to play "Silent Night."

Cultural Director, and former bass drum player Paul Laprairie, told a travelling salesman and farmer's daughter story that was enthusiastically received. He also ran Stella McCord serious competition in the art of baton twirling although he did not display her matchless form. Another one of the Laprairies sparked the band with his inspired cymbal artistry.

Amongst the other pieces rendered by the band were the ever popular "Oh Where, oh Where Can My Little Dog Be," "Jingle Bells," and that stirring anthem "Godiva."

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
Acting CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Knight
ASSISTANTS: Eileen Pine, Jim Simpson

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1949

For Men Only

As the title says, this is addressed to men only. Any women students reading here may now turn to other part of this paper.

Here is the story, men.

Tonight at 8:00 p.m. there is to be a debate in the Debates Room in Hart House. The subject up for discussion is, "Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom." The Honored Guest is to be Provost Seeley of Trinity College.

Now, your attendance at university would seem to indicate a desire for education. Education is impossible without freedom of expression. Then, it would seem that you should be interested in discussion bearing on a main premise of education.

Of course, we could be wrong. Maybe you are not interested in getting an education. If that is the case, do not attend the Hart House debate tonight.

Actually, if you do not go you will be doing no worse than German students did from 1933 on. Nor will you be missing anything very important—ask any Czech student if he agrees.

There IS a growing loss of academic freedom.

We think you owe it to yourself—and to others—to express yourself on the subject in the Hart House debate.

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

Frederick Silvester

Frederick Silvester was the soloist on Monday afternoon in the second of the Convocation Hall organ recitals.

Mr. Silvester, as you know, plays the organ. He does not play the organ badly; he just plays the organ. However, he does show considerable ingenuity in choosing a program of contrasts.

The opening selection was the Bach Toccata in F. It's first section was rushed, but Mr Silvester later broadened the canon inversion successfully and though he never quite achieved his climax in the Coda, he at least gave the fascinating contrapuntal development an able try. Bach's very lovely Andante from the fourth trio sonata which followed the Toccata, formed an effective contrast and received an understanding and consistent treatment.

Three Toronto composers were represented on the program. The two works of Dr. Healey Willan, the Scherzo in B minor and Epilogue were well played, especially the latter which was energetically and decisively performed. Another Toronto organist, Gerald Bales, had his pleasant little lyric Prelude in E minor given a hearing. The Modal Trumpet, a work by the young Conservatory student, Frederick Karam, has a good rhythmic line and an interesting, almost anthem-like development.

We come now to two works by the American composer, Leo Sowerby. The first, Carillon, certainly deserves its name and was treated to an appropriately nimble performance by Mr. Silvester. The second Sowerby work, Comes Autumn Time, showed considerable skill on the part of both composer and performer.

When a virtuoso organist writes a work intended as an examination piece for graduating students, you're bound to encounter something unusual. In this case, the almost tortuously intricate Prelude and Fugue in G minor by the famed French organist, Marcel Dupre. Mr. Silvester had evidently taken great pains with this work and closed his program with an exact, well-defined performance.

Lillian Becker

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢ DAILY DOUBLE

• COMING EVENTS •

MEDS', NURSES' FIRESIDE

The Medical Christian Fellowship is sponsoring a fireside to be held this coming Sunday night, Nov. 13, in the East Nurses' residence, Toronto General Hospital. Rev. Robert Barr of Knox Presbyterian church will be the speaker. All Meds, Dents, Nurses and their friends invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. RECORD HOUR

The students of the faculty of Music will present a memorial day concert in the theatre of the Women's Union tomorrow from 4 to 6. Song and piano groups will make up a fine musical programme. All faculties on the campus are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

WOMEN'S UNION FORUM

On Thursday at 4:00 p.m. in the Long Common Room at the Women's Union a forum will be held on ACADEMIC FREEDOM, led by Don Evans and Mary McCrimmon, both just back from Hungary.

✣ ✣ ✣

VCSU

A meeting of the first year Victoria Church Students Union members and associates, will continue discussion of book on "Apostate Christendom" by Edis Fairbairn. The topic for discussion: 'Does Christendom meet the requirements of Christ?' Time: Thursday, Nov. 10 at 2 p.m. Place 77 Charles St. W.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE

In the Debates Room, Hart House, Thursday at 1:20 p.m. Prof. C. W. Leslie will speak on 'Is Christianity Just a Matter of Ethics?'

✣ ✣ ✣

PEACE COUNCIL

"Putting Peace First"—Reverend L. C. Perkins will address the UofT Peace Council Friday, Nov. 11 at 4 p.m. in the Long Common Room of the Women's Union. Everyone welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP

On Wednesday, Nov. 16th at 8:00 p.m. in Wymilwood, one week from today; Dr. J. S. Glen of Knox College will speak on "Why I am a Presbyterian". A full turnout of old and new members is anticipated.

ISSue No. 5

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE

WEDNESDAY EVENING

PHYSIOS DANCE and BRIDGE

Friendly Atmosphere at OT Huts

Time: 8:00 p.m. Cover Charge 25c

THURSDAY EVENING

Wayne and Shuster SHOW

Tickets on Sale, 50c at . . .

S.A.C. — Women's S.A.C. — Engineering Society — U.C. Rotunda — Trinity — Vic

T-dance Today — SAC Aution —

Does your neck feel cold? All the best in ready to wear scarves at the SAC auction. Many other valuable articles going at a slight extortion.

DRILL HALL 4-6 p.m. FOR I.S.S

STUDENTS ARE REMINDED OF THE

SERVICE OF REMEMBRANCE

To be held at the Soldiers' Tower, Friday, November 11th, commencing at 10:45 a.m. Lectures and Laboratory classes will be withdrawn from 10 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. At this service the Tablets bearing the names of members of the University who gave their lives in the Second World War, will be dedicated.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

DEBATE

The second Hart House Debate will take place topight at 8.00 o'clock in the Debates Room. The Honorary Visitor will be the Rev. R. S. K. Seeley, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Provost, Trinity College, and the topic for debate will be "Resolved that this House protests the growing loss of academic freedom." All members are cordially invited.

LEE ROOM

Mr. Russell Harper will be in attendance in the Lee Room this evening from 5.15 to 6.00 p.m. and will give an informal talk on the Lee Collection. All interested members are invited to attend.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 tonight.

REVOLVER

Shooting will take place in the Hart House Range at 7.30 tonight.

CAMERA CLUB

The bi-monthly series of noon-hour movies will begin today at 1.15 p.m. in the Club Rooms. All members of the club are cordially invited to attend.

Give Lawyers

(Continued from Page 1)

The new associates named by Dr. Smith were: Edson L. Haines, K.C., associate in trial practice; W. A. G. Kelley, K.C., associate in company law; and Harry S. Parkinson, K.C., associate in conveyancing. Benjamin Grossberg, K.C., and William P. Rogers have been appointed to work with Mr. Haines.

The President said that in furtherance of the broader aspect of legal training, the University is bringing Dr. Julius Stone, Challis professor of jurisprudence and international law of the University of Sydney, Australia, who is presently at the Harvard Law School, to lecture this month on "Myths of Planning and Laissez Faire".

CBC Stars

(Continued from Page 1)

age to Europe in the summer. Rumour has it that the Sorbonne in gay Paris is the mythical locale of a part of the show.

Wayne and Shuster came to Varsity from Harbord collegiate where they began their association. They collaborated to write and produce the UC follies which began their reputation as a top-flight comedy team. They wrote, produced and starred in the Army show and have had their own program on the NBC and CBC networks since their return.

Tickets for the performance are available at Hart House SAC office, the women's SAC office, the Engineering Society's office and in the rotundas of Vic, U.C. and Trinity.

Exciting! Original!

I. S. S.

presents

Wayne and Shuster

Thurs., Nov. 10, 9.30 p.m.

McGILL STREET STUDIOS

Old Folks, Young Folks, Everybody Come!

TICKETS 50c AT S.A.C. OFFICE

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	U.C. vs Med I	W. Thompson, Gibben, Sukmanowski
SOCCER	North	4.00	Sr. Med vs Jr. SPS	Seunarine
	South	4.00	Pre-Med vs Jr. U.C.	Foulkes
LACROSSE		1.00	Vic I vs Sr. SPS	Raymond, Ross
		1.00	SPS V vs Arch	Goodman
VOLLEYBALL		7.30	Knox vs Pharm	Chambers, Dugan
		6.30	Pharm vs Vic III	Rosen
		7.30	Trin A vs Jr. Vic	Rosen
		8.30	Emman vs Wyc	Rosen

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

AUTOMATIC RECORD CHANGERS

Brand new changers which regularly sell at over $60.00 list. Your price is $27.50. Call Don Eller, student, HO. 0868.

WANTED

To complete small group—Bass player and Drummer. Non-union and willing to rehearse—Interested? Phone Harry, MA. 4858 after 6.00 p.m.

LOST

One Ronson lighter and cigarette case at the North goal posts on Saturday afternoon. Colour — brown. Finder please call Steve, WA. 5283. Reward.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

ROOM FOR RENT

Large front bed-sitting-room with fireplace on bath floor, oil heated. Private home. Suit two students. LA. 3223 after 5 p.m.—Bathurst and St. Clair.

WANTED

Responsible young man and young woman to show novel Christmas gifts. This is an opportunity for substantial Christmas earnings. Phone Port Credit 4302 for appointment.

TYPING

Reasonable rates for expert and rapid typing of students' notes, theses, etc., by University of Toronto graduate. Phone RA. 8415 after 6 p.m.

FOR SALE

'35 Ford coach, new motor, heater; excellent condition. Must sell cheap. Phone OR. 6862.

LOST

Thursday, 2-5 p.m., Ladies' Cloak Room—Zoology Bldg., black leather purse. Phone RA. 3352.

FOR SALE

Buying a microscope? Save $50-$80 by buying now. Exceptional offer by a leading supplier. For details phone Fred Grainger at RA. 1201 after 6.

WANTED

Passengers from Scarboro-Birchmount district for 9 a.m. lectures. Leave 5 p.m. Phone OX. 1997.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI. 0857, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party—phone now.

NOTICE

Delicious, home-cooked meals. Exclusive home-life atmosphere. A few openings available. MI. 1492.

U. C. FOLLIES

FRI. and SAT. — 9 O'clock Shows

SOLD OUT

THE FEW REMAINING TICKETS FOR

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SHOWS

AT 7:30 AND 10:30

On Sale From 10 to 2 at:

- U.C. ROTUNDA
- ECONOMICS BLDG.

A very limited number of separate tickets left for Fri. and Sat. dance.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

FACULTY OF FORESTRY

The faculty of Forestry will hold its annual Fall Frolic tonight at the Club Kingsway, dancing 9.00 to 1.00.

ISS BRIDGE NIGHT

Birdge, Card games and dancing tonight at 8.00 p.m. in the P.T. Huts, sponsored by Physical Therapy. Admission 25c. for ISS.

SLAVIC STUDIES

Professor L. I. Strakhovsky will speak on Tolstoy's War and Peace today at 5.00 p.m. in Room 8, UC.

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

The program to be presented today at 4.30 p.m. in the Mechanical Building:

Beethoven — Coriolan Overture (Mitropolous - Minneapolis Sym)

Bach — Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue (Kirkpatrick - harpsichordist)

Bach — Concerto for two violins (Szigetti, Flesch & Goehr, cond)

Mendelssohn — Hebrides Overture (Beechan & London Phil)

Listz — Les Preludes (Mengelberg & Concertgebouw)

UTDU

The University of Toronto Debating Union trials, for the selection of speakers to debate with the University of Western Ontario, will be held in room 8 of University College at 1 p.m. today.

UC CCF CLUB

Elmer Sopha, IV Poli Sci and Ec will lead a discussion on "The How and Why of Nationalization" in room four of U.C. at one p.m. today. The meeting is under the auspices of the University College CCF unit.

S.C.M. — TRINITY

The regular meeting of the Bible Study Group will take place at 1:25 in the College Board Room. Study: I John 2.

VIC FORUM

Prof. Adams of Oxford will speak at the Vic Forum today at 1:20 in R. 22 on "Political Science in the Modern World and Christianity."

NEWMAN CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newman's Badminton Group meets tonight at 7:30 at the COTC Drill Hall; the Bridge Group is holding a meeting in the Club at 8:15.

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular meeting for Bible Study will be held at 1:25 today in room 336 of the New Mechanical Building. Study I John 4. all welcome.

TRINITY COLLEGE ARTS AND LETTERS CLUB

Professor A. F. Coventry will speak upon "The Significance of Biology in Human Affairs." The meeting will be held in the College Board Room, at 4:45 p.m.

SKI CLUB

There will be a meeting for all men interested in Intercollegiate skiing, on Wednesday, Nov. 9th at 5 p.m. in Room No. 209, Forestry Bldg.

FLYING CLUB

First

GROUND SCHOOL LECTURE

TODAY—5 P.M.

Room 229

New Mech. Building

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!

GLADSTONE 3511

For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery

OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE

Untted-De Forest

Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage

Your Nearest Branch

633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

• COMING EVENTS •

LIBERAL CLUB

Norman Matthews, President of the Ontario Liberal Association, will address a meeting of the U. of T. Liberal Club on Thursday, Nov. 10. Also presented will be a report of the recent Montreal convention.

HUMANIST CLUB

A meeting of the Humanist Club will be held Friday, Nov. 11, in Room 6 U.C. to discuss apathy to social issues. Everyone welcome.

SLAVIC STUDIES

Prof. L. I. Strakhovsky will speak on Leo Tolstoy (War and Peace) in Room 8, University College, Wednesday at 5 p.m. This is one of a series on Great Russian Novelists.

15% Discount to Students

Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's

FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered

FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

2 STORES TO SERVE YOU

31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495

1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

A CHALLENGE!

WE DEFY YOU TO WEAR OUT OUR COVERT CLOTHS (16-17 oz. wt.)!

They come in such exciting shades as Oatmeal Grey, Biscuit Brown, Fawn Fawn, Cinammon, Plum Blue and 6 other delicious colours.

We will tailor them into terrific trousers for you for

ONLY $14.95

IN 5 DAYS

at the friendly

"FIVE-MINUTES-FROM-THE-CAMPUS"

STAIRWAY SHOP of . . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 College st. MI.9010

a Dozen Doors West of SPADINA AVE on the South side

NEW SHIPMENT OF IMPORTED FLANNELS AND GABARDINES ALSO INCLUDED.

OPUS '49 DANCE

CASA LOMA

BENNY LOUIS ORCHESTRA

Thursday, November 17

Dress Optional Dancing 9-1

$2.50 per Couple

Beverley Cameron, Montreal student, says: "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives you more for your money." Yes, more in flavour, more in value, too. Treat yourself to a Pepsi-Cola today—in the new 8-oz. quick-drink size for 5¢. Or take home a carton of 6 big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢.

"There's real, satisfying refreshment in every sip." That's why W. J. Hendricks, photo-engraver, Saskatoon, changed to Pepsi-Cola. And that's one of the reasons why people all over Canada are changing to Pepsi. It hits the spot. Its quick, delicious flavour gives you a lift when you're tired . . ; satisfies you when you're thirsty. Drink a Pepsi today.

More and more people are changing to PEPSI-COLA for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi

by the bottle

by the carton

by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

VARSITY SPORTS

Dents Downed 17-6 Forestry's Fifth Win

By DAVE BUTTERS

Forestry gained their fifth straight interfaculty football victory at the expense of Dents yesterday afternoon. The lumberjacks vanquished a hard-fighting dental team 17-6. This win gives Forestry the honor of meeting the winner of Group 1 in the semi-finals of the Mulock Cup race.

Big Front Line

Again it was the hard-hitting Forestry front line combined with stellar performances of Astin and Sheldon in the back-field that gave the Foresters their victory.

Dents opened the game by kicking to Forestry. Five plays later Sheldon uncorked a 25 yard pass to Austin for the first major which was unconverted. This gave Forestry a lead which they never relinquished. Dents took to the air and play was confined to the centre of the field until the middle of the second quarter. On one of Sheldon's usual long high kicks, the Forestry men charged the Dental receiver so hard he fumbled it and Forestry recovered on the Dents 30. Three plays later Austin, on a hand-off from Sheldon went 15 yards for the second major for Forestry. Interference in the end zone allowed Forestry a successful convert.

Kicking Duel

After the half time interval was ended, the teams came out and the game settled into a kicking duel between Sheldon of Forestry and White of Dents. Both lines charged hard and first downs were scarce. Dents took to the air and began marching up the field but were stopped by an interception by Sheldon who ran the ball from his own 45 to score a TD. Sheldon's attempt at convert was good and Forestry led 17-0.

Again Dents took to the air and finally their attacks paid off. After a long pass brought them into scoring position, Hickman faded back to the 30 and pitched one into the arms of Simpson who ran the few remaining yards for Dents only major of the game. Woolidge converted and the final score was Forestry 17, Dents 6.

Line-ups:—
Forestry: Flying wing, Booth; halves, Masterson, Collict, Austin; quarter, Sheldon; snap, Dowsett; outsides, Price, Clark; middles, Magnus, Julian; insides, Winters, Davies; alternates, Seeley, Honeyborne, Nelson, Armstrong, Hundt, Brackenbury, Vernon, Deconkey, Beatty, Booke, McKay, Bell.
Dents: Flying wing, Cedmore; halves, Woolidge, Simpson, White; quarter, Hickman; snap, Bayne; insides, Miller, Daynicki, middle, Heit, Revell; outsides, Gallagher, Gregus; alternates, Menard, Hicken, Jackson, McMillan, Stefaniw.

Soccer, Boxla Results

St. Mike's I lacrosse team ran up another high-scoring game yesterday afternoon in Hart House, choosing UC seconds this time for their prey in a 13-4 win. The victory strengthened St. Mike's hold on the top rung of group two.

Pat Duffy, high-scoring forward, drooled home five counters as did running-mate Murphy. Joe Prendergast scored twice and Chadwick got one. Ives with two and Stuckey and Davies with one apiece accounted for the UC scoring.

In the lunch-hour boxla game Forestry eked out a close 6-4 victory, downing Pre-Meds 6-4. Hazell and Shannon each tallied twice for Forestry and were aided by Poole and Cunningham with one each. Vince was the only scorer for Pre-Meds driving home all four of his team's counters.

Big Crowd See Leafs In Practice Session

Before a near-capacity house in Varsity Arena yesterday afternoon, the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club staged an inter-squad scrimmage, in which the "Whites" beat the "Blues" 6-3. The Toronto team went all out for an hour and showed the exuberant crowd some fine hockey.

The International Student Service arranged the session with the co-operation of Conn Smythe and the Maple Leaf Gardens directorate, and for the two bit tariff charged the students present were treated to a good show.

Spindle Shanks

Turk Broda was the butt of a great deal of good natured laughter after the scrimmage when he doffed his pads and appeared on the ice supported by an incongrous looking pair of spindly shanks. The "Turk" waltzed down the ice to the north blue line where he struck a dignified pose much to the delight of his numerous hecklers. At this point coach Day started the rest of the players off on a three lap race with Broda having a handicap of about one lap. Turk made like a rabbit in a dog race with the remainder of the squad in hot pursuit. He managed to hold his own however and was not lapped by more than half the team.

Trinity 'A' Cinch Playoff Berth

Trinity College's "A" squad clinched a playoff berth yesterday afternoon when they downed Senior SPS in a closely contested soccer match. The win put Trinity definitely in the playoffs, and almost eliminated the Skule chances of ousting senior Vic for the other playoff spot.

The only goal was scored in the first play of the second half, when Al Forbes broke up an SPS attack at the center stripe, broke away, and booted a pass to Barry Britton-Foster who sent it neatly over the goalie's head. Skule had a slight edge in the first half, while the winners dominated the second.

St. Mike's, Skule Strive For Last Play-off Niche

As of last night Victoria, Junior SPS and Forestry were the football leaders in their respective groups. When UC tied Vic last week the race in group one was tightened and enabled Sr. Skule to come within striking distance of last year's finalists. It seems pretty sure now that SPS and Vic will be the group one representatives in the Mulock Cup semi-finals, but which team will grab which play-off spot is still undetermined.

The first place team meets the winner of the third group which will definitely be Forestry. The second place group one team will take on the winner of group two which so far is still undecided. Junior SPS hold the top spot at present but they have played one more game than St. Mike's. In view of the Mikemen's smashing 36-0 victory over Jr. Skule last week they are established favorites to snare the remaining play-off spot.

Captain Ted Kennedy scored twice for the "White" squad while Meeker performed the same feat for the "Blues".

Standings

Group One	P	W	L	T	Pts.
Vic	4	3	0	1	7
Sr. SPS	4	3	1	0	6
Med I	1	1	0	0	2
UC	4	0	3	1	1
Group Two
Jr. SPS	5	4	1	0	8
SMC	3	3	1	0	6
Tr.	4	0	4	0	0
Group Three
For.	5	5	0	0	10
Dent.	5	2	3	0	4
Med. II	5	2	3	0	4

Sportswoman

The unbeatable pitcher-catcher combination of Merry Cochrane and Joan Summerville sparked PHE I to a 23-4 win over Meds in the semi-final game on Trinity Field yesterday.

Meds put up a good fight but fizzled, took an early lead and held it to the end of the game.

In the second and third innings, Meds held the Fizz Edders to four runs but in the fourth they lost much of their pep, allowing ten runners to cross the plate.

When Meds came to bat at the end of the fourth, they were trailing 23-4. Merry Cochrane made her sixth strike-out and two caught flies downed Meds 1-2-3 to end the game.

PHE I are now finalists and Meds will play Vic I on Monday with the winner moving on to the playoffs. There will be no more softball games this week.

"Pardon me, Mr. Wes. Bang! May I ask to what you ascribe your phenomenal success?"

"Sure! A lot of practice—and a little 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic every day to 'check' Dry Scalp and keep my hair in position."

Vaseline HAIR TONIC
TRADE MARK

"VASELINE" IS THE REGISTERED TRADE MARK OF THE CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. CONS'D.

EATON'S

LUGGAGE NEEDS OF VARSITY MEN

THE DUFFEL BAG

FOR SPORT WEEKENDS OR TRIPS HOME

That handsome, husky bag so popular with young male travellers of college age. Made from sturdy top-grain cowhide leather with full-length zipper closing, brass-finished lock, attractive cotton lining. Tan or black. About 21 x 11 x 9¼". Each 22.50

THE BRIEF CASE

FOR SCHOOL NOW, FOR BUSINESS LATER

Frame style, of aniline dyed cowhide with three compartments, nickel-plated lock. British tan colour. 17" size. Each 25.00

Phone TR. 5111 — Luggage Shop
Eaton's Main Store — Basement — (Dept. 264)

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

"Tailored to fit like your own"
FORMAL RENTALS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS
Freeman's
256 College St. — KI. 0991
(At Spadina)
556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270
(At Wellesley)

BETH McVEY
Violinist
SIMEON JOYCE
Accompanist
EATON AUDITORIUM
Saturday, Nov. 26th, 8.30 p.m.
Tickets: $2.40, $1.80, $1.20
STUDENTS HALF PRICE
Box Office opens Nov. 17th
Mail Orders to
Dorothy Parnum Management
255 Manor Rd. E. HY. 3153

DRINK—
Wilson's
GINGER ALES
5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 35 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Thursday, November 10, 1949

Choose Reps For Debates With Western

Bob Roger, IV UC, and Roy Neehall, IV Vic, will represent the University of Toronto Debating Union against Western University on Wednesday, November 16, it was decided yesterday. The resolution will be "Resolved that the Supreme Court should supercede the Privy Council."

Another two debaters, probably girls, will be picked today, said Vi Taylor, IV Vic. One will accompany Roger to Western, the other will stay here with Neehall.

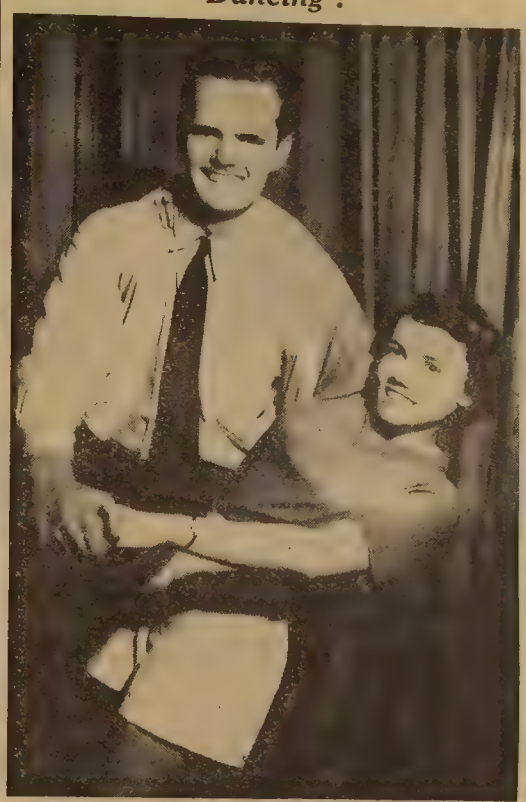
The subject of the trial speeches which were held yesterday noon was "Resolved that Canada should have a unitary form of government."

Roger, supporting the motion, pointed out the difference in educational standards between the provinces, caused by lack of unity between them. He also showed that a unitary government would remove the duplication of bureaucracy which exists when there are two kinds of government — dominion and legislature.

Neehall, also speaking for the affirmative, referred to the legislation which is continually blocked because of lack of provincial-dominion harmony.

H. Feldberg, who spoke against the resolution, based his argument on the fact that the federal system was logical in Canada, since it was geographically split up into a number of separate regions. He also said that the federal system was necessary to protect certain regional minorities.

Hope To Achieve Not To Theorize Say CCF Heads



The C.C.F. does not believe in socialization for its own sake, Elmer Sopha, IV Poli Sci and Ec told a discussion meeting of the U.C. CCF unit Wednesday at noon in room 4 of U.C. "We are not interested in a mere theory, but in what we hope to achieve by it. We want to make the public interest and not the private interest the criterion for economic activity. Our party stands against the principle of private profit as the governing force in this activity."

"The program of our party requires the active participation of many people," continued Mr. Sopha. "Our educational system now is oriented not to this but to the type of individual striving we see all around us. Elimination of the barons of industry implies this reorientation."

"Socialization will be a slow process. Revolutionary change we leave to the Communists. We want no part of it. The actual speed of nationalization will depend on the situation as it exists when the party comes to power. It is generally felt in the CCF that extremely high-profit industries, very basic industries, such as the Packinghouse industry and industries which are necessary but unprofitable are among

(Continued on Page 5)

Dancing ?

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

Tom Hinch and Pat Delacourt, both of UC, dancing in the Whitney Hall number of the UC Follies to be held on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 11 and 12. There are still tickets available for the 7.30 and 10.30 shows both nights.

Colorful Costumes, Songs Dance In Austrian Show

Tickets for the Austrian student concert at Massey Hall on Nov. 26 will go on sale today at the S.A.C. offices in Hart House and U.C. The ticket sale will be limited due to the interest of various groups in the city, said ISS officials yesterday.

Lieut. Gov. Ray Lawson, Sir Ernest MacMillan and Charles Comfort are among the patrons.

Represent All Parts

The students represent every province in Austria. They were chosen for their knowledge of the English language, musical talent and college interests.

Der Abend, a Vienna newspaper, says "At their farewell concert in Vienna before leaving for America, the group was praised for their professional tone and the high calibre of their show. Their costumes are beautiful and authentic, and many have been lent by museums."

"Although designed to present Austrian culture to Americans, the concert is pure entertainment at its best", commented Joanne Stoddart, III U.C.

Plan 70 Concerts

The group's only appearance in Toronto will be at Massey Hall although 70 concerts are planned throughout the U.S. Their stories and dialogues are in English and tie together a revue type of chorus with some solo numbers in German. The conductor of the orchestra which they brought with them led the Austrian choir boys when they appeared here last year. During their stay in Toronto, the students will be cared for by ISS.

Two university weekends are being planned by ISS this year. A group of Austrians are arriving in Toronto for the weekend commencing Nov. 26. A contingent representing the University of Montreal will come to Toronto in February.

'We Lose Freedom' Debaters Conclude By Vote of 94-34

A motion of protest against the loss of academic freedom was carried by a vote of 94 to 34 at the Hart House debate held in the Debates Room last night. Provost Seeley of Trinity College was the honorary guest and spoke for the motion.

G. A. H. Pearson, Trinity College, and H. Carter, U.C. presented the case for the affirmative while J. H. G. Morden Wycliffe, and F. C. Furlong, St. Mike's, opposed the resolution.

Issue More Apparent Now

Dr. Seeley said that the issue of academic freedom has become more apparent after two world wars and stressed that the university should be a place for the pursuit of truth, made free from outside pressures to peruse truth. He referred also to various dismissals of university staff in Canada and the U.S.A. and asserted that if a teacher, as a member of the communist party, had his mind closed except to Party doctrine, he had already forfeited academic freedom and dismissal was justified.

But Dr. Seeley emphasized that the freedom of the University and the search for truth should be guarded zealously if the university is to retain its proper function. He noted that the loss of academic freedom is never immediately apparent but that if the university bows to public opinion or pressure groups only "the trappings of democracy are left."

Pearson described a university as a community of free scholarship, searching for truth subject only to the competence of its members. "Members of a university community should be responsible to that community and to those ideals of scholarship which a university stands for," he said.

He cited examples of the loss of academic freedom in American and Canadian universities by the expulsion of teachers and through loyalty oaths that limit the very essence of a college. "Any threat," he said, "is a loss of academic freedom. We must feel that freedom is real."

'Everyone Should Be Heard'

Carter emphasized that every person has a right to be heard, referring specifically to the Dean of Canterbury who was almost prevented from expressing his opinions on the campus last year. He stressed that when scholars and teachers are made to fear the loss of their position because of "subersive" doctrines they might teach or affiliations they are suspected of prevents these teachers from seeking to express the truth. "Students are the greater losers than the professors if the professors are not allowed to talk. It is unjust and unfair not to let them talk and explain themselves."

Morden and Furlong confined their argument mostly to the threat of Communism, which as a threat

(Continued on Page 5)

Meeting Passes Five Resolutions Of Varsity Tories

Resolutions asking the Ontario Government to establish more scholarships and bursaries and to raise minimum teachers' wage were among the motions successfully introduced by the campus Progressive Conservative Club delegates to the Provincial Young Progressive Conservatives Conference, held Monday and Tuesday in the Royal York Hotel.

All five resolutions introduced by the University of Toronto delegates were passed. One motion asked that the Ontario Government "establish a Commission charged with the duty of preserving and marking (historical sights) by means of plaques, reconstructions, local museums, etcetera."

Adopt Flag

Conservative club chairman Tom Symons said yesterday his delegation's motion favoring "the adoption of a distinct Caaadian Flag, including the Union Jack, the Fleur-de-lis, and the Maple Leaf" met with the most heated debate and passed by the narrowest margin.

"I think our delegation was the largest and most active from any group or club," Symons commented. "We took a leading part in speeches, debates and nominations." Present at the conference from the campus club were four delegates, four alternates and three other members.

The fifth motion introduced by the Varsity delegation put the conference on record as "commending the Government for its interest" in collecting and housing the record

(Continued on Page 5)

Party Leader Mathews Will Address Liberals

Norman L. Mathews, K.C., President of the Ontario Liberal Association, will be the guest speaker at an open meeting on the University of Toronto Liberal Association to be held in the Junior Common Room of University College at 8 p.m. today.

Mr. Mathews will speak on "The Ontario Provincial Leadership Question", a problem brought about by the resignation of Mr. Farquhar Oliver.

A spokesman of the U. of T. Liberal Association said that they hoped to have prospective candidates for the provincial leadership as guest speakers during the year.

Unveiling Friday

From Paper To Carved Stone

By JIM BRADEN

If you've passed Soldiers' Tower in the last three months, then you've seen work going ahead on our new War Memorial. Seems simple to cement a few stones together, I suppose, but a great deal of work was necessary before these results were achieved.

The Records department of the Registrar's office began their research during the war by checking all the casualty lists against the names in their files, and complied a list of University casualties. When this was done, all the colleges, schools, and faculties were consulted to insure against mistakes and oversights, and finally the lists were sent to the Army, Navy, and Air Force in Ottawa for official checking.

Complete Records

This phase of the work was completed last March and to date it has been necessary to add only one name to the 539 on the Memorial. Mr. J. C. Evans, the Registrar, emphasizes that he would welcome information about any name inadvertently left off. In such cases, it is not because of any oversight on the part of the Records, but a lack of knowledge in relation to some of the graduates, and at the request of the University, space has been left on the monument for any necessary additions.

The work of design was given to the architects, Mathers and Haldenby, who were assisted by Prof. Raymore of the Dept. of Architecture. They decided to use imported Indiana limestone. Because it is necessary to preserve it from dampness, it has been necessary to erect it in free standing of its backing, but held to it by metal anchors. the First World War monument, and although the new one is difficult to read at present, it is expected that deposits of dirt will form, emphasizing the letters and figures, as is the case with the older Memorial.

Saints Carved

The two main figures at the top centre of the Memorial are representations of St. George and St. Michael, by Jacobine Jones, one of the foremost women sculptresses in Canada. They were modelled in clay, cast in plaster, and then turned over to the stone cutters to be finished as they stand today. A number of men who worked on the carvings for the 1914-18 Memorial also worked on the new one. The stone on which the figures are carved is the largest of the group, weighing approximately 2200 pounds and because of technical difficulties took nearly three days to put in place.

Special efforts have been made by all concerned in order to have the Memorial completed in time for dedication on the 11 November.

Cancel Lectures

All lectures have been cancelled on Friday from 10 to 11.15 a.m. to enable everyone to attend. Hon. and Rev. H. J. Cody, former Chancellor and President of the University, will conduct the service of dedication of the new Memorial and the re-dedication of the old. The Next of Kin of those for whom the monument is erected have been especially invited to attend.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... R. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Dave Butters

ASSISTANTS: Joan Lambier, Barbara Harris, Ian Montagnes, Jim Simpson

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1949

Help Wanted....

Today is the last day of the International Student Service campaign on this campus for $7,000. Last night, even though some returns are yet to come, they were not anywhere near their objctive.

It is perhaps indicative of the attitude of students on this campus that the ISS campaign is not "over the top." It may be that $7,000 is too much to ask for.

We do not think so. We feel sure that if the students at the University of Toronto look at the program which the ISS conducts they will recognize in it a worthwhile, intelligent and sane approach to a small section of the world's ills.

As students, we should help those who need our help. We should be willing to give in order that the manner of life we believe in shall continue to mean something.

The Varsity will accept your contribution to the International Student Service. Put it in an envelope and bring it, or send it to us, and we will pass it on to ISS.

Up to last night the ISS had received two thousand, five hundred and forty dollars and seventy-nine cents ($2,540.79). They need seven thousand dollars ($7,000).

Your help, your money, is urgently needed.

Gravy For The Agents

(The following editorial is reprinted from the Ubyssey, student newspaper of the University of British Columbia.)

Apparently Canadian students are being fleeced by unscrupulous book publishers.

A report from the National Federation of Canadian University Students informs us that Canadian list prices on texts are 40 percent above those of American wholesalers.

It is further pointed out that no duty is charged on texts entering the country. In other words the 40 percent is pure gravy for some Canadian agent to an American publisher.

Booksellers are told that they must accept this price or take nothing.

An example of the way the problem could be solved comes from Laval University where a student owned co-operative is able to import its own books and thereby save an enormous sum for its students.

It is probable that the situation is one which ought to be investigated under the Combines Act.

But if it is possible for the student book-stores to do their own importing, UBC ought to look into the matter.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

NFCUS

There will be a meeting of the NFCUS Committee today at 5:00 in Room 5 of Trinity.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. LIBERAL

U. of T. Liberal club meets tonight in the U.C. JCR at 8 p.m. Norman Matthews, President of the Ontario Liberals will speak on the question of provincial leadership. A report on the Montreal convention will also be presented.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL

The first meeting of the Hebrew Study Group will take place today at 4 p.m. in U.C. room 64. Everyone welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

ETHICS

At 1:20 in the Debates Room, Hart House, Prof. C. W. Leslie will talk on "Is Christianity Just a Matter of Ethics?"

✣ ✣ ✣

NFCUS EXCHANGE STUDENTS

All students on the campus who are here on the NFCUS Exchange Plan are requested to meet with members of the NFCUS Committee in Room 5, Trinity College at 4:30 p.m. today.

✣ ✣ ✣

VCSU

A meeting of the first year Victoria Church Students Union, members and associates, will continue discussions of book on "Apostate Christendom" by Edis Fairbairn. The topic for discussion: "Does Christendom meet the requirements of Christ?" Time: Thursday, Nov. 10 at 2 p.m. Place: 77 Charles St. W.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular missionary meeting will be held at 1:25 today in room 336 of the New Mechanical Building. The Rev. Robert Barr of Knox Church will speak on "Christ and the African Native."

✣ ✣ ✣

SCHOOL OF NURSING AND ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIPS

There will be a party tonight at 7:45 at 150 St. George St. for the members and friends of these two groups. The film "Voice of the Deep" will be shown.

✣ ✣ ✣

FORUM

At 4:10 in the Women's Union Long Common Room Don Evans and Mary McCrimmon will lead a forum on Academic Freedom. Both have just spent a summer in Europe.

✣ ✣ ✣

I.S.O.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Women's Union the International Students' Organization is having a Variety Night. There will be dancing and refreshments.

STUDENTS ARE REMINDED OF THE

SERVICE OF REMEMBRANCE

To be held at the Soldiers' Tower, Friday, November 11th, commencing at 10:45 a.m. Lectures and Laboratory classes will be withdrawn from 10 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. At this service the Tablets bearing the names of members of the University who gave their lives in the Second World War, will be dedicated.

S. A. C. BULLETIN BOARD

BLUE AND WHITE BAND

ARMISTICE DAY PARADE—Meet in the Drill Hall at 10 a.m. Dress—Uniforms less capes.

REHEARSAL—FRIDAY—5 p.m. in the Drill Hall.

RADIO COMMITTEE—An audition by the Radio Committee will be held from four to six p.m., West Hall, U.C., this afternoon.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

TALK ON DEBATE

Dr. D. M. Hayne of University College will give a criticism of the Debate held last night, in the Debates Ante-Room at 1.30 p.m. today. All members are invited to attend.

NOON HOUR ADDRESS

Dr. C. W. Leslie of Victoria College will speak in the Debates Room at 1.30 p.m. today on the topic "Is Christianity a Matter of Ethics." All members will be welcome.

SQUASH

The Hart House Individual Tournament for the A. F. Coventry Cup will be held during the first two weeks in December. All members, both undergraduate and graduate, interested in competing please sign the lists posted in the Squash Corridor.

ART CLASS

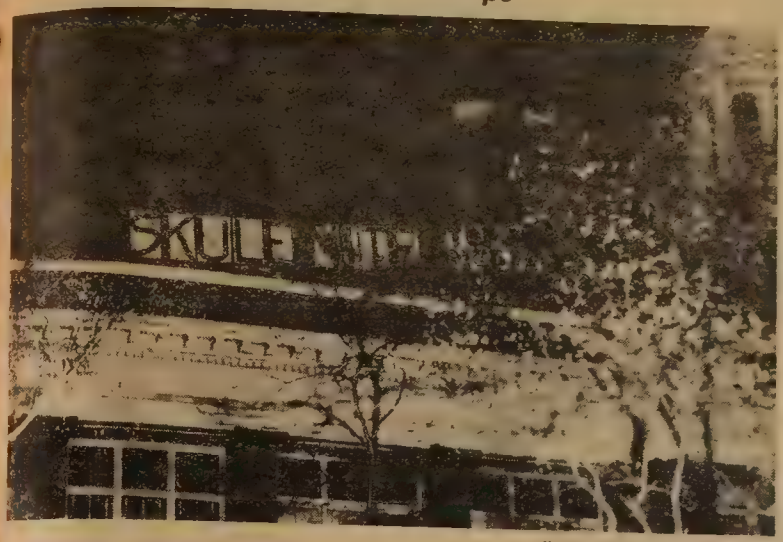
The Art class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

BRIDGE

The Hart House Bridge Club will meet this evening at 7.15 in the Music Room.

ARCHERY

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 tonight.



ART GALLERY

The exhibition now on view in the Hart House Gallery is composed of oil and water colour abstract paintings by Bertram Brooker. Members may see the exhibition during the following hours: 12.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. and 5.00 to 7.00 p.m.

THE VARSITY

Thursday, November 10, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

"Tops" to "Flops"

While the studious Medsmen were hard at work the playful engineers decided to hang a banner advertising Skule Nite atop the Meds building. Two ambitious Skulemen clambered to the gondolas and streched the banner SKULE NITE TOPS MEDS in full view of the campus. The Femury Gang, annoyed by this intrusion, changed the sign to read SKULE NITE FLOPS.

—Varsity Staff Photo by Alan Ford

Discriminatory Acts On Varsity Campus Come Before SAC

The Interfaculty Affairs Committee of the Students' Administrative Council was reorganized at last night's meeting of the SAC. Set up four years ago as the Anti-Discrimination Committee, it has been a special committee of the SAC.

Policy Defined

Under the new set-up, the Intercultural Affairs Committee will be a standing committee of the council. It will deal with one thing only: "To defend any student who, through circumstances beyond his personal control, is being discriminated against in any SAC sponsored or operated function or campus affiliated group."

Complaints to the committee will be channeled through the Council, and the committee will report to the Council its recommendations on each case. Any action to be taken on any matter will be taken by the Council, and not by the Committee.

Reject Suggestions

Council rejected a suggestion that the Committee actively investigate discrimination on the campus. It felt that any matter worthy of consideration would be brought before the SAC, and would reach the committee that way.

The Committee will be formed from members of the Council and will number at least five members.

The Council last night also:

—Approved a plan to publish a University of Toronto Song Book, if the cost will not be too high. A proposal to publish such a book for about $1.00 a copy was presented by Alan Heisey, III SPS. Heisey was given the go ahead to procure further information.

—Approved a grant of $25 to The All-Varsity Chorus so they may go about the city at Christmas to sing carols for old people's rest homes. The grant will pay the cost of bus transportation and hot coffee for the carollers.

—Paid some debts: $600 to the University for the two SAC scholarships held by students at the University; $600 to the ISS for the upport of one of the five displaced persons Toronto ISS brought to the campus this year.

—Heard Blue and White Chairman Bill Turner report on "the first phase" of Blue and White activities for this year. Turner told Council that Blue and White profit to date is $1,152.91.

—Heard that not enough people have signed up for the Radio Committee's course in script writing and acting and decided to cancel the courses. Radio Committee Chairman Harris McPhail said that the Committee hopes to form a Radio Club to take care of those who are interested in learning more about radio.

—Decided to forget the Pipe Band until the Finance Committee has a chance to reorganize the finances. The Pipe Band needs too much money for Council to actively support it under the present set-up. A final decision will come later in the year.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

Man And Nature Must Play Ball —U of T Biologist

Man must realize his position in the scheme of nature if he is not to destroy himself by overpopulation and destruction of natural resources and if he is to fully understand life, Prof. A. F. Coventry of the Zoology Department said at a meeting of the Trinity Arts and Letters Club in Trinity Board room yesterday. He was speaking on "The Significance of Biology in Human Affairs."

Speaking of soil destruction by wasteful agricultural methods, Coventry said, "Our economy can only be made stable by realizing that we must 'play ball" with nature." Of 600,000,000 acres of arable land in North America, 100,000,000 has already been wrecked and one-third of the remainder was seriously damaged. Experts had warned against this in the 1930's.

Food Shortage Results

If common people had understood the principles of natural science, they would not have allowed the plowing of these lands, the speaker said.

He said more efficient utilization of natural resources will not completely solve the food shortage being felt throughout most of the world today. It was necessary to reduce the birth rate by at least ten percent.

"This question of food shortage and over-population is the world problem today," he said. 'It underlies all the other problems which we face." Nations faced with starvation must inevitably go to war he said.

The speaker added: "There are no Four Freedoms in a starving world."

Man's Ignorance

He said these problems can only be understood with a knowledge of natural science. Which teaches that "nature is a pattern of which man is a part." It was necessary that man learn to fit himself into that pattern and not try to run counter to it.

To demonstrate how man does not understand his place in and dependence on the pattern of nature, Coventry said, "A marsh is not just a breeding place for mosquitoes. It affects rivers that affect man. When the Luther Marsh in Ontario was drained four rivers were wrecked.

In describing how a knowledge of natural science helps man to fully understand life, Coventry said, "Knowledges of natural science enriches the whole life. After studying natural science you come to realize there are stable values, of the stability and order of nature. This knowledge encourages us to help resolve the irrationalities of this world."

Poll Shows Student Apathy Cultural Activities Lagging

A poll of students on the campus has revealed a general apathy spread throughout the whole of the University activities.

Warden Complains

Instigated by a letter from Warden Ignatieff of Hart House, a poll was prepared and conducted by The Varsity. The letter pointed out the lack of student interest in the functions presented by Hart House. As an example, the attendance at the Hart House debates has dropped from a pre-war level of over 300 to a present maximum of 130.

One hundred and twenty-one questionnaires were distributed by volunteers, and the completed forms were condensed into a summary that showed that while there was general interest in the Hart House activities mentioned (debates, music, art and library discussions) the actual attendance was much less than the professed interest.

Two-Thirds Interested

For example, 46% of students questioned stated that they were interested in debating, yet only 18% attended, and not all of these attended regularly. 66% were interested in music, and 34% claimed that they attended the Hart House concerts. The difference was attributed mainly to lack of time. While Engineers have a higher interest in music, with 68% voting for this type of activity, the Artsmen actually attended more of these.

Little over a third of those in art ever attend the classes in drawing, or even go down to the gallery to browse around. And only 36% of those polled showed this interest in art. This poor showing is attributed to a lack of publicity by many, but the real fault lies in lack of interest according to a study of the figures and the accompanying comments.

The response to the conducted library discussions is only 6% of those approached, and most of these attend at irregular intervals. 20% said that they would be interested if they knew when they would be held. Again lack of publicity was blamed for the small attendance.

Students Blame Time

Several students said that they could not attend many of the House activities because of the hour at which they are held. No better times were suggested, except in the case of debates, where many suggested that some be held in the daytime.

Literary Issue

There will be another in the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity Office as soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is room 78, basement of UC.

Russian Expert Declares Tolstoy 'Constant Genius'

"Leo Tolstoy has been a controversial figure for the last century," said Professor Strakhovsky in the sixth in a series of nine lectures on Great Russian Novelists, held in Room 8, UC yesterday.

"Called the 'Constant Genius', Tolstoy was cursed or blessed with a dualism of character," he said. He stated that Tolstoy was a poor student. After failing in his first year at university he entered law school. Although Tolstoy never completed his formal education he was compensated by a natural genius.

Addressing an audience that overflowed to the steps and balcony, Professor Strakhovsky read several character illustrations from Tolstoy's "War and Peace." He emphasized the great use of detail which made his characters exceedingly life-like. He pointed out that the psychological development in Pierre Buzukhov, the principal character of "War and Peace", is like that of Tolstoy himself.

Bird Sanctuary To Be Subject Of Artist's Film

Mr. Robert C. Hermes, artist and nature photographer of Buffalo, will present his film, "Bonaventure Diary", at the meeting of the Royal Canadian Institute in Convocation Hall this Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

The movie shows the bird sanctuary on the island in great detail. Slow motion pictures give an excellent opportunity to study the flight landings and patterns of the birds.

Mr. Hermes studies at the Albright School of Fine Arts in Buffalo and the Arts Students' League in New York City.

Fast Scientific Advance Brings World Together —Pandit Nehru at UBC

Vancouver—(CUP)—"It is a privilege to be living in the world today and the trials and difficulties being experienced at present only add to the excitement and challenge of life." Prime Minister Pandit Nehru told a capacity audience at the University of British Columbia last Friday.

The rapid advances in science during the past few years, Nehru feels, have drawn the peoples of the world closer and closer together.

However, the habits of men have not kept pace with these advancements, he declared, and it is the job of universities everywhere to bring man up to date through education.

Accompanied by a colorful party, the prime minister, in his dark English-style suit, was by far the most inconspicuous of the group.

Once he began to speak in his clipped Cambridge accent, he quickly showed why he has won such world-wide acclaim as a statesman and leader.

Blood Clinic At McGill Operated For Students

Montreal Nov. 7—(CUP)—A blood clinic was opened on the McGill campus today. It wil undertake to supply up to 1000 pints of blood weekly to the hospitals of Quebec. The McGill clinic, which is operated by the Red Cross and has a staff of 25, is able to handle 350 students a day. Those students who are in a hurry to reach a lecture do not have to wait in line. An innovation has been added to the usual blood-giving technique—a local anaesthetic is used so that the donor will feel nothing after the slight pinprick needed to give the anaesthetic.

Wood Carving Deluxe

Very Popular Is UC Dragon

By BARBARA HARRIS

Next time you get bored during a lecture in U.C.'s West Hall, or are wandering through the college corridors, take a look at the wood carving on the wall panels. It's among the finest on the continent.

As you may or may not remember, there was a fire in UC on St. Valentine's Day, 1890. One of the porters was carrying a tray of lamps through the east wing, to what was then Convocation Hall. He slipped and the entire wing was gutted.

In the restoration of the wing, one William McCormack, wood carver, was called.

This artist had come from England to Canada as a small boy. When he was 14, he started to work for a furniture firm at $1.50 per week. After five years he demanded a raise to $3.50, and he got it.

From then on the still young McCormack was on his way up. Later he formed his own company of McCormack and Carroll.

In 1891 he carved the Newel Post or "Dragon" which was at the East Wing stars, of the finest examples of wood carving that there is. Much of the other wood work in UC was done by William McCormack.

You will see evidences of his craftsmanship in the legislature of the Ontario Parliament Buildings, Trinity College, Osgoode Hall, and the Bank of Commerce Building.

Commenting on the "Dragon" Principal Tallor said that it is irreplaceable, as it would probably be impossible to find an artist such as McCorcack; further, that the "Dragon" had a sentimental value to all of the College's graduates. Next to the UC Crest, it is most symbolic, of the institution.

"This is the second time in two years," said Principal Taylor, "That the 'Dragon' has been removed, and it is an act of vandalism."

But anyway, the next time you do get bored, take a look at the panels in West Hall and the corridors, and take special note of the magnificent symbols "Dragon"—When it returns.

Art ∞ Music ∞ Drama

Culture or Anarchy

Fall rehearsals are full steam ahead for the University of Toronto Symphony Orchestra (1949 edition) for its coming debut Dec. 11 at Convocation Hall. Conductor Lee Hepner has a magnitudinous program under way of which the Symphony in D Minor of Cesar Franck will be the major orchestral offering while the all-Varsity Mixed Chorus will present Franz Josef Haydn's magnificent oratorial The Creation.

Since its inception two years ago the all-Varsity chorus under Hans Gruber attracted much acclaim if not surprise in its ambitious tackling of Mozarts Requiem—and with Haydn's Creation in rehearsal both chorus and conductor Hepner and the University Orchestra provided with some amazement regarding the magnitude of the work they purpose to prepare, yet in so little time.

Undoubtedly experience is invaluable but can the participants honestly devote their time to either chorus or orchestra without in some way injure their progress in their respective University course? Nights of rehearsals must have an effect when studying and is unlikely contributory to the students course. There arises the dilemma of course or chorus—which is primary to the undergrad? The dilemma of extra curricular versus the curricular is not confined to the University Orchestra and all-Varsity chorus, nor is it new.

Participants in Hart House Theatre productions are in the same boat as are students in the U.C. Follies, the Scarlet and Gold, Dentanties, the all-Varsity Revue and major college dramas which all demand weeks of preparation and hour upon hour of rehearsal and in the meantime for the course of study there is so little time.

Thus the question what value has participation in extra-curricular campus endeavors, dramatic or musical, for the participant? And does that value enhance the undergrad's development or does it injure it?

Does a part in a performance of Julius Caesar kindle a greater appreciation of Shakespeare than do a series of lectures of the Bard? If so, the lectures are well replaced by rehearsals of the play. Or can ones French improve sufficiently therein, or ones analysis of Romaiss, to warrant the nights of practice that lead for example to next Tuesday's production of the U.C. French Club Knock Ou Le Triomphe De La Medicine? Or will a role in All My Soul produce within its interpreter a moral catharsis of the mistaken values of this age more effectively than can a lecture series in sociology or commerce and finance?

If we learn more adequately by doing rather than by listening, if performance evokes deeper reaction and keener intellectual excitement than lecture-listener pedagogy, then curricular music and drama deserve intra-curricular status, a relative credited standing in a university course.

In their present superfluous capacity, live music and drama compete more than they cooperate with the students course. Divide and conquer has been successful strategy in history. In a musician of undergraduate loyalty a conqueror is too often the production with tragic results for the course.

Such competition and even conflict of activity has been wisely avoided in other institutions comparable to the University of Toronto. Northwestern offers a B.A. in for example English and Drama or English and Speech, with practical experience requisite and intrinsic to the course. Both are incorporated into one, both benefit thereby.

Cicero would decry a school of law minus a chair of rhetoric as ludricous, as he would a singing teacher who taught by mail. Yet, neither Osgoode Hall nor the University School of Law have chairs of speech. If these potential barristers want training in expression they must seek elsewhere to the tune of many valuable dollars and much valuable time, there is no other alternative for them to take.

With the Royal Commission on Education, presently resolving its report, and with radical changes recently announced by Ontario Minister of Education now is an imperative time to weigh the value of art, music and drama and their status in the faculty of Arts.

William Glenesk.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

The Alexander Lectures

will be delivered by PROFESSOR E. K. BROWN University of Chicago on the subject
RHYTHM IN THE NOVEL

Monday, Nov. 14 — Characters and Incidents
Tuesday, Nov. 15 — Expanding Symbols
Wednesday, Nov. 16 — Interweaving Themes
Thursday, Nov. 17 — E. M. Forster: "A Passage to India"

HART HOUSE THEATRE
4:30 p.m.

The Chinese Church

The old story of boy being turned down by girl and going with girl's girl friend whom he likes better and eventually marries — has become something in the nature of a parable. Treating it as a parable it will serve as setting, however farfetched, for last night's episode.

If you have ever held a season's concert ticket at Massey Hall or a lecture series at the Heliconian Club, you must have dreamed occasionally that you forgot to go on the most interesting night, and awakened in the cold sweat appropriate on such an occasion. But did you ever go zipping into the concert hall complete with your best perfume or shaving lotion a week in advance? If you have you will understand our feeling last evening when there were no tickets for The Varsity at Eaton Auditorium for the Organ Recital by David Ouchterlomy — and were we offended? Not when we discovered that it wasn't to take place until next Wednesday. It didn't seem appropriate to turn in a review of Mr. Ouchterlomy's last recital some twenty months ago; obviously, the thing to do was to run somewhere quick and discover something artistic or psudo-artistic on which to comment.

West on College and south on Bay will take you to at least one tempting spot familiar to some undergraduates, but that which, here in that nordic environment, scarcely falls into either of the above categories. A little farther along stands, as yet, the Bay St. Chinese Church. Mass unison singing eminating therefrom was enough to lure us in.

Mademoiselle Ries always used to tell us "Vous parlez Chinois" so we took a sporting chance. Well it was a chance. Anyhow the melody was decidedly familiar, and the movie which followed was another of Canadian Pacific's contributions to our national film art.

If any of you have had the courage and endurance to stick with me, we now ascend for lunch—no cream or sugar in the tea, of course—and we hear the soprano voice of Miss Mary Morrison in Italian, French and English songs. Frightfully satisfying especially the French which her voice so suits, perhaps because

(Continued on Page 5)

New Lower Prices!

I. & R. Morley's Famous English Fabric Gloves

Formerly $1.95 - Now $1.75
Formerly $1.75 - Now $1.50

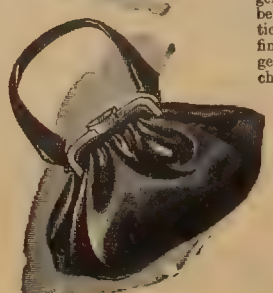
BLACK, WHITE, BROWN, FAWN, NAVY, GREY, EGGSHELL.
Sizes 6 to 7½

Fabric gloves by "Morley" are recognized as the finest by discriminating women everywhere. Made of soft doeskin-like, duplex fabric, they will wash and wear with never a care. A shipment has just arrived and we have a complete stock of colours and sizes. A splendid opportunity to stock up at these lower prices—and very timely for Christmas gifts, too.

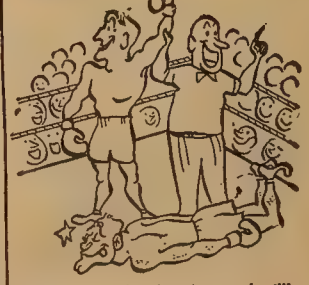
Other fabric gloves imported from England also reduced accordingly.



New Handbags
For Yourself or for Gifts

Lovely new styles in soft, graceful pouches or the all-important box-like types—suitable for tailored or dressy occasions, they are fashioned of Davis calf, genuine Morocco, suede, bengaline, cordé and plastic leathers. Beautifully finished and fitted with generous pockets, zippers, change purses, they are available in black, brown, navy, grey, dark green and wine.

$4.95 to $10.95



Evangeline

- 113 Yonge at Adelaide
- 751 Yonge at Bloor
- 1458 Yonge at St. Clair
- 3414 Yonge at City Limits
- 444 Eglinton W. at Castleknock
- 656 Danforth at Pape
- 62A Bloor at Bay

UPTOWN STORES OPEN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY UNTIL 9 P.M.

OTTAWA • BROCKVILLE • LONDON • HAMILTON • GUELPH • ST. CATHARINES

"WINNER and still CHAMP"

10 years in the ring and still unbeaten in popularity! ALPACAMA . . . handsomely styled, masterfully tailored, mothproof and showerproof. Your best bet for smartness, value and true warmth without shoulder-dragging weight!

THE GENUINE ALPACAMA

$45.

*ALPACAMA
Canada's Most Famous Coat
At Leading Stores From Coast-to-Coast

102 *REG. CAN. PAT. OFF.

OPUS '49 DANCE
BENNY LOUIS ORCHESTRA
CASA LOMA THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17
Sponsored By: The Undegraduate Association of the Faculty of Music and Student Council, Royal Conservatory of Music
DRESS OPTIONAL Dancing 9-1—Tickets on Sale at S.A.C. Office, Hart House $2.50 PER COUPLE

• COMING EVENTS •

VIC DEBATES

Resolved; that Democracy implies Socialism, will be the topic for the next debate sponsored by the Victoria College Debating Parliament. It will be held in the Co-Ed Common Room on Monday, Nov. 14, at 4.00 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. RECORD HOUR

The students of the faculty of Music will present a memorial day concert in the theatre of the Women's Union tomorrow from 4 to 6. Song and piano groups will make up a fine musical programme. All faculties on the campus are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. PLAYERS GUILD

Open meeting of the U.C. Players' Guild Wednesday Nov. 16 Women's Union.

✣ ✣ ✣

BADMINTON CLUB

There will be a play evening of the All-University Badminton Club Friday from 8:00 until 11:00 p.m. in the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall. All badminton players are cordially invited.

ARCHITECTURE

The Third year and Fifth year of the Faculty of Architecture have planned a Field Trip to Detroit and Bloomfield Hills on the week-end of Friday, Nov. 11th, 1949.

While there, they will visit the Detroit Civic Art Gallery where at present is an Exhibition on Furniture and Interiors. At Bloomfield Hills, it has been planned to visit the Cranbrook Academy of Art and Affleck House which was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

✣ ✣ ✣

VICTORIA COLLEGE FRENCH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Victoria College French Club at Wymilwood, Mon., November 14, at 8 p.m. The French - Canadian programme will include a French language film, "Alexis Tremblay, Habitant", and a talk on French Canada by Miss Jeanine Couillard, of Rimouski, P.Q.

During the next couple of years, the ISS on the U of T campus hopes to open an International House on the campus, as has been done in Chicago and New York.

We Lose

(Continued from Page 1)

to world freedom needed to be rooted out and expelled. Only in this way they felt academic freedom would be "preserved".

Various speakers from the floor presented their varied opinions with the emphasis on either the loss of academic freedom through fear and lack of ability to express selves or that society needed to be protected from the menace of Communism since the university is responsible to society and the government.

Meeting Passes

(Continued from Page 1)

of Ontario. The province is now building a new Archives building.

The club's delegates were Diana Fishleigh, II St. Hilda's Jack Hoolihan, IV UC, Al Rogers, II Trinity, and Club President Symons, III Trinity.

Hopes To Achieve

(Continued from Page 1)

those which should be given highest priority in the development of nationalization.

"We realize that compensation would be necessary and would presumably pay this in the form of interest-bearing securities.

"The false idea is circulated that the CCF is against private property," he concluded. "In reality, we believe that what is really public property in any event should be made public in fact."

Joe Casse, chairman of the group, announced that Prof. G. M. A. Grube would speak on "the Ethics of Socialism" at the next meeting of the U.C. CCF.

ART - MUSIC and DRAMA

(Continued from Page 4)

of her low flute affinities.

From a human interest point-of-view, we note the audience was busily engaged with tea and cake and hence somewhat talkative. This coupled with close quarters, made an acid test of Miss Morrison's poise if not of her artistic ability, and provided a whimsical touch when in her final number, "Christopher Robin" she managed to direct the first of her "shushs" at the talkative lady on her left.

The capable accompanist was Mr. William Toy of Oxford Press.

Since there are at least three soloists of the name, we specify that this Miss Morrison is Mary Elizabeth Morrison, secretary to the Dean of Women of Victoria College. She is a pupil of Helen Simmi. Her voice is just quite musical, neither big nor dramatic, at least on the basis of the few songs heard last night. But we will definitely be on hand for her recital on December 6; this voice is promising in the field of song.

Lloyd Jurbrigg.

PUT PEACE FIRST on

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Hear

REV. I. G. PERKINS, 4 P.M. FRIDAY

"If We Seek Peace
We Must Labor For Peace, Not War"

U. of T. PEACE COUNCIL

THE SCARLET AND GOLD
VIC REVUE
CASTING FOR SKITS
TODAY — 5.00 P.M. — CHAPEL

NOTETAKER'S COURSE

"No sooner said than down."

Learn New Simplified Gregg Shorthand.

Adapted to modern languages, medical, legal and scientific work.

Low cost generous service, typewriting without extra cost. Particulars free.

University students who can write shorthand have wider and more interesting career opportunities.

Day, halfday, evening, Saturday a.m., or by mail.

KINGSWAY COLLEGE

HAROLD RUSSELL, M.R.S.T.
2916 Bloor St. LY 8363

SCOOP!

See Exclusive Sound Motion Pictures
(with commentary) of the

THEFT OF THE SKULE CANNON

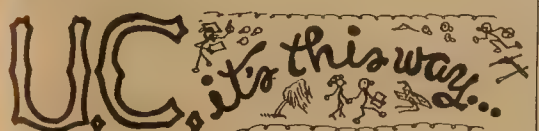
at the U.C. FOLLIES, Hart House

this Friday and Saturday

FRANK BOGART
and his orchestra

plus 2 other bands play for Friday dancing in Big Gym, Debate Room and Long Common Room.

LOTS OF TICKETS
— For Friday 7:30, 10:30 shows
— For Friday dance ($1.50 couple)
(only 20 tickets left for Sat. shows)



GET THEM AT:
U.C. Rotunda
Econ. Bldg. — 10-2

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO WAIT UNTIL SATURDAY MORNING TO FIND OUT HOW GOOD THE SHOW IS!

Informal Dance and Bridge

Thursday Night 8.30 p.m.

GRADUATE SCHOOL LOUNGE
43 Hoskin Ave.

"Where is the U.C. Spirit?" THE GHOST of U.C. gives ample proof of its existence through the past hundred years of College history at this year's Follies.

He joined the Union in 1849 as a "Rookie Spookie" taking part in the "Gold Rush". His place was usurped as solitary guardian with the entrance of the spirit of Womanhood, ... whoops !

Can't tell you the whole story. Anyway you know what a difference to the College and to the Follies the entrance of WOMEN makes. You aren't disillusioned by the presence of the fairer sex like the GHOST, are YOU? If you are, just reserve final judgment 'till you see those chorus lines.

The show is really terrific. The only trouble is that there aren't many tickets left except for the 7.30 and 10.30 performances tomorrow night.

Those of you who can't get tickets to the Friday Show and want to go to the show on Saturday can go to the Friday Dance in Hart House. There will be three orchestras. In the Big Gym Frank Bogart and his music makers will be playing after the first show until 1 a.m. Harry Bedlington will be playing in the East Common Room and Earl Parnes will be in the Debates Room. But did I say three orchestras? There are four. Bernard Tierney and his twelve-man orchestra will be in the Pit to give the dancers and singers the best accompaniment they've ever had.

GHOST — "DON'T MISS THE FOLLIES".

"Quiet, you Spirit, don't YOU know that nobody ever misses the Follies?"

To continue, at Intermission in the Big Gym the famous English comedy team, The Kimberleys, will be displaying their sparkling wit for your entertainment.

In the Little Gym, Ah yes, SPECIAL On the Scene coverage of the snatch of the SKULE cannon.

Ghost "Honest? Now I can show my face again, everyone figured the Engineers had a stronger SPIRIT." Relax, MR. Ghost, nobody can beat the U.C. SPIRIT.

I wish that ghost wouldn't worry so much about this generation's college spirit. Why, I know that all you column readers are lining up now to snatch the rest of those Follies tickets just like we snatched that Cannon.

But where is the Spirit of U.C. NOW? He's not lost. All you U.C.-ers and visiting faculties will see him there Friday night.

He's haunting YOU !

Ghost: "DON'T MISS THE FOLLIES OF '49".
(He's been around 100 years, he ought to know.)

(Advertisement)

Lady Ellis

SO-O SHEER!

2400 PAIRS SHEER NYLON STOCKINGS
51 GAUGE 15 DENIER
Termed as Substandards—Regular $2.25 quality

"This year," says the editor of Harper's, "a woman's crowning glory are her legs," so here is a hosiery special to glorify any woman's shapely legs at a price that just can't be beat for downright value.
Slight irregularities class these as substandards, although we doubt if you can detect the imperfections. Gossamer sheer with dark contrast seams.

WEEK END SPECIAL $1.17

Available At All Toronto Stores

New Fall Shades

Autumn Brown, Morning Mist Forest Glade, Taupe Sheen, Cocoa Frappe, Coppergio and Tanlight.

Sizes: 8½ to 11.

Lady Ellis Shops LIMITED

Dancing — VARIETY NIGHT — Refreshments

Tonight 8 O'clock at Women's Union

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS' ORGANIZATION

VARSITY STUDENTS
AFTER THE GAME—COME TO THE HOGTOWN HOP
T-DANCE
BAN RIGH HALL—ON THE CAMPUS
NOVEMBER 12—4.30-8.00 P.M.
50 cents per person

TRIP TO NEW YORK - I.R.C.

ALL THOSE GOING TO NEW YORK BY TRAIN WILL MEET TO-DAY IN ROOM 1 AT TRINITY AT 4 P.M. PLEASE HAVE MONEY — $20.88 —FOR FARES AT THE MEETING.

TO DEAR OLD VIC —
News That'll Stick
INFORMAL ADVANCE
THE DANCE OF ROMANCE!
Opening Ticket Sales—Tues., Nov. 15

Here's the gift that's really ROYAL!

The New "GRAY MAGIC" ROYAL PORTABLE

The Standard Typewriter in Portable Size . . . has a fully standard keyboard in size, slope, distance between rows of keys, and in position of controls.

For faster, easier typing — these keys are shaped to the contour of your finger tips! Only Royal has them.

Eliminates fumbling and fussing! Simple down-up motion secures new ribbon in place! Saves time, trouble, temper!

Position the carriage, flick the lever with one finger, and your margin is automatically set.

Streamlined, compact beauty goes along with these and dozens more outstanding Royal features.

Royal Gray Magic is easy on the eyes — easy to the touch. It's designed for beauty, built to maintain its looks and precision for years of rugged use. To get — or to give — it's the gift that's really Royal!

Both models — Quiet De Luxe and Arrow — are now on display at Royal dealers. And they're available on easy terms!

GRAY MAGIC ROYAL PORTABLE

Made in Canada by Royal . . .
World's Largest Manufacturer of Typewriters

"Magic" and "Touch Control" are registered trade-marks of Royal Typewriter Co., Limited

I.S.S. McGill St. Studios
Wayne and Shuster
Thurs. Nov. 10
9.30 p.m.
Tickets 50c
S.A.C. Office
N.B.—STUDIO DOORS CLOSE AT 9.10 P.M.! COME EARLY

I. S. O.

Men should be judged, not by their tint of skin,
The gods they serve, the vintage that they drink,
Nor by the way they fight, or love, or sin,
But by the quality of thought they think.

The International Students' Organization is not new to this campus but until now its position has not been too well understood. This column is the first of a series which is expected to clarify our status.

The ISO has three major aims: first, meet foreign students and not only help them adjust to the University and University life but also to introduce them to Canadian social activity; second, to introduce non-Canadian culture to Canadians, and Canadian culture to non-Canadians; and third, to achieve an International House.

These aims may seem to conflict with those of other campus groups and we are often asked how we differ from ISS, IRC and the various so-called "national" clubs.

International Relations Club "seeks to instruct and enlighten student and public opinion." That is, the IRC is a discussion group while we are more a social organization, interested in the relationship between individuals, not nations.

International Student Service, an organization to which every student belongs, is concerned with the exchagne of ideas regarding the University community in the international sphere, in promoting the exchange of students and professors, and providing relief for needy universities abroad. These activities are all on the level of the University community whereas our group works on the level of the individual. So you can see that the main difference between ISO and the other two main international groups is the level of interest.

As for the "national" groups, the name is actually a mistake. Almost all their membership is Canadian and they are either groups with a common background, as the Ukrainian Students' Club, or a common interest, as the German Club, a study group. Our membership is both Canadian and non-Canadian and far more of our members come from other countries.

One major mistake many people make is to look on us as a political organization or a group trying to adance some political philosophy. This couldn't be further from the truth, for, not only are we not concerned with politics but our aims are impossible of fulfillment in any political field or endeavour. We are interested in cultural heritages as they form the individual and as they lead to a deeper understanding of the individual through his or her background.

Methods can only be briefly mentioned here but in another article they will be explained more fully. We have our social evenings once a month to which everyone is invited to meet the club. We have sleigh rides and hikes which aren't advertised outside the club but still are not closed affairs.

You get both when you buy Arrow Pajamas!

Handsome fit and sleepful comfort from the day you buy 'em, until you stop wearing 'em!

Seamless centre seam in the trousers! Plenty of room everywhere! SANFORIZED trade marked—guaranteed never to shrink out of fit. See your Arrow dealer! Cluett, Peabody & Company of Canada Limited.

Look for the Registered Trade Mark ARROW
ARROW PAJAMAS
Made by the makers of Arrow Shirts

●WHAT'S ON TODAY●

NEWMAN CLUB ACTIVITIES
The Newman Glee Club meets tonight at the Club at 8:30.

✣ ✣ ✣

PHIL SOCIETY
The Philosophical Society will have Prof. Day of Oxford as their speaker tonight. His topic will be "A Justification of Induction." The meeting will take place Croft Chapter House at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

PHYSICS SEMINAR
The Department of Physics will hold a seminar today at 4 p.m. in Room 135, McLennan Laboratory. Speakers will be Professor Satterly, who will speak on "The Newcastle Meeting of the B.A.A.S", and Mr. J. Katz, whose subject will be "Electronic Computers." Tea will be served from 4 to 4:15.

✣ ✣ ✣

NURSES
The Post - Graduate Nurses' Christian Fellowship meeting will be held today in the Annex of the School of Nursing, at 1 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. SINGERS
The U.C. Singers will practise today from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Women's Union Theatre.

PLEASE!

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS R.
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

U.C. Follies
GOILS AND GARGOYLES
Fri., Nov. 11 . . Sat., Nov. 12

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

THE MITCHELL Lullaby
BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL
MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.
TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Sr. SPS	vs Vic Pasternak, Klarman, Davidson
	West	4.00	Jr. SPS	vs St. M Smylie, Burleigh, Salsberg
SOCCER	North	4.00	Emman	vs Dent ..... Babcock
	South	4.00	Forestry	vs St. M ..... Leach
LACROSSE		1.00	U.C. III	vs Dent ..... Prendergast, Stuckey
		4.00	Med II	vs U.C. II ..... Raymond, Walder
		6.30	Jr. SPS	vs Vic II ..... Chambers, Warren
		7.30	St. M. B	vs Forestry ..... Warren, Chambers
		8.30	St. M. C	vs Trin ..... Chambers, Warren
SWIM LEAGUE		5.00	Forestry	vs Med II ..... Rosen
		5.00	SPS III	vs Vic II ..... Rosen
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Sr. SPS	vs Sr. U.C. ..... Brown
		4.00	Jr. Vic	vs U.C. III ..... Kroll
		5.00	St. M. A	vs Dent A ..... Kroll
		6.00	Music	vs SPS VI ..... Kroll
		7.00	For. A	vs Dent B ..... Seunarine
		8.00	SPS IV	vs U.C. VI ..... Seunarine

SPORT SCHEDULES - WEEK OF NOVEMBER 14th

FOOTBALL (balance of schedule)

Mon., Tues.,	Nov. 14—	East 4.00 Med I	vs Vic ... Pasternak, Emon, Salsberg
	15—	East 4.00 Sr. SPS	vs U.C. .. Smylie, Burleigh, Sherwood
		West 4.00 St. M.	vs Trin Stepkowsky, Garside, Sutherland
Wed.,	16—	East 4.00 Med II	vs For W. Thompson, Klarman, Milnes

SOCCER (balance of schedule)

Note: Games called for 3.30 must start on time to allow for Intercollegiate practices.

Mon.,	Nov. 14—	North 3.30 Trin II	vs Knox ..... Reed
		South 4.00 Sr. U.C.	vs Sr. Vic ..... Thompson
Tues.,	15—	North 3.30 Jr. SPS	vs St. M. ..... Montemurro
		South 4.00 Jr. Vic	vs Wyc ..... Seunarine
Wed.,	16—	North 3.30 Forestry	vs Sr. Med ..... Montemurro
		South 4.00 Knox	vs Dent ..... Barton
Thur.,	17—	North 3.30 Sr. U.C.	vs Trin I ..... Barton
		South 4.00 Emman	vs Trin II ..... Beverly
Fri.,	18—	North 3.30 Pre-Med	vs Jr. Vic ..... Leach
		South 4.00 Wyc	vs Jr. U.C. ..... Franco
Mon.,	21—	North 4.00 Sr. SPS	vs Sr. Vic ..... Thompson

LACROSSE (balance of schedule)

Mon.,	Nov. 14—	1.00 Med I	vs Vic I ..... Raymond, Prendergast
		4.00 Pre-Med	vs St. M. B ..... Hastings, Stuckey
Tues.,	15—	1.00 St. M. A	vs Med II ..... Walder, Warren
		4.00 U.C. III	vs Jr. SPS ..... McFadden, McPherson
		6.30 Vic II	vs Dent ..... Chambers, Duggan
		7.30 Trin	vs Med III ..... Chambers, Duggan
		8.30 Pharm	vs Inst. Mgt ..... Chambers, Dugan
Wed.,	16—	1.00 Sr. SPS	vs Med I ..... Prendergast, Ross
		4.00 Forestry	vs Pre-Med ..... Walder, Hastings
Thur.,	17—	1.00 Vic I	vs U.C. I ..... Prendergast, Stuckey
		4.00 Med III	vs St. M. C ..... Raymond, Phi Gps
		6.30 Med II	vs U.C. II ..... Chadwick, Phillips
		7.30 Inst. Mgt	vs Knox ..... Chadwick, Phillips
Fri.,	18—	1.00 St. M. C	vs Trin ..... Raymond, Walder
		4.00 Pre-Med	vs St. M. B ..... Stuckey, Hastings

VOLLEYBALL

Mon.,	Nov. 14—	1.00 Vic III	vs SPS V ..... Brown
		4.30 Knox	vs Emman ..... Carr
Tues.,	15—	1.00 U.C. IV	vs For. A ..... Goodman
		4.00 St. M. C	vs Music ..... Fine
		5.00 Sr. Vic	vs Med I Yr ..... Fine
		6.00 Dent A	vs SPS III ..... Rosen
		7.00 Jr. SPS	vs Trin A ..... Rosen
		8.00 Wyc	vs U.C. V ..... Rosen
Wed.,	16—	1.00 Law	vs Med II Yr ..... Cohl
Thur.,	17—	1.00 Sr. SPS	vs St. Vic ..... Cohl
		4.00 For. B	vs Jr. U.C. ..... Kroll
		5.00 St. M. C	vs Inst. Mgt ..... Kroll
		6.00 Arch	vs Pharm ..... Kroll
		7.00 U.C. VI	vs St. M. B. ..... Edwards
		8.00 Trin B	vs SPS IV ..... Edwards
Fri.,	18—	1.00 Jr. Vic	vs SPS ..... Fine
		4.00 Dent B	vs U.C. IV ..... Carr

SWIM LEAGUE (balance of schedule)

Tues.,	Nov. 15—	4.30 Inst. Mgt	vs Wyc ..... Tobe
		5.00 Emman	vs Arch ..... Tobe
		5.00 Dent	vs SPS II ..... Tobe
Thur.,	17—	4.30 Trin	vs U.C. I ..... Rosen
		5.00 Vic I	vs SPS I ..... Rosen
		5.00 Dent	vs Med II ..... Rosen

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY FREE PRACTICES WEEK OF NOVEMBER 14th

Mon.,	Nov.	12.30 - 1.30	Med	Wed.,	16	4.00 - 5.00	Med
		1.30 - 2.30	Vic	Thur.,	17	12.00 - 2.00	SPS
		4.00 - 5.00	Forestry			2.00 - 3.00	Vic
		8.00 - 9.00	Dent			7.00 - 8.00	Knox
		9.00 - 10.00	Pharm			8.00 - 9.00	SPS
Tues.,	15	1.00 - 2.00	Trin	Fri.,	18	8.00 - 9.00	Forestry
		2.00 - 3.00	Wycliffe			12.30 - 1.30	Med
		3.00 - 5.00	U.C.			1.30 - 2.30	Trin
Wed.,	16	12.30 - 1.30	Med			4.00 - 5.00	U.C.
		1.30 - 2.30	Emman

BAA - BAA - BAA

WOTTHEHELL ARCHIE ?!

HOW APATHETIC CAN YOU GET?

WHY DO STUDENTS NOT SHOW MORE INTEREST IN VITAL SOCIAL ISSUES?

HUMANIST CLUB

ELECTIONS DISCUSSION

OPEN MEETING

FRIDAY, 1 P.M. ROOM 6, U.C.

BAA - BAA - BAA BAA - BAA - BAA

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

TYPIST

Manuscripts, essays, theses, plays, etc. Call HU. 4544.

STUDENTS

Two typewriters, 10" Underwood, also new portable. Special discount for students. Also on time. Typewriter service. Bought and sold. HU. 4754 after 6 p.m.

TYPING

Pre-Med veteran student will type your notes, etc., at standard rates. Call JU. 6513, evenings, or call at S.A.C. office. Five years' typing experience.

FOR SALE

Set of tails with gloves, shirt and vest. Size 38, in excellent condition. Phone MI. 6207, evenings.

LOST

Steel cable, pulley, snow fence and sign, last seen on top of Meds building. Return to Skule House—No questions asked.

LOST

Tan and gold Parker 51 pen about two weeks ago. OR. 8509.

WANTED

Responsible young man and young woman to show novel Christmas gifts. There is an opportunity for substantial Christmas earnings. Phone Port Credit 4392 for appointment.

Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

TYPING

Reasonable rates for expert and rapid typing of students' notes, theses, etc. by University of Toronto graduate. Phone RA. 8415 after 6 p.m.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College Student's discount Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

ROOM FOR RENT

Large front bed-sitting-room with fireplace on bath floor, oil heated. Private home. Suit two students. LA. 3223 after 5 p.m.—Bathurst and St. Clair.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI. 9457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party—phone now.

VOX VARSITY

Once again the students of this university have failed to come through. Why you ask, what has happened? Well out of the thousands of students we have been unable to secure a sufficient number interested in announcing, script-writing, and acting to pay for the courses. Enough response has been received however to warrant the organization of a radio club for students interested in topics related to radio. Details of such a proposed club will be announced in The Varsity next week.

The call is now out for scripts. As announced in The Varsity yesterday the CBC is willing to take us back on a temporary basis.

In addition programming on CJRT-FM will begin Nov. 17. Auditionings for this broadcast are being held today in the West Hall, University College, from 4-6 p.m.

See you next week.

—Your S.A.C. Radio Committee.

Bootblacks, Seer Aid Fund-Raising At I.S.S. Frolic

At the ISS Frolic at Vic on Tuesday night the crowd left over two hundred dollars behind them, all headed for the ISS fund.

The Shoe-Shine stand of last year's Red Feather show again was a big success, for the only chance of the year to have a woman of your choice shine your boots is always bound to be a feature attraction.

A fortune-teller took a stand behind the glare of a red construction lantern. The ad was a magnet to the ever curious element. The fortune-teller had to arrange her patrons in a queue that stretched along the hall and up the stairs.

"The Frolic has been a success," said the chairman Don Lawson and although we had many more last year, the people who did come this year fell into the spirit of the thing, and dug deep for ISS".

Among the features on the variety program were the "What's Your Beef" program, and Ed McCurdy, ballad singer of CBL. The record of the program will be broadcast over CBL tonight.

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

ANY TIME
From 10 to 12
U.C. Follies Tickets
U.C. Rotunda

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!
GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE
United-DeForest
Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage
Your Nearest Branch
633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

SKULESPOTS

The Gaels of Queen's aren't the only one in the world who have the right to sing about "and yet another victory to" . . . or haven't you seen the results of last week's Senior Harrier yet? Of course Skule finished on top, with a low score of 33 points. Close behind came the long-winded reps of U.C., with 39 points. To round out the select first three, Trinity had 52 points.

The scoring was done in a rather odd way, as the Interfaculty and Intercollegiate Harriers (the latter with Buffalo U.) were run off within a half-hour of each other on Saturday at High Park. Points were determined by the times the runners posted in the two meets.

Webster and Barr placed second and third in the Intercollegiate meet, which Varsity won handily. Greene and Findlay copped the fifth and seventh spots in the Interfaculty do, while Hart and Hosking were also-rans, but helped no end in the victory. Nice work, boys, that's really a fine feather for the SPS cap, which is getting to be pretty full of same lately.

Well, the first series of golf lessons up at the Drill Hall is coming to a close on Nov. 28. If you want to know all about the success of the effort, merely ask any one of the pleased students who are taking the lessons now.

With this first series ending, there will be openings for forty more aspiring divot-diggers for the second set. Conditions are the same, four hours of expert tutelage under Gord Delaat for a mere $3.00. You get one hour of instruction a week, at any time you arrange, from 9 till 11 in the morning, five days a week.

All you have to do to sign up is appear promptly at the Eng. Soc. stores, and arrange for a time. There were a lot of disappointed fellows last time Don Grant made this same anouncement, so take my advice and get up there soon.

Basketball will be getting off to an early start this year, so the pundits of the cage have arranged for a couple more practices for the eagle-eyed who intend to play under the SPS colours this year. The senior types went at it last night, while the first and second year boys have their big chance on Saturday, from 1 to 2 in the afternoon, up at the little gym in Hart House.

Here's the chance for several dozen of you sharpshooters to pitch in with your bit, so leave Saturday afternoon clear, and whip up to Hart House to sink a few. Last year's basketball squads didn't do too well; nobody knows why, their potentialities were big enough, but the cards just seemed to be stacked against the boys. Maybe this year "there'll be some changes made."

Today might be the day the Teddy Bears have their picnic, but don't forget it's THE big football day for SPS in the year (or at last until the Juniors and Seniors meet in the Mulock Cup finals in a couple of weeks). No kidding, this pee emma is the time set for one of the best double features the campus has seen in ages, as the Juniors tagle with St. Mike's for the Group II playoff spot, and the Seniors battle with Vic for the league I leadership. This is really IT, so don't hesitate to skip out at four, and help cheer the boys to victory. Your voice helps. Se you there!

Geia Chara,
BENNY.

INTERNATIONAL YOUTH DAY
DANCE
"MEET THE YOUTH OF THE WORLD"
Friday, November 11—386 Ontario Street—8.30
Sponsored by: Canadian Committee of the World Federation of Democratic Youth

For constant Smoking Pleasure
Roll your own with
"EXPORT"
Cigarette Tobacco
ALSO AVAILABLE IN ½ POUND TINS

FOR MOMENTS LIKE THIS GOOD GROOMING calls for
BRYLCREEM
For dinner dates and dancing and at all times when good grooming counts. A single application of BRYLCREEM keeps the hair neat and tidy and in place all day without being greasy or sticky. BRYLCREEM actually supplements the natural oils of the hair and gives the roots a chance.
Available in handy tubes for your convenience everywhere. 8-49R
NO GUM • NO SOAP • NO ALCOHOL • NO STARCH

Intermediate Harrier Team To McMaster

UC Toppled By Meds 11-3 In Back Campus Grid Tilt Meds Prove Opportunists

By MAL CRAWFORD

Marking up their winning margin in the first two minutes of play, Meds rolled to a 11-3 victory yesterday over UC to gain a second place tie with SPS in group one. Actually, UC gained more yardage both on the ground and in the air, but, as has been usual this year, they couldn't sustain a drive long enough to cross the goal line.

Meds scored their majors at the beginning of each half. Meds recovered Miles' wild lateral after his good run-back of the kick-off to set up their first soore. Four plays took the ball to the one yard line, where UC stiffened for two downs, but Gabe Varga plunged the last yard to go ahead 5-0. A bad snap muffed the convert attempt.

For awhile it looked as though it would be a wild scoring debacle, as UC immediately marched 40 yards on four plays by Shapiro and Miles, but Al Varga intercepted a Shapiro pass to get out of danger.

Late in the second quarter, UC was given a golden chance when Vince failed to hang onto a curving punt and booted it into touch, giving the Red and White the ball on the five. The doctors held the line, though, Rosen breaking through to stop Miles single-handed on the second try. Shapiro tossed a pass on last down, but it went incomplete. In about five plays Terry dropped two passes that were right in his hands, then pulled a brilliant one-handed interception of a Meds pass and ran forty yards down the sideline with it. The freezing temperature played havoc with the passing; interceptions with long runbacks were a dime-a-dozen, Thompson and Al Varga also performing this feat.

UC's score came at the end of the half when a Meds fumble set them up on the fifteen, but they had to settle for a field goal kicked by Mitteff.

Meds second score came at the start of the second half, as Freeland blocked the first kick. Two Varga to Anderson passes produced the major. A bad snap ruined this convert attempt too.

The Meds line played solid football, stopping UC twice near their goal-line and blocking two kicks. Vernon, Freeland, and Rosen were outstanding there. The Varga brothers were, as usual, the doctors main weapons, with Al Passing, Gabe kicking, and both of them running. Bad snapping set them back repeatedly, and made their offensive and their kicking look worse than they really were. Watt got the last point by blocking a UC kick which UC recovered over their goal line.

Shapiro and Miles carried most of the mail for the Red and White. Both played a good game, Miles in particular running very hard both from scrimmage and running back kicks. Duggan, Grasser, and Ellis played hard-fighting football on UC's line.

Line-ups:—

Meds: Quaraer, Thompson; halves, Hobson, A. Varga, Anderson; centre, D. Martyn; insides, Digby, Rosen; middles, Freeland, Milne; ends, Vernon, DeVeber. Alternates: Stalker, Ricci, Taylor, Doran, Vince, Sims, Roberts, Pace, J .Martyn, Watt.

UC.: Quarter, Mitteff; halves, Miles, Shapiro, Terry, Barnhill; centre, P. Webb; insides, Grasser, Ellis; middles, Duggan, Davidson; ends, Yates, Hynbida. Alternates: Morris, T. Webb, Taylor, Smith, Steinberg, Wilson, Wass, Hynyshyn, Cullen, Henderson.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

The playoffs are upon us! The teams and coaches are prepping themselves for the games, and the club executives are prepping themselves for the verbal battles. The Big Four big boys have been hammering at each other for a couple or several weeks now, and London has started the ball rolling in the Intercollegiate set.

The University of Western Ontario Gazette, our twice-a-week junior contemporary, has instituted a campaign to have the Intercollegiate play-offs (if any) at London. They have enlisted the aid of the London city council and the populace of the Forest City. They have written letters to the C.I.A.U. executive, and have been screaming in their editorials that if Western doesn't get a home play-off (if any), fair play will have been thrown out the window and the poor Londoners will have been jobbed, robbed, and swindled.

London missed the 1938 play-offs, and they missed the 1948 play-offs (in more ways than one); so they claim that by all sense of fair play, the 1949 (if any) should be played at the Little Memorial Stadium. We agree.

But unfortunately, money talks; in fact, it hollers so loudly that athletic directorates can hear little else. The Gazete, of course, is pointing out the fact that these games are not put on primarily for money, but to foster intercollegiate sports . . . they're right. Only it so happens that the competing teams are not the only ones who have a voice in the choosing of the battle grounds.

Let's suppose that Varsity had to play off with McGill. The rules say that the game must take place on neutral grounds unless otherwise agreed by the competing teams. We doubt if McGill will want to have this game played on a neutral ground in view of the fact that if they don't play at home they might as well play in a stadium with the largest capacity. And we are certain that Varsity feels the same way.

If Varsity comes through and forces a go with Western, Toronto (the rich cousins of the league) may conceivably agree to having the game at London; but here London runs into a little difficulty. The pot is split with the other teams in the league 6-6-3-3, and in view of the financial straits in which Queen's finds itself, we doubt if Queen's will take a passive attitude to the problem of location. McGill will also support the added gate receivable at Varsity.

If Western insisted, and Varsity, in a fit of generosity, agreed to a London game, the wishes of the CIAU could be over-ruled and the game played at London. But Varsity has always followed all rational decisions or requests of the CIAU, so we do not think Varsity will agree to a London site. This leaves either Varsity, or Montreal, or Kingston as possible alternatives. Montreal is too far away, and Queen's is too small, so that leaves . . . guess where? Varsity, of course.

We feel very sorry for the Forest City not having the play-offs (if any) at home, but such is life. In our humble opinion, the only way Western could get a home game is to schedule the play-off go (if any) for November 26th, the day of the East-West final at Varsity. If the game is slated for any other day, Western has about as much chance of getting their hopes fulfilled as a snowball in a furnace.

So, London, why beat your brains out in a campaign for something that is decided rationally and logically? Why not just figure it out and forget about it?

\+ \+ \+

Good news is rumored concerning the intercollegiate football situation. A well informed source has spread the word that the Athletic Directorate at McGill is seriously considering a move to concede second position to Varsity shuld next week-end's grid doings produce a tie for that spot. If McGill loses and Varsity wins there will exist a deadlock for second place. The word is that McGill will abdicate and retire from this year's competition leaving Varsity to play off with first place Western. If they do withdraw (bless 'em) it's almost a sure thing that the play-off will be in Toronto. We hope to have the official word on this tomorrow.

Sportswoman

Tomorrow afternoon Joyce Rous hopes to pit her ground hockey team against the Trinity men's team. In their game with Havergal College last Friday, the women prevented those notorious stick-wielders from scoring any goals, so the outcome of this next game will be extremely interesting. It will be played on the Trinity campus at 4.00.

Basketball

Sparked by the brilliant playing of St. Hilda's defence, the Sophs were able to tie the score 12-12 in the dying minutes of a basketball game on Tuesday night with UC Sophs.

The second game of Tuesday evening saw Physio A defeat Vic Sr. B with a tally of 41-6. Physio took the lead in the early part of the struggle and with their clear-cut strong defensive playing held Vic to a low score.

Phyl Wilkes starred on the Physio squad in looping 27 points, while Betty Coo was outstanding as a Vic player.

In another Tuesday night game PHE II defeated Vic Soph A 23-14. Although closely contested at the beginning it gradually opened up displaying great defensive playing for both teams.

UC I defeated Vic Freshie A by a score of 17-8 in the final game of the evening. With a terrific guard line UC offset Vic's forwards again and again.

Joyce Robbins did an excellent job of forwarding for the Vic team, while Joan Mooney starred for UC.

Badminton

Jo Noble, the pro from the Strathgowan Badminton Club, is teaching at the Tuesday classes that the Department of Physical Education for Women are offering to all second, third and fourth year women. The times, again, are 10.00, 11.00 and 12.00.

St. Mike's downed Vic Soph B in a well-played game by a score of 24-13. Angela Melady and Sheila Hogan played well for St. Mike's while Cathie Wood and Lois White put up a good fight for the losers.

In a fast and hard-fought game UC Sr. Jr. A's trounced PHE III, outscoring them 36-28.

Deni Crowe hooked a basket on the last play of the game to put Vic Sr. A's ahead of Saints Sr. by a score of 22-21.

In the last game of the evening Vic Fr. B's beat the daylights out of Physio B., defeating them 25-9.

Gobs of Goalies In Puck Turnout

By JOHN KENNEDY

Wally Halder, new Varsity senior hockey coach, seemed fairly happy last night over the showings of the aspirant hockey Blues, in practices to date. Maybe one thing that is helping to put the roses in Wally's cheeks is the sight of Harry Boyd out there scrimmaging at his centre slot. Boyd, one of the ablest performers on last year's team, was not too sure however that he would continue to play with the Blues. He is waiting to hear from Jimmie McPherson, boss man of the Staffords entry in the THL Major series, before he makes a final decision. But Halder is holding out hope that he will stay with his "ole alma mammy."

Goal tenders are what Halder has practically nothing else but of. In all, there are about six twine minders vying for the two positions. Last night it was Garry Carl, last year with Oakville and Orr, former Upper Canada star, who were getting the rubber tossed at them. Halder remarked casually that Howie Harvie, late of the Maple Leaf Harvies, is in attendance at St. Mike's and would be eligible to play for the Blues, but he has had no word from him as yet. Obviously a goalie of Howie's calibre would do the team no harm. Harvie retired from the Leaf chain in the training season expressing the desire for a higher education. Well, apparently he is getting the education but the big question is whether or no he will play for the Blues. Someone ought to wave a school tie in front of him.

Halder cannot get the final picture of the team's roster until the football season is over. He knows that Rich Howson and Artie Bell, both of last year's team, will be out and he has hopes that Bob Bazos will come out and try for a place on the Blues. Bazos performed creditably for the UCC team of the OHA Prep League last season. Reports have it that Bazos would rather play for Marlboro Juniors, but nothing definite is known yet as to his intentions.

Cec Turcotte will be one of the veterans back in uniform, as will Ernie Frey and Wilf Digby. These boys showed well last night as did Addison, a big defenceman from UCC. Several of last year's juniors were out looking for berths on the seniors, among them Al Conboy, forward and Porky McDougal, a defenceman.

Toronto Vies Harrier Meet At McMaster

The University of Toronto's Intermediate Harrier team will take to the road today as they journey to McMaster for the Inter - collegiate Intermediate Harrier championships. The Varsity entry will compete against McMaster, OAC and Western for the crown.

Chosen from the finishers in the Senior interfaculty meet held last week in High Park, the Toronto squad will consist of Frank McClurry, Charley Wartman, John Hryshko, John Flowers and Pete Niblock.

Holdovers from last year's intermediates are Niblock, McClurry and Flowers. Both McClurry and Niblock were featured as distance men in the current championship intermediate track squad. John Hryshko, winner of the senior interfaculty harrier, is also a member of the track team and is running his first season of harrier.

Charley Wartman ran second in the senior interfaculty harrier and captured firsts in the Junior and Freshman harrier titles this season.

The intermediates lost the title to OAC last year but have a strong aggregation to present at this year's running and will be out to return the honor by taking the title back to Varsity.

VARSITY SPORTS

Skule Bows 10-5 In Boxla Battle To Red And Gold

—VARSITY—SKULE BOWS 10-5

Vic firsts took the measure of senior Skule yesterday as they topped the engineers 10-5 in the noonday lacrosse fixture in Hart House. The red and gold aggregation played a clean, hard game showing polish around the nets. They scored five in each half while Skule netted two in the first and three in the second half.

Rush was tops for Victoria as he notched three counters. Hastings, Davidson and McFadden contributed two each to the Vic total while Gus Guest added the remainder.

For SPS Pilgrim stood out as he drove in three of the counters with Swayer and McColm accounting for singles. McKay, though he did not hit the scoring column, gave a creditable performance, setting up numerous SPS plays.

SPORT IN SHORT

Football

Sr. Meds, 11; UC, 7.

Soccer

Sr. Meds, 3; Jr. SPS, 2.
Pre Meds, 2; Jr. UC, 1.

Lacrosse

Vic I, 10; Sr. SPS, 5.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Warm with Overcast sky changing to "BLUE and WHITE for Saturday"

VOL. LXIX, NO. 36 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Friday, November 11, 1949

ISS Meeting In Montreal This Saturday

Delegates and observers to the International Student Service national conference left last night for Montreal where they will attend a three-day meeting over the week-end.

"The entire ISS work in Canada will be reviewed, and plans will be formulated for next year," Toronto ISS Chairman Bill McDougall said last night. Among the topics to be discussed are the displaced persons scheme which brought five D.P. students to the Toronto campus this year; a scheme for sending Canadian students to Europe to study, and for bringing foreign students to Canada to study, the setting up of an International House at Toronto and possibly at other universities, the costs of the administration of ISS, and general policy for the group for the coming year.

Emphasize Exchange

"The Toronto delegation is going to Montreal to seek a greater emphasis on scholarship and exchange programs which will bring foreign students to Canada to study for one year, and will allow Canadian students to study in other countries, but we hope to continue the D.P. student plan as far as our finances allow," McDougall said.

The ISS Conference is being held this year at University of Montreal. Last year's conference was held at Ajax. Toronto delegates and observers to the conference are: Bill McDougall, IV Pol. Sci., Don Scroggie, III Pol. Sci., Jane Hill, IV Soc., Rosemary Duff, III Pass, Kent Macdonald, IV Pol. Sci., and Zi Murray, III Hist.

UC Grad Comes Home With Honorary Degree Gives Lecture To-nite

Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, will lecture tonight in University College, West Hall, at 8.00 p.m. Her subject will be "On The Way To Greatness".

Mrs. McWilliams graduated from University College in 1898 and has been awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters in 1948 for her active role in education, and organized social work and municipal affairs.

MPP Reid Scott U of T Graduate Debates At Vic

Mr. Reid Scott, M.P.P., will be the guest speaker at the Victoria College Debating Parliament on Monday in the Co-Ed Common Room at 4 p.m. The subject will be "Resolved that Democracy implies Socialism".

Speaking for the motion will be Ron Nablo, II Soc., and Gordon Milling, IV Pol. Sci., and opposing it will be Dick Gage, II Pass and Gowan Guest, IV Pol. Sci.

The guest speaker, a graduate of Victoria College in 1948, was Prime Minister of the Debating Parliament and President of the U. of T. CCF Club. He is now at Osgoode Hall and a CCF member of Parliament.

Upholding the resolution, Gord Milling claims that, "Democracy in its full sense demands equality of opportunity, not only in the field of representative government, but also in the world of production, distribution and exchange. And when democracy is achieved in that complete form it is known as democratic socialism or simply socialism."

Opposing the resolution Dick Gage has this to say, "In no sense of either word does democracy imply socialism; quite to the contrary, the record in so many socialist countries indicates a profound lack in what we term 'political democracy'."

I'm A Little Buttercup

Although the All-Varsity Revue is not scheduled to begin in Hart House Theatre till next January, the producer and the directors are already casting, planning the action and just generally getting ready for the show. Producer Ben Wise(seated) and co-directors George McGowan (right) and Irvin Pasternak discuss the script.

Order From Chaos Big Job Start On All-Varsity Revue

By MORLEY TORGOV

According to one member of the executive to whom we talked, it is a case of "The '49 Show is over, Long Live the '50 Show!" The "Show" of course is the All-Varsity Revue, and we had asked him when the coming production was first conceived. The final curtain call was hardly over, he told us, when the producers of the new review settled down to the planning, worry, and inevitable mayhem that heralds any major stage effort.

Time Running Out

This week, as set designs descended like autumn leaves on the A.V.R. headquarters at the old church on College Street, as musicians labored desperately to fit lyrics to tunes, and would-be chorines cut down on their calories, Director Ben Wise eyed the red circle on his calendar enclosing the week of February 6-11. "So far, and yet so near," he commented, and from this we gathered that the A.V.R. crew was hard at work and taking no comfort from the amount of time remaining until opening night at Hart House.

"What about the theme of this year's show?" we asked. On this point the Director, and Assistant-Director, Irwin Pasternak (UC), and Producer George McCowan (Vic), played coy. That would be revealed later. There was a certain novel twist, they explained, which was so hot that it had to be kept for a while yet in secrecy lest Broadway grab it.

Aim Higher This Year

This much we did learn: This year the producers are aiming at a higher artictic level. "We have the typical college spontaneity," explained McCowan, "and plenty of originality, but we want to concentrate on polish in this second big university revue." Ben Wise went on to tell us of his visits to the Paris Follies Bergere and Opera Comique during a recent trip to Europe, and of his hopes to capture the lively, yet finished, manner in which those renowned places of entertainment present their shows. "Something like a fire that burns with a nice even flame," suggested Pasternak.

Widen Appeal

An additional factor in the A.V.R. policy this year would be what one executive member called "universal appeal." The acts would be spiced with local humor, but it was intended that generally the funny side would be appreciated not only by students, but by the whole audience.

"We want to make it the kind of show that we could bring a guy from Lapland to, and he'd laugh and enjoy the performance," we were told; and when we questioned the likelihood of a Laplander coming to see the All-Varsity Revue, our friends and veteran showmen, Wise, Pasternak and McCowan, struck an expression which said "O yea? Don't kid yourself, chum."

Still Casting

Meanwhile, casting is the order for next week, and talent questionnaires will be distributed throughout the campus in hopes of rounding up everything from Skule's kinetic energetics to Trinity's tea-and-crumpeteers.

So, with a kick to the left, and a kick to the right, (and a special little kick for the boys in the front seats), the All-Varsity Revue heads on-stage for 1950.

Waves Of Nationalism Wake Germany Today International Menace

Vancouver—(CUP)—Germany, although now in ruins will again become an international menace unless her present wave of nationalism is checked, Elmore Philpott told a meeting of the International Council of the University of British Columbia.

"There is no fascism or anti-semitism in Germany now, but instead there exists a very strong nationalistic spirit," he said. "If the allies were to pull out of Germany tonight, her production would soar to unbelievable heights."

Later in the speech Mr. Philpott said, "There is very little difference between the policies of the Communist government in Russia and those of the Socialist government in Great Britain."

No Changes Made In DVA Payments Says District Head

DVA District Supervisor of Training Services, A. R. Whitten, denied in an interview yesterday that his agency has stiffened up its policy regarding attendance of veterans to classes.

Deny Changes

His denial followed upon reports, printed in Tuesday's issue of The Varsity, that attendance is being checked in some smaller faculties and DVA allowances are being reduced in proportion to the number of days missed.

The official pointed out that his department's "Manual of Administration," dated April, 1947, required all cheques to bear the statement, "In endorsing this cheque I hereby certify that I have been in regular attendance in my course of training for the period indicated."

Faculties Must Certify

He also said any schools or faculties which distribute DVA cheques, such as small schools and faculties in the University of Toronto, have always been required to certify that every student has been in regular attendance and that their progress is satisfactory.

The following is Whitten's statement on the matter:

"There has been no change made by DVA in connection with the payment of training allowances to student-veterans.

Must Enrol On Time

"Allowances in University training commence at the start of the academic year, so long as the Veteran is in attendance at that time. Before allowances can be approved, it is necessary for the student to complete a DVA registration form, and this practice is in effect across Canada. This year, as always, there were a few instances where the Veteran did not register on time and, because of the small number involved, we are able to identify the student referred to in The Varsity article of November 8. (This student said he had to sign a statement that he would accept a reduction in his next cheque because of 'a few days' he had missed at the beginnnig of the term.) When he did not report to us on time, we had to obtain the starting date from the Faculty and it is noted that the few days referred to were actually thirteen days.

Some Deductions Postponed

"Under the pressure of work involved in the authorization of training allowances for over 4000 Veterans, a few cheques were issued which did not take into account the late commencement of a course. As it was not felt that payment should be held up until this was adjusted, it was arranged to make the necessary correction in the November 15 cheque.

"When students on DVA allowances are obliged to interrupt their studies because of illness, they are eligible for medical and, if necessary, hospital treatment, but training allowances are replaced by a special treatment allowance during such periods."

E. K. Brown Gives Lecture Course To Start Monday

Professor E. K. Brown of the University of Chicago will deliver the Alexander lectures at University College this year. "Rhythm in the Novel" will be the theme of the four lectures which begin on Monday at 4.30 p.m.

The Alexander Lectureship was founded by the friends and former students of Professor Alexander to commemorate his tenure of the Chair of English in University College, and his work as a scholar, critic and teacher. Each year it brings to the University a noted authority on some aspect of English Literature to deliver a course of lectures which is subsequently published.

Professor Brown, who is a graduate of Toronto, and an alumnus of University College, was one of Professor Alexander's own students. After graduating he studied at the Sorbonne and after taking the degree of Docteur es Lettres he returned to join the Department of English in University College.

He has published books on Edith Wharton, Matthew Arnold and Canadian Poetry and now holds a professorship in the University of Chicago.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Service of Remembrance will be held at the Soldiers' Tower at 10.45 a.m. this morning. Honourable and Reverend H. J. Cody, former President and Chancellor of the University will dedicate the tablets bearing the name of members of the university who died in the second World War.

SAC President Bob Hetherington, will place a wreath on the tablets on behalf of the undergraduates. Eleven official wreaths shall be presented. The Blue and White Band shall parade down from the Drill Hall.

Elect New Alumni Officers Toronto Man Is President

—Photo by Lyonde

David L. Selby, B.A., M.D., M.A., newly elected president of the University of Toronto Alumni Association.

The officers of the U of T Alumni Association have been elected for the coming year. The new president will be Dr. David L. Selby of Toronto.

The other officers are vice-president, W. H. Clarke; honorary secretary, Pauline Mills McGibbon.

Dr. Selby graduated from UC in 1926 with a B.A., and took his M.D. in 1929, and his M.A. in 1930. He is a general medical practitioner, and assistant medical director of the Imperial Life Assurance Company. He was a lecturer in pathological chemistry from 1929 to 1947, and in 1933, he was awarded the Reeve Prize for research in medicine.

During the war, Dr. Selby was the Medical Officer for the C.O.T.C., and he is a past vice-president of the Medical Alumni Association, and was vice-president of the U. of T. Alumni last year.

Dr. Selby is a family man, and has thre children. His hobbies are golfing, fishing and farming.

Dr. Selby succeeds W. A. Osborne 1923 with a B. A., and took his of Galt.

All-Canada Delegates At Newman Convention Choose New Executive

At the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Newman Clubs held in Kingston recently, three Toronto members were elected to the Federal Executive after it had been decided to remedy the trying situation arising from an executive chosen from widely scattered districts. Claude MacDonald, III Meds, was elected president; Martin Morrissey, Osgoode '49, treasurer, and Margaret Reid, Social Work '48, secretary.

There were delegates from twenty-one universities across the Dominion. Toronto had about twenty-five representatives in attendance.

The I S is planning to inaugurate a service to aid foreign students arriving on the campus in finding residences, arranging courses, and smoothing out their problems.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

NIGHT EDITOR: Pat Quinn
ASSISTANTS: Jim Simpson, Jane Cameron

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1949

How Long Does A Hero Live...?

The Varsity, November 11, 1926.

Today, surely, it is permitted us to look beyond the dissension and the disillusionment of the past and to see the beauty which, all unknown to them, was in the lives and in the deaths of these men and women.

How long does a hero live . . . to a parent? Each time a name is mentioned; each time a Silver Star is taken from the velvet box; each time a childhood friend is passed on the street—the hero lives forever.

The Varsity, November 11, 1923.

Then let us thank God upon our knees for the things that our men did, and let us pray that their memory may never fail and that we may so live in these days of peace, that when the bugle sounds again, it may find us as willing to do as they have done, and die as they have died.

How long does a hero live . . . to a veteran? When the lone call of a bugle sounds up the memories of those days . . . days of deliberate madness, of deafening boredom, of men who gave friendship as freely as a word . . . days that are clouded in dreamlike unreality where grotesque half-shadows fill the air with blurred cries. That is how long the veteran's hero lives.

The Varsity, November 11, 1921.

They died. Thank God they were able to die and die gloriously, fighting, as fought the martyrs of old, for the emancipation of humanity from the thraldom of sin. For they were engaged in the great fight that was the business of the Son of God during His lifetime in Palestine nineteen centuries ago.

How long does a hero live . . . to others? He is born every November 11 at 11 o'clock. He is present at public places—at ceremonies replete with eulogies, massed bands and printed directions as to programs and prayers. He is not present at union meetings, directors' conferences or Regimental Balls. He is surrounded by the sheen of some ethereal cloth, which somehow distorts his resemblance to what he ever was. He does not move when the traffic-stilled silence solemnly declares that all are conforming to official directives. He does not speak. He dies at two minutes past 11.

The Varsity, November 11, 1938.

As we pause for two minutes let us remember for what they died, how they fought and died. Let us remember some of those who are suffering the atrocities of warfare, because we are greedy enough to seek the almighty dollar in the war markets of the world—let us remember that Canadians can do something constructive for the sake of peace.

How long does a hero live . . . to a hero? Just as long as it takes a laughing boy to slide down the sides of a fat haystack . . . just as long as it takes to drain a misty glass on a sun-drenched afternoon . . . just as long as it takes to say "I do" . . . just as long as it takes a .50 calibre bullet to crumple a warm chest.

Celebrations, Rituals And Luxuries

There is a lot to be said when people start talking and thinking about Remembrance Day. Most of us believe that it would be dishonorable not to show in some way that we who live have not forgotten the sacrifice made by those who left for battle and did not come back. Remembrance Day Services are held, therefore, and honest people say fine things which are very often true about the war dead.

Some of us believe that the observance of Remembrance Day, as we know it, defeats its own purpose. Those of us who believe this are not necessarily cold and heartless, nor the kind of people who irresponsibly glory in showing disrespect to all traditions, whether they be noble and good or otherwise. We don't like misery and unhappiness and we try to avoid it.

Our criticism of Remembrance Day Celebrations, for in a sense celebrations they are, is that they tend to teach our children to like war. Much unconscious learning takes place in children. Certain attitudes towards things and institutions are formed that are very powerful in directing the child's later learning. If learning is to be valid, the symbol must represent what it pretends to represent.

Does the picture in a child's mind of a colorful military parade amidst waving flags, beautiful wreathes and inspiring speeches symbolize a scene of men writhing in burning, stinking agony, penned up in a scorching foxhole that the flame-throwers have attacked?

Does the fine moral feeling reflected by the picture of hundreds of heads bowed in reverent silence symbolize the moral degradation exemplified by the scene of a young Canadian, justifiably looked upon with respect in his own community, after being exposed to months of warfare brutally and cold-bloodedly turning a machine gun on some two dozen defenseless enemy prisoners?

Why give our children a picture of the true, the beautiful and the good as a symbol of the false, the ugly and the evil?

Let us be honest enough to recognize that Remembrance Day services result from our desire to show honor to the dead, but that in satisfying this desire we lose more for the living than we gain for the dead. Are these services not an emotional luxury we cannot well afford?

RCAF NEWS

For Veteran and Non-Veteran Undergrads

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L.

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants — FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER undergrads due to graduate in '53, '54 or '55 from Architec., Lib. Sch., Meds, OT, OCE, Phys. Ther., or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3, preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.)

All interested veteran or non-veteran undergrads (including those who have already filed applications) are asked to attend a meeting in Room 135, Physics Building, on Tuesday, 15th November, at 5.10 p.m. sharp.

Our Readers Write

Remembrance Day

Editor, The Varsity:

Just exactly what should we remember on November 11? On this day the phrase "they gave their lives for us" will be repeated many times. Surely it is the extreme of egotism to assume that some poor, dirty, dog-tired joker, shivering in the middle of a large mud puddle in the bottom of a small foxhole in the company of battalions of ravenous lice is going to "give" his life for anybody. He has probably just finished reading about labor troubles at home, and how the dispirited Germans are on the verge of surrender but he is probably too nervous about all the German scrap metal flying around to even be mad. As far as he is concerned, if he happens to get in the way of some of this ironware it is a very regrettable accident. He doesn't want to die, and if he should, it is a mistake. The thought of some politician basking in the self-indulgence of having been sacrificed for certainly doesn't make a very big impression on most ex-servicemen, and when the basking

(Continued on Page 4)

S. A. C. BULLETIN

BLUE & WHITE BAND—ARMISTICE DAY PARADE—Meet in the Drill Hall at 10 a.m. Dress—Uniforms less capes

REHEARSAL—Friday, 5 p.m.—Drill Hall.

U. of T. FILM SOCIETY—Will hold its third meeting this Sunday afternoon at 2.20 p.m. sharp in the Museum Theatre.

NOTE THIS CHANGE OF TIME. Programme: German films "Uberfall"; "Berlin."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Lecture Series

The second lecture will be given by MRS. R. F. McWILLIAMS, D.Litt.

on the subject

ON THE WAY TO GREATNESS

Friday, November 11, at 8.30 p.m

West Hall, University College

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 today.

TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL

The second in the series of Tuesday Informal Recitals will be presented by Mr. Pierre Boutet, tenor, in the East Common Room at 1.25 p.m. on Tuesday, 15th November.

ART GALLERY

The exhibition now on view in the Hart House Art Gallery is composed of oil and water colour abstract paintings by Bertram Brooker. Mr. Brooker will give a talk on this exhibition at 1.30 p.m. next Thursday, 17th November, in the gallery. All members are cordially invited to attend. The Art Gallery is open to members during the following hours: Monday through Friday, 12.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. and 5.00 to 7.00 p.m.

CAMERA CLUB

Mr. Johannus Holmboe will present a series of colour slides taken in Norway and Sweden, at 1.20 p.m. Thursday, 17th November.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT

Representatives from the various faculties and colleges may obtain their tickets on Monday, 14th November, for the concert to be given on Sunday 20th November. Dr. Robert Graham, violinist will be the artist on this occasion.

THE VARSITY

Friday, November 11, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Skule Edged By St. Mike's In Unity Vote

"That Canada should have a unitary form of government" was the decision reached by a 20-19 vote at a debate of St. Michael's College last night in Brennan Hall. St. Michael's supported the motion and SPS opposed.

Ed Eberle, IV SMC, introduced the motion. After explaining what the affirmative wanted—one Canadian government and the abolition of the present system of provincial governments—he gave a brief resume of historical facts pertinent to the problem. He maintained that the fathers of confederation desired a unitary form of government. Had it not been for the limitations imposed upon the Dominion government by the provinces, he asserted the troubles of depression in Saskatchewan during the 30's might have been remedied.

Eberle claimed that Canada actually had a unitary form of government in the war years and that this did not result in federal oppression. He ended by bemoaning the existing over-lapping bureaus with their great additional expense.

Opposing the motion, Heinz Feldburg, III-SPS, denied the truth of an affirmative claim that Canada suffers in international circles from a lack of full federal sovereignty. He pointed out that the provincial system with its appeal to arbitration and not to authority is the more truly democratic.

The racial and the linguistic, the deligious and the cultural divisions in the Dominion were used as an argument against the motion. "Paradoxically as it may seem," Feldburg said, "separation has satisfied both groups, and by satisfying them it has served to unite them."

Attempting to refute the opposition claim that the federal system in the United States is successful, Dave Quigley, IV-SMC, stated that the trend in that nation is toward a unitary form of government. He cited the poll tax in the South as a remnant of the federal system.

Quigley asked for a one supreme government, administered locally. To obtain equal welfare rights throughout Canada, he advised the abolition of the provincial set-up.

Next Jack Crossman, III-SPS, opposing the motion, appealed to a recognition of the geographical factors involved. He told the House that under the present system, residents of certain localities are more sure of representatives who are acquainted with local problems. Orders in Council were needed in wartime, he said; but Canadians don't want them now.

Following Crossman's speech came additional views, pro and con, from the floor, and the final rebuttal.

RCAF

Students interested in the Royal Canadian Air Force see notice elsewhere in this issue of The Varsity about a meeting to be held on Tuesday, November 15.

"We'll Do It This Way"

—Varsity Staff Photo by Bob Rapp

A week from last night and the men from the south end of the campus blossom out in their full glory. From November 17 to 19 Skule Nite takes over the Hart House Theatre for its annual "extravaganza." Sol Freindly practices his song and dance routine while other members of the cast look on in full approval.

Follies' Dress Rehearsal Fascinates Or Exhausts

"Heave that set, tote that light, you worked all day, and you'll work all night" was last night's theme song for the U. C. Follies of '49.

The show, six musical numbers ranging from an Aztec Ballet, to a Bloomer chorus, and four comedy skits, opens tonight in Hart House Theatre, and, as usual, the dress rehearsal was held yesterday at the theatre.

Lights were flashing, girls in short shorts were playing bridge or knitting, and a pretty chorine, in red and white for the opening cheerleader number, was placidly reading the adventures of L'il Abner.

Adding to the turmoil were three photographers from the downtown par . who dashed about looking for likely subjects.

Take-off U. C. Yell

Everyone was pretty well settled down however by the time dress rehearsal started, shortly after ten o'clock. The opening number featured a take-off on the U.C. yell, you know, the Kazillika, Zillika . . one.

Next on stage was a comedy skit entitled "Plastered in Television." We were surprised to find no one in the act showed the slightest sign of being plastered. On the contrary, the skit told the story of Mr. Bristle, Dr. Smith and Coach Clasperson, three former employees of the University, who were forced to relinquish their jobs because of television. Here's what you've been waiting for . . . they entered the PLASTERING trade.

Sylvia Grant, winner of the I.S.S talent hunt for the university, sang a duet with Bill Copeland entitled "Do We Always." Oh Sylvia . . . . !

An old melodrama in a casual air proved a real laugh-catcher to the rest of the cast, who were scurrying from back stage between numbers to see the rest of the show. A horseman galloping off to see his love was aptly "sounded" by a sound effects man slapping his knee (on stage, of course).

Deadline time interrupted our reverie about this time. (We didn't fall asleep, it was those chorus girls). We passed the Follies producers,

(Continued on Page 5)

NFCUS Suggests Arts Commission Hear Student Idea

The Federal Government should give university students and professors a voice in the operation of such agencies as the national archives and the national library, it was suggested in yesterday's meeting of the Toronto NFCUS committee in Trinity College.

Send Committee Brief

The suggestion was included in a statement sent by the committee to the University of British Columbia committee, which is preparing part of a brief to be presented by the national organization of NFCUS to the Massey Commission on the Arts, Letters, and Sciences. The brief will be on Federal Aid For Higher Education.

The Toronto committee's statement said: "We would like to see some representation of university opinion on the governing bodies. This would facilitate the communication of ideas from students and professors alike to the controlling group."

Microfilm Documents

Other suggestions in the statement included requests for scholarships, grants to universities and microfilming of documents in the Public Archives and the Parliamentary Library "so that graduate students may study primary sources without frequent trips to Ottawa."

Work of the National Film Board was praised in the statement.

While discussing NFCUS work to aid students in travelling overseas, committee president Tom Symons reported that Don Seldon of the national executive and Warren Wilkins, III Trinity, hope to make arrangements with a shipping company for discounts for students.

A suggestion that a ship might be chartered for students going to Europe in the summer led Symons to say that this was the eventual aim but not yet practicable.

It was decided that there should be an inquiry to see whether Canadian students might go overseas under a plan run in the United States by an organization called "Youth Argosy." Youth Argosy buys tickets which students can buy in the spring, after regular ticket agencies have often sold all tickets.

Symons described to the committee arrangements being made for the visit to Toronto this weekend of Richey Love, national president of NFCUS. He said the committee would meet Love Saturday morning in Trinity College Board Room at 11 o'clock.

Medicine Treats Mind With Body In New Approach

Montreal—(CUP)—Nov. 9—"The object of psychosomatic medicine is to bring together the organic and psychological approaches into medical practice." This was the central theme of an address given by Dr. B. B. Raginsky to a point meeting of the Pre-Medical and Psychology Clubs last night in the Physics Building.

Dr. Raginsky, a pioneer in this field, now working at the Jewish General Hospital in Montreal, defined his subject "psychosomatic medicine" as the application of psychic factors in organic diseases. The speaker showed that Socrates twenty-five hundred years ago emphasized the importance of the mind as well as the body in the treatment of disorders, but his ideas were put aside until they were revived by Birdshaw one hundred years ago.

Research continued from autopsies to examinations of living patients until at the present time the person's complete life history is considered both in the diagnosis and treatment of his illness.

The speaker dealt with the problems of psychosomatic medicine. He said that the problem is two-fold, one aspect being the person's organic condition and the second aspect the emotional and mental makeup of the individual. Treatment of disease involves consideration of these two aspects. Psychosomatic medicine is not a specialized field, but tries to diagnose the illness, bearing both, of these factors in mind.

Among the techniques used in psychosomatic medicine are included interviews with both the patient and his immediate friends, intelligence tests and hypnosis. These bring out some of the causes of the disease. By mental deduction the treatment is determined from the information gathered by these means.

The next stage is the treatment itself, which takes both a shock treatment and "the truth serum," while organic treatment includes administration of ordinary surgery and other hospital treatments.

In conclusion, the speaker dealt with applications in the recent World War, when psychosomatic medicine was used in many cases to cure various forms of neuroses caused by the war. Application to everyday life concluded the address.

Trend In Britain Noted By Parry In McGill Talk

Montreal, Nov. 9.—(CUP)—The trend now in Britain's nationalization program is the setting up of public corporations instead of government departments, said Prof. David Hughes Parry, director of the University of London Institute For Advanced Legal Studies, declared in an address at Moyse Hall last night.

Around the beginning of the century, he said, everyone thought of government control in terms of the British Post Office which is part of the government and controlled by a Minister of the Crown who is directly responsible to Parliament.

However, in a typical British way, the present system grew up in a haphazard and empirical manner and has evolved into the present system of public corporations which are not directly controlled by any Cabinet Minister, he said.

Professor Parry went on to say that he saw three tendencies in the development of public enterprise. The first was the separation of the administrative and financial affairs of these concerns from the ordinary civil service. The second was the establishment of regional and national monopolies. The third tendency, he said, was the increasing recognition of the interests of the consumers.

While some left wing members of the Labour Party have demanded complete nationalization of land, he said, the government has not as

(Continued on Page 7)

Old Age

"Fond Memory Brings The Light..."

By HERB WOOD

Oft, in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond Memory brings the light
Of other days around me;
The smiles, the tears,
Of boyhood's years . . .

Along the corridors of University College walked an 81-year-old man with the vitality of a man half his age. He was not an old grad attempting to recapture the long lost spirit of freshman years, but a man with something he wanted to pass on before he died. It was difficult trying to interest people. They were just not interested in what a man of 81 had to say.

Together we hurried along the halls as if every minute was so precious and time so little. Stopping before that ancient and medieval door on the East side of UC, he leaned forward and pointed excitedly at the wrought iron ring . . . even lifted it a few times and let it fall. "Look at this, it's all hand work. Where did you ever see that on a door?"

Opening the door to see better, he pointed out the massive hinges and the sturdy latch. "And look at that, you can't buy that in a hardware; it's a lost art. Look at that . . . you can't buy that today."

We hurried to other doors on the East side and each time he proudly pointed out the workmanship of these old-fashioned locks, hinges, hasps and latches. Some of the doors had modern spring locks. . . . "It's modern but your discarding what you can't replace," he said.

English Craftsman

William Thomas Mitford Moore was the man who fashioned this wrought iron work. He came from Congleton, Cheshire, England about 1856 to do this work. Later he went to Ottawa where he died.

It was the grandson, Thomas Mitford Moore, who had such pride in his grandfather's work. He felt the need to pass on this information, since after he dies the link with the past will be broken forever.

Half-way along the hall on our return trip we happened to stop and talk for a while. The time passed quickly as he reminisced and I listened. Born in Stratford, he ran away to New York and became a newspaperman and remained at this job for fifteen years. That was 65 years ago. That was during the days of Tammany Hall. Three dollars a day was darn good pay.

Old New York

On a recent visit to New York he revisited Beecher's Plymouth Church, and quite by chance sat in a pew marked, "In 1863, Abraham Lincoln sat in this seat." The service was forgotten and he relived his reportorial days when he covered this church on a Sunday night along with five other reporters from as many New York papers.

The six of them all sat together in the front pew. Mr. Beecher had a stool on the platform for his Bible and a chair for himself.

One night, as was his habit, he handed his prepared speech to the first man in the pew. "I prepared a sermon, boys, but on the way to church I heard a man say, 'It's as hot as hell' . . . that will be the text of my sermon tonight."

In those days, when Beecher spoke the whole world listened and the papers ran three columns in the Monday edition.

Of course you or I don't have the faintest idea about events 65 years ago, nevertheless there is something to be said for getting your history first hand. I'm afraid a lot of elderly men are called crackpots. But rather they are men who have simply outlived their generation.

To paraphrase Shaw, it's a shame to waste the wealth of experience on old age. . . .

Engineers' Dean Deplores Conduct At Fall Banquet

Vancouver — (CUP) — Conduct of engineers of the University of British Columbia at their fall banquet was condemned by Dean Walter S. Gage at a meeting of the Engineering Undergraduate Society.

"For three years now," he said, "the banquet has been an unorganized, disgraceful, crude brawl."

It was with a feeling of guilt, he said hat he approached public spirited individuals for scholarship funds. When asked: "What good will it do when students don't know the value of money and can't exercise privileges," he said he had no answer.

"This type of action is very dangerous because it makes it difficult for deans to convince the public that this is an institution of higher learning when all it sees is students destroying property and conducting themselves in a disordarly manner."

He said that if the banquet had taken place among "savages or cannibals," then the action of participants might have been understood.

A number of prominent men were invited to speak but were treated with disrespect, according to Dean Gage.

"If I had been a speaker," he said, I would have gone away and had nothing more to do with the university."

"We must convince the public that we are no longer schoolboys, and act like people who have had the advantage of higher education."

Engineering students, he said had more chance to improve public opinion of the university, because they are more organized and homogeneous than other faculties. They can make a contribution of "convincing the public that this is an institution worth supporting."

A motion was passed that disciplinary talks be held before next year's banquet, that no liquor be permitted. And that commissionaires be hired to maintain order.

A speaker from the floor said that if liquor would not be permitted, the banquet shouldn't be held because this was "just covering up the fact that the engineers can't hold their liquor."

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

CARNEGIE RECORD HOUR

Bach, Bradenburg Concerto No. 5 (Cortot, Thibaud, Paris Sym.); Healey Willan, Piano, Concerto (Agnes Butcher, CBC Orch.); Debussy, Afternoon of a Faun (Beecham, London Phil.); Roy Harris, Symphony No. 3 (Koussevitsky-Boston Sym.).

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman's Cercle Francaise is holding a meeting at 8:30 this evening.

U.C. RECORD HOUR

Students in the faculty of music will present a memorial day concert in the theatre of the Women's Union today from 4 to 6. Song and piano groups will make the programme. All faculties are welcome.

BADMINTON CLUB

Come and play badminton with the All-University Badminton Club in the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall tonight from 8:00 until 11:00 p.m. All badminton players are cordially invited.

HUMANIST CLUB

A meeting of the Humanist Club will be held Friday, Nov. 11, in Room 6 U.C. at 1:00 to discuss apathy to social issues. Everybody welcome.

PEACE COUNCIL

At 4 p.m. today, the Rev. I. G. Perkins will speak in the Women's Union under the sponsorship of the University of Toronto Peace Council on the topic "Putting Peace First". Mr. Perkins, now minister of Donlands United Church, is a graduate of the university who was for 17 years superintendent of work among new Canadians in Sault St. Marie, where he gained experience in the problems of reconciling different races and beliefs.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE LECTURES

"On The Way To Greatness,"

will be the subject of Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, D.Litt., today at 8:30 in West Hall University College. Students and the Public are cordially invited.

SALVATION ARMY ASSOCIATION

S. A. students are reminded that the regular meeting of the Association is in Room 95 of U.C. basement today at 1:20 p.m.

ISS Notes

The ISS is an all Canadian Campii. Its purpose is to carry out a programme devoted to international education, and university welfare. The ISS is an international body with headquarters in Geneva.

✦ ✦ ✦

During the past two summers ISS has sponsored international seminars in Germany and Holland. These seminars have done much on a small scale to improve international relations. Next summer the seminar is going to be repeated in France.

✦ ✦ ✦

The ISS has brought five European students from DP camps in Germany to study at the U of T. These students are registered in the four arts colleges. These students have come to Canada with high hopes which must be fulfilled.

PLEASE!

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

Forbearance And Idealism For Peace

Sackville, N.B.—(CUP)—"Let us not suppose that the conflict between opposing philosophies can be solved by war, or must be solved by war," said Lord Beaverbrook in an address at Mount Allison University last week. "Let there be Christian forebearance for the men in the countries where the rival doctrine prevails, and let there also be idealism at work among us, influencing politics, maintaining public life, and finding its practical realization in forms and acts of government which will be wise and sound and will carry with them the consent of all people."

Readers Write

(Continued from Page 2)

is done publicly with the idea of increasing political stature it leaves a bad taste in the mouth.

The thing to remember is why so many people who wanted to live were, by force of circumstances, deprived of that life to which they clung with such tenacity. Was all this waste and suffering to no purpose? Certainly the politician's promise that democracy would be saved and peace assured has hardly been vindicated. The victors seem relatively no better off than the vanquished. Nothing has been solved, nothing accomplished but destruction. We received a sharp object lesson on the folly of war, yet so many people seem to have forgotten it that today the headlines are strongly reminiscent of 1938. The people who have the best cause to remember are dead, and we in remembering them, should not degrade them with sophistry and sentiment, but should try to forestall a similar holocaust in the future.

Not by disarming so we couldn't fight, not by communist witch hunts working ourselves up to a pitch of hate and a frenzy of democratic fanaticism will this be accomplished. We must be crafty, reasoning, compromising, in short, we should take a stand for truth and the dignity of the individual in a world of realism where these institutions are under constant attack. The most dangerous attack comes from within, from the zealots who try to draw a film over our intelligence with such phrases as "communist infiltration," fascist exploitation" and "they died for us."

A Veteran.

Ed. Note: The Varsity has deliberately concealed the name of the letter writer.

During the next couple of years, ... on the U of T campus hopes to open an International House on ... campus, as has been done in Chicago and New York.

SKULE NITE TICKETS

LAST CHANCE

For Engineers and Architects

TO-DAY

10 - 12 and 1 - 4

In Mining Bldg. Only

No A.T.L. Card Required

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN

THE ALL VARSITY REVUE

1949-50??

See Monday's Varsity

mike lucas AND HIS Starlight Serenaders

TELEPHONE LO. 2251

VARSITY STUDENTS AFTER THE GAME—COME TO THE

HOGTOWN HOP

T-DANCE

BAN RIGH HALL—ON THE CAMPUS

NOVEMBER 12—4.30-8.00 P.M.

50 cents per person

DRINK—

Wilson's COLA

5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

VIC INFORMAL

The 25th of November

Is a date to remember

For no one who's normal

Will Miss the Informal—

★ ★ ★

— We've been planning the thing since September

TICKETS ON SALE NOV. 15

Lady Anne REG'D

COLLAR CARDIGAN with piping down front for the new tailored look! All wool, popularly priced, everywhere!

Lady Anne REG'D TORONTO - CANADA

P-2-LT'S DON'T FORGET YOUR

C.O.T.C. ANNUAL MILITARY BALL

ART MUSIC DRAMA

TSO — Boszormenyi-Nagi

Bela Boszormenyi-Nagy gave a fine performance of a very good piano concerto at the regular Toronto Symphony concert this week; the third Bartok concerto could not fail to appeal immediately to the listener otherwise unschooled in the highly individual style of earlier Bartok works; that he managed this molding of his own idiom to a form of more popular understanding may well provide an opening to a more wide-spread reception of Bela Bartok's music.

In view of this, we feel happy about Mr. Boszormenyi-Nagy's sincerely musical performance of the work, a performance unadorned by any of the distracting showmanship tricks to which many a lesser pianist might be inspired, particularly by the powerful finish of the last movement. One could have wished, however, for a more deliberately classic interpretation of the chorale in the second movement; this theme, of great structural solidity, disdains the imposition of any of the quasi-romantic expressiveness which the pianist seemed inclined to introduce at times — the more so, perhaps, due to the important function it serves in the movement as a setting for the highly expressive ecstacy of sounds in what the program refers to as the night music of birds and insects. The magnificent fusion of moods in this second movement tends to make it stand out as a high point in the concerto — the third movement, of great dynamic and rhythmic interest, incorporates a strong bit of fugal writing which yet serves more as an intensification of the general character of the work than as anything of great significance in itself.

The supporting program by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra was well chosen and accurately performed for the most part: included was the Symphony in D major of Mozart, and the Death of Clarchen by Beethoven deserves a word of approval for the care and accuracy displayed by the orchestra. In addition we must mention with due praise the work of the young Canadian, Frederick Karam: Poem For Strings was well received.

William Girvin.

Stignani

The intelligentsia had themselves a fine musical evening the other night when the Italian mezzo-soprano Ebe Stignani treated a full Eaton Auditorium to a magnificent display of vocal art. Even an audience which seemed staid and subdued at the start ended by shouting "Bravos!" It was that kind of evening.

Madame Stignani arrived here last year via a chance happening, and was so impressive that she was (according to the propagandist of the Women's Musical Club of Toronto) the enthusiastic choice of all for the opening open concert. She was more than up to expectation and memory. Her lower register is resonant and controlled, and her upper notes are full and sure. She has probably the most powerful voice I have heard, and there is no hint of coarseness when volume is required. Always it remains masculine in strength. It all resulted, especially when she sang encores which were more exciting than part of the program, in quite a triumph for the quiet-mannered singer in a night of songs without theatricals.

Her opening group (Scarlatti's "Oh! Cessate di piagarmi" and "Se Florindo e fedele" and Durante's "Danza!") left no doubt as to her impressive gifts. There was no need for a trial period. They are songs of controlled emotion, not abandon, which gives scope to Madame Stignani's unfailing resources of technique and familiarity. She also sang two Ercole arias, "Chiare onde Da due venti," by Vivaldi in which all the lyric qualities arrived disciplined and neither sticky nor scholastic.

Just before intermission she sang Gluck's "Che faro senza Euridice" with surprising emotion (e.g., as compared to the recently played Carnegie version) which was to my liking. A Trovatore encore sent all scuttling out to compare notes.

However, we returned to some dull, introspective affairs which seemed neither to my nor to the audience's taste. Happily done with these, she turned to de Falla's Canciones Espanolas. A roused house followed the display of magnificent breath control, amazing range, and overwhelming power, all done within the framework of graceful, rhythmic tubes. In themselves the songs are, though taxing, immediately pleasant; but when examined by perfect sensitivity of mind and capacity of instrument, you are put beyond legitimate expectation.

The closing words of the last song were, "All I want to do is to forget you!" This was not the audience's reaction, and hence she finished a limp crowd by wringing them with Mascagni and others.

While it was her night, one ought to mention so sensitive an aide as Mr. Ulanowsky. The highest tribute I can pay is that he matched her in musicianship. She may visit us again, so remember her name and reward yourself by hearing a rare artist.

Murray Pashler

Library Planned For McMaster As A Memorial

Hamilton—(CUP)—One of Canada's most modern library buildings, and the first unit of a Student Union, will be built on McMaster Campus, President G. P. Gilmour announced this week. Construction will begin as soon as contractors can assemble materials. Cost of the new library, to be called the Mills Memorial Library, in honour of the late David B. Mills of St. Catharines, a pioneer in the motor industry, will exceed $500,000. The building is expected to be completed and furnished before the summer of 1951.

• COMING EVENTS •

POLISH STUDENTS' CLUB

There will be a general meeting at Heintzman Hall at 28 Heintzman Ave. on Sunday, Nov. 13. All students of Polish descent are invited to attend.

✣ ✣ ✣

NFCUS

The National NFCUS President will meet the Toronto Committee in the Trinity Board Room tomorrow, Saturday, at 11 a.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN BADMINTON

The Newman Badminton Club will meet at the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall at 7:30, Mon., Nov. 14.

✣ ✣ ✣

SCM

The third in the SCM's "Visiting the Denominations" series will be Sunday, Nov. 13. The service is at 7:00 and the Fireside at 8:30 at Walmer Rd. Baptist Church.

✣ ✣ ✣

WYMILWOOD CONCERT

Miss Margaret Kerr, mezzo-soprano, will sing at the Sunday Evening Wymilwood Concert. Included in her programme will be songs by Italian, French, German and English composers.

✣ ✣ ✣

FILM SOCIETY

The U. of T. Film Society's meeting this Sunday will be held at 2:20 p.m. sharp in the Museum Theatre. Note this change of time. The programme includes UBERFALL, BERLIN, and HUE AND CRY.

MEDICAL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Meds-Nurses Fireside this coming Sunday evening, in the East Nurses' residence of the Toronto General Hospital. The time is 9 p.m. The speaker will be the Rev. Robert Barr of Knox Presbyterian Church.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC VCF

Vic VCF on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 1:20 p.m., Mr. W. Sutherland will speak in the chapel on the topic "What Is the VCF?"

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN CLUB

The Osgoode Group will sponsor a dance at Newman Club Saturday night, with proceeds in aid of the Red Feather Campaign. The Music Appreciation Group will meet in the Oak Room, Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

✣ ✣ ✣

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP

On Wed., Nov. 16, at 8:00 p.m. at Wymilwood, Dr. J. S. Glen of Knox College will speak on "Why I Am A Presbyterian." There will be a short piano recital at the close of the lecture. All students are cordially invited.

Follies' Dress

(Continued from Page 3)

John Bull and Jane Young, on the way out.

"It's a terrific show," they gasped, and fell into each other's arms in mock exhaustion. From what we saw, it was.

SIGMA ALPHA MU

Anniversary Ball

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26

KING EDWARD HOTEL — CRYSTAL BALLROOM

$4.00 couple

Mart Kenney and His Orchestra

Proceeds to Mt. Sinai Hospital and U.J.A.

NOTICE

PLEASE NOTE CHANGE FROM THE DATES APPEARING IN OUR CURRENT CALENDARS

At Commencement next Spring there will be nine separate Convocation ceremonies according to the following schedule:

LATE MAY — Agriculture and Veterinary Medicine at Guelph

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 6th — Honorary Degrees and Graduate Degrees

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7th — morning and afternoon — Applied Science and Engineering — Architecture

THURSDAY, JUNE 8th — morning: Professional Schools — afternoon: Arts

FRIDAY, JUNE 9th — morning: Arts — afternoon: Arts

LATE JUNE — Medicine

2nd WEEK

THE POIGNANT LOVE STORY OF A GIRL WHO PASSED FOR WHITE

Pinky

JEANNE CRAIN · ETHEL BARRYMORE
ETHEL WATERS · WILLIAM LUNDIGAN

Produced by DARRYL F. ZANUCK · Directed by ELIA KAZAN

SPECIAL STUDENT ADMISSION
DAILY TO 6.00 P.M. 35¢ INC. TAX
(SAT., 5.00 P.M.)
PLEASE PRESENT YOUR A.T.L. CARD

UNIVERSITY — A FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE
BLOOR ST. WEST NEAR BAY

STAMMERING

Stammering corrected by modern scientific methods. Dormitory & Camp. Helpful 48-page booklet gives full information. Write today for FREE copy.
W. D. Dennison, 543 Jarvis St. Toronto

IT'S A MIRACLE!
IT'S A DREAM!
I'VE DISCOVERED A PEN!
THAT WRITES UNDER SOUR CREAM!

And I've discovered a shop crammed with choicest imported GABARDINES, FLANNELS, GLEN CHECKS and EVER-WEARING COVERT CLOTHS. It's the friendly STAIRWAY SHOP of "five minutes from the campus" . . . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE ST. MI. 9010

Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. on the south side.
Trousers tailored in 5 days for only $14.95—so help us!

YOUR LAST CHANCE

To See The U.C. Follies

→ TONIGHT ←

ONLY A HANDFUL OF TICKETS ARE LEFT FOR THE SATURDAY SHOWS

TICKETS FOR FRIDAY 7:30 and 10:30 SHOWS ON SALE:

- U. C. ROTUNDA — 10 - 6
- ECONOMICS BLDG. — 10 - 2
- HART HOUSE BOX OFFICE — 6 - 9

SATURDAY MORNING SALE U. C. ROTUNDA — 10 - 1

SPECIAL ATTRACTION

Sound Pictures "U.C. Steals Skule Cannon"

Apprenticeship Is Suggested For Medical Students

Medical students might be apprenticed to general practitioners outside the city during summer vacations, President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto, suggested at the anniversary dinner of the Ontario Hospital Association in Toronto recently. Local doctors said that such a plan had been considered in the profession for some time.

"Some general practitioners might be a good influence, but others might be bad teachers," commented one doctor, and suggested that some method of selection of general practitioners to teach students would be necessary.

PIG LEFT OUT

The term "pigskin" for football is incorrect, since nearly all are made of a tough, resilient cowhide especially embossed.

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

Bloor Street East

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 3.30 P.M.

"SLEEPERS WAKE"—Bach

by

The combined choirs of St. Paul's Church, St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church and the Hart House Glee Club Choir.

Frederick Silvester, Guest Solo Organist

Charles Peaker, Conductor.

ST. PAUL'S-AVENUE RD.-UNITED CHURCH

121 Avenue Road—3 blocks above Bloor

AGNES DAVIS

Metropolitan Opera Soprano

"Thirty-nine performances with the Philharmonic Symphony alone"

In song recital assisted by the choir of St. Paul's Avenue Road choir under the direction of John McNight

Monday evening, November 14 — 8:30 p.m.

Admision $1.00 at St. Paul's-Avenue Road-United Church.

First Church of Christ Scientist

St. George St. at Lowther Ave.

Branch of The Mother Church,

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13th

Subject

"MORTALS and IMMORTALS"

SUNDAY SERVICES

11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Pupils and visitors up to the age of twenty years welcome.

11 A.M.

WED. EVENING MEETING

Including testimonies of healing through Christian Science

8 A.M.

FREE PUBLIC

READING ROOM

Where the Bible and authorized Christian Science Literature may be read, borowed or purchased.

120 BLOOR STREET WEST

All are Welcome

TRINITY COLLEGE CHAPEL

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13th

8:15 A.M.—HOLY COMMUNION

11:00 A.M.—MATTINS

Preacher:

The Reverend

Dr. E. R. Fairweather

All students of the University are welcome at all services in the College Chapel.

CHURCH OF THE MESSIAH

Avenue Rd at Dupont St.

(Anglican)

Clergy

Rev. W. R. Sproule

Rev. Maurice S. Flint

Sunday Services

9 a.m., 11 a.m. & 7 p.m.

Bible Study & Fellowship Group after Evening Service. Choristers will be warmly welcomed in our Choir.

Frank G. Wharram

Organist & Choirmaster

ST. JAMES' CATHEDRAL

Cor. King and Church Sts.

8:00 a.m. HOLY COMMUNION

9:15 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION

11.00 a.m.—Memorial Service

Sermon: THE DEAN

MORNING SUNDAY SCHOOL

3:00 p.m. Sunday School

3.00 p.m. Toronto Artillery Regiments. Memorial Service.

Sermon: Hon. Major the Rev. J. W. Forth, M.B.E.

7:00 p.m.—EVENSONG

Sermon: The Dean

Holy Communion

Wed. and Fri., 7.30 a.m.

CHURCH of the REDEEMER

Bloor St. West and Avenue Road

RECTOR;

REV. H. R. HUNT, M.A., B.D.

8 A.M.

Holy Communion

11 a.m.—Dedication of War Memorial Tablet by Right Rev. A. R. Beverley, D.D., Bishop of Toronto.

3 p.m.—Bible Class conducted by Rev. M. J. Cathcart, B.A.

7 p.m.—Rector: "The Value of Waiting"

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S

(ANGLICAN)

Ulster St. at Manning

(From the University, west on Harbord to Manning, south 1 block)

REV. R. F. T. BRAIN, M.C., Rector—KI. 8291

Healey Willan, Mus. Doc. Organist

EVERY SUNDAY

8 and 9.30 Holy Communion

11 Solemn Eucharist and Sermon

7 Evensong, Sermon and Devotions

Students who would like to join server's Guild or Choirs, please see the Rector.

KNOX

Spadina and Harbord

Minister: Rev. Robert Barr, M.A.

9.45 a.m.—Adult Bible Class

11 a.m.—Remembrance Service

"Jesus and the Sepulchre of the Dead"

7 p.m. "His Glorious Name" (8) Jesus—the Word of God

8.30 p.m. Knox Fellowship

The Rev. John Anderson and Mrs. Anderson of C.I.G.M. will speak and show moving pictures.

Students cordially invited to all services.

PARK ROAD

Park Rd. and Asquith Ave.

Minister

Rev. C. G. Stone, D.D.,

11 a.m.—"RECEPTIVITY — THE LAW OF LIFE"

7 p.m.—YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE

(Introducing Clair Clark, Director)

Muriel Gidley—Director of Music

WALMER ROAD BAPTIST CHURCH

(1 block north and west of Spadina and Bloor)

(Near the University)

Rev. C. Howard Bentall, B.A., B.D.

Rev. David B. Phillips, B.A., B.D.

11 a.m.—"COME TO THREE TAVERNS"

12.05—BIBLE SCHOOL

Young People's Classes

7 p.m. "HIM THERE"

8.15 p.m.—Friendly Hour

Harold G. Williams

Organist and Choirmaster

Monday and Thursday—Young People's Activities

RUNNYMEDE

Baptist Church

One block north of Bloor

Rev. W. Gordon Brown, M.A.

10—Bible School for All

11—Dividing Line

7 — STUDENT NIGHT

with testimonies, address, music, by members of the Varsity Christian Fellowship and the Inter-School Christian Fellowship. Dean Brown will give a brief sermon on "What Lack I Yet?"

BLOOR ST. UNITED CHURCH

Corner Bloor and Huron Streets

Ministers:

Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, S.T.M., Ph.D., D.D.

Rev. Kenneth Irving Cleator, B.A., B.D., S.T.M.

11 a.m.

REMEMBRANCE—

DR. HOWSE

7 p.m.

Mozart's

REQUIEM

Conductor — Frederick C. Silvester

Soloists: Miss Lois Marshall, Mr. John Biddle, Mrs. Mary Palmateer, Mr. Eric Tredwell

6.40 p.m. Organ Recital

8.15 p.m. Friendship Hour

NEXT SUNDAY IS THE 63rd ANNIVERSARY

Preacher:

DR LYNN HAROLD HOUGH

ST. PAUL'S-AVENUE RD.-UNITED CHURCH

121 Avenue Road—3 blocks above Bloor

Minister—Rev. Gordon W. Porter, M.A., B.D.

Organist—Mr. John McKnight, F.T.C.L., L.R.S.M., L. Mus. (McGill)

11 a.m. — PLEASING TO CHRIST

7 p.m. — WHY STAND YE HERE IDLE?

No. 7 in the Stories of Jesus

Thursday—8.45 Albert E. Cliffe, by telephone broadcast from Montreal "Are You A Self-Starter?"

A warm welcome to students at all times.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

BLOOR W. at WALMER RD.

DR. E. CROSSLEY HUNTER, Minister

John W. Linn, Organist.

SERVICE 11 A.M. and 7 P.M.

Evening Subject: "LET THE SCIENTIST PREACH"

Final in "Religion in a Scientific-Minded World"

8.15 p.m. Fireside Hour

Would you have the ready money to seize a business opportunity?

A life insurance policy is recognized by business men as a most valuable asset because besides the protection it gives, it has borrowing value in case of need. There are many times in which the loan value of a policy may prove of great use.

The important point is to get started with your insurance programme at the earliest possible date. Life insurance rates are determined by the age of the person to be insured ... the sooner you take out a policy the lower its premium will be.

Your Mutual Life of Canada representative can help and advise you. Take him into your confidence. Explain to him your needs and your circumstances. He has been specially trained in adapting life insurance to each person's particular needs. Take advantage of his expert counsel now.

THE MUTUAL LIFE of CANADA

HEAD OFFICE 30th YEAR WATERLOO ONT

OUR READERS WRITE

Suggests Private Ball For Vic

Editor, The Varsity:

I see by the column in Wednesday's issue of The Varsity concerning the VCU meeting that good old Victoria College is going to revert to its pre-war posh and pomp of the formal dance for its Annual At-Home. In the pre-war era fees were considerably less than they are today, textbooks were cheaper, and the general cost of university living was practically nil. From that time until today the rise in costs of the aforementioned have been more or less outside of the control of the student. However, dances are not outside student control. I deem it only right that those students who would be faced with the question of either renting formal wear or staying at home should have a right to voice their opinions via the so-called "unfair" plebiscite method. Such students at Victoria College who can afford a formal fling, for them, I suggest a little ball in private. Victoria College only stages two dances a year of any account and to exclude a part of the student body from attending either one of them, to me, seems a mortal shame.

W. Kimler, III Vic.

✣ ✣ ✣

Dislikes Yell

Editor, The Varsity:

After attending the game on Saturday between Toronto and McGill, I became well acquainted with the so-called Forestry yell. According to a notice in The Varsity of Nov. 8, five dollars has been offered to the student who submits the best yell. This may or may not be what is required to persuade certain students to refrain from offending others by profanity, but it certainly does not speak well for the students of today when we hear that he has to be bribed to refrain from taking the name of Our Lord in vain.

I sincerely hope that the students who were making nuisances of themselves at last Saturday's game were not truly representative of the Faculty of Forestry.

Anne McCart, IV UC,
Art and Archaeology.

✣ ✣ ✣

Upraised Fists and Knuckles

Editor, The Varsity:

As a delegate to the Budapest Congress this summer, I found the report of the editorial of Monday, Nov. 7, extremely interesting. I wonder if the McGill Daily was correct in its criticism of Dr. Kirkconnell and his attitude on Communist activities on the campi, and among international youth bodies.

First, the SCM as a member organization of WFDY had the right and opportunity to be represented at Budapest. The SCM had the opportunity and took it in the fullest measure, of presenting their views on the problems facing the youth of the world. Is this "Communist Dominated" democracy?

Second, the McGill Daily (and also The Varsity, for that matter) neglected to mention the role of WFDY, and the fact that it has a membership of over 60 million youth form a variety of organizations, and all kinds of countries. The common aim of all within WFDY is to preserve peace. Is this the real reason for Kirkconnell's rantings?

Third, regarding Canadian participation at the IUS council meeting held in Sofia, the NFCUS representative Russ Hamilton of Dalhousie University, the SCM representative Dave Busby of Montreal, and myself, were there on an observer basis, because no Canadian organization has yet affiliated to IUS. All three Canadians spoke and were heard. The IUS and the NFCUS representatives agreed that NFCUS, although not yet prepared to affiliate, would distribute IUS material throughout Canadian universities, and open discussion on IUS problems and achievements.

Why hasn't the Canadian student press carried these facts? Why hasn't CUP distributed news from abroad which they say they have in their files? Haven't Canadian students the right to full information about IUS and student activities in the lands of socialism?

Kirkconnell and Tumpane are the spokesmen for interests who want to keep the truth from students. The Varsity must knuckle under!

Reva Steinberg,
(Delegate, National Student's Committee, LPP).

✣ ✣ ✣

Protests Meds Treatment

Editor, The Varsity,

I am the writer of a letter published in last Thursday's Varsity, in which I protested that many of the jokes in the Med's skit, in the pep rally, were definitely "below the line."

This letter is to protest against a joke which this time is definitely "below the belt". On the night of the publication of my letter, about a dozen medical students (obviously they thought it took twelve medicals to equal one Theolog) entered my room in Knox College at one o'clock in the morning with the intent of venting their spleen on me for the letter of protest.

They speedily overwhelmed me, gagged me, and blinded me, and forcibly restrained me upon my mattress. After de-pyjama-izing me they then performed an emergency operation in which a copious use of adhesive tape was applied in a most undesirable and uncomfortable way.

My purpose in writing, Mr. Editor, is fourfold.

(1) I would warn all non-medical students to beware when they see a medical student; whether on the sidewalk or in a hall, they should point their finger at him and say to themselves, "there goes a medical student".

(2) I wish to state that the free expression of opinion on the campus is only democratic, and offenders must be prosecuted.

(3) Hence I am offering a reward (a book on mental hygiene) for information leading to the arrest and conviction of said offending party.

(4) I would like your advice Mr. Editor as to whether I should assume anonymity, or whether I should sign with a "nom de plume" such as "Hoping that the Mentality of the Medicals Will Be Ameliorated" or "Physicians Cure Yourselves". For the present I would be so bold as to sign myself . . . .

Dean Smith, II Knox.

SPS Juniors

(Continued from Page 8)

shals and the university police five minutes later. After play was resumed, the Saint Mike's line held and prevented Skule from adding to the score. The game ended 15 seconds later with the score St. Mike's 16, SPS Jrs. 12.

Skule have announced their intention of protesting the game due to inefficient officiating.

Line-ups:—

SPS Jrs.: Flying wing, MacPherson; halves, Prendergast, Busk, Bernhardt; quarter, Snyder; snap, Spencer; insides, Stoyan, Hotchkiss; middles, Slattery, Fleury; outsides, Beattie, Greenly; alternates, Riddell, Laubitz, Royce, Kerr, Campbell, Grinton, Wansborough, Carr, Brown, Mowatt, Neff, Pullan.

St. Mike's: Flying wing, O'Heany; halves, O'Hara, Washington, Grassl; quarter, Adams; snap, Kite; insides, Brennan, McKenna; middles, M. O'Keefe, Bergin; outsides, Dowling, Mauchley; alternates, Smaltz, Ross, Davin, McRae, Sullivan, Mulligan, Gibbin, Tierney, Lopettito, Flanagan, G. O'Keefe.

Trends In Britain

(Continued from Page 3)

yet done this. He pointed out, however, that two acts already passed by Parliament have put some control on land usage and values. They are the Town and Country Planning Act and the Agriculture Act, both passed in 1947.

The Town and Country Planning Act provides that there shall be no change in the use of any land without the consent of the local Planning Authority. The decision of the local body may be appealed to the minister concerned by the landowner and should the appeal go against him he can force the local Planning Authority to buy the land at a mutually agreeable price, he said.

This Act, he maintained, stabilized and took away the speculative values of land.

The Agriculture Act makes sure by means of Agricultural Land Tribunals, a judicial body, that no owner of agricultural property nor tenant on such land should use the property to the best advantage.

Thus, he said, while no nationalization had taken place in this field, the acts definitely set up controls on the land of the country.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00 Dent vs Med II	Emon, Newman, Salsberg
LACROSSE		1.00 Sr. SPS vs U.C. I	Prendergast, Hastings
		4.00 Vic II vs U.C. III	Raymond, Chadwick
SWIM LEAGUE		4.30 Emman vs Inst. Mgt	Shepherd
VOLLEYBALL		1.00 SPS III vs Pre-Med	Carr
		4.00 St. M. B vs Trin B	Carr

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL SCHEDULE
Week of Nov. 14

Trinity Southeast Corner—

Mon., Nov. 14—Meds. vs. Vic I ..... Eddis-Fraser

Tues., Nov. 15—Finals—best-out-of-3 games—7 innings. To be played at 12:00 noon. Winners of Monday's game vs. P.H.E. I Hume-Morrison

Wed., Nov. 16—Same two teams. ..... Morrison-Haley

Thurs., Nov. 17—Same teams if third game is needed. ..... Fraser-Hume

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

GAMES — O.C.E. —

Mon. Nov. 14	Tues., Nov. 15
5.30-6.30 Vic Sr. B vs U.C. Sr.-Jr. B	U.C. Sr-Jr A vs. Vic Sr. A
6.30-7.30 Vic Soph B vs. Meds.	P.H.E. II vs. Saints Soph
7.30-8.30 U.C. Fr. vs. P.H.E. I	Saints Fr. vs. Vic Fr. A
8.30-9.30 St. M's B. vs. Nurses	Physio A vs. St. M's A.

Wed., Nov. 16	Thurs., Nov. 17	Fri., Nov. 18
5.30-6.30 U.C. Soph vs. Vic Soph A	Vic fr. B v O.T.	Phys B v O.T.
6.30-7.30 U.C. Sr.-Jr B. vs. Phys. A	PHE II v UC soph	UC fr. v St. fr.
7.30-8.30 P.H.E. III vs. Vic Sr. A	UC sr-jr A v St. sr-jr	— — — — — —

8.30-9.30 Saints Soph vs. Vic Soph A St. M B v Nurses

Practices L.M.

Mon., Nov. 14	Wed., Nov. 16
6.00-7.00 Saints Fr.	Meds.
7.00-8.00 O.T.	— — — — —

Note:—Tonight's games have been cancelled and will be played on Fri., Nov. 18. This affects Physio B., O.T., U.C. Fr. and Saints Fr.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

STUDENTS

Two typewriters, 10" Underwood, also new portable. Special discount for students. Also on time. Typewriter service. Bought and sold. HU. 4754 after 6 p.m.

P.A. SYSTEM RENTALS

Super Sound: Dance music for your next class, year or house party. Stage and orchestra work. Largest stock of rental equipment on the campus. Call Don Eller, HO. 0868.

LOST

Tan and gold Parker 51 pen about two weeks ago. OR. 8509.

WANTED

Responsible young man and young woman to show novel Christmas gifts. This is an opportunity for substantial Christmas earnings. Phone Port Credit 3302 for appointment.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Ellee, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party—phone now.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new home radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Walma about your formals, etc. Fine gowns from Knox College Students discount. Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA 5278. (Evening appointments arranged.)

FOR SALE

Suit of tails for sale, about size 37, new condition; reasonable price. JU. 1897.

FOR RENT

Well furnished bed-sitting room and kitchenette. Private entrance. Two male students, $6 each. Phone HY. 9865.

TYPING

Expert typing by experienced stenographer. Also duplicating. Pick-up service. HY. 9923.

AUTOMATIC RECORD CHANGERS

Brand new changers which regularly sell at over $60 list. Your price is $27.50. Call Don Eller, student, HO. 0868.

TYPIST

Thoroughly experienced, theses, manuscripts, etc. 15c per page. 20-lb. bond, 1 carbon, minor corrections free. HA. 0462.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

ROOM FOR RENT

Large front bed-sitting-room with fireplace on bath floor, oil heated. Private home. Suit two students. LA. 3223 after 5 p.m.—Bathurst and St. Clair.

TYPING

Pre-Med veteran student will type your notes, etc., at standard rates. Call JU. 6513, evenings, or call at S.A.C. office. Five years' typing experience.

"Tailored to fit like your own"
FORMAL RENTALS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
Freeman's
256 College St. — KI. 0991 (At Spadina)
556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270 (At Wellesley)

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!
GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE
United-De Forest
Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage
Your Nearest Branch
633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH DAILY MAIL
CIGARETTE TOBACCO

Everywhere people are changing to
PEPSI-COLA

Mrs. M. E. Jones, Montreal housewife, says, "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because it's a favourite with family and friends alike." And it is! Sparkling Pepsi-Cola is first choice for refreshment with millions of Canadians. Take home a 6-bottle carton today. You get 12 full glasses for only 30¢. Compare the taste. Compare the value. You'll never again be satisfied with any other soft drink.

"My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives us better flavour and bigger value," says Leo Barrette, Ottawa student. And that's true of the new quick-drink size Pepsi, too. You get 8 full ounces of sparkling Pepsi-Cola for only 5¢. Once again, you get more for your money when you buy Pepsi!

for Finer Flavour and Better Value
Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

Victoria And St. Mike's Grab Football Wins

SPS Juniors Lose In Drag-Out Tilt

In a bitterly-fought contest loaded with penalties, a determined St. Mike's twelve edged out an equally determined SPS Junior team by a score of 16-12 on the back campus yesterday afternoon in an interfaculty football game. The game provided thrills, spills and was climaxed with a mass riot 15 seconds before the final whistle.

The first quarter showed the teams to be evenly matched in all departments with the Skulemen having a slight edge in kicking. This edge gave SPS a one point lead in the first quarter when Prendergast hoisted one to the deadline. Aided by penalties, St. Mike's began to drive down field and, in the first minutes of the second quarter, Tony Adams hit Bill Ross with a forward which accounted for the first St. Mike's major. Bud Brennan, who kicked a good game for the Saints converted to make the score St. Mike's 6, Skule 1.

An interception gave St. Mike's possession on the SPS 30. Grassi then lugged the leather over on a long run. The convert failed. SPS went into action immediately after the kick-off and Carr on a hand-off ran 45 yards to the Saints' 2. Brown carried over for an unconverted TD. Half-time score was Saint's 11, SPS 6.

Saints kicked off to open the second half. Skule fumbled the ball two plays later and Washington carried the ball on a 45 yard run to Skule's 2 yard line. After two attempts Gerry Washington carried over for a touchdown. The convert was blocked. Play evened down until midway in the final period. After stopping an 80 yard drive by St. Mike's, Skule took to the air and advanced on two passes to the Saints' 27 yard line. Here an attempted placement failed. With the assistance of two penalties Skule found themselves on the Saints' 1 yard line. Mowatt carried over for Skule's second touchdown which Snyder converted. Skule received the kick-off and advanced to the St. Mike's 6.

The referee called a penalty against Skule a play later, and a riot began. Players and spectators pushed, shoved, and punched until they were broken up by the mar-

(Continued on Page 7)

Sportswoman

Tough luck for Marg Doyle, PHE, when she broke her jaw yesterday morning in an apparatus class. There was faint hope that it had been only dislocated, but the x-rays showed a fracture on the left side, so Marg is going home to Simcoe to recuperate.

Basketball

Backed by their solid guard line, St. Mike's A walked all over U.C. Sr. Jr. B last night with a 36-9 score. Ludmilla Gryczyk snagged 16 points, and Betty Fitzgerald 10 for the winners. The U.C. gals put up a good fight, but the Saints held the lead right through the game.

Fizz Ed Wins

The second basketball game of the night saw PHE I defeat Vic Freshies A with a score of 34-15. At first Vic seemed to monopolize the play, but lost to PHE through poor basket shooting. Again, Alma Hatch shone as top scorer for PHE, while Fran Henry, Vic, deserves a lot of credit for her versatile playing as a guard and then as a forward.

Since the Meds are in the midst of important exams it was necessary to postpone their game with the Nurses squad until sometime next week.

Sophs' Game

In a fast, well-played game UC Sophs copped top honours from the Vic Soph A team with a score of 24-14. Credit goes to Pat McDonald, UC, for her accurate long shots, while Betty Aston, Vic, tallied up the most points for her side by placing five free shots neatly through the basket, as well as looping in two more.

The All-University Badminton Club is having a play evening tonight at their headquarters in the Drill Hall on St. George Street.

Toronto Victors McCurry First At Harriers

The University of Toronto is once more the holder of the intermediate harrier championship as the blue distance men swamped all competitors yesterday in Hamilton. Varsity won with a low fourteen points with Western taking second honors with forty one points. The McMaster hosts finished in third spot four points behind Western with forty-five points while OAC's endurance men pulled up the rear just one point behind Mac.

Varsity's Frank McCurry was the winner of the meet, covering the course twenty-eight minutes, forty three and six tenths seconds. Second to finish was J. Davis of McMaster, followed by Pete Niblock of Toronto.

Charley Wortman, winner of both the junior and freshmen harrier at Varsity took fourth place and R. Lewis of Western took fifth position. Both the six and seven spots were covered by Varsity in the persons John Flowers and John Hryshko.

Soccer Blues Top Buffalo In 3-1 Thriller

By BILL LEACH

In a very thrilling soccer match played in Buffalo on Wednesday, the Varsity Senior Blues were winers over the Buffalo State Teacher's college team by a three one score. Alain Wyler was the outstanding player of the day, scoring two goals and having an assist on the third one scored by Brian Barton. So rough was the play the last time these two teams played that the Blues brought along their own official this time, but credit is due to the Buffalo coach (a Rugby, Basketball, and Hockey man) that his boys did everything they could to play soccer as it should be played on this occasion.

The Blues team was quite weak, and included four substitutes, with only one man left on the bench. Jim Allan was played on the right wing, as our usual outside right, Alec Kuchkuda, was "left outside," as he unfortunately detained at the border. The Buffalo boys fielded a mansized team of 27 players, but the combination of Wyler, Barton, and Evans proved to be a winning one for the Blues. The Buffalo coach was heard to remark that this was the best intercollegiate team that he had seen, and although Varsity were somewhat hampered by the small field, their performance was a creditable one.

Varsity scored once in each of the first three quarters, and Buffalo whose superior numerical power was noticeable towards the end, deserved their tally which came late in the last quarter from the boot of their centre-forward. No report of the game would be complete without mention of the six young ladies who lead the Buffalo cheering section with grace and gusto. The three Varsity supporters, (manager and two enginers), said they were good anyhow!

This weekend both the Blues teams will see action. The Intermediate squad will have two games, one today at home against McMaster, with the kickoff at 4 o'clock prompt, and another when they travel with the Senior squad to-ommow to take on the Western teams in London. All games are league fixtures. London bus leaves at 8.30.

Team for today—Kersey, Raymond, Mercer, Friele, Moffat L., Schuler, Williams, Rigabert, Montemurro, Delfosse, Comrie. Subs. Andreson, Dos Santos.

Intermediates for Sat.—As above, with Wilson, Osadchuk and Campatelli.

Seniors, Sat.—Reed, Moffat D., Broadhurst, Wotherspoon, Leach, Kuchkuda, Barton, Antoni, Wyler, Allan.

Red And Gold Win Earns First Spot

By MAL CRAWFORD

Coming from behind after a lagging first quarter, Victoria College rolled through Senior Skule for a 13-3 win yesterday to cinch first place in group one of the Interfaculty League. Skule held a three point lead and appeared to have the scarlet and gold well under control until the middle of the second quarter, when Jim Rogers broke through near centre field to block an SPS kick, driving his blocker back and climbing over him to smother the ball. From there on Vic started to roll, and racked up two touchdowns and two singles before they were finished.

Neither side could open holes long enough for any long runs in the first part of the game, but the Engineers capitalized on a Vic fumble, moving from centre field on a forty yard pass from Valenti to Crandell to go to Vic's twenty. Vic held them there for two downs, but Valenti kicked a field goal (from a very difficult angle, incidentally) to lead 3-0.

After Rogers' blocked kick, Rumball tore thirty yards on a spinner through the line, and Damp went thirty more around the end on the best piece of broken-field running of the day. Lodge, who played one of his best games this year, carried over in two plays. Little kicked the convert.

SPS opened the second half with a fumble on their three yard line after Rumbell's running and Walton's kick bottled them up in their own end, but SPS stiffened. On the first play after Skule took possession, Reid snatched the ball from the runner's hand, and this time they made good. Fick's pass over the line gave Anderson the touchdown.

SPS couldn't get into Vic territory until the final minutes, when Brown completed passes to Cole and Adair getting to Vic's twenty-five, when time ran out. Up till then, Skule had completed only one pass.

Walton, Dryden, and Rumbell handled Vic's kicking duties very ably, the former two getting long hoofs away for single points in the last quarter. Ledger, Hill, and Anderson played their usual hard-fighting games in Vic's line, while SPS' best man defensively was Jones, who was in on almost every tackle on his side.

Line-ups:—
SPS: Quarter, Valenti; halves, Adair, Brown, Crandell, Jones; centre, Keen; insides, Rickaby, Dellenback; middles, Richards, Watson; ends, Rowe, Wood; alternates, Gibson, Scott, Hellard, McColm, Firth, Benstein, Gordon, Cole, Britnell, James, Phemister, Lumsden.
Vic: Quarter, Lodge; halves, Damp, Gore, Sumner, Little; ends, Howard, Anderson; middles, Barford, Hill; insides, Colbert, Ledger; centre, Rogers; alternates, Fick, Walton, Rumbell, Dryden, Reid, Fairley, Ludwig, Dyke, File, Zimmerman, Martin, Kilgour.

UNWANTED GENIUS

The unhappy report of an English psychologist that he had found an 11-year-old genius and that "no one knows what to do with him" shows how far education has changed from a few years ago. The lad o' brilliant parts is no longer the pride and joy of his teacher, but just as much a misfit in the school as the dunce.

Seniors At Queen's Ints. To Try OAC In Weekend Rugby

SENIORS

In a do or die game tomorrow at Richardson Stadium in Kingston, the Varsity Blues will face the Queen's Golden Gaels in the last league game of the season. If the Blues blow this game they can hang up their cleats for the year. Also if the mysterious McGill Redmen should dump Western, regardless of what Varsity does to Queen's, it will be "Bye Bye Blues," for the Toronto team.

But to look on the more optimistic side of the picture, if Varsity wins and the Mustangs oblige by defeating the Obeck men then Varsity will be in a second place tie with McGill. A play off for second spot would then be in order. If Varsity should win such a playoff, they would advance and meet Western for the Yates Cup. If McGill should win said playoff, the season would be over and Western would win the cup sans playoff. This situation exists because the second place team (McGill) would not have beaten the first place team (Western) during the season and hence by league rules, no playoff would be called.

Varsity is still in a weakened condition due to injuries, but on Saturday they will have practically the same team that beat Western two weeks ago. Murray Hadlow, big backfielder, will see action tomorrow, but Joe Errington and Adam Zimmerman will probably be out. Zimmerman has a bad knee. The inside spot, where the team is unusually weak, will be further weakened by the fact that Masterson intends only using three insides.

INTERMEDIATES

The Intermediate Blue football squad will journey to Guelph tomorrow for their last scheduled league game to tangle with the OAC Aggies at 2:15 p.m.

The powerful Aggies won a 12-8 decision over the Intermediates on their visit to Toronto at the beginning of the season and are now competing with the Western Colts for league leadership. The Intermediate Blue squad lost all hope of a playoff spot when they were downed 23-5 by the Colts here last Friday.

The Blue lineup for this game has only a few changes. Wally Bullychuk will replace Roe at the end position, and Bill McCagherty will play two back again as Bill Davis is still out with an injured ankle.

Bob Bazos, who has shown great improvement in the last few games, and linemen Doug Shay, Harry Hyde, and Murray Hames will be in there fighting to upset the McMaster squad.

The Intermediate lineup for the game will be:

Centres: Sutherland, Murray; insides: Hames, Alley, Dowsett, Nonnan; middles: Hyde, Shay, Howard, Whitehead; ends: Russell, Gawinski, Keiczor, Bullychuk; halves: Green, Birkenshaw, Bell, Howson, Hanson, Leeming; quarter: McCagherty, J. Hansen.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Ove-cast and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 37 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Monday, November 14, 1949

Whitewashed!

TRICOLOR BLANK VARSITY 9-0

Must Smarten Up To Win Greatness —Mrs. McWilliams

Canada is on the way to greatness, but there are tasks which she must set herself to keep that way open, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, declared Friday. Her address, entitled "The Way To Greatness," was the second of the series of University College Lectures.

Canada's Role Important

Canada has made tremendous advances since the First World War, Mrs. McWilliams said. From an almost unknown nation she has become an associate of the great powers, called upon by them to help solve the world's pressing problems. She has many assets, which have helped to give her the prospects of a great future. But she may not achieve it, Mrs. McWilliams said, any thoughtful Canadian can discern conditions working against this future.

The neglect of libraries especially libraries for young people, was very serious the speaker felt. We spend huge sums on our school system, but little on libraries, which provide by far the best source of education for children just out of school, she said.

Bad Spending Prevalent

Another neglect cited was that of the individual to use reasonable judgment in the spending of the family income. In a review of the national expenditure for 1948, Mrs. McWilliams pointed out several items that seemed to her out of line.

Canadians were not using the available knowledge of proper diet, Mrs. McWilliams said. It is an established fact that 25% of Canadian children are undernourished. Part of the answer is economic she said, it is often e oneh rtA-thE said, but it is often a case of different food rather than more food.

Canadians neglect a realistic reading of history said the speaker. Our national culture has developed out of our traditions and to understand our culture, knowledge of history is essential.

"Women Under-estimated"

Canadians are not sufficiently aware of the power and experience of women in business and political life, said Mrs. McWilliams. Women are not found in great numbers in the upper circle of either. Mrs. McWilliams felt that women would be a good influence. As harmonizing of men and women makes a successful home, so it is equally essential to the welfare of the nation she said.

Finally Mrs. McWilliams pointed out that we are neglecting the moral standards of our forefathers. Recent increases in crime, juvenile delinquency, excessive drinking, and gambling show this. We have too many drifting, purposeless people, she declared, and moral strength is essential to the great nation that we are to become.

Pay Day For DVA Students

Tomorrow, Tuesday, Nov. 15, is the second pay day for DVA students. Allowances for the period of Nov. 1 to Nov. 15 will be paid at this time.

This pay day will institute the regular mid-month pay which has been the procedure in previous years. The next pay day will be in mid-December.

Cheques will be available at regular pay points in all faculties and colleges at the usual times.

Blues In Basement As Fighting Gaels Slip Into Third Slot

By JOHN KENNEDY Sports Editor

Kingston, Nov. 12.—(Staff)—The Toronto Varsity Blues bowed out of this year's football competition here this clear but cold afternoon under the well-integrated onslaught of the Queen's Golden Gaels. The Tricolor played heads-up ball and dominated Varsity in every phase of the game to win 9-0. The key play that turned the tide of victory for Queen's was the ancient sleeper play.

Toronto was caught slumbering when Dave Bryan unleashed a 25-yard cross field throw to Tip Logan who ran 60 yards for the TD, evading easily a lone Varsity defender. From that point until the end of the game it was Queen's all the way.

Varsity was really lucky to get through the second quarter with only one point being scored against them. They fumbled three times in this period and three times Queen's regained possession. The first fumble was recovered on Varsity's 12 and one point resulted after an attempted field goal, following two plays on which the Blue line held. Sisson got the point.

The next case of fumbleitis came when Danylchuk dropped the ball into the eager arms of McCarney on a running play on Toronto's 15. After two pass plays the field goal attempt was blocked by Jack Roberts, who played a strong game on the line. Before the quarter was over Queen's snapped up a McFadden fumble on the seven-yard stripe, but the Toronto line held magnificently, keeping Queen's from going over. Near the end of the period Queen's worked another sleeper, although Toronto seemed to have had the receiver. Lampman covered. A touchdown resulted from that play but was disallowed for clipping.

Came Close In Third

The Blues made a concerted drive after the half but folded when they got within the Queen's 25 for the one and only time in the game. A couple of line smashes by Wally London, two Cummings passes to Lawson and London put the Blues in scoring position but they were forced to try a field goal after a pass to Gray was incomplete. The kick was wide and low, enabling Queen's to run it out to their 10.

The third and last sleeper play worked for Queen's to take them out of danger, when a Lenard-to-Penner pass moved the ball to the Queen's 40. Again Varsity seemed to have the receiver watched but he eluded the man assigned to him. Behind the stellar plunging of Bahner and passing of Lenard and Bryane, Queen's rolled the length of the field only to fumble on Varsity's 6, giving the Blues another life. Shortly after Queen's blew another chance when an interceptor dropped a Cumming's pass that he had right in his arms.

Backward Safety

In the fourth quarter, Queen's picked up their last two points when Bahner drove Brown backward for about five yards over the Blue line. The refs awarded a safety to Queen's although the play should have been stopped where ofrward motion on Brown's part ceased. Tip Logan played an outstanding game for Queen's at end, as did Jack Gray, Varsity's 58-minute man. In Bryane and Lenard Queen's have two fine ball-handlers and Bahner does a good job of plunging. Don Longmore, Pete Bennett and Nick Purdue all played well defensively. Queen's

(Continued on Page 7)

Bruce's Boot Beats Block

Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

One of the better moments in the sad game at Kingston is shown as Bruce Cummings' mighty toe lets go with a 40-yard kick to clear out of the danger end zone in one of the second quarter goal-line stands. Blue burlies Fraser Mustard (40), Pete Bennett (41), John Chorestecki (63), and Nick Purdue (73) are holding back eager Gaels who want to block that kick.

War Fear Aids Capitalism —Peace Council Speaker

It is necessary to have a permanent war scare in order to make our system of monopolistic capitalism work, Rev. I. G. Perkins, former co-chairman of the Toronto Peace Council, told the Students' Peace Council Friday.

He said the main reason why the United States has avoided a depression is their rearmament program which costs over 15 billion dollars a year. The way they are wasting the resources of their country in war preparation "will ultimately bankrupt the U.S.A."

"A nation who prepares for peace," Perkins continued, "is most likely to win the war. A war machine such as developed in Nazi Germany, could not win.

"I do not believe they (the Russians) are preparing for war as much as we are. If they are using atomic energy for peaceful construction, they will be better able to survive the long war that follows by being better able to feed their people, supply raw materials, etc.

"If you are afraid of left wing ideas," he told the council, "the best way to combat them is to take away their reason for being, through better housing, better labor conditions, etc.

"I think Russia is foolish in blocking our suggestion for international control of the A-bomb," Perkins went on. "At the same time we are silly in saying we want the A-bomb controlled—as long as we control it.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. all essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

Camera Club

You Gotta Eliminate The Negative

By ROCKY MARTINO

Down in the nether regions of Hart House, behind a nameless door lie the rooms of the Hart House Camera Club. There are to be found the Leica Room, the Horizontal Room and the Common Room, among others.

The Leica room is a delightful place. It's small, cozy and always hot. The only thing it hasn't got, and really doesn't need, is a fireplace.

In this room the 35-mm. experts do most of their enlarging work. This select group of photographic experts must fill one basic requirement before using this room; they must be able to fit in it. Needless to say, I don't do 35-mm. work.

Off to one corner of the room stands the enlarger — a good one. Flanking it are a work table on the left and a sink on the right. Some happy soul put a stool in there, but it's usually used as a bench for the developer. On a whole, the Leica Room is "like-a" nothing in this world.

The Horizontal room is different. For one thing it's rather unique. Now the room does lie horizontally and the floor and the ceiling do appear to be in their correct places so really I can't see how an enlarger casting a vertical projected picture can be termed 'horizontal'. True, I could walk along the walls and then keep my terms straight but I might run into trouble with the law over a trivial violation of the Law of Gravity passed away-back-when. I couldn't afford a fine right now — not after paying my membership fee.

At the opposite end of the 'hall' lies the Color Lab. This room is nothing more than the den of a group of misguided people who call themselves experts in colour techniques. They're 'miss'-guided because most of their pictures are of women; they're experts because they say so. Frankly, I believe them too.

This color room is the pride and joy of the Club. Members who pay a special fee and who have been passed by a special committee are given an individual locker and full use of the room. This room has a Kodak Precision Enlarger, a timer, a thermo - regulator, fluorescent lighting, and a membership constantly stealing the easel from the horizontal room.

Halfway between the two rooms lies the chemicals counter. The club supplies all chemicals essential, two of three. The shelves are neatly built and little yellow placards bravely announce: "Wet chemicals only"; "Sodium chemicals only"; etc. I remember vividly the first day the signs were up. I was mak-

(Continued on Page 7)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
Feature Editor ..... William Gleneak, 4T9
A.M. & D. Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
Assistant Photo Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
CUP EDITOR ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.
Business and Advertising Manager .....

NIGHT EDITOR: Don Stevenson
ASSISTANTS: Barbara Brown, Lillian Becker, Kaz Oiye, Isobel Ward

MONDAY, NOVEMBER, 14, 1949

When Is Apathy?

Every year the spectre of student apathy is seen, by certain elements, to haunt Canadian campi. The McGill Daily recently charged the failure of the Student Blood Clinic to "a great deal of apathy." Warden Ignatieff of Hart House is worried about the rising number of members who fail to take advantage of Hart House functions.

We can appreciate Mr. Ignatieff's position. It is very difficult to invite a V.I.P. to speak at Hart House without the assurance that there will be more than a handful of students as an audience. But Mr. Ignatieff's plight is echoed by many institutions.

The falling attendance at Hart House is seen also at other community affairs. However it is rather surprising that such a well-integrated program as Hart House offers does not attract more students.

Possibly one of the reasons for this is that there are many duplications of Hart House features on other parts of the campus. For example, there is the Carnegie record collection in the Mechanical Building which must draw some of the students from Hart House.

Students, especially those in the professional schools, have only a limited amount of time for extra-curricular activity. In choosing a recreational program, the student is offered many choices, among them being a Hart House function or a small club meeting. By small club meeting we refer to any of the 50 or more clubs—political, college, debating, etc.—on the campus. Their membership is never very large in itself, but comes to a fair percentage of the students when totalled. Many students feel they can get, and give, more at a small meeting, where there is opportunity for more discussion, and better chance of all sides expressing an opinion. Then too, these small clubs are co-ed, which gives them a great advantage over Hart House functions.

The small clubs category also includes a club which never suffers from falling membership, namely the Order of Round Table Coffee Knights. Whether it meets in Hart House coffee shop. Engineers' stores or some off-campus spot, there is never any apathy present.

The overflow audience at meetings which are a little beyond the ordinary campus meeting, such as a contentious political thinker, is largely recruited from these small clubs. It requires something special to attract students out en masse, but when that something is offered, there is no shortage of audience.

Yes, we agree there is some apathy to Hart House activities, but as to apathy among students generally — that is another question. A question which, incidentally, always brings echoes of the older generation saying the younger generation has gone to the dogs.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

"Security or Charity — How far should organized charity promote government social security?" is the subject of the Freshman Round Table discussion today at 4 p.m. in Room 21 of Victoria College.

✣ ✣ ✣

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

Mr. John A. Robarts, chairman of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'i of Canada, who has recently returned from a European tour, will speak on the subject, "Spiritual Dynamics in World Affairs", today at 1 p.m. in Room 64 (basement) of U.C.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC FRENCH CLUB

The Victoria College French Club will meet tonight at Wymilwood, at 8 p.m. The French-Canadian program will include a film, "Alexis Tremblay, Habitant", and talk on French Canada by Miss Jeanine Couillard of Rimouski, P.Q.

✣ ✣ ✣

SCM

"The Christian in Politics" will be the topic of the SCM today at 1:30 p.m. in the Board Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

The program to be presented today at 4:30 p.m. in the Mechanical Building will include: Leoncavallo-Excerpts from "Pagliacci". Mozart: Magic Flute Overture, Violin Concerto in D, Symphony No. 40 in G Minor.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC LECTURES

"On The Way To Greatness" will be the subject of Mrs. R. F. McWilliams D. Litt., today at 8:30 p.m. in West Hall, University College.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC DEBATING PARLIAMENT

The Parliament's monthly debate will be held in the Co-Ed Common Room at 4:00 p.m. this afternoon. The subject will be "Resolve; That Democracy Implies Socialism," and the guest speaker will be Ried Scott, M.P.P.

✣ ✣ ✣

LPP FORUM

"Are Communists a menace to the Trade Unions?" will be the topic of discussion at the LPP Forum, Monday, Nov. 14 at 1 p.m., Room 11, U.C.

COMING EVENTS

UNIVERSITY BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP

The opening meeting of the University Baptist Fellowship will be held on Thursday, Nov. 17, 8 p.m. at the Canadian School of Missions, 97 St. George St. Rev. T. B. McDormand, editor of the "Canadian Baptist", will speak on "The Baptist Principle of Independence".

✣ ✣ ✣

'KNOCK'

La Societe Francaise de University College presente 'Knock' ou 'Le Triomphe De La Medecine' de Jules Romains, au Theatre Hart House, le mardi, 15 novembre.

✣ ✣ ✣

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Mr. Neil Agnew will address the Psychology Club tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Croft Chapter House. His subject will be "The group dynamics of democratic action."

✣ ✣ ✣

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

There will be a meeting of the club on Nov. 17, 8 p.m. at the Women's Union. Three archaeologists, Mr. Bill Taylor, Miss Joan Prasant and Miss Jane Carson will speak on "Arizona", Archaeology digs in Seattle", "Archaeology digs near North Bay" respectively.

✣ ✣ ✣

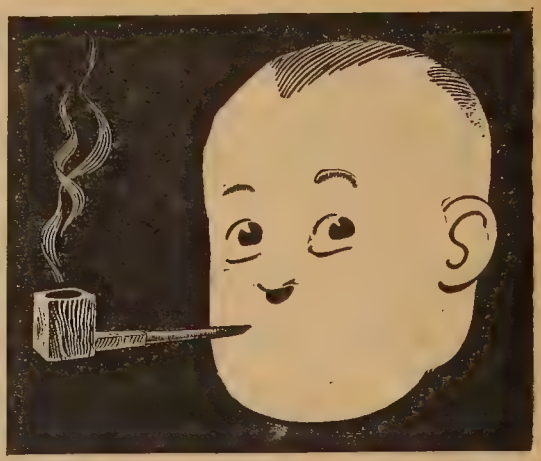
ANTROPOLOGY CLUB

Prof. G. Tatham of the Geography Department will address the next meeting of the Anthropology Club, tomorrow, Tuesday, Nov. 15, in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's at 8:15 p.m. His topic will be "International Relations."

✣ ✣ ✣

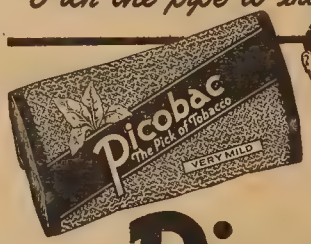
VIC CCF

Prof. and Mrs. Cass-Beggs will debate "Labour Britain — Socialist or Reformist" on Wednesday, November 16 at 1 p.m., Room 18.



✣ ✣ ✣

DEBATING UNION



"Resolved that the supreme court should supercede the privy council as the final court of appeal," will be the topic of the UTDU debate against the University of Western Ontario on Wednesday November 16 at 8:3$ p.m. in Trinity Chapel (library).

FERGIE—
I'venever seen a review by this guy yet that he had anything good to say for anybody.

NEVER PUT A SQUARE PIPE IN A ROUND FACE!

Pick the pipe to suit Your Type

When you've picked your pipe right—pick your tobacco right. Pick Picobac the pick of pipe tobaccos.

Picobac

Picobac is Burley Tobacco—the coolest, mildest tobacco ever grown.

WREN Association Annual Ball

★ HMCS YORK
★ FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18
★ THE STARDUSTERS ORCHESTRA

Dress Optional . . . Dancing 9 to 1 . . . $3 Couple
(Tickets at door or phone: GR. 1258 — ME. 4094)

THE STARDUSTERS

VARSITY'S FAVORITE ORCHESTRA!!

FOR THE FULL BAND OR OUR SMALLER ORCHESTRA
PHONE ME. 4455

SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES
Department of Oriental Languages announces
CANCELLATION
of the series of three lectures which were to be given by Professor Julius Bewer on November 15th, 16th and 17th, because of Professor Bewer's illness.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG
There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1:30 today.

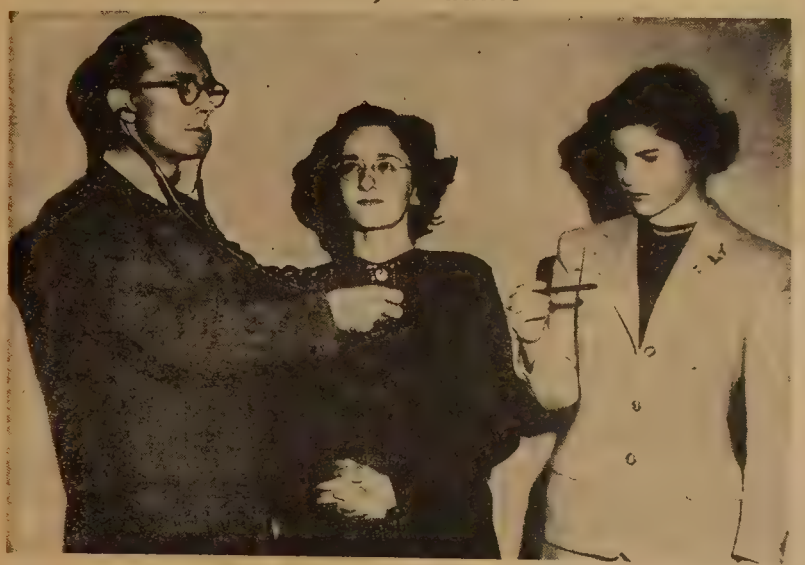
TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL
The second in the series of Tuesday Informal Recitals will be presented tomorrow at 1:25 p.m. in the East Common Room. Mr. Pierre Boutet, tenor, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Lea, will be the artist on this occasion.

REVOLVER
There will be a shoot in the range at 7:30 tonight.

GLEE CLUB
Rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5:00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

TABLE TENNIS
Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7:30 tonight.

LIBRARY EVENING
Professor Keith Feiling of the Department of History will be the speaker for the second Library Evening of the year, which will be held on Thursday, 17th November, at 8:00 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Professor Feiling will speak on "Biography and Biographers". All members are invited to be present.



TALK IN ART GALLERY
Mr. Bertram Brooker, whose exhibition of oil and water colour abstract paintings is now on view in the gallery, will give a talk on the show on Thursday, 17th November, at 1:30 p.m. in the Art Gallery.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT
Representatives from the various colleges and faculties are asked to pick up their tickets today for the concert to be given on Sunday evening, 20th November, by Robert Graham, violinist.

THE VARSITY

Monday, November 14, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

Knock, Madame

— Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

Looks like Medsmen at the Feather Fair Clinic, but it's really a rehearsal scene from "Knock", the University College French Club play, to be presented in Hart House, Tuesday, Nov. 15. The players are (l. to r.): C. R. Parsons, E. Leavin, and B. Screaton. Tickets are being sold in the U.C. Rotunda, and the Hart House box office.

Baha'i Leader

John A. Robarts, chairman of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canada will address the second open meeting of the newly formed Baha'i Student Group today at 1 p.m. in room 64 of University College.

Robarts has recently returned from an extensive tour of Europe where he addressed Baha'i groups in the major cities of ten countries. He has long been a keen student of international affairs and deeply interested in the problems of world unity.

The recognition of the Baha'i World Faith as an independent religious body by an Act of Parliament in June of this year has stimulated much interest in the development of this body in Canada.

(Continued on Page 7)

Toronto Student On Hand As Indian Town Unearthed

William R. Adams, III Victoria College, was a member of an expedition this summer which unearthed the remains of an old Indian site with houses presumably three feet high. The expedition, comprised of 10 students from various universities, went to a site near Williams, Arizona, which had been occupied 900 years ago by the little known Cohonina Indians, contemporaries of the cliff dwellers.

The Cohonina Indians had attempted to build a stone wall of flatstones on a foundation of rounded boulders. The Indians never tried to build with flat stones again, at least not at this site. However they built other low walls, not more than three feet high, of rough stones.

Find 12 Structures

The expedition uncovered a dozen of these structures of one to four rooms. Two single room houses had attached patios. Such house and patio construction is a new find in American Archaeology, Professor McGregor, head of the expedition, said.

There were no evidence of fires at the site; there was definite lack of bone refuse and bone tools; there were nowhere signs of burials. Many puzzling questions were raised by the result of the expedition. However, clues have been found which lead to beliefs which connect them with the Havasupai Indians now living in the Grand Canyon. This has given rise to the speculation that at least some of the Cohoninas migrated to this district.

Debating Trials For Tour In US In Teefy Tonight

Trials will be held tonight for the first American debating tour to be sponsored jointly by the University of Toronto Debating Union and the Hart House Debating Club.

"This is the first time that the Hart House Debating Club and the UTDU have ever worked together," UTDU President Dave Quigley said yesterday. "It will be the best debating tour yet, and will be in New York for four days with all expenses being paid."

Trials for the tour will be held tonight, 7:30 at St. Mike's Teefy Hall. Two debaters will be chosen for this all-expense-paid tour. Anybody who has spoken from the floor or on a paper at any of the Hart House or UTDU debates this year, of which there has been two each, will be eligible.

A member of the UTDU will give a 5 minute speech on the question: "Resolved that the basic non-agricultural industries of the U.S. should be nationalized." Then three competitors at a time will debate on

(Continued on Page 7)

More Scholarships Suggests NFCUS In Education Brief

"Each and every Canadian university student will have had a part in preparing our brief on Federal Aid To Education when we have completed it," NFCUS National President Richey Love declared Saturday in a meeting with the University of Toronto committee of NFCUS, in Trinity Board Room.

The national head of NFCUS was speaking about a brief which his organization is preparing to present to the Royal Commission on the Arts, Letters and Sciences. The Commission is presided oved by University of Toronto Chancellor Vincent Massey.

President Love, a Dalhousie University law student, was meeting the Toronto Committee as part of his tour of central Canadian campi represented in NFCUS.

He described the work on the brief being done by various NFCUS committees to show the extent to which it will be the result of the work and opinions of all Canadian university students.

Love said the brief will be divided into three parts. The first would deal with scholarships. "The main aim of our work is to make it possible for students who cannot now attend university because of financial reasons to do so in the future," he commented.

Research was being done on all campi to discover how many scholarships were available to a Canadian student in his own university, in Canadian universities other than his own and in foreign universities. This data would bring up to date a report on scholarships made in McGill University in 1947.

Love said the second section of the brief, being prepared by the University of British Columbia NFCUS committee, will be on student opinion concerning national institutions like the National Film Board, the National Gallery and the National War Museum. The U.B.C. committee is collecting data on student opinion from all Canadian campi. During his present tour of central Canadian universities, Love found some committees taking polls and others questioning professors with special knowledge about these institutions.

The third part of the brief is to deal with Canadian participation in the United Nations, Educational, Social and Cultural organization. It is being prepared by Jack Madden, now studying at the University of Toronto, who had done work with Unesco. His knowledge about government aid to students in England and Australia would also be used in the section on scholarships.

After speaking about the brief, he discussed help for students travelling abroad, publicity for NFCUS, student exchange scholarships and an investigation being carried on by the University of Alberta committee to decide on the possibility of bringing distinguished speakers on tours of Canadian Universities.

No Formal Dress For Vic-At-Home Plea Of Petition

An open meeting of all students in Victoria College has been called for Thursday, Nov. 17 at 1 p.m., by President Stan Kurisko to discuss the problem of formal dress at the Vic-at-Home, Jan. 27. This has been necessitated by a petition submitted to the VCU Ex., last Friday.

The petition, organized by Ken Prittie and Bill Sharp, bears over 125 names. The required number according to the constitution is 25.

The petition reads: "We, the undersigned, wish to petition for an open meeting to discuss the subject of formal dress for the Victorian-at-Home Dance."

The attitude of petitioners can be summed up in the views of Sharp and Prittie. "If a large number of fellows are not going to be able to attend due to the high costs, then the College dance should be such that they can attend, that is semi-formal. The Social Directorate should heed the voice of the majority, or even a strong minority.

Social Director Jack Birkenshaw pointed out that many of the other colleges on the campus have brought back the formal, raising them above the class of the collegiate-at-homes. Apart from the more moderate finances needed to stage a formal, the Great Hall in Hart House could be had for such a special dance, which is very worth while.

Said Birkenshaw: "It must be remembered that this is not a new tradition at Vic but an old one. The dances before the war and in the residences were found to be a great success in formal attire. I hope all interested parties will attend the meeting on Thursday and exercise their vote."

Stan Kurisko, Pres. VCU, noted the petition as a healthy sign of student interest and initiative. "The decision to be taken, which will be final, will be the closest thing to satisfying all concerned."

Four froshies, confronted with the problem, split over the idea. Fran Thompson and Jean Eagle supported the idea of a formal dance that is different. Jean Murray and Marg McFarlane felt that it would restrict attendance if the move was taken.

Varsity Song Collection

Gives New Hope To Bathtub Carusos

By DOREEN JESSOP

The greatest boon to Varsity songsters since the showers were installed in Hart House will be the new University of Toronto songbook now being prepared for the SAC under the direction of Alan Heisey, III SPS.

Undergrads and alumni alike will have the opportunity of singing the words to the verse, instead of waiting till the chorus of the less well-known campus songs.

All University songs, all campus songs, all individual college songs will find their place in the book.

Clean Skule Songs

Each individual college or faculty will be represented by their own particular song. In addition, other popular songs from various colleges, such as "The Persian Kitten", from Vic or "Cock Robin", from Trinity add attraction. On questioning Heisey admitted the engineers might have "some songs that are clean enough to go in the book", "Just the best" verses of the Skule song will be included.

Another suggestion for the book has been a selection of numbers from campus shows, like the "All Varsity Revue," the UC Follies, the Vic Bob and Trinity's "Saints Alive." Unfortunately such songs are not often suited to group singing. The help of producers of the revues is to be solicited in this line.

UBC Book Model

The committee has a model for the book. What Heisey describes as "a little gem," the University of British Columbia Songbook is the original inspiration for the Varsity version. Heisey saw a copy in Vancouver this summer and immediately asked "Why haven't we got one of these?"

When approached on the subject, the SAC proved favourably inclined, and have set up a committee of three to investigate the possibilities.

The songbook, as it is now planned, will be a thoroughly modern, pocket-size, blue and white edition modelled on the UBC book. The verse is to be printed along with the melody only, and each song to be accompanied by its own illustration or cartoon.

Pictures Too

The illustrations, of course, will be the last part of the book to be considered, but they will also be its strongest selling point and all cartoonists on the campus may be approached to begin tentative sketches. The illustrator will probably be selected through a competition.

"You have to look at the selling possibilities," says Heisey. For this reason the book will include only songs of lasting popularity, and wide appeal for University students and alumni. The market for the book should be found in the student body as a whole, the Frosh class each year, clubs, frats, and choirs. And the good sentimental value of the favourite college songs also counts for sales.

Meanwhile, Heisey is issuing an appeal for help. There is need for all interested people on the campus. Those who want to work on this new project of the SAC are asked to leave names in the SAC office, care of Alan Heisey. Any ideas for a U. of T. songbook will be appreciated.

President Smith Calls Education 'Endless Process'

Education is never—can never be—completed. It is a continuous and unceasing process. This was the remark made by President Sidney Smith at the Fall convocation on Friday, November 11.

More than 400 degrees were conferred at this convocation.

Dr. Smith reminded the graduates of the gulf existing between trades and professions and urged them to strive to be artists rather than artisans.

"You, as a battalion in the peaceful army that sets forth from this University and other institutions of higher learning can relieve that gloomy prospect—of the atomic age—can be a greater force in the world than any secret of power wrested from nature," President Smith concluded.

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

Odnoposoff

Ricardo Odnoposoff, violinist, presented an unexpectedly varied recital, Saturday evening, at Eaton's Auditorium. After a careful selection of technically gruelling classics, he finished his performance with a group of lilting dance themes.

The heavier work included Brahms' Sonata in D minor, Opus 108, and Bach's Chaconne. The former gave full scope for lyricism and some startling contrasts in tone, but the unaccompanied Chanconne provided for technical display. Bach's rigid sense of form, boldness of technique and daring of harmonic colouring were faithfully reproduced.

Vieuxtemp's Concerto in A minor closed the first half of the program. Refined and subtle, in this work he achieved that clarity of emotionalism usually associated with the French artist. In particular, the nervous pulsation of the finale deserves mention.

So far in the evening, it had been difficult to get past Mr. Odnoposoff's formality. His bows had been punctilious and sedate. He had been at work. But in the last part of the program he was at play. His smiles became a broader, his brows more genial and he chuckled with us at the melodic antics of Peter and the Wolf. The division between artist and audience had almost disappeared.

After intermission, he turned his energies to the romanticists. In Jaques Wolfe's Prayer in a Swamp, he reached the nostalgic feeling of the negro spiritual, which he translated with a gipsy technique. The staccatto pizzicatto treatment of the Albeniz-Heifetz Sevilla brought us unusual surprises. The program, as such, concluded with the Paganini-Kochanski La Campanella. Here, the digital feats and incredible technique of Paganini were rendered with full justice. One had the impression of a capricious artist in a teasing mood.

Though generous with encores, he was not over-eager. Audience and artist understood one another. He produced rhumba rhythms which finally gave way to the extraordinary glissandos of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Bumble Bee."

A violinist of vitality and power, he blends the high seriousness of his art with a playful gaiety. Everywhere, one senses in him a sheer joie de vivre.

Gregory Ashman, who assisted at the piano, kept that instrument carefully subdued for the early part of the evening, but flashed out with enthusiasm during the dances and encores.

B. Bell and H. Ennever.

During the past two summers ISS has sponsored international seminars in Germany and Holland. These seminars have done much on a small scale to improve international relations. Next summer the seminar is going to be repeated in France.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

Wymilwood

Margaret Kerr

Prepared poise and cool command were the essence of Mezzo-soprano Margaret Kerr's recital last night in the Green Room at Wymilwood. In a largely lieder program of Brahms, Richard Strauss and Hugo Wolf, Margaret Kerr's technical resources never failed. Brahms' Standchen and Therese were note-perfect, subtely shaded, and in all respects carefully intoned.

Likewise in her group of Richard Strauss: Seitdem dein Aug', Die Nacht, Nacht Gang, Breit uber Mein Haupt, the soloist was skilful in her transposition from mood to mood. Her renditions were technically without fault. But in evaluating a singer's performance technique cannot be divorced from spiritual insight. In this respect Miss Margaret Kerr's recital did not measure up to par.

During the last twenty years or so, criticism generally has concentrated more on the material values of music and less on the spiritual ones. It has been and still is concerning itself almost exclusively with that which it calls technique, with little regard for anything else. In so doing it has mistaken the means for the end, the essential for the quintessential—and the result is a standardized technique in every branch of the art, before which all have agreed to bow, except the truly great. We are faced with the strange paradox that while never before have there been so many musicians credited with infallible mechanical excellence, there have also never been so many dull and uninspiring interpreters. Margaret Kerr's interpretations were never dull but they were cool, poised and uninspiring in execution.

John Coveart's accompaniments were in stark contrast to the singer in their warmth and spirit. His technique was impeccable, his coordination and phrasing deserving of great respect. His performance enhanced the soloist's a hundred fold.

What has been forgotten (I assume) is that teshnique is not an independent entity separate from the music itself. In her singing of Monteverdi, Paisiello, and Durante the soloist exhibited calculated control of a fixed range of dynamics but such an exhibition is not art. In her moderns Miss Kerr's interpretation did not reach the core of the music she sang. Although possessed of a rich liquid resonant vocality her renditions seldom contained spiritual power. Accuracy although excellent in itself is not the essential, the sine qua non of musical art. The great Rubinstein was not always accurate, he made mistakes—yet no one questioned his artistry. If mezzo soprano Margaret Kerr had troubled less with her manner and more with her music, last nights performance might have glowed with the fire of creation instead of shining with the cold transparency of ice.

William Glenesk.

Radio: Stage 50

Last night Allan King presented his dramatic interpretation of what is perse an interesting situation namely the revolt of an individual from a socially ascribed status and response pattern. The hero Archie Bruno is at 36 graphically impressed with the fact that he is "a healthy intelligent man and a failure." Leaving school at the customary age he got the customary job. He never had time to think of what he was or what he wanted to do. Temperamentally unsuited to business activity he fell behind in the race yet found he really didn't care. Since he had a successful wife to keep him he decided to retire to thrash out the problem of competition versus contemplation, success versus accomplishment. This was not done within the usual framework of capitalism

(Continuel on Page 5)

— VIC OPEN MEETING —

Thursday 1:00 p.m.

THE QUESTION OF Formal Dress at the Vic At-Home will be considered. The meeting is called under the authority of Article XI of the V.C.U. Constitution which states:

SECTION 1 Open Meetings of the members of the V.C.U. shall be called by the President . . . . or on petition of 25 members of the V.C.U.

SECTION 3 Any member of the V.C.U. may attend Open Meetings of the V.C.U. with full rights to speak and vote.

SECTION 6 Open Meetings shall convene to: (b) Consider any decisions taken by the V.C.U. . . . . omend or reverse these decisions.

A petition has been received having more than the required 25 names, requiring we call this Open Meeting.

STAN. KURISKO
President, V.C.U.

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP
Speaker: JOHN A. ROBARTS
Subject: Spiritual Dynamics in World Affairs
Place: U.C., Room 64 (basement)
Today 1 p.m. All Welcome

THE ALL VARSITY REVUE
TALENT QUESTIONNAIRE

Name ..... Sex .....
College ..... Faculty ..... Year .....
Address ..... Phone .....

Put a check opposite the department in which you are interested and state experience — IF ANY.

1. ACTING ☐
Experience .....
.....
2. DANCING ☐
Ballet ..... ☐
Tap ..... ☐
Chorus ..... ☐
Specialty ..... ☐
Experience .....
.....
3. SET BUILDING AND PAINTING ☐
Experience .....
.....
4. SINGING ☐
Choral ..... ☐
Specialty ..... ☐
Experience .....
.....
5. STENOGRAPHY, Secretarial and General Assistance ☐
Experience .....
.....

Please fill out above form and drop in All-Varsity boxes in the halls of U.C., Victoria and S.P.S. OR bring to S.A.C. Hart House for a personal interview and fuller information.

SUPRORT
THE ALL VARSITY

There was a young man from Vic
Who had of the girls – his pick
But, alas in a trance, he lost all his chance
To ask one to
"The Dance of Romance"
TICKET SALES - TUES. NOV. 15

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

OFFICIAL
CREST PINS AND RINGS
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
. . . . may be purchased to your order in th ree places

S.A.C. OFFICE
ROOM 62
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

EDWARDS
INSIGNIA JEWELLERS
536 BAYVIEW AVE.,
MO. 4212

SHORNEYS
OPTICIANS
70 BLOOR ST. W.
(cor. Bay St.)
Written S.A.C. order required

Unless it is something "special" approximately 2½ weeks are required to complete an order. All Rings are made to your measure, and Guards are individually cut.

TANT PIS POUR VOUS
SI VOUS NE VENEZ PAS VOIR
KNOCK DEMAIN SOIR

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

TSO Pops

e Toronto Symphony Orchestra on its toes last Friday night. ouncing exuberance marked most e playing, giving a refreshing ciety to the well-worn fav- performed. Emphasis on rhythmic attractiveness appeared in the first part of the programme: the Strauss "Chit Chat Polka" and Anderson's "Promenade" were handled with cheerful briskness; "Peer Gynt" with effective shading, especially in the strings. The Brahms Hungarian Dance was colorful and precise; the Rossini overture spirited but brassy. Like a breath of fresh air came the little Corelli suite for strings — a disarming contrast. In the noticeable waning of enthusiasm that followed, Herbert's "Badinage" seemed perfunctory, while the Introduction and Cortege Coq d'Or (Rimsky-Korsakov) finished things off with a bang, and that was that.

In her opening group of lieder, Miss Uta Graf exhibited a voice of considerable lyric charm with extensive powers of restraint and control. In songs such as Brahms' Feldeinsamkeit, her somewhat conscious artistry is tremendously effective, but in more animated works as his "Meine Liebe Ist Grüen" it seems to result in a certain lack of vitality.

Dupare's "Chanson Triste" was a triumph of disciplined lyricism. Although the aria group was capably handled on the whole, there were some restrictions to the dynamic force on account of the limited power of the singer. Mozart's "Voi Che Sapete" was notable for neat and crisp diction; the Jewel Song for resonant fluidity.

The accompaniment of Mr. Leo Barkin was as competent as always, with especially fine interweaving of voice and piano in "The Trout."

Margaret Howe.

adio: Stage 50

(Continued from Page 4)

us socialism. Mr. King simply pproved of any system which d to encourage self-realization. ve a suspicion that I glamorize implicit for the explicit strug- ere over whether a man was a y if he baked a cake and got er ready for a wife arriving from the office. I hope that not assume gratituously that King implied more. There is doubt for nothing more ban- realistic could hardly have set down as dialogue. Its dull ess failed to point out clearly cosmic significance of this d of individualistic revolution. characters were alive and like live people insignificant and id. The hero perhaps was inely interesting. All innova- interest me. Any deviation from norm, any resistance to the otype, if done rationally as well ith the emotional aspect is its raison. d'etre. However past initial radical bias I was hardly ed.

dio drama does not surely do ob properly if it presents a logical problem in the cold, prose of daily life. The ac- storical unfolding of King was undoubtedly more like modern satires on the theme like Shakespeare's work. The es don't speak as Anderson s them speak no barflies as in ill. They require a spokesman a reporter. Mr. King had one in which to poignantly trace trials of a social misfit. The usness of social ostracization only be projected in a medium pendent on words by inspired tive speech. As Mr. Sinclair ed out in a library talk last two people pledge their un- love by talking about the ef- cy of the South Vancouver t cars. The claim to worthiness he part of every day conver- n is an empty pretence. All es is mistake stenographical acy for effectiveness.

the opposition to the common- atmosphere of the speech

(Continued on Page 7)

Movie Review

Beauty And The Beast

The International Cinema is to be congratulated on its present offering—a completely charming fairy tale for adults, "Beauty and the Beast" (La Belle et la Bete). Jean Cocteau, the director and guiding genius behind this film, exhorts us at the outset to cast aside our inhibitions, and this we joyfully do.

The plot, as might be expected, runs true to fairy-tale form, and concerns itself with a beautiful maiden who is compelled to live in a castle inhabited by a fearsome monster; the monster falls in love with her, and through various magical manipulations reverts to his true self. He is a handsome prince who has been placed under an evil spell, and after his release the two are wafted away into the clouds, presumably to live happily ever after.

In order to achieve the entrancing magical quality so necessary in this type of film, we are led from a somewhat argumentative but thoroughly amusing household to an enchanted castle, where all the laws of Nature are delightfully contradicted. The tempo of motion is altered subtly, so that the actors glide about with effortless ease; human arms reach out of walls and tables perform various functions; shadows fall in unexpected places, and occasionally move when their owners do not; sculptured figures blow smoke through their nostrils, and follow the actors about with their eyes. Normal concepts of space are negated by exaggerated perspective—objects seem to float about as the camera shifts, and swim in and out of focus with almost reckless abandon. The effect of dimensionless, timeless space is further established by the costumes and settings, which although beautiful, are meant to convey no particular historical period; the action takes place only somewhere in the timeless, romantic past.

The acting, needless to say, is excellent. Josette Day is a very beautiful "Beauty" indeed, who unaccountably refuses to be frightened by the Beast. The Beast, played by Jean Marais, has a very frightening appearance, but is too deserving of sympathy, in his unhappy state, to be truly fearsome. Marais also handles the parts of the prince and of Beauty's suitor before her sojourn in the enchanted castle.

"Beauty and the Beast" has for some time been recognized as a classic by the film societies of the world, and we heartily recommend that you forget your troubles for an hour and a half by seeing this superlative little film.

R. Alan Douglas.

MON., TUES., WED., THURS.

TORONTONENSIS REPS

Important Meeting

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17th, 1949

at 5 p.m.

Place: Torontonensis Office, 119 St. George St.

Victoria College Debating Parliament

Resolve:

That Democracy Implies Socialism

GUEST SPEAKER: REID SCOTT, M.P.P.

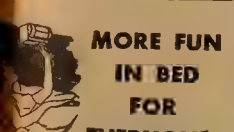
Affirmative: Gordon Milling, Ronald Noble

Negative: Dick Gage, Gowan Guest

4:00 P.M. TODAY — VIC CO-ED ROOM

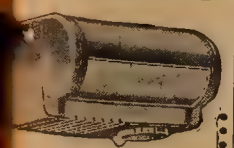
THE MURDERER!

He slays the gals in the lecture room because he's always "dressed to kill". And he makes DEAD certain that his custom tailoring is executed by a firm that DOES give a hang (about completely satisfying each and every individual customer).



Yes, it's the friendly "FIVE-MINUTES-FROM-THE-CAMPUS" STAIRWAY SHOP of . . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES



287 COLLEGE ST. MI. 9010

Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. on the south side.

Love those new Sports Jacket Cloths just arrived.

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO

re's the smartest bedtime ry ever told! Read under fect light that's kind to r eyes—while your favorite io program plays softly in r ears. The Lullaby, styled a dream in gleaming plastic abines a true-toned quality io with a scientifically igned no-glare reading light. mpact; fits any bed; for AC or lamp and radio operate sep- ely or together as desired. See buy the Lullaby today! At er radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL MANUFACTURING CO. LTD. TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

A large Canadian company has an opening in Toronto on its sales staff for a graduate of years 1947-1949 inclusive. This position has a salary and unlimited earning possibilities. Applicants should state age, full educational background, (Business and Arts courses preferred) and all organizing and business experience. All applicants must pass aptitude tests.

This is an unusual opportunity for the right man. If you, as a student, know of an outstanding graduate who qualifies for this position, advise him of this advertisement — or advise this Company.

BOX 6

SITZMARKER OR NO SITZMARKER!

Here's the pyjama for you! Flannelette in sizes 32 to 40. Pair 3.98

SIMPSON'S SECOND FLOOR

DEPT. 326

Simpson's

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPENS THURSDAY, NOV. 17

Campus Show

Goils And Gargoyles

College shows come and college shows go. Some are very good, most are bad. The Follies struck the happy medium by being indifferent. A little of it was very, very good, some was bad. The duets, notably LET'S GO BACK TO VAUDEVILLE with Ted Follows and Janice Johnson shone. Follows was particularly good, probably due to his former training and was undoubtedly the star of the show. He was the only member of the cast who succeeded in projecting his personality across the footlights to the audience. Evan Scott in the first part of LATE AUTUMN, a mood, according to the program, almost succeeded, but just fell short.

A COURSE IN EXTENSION, one of the skits, with its catchy Gilbert and Sullivan type lyrics, tickled the first-performance audience. It lampooned effectively the thousand and one courses offered in the University Extension Course. Also good was SAC'S ON CBC, which showed the complete detachment of radio actors in a show when they are not emoting into the microphone. Wally Fram, as the sound-effects man was properly harassed.

Another mood, STARLIGHT EXPRESSION, representing the ination of a depressed composer, had a good dancing chorus, marred only by the fact that the costumes the dancers were to wear in the next number were visible under their filmy garments, due to the backlighting.

The chorus line was bad at the start, but improved as the night progressed. The girls seemed a little scared when they first came onstage, and their dancing was correspondingly ragged. Reports have it that they were much better in subsequent performances.

The abstract AZTEC BALLET seemed to suffer from a surfeit of arms and legs, so much so, in fact, that it was almost impossible to follow the thread of the theme. Also, when it came time for the poor slave to be sacrificed, the high priest was able to stab him without the use of a knife. Maybe it was symbolic.

The Follies most apparent lack was its lack of a unifying theme. It seemed disjointed. One of Shelagh Granovsky's lines (Lady Juniper in SAC'S ON CBC), summed up the performance. "It's a rough night, indeed," she said, "and getting rougher." I liked it anyway.

Jim Knight

Afterthoughts

(Continued from Page 7)

up to get in, and then there's the worst line-up of all — but maybe stadium enlargements will improve the horrible situation.

Kingston was really torn wide open Saturday by the delirious Queen's fans. The victory took Queen's out of the cellar for the first time in recent years, and put their arch-rivals, the Blues in.

The radio broadcast of the game was mercifully cut off in the third quarter sparing the home-town audience of the final stages of the game. The program switched over to Montreal where the McGill-Western contest was being broadcast.

The ISS has brought five European students from DP camps in Germany to study at the U of T. These students are registered in the four arts colleges. These students have come to Canada with high hopes which must be fulfilled

EMPIRE'S DEAD

A total of 1,089,000 men in the British Empire forces lost their lives in the First World War.

VIC FROSH

REMEMBER YOUR

5T3 CLASS PARTY

NOVEMBER 18 9:00 BURWASH HALL

ONLY 3 DAYS
TILL THE

OPUS '49 DANCE

Casa Loma, $2.50 per couple, Dancing 9-1

Benny Louis Orchestra, Nov. 17, 1949, Dress Optional

TICKETS at S.A.C. Hart House and Royal Conservatory

HELP WANTED

Proof-readers, Copy-writers, Cartoonists, and any other persons interested in working on come to 119 St. George St., Wednesday, Nov. 16, from 2 - 5.

TORONTONENSIS

GRAD STUDIES

1st in a Series of Informal Discussions will be held on Tuesday, November 15, at 8:15

in the Graduate Lounge, 44 Hoskin

Topic: PROGRESS: ILLUSION OR REALITY?

ONE WEEK FROM TODAY TICKET SALES OPEN FOR

THE SCARLET & GOLD

VIC'S CONTRIBUTION TO CAMPUS REVIEWS

At the Eaton Auditorium, November 30, at 8:15

- Production by John Finlay
- Direction by George McCowan and Ted Snider
- Music by Bob Cringan's Orchestra

Chorus of 25 — Vocal Chorus of 15 — Cast of Dozens

Reserved Tickets $1.00 per person at Victoria College

TICKET SALES OPEN
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1949

RCAF NEWS

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants — FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER undergrads due to graduate in '53, '54 or '55 from Architec., Lib. Sch., Meds, OT, OCE, Phys. Ther., or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3, preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.)

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L.

All interested veteran or non-veteran undergrads (including those who have already filed applications) are asked to attend a meeting in Room 135, Physics Building, on Tuesday, 15th November, at 5.10 p.m. sharp.

SKULE NITE

TICKET SALE

TO ALL FACULTIES

IN ENGINEERING STORES 9 - 5
(Little Red Skulehouse)

MONDAY UNTIL SOLD

Thurs., Nov. 17th. Show Only, 75c per person
First Show at 8 p.m. ..... SOLD OUT
Second Show at 10 p.m.

Fri., Nov. 18th. Show and Dance $3.00 per couple
First Show at 7 p.m.
Second Show at 8:30 p.m. ..... SOLD OUT
Third Show at 10 p.m.

Sat., Nov. 19th Show and Dance $3.00 per couple
First Show at 7 p.m. ..... SOLD OUT
Second Show at 8:30 p.m. ..... SOLD OUT
Third Show at 10 p.m. ..... VERY FEW

Fri. Dance Only, 9-1, with Benny Louis, Jack Evans, and Johnny Perkins, ... $1.50 per couple

Sat. Dance Only, 8-12, with Benny Louis, The Modernaires, and Jim McDonald, ... $1.50 per couple and for your entertainment both nights . . .

FRANK PALMER

Direct from the night club circuit

SIGMA ALPHA MU

ANNIVERSARY BALL

KING EDWARD HOTEL

Mart Kenny's Orchestra
$4.00 couple
Proceeds to Mount Sinai Hospital and U.J.A.

SAT., NOV. 26
DRESS OPTIONAL

on the sideline

By CONN SPARROW

Although tennis and golf have finished for the season softball has almost reached the final stages, there are just myriads of other sports that can interest us, as ...en, between now and Christmas.

How would you like to become a member of the All-Uni...ty Badminton Club? This club opens its doors to both ...en and MEN—sooo better get cracking right up to the Drill Hall on St. George Street and pay your fee of only ...ollar.

Once a member you can play badminton to your heart's ...ent for the rest of the year on Mondays, Wednesdays and ...rsdays from 2:00 - 5:00, as well as Saturday mornings ... 9:00 - 12:00.

Already many have taken advantage of this privilege ...anybody interested in this sport should jump to it ...se the Women's Badminton Club is trying to get the ...ts at St. Paul's which will be available for just one after... a week, with the specification of being used for practice ... when they are not neeedd for competitions.

What about bowling? The Women's Athletic Association ...s it possible for us to play at the Midtown Alleys on ... Street for a very small sum which must be paid to ...n a bowling card.

There are all sorts of people who would love to come ... you for an afternon f fun any weekday from 1:00 - 5:00. ... you for an afternoon of fun any weekday from 1:00 - ... How about getting a bunch of the kids together and ... over to see how you stand up as a high scorer?

If badminton and bowling are not in your line of action, ... we have recreational swimming to offer. Tuck your ...ing suit, cap and towel under your arm any afternoon ... Monday to Thursday around three o'clock and skip up ...e Lillian Massey pool behind the House Ec Building.

See for yourself how many are splashing around having ...nderful time in the warm green waters. I bet you meet ... of your friends whom you never expected to take an ...st in swimming.

The swimming preliminaries are this week in prepara... for the meet in Hart House on Wednesday night at 8:00. Eliminations in diving and speed will be held at 7:00 ...evening in the UTS pool, while tomorrow at the same ... in the LM pool, the final look-see in individual synchron... and style swimming will take place.

This is your chance to back up your college as a con...nt or a spectator. Let's get into things, let's do things ...bove all let's have fun!

...ues In Basement

(Continued from Page 1)

... first downs to Toronto's

...	Quarter	Queen's Bahner
...buck	Half	Richardson
...eckl	Half	Sisson
...	Half	Lenard
...gs	Flying wing	Penner
	Centre	Charters
...man	Inside	Simola
...re	Inside	Salari
	Middle	McCarney
	Middle	Burgess
	End	Logan
Gray	End	Harrison

Varsity alternates: Fisher, Roberts, McLennan, Forge, Al Brown, Kelly, Hadlow, Cecutti, Sinclair, Dick Brown, Bell, McFadden.

Queen's alternates: Ball, Bulger, Faulkner Bryane, Montrose, Sheridan, Dick, Lampman, Cole, Welton, Wooley, Roberts.

Officials: Referee, Hap Shouldice, Ottawa; umpire, Tom Daly, Ottawa; head linesman, Sid McMoran, Ottawa; judge of play, Harry Bowden, Montreal.

During the next couple of years, the ISS on the U of T campus hopes to open an International House on the campus, as has been done in Chicago and New York.

WOMEN'S BADMINTON

... courts at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Bloor St. E., will be available ...omen students who pay the University Athletic Fee every Wednes... commencing Nov. 16, from 2 - 4.30 p.m.

...rs please: Sign book each time. Change into white-soled shoes.

S.P.S. HOCKEY

...ACTICES

...rsday	Nov. 17	12- 2 p.m.	I & II Years
...rsday	Nov. 17	9-10 p.m.	III & IV Years
...day	Nov. 21	8-10 p.m.	Jr. & Sr. S.P.S.
...nesday	Nov. 23	8-10 a.m.	III & IV Years
...rsday	Nov. 24	9-10 a.m.	I & II Years
...ay	No.v 25	8- 9 a.m.	Jr. & Sr. S.P.S.

...uit the Notice Board in the Engineer Building before each practice.

GAMES TODAY

...BALL	East	4.00	Med I vs Vic	Pasternak, Emon, Salsberg
...ER	North	3.30	Trin II vs Knox	Reed
	South	4.00	Sr. U.C. vs Sr. Vic	Thompson
...OSSE		1.00	Med I vs Vic I	Raymond, Prendergast
		4.00	St. M. A vs Med II	Hastings, Stuckey
...I LEAGUE		4.30	Inst. Mgt. vs Wyc	Hamilton
...LEYBALL		1.00	Vic III vs SPS V	Brown

...LASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LINGUAPHONE
...language—Days—PL. 5401; ...PL 5524.

TYPING
... thesis typed by a Science ... Professional Stenographer. ... rates. Reservations accept... ...e: RA. 7028, Mrs. McLaren.

TYPING
... veteran student will type ... etc., at standard rates. Call ... evenings, or call at S.A.C. ...e years' typing experience.

LOST
... with four keys in Hygiene ... from Hygiene Building to ... of Nursing. Finder please ... 5926.

WANTED
... young man and young wo... ...w novel Christmas gifts. ... opportunity for substantial ... earnings. Phone Port Credit ...ppointment.

TYPIST
Manuscripts, essays, theses, plays, etc. Call HU. 4544.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY
Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 8321 or JU. 3575.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS
Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA. 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

NEW 1950 PORTABLE
Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

TYPING
Expert typing by experienced stenographer. Also duplicating. Pick-up service. HY. 9023.

Jazz Review

Top Bop By Woody And Nat

Woody Herman's orchestra and King Cole's trio bopped their way in and out of Mutual Arena Wednesday night. Before a relatively small crowd composed of local musicians and fans, the occasional jitterbug, and the unenlightened few who came to dance, the boys gave in effect a jazz concert.

Consistently satisfying was the work of Nat 'King' Cole's augmented combo. In his popular, personable style Nat sang and played songs like "Yes Sir. That's My Baby", "Exactly Like You" "Route 66" as well as the moody "Portrait of Jennie". In addition to these more commercial efforts there were, in contrast to his last tour, several instrumentals which displayed to an even better degree the group's wonderful beat, unity of effect, and pleasing fullness of sound created by the King on piano, Irving Ashby's electric guitar, Jack Costanzo on bongos, and bassist Joe Comfort.

With few exceptions Nat's bright chords were in good taste, as were Ashby's impeccable rhythm chording and single string solos. Fortunately Costanzo takes time out from his impressive bongo drumming to avoid the inevitable tedium of his instrument.

The Herman Herd's biting brass triumphed over a slightly inadequate mike system—the vibraphone was not so lucky. Changes in the band's personnel have given it a different sound and somewhat inconsistent presentation, which do not, however, prevent it from still being one of the best pjurveyors of big band bop. No longer do you hear the distinctive punch the Herd used to get with Don Lamond, but drummer Shelly Manne's masterful technique and loose, relaxed style really swing the band. Shelly's background with Stan Kenton's "progressive jazz" produced exciting results, especially in the tricky rhythms of "Jamaica Rhumba" and "Bijou".

One of the most gratifying aspects of the outfit was Mary Ann McCall's beautiful ballad singing of "Happiness Is Just a Thing Called Joe" and "I Got It Bad and That Ain't Good". There's a bit of Sarah and a bit of Ella, but there's a great deal more of Mary Ann. Trombonist Bill Harris, the band's star soloist, blew hot and cold, sweeping through "Apple Honey", "I Ain't Gonna Wait Too Long", "Everywhere", and "Bijou" with new variations.

On "Yesterdays" and "All the Things You Are" Milt Jackson, one of bop's top vibraphonists, achieved good tone and great ideas. Serge Chaloff (of the Boston Chaloffs) once again manipulated his big baritone sax with unconventional dexterity. Only weak props in the group were the recent tenor replacements in the sax section, none of whom rank with Stan Getz or even Gene Ammons. The result was that Ralph Burns' cool, clear reed voicing on "Four Brothers" and "Early Autumn" was rather muddy.

In a very friendly talk between sets Woody revealed that he was still waiting for Leonard Bernstein's concerto, that he thought Canada's Oscar Peterson was great, and that while he had nothing "weighty" to say about the future of jazz or the Herd, "We'll continue trying to play good music ... we're always on the lookout for new sounds, anything fresh."

Chuck Red

Camera Club

(Continued from Page 1)

ing up some developer and needed some Sodium Sulphite. I found it on the 'wet chemicals' shelf. After I'd finished with it, I put it back on the 'sodium shelf'. There was plenty of room. The only other items there were Acetic Acid and Potassium Bromide.

The Common room is the most uncommon of all. This room is the meeting place for a great many societies on the campus. If it isn't in the Chessroom it's usually in the Camera Club that people meet. The big difference lies in the fact that here food is welcomed.

Off to the corner of the common room is the 'Library'. If an imposing title hasn't fooled you, it's really a large cabinet filled to overflowing with technical books on photography. It's also filled with most of the librarian's photo equipment — "Paging Peter Wade". The manner of taking a book out is to find Peter Wade, get him to open the cabinet, and sign for a book. Since Peter is hard to get (he's usually out getting tomorrow's pictures for The Varsity), the only way left is to blast it open. So far nobody has wanted a book that badly.

The most important aspect of the Camera Club is the artistic work turned out by its members. This work is put on display during the annual 'Salon'. Watch for it — it's something really worth seeing.

Baha'i Leader

(Continued from Page 3)

its present world centre is Haifa, Palestine and its communities have been established in 94 countries of the globe.

"The teachings of the Baha'i World Faith, emphasizing the unity of religion and the oneness of mankind, and the embodiment of these teachings in a set of institutions that provide the structure for world government is perhaps the most positive sign on the international horizon that world peace is not an impossible ideal," Robarts pointed out in an interview today.

Radio: Stage 50

(Continued from Page 5)

there came the setting. The principals were wealthy (a country estate large enough to live on and a full-time maid) and no children. The only pressure for the man to work according to expectation was social and personal (although I suggest that in this class such a dilettante attitude while not the standard is hardly such an outrageous and immoral anamoly). All he had to do was snap his fingers at these unattractive successes and go on making fish sauce. The main point here though is not what I consider a logical inconsistency but the fact that the author took an ideal situation and expressed it through the medium of the hackneyed and the unexplicit. This reversal of the standard approach was not I repeat successful. The idea of taking a person out of one section of Ruth Benedict's patterns of culture and putting him in another could be rewarding. But the experiment must express himself with clarity and force to make the job worthwhile. It's really a frequent event, a misfit in the scheme; W. C. Fields is currently doing it. He at least made me laugh; Mr. King only made me tired.

Murray Pashler

Debating Trials

(Continued from Page 3)

this question on different sides and will be judged individually. The judges or ths trial will be: Professor Ashley, Trinity; Professors G. Bagnani and D. M. Hayne, University College.

The tour will include the University of Rochester, Nov. 29; Princeton, Nov. 30; New York University, Dec. 1; Fordham, Dec. 2; and Columbia, Dec. 3.

Athletic Officials Announce B. Ball Hockey Plans

The Intramural Athletic office have announced that they will conduct a hockey clinic on Tuesday, Nov. 15 and Nov. 22, in the fencing room at Hart House for those who have signed up as referees for the coming hockey season. A practical clinic will be held at the Varsity Arena on the 24th of this month to acclimatize prospective arbiters in a live game.

Miss Boyd also said that there will be thirty-four teams competing in the intramural loop this year. The "A" and "B" groups will consist of five teams each and these will play a schedule of eight games. Hockey is expected to get under way on November 28.

Basketball too, is already organized and the intramural office intends to try to make practice allocations to all major and minor loop teams in the two gyms. As in hockey, the first two groups will comprise five teams each with eight game schedules.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS ℞

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

"Tailored to fit like your own"

FORMAL RENTALS

FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Freeman

256 College St. — KI. 0991

(At Spadina)

556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270

(At Wellesley)

McGILL vs WESTERN

Senior Intercollegiate Playoff

Nov. 20, 1949

An allotment of tickets has been made for Varsity students and will be placed on sale on a priority exchange slip basis, tomorrow, November 15.

Priority slips will be issued at the north door of Varsity Arena, off Bloor St. parking lot, and tickets will go on sale at the Stadium office on Devonshire Place, at 9 a.m. Price: $1.00.

Soccer Blues Retain League Leadership

OAC DOWNS INTERMEDIATES

By BRUCE MACDONALD

Guelph, Nov. 14.—(Staff)—In a see-saw battle that featured an 80 yard run, some spectacular passing, and a free-for-all battle at centre field in the final quarter, the OAC Aggies downed the Varsity Intermediate Blues by a score of 17-11 Saturday afternoon.

The OAC squad displayed a powerful ground attack, particularly in the end run department which the Blue pass attack, even working at its best, could not seem to equal.

With the wind at their backs in the first quarter the Blues took the initiative and 10 minutes from the starting whistle, Johnny Green carried over for the intermediates and Cawinski converted to make the score 6-0 for Varsity. OAC end runs began to click in the second quarter and culminated in an unconverted touchdown for the Aggies.

The explosion occurred in the second half. Brennan ran the Varsity kickoff 80 yards to the Blue 25 yard line in a beautiful exhibition of downfield running, and then took the ball around the left end on the next play to score a major. A successful convert made the score OAC 11, Varsity 6.

Hansen T.D.'s

As the third quarter drew to a close, the Aggie ground attack paid off again to make the score 17-11 in OAC's favour. The Blue attack rolled back after the kickoff: Four first downs in a row put Varsity in payoff territory, and when they recovered an OAC fumble on the Aggie's 40 yard line passes by Bob Bazos and Al Haig and plunges by Terry Howsley put the ball close enough to the OAC line for Julie Hansen to plunge it over. The convert was no good, and the score remained 17-11 for the Aggies.

In the fourth quarter, rough play finally led to a brawl at centre field that ended with Cawinski of Varsity and Anderson of OAC being sent out of the game. Temperatures rose again when an OAC man was tackled on the sidelines and scraped his face on the cinder track, but once this blew over the game proceeded with little interruption.

The dying minutes saw another Aggie drive fail when Cavorelli fumbled going over the Blue goal line. The Blues then took over and completed 6 forward passes in a row. The final whistle halted them on the OAC 25 yard stripe.

The Varsity line was the standout of the game in both the blocking and tackling departments. Linemen Doug Shay, Murray Hames, Rod Whitehead, Howie Russell, Sutherland, and Harry Hyde were at their best for the Intermediates.

Playoff Berths Still Available In Soccer Loop

With the regular season just eight days from its end, most of the playoff spots for the Arts Faculty Cup are still wide open. Only four teams have no mathematical chance of gaining a berth, while one team is definitely in the post-season encounters.

In the first group Trinity "A's" have cinched one of the two spots, while Senior Vic and Senior SPS are fighting it out for the other. In the second, any two of Junior SPS, Senior Meds or St. Mike's have a chance, while in the third division Pre-Meds and Wycliffe are waging an even battle for the lone spot, with Junior Vic still in consideration. The fourth group is the most even, and the three remaining games will decide whether Knox, Emmanuel or Trinity "B's" represent the group.

The standing up until today is as follows:—

Group One

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Trinity "A"	5	3	0	2	6	2	8
Senior Vic	4	2	0	2	6	2	6
Senior SPS	5	2	3	0	5	6	4
Senior U.C.	4	0	4	0	1	8	0

Group Two

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Junior SPS	5	3	1	1	20	4	7
Senior Meds	5	3	2	0	7	8	6
St. Mike's	5	2	2	1	7	6	5
Forestry	5	1	4	0	4	20	2

Group Three

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Pre-Meds	5	3	1	1	9	7	7
Wycliffe	4	2	0	2	8	4	6
Junior Vic	4	1	1	2	6	6	4
Junior U.C.	5	0	4	1	4	10	1

Group Four

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Emmanuel	5	3	1	1	7	3	7
Knox	4	2	0	2	5	2	6
Trinity "B"	4	2	1	1	6	4	5
Dents	5	0	5	0	0	9	0

VARSITY SPORTS

Blue Harrier Team First For Fourth Straight Year

Kingston, Nov. 12—(Staff)—The University of Toronto Harrier team has done it again! For the fourth straight year, the seniors took the Senior Intercollegiate championship when they easily outdistanced the field at Kingston. George Doull was the winner, covering the 5.3 mile course in 28 minutes, 55.4 seconds, a record for the Queen's course. George Webster, another Varsity man, took second place. Queen's Steve Prosenyak came in third, and Varsity took the next two places when Dave Barr and Dunc Green arrived at the finish 4th and 5th to place their four counters within the first five. The fifth member of the team, George McMullen, ran ninth in the twenty man field.

Perennial Winners

Varsity ended up with twelve points, Queen's was next with 38, OAC got 40, and McGill brought up the rear with 55.

The only meet Varsity has lost for years was the American A.A.U. invitation meet at Detroit last year when they placed fifth in a field of twelve of the best American colleges. Varsity edged Buffalo State this year in a dual meet, and will travel to Detroit for the A.A.U. invitation on December 19th.

Tough Course

The Queen's course is one of the toughest in the country, and according to Hal Brown, the coach, is certainly the hardest they have ever run. With very little pavement, numerous hills, ditches, and a limestone quarry to cross, it is really a cross-country race. Dr. Brown of the Athletic Directorate indicated that all harrier courses should be like that one.

Tie Western, Defeat Mac In Two Int. Soccer Tilts

By GENE RAYMOND

London, Nov. 12 (Staff) — The Western Soccer Intermediates gave the Varsity Intermediates a minor setback when they held them to a goalless draw at London on Saturday afternoon.

Both played under handicaps; Western fielded a ten-man team for the whole game and the Blues were without the services of three of their ace front-line men. Backed by a stubborn half-line, the Blues' forward-line was well inside the Western area for the greater part of the game. As a matter of fact, so seldom did Western succeed in getting past mid-field, that Andresen, the Blues' custodian, touched the ball only two or three times for the whole game.

In the first half the Blues, kicking with the wind in their favour made use of this advantage and repeatedly penetrated the Western defence. Oschaduk and Rigabert initiated the majority of raids on the right flank all of which were climaxed with hopelessly feeble and inaccurate shooting by the other forwards. The absence of the Blues' sharp-shooters was definitely felt as scores of centres from Comrie and Oschaduk were either booted outside or simply went abegging. Armstrong, in Western's goal, had a busy afternoon retrieving the ball from behind the touchlines. Lemontime came with no goals being scored by either side.

Torrid Pace

In the second half Western failed to take advantage of the strong wind behind them and play was a repetition of the first half. The Blues kept up a torrid pressure but bungled time and again besides failing to make use of the several corners that the Western defence was forced to cede.

Western were determined in their effort to prevent any scoring against them and practically the whole team resorted to playing in the defence lines. It was, indeed, a tired but happy Western team that greeted the final blast of the whistle with the score at 0-0.

McMASTER HERE

The Intermediate Soccer Blues maintained their lead of the Intermediate League by inflicting a 4-0 drubbing on the McMaster Intermediates on Friday afternoon. This was the Blues' fourth successive win of the season, having already defeated Western, Aggies and McMaster in previous encounters.

The match was a one-sided affair and the Blues stormed their opponents' territory for the greater part of play. In the first half, particularly, the forward line worked like a piece of well-oiled machinery. Due to re-shuffles, however, their second-half play lacked constructiveness. The game turned out to be a personal triumph for Dick Wilson, the Blues' right-winger, who, besides registering his team's first goal, was instrumental in two more being scored.

Mac Disorganized

In the first half McMaster's defence was hopelessly disorganized and the fast-moving Blues' forward line did not hesitate to capitalize on this weakness. Two minutes after the kick-off Rigabert dribbled past two of the opposing defence and gave Wilson a neat pass on the right. With the ball almost on the touchline, Wilson kicked from a difficult angle and to his and everyone's immense surprise, saw the ball trickle past the McMaster custodian into the nets. The second goal came close in the wake of the first as a result of a fine bit of combination by Delfosse, Montemurro and Rigabert. Wilson received from Rigabert, outran the defence, and sent a lovely lobber to centre-forward Montemurro who deftly headed past and out of the goal-keeper's reach. About ten minutes before the interval Wilson again swung across a high centre and Montemurro, from an impossible angle, scored with another "header".

Blues Bungle

Play was again confined to the McMaster area in the second half but the Blues forward-line seemed to have lost their first-half sting and were apt to bungle at times. McMaster made a few spasmodic raids, three of which resulted in corners that proved fruitless.

With only a few minutes left for play, Rigabert's persistent efforts were rewarded; he registered his team's fourth goal with a well-placed shot into the far corners of the net after receiving a pass from Horney. The game ended with the final score: Varsity 4, McMaster 0.

Beat Western 4-1 Wyler, Evans Star

By BILL LEACH

London, Nov. 14. — (Staff) — The Varsity Senior Blu scored their second win over the Western team for t season at London on Saturday by a score of 4-1. The Blu dominated the play throughout and were well worth th winning margin — although but for weak finishing by t forwards the score must inevitably have been much great Since Western beat the Aggies 1-0 in London last week, the Blues are now tied with Aggies for first place, and these two meet here next Saturday in what might be called the play-off game. The Blues must win this match though, for Aggies hold a 2-0 victory over the Blues, and a tied game would give the Aggies the trophy as the goal averages of the tied teams would be the deciding factor.

Below Form

In Saturday's encounter, the Blues, although not at full strength and decidely below their best form, had too much all-round stability for a game Western team. Why the Blues did not score several goals in the first twenty minutes is still mystery, but at no time did we ern ever look like pulling a surpr Only Gillespie and Cummins offe any resistance on the Western fence, and the Western goalkee put up a great show in keeping score down to 4. Shutovich James were the best of a forw line that lacked support.

Varsity Takes Lead

Varsity started at a great pa and it seemed only a matter time before they must score, bu hesitancy around the net led many wasted shots and opportu ties. Finally it was left to le half Wotherspoon to open the sc ing with a powerful drive from o side the penalty area. Soon aft wards Antoni, played onside b Western defender, converted easy one to make it 2-0. Before half ended Western replied w smart effort from the boot of portunist Shutovich.

Barton Ill

Playing against the wind in second half the Varsity pre abated a little, although they not much difficulty in keeping trol of the play. The Blues wi halves were seen to good advan in this period, and Alain Wyler as good as ever in the forward l Barton, being ill, took things for a change, and Antoni was no to par, although it was Bob next scored for the Blues from lovely cross by Rigabert. Cap Ted Evans finished the scoring the day with a well placed pena shot.

It now remains to be seen if Blues can win on Saturday on t home ground to keep possession the coveted Blackwood Trophy the seventh successive time.

TEAM:—Reed, Moffat, Bro hurst, Leach, Evans, Wotherspo Allan, Barton, Antoni, Wyler, B fosse. Subs. Rigabert.

Dentists Register Convincing Win Over Jr. Meds.

After taking the first quarter off to get used to the wet going, the Dents football squad walked all over the Junior Meds team to the tune of a 27-0 score Friday afternoon on the back campus.

Once they got under way the dentists seemed to be able to score almost at will as their line opened holes for plungers and passers like White found little difficulty in completing their pitches. The Meds attack got nowhere in the face of a charging Dent line.

Hickman Singles

Hickman opened scoring for the Dents in the first quarter by kicking a long one to the deadline for one point. After the half, White tossed two touchdown passes, the first to Simpson and the second to Gregus. The final stanza saw two more Dent majors, McMillan and Hickman being the ball carriers.

Despite their win, Dents still have no chance for a Mulock Cup playoff spot as Forestry has earned the one group three position in the finals by virtue of its five win-no loss record.

Lineups

Dents: Flying wing, Simpson; halves, Hickman, Ryan, McMillan; quarter, White; snap, Picard; insides, Dwyneka, Lalonde; middles, Jackson, Heit; outsides, Gregus, Cudmore; alternates, Miller, Hrabowski, Hicken.

Meds II: Flying wing, Mackenzie; halves, Wilson, Taylor, Armstrong; quarter, Colwell; snap, Johnson; insides, MacKenzie, Asselstine; middles, Irwin, Slater; outsides, Jones, McIntyre; alternates, Shoemaker, Colapinto, Natberg, Butler, Hiltz, Kerr, Kitty, Moran, MacGilvray, Sargeant, Railton.

Yates Cup Play Off Here On Saturday

Although Toronto fans w not have another opportunity observe the Blues on the gri iron, they will have a chance see another football game ne week when the McGill Redm will take on the challengi Mustangs from Western for t Yates Cup. The ruling of t football league regarding pla offs is that unless the two tea involved can come to an agre ment about a playing fie then the game shall be play on neutral ground. Toronto obviously the best neutral gr dium.

Afterthoughts

Rattler To Queen's Full Of Spirit, Gals

By JOHN KENNEDY

Kingston, Nov. 12 —(Staff)— Judging by the attitude of the fans on the rattler ride to Kingston, the "followers of the Blues" fully expected our team to win. There was plenty of song and women. When the train left the station one coach was noticed to be filled with unescorted women and the one forward was predominantly filled with men. By the time we passed Scarboro the former coach was jam-packed and the latter was empty.

The spirited Blue Band moved from one end of the train to the other to instil spirit into the already spirited athletic supporters. The train re-echoed with the immortal strains of "Brown Ring" after every rendition of the various college songs. A few of the band members also play fine Dixie-Land, Twelfth Street Rag and Jazz Band Ball being two of their favorites. Bob Cringan and his boys deserve a great deal of credit for the enjoyment they provided on the train ride down.

Yellow Jackets

At the game, Queen's science with lovely virulent mustar ored silk jackets guarded the at half time and the goal p the end of the game. They special section and at the am times descended on the field l swarm of bees. The goal post been recently painted with equally vivid yellow color a fact probably aided the Quee in keeping the posts intact.

Toronto had almost nothi cheer about all afternoon u was the one round decisio Brown scored over Hal Mc at the end of the game.

Line-ups

Well we're kind of glad t son is over. No more line-up had no line up to get ticke

(Continued on Page 6

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Ove-cast and Mild

VOL. LXIX, NO. 38 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Tuesday, November 15, 1949

ISS Meets In Montreal

A group of Toronto people are seen above at the Fourth Annual Canadian International Student Service Conference held in Montreal over the weekend. Left to right: Matt Saunders, National Secretary of Canadian ISS; Kent Macdonald, IV Pol. Sci.; Mrs. W. H. Clarke, National Committee; Don Scroggie, III Pol. Sci.; Zi Murray, III Hist; Rosemary Duff, III Pass; Mgr. Olivier Maurault Recteur of The University of Montreal, host to the conference; Arthur Maybee, a former Toronto ISS Chairman, now Executive Director of The United Nations Association, Toronto Branch; Bill McDougall, IV POL. Sci., Chairman of the Toronto ISS Committee; and Jane Hill, IV Soc.

Publishers Refute Report Of Change In Prices Policy

A report that the Macmillan Company of Canada and the McGraw-Hill book company have in the last two months introduced a policy of selling American-produced books which they publish or distribute in Canada at American list prices was denied by officials of the two companies yesterday.

Report At NFCUS Meet

The report was made by Richey Love, president of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, while he was presiding over a one day meeting of the NFCUS Executive Committee at the University of Montreal Sunday.

Love said he had talked to Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, and had been told that "two months ago Macmillan and McGraw-Hill signified their intention of selling texts in Canada at the American list price with hope that other publishers would follow this practice."

"As far as I know," Love said, "this policy has been in effect for two months."

When asked about this report yesterday, J. M. Gray, General Manager of the Macmillan Company of Canada, said his company for three years has sold in Canada texts published by its parent company in the United States for the American list price. Macmillan Company of Canada distributes a line of books published by another company in the United States at a mark-up over the American list price of six to seven percent, Gray said.

Devaluation Only Reason for Change

"The only change in policy regarding American text book prices we have made in the last month or two had to do with devaluation of the Canadian dollar," he said. "We decided we would not raise the Canadian price of Macmillan texts published in the United States." This meant that these texts would continue to sell for the same number of Canadian dollars as they did in Ameircan dollars.

Books published by other American companies and distributed by the Macmillan Company of Canada on this side of the border were raised in price after devaluation, Gray said.

N. N. Heinbuch, Canadian manager of McGraw-Hill, said he has never heard of the policy mentioned by NFCUS President Love. "Certainly we haven't been following that policy for the last two months," he commented.

At the executive meeting Love also said several English publishing companies are in Canada at the moment investigating the field for "graduate and professional books."

English Competition Gives Cuts

"These English companies are definitely coming into the Canadian market and claim that they will be able to sell their books 15 to 20 percent cheaper in Canada, because of devaluation and the lower cost of English texts," Love said.

At the executive committee meet, NFCUS also:

. . . Heard a report from the University of Montreal committee responsible for the Quebec seminar to be held towards the end of August, 1950. Dr. Leon Lortie, professor of chemistry and history of science at the University of Montreal, has been appointed dean of the seminar. It will deal generally with the broad topic, "Canadian Unity."

About 100 students will be present, with all expenses paid except transportation to the seminar. To pay for the meet, NFCUS is approaching provincial governments.

. . . Decided to shelve the Canadian air travel scheme because of the shortage of planes for charter, and because alternative plans to travel by air are too expensive. NFCUS will think the problem over again if second class air travel is approved by the International Air Transport Association.

Fare to Europe return would be about $375 second class. NFCUS will in the meantime investigate the possibility of working with the United States National Students Association Air Travel scheme, as was done last year.

Complete Break From IUS Is National ISS Decision

Students at the fourth annual convention of the International Student Service (Canadian), held in Montreal over the weekend, took definite measures Sunday to dissociate themselves from the International Union of Student. The IUS has been accused of being dominated by communists, and Canadian ISS delegates felt that the IUS should not have any say in the group which formulates policy for the ISS.

In a resolution which will be forwarded to the international organization of ISS, Canadian ISS recommended that the ISS limit representation on its General Assembly which formulates ISS policy to "representatives of ISS organizations." Although certain groups which have contributed to ISS in the past will suffer by this recommendation if adopted by the international group, Canadian ISS felt that the matter was sufficiently important to warrant a special resolution.

Formulate Policies

Delegates from 21 Canadian universities met at the University of Montreal for a three day meeting, and formulated policy for the coming year. Besides the resolution to bar IUS from ISS, the delegates also:

—Decided that Canadian ISS has a moral responsibility to continuing support of Displaced Persons students whom they brought to Canada last year, until these students have obtained their primary degree.

—Expressed the belief that ISS should do something about DP students already in Canada through the local ISS committees.

—Adopted a scheme of exchange scholarships which will bring students from Europe to Canada for one year's study. These students will return to their countries after their year in Canada.

—Voted continuence of the plan to bring Displaced Persons to Canada to study, on the same basis as was done last year. This plan will depend on the amout of money which local committees feel they can spend on the project.

Want German Students

—Recommended that the Canadian ISS Seminar be held again next year. The suggested location was France. ISS has already received a $10,000 grant from the Canadian Committee For Reconstruction Through UNESCO to finance the seminar. The national committees will have to raise the necessary funds to send the delegates to Europe.

—Recommended that ISS continue to support international relief as long as ISS representatives can decide where relief is needed, and can supervise the distribution of funds.

—Recommended that ISS approach the Department of External Affairs to try and secure the admission of German students to Canada for one year's study. The students would then return to Germany, according to the recommendation.

Officers were elected at the conference. Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, was re-elected president. Dr. Leon Lortie, University of Montreal, and Dr. Marcus Long, University of Toronto, were re-elected vice-presidents. Rev. E. M. Nichols, secretary of the Student Christian Movement, University of Toronto, was re-elected treasurer.

Campus Politics Dead No Clubs Organized At New Brunswick U.

Fredericton, N.B.—(CUP)—"Campus political clubs are a dead issue here at the University of New Brunswick," said UNB campus official Aulder Gerow in a statement to The Brunswickian recently.

Although the matter may be brought before the campus Conservative group, it is reported doubtful the Tories will support any move to organize further clubs.

Neither the CCF nor Liberal elements on the campus have made any moves regarding this "hot potato," The Brunswickian said.

Hart House Concerts

Pierre Boutet, tenor, who is well known for his performance with the Opera School, will give the first of this week's informal recitals in the Hart House music room today at 1.25 p.m. At present a student at the Conservatory, Boutet will present selections from Dupard, Faure, Morgan and Cilea.

Next Sunday's recital will feature as guest artist, Dr. Robert Graham, violinist, who has performed with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Graham received his musical degree from U. of T. last year and is now a demonstrator in the Anatomy Department. His program will be excerpts from Vitali, Gluck, Debussy and Dvorak.

LPP FORUM BACKS COMMUNIST RIGHT TO BE IN UNIONS

Cause of the cleavage between left-wing and right-wing leadership is the question of wanting unions within a communist or a capitalistic framework, the LPP forum decided Monday afternoon in University College. The forum discussion was on "Are Communists a threat to the trade union movement?"

"The CCF is the political arm of the Canadian Congress of Labor and at elections CCF-led unions give financial support to the CCF party," forum chairman Ben Shek said.

"The Communist party, similarly," suggested Shek, "should be allowed to use unions for propaganda and financial support."

Just because two parties are trying to gain labor support in a move towards socialism, though by different paths, is no reason why Communists should be expelled from labor ranks," Len Dolgoy, I Law, said.

Alexander Student Now Alexander Lecturer

"I enjoyed literature only as a brute beast might until I heard Professor Alexander," said Professor E. K. Brown. "After that I visited all his classes during four consecutive years."

Professor Brown, of the University of Chicago English department, has returned this week to the university of his student days to give the annual Alexander lectures. He is speaking on rhythm in the novel. These lectures were founded as a spontaneous tribute from Professor Alexander's colleagues and former students.

Can't Read Writing

Dr. Brown is the first professor from the University of Chicago to give the Alexander Lectures and the first lecturer who was a student of the celebrated professor.

Fellow students remember Professor Brown as a quiet, sincere, studious young man who did brilliantly in the Modern Languages course. Professor Brown recalls that in his second year his writing on the final examination papers was so illegible that he had to be called in to read back his own paper to the examiners.

"I'm sure you're telling the truth," said registrar, James Brebner, "but there's nothing to verify it."

"That was how he got his firsts right through," jokingly said Professor Woodhouse.

Professor Popular

"I realised what a miracle Professor Alexander was the first time I heard him," said Professor Brown. "He had certain powers that don't belong to this generation. The only incurable defect of the Alexander lectures is that they are not given by Alexander."

One contemporary recalls that Dr. Brown's students at the University of Toronto were very fond of the handsome young teacher recently returned from Paris. During his career he has been English professor at the Universities of Toronto, Manitoba, Cornell and Chicago. In 1942, he was secretary to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Favourite Novelists

As regards contemporary novelists, Dr. Brown thinks that Grahame Greene is excellent, especially in such novels as Brighton Rock and Heart of the Matter. However, many of Greene's novels, Greene himself has demoted to entertainment, Brown said. Greene is un-

(Continued on Page 2)

Aim Of Humanist Club Said Active Discussion Of Campus Problems

Lack of student challenge and war weariness are the chief reasons for students' social apthy, Barbara Bambridge, leader of a discussion at the University of Toronto Humanist Club's first meeting last Friday. Because a number of students see no purpose in active participation in social problems, they lose interest in world controversies while attending University, she said. The Humanist Club is a medium for non-political, unbiased student expression, she added.

Discrimination of various types in the awarding of scholarships and the growing loss of academic freedom were also offered as examples of apathetic social consciousness. Open and frank discussion and presentation of questionnaires on campus issues were offered as solutions.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Art Payne
ASSISTANTS: Louise Bisley, Cathy McDermott, Barbara Murphy

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER, 15, 1949

Congratulations

Over the weekend The National Federation of Canadian University students announced some details of the summer seminar they will hold in Quebec province next Angust, on the general topic of Canadian Unity.

One of these details was the name of the man who has been appointed Seminar Dean: Dr. Leon Lortie, professor of chemistry and the history of science at The University of Montreal, member of the Administrative Committee of the Canadian International Student Service, and a member of the executive of the National Conference of Canadian Universities (NFCUS on the University administrative level).

Dr. Lortie (rhymes with tor-see) is an excellent choice for the job, and it is to be hoped that the standard of selection of both professors and students for the seminar will be of the same high calibre.

We heard Dr. Lortie give a talk to the conference of The Canadian International Student Service held in Montreal over the weekend on the subject of Canadian culture. New cultures, he said, come from the meeting of two old cultures. Here in Canada we have a marvellous opportunity to create a truly 'Canadian' culture by taking the best from our traditional French culture and traditional English culture.

NFCUS is to be congratulated on its choice of Seminar Dean Lortie. His background and his vision point the way to a very successful Quebec Seminar.

Names, Please...

Newspaper editors face a great many problems. Especially editors of university newspapers. Every year about this time we run into an old perennial: Letters to the Editor.

Our policy on this matter can be stated very simply: "Our readers, write or wrong." There are of course the inevitable conditions. Letters should be written on one side of a sheet of paper, typed or printed, not more than 150 words long, and they must be signed.

So far we haven't had any trouble reading letters sent to us, and they have usually been short enough. They even get signed. And that's where we been having trouble.

"Signed" means with your full name, the one your parents gave you, and not one that you dreamed up all by yourself. You should also give your choice, and if you mail the letter to us, your telephone number.

Why all the rigamarole? To protect you. The Varsity cannot print letters from people we aren't even sure exist. If you very strongly object to seeing your name in print, it is possible for us to withold your name, provided we know what name to withold.

Recently we have received quite a few letters which we rather enjoyed. We think that you would enjoy them too. One of the letters castigated us in a most unreasonable fashion, but we can't even refute it, because we can't print it, because it is not signed properly.

It is interesting to note, with regard to this matter of letters, that so many of you agree with us on the stand we take on things. We're glad to know that you think we have been correct in estimating the state of the student mind at the University of Toronto.

Even though you do agree with us, we still invite your comments and opinions. But please, put your name at the bottom, so that we will be sure you are not of the lunatic fringe.

Distaff Side

(Continued from Page 5)

Lastly along the path strolls the skuffed saddle-shoes type. To the casual passer-by she may seem as sexless as a clam, and as uninteresting as a Saturday morning lecture. But heavens! What's this! Our hero, who has manoeuvred the whole of Philosophers Walk without taking a second look, suddenly takes notice. Takes notice is putting it mildly. Joe is but definitely impressed. There is a long, low whistle as the girl passes by. About turn! And without realizing it, Joe is walking back along Philosophers Walk. . . .

We don't say, of course, that saddle-shoes and the casual air are the only ways to break down men's resistance . . . but . . . well . . . we wear them ourselves, and we're trying!

Alexander Student

(Continued From Page 1)

even and experimental in his writing.

Dr. Brown is fond of Elizabeth Bowen, and thinks Evelyn Waugh is "the crackling of thorns under the pot" in his amusing brittleness. He is looking forward to the magnificent Hemingway's two new novels.

As for Canadian novelists, he finds Hugh MacLennan a very important writer. But E. M. Forster is his special favorite among living novelists — he will tell you why in his lecture on Thursday.

Fashions

(Continued from Page 5)

hanging hem-line are slowly appearing, too.

Generally, though, the season's fashion trend is towards the very narrow, shorter skirt, both in dresses and suits. A swing to another style is seen in suits which bring back the revival of the man-tailored tradition of the war years. To achieve this effect, tweed has become very popular. But, masculine touches are offset by narrow waists, curved hips, bare throats and rhinestone pins, which are found not only on suits, but dresses and blouses, also. Above all, the fashion key-note is simplicity.

Use Stiff Fabrics

So far, we've been glancing through the New York Looking Glass. But, as Canada is slower in adopting fashion trends, we wonder what Toronto's fashion reflection is. A fashion consultant at one of the leading department stores, gives us this fashion picture. Stiff fabrics, such as taffetas, brocades, otto an and velvet are this season's news. The brown striped taffeta skirt and black velvet top is appearing rapidly in shop windows.

Full skirts are still quite popular, and the back drape is still being used. Fitted coats are coming in, though the full back has still wide appeal. Hats are small, but with enormous plumes, to fit neatly over a cap cut. In college clothes, the Station Wagon jacket is the only new 'fad' so to speak, with the accent still very much on casual clothes. Waterproof velveteen or raincoats which can be worn either full-back or tight, are very smart . .

Well, Miss College Flapper of '49 has yet to appear on the scene here at Varsity. Will she make it before the New Year, or will she stay entirely in seclusion? It's all up to you!

CLASSES CANCELLED

Wolfville, N. S. — (CUP) — All classes were cancelled at Acadia University for the opening of the new Students' Union. The "opening" represents the finale of a thirteen year campaign.

Health Service (Men)

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS---THIRD YEAR

Third Year students who wish to have a Health Examination must make an appointment before 30th November.

Students anticipating the need of a health certificate for employment after graduation are particularly advised to make appointments now.

Telephone MI. 9644, or contact Health Service direct at 43 St. George Street.

S.A.C. BULLETIN

BLUE and WHITE BAND

The Band will not parade on Saturday, November 19.

No rehearsals until further notice.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

GLEE CLUB

Regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5.00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

ART CLASS

The Art Class will meet in the Gallery at 7.30 tonight.

ARCHERY

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

LIBRARY RECORD HOUR

The Library Committee is presenting a record hour at 1.30 p.m. today in the Record Room. The following numbers will constitute the programme: "A Christmas Carol" with Ronald Coleman as Scrooge; Oliver St. John Gogarty reading his own poems; and "Summer Dawn."

CAMERA CLUB

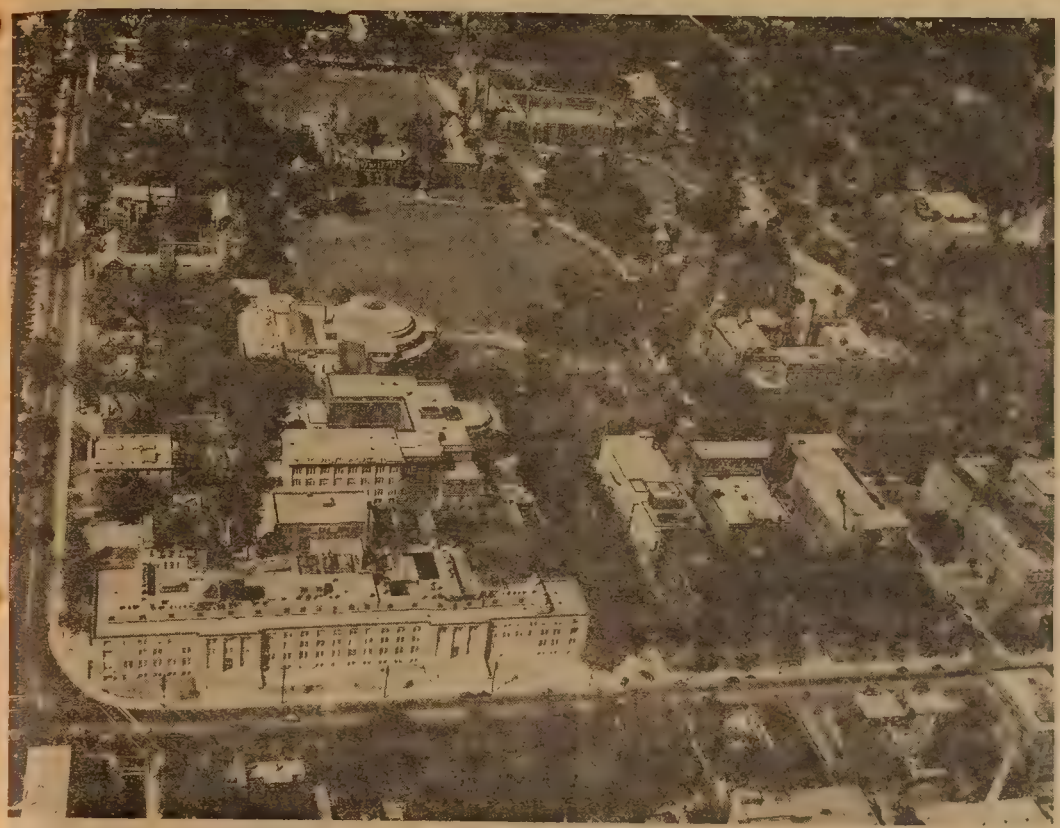
The second Colour Show will take place in the club rooms on Thursday, 17th November, at 1.20 p.m. Johannus Holmboe will present a series of slides taken in Norway and Sweden.

TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL

Mr. Pierre Boutet, tenor, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Lea, will give the second informal recital in the East Common Room at 1.25 p.m. today.

LIBRARY EVENING

Professor Keith Feiling of the Department of History will be the speaker for the second Library Evening of the year, which will be held on Thursday, 17th November, at 8.00 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Professor Feiling will speak on "Biography and Biographers." All members are invited to attend.



TALK IN ART GALLERY

Mr. Bertram Brooker, whose exhibition of oil and water colour abstract paintings is now on view in the gallery will give a talk on the show on Thursday, 17th November at 1.30 p.m. in the Art Gallery.

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, November 15, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

Aerial Magic

A view of the campus seen by few students is this one taken from an aerial point. Distance obscures the fact that the campus actually extends over a mile from College to Bloor Street.

NFCUS Plan Free Exchange Of Canadian Arts Students

Have you a yen to go to school in the Rockies — to live on a campus bordering the blue Pacific — to spend a winter in old Quebec — to blend your education with the salty tang of Maritime air? Any university across Canada is open to you for a year — tuition free! The National Federation of Canadian University Students offers a scholarship to all students interested in viewing Canadian life from the vantage point of another campus.

These scholarships have formed an important part of the work of NFCUS since its inception in 1926. They help to fulfill the NFCUS theme of coherent cooperation among Canadian university students. It is a fact that many Canadians tend to become limited in outlook, both mentally and geographically. An opportunity such as this one-year-transfer plan is one of the most pleasant ways to check this tendency to sectionalism. It is a chance to exchange ideas and outlook while enjoying the novelty of life on another campus.

By the terms of the scholarship, tuition and student activity fees are waived by the exchange university. The amount saved will more than compensate for the extra cost of transportation. For the purposes of the plan the universities of Canada are divided into four divisions:—

1. The University of British Columbia;
2. the universities of the prairie provinces;
3. the universities of Ontario and Quebec;
4. the universities of the Maritime provinces.

(Continued on Page 7)

FM Station Organized By Ryerson Institute Broadcasts Nightly

Toronto—(CUP)—CJRT-FM, the Ryerson Institute of Technology radio station will be given an official send-off soon by the Premier of Ontario, Hon. Leslie Frost. The station, owned and operated by R.I.T. —Canada's first educational broadcaster in the FM band—began operations on Tuesday, Nov. 1, on a frequency of 88.3 megacycles. Since that time CJRT has been presenting a completely distinctive program service to thousands of listeners in Toronto and district for an hour and a half each evening.

Pick Of Debaters To Go on Tour Expenses Gratis

Trials for debaters to go on the first American tour of the University of Toronto Debating Union are to be held Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 15, in Teefy Hall, St. Mike's, from 5 p.m.

The tour to American universities is all-expenses paid and includes a 4-day stay in New York City. Two debaters are to be chosen for the tour, and the choice is open to any speaker who has spoken from the floor or on a paper at any of the Hart House or the University of Toronto Debating Union debates this year.

The tour, jointly sponsored by the UTDU and the Hart House Debates Club, will include visits to the University of Rochester (Nov. 29), Princeton (Nov. 30), New York University (Dec. 1), Fordham (Dec. 2), and Columbia (Dec. 3).

After a 5-minute speech by a UTDU member on the question: "Resolved that the basic non-agricultural industries of the United States should be nationalized," three competitors at a time will debate on this question and will be judged individually.

"This is the first time that the Hart House Debates Club and the UTDU have ever worked together," UTDU president Dave Quigley says. "It will be the best all-expenses paid debating tour to date."

Playwright

Noted Producer Scheduled For UC Guest Night

Brian Doherty, Canadian playwright, and producer for such artists as John Gielgud, Flora Robson and Michael Redgrave, will speak at the UC Players' Guild special "Guest Night" on Wednesday, November 16, at 8:15 p.m. in the Women's Union. As a speaker, Mr. Doherty is well known for his entertaining manner.

The programme will also include recordings of the Hamlet soliloquies. The actors who are recorded range from Barrymore to Olivier. Their interpretations will be introduced by Professor Grant of the UC English department.

The idea of Guest Night was created by the executive of the Players' Guild with a view to stimulating interest in Canadian theatre. Members of the Guild will be present to welcome visitors and promise them free refreshments in addition to an evening of entertainment.

Religion Called Basis Of Disunity By Baha'i Speaker

"Religion has proven to be the greatest single unifying force in the history of civilization," Mr. John A. Robarts, chairman of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canada, stated at an overflow open meeting of the Baha'i Student Group yesterday in Room 64 of University College. Today, however, religion far from being the basis of unity in modern society is a fundamental cause of disunity. The speaker said that this paradox lies at the centre of modern man's dilemma.

"On the one hand," the speaker went on, "we are the materials for a world civilization, but, on the other, we are using those materials to destroy human life and annihilate the whole structure both of Western and Eastern civilization."

Religion Said Cyclic

Mr. Robarts stated that the reason for this paradox in modern society lies in the fact that religion is progressive and subject to the cyclic law of rise and decline. "Our civilization has been erected, as Toynbee has pointed out upon the revelations of Moses, Jesus and Mohammed and today each one of these great world religions is in a period of decline. What is needed is not a backward drive toward primitive Christianity or primitive Judaism, but a forward push by means of a renewal of the prophetic power. What is needed is the appearance of a further prophet fulfilling and carrying forward the teachings of previous prophets."

"This idea of progressive revelation," the speaker said, "lies at the heart of the Old and New Testament. In the Bible man is provided with a symbolic history of Western Civilization from its seed time in the Adamic myth to its fruition in the New Jerusalem. Today we are faced with the final phase of that history, The coming of the New Jerusalem."

Asks World Religion

The speaker said that the coming of Baha'u'llah, the founder of the Baha'i World Faith, in the mid nineteenth century brought to fruition the line of progressive revelation and thus inaugurated the promised day of God. In practical terms this means the unification of all mankind into one world religion that recognizes the unity of all the prophets of God and represents the highest ideals of all religions. It means also the establishment of a world government and the emergence of a world civilization.

"Mankind," the speaker concluded, "is now living in the age of world unity, an age that fulfills the promises of the Hebraic tradition of prophets and represents the culmination of man's social life on the planet. To face up to these facts, to become world civilizens in the fullest sense of the word is the undamental challenge now facing humanity."

Socialism Aim Of Democracy, —Vic Debate

"Resolved: That Democracy Implies Socialism" was upheld by the Victoria College Debating Parliament yesterday afternoon by a vote of 41 to 20.

"Democracy is a belief in people," said Reid Scott, MPP, guest speaker. It believes that extraordinary things can come from ordinary people if they are given a chance.

"It is my firm conviction," he stated, "that democracy implies Socialism because Socialism is the one positive way in which the true aim of democracy can be achieved. It is the one potent dynamic thing that can make our people truly free and provide them with the opportunity to express their abilities."

Says Equality Lacking

Speaking for the affirmative, Gordon Milling, IV Pol. Sci., said that there were two kinds of Democracy, political and economic. The former we have to a large degree, and the latter, which means equality of opportunity, is greatly lacking. He felt that equality could not be obtained in a syste mof private enterprise.

Second speaker, Dick Gage, II Pass, defined "implies" to mean "means". "In other words," he said, "the motion is 'That Democracy means Socialism.' This is prostituting the word 'Democracy'." The speaker of the House rose on a point of order here, as sex is a forbidden subject in the House.

"Economic Democrary does not exist," asserted Ron Nablo, II Soc. He claimed that the government should nationalise industry and direct some of the profits from it to equalising opportunity.

"Socialism believes in a planned economy and must necessarily have authority," commented Gowan Guest, IV Pol. Sci., speaking against the motion. "Democracy on the other hand implies freedom. Therefore the two cannot and do not go together. Democracy can never imply Socialism."

Our Success Said Result Of Test

"Canada has become great by its successful response to the challenge of Nature," Dr. Grant, Professor of Civil Engineering at Queen's University, told assembled Skulemen last Friday. "Our tremendous distances, our mountains, rocks, muskegs and our severe climate has presented as challenge of no mean order, to which we have successfully responded, largely by the skill of the engineer."

Dr. Grant was addressing the general meeting of the Engineering Society in Convocation Hall. His talk, entitled "One Hundred Years of Engineering in Canada," traced the development of engineering in Canada and the many contributions the profession had made to the country.

Victoria Discussion Moved To Wednesday

The Vic Freshman Round Table Discussion has been deferred until Wednesday because of competition from the Vic Debating Parliament and the Alexander Lecture by Professor E. K. Brown.

Women's Page

What's Wrong With Coeds?

An Editorial

Printed next to this editorial is an article by a Skuleman which points out what's wrong with many Varsity coeds. As the writer points out, not all coeds are guilty of being affected, party killers or love-lorn-column addicts.

But what hurts most is that in many cases this censure by campus men is justified.

Too many of us spend our time on dates worrying about what our escort thinks about us, or what would Dorothy Dix tell us about, say, holding his hand on the street. Too many of us try to monopolize a man's private life or demand special attentions from him just because he asks us out once.

We seem incapable of going out with a boy just to have a good time and share the laughs. We feel we can make a hit with him by a constant flow of sophisticated and often senseless chatter.

No wonder the men complain.

Let's treat them as people. Let's be natural and rational. Let's not size up each man who says hello by thinking how big a diamond ring he might buy us.

If we do, who knows? We might be able to raise our batting average on the campus.

Engineers Complain

Coeds Are "Affected", "Wet Blankets"

By HAROLD NELSON

The Ajax spirit is still strong around Skule and the campus coeds are still suffering on account of it. At the Ajax House parties there were very few co-eds because they were considered to be dead in comparison with the business women. One Jaxman was even heard to tell his house social rep — "if you can't get any decent women try the Toronto campus".

The reason was not that the business gals stayed later and drank more because both student nurses and the ladies from Willards Hall were invited to quite a few of these cultural soires. (Willards Hall is the W.C.T.U. residence.)

"Not Physical Appearance"

And it seems as if a large part of Skule still has the same opinion of the co-eds as they did at Ajax. When asked for an opinion over half the answers were unprintable.

The main reason for their low opinion of the Varsity gals is not their physical appearance although there were wild statements both for and against their charms influenced by individual cases. Some even went so far as to state that the old saying about beautiful women not having to go to college was the sad truth at Toronto. The average engineer felt that the coeds were neither better nor worse in appearance than the average woman.

Coeds Are "Wet Blankets"

The quality of a person that gives them personality and makes them individuals took a beating from the Skule men. The coeds were accused of being "types", "mentally and morally frigid", "party killers", and "wet blankets." "They do not know how to enjoy themselves, and are snobbish without reason." "Instead of using common sense on a date they think back to some heart columnist's advice."

There were other remarks but I have to go to this University for a while yet.

Talk on "Strangest Subjects"

The co-eds should have an edge on the outside women because they have a good idea of what is happening around the campus and can talk intelligently about some subject of common interest. But they are not using this advantage because they have a reputation for wandering off onto some of the strangest subjects that are not even amusing but just plain confusing. (Engineers never do this — they talk about such things as Skule Nite, Skule Auction, or for variety about the Skule Cannon.)

They feel that many of the coeds discriminate against the Engineers because they are engineers. This is due to an idea of cultural superiority that is not necessarily true. To show their possession of "culture" too many of the coeds acquire a phony sophistication that is highly amusing. The best cases of this also acquire a false accent to help strengthen the false front.

Foresters Vote Down Coeds

The fellows questioned do not speak for the whole body of Engineers and their criticisms or comments do not apply to all the coeds. There is some reason for the wholesale attack on the reputation of the coeds and it is not merely a case of sour grapes.

There is a similar attitude in the Faculty of Forestry if the results of a poll published in their magazine "The Annual Ring" are to be taken seriously. The men of Forestry were asked "When dating do you prefer the company of a coed or a business girl?" The business girls got 82% of the votes and the coeds managed to receive a mere 18¼ or less than a quarter of the votes.

SKULE NITE TICKETS

A few tickets left for ALL Faculties

Thurs., Nov. 17—10 p.m.—Show Only—75c per person

Fri., Nov. 18—7 and 10 p.m.—Shows and Dance

$3.00 per couple

ALL SAT. SHOWS SOLD OUT

There is a limited number of DANCE ONLY Tickets for dancing after the McGILL-WESTERN GAME. 3 bands —Benny Louis, Modernaires, and Johnny Perkins.

SAT. DANCE ONLY — $1.50 PER COUPLE

VIC INFORMAL

If you haven't got your date

You really aren't too late

But today is the day

For the tickets you'll pay.

TO VIC'S

Dance

OF Romance

RCAF NEWS

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants — FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER undergrads due to graduate in '53, '54 or '55 from Architec., Lib. Sch., Meds, OT, OCE, Phys. Ther., or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3 preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.)

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L.

All interested veteran or non-veteran undergrads (including those who have already filed applications) are asked to attend a meeting in Room 135, Physics Building, on Tuesday, 15th November, at 5.10 p.m. sharp.

ONLY 2 DAYS

TILL THE

OPUS '49 DANCE

Casa Loma, $2.50 per couple, Dancing 9-1

Benny Louis Orchestra, Nov. 17, 1949, Dress Optional

TICKETS at S.A.C. Hart House and Royal Conservatory

MEN!!

. . . . . who know their way around . . . . . .
. . always select SLACKS tailored by EMBASSY . .
. . . . . to keynote their attire . . . . . .
. . . . . For here are the choicest fabrics . . . . . .
. . . . . from Europe's leading mills . . . . . .
. . . . . strong he man colours . . . . . .
. . . . . and dominant patterns . . . . . .
. . . . . for active occasions . . . . . .
. . . . . more muted tones . . . . . .
. . . . . for subtle moods . . . . . .

To look YOUR best . . . AND TO KNOW IT, slip into a pair of EMBASSY CLOTHES SLACKS. All are smartly designed and deftly tailored-to-your-measure to figure flattering perfection.

Yes, you'll be glad you came to friendly, "five-minutes-from-the-campus." . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE ST.

NOW OCCUPYING ALL OF THE SECOND FLOOR MI. 9010

(Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. South side)

"WHERE THE OVERHEAD IS SMALL AND THE VALUES ARE BIG."

Fashions Tell Us

Here Comes Miss College Flapper

By OLGA BRUCHOVSKY

Old Father Time, despite his gray hair and rheumatism, seems to be doing a good job of 'marching on' and keeping the hour-glass spinning. But there's more than a suspicion, that, being a man, he's long given up trying to keep the clock going in the world of fashion.

Look what's happened this autumn. The fashion clock has been set back to the 1920's, when Mom was a 'flapper' and Pop wore a coon coat. Oh no, you sigh, why don't those people in Paris ever make up their minds as to what they want ...But, strangely enough, the earliest converts to 'The Flapper Look' are not the Ten Best Dressed Women in America or France, but the college girls in the States, who've made it their newest fad.

Look In The Family Album

They've gone all out for the middy blouse and pleated skirt, the cloche hat, the coon coat and the low belt line. And in your family album, along with a photo of Rudolph Valentino, there'll be a picture of Mom with her best beau (or would it be sheik?) taken at the Dance of the Year. The short, bare-armed, velveteen evening dress she wears is IT as far as evening wear goes this season.

But, aside from college wear, The Flapper Look is becoming quite the rage in New York fashion circles. The mannequin silhouette accent is towards a slim, more or less concave figure (no sharp nipped-in waist or curved hip) and the flapper 'shingle hair-cut' which makes hair as short as mens. The sheath, a very narrow skirt with but one seam, and the Siren Look (Clara Bow et al) dominate the flapper trend in clothes.

Hems Come Up

Hemlines have risen, in case you haven't noticed, to fourteen or fifteen inches above the floor. The year's newest shoe innovation is the naked velvet sandal which has a bare foot crossed only with velvet thongs. Long earring, which along with the naked sandal emphasizes the Siren Look, are seen everywhere. Chiffon dresses with the

(Continued on Page 2)

Distaff Side

By ANNE BURTON and MARGOT MURRAY

You may think that men see women through rose coloured glasses but 'tain't so.

Due to unfortunate circumstances b' ond the control of Distaff Side, men have eyes to see with, and, in a few rare cases, the shrewdness to act upon their observations. But women are not the only shrews who are tamed. Although men are (as they all agree) the naturally stronger sex, the- are also undermined and weakened by their weakness for the weaker sex. And look what happens . . .

Magazines may feature "male-tested" fashions, and include in college wardrobes such things as leopard-skin vests, knee - length ribbed stockings, and an amazing variety of campus chapeaux (from head-fitting to foot high). But on stepping out of the magazine world into 'Life in the Raw' (Varsity, naturally), things are diff'runt. Do you (or the males who test your fashions) see loony lids or feline fur come into view as you meander down Philosophers Walk? Don't bother to answer, cuz you know what's coming.

Let's take our hero down the Path (not to be confused with the Primrose one, please) and observe his reactions. First he notices a Rita Hayworth type. From the top of her auburn waves to the soles of her platform shoes, she exudes Glamour. But does Joe react like an Ali Khan? Of course not. He passes her over without a second glance (or so it says here in italics under the edge of the blotter!)

Close on her heels trips a rather studious lass, weighed down with books—on her way to the library, no doubt. She is attired in a cashmere sweater set, and those comfortable brogues that the magazines say you can't do without. Joe sees the brogues first (he's short) and hastens by the rest.

There is the tramp of marching feet. What approaches? an army? No. It is merely our tennis champion on her way to the courts. Clad in a white tennis dress (Vogue, August 1949) with matching head band, and her new "airsole" tennis shoes, she is the epitome of what every athletic minded young girl should be. Does Joe run to Hart House for his tennis raquet? No. It seems that Joe and Vogue just don't see eye to eye.

(Continued on Page 2)

Women In Bleachers

Co-eds at Varsity still lack many privileges to make their college life complete. We still have no adequate athletic facilities, or co-ed meeting places. But we have come a long way from the day in 1920, when—

The Varsity ran an editorial congratulating the Athletic Directorate on "the spirit of gallantry which they displayed in reserving the best section in the bleachers at the McGill-Varsity game for the women of the University."

They were quite serious.

Hitherto, co-eds were not allowed to attend a game unless accompanied by a male. Furthermore, even when so accompanied, she must sit in the grandstand where she was "obliged to confine her enthusiasm within the respectable bounds of propriety".

The move found general approval on the campus, and was regarded as a recognition of the principle of equality between men and women. "The women felt highly honoured at the consideration shown them."

The innovation did not go unnoticed by the McGill faction. Midway through the game, four McGill women were discovered among the women Varsity supporters, waving red and white flags, and generally creating a disturbance.

VIC'S CORNER

After gazing into the crystal bowl wherein lies the all-knowing turtle, who has been sadly neglected this past week, we write "PIK's Predictions."

The Mulock Cup will come home to rest. Western will win next week. The At-Home will be optional. The soccer team will take the championship VCU rings will be replaced by pins. Vic will lead in points for the Reed Trophy at 'Xmas. Tickets to Vic Informal—Nov. 25—will be sold out by noon today at $1 50 per!

• • •

At-Home dress controversy will be decided at an open meeting of all students of Vic in the chapel, Thurs., 1 p.m. After a motion to have a referendum on the subject had been defeated by 3 votes, the Assembly almost unanimously had approved formal dress.

A petition with 129 names has requested the open meeting to reconsider the question.

Con-. many who want to go will not be able to afford it; even a strong minority should be considered in such social functions.

Pro: the At-Home should be "better" than the informal, we can have the Great Hall in Hart House if it's formal; residence men have formal dances, the city men should have the same opportunity.

• • •

Gals Only; Sport news galore flooded the corner. Baseball semi-finals with Meds this week. No date as yet.

And bowling teams are signing up. Last year we won the championship, kids. Understand that several men's residences have offered to entertain the bowling team that wins!

The Splash Party of some time ago was a success but the swimming exec. wants a few more to come out.

The point system for gals has been put down on paper! Listen carefully. Senior "V"-16 points, and Junior "V"-8 points. Points are given for participation in any sports. (By attending 75' in hockey, swimming and basketball you get 4 points; tennis, softball and volleyball ... 3 points; golf, badminton and bowling ... 2 points. Simple, eh!

• • •

Men Only: In semi-final football it looks like Vic vs Forestry and St. Skule vs St. Mike's. Who knows but Vic and the Saints will meet in the finals again!

Minor league basektball is being organized. Get up a gang of 8 men and enter a team. We've got some 20 teams for Vic again and chances are the Vic 20ths will repeat as finalists! Incidentally it's a cinch way to earn PT credits. League begins in Dec. Sign the board.

Major league BB teams are practising now. Watch the board for times. Vic sponsors 5 major teams.

Four hockey teams will be picked soon for dear old strand. Want all the old boys out for practice. Don't forget.

• • •

Impromptu debates are making a big hit in Vic this year. Members of 2nd, 3rd, and 4th years are showing keen interest in the manly art of tongue tussling. If the frosh aren't too backward they would be more than welcome to debate in their own class! They can make a good audience too!

SCM is having "open house" in Alumni tonite at 7 30. Guest speaker will be from Ashram, Southern India.

And Dr. Coleman, math professor of U of T, will speak on Mathematic or Christianity at an open forum, Thursday 4 p.m.

Rudigore, the GS production for the year, is doing famously. Godfrey Ridout is directing and Jeffrey Hatton is choregrapher. Rumor says they have the best chorus to be heard on the campus in years.

• • •

Have you been caught in the acta yet? ? ? ? ? If you haven't you should at least read the editorial which tells you why students think the mag is too literary.

Other things of note in the improved effort are three non-fiction works: Jim Service on "Question Mark of Canadian Radio"; F. W. H. Jacombe's "Do You Remember"; and Dean Bennett's address to the Frosh. Poetry, fiction, etc., are all thought-provoking ... one way and another. Orchids to all, especially the staff!

• • •

Exclusive Frosh are really getting highbrow this year. If you want to crash their class party on Friday, Nov. 18, you have to get an invite ... all printed out on a pink card at the VCU office!

They'll learn.

The Scarlet and Gold is being "pieced together" this week. Music, dances, etc., are all in shape, needs but a few nights of knitting—good hard knitting! Final casting for skits today at 5 p.m. If you haven't been out yet, for GS come out!

Tickets on sale soon. You also get an "SG" button included in the price, so you can let the gang know you're on the band-wagon to Eaton Aud., Nov. 30.

PIK.

(ADVERTISEMENT)

ANTHROPOLOGY CLUB

Speaker: PROF. G. TATHAM

Subject: INTERCULTURAL RELATIONS

Place: CARTWRIGHT HALL, ST. HILDA'S DEVONSHIRE PLACE

Time: TONIGHT 8:15 P.M.

ALL WELCOME REFRESHMENTS

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF BUDDHIST IDEALISM
The Lankavatara Sutra
8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15
ALL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ARE WELCOME
TORONTO BUDDHIST CHURCH
134 Huron St. — WA. 5265
Services — 11 a.m. Sunday

TORONTONENSIS REPS

Important Meeting

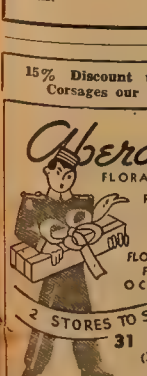
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17th, 1949

at 5 p.m.

Place: Torontonensis Office, 119 St. George St.

Attention Victoria!

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE SCM?



Tonight from 7.30-10.00 p.m. in the Co-ed Common Room, the Rev. S. S. Selvarantham of the Church of South India, an expert in the worship of discipline will lead the discussion, helped by Don Evans. What does the Vic SCM need towards becoming a worshipping community?

We need YOUR ideas.

There was a young lady of fashion
Who was arisen with a terrible passion
She exultingly said as she jumped into bed,
"OH, BOY! ON NOV. 26 I'M GOING TO THE SIGMA ALPHA MU ANNIVERSARY BALL."

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

For constant Smoking Pleasure
Roll your own with
"EXPORT"
Cigarette Tobacco

ALSO AVAILABLE IN ½ POUND TINS

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

A large Canadian company has an opening in Toronto on its sales staff for a graduate of years 1947-1949 inclusive. This position has a salary and unlimited earning possibilities. Applicants should state age, full educational background, (Business and Arts courses preferred) and all organizing and business experience. All applicants must pass aptitude tests.

This is an unusual opportunity for the right man. If you, as a student, know of an outstanding graduate who qualifies for this position, advise him of this advertisement — or advise this Company.

BOX 6 — S.A.C., HART HOUSE

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPENS THURSDAY, NOV. 17

OUR READERS WRITE

Dislikes Editorial

Editor, The Varsity:

With no regard for your editorial of November 11 last.

I suggest that your panphobic scribbler crawl out of his psychology book long enough to approach Soldiers' Tower. And there, for his poor misguided soul's sake, let him beg forgiveness, on his knees.

And if he has children (which I doubt) he'd better take them along so they may at least see the names of MEN . . . the kind of men who, from Horatio to Hornell have given us cause not to be ashamed of our species.

Yours in the hope that Truth, Beauty and Goodness shall prevail and that you may never encounter Misery and Unhappiness.

F. M. McConnell,
Meds 52

\+ + +

Remembrance Day

Editor, The Varsity:

Friday morning, I, like many others grabbed for a copy of The Varsity and had enough time to read parts of it before attending the Remembrance Day service. Needless to say the two attacks at our present observance of Remembrance Day — the editorial and the letter by "A Veteran," caused a stir but not along the lines intended. To put it mildly, I simply disagreed with parts of the letter but was disgusted by the editorial.

Both worthy writers seem to think that since they know what really happens when a war takes place and can describe it in grimmest detail they are going to heroically waken us to the fact that war is not the glorious thing it is supposedly made out to be. The veteran for example makes us quite aware that a serviceman does not go to war for the purpose of dying for us. That seems to be common knowledge. The fact is that by some way he could not avoid, he was killed. Of course he did not want to die that way — no one does; but who can deny that by his death we at home were protected, even the veteran who wrote the letter — perhaps a bullet intended for him was stopped by another. Can he say that the well-used phrase, "they died for us" does not apply?

Of course the veteran is directing his attack not at the common man saying "they gave their lives for us," but at the so-called politician who states the phrase publicly to gain political stature. The politicians seem to be a segregated group of human beings. The veteran assumes that a person who gives time and energy in trying to manage our large country somehow remains untouched by the fact that his son, perhaps, or brother, died in battle and "basks in the self-indulgence of having been sacrificed for."

I'd say that in reality he is probably doing more than all of us to see that war does not occur again. The veteran says that the politician has not kept his promise that "democracy would be saved and peace assured." Who exactly is this politician — he's the man the majority of people voted for, isn't he? Perhaps this particular veteran didn't but many other veterans must have or the man would not be in his present position. If there is a party or a man, for example the veteran, who can do a better job of keeping the promise, it can't remain secret from society for long and the do-nothing or the do-wrong politicians will be relieved of mental worries and can go back to living an ordinary life in their community.

The views of the veteran were not quite so disturbing as the warped ones of an editor in "Celebrations Ritual and Luxuries." All of us have attended or have been exposed to Remembrance Day service once a year for as long as we can remember and if the sound of a band and the parade of a handful of veterans, some limping and some riding in cars because they can't walk with the rest would inspire us to go out and cause similar results to others, I'd like to see the person.

Certainly colorful military parades and beautiful wreaths do not symbolize to children the horrible picture the editor depicted but children do have powers of reason and children do grow up which may be news to the editor. The veteran will uphold me in the fact that Canadians did not purposely go to fight for the possible glory of dying for their country yet those Canadians that did go have certainly attended a Remembrance Day Service.

So our service "masks" the real truth that a young Canadian "respected in his own community" killed "two dozen defenseless enemy prisoners." I assume that this type of information should be circulated instead of holding a reverent silence for our own dead. I suppose somewhat the same reasoning applies when they say that children should not be told there is a Santa Claus. Who can compare the happiness of those years when we believed to the momentary sorrow when we discovered that Dad filled our stockings?

Similarly is it not better for the parents and friends of the Canadian, used here as an example, to honour him for dying that his country might be spared than have the dishonourable details exposed. With the present-day trends to exposure of horrible truths, are we really bettering mankind or are we just making it harder and harder for coming generations to find what was once thought of as "the true, the beautiful, and the good?"

You may abolish Remembrance Day services but as I remain unconvinced by your argument as to its effects on children I continue to support the service. Contrary to making me feel it is glorifying war I like it personally as a medium for thanking my cousin, for by his death I was protected.

Wilma Booty,
III General, U.C.

The ISS has brought five European students from DP camps in Germany to study at the U of T.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

A HANDY REFERENCE BOOK ON COMMON METALLURGICAL TERMS

The International Nickel Company of Canada, Limited invites students planning or preparing for a career involving the use of metals to write for this valuable reference book. This 32 page book entitled "The Technical Editor Speaks . . ." contains a series of one-page articles. These articles explain the practical meanings of technical words that are used in describing and measuring the mechanical properties of metals and alloys such as stress-strain, impact strength, Curie point, elastic limit and thermal expansion.

Written by the Development and Research Division of The International Nickel Company, the purpose of the book is to assist students and others interested in learning how to appraise the various properties of metals. It will be valuable as a permanent reference book on metal terminology. It is available without charge and will be sent on receipt of the coupon below.

THE INTERNATIONAL NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, 25 KING ST. W., TORONTO

FREE!

Gentlemen: Please send me a copy of the booklet entitled "The Technical Editor Speaks . . .".

THE INTERNATIONAL NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, 25 KING ST. W., TORONTO

NAME_____

ADDRESS_____

UTDU DEBATE

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16 — 8:30 P. M.

IN TRINITY CHAPEL (Library)

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

vs.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO

Mr. RODNEY ADAMSON

Guest Speaker

P.C. Member of Parliament for West York

Topic:

"Resolved that the Supreme Court should supercede the Privy Council as the final Court of Appeal"

VIC

WILL THE AT-HOME BE FORMAL?

Be sure to attend the Open Meeting of all Vic students, Thursday, 1 p.m. in Chapel to decide the issue.

GRADS ★ Hart House Friday, Dec. 2 Semi-Formal ★ $3.00 PER COUPLE

THE DANCE EVENT OF THE YEAR

Mart Kenny playing

★ Tickets on Sale NOW at the Graduate Office ★ TICKETS LIMITED GRADS

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

Sir Thomas Beecham

Short, dapper Sir Thomas Beecham appeared last night at Eaton Auditorium to expound an apologia of his favorite composer for the performance of whose works he is internationally renowned — Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

Sir Thomas' exposition arose from his creation of an issue with reference to the value of Mozart's composition and the performance thereof. He made reference to a musicologist — so-called — who had treated Mozart at great length, but entirely out of sympathy with his art. Sir Thomas derided his contemporary as a debunker, and went on to show where the musicologist had erred.

A moot point in analysis of Mozart is the simplicity of his music — its structure, style, and orchestration. There are those who claim his music was meant for small orchestra, few voices, and small rooms. They hold him to be a composer of the eighteenth century drawing room. To this contention Sir Thomas took great exception. Such belief was almost blasphemy to the greatness of the man.

In commencing his lecture the conductor craved much indulgence for his performance at the pianoforte. From the first note struck in illustration of his case, we found that Sir Thomas need not have made that request. He played the opening bars of Mozart's 16th Piano Concerto in the grand manner, but infused with warmth and majesty and intrinsic charm. He performed the Quartet from the Marriage of Figaro, the opening bars of the Clarinet Concerto and part of the Requiem. His execution of the beautiful Slumber Song set up in fancy a tower of grandeur in its simplicity and perfection. Sir Thomas played the beginning and the end and left out the middle — and commended this procedure to most young people who play in public.

Sir Thomas deplored the misconceptions of this age to Mozart's work. He contended that in Mozart's day orchestras of forty violins had performed his works. Today, continued the conductor, forty fiddles are unheard of anywhere — London, Vienna, Berlin, Paris, New York, and even Toronto. But it was precisely by orchestras of this magnitude, held Sir Thomas, that Mozart's genius reached its zenith. To the conductor, Mozart is wasted in the drawing room.

He compared the composer to Handel and Bach, and proclaimed him "the most richly endowed spirit yet born into this world."

William Glenesk.

✣ ✣ ✣

Victor Borge

Last night Mr. Borge presented us with a minor Greek tragedy on the stage at Massey Hall. Here is the frustrated would-be great pianist, who, after finally realizing his incapacities, has converted his efforts into a series of erratic piano satires, self - abuses, and semi - sarcastic tragi-comedies in which his aim is to cater to a false idea of "popular taste."

His almost-Iago delight in his own decline and fall is terrible to behold. We felt him sneering at us from his piano stool; we were whipped with his tongue as, snake-like, he reared up to spit forth his monologues and to mouth his jokes which were occasionally witty, often corny, and sometimes lewd. But so sympathetic did we feel that we could not help but forgive, and forget; "Caritas urget nos"; we muttered as we wrote furiously in our notebooks.

The concert was divided into two parts: Varieties and Classical Selections. The former consisted, the program would have us understand, of Monologues, Pianologues, Parodies, and Improvisations. "The Steinway people ask me to announce that this is a Heintzman piano," he quipped. "This is Liebestraum by Schlitz, the composer that made Milwaukee famous." (That's a joke, son, get it, ha, ha!)

The Classical Selections consisted of two aimless Viennese Waltzes by Friedman - Gartner, Debussy's "Clair de Lune", Liszt's Liebestraum, and two waltzes and the A flat major Polonaise by Chopin. His decade of fun and games had obviously wrought havoc upon his interpretive powers, and we sensed him trying, particularly in the Liszt and in the Debussy, to transcend his own spiritual decomposition, but his soul had fled and with it his sensitivity; in consequence, he floundered in maudlin sentimentality or played as if trying not to let one hand know what the other was doing.

To those who decry feeling and mock the idea of interrelatedness of Truth and Beauty, here we feel is the irrefutable answer.

Yes — "There is something rotten in the state of Denmark."

Irene Shubik and Mihail Dumbeliuk.

Hockey Blues

(Continued from Page 8)

neither really impressed.

Harry Boyd did not scrimmage last night but hope is still held that he will wind up with the Blues, and not with Staffords as was thought earlier.

From all accounts, there is no chance of Howie Harvey, ex-Marlboro net-minder, playing hockey for Varsity, or for any other team for that matter. Harvey gets a severe skin rash that comes from hockey strain.

Kane and McDougall look like permanent fixtures on the Blues' defence with Wilf Digby moving up front to a right wing slot. D'Arcy Prendergast also looked at home on the Blues' defence.

NFCUS Plan

(Continued from Page 3)

An Ontario student may attend a French-speaking university, but otherwise it is necessary to go outside your own division. Any Arts student is eligible to spend his pre-graduation year away on the condition that he returns to his home university for his final year. Those interested may obtain further information and application forms from the S.A.C. office.

McGILL vs WESTERN

Senior Intercollegiate Playoff

NOVEMBER 19, 1949

An allotment of tickets has been made for Varsity students and will be placed on sale at the Stadium box office on Devonshire Place, at 9 a.m. Price $1.00 and $1.50.

HOURS OF SALE: 9:00 A.M. — 4:30 P.M.

Staff Season Ticket Holders

Western vs. McGill

Senior Intercollegiate Playoff

Saturday, November 19th

Members of the staff who were season ticket holders for the Varsity home games may obtain seats for the playoff game by telephoning the Athletic Office, MI. 8775, before 6 p.m. tonight. Tickets so reserved may be picked up at the Athletic Office any time before 6 p.m. on Thursday night.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Sr. SPS	vs U.C. Smylie, Burleigh, Sherwood
	West	4.00	St. M.	vs Trin Stepkowsky, Garside, Sutherland
SOCCER	North	3.30	Jr. SPS	vs St. M. ....Montemurro
	South	4.00	Jr. Vic	vs Wyc ..... Sennarine
LACROSSE		1.00	Forestry	vs Pre-Med ..... Walder, Warren
		4.00	U.C. III	vs Jr. SPS ..... McFadden, McPherson
		6.30	Pharm	vs Inst. Mgt ..... Chambers, Dugan
		7.30	Trin	vs Med III ..... Chambers, Dugan
		8.30	Vic II	vs Dent ..... Chambers, Dugan
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	U.C. IV	vs For. A ..... Goodman
		4.00	St. M. C	vs Music ..... Fine
		5.00	Sr. Vic	vs Med I Yr ..... Fine
		6.00	Dent A	vs SPS III ..... Rosen
		7.00	Jr. SPS	vs Trin A ..... Rosen
		8.00	Wyc	vs U.C. V ..... Rosen
SWIM LEAGUE		5.00	Emman	vs Arch ..... Tobe
		5.00	Dent	vs SPS II ..... Tobe

HOCKEY REFEREES — RULES CLINIC

TONIGHT—7.30 P.M.—FENCING ROOM, HART HOUSE. MANAGERS ARE PARTICULARLY WELCOME.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LINGUAPHONE

any language—Days—PL. 5401; ghts—PL. 5524.

WANTED

ssengers from Kingston Rd.-Birchunt District for 9 a.m. lectures. Reurn 5 p.m. Phone OX. 1997.

LIFE INSURANCE

nior male students now eligible for 0,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly ot disability, non-cancellable, inne Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 29

TRANSPORTATION WANTED

r two—to London, this Friday beeen noon and 1.30 p.m. Call LY. 2609 LY. 4462 between 6 and 9 Tuesday.

TAKEN BY MISTAKE

rson taking grey gabardine Pascoes cat from Queen's gym Saturday have his Huntington and Smith coat back by calling MO. 9851.

TRANSPORTATION

one interested in transportation from Lansing area. Times down ged, back at night more irregular. act Bill Higgins, 318 Princess, ing, or Box 7, Varsity.

WANTED

gers wanted—North city limits Avenue Road to University and n Phone HU. 6972.

FOR SALE

dy for winter skiing. Swedish 6½ ft.), boots (size 9), and pants. ed at all. Contact C. Kinkel, 248 after 6.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

LOST

Key chain with four keys in Hygiene Building or from Hygiene Building to School of Nursing. Finder please phone RA. 5926.

WANTED

Responsible young man and young woman to show novel Christmas gifts. This is an opportunity for substantial Christmas earnings. Phone Port Credit 4302 for appointment.

P.A. SYSTEM RENTALS

Super Sound: Dance music for your next class, year or house party. Stage and orchestra work. Largest stock of rental equipment on the campus—Call Don Eller, HO. 0868.

DRESSMAKING & ALTERATIONS

Visit Helmar about your formals, etc. Just across from Knox College. Student's discount Further particulars or appointments. Ring RA 5978. (Evening appointments arranged.)

Parker 51. Will party picking up same by mistake in West Hall, Monday, 2-3, please return to S.A.C. Office.

Splendid Opportunity

TO EARN EXTRA MONEY DURING YOUR SPARE DAY TIME

(CAR HELPFUL BUT NOT NECESSARY)

PHONE PL. 4881

For Appointment

Movie Review

Pinky

Held over at the University Theatre is "Pinky", which derives its odd title from the nickname of a light-skinned Negro. "Home of the Brave" had "guts," while "Lost Boundaries" more subtly pointed out the ridiculousness of discrimination. This movie, particularizing more than either of its predecessors and less idealistic regarding the problem's solution, merely shows the appalling effects of discrimination in the Deep South. Even if you've seen the other two, this one will open your eyes.

But this is certainly not the picture's only recommendation. Whether he'll get his $1,800,000 back (in view of probable banning in the South) Darryl Zanuck got his money's worth of talent, and more important, beautiful teamwork from all concerned.

Top screen writers Philip Dunne and Dudley Nichols have written a strong script almost completely around the title character, a Negro girl who "passed," became a graduate nurse, fell in love with a doctor, and confronted with a dilemma, returns to her scrub-woman Granny's shack in the South, where she is unpleasantly reminded of what it's really like to be a Negro. Director Elia Kazan and his cameraman have used lighting for dramatic and pictorial effect, imbuing every scene with thick atmosphere, to which the sound track adds immeasurably with the extensive but ingenious use of train whistles and crickets in the night, and a haunting theme by Alfred Newman.

The acting throughout is excellent. This is to be expected of Ethels Barrymore and Waters, but many will be surprised at Jeanne Crain, who, along with Negro Kenny Washington, is outstanding. Wm. Lundigan as the doctor, underplays, if anything.

Note to Romantics: Love scenes in "Pinky" are just as terrible as those in Mr. Kazan's earlier effort, "Gentleman's Agreement."

Doug. Davidson

• WHAT'S ON TODAY •

VIC V.C.F.

Vic V.C.F. will speak in the Chapel at 1:20 on "What is the V.C.F.?"

✣ ✣ ✣

V.C.S.U.

The combined executive of the V.C.S.U. will meet at 4 p.m. in room 36.

✣ ✣ ✣

SINGER

Pierre Boutet Conservatory Tenor, is singing at 1:25 today in the East Common Room of Hart House, in the Tuesday Midday Recitals series.

✣ ✣ ✣

TRINITY — S.C.M.

Dr. Owen will give his first lecture on Anglican Doctrine which will be FAITH AND REASON. This will take place at 4 p.m. in the Board Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

FOURTH YEAR DISCUSSION

Today at 4 p.m. in R. 22, Vic. there will be an open discussion for fourth year students only. Topic: To Find a Definition for Religion.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular meeting of the U.C. Fellowship will take the form of a continuation of last week's discussion — "The Concept of Morality in the Christian Faith". Time: 1:20 p.m. Place: U.C. Basement, Room 95. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORDS

Program for the Carnegie Record Hour today will be Beethoven: Egmont Overture, Brahmns: Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Tchaikowsky: Piano Concerto in B flat min.: Enesco: Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1.

✣ ✣ ✣

RCAF

Undergrads interested in the RCAF Training Schemes are invited to see the notice that appears elsewhere in this issue of The Varsity about a meeting to be held at 5:10 in room 135 Physics Bldg.

✣ ✣ ✣

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Mr. Neil Agnew will address the Psychology Club tomorrow at 8 p.m. on the subject "The group dynamics of democratic action". Place: Croft Chapter House. All students welcome. Non-members: 15c admission.

✣ ✣ ✣

'KNOCK'

La Societe Francaise de University College Presente KNOCK ou Le Triomphe De La Medecine de Jules Romains, au Theatre Hart House, le mardi, 15 novembre. Billets .75 et $1.00.

✣ ✣ ✣

ANTHROPOLOGY CLUB

Prof. G. Tatham of the Geography Department will address the next meeting of the Anthropology Club, Tuesday, Nov. 15, in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's at 8:15 p.m. His topic will be "International Relations."

• COMING EVENTS •

HILLEL BRIDGE GROUP

The first meeting of the Hillel Bridge group will be held Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 8:00 p.m. at 18 Croyden Rd. (west off Bathurst St., north of St. Clair). All those interested are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

DEBATING UNION

"Resolved that the supreme court should supercede the privy council as the final court of appeal," will be the topic of the UTDU debate against the University of Western Ontario on Wednesday, November 16, at 8:38 p.m. in Trinity Chapel (library).

✣ ✣ ✣

RUSSIAN NOVELISTS

Prof. L. I. Strakhovsky will lecture on Toistoy (Anna Karenina and Resurrection) on Wednesday at 5 p.m. in Room 8, University College. This is one of a series on Great Russian novelists.

NEAR-EAST CLUB

Principal Taylor is inviting the members of the Near-East Club to his home (223 Stibbard Avenue) on Wednesday, November 16th, at 8:00 p.m. Principal Taylor will speak to the Club.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC CCF

Prof. and Mrs. Cass-Beggs will debate "Labour Britain — Socialist or Reformist" on Wednesday, November 16, at 1 p.m., Room 18.

✣ ✣ ✣

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP

On Wed., Nov. 16, at 8:00 p.m. at Wymilwood, Dr. J. S. Glen of Knox College will speak on "Why I Am A Presbyterian." There will be a short piano recital prior to the talk. Refreshments will be served. All students are cordially invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

BIBLE STUDY GROUP

The SCM Bible Study Group will continue a study of St. Paul's Epistles at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday in the House Ec. Bldg. Office. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC PLAYERS

The UC Players' Guild will present Hamlet recordings and as a guest speaker Brian Doherty, Canadian playwright and producer. On Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 8:15 p.m. in the Women's Union.

✣ ✣ ✣

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

The monthly meeting of the organization will be held at 5 o'clock, Thursday, Nov. 17, in the Blue Room, Wymilwood. Anyone interested is welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC RECORDS

The Vic Record Hour: Laurence Olivier in "Henry V" on Wednesday, Nov. 16, 4:30 p.m. at Wymilwood. All welcome.

Meds Move Into Second As Vic Downed

PHE FAVORED IN SOFTBALL

Today at 12 o'clock the final stage of the Women's softball struggle will begin on the Trinity field. After a long and successful season PHE I and Vic I are the two teams to settle the 1949 championship.

PHE Champs Last Year

It is interesting to note that for the past two years PHE I have held the softball championship, while for several years before this Vic had the best softball team.

Last year both these teams were in the final play-offs and it took three games to decide the winner. In the first one Vic defeated PHE 15-14, while the next two saw the Fiz Edders walk all over Vic with scores of 18-3 and 22-3.

In 1947 the same thing occurred with the necessary three games to down Vic and put PHE at the top.

This year the Fiz Edders have not lost a game in the number that they have played during their league series, or in the semi-finals and now it remains to be seen what they will do in the finals.

In the league games PHE definitely out-played UC, tallying up scores of 13-3 and 15-6. Even when pitted against Vic the results of 9-6 and 12-3 displayed a hard-hitting, fast squad that made each play connect.

Vic has had a rather dismal season, winning only two games of the five that they played in their league. In their first tilt with UC they walked off as the victors after tallying up 17 points to UC's three, while the second game finished only one point ahead of UC, and the third time they met, UC defeated Vic 4-2.

In the semi-finals Vic was second in its league, and came up against St. Mike's. In this game Vic showed some power by downing the Saints with the score of 7-5.

Vic Pulling Up

Yesterday Vic again did well by defeating those invincible Meds, 19-3. In the first inning Vic tallied up 13 runs and kept this lead, although both teams tightened their plays in the ensuing three innings.

However, to knock out the powerful Meds, who were first in their league, by such an uneven score, points to bigger and better things than Vic has been capable of handing out so far this year.

Meds Line Key Factor In Vic's Initial Defeat; Vargas Star In 5-1 Win

By MAL CRAWFORD

After going undefeated until the last game of the schedule, and leading 1-0 in the third quarter, Victoria threw away the final game on a wild lateral behind their goal line. Meds' touchdown on this play gave them a 5-1 win and a second place tie with SPS, who still have a game to play. Meds hopes for a play-off depend on UC beating Skule today; otherwise it will be Vic and SPS playing the winners of groups two and three in the Mulock Cup semi-finals.

Vic Singles

Vic had their chance when a bad snap by Meds on third down gave them the ball on Meds' thirty, and Harry Damp ran twenty-five yards on the end of an extension run, but Meds drove them back when Wilf Anderson killed an end run for a loss. Being in no position for a placement, Walton kicked to the deadline for a single point.

Vic had the best of the play in the first half, Keith Sumner passing and Bob Rumbell chewing up great gobs of ground, especially running back kicks. "Dog-face" Ludwig played a tremendous game at left end, never missing a tackle in the whole game.

Meds Major

The doctors scored their major early in the second half, and ran the show from then until the last few minutes. Al Varga's pass to Thompson got them in Vic land, and the former's lovely kick out of bounds — nearly all his kicking was good — dropped Vic on their two yard line. There Vic tried a lateral-passing end run, which worked every other place on the field, and a wild lateral was pounced on by Hobson for the TD. Neither convert attempt worked, there being a Vic offside on the first one; John Anderson blocked the first, and Varga fired his pass low on the second.

Meds' Line Terrific

The Varga brothers did most of the backfield work for Meds, as they have for the last three or four years. But the linemen were most responsible for this win, as they gave their best effort of the season. Rosen, Digby, and Ricci, insides, held the centre of the line solidly. Vic scarcely gained at all through the line, though they ran the ends pretty freely.

Lanky Bill Gore and Bob Rumbell pulled the most spectacular plays for Vic. Gore leaped high in the air for a pass aimed at a man ten yards behind him, tipping the ball from one hand into the other. He must have made the catch eight feet in the air. Rumbell's shining moment was when he caught a long punt by Al Varga behind his goal-line, and kicked the ball back over the heads of the doctors to bounce out of touch at least ten yards back of where the play originated.

Harry Damp Good

Harry Damp ran (or rather skidded) around the ends for good gains in spite of the slippery field. His passes didn't click until the last few plays. Lodge got away once or twice, going about thirty-five yards running back a kick after Rumbell's lateral. Vic looked very strong at centre with Jim Rogers and Jim Kilgour. Ralph Barford and Bruce Ledger played best on the rather in-and-out line.

Line-ups:—

Vic: Quarter, Lodge; halves, Sumner, Little, Damp, Walton; centre, Kilgour; insides, Colbert, Ledger; middles, Hill, Barford; ends, Ludwig, Howard; aits; Fick, Gore, Dryden, Reid, Rumbell, Rogers, Zimmerman, Bodrug, Fila, Dyke, Anderson, Morgan.

Meds: Quarter, Thompson; halves, A. Varga, Sims, Anderson; centre, M. Martyn; insides, Digby, Rosen; middles, Freeland, Hopkins; ends, Deveber, Taylor; aits, McKee, Vince, Roberts, Hobson, J. Martyn, Watt, Smith, Ricci, Stalker, Milne, Race.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

From riches to rags in one season .... but that's life. Sometimes the best laid plans of mice and men gang agley, as Bobbie said, and this was one of those times. The Blues looked like they were going to keep that battered Yates Trophy at the beginning of the season, but Masterson's plans ganged agley. The only explanation for the results is that the Blues were beaten by three natural sports phenomenon—injuries, luck, and strong opposition. Especially strong opposition.

However, that's all water over the dam, or under the bridge, so we will close the 1949 Varsity senior football season with a vote of thanks to all the boys who spent those long, hard, and gruelling hours on the practice fields to provide us with six football week-ends.

And a note to Messrs. Obeck, Metras, and Tindall: JUST WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR!

* * *

Now let us turn our attention to sunnier skies ... there are more fish in the sea than senior football. The Varsity Harrier team took the cross-country honors at Kingston when they finished so far ahead of the other colleges that Dr. Brown ventured to comment that there was no competition at all. Our Harriers have yet to lose a cup or dual meet since the end of the war, and the only meet they did lose was the American A.A.U. invitation meet at Detroit. They ran against a field of eleven of the best long distance teams in the whole of the United States, and came in fifth.

Just to give you an idea how tough the competition was, the winners (Michigan) ran the six miles course for an average of less than five minutes per mile. And the course was no cinch! Those five runners that made up our senior Harrier squad really deserve credit for the swell job they have done.

* * *

That's one championship in the bag for this year, and it looks like the soccer clubs are going to add two more cups to the Hart House Treasury. Both the seniors and the intermediates seem to be able to take the measure of the other teams in the loop when the men in Blue are at full strength. If we don't put the kiss of death on them with all this flattery, they should keep the laurels won last year.

As an afterthought, the people that talk about tolerance and brotherhood could take a couple of lessons from the soccer teams. Almost every place in the world from the West Indies through the "Iron Curtain" countries, and almost every race is represented on the teams; but it seems to make little difference to the team so long as a man can put the ball into the opposition's net.

* * *

The hockey team is coming along under the sharp eye of Wally (a terror around the nets) Halder, our new coach, but it is too early to form any opinions on the strength of the Varsity ice-entry. Many of last year's boys will be back, and the seniors will be fortified by a couple of the Junior B's of last season. Oh, yes, and Toronto will have three teams this year—Junior, Intermediate, and Senior.

* * *

With basketball, swimming, wrestling, and the rest, coming up now, maybe it's a good thing football is over.

One more word about rugby, and we promise to keep quiet about it from now on. At the first of the season we thought that Queen's played too rough for intercollegiate sport (for which we were chastised by the reading public) and that Kingston game has not changed our opinion. Either the referees should get a little harder on rough play, or the coaches should train their players in gentlemanly conduct, but something has to be done before somebody is seriously injured. And we hope Hal McCarney of Queen's is properly ashamed of himself.

Interfaculty Sports

LACROSSE

In a high-scoring tilt in group one lacrosse at noon yesterday, Meds I edged Vic I 13-12, Meds opened the scoring, but Vic surged back led by Rae Hastings and were ahead at half time. Axe Haliburton was back in his old form getting five of Meds' goals as did Ted Beaton. Varga with two and Hetherington were the other Med scorers. For Vic, Hastings and Davidson each got four, Rush three and Guest added one.

SOCCER

Trinity II moved into a first-place tie with Emmanuel in group four soccer when they defeated Knox 2-1 last night. Murray Jackson and Hill were the Saints' scorers, while L. Sutherland was the lone Knox goal-getter.

Sr. UC won out in a closely-contested soccer game over Vic seniors, by a 1-0 count. UC in winning their first game in group one had to go all out before Don Maynard got the margin of victory.

VARSITY SPORTS

Hockey, Basketball Teams Preparing For Big Season

B-Ball Blues

Barry Lowes, who has been kept busy the last few weeks coaching both the junior and senior basketball squads, seemed fairly happy last night at the showing made by the players who are trying out for the senior Blue team.

Jack Gray put in his initial appearance and apparently is in his usual top shape. He ought to be after playing nearly 60 minutes of every football game. Gray is one of the few vets back. One other is Johnny McManus, a guard. McManus is a baseball pitcher in the summer season and never gets out of shape. These two team up well together.

To take tall Doug Tyndall's place at centre Barry has Don Barber, ex-UC Junior star, trying out. Barber is about 6'5" and with handling should develop into a high scorer. Slim Tisdale, another skyscraper, is also looking for a spot with the seniors. Slim played for UC and the intermediates last season.

Gibbs Impresses

One of the most impressive players on the floor was rangy and cool Jud Gibb, one of the American youths in St. Mike's. He is a terrific ball-handler and what is more important he gets the ball in the little 'ole basket. Bill Huycke, ex-YMCA junior star, is another player who is a cinch for the Blues and may well help fill the gaping holes left by Ed Brennan and Glen Pettinger, who are not at school this year. Bob Masterson should take over the coaching reins now that the football season is all over, as far as Toronto is concerned.

Hockey Blues

With the start of the senior hockey schedule less than two weeks away, the ice lanes Blues are looking pretty fair in practice. On the eve of the Grey Cup final, Friday, Nov. 25, the Blues will take on the McGill Redmen in Montreal and follow that game up Saturday with last year's champion Carabins from the University of Montreal.

Coach Halder still has some cutting to do as he has about 25 players jockeying for the 17 available berths. Last night being the first practice since the end of the football season, there were some new faces among the players. New, that is in the sense that they haven't been practising before.

Broken Metacarpal

Rich Howson was out skating around but he was not scrimmaging with the rest because of a broken bone in his hand that he received in the intermediate football game with Western two weeks ago. A nearby medical student identified the broken bone as the fifth metacarpal of the right hand. Howson thought that the hand should be all right for playing in two or three weeks; possibly he will be ready for the season-opener.

Bob Bazos put in his first appearance with the Blues. Bob played football for the intermediates who ended their sked Saturday. He is sturdy on his skates and should provide lots of rousing hockey.

Carl and Orr were the two net-minders in action last night, but

(Continued on Page 7)

Sportswoman

Last Friday University of Toronto's female ground hockey enthusiasts took on Trinity men in a thrilling exhibition of this little known sport. As might be expected, the men emerged triumphantly over the slightly weaker femmes beating them handily 3-0. The men scored plenty more goals that were not allowed as they were smashed in from inside the goal circle.

Joyce Rous' joyful hockey gals were given additional support by the St. Hilda's entry of the inter-faculty league. The condition of this field greatly enhanced the game from a spectator's stand-point as the girls (and boys) wallowed in the mucky going of Trinity field. At the end of the game you couldn't even tell the players with a program.

Medicals

Re-check within 48 hours before the intramural swimming meet. Just walk into the Health Service girls, at 43 St. George and get your batteries checked.

Basketball

UC Sr. B Hoopsters ran riot in a thrilling tussle last night, crushing Vic Sr. Jr. Int. "B" (that's what they have the audacity to call themselves!) by a 34-8 score. Willie Booty was the large gun for the UC'ers throwing in 14 points.

The gal medicos walloped Vic Soph B by a 33-12 count last night in another epic struggle. McCrea was the chief sparkler for the Meds gals.

Other scores: Nurses 23, St. Mike's 14; UC 14, PHE 36.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Sunny and Cool

VOL. LXIX, NO. 39 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Wednesday, November 16, 1949

Beaver Club Scholarships' Deadline Set

Beaver Club Scholarships of a value not to exceed 500 pounds sterling annually, are again to be awarded in 1950 according to officials of the Beaver Club Trust. The scholarships are tenable at any University or College in Great Britain.

Trustees emphasize that the purpose of the scholarships is educational and not for research. In the choice of scholars, emphasis will be on the humanities and social sciences including such subjects as law, pedagogy, fine arts, and sociology.

Selections will be made on the basis of material submitted with each candidate's application and a personal interview. No written examination will be held. Full information and application forms may be obtained from the University Registrar, Simcoe Hall.

Veterans Wanted

Conditions of elegibility are:

(1) Candidates must be Canadian citizens, and either be a man who served in the Canadian Armed Forces for at least one year during the period from September 1, 1939, to August 31, 1945, or be the son of a man who so served.

(2) Although preference will be given to candidates who will be completing their undergraduate studies at a University or College in Canada during the current academic year, candidates who have completed at least two years of such work are eligible to apply.

(3) Candidates will not be disqualified by marriage, but the value of each scholarship will be determined solely by reference to the needs of the candidate himself, and will under no circumstances be increased on account of dependents.

Final date for application is December 10,1949.

Seven former U of T students are in Great Britain at the present time on the benefits of the scholarships.

West York M.P. UTDU Debate Guest Speaker

The University of Toronto Debating Union is holding a home-and-home debate today with the University of Western Ontario. At Toronto the debate will be held at 8.30 p.m. in Trinity Chapel (Library). The topic will be "resolved that the supreme court should supercede the privy council as the final court of appeal."

Guest speaker will be Mr. Rodney Adamson, M.P. for West York.

Persons speaking in this debate will be eligible for the American tour to be held near the end of this month.

CHRISTIANITY AND YOUR COURSE

The third in this series will be a forum on Christianity and English led by Dr. Robins in Room 22, Vic., Thursday, Nov. 17, at 4:10 p.m.

Lovely Hairdos....

Sure to please the audience at Victoria College's Show "The Scarlet and Gold," a musical review to be presented in Eaton Auditorium Wednesday, November 30, at 8.15 p.m., are the above members of the cast. In the bottom row are (from left to right) Ruth Sanderson, and Barb New. Behind them are Jean McDougall, Jessie Nugent and Shirley Tabb.

U. of Alberta Elections Fail To Find Candidates

Edmonton—(CUP)—The Student Council at the University of Alberta had to extend the deadline for nominations to several offices which are to be contested in the near future.

Six positions on class executives for which nominations have not yet been received must be filled. Two other offices have been filled by acclamation.

The University has a long history of a lack of interest in the student elections. In 1946 only 16% of the student body voted. In 1948, with a total of 18 positions to be filled, nine were filled by acclamation, and for five there were no candidates.

"The Gateway", student newspaper at Alberta, has suggested that the offices be abolished since there are apparently no people who want to hold them. In an editorial "The Gateway" said: "It is absurd to ask students to run for offices which command so little student interest .... Students themselves have indicated their opinions in this matter, in their lack of interest and support. The fact that there was no opposition to the acquisition of the executive positions by the representatives of a single faculty points to the indifference of the student body ..."

Montreal May Want Visas Next!

No newspaper has ever been so frank as the Montreal Standard in expressing its opinion as to whether or not Toronto is part of Canada.

In a news story last week on the annual conference of the International Student Service, the Standard declared: "About 70 students from 30 universities across Canada are participating in the meeting, which is the fourth annual gathering to be held by I.S.S. but the first in Canada. Previous annual meetings have been held in Toronto."

Nationwide Probe Shows Publisher's List Price Ignored

By DON STEVENSON

A recent statement by the Macmillan Company of Canada that its policy is to sell books for resale at its established list price is not fully supported by an investigation made by The Varsity of book stores selling to students of 15 Canadian universities.

Require List Prices

On Nov 3 a letter from Managing Director John Gray of the Macmillan Company of Canada was printed in The Varsity. In it he said, "It is the policy of this House to sell books for resale at its established list prices. And any customer who will not respect those list prices compels us either to assist him to a favourable competitive position, or to suspend supply in fairness to those who do."

Information received from editors of 15 Canadian universities newspapers shows Macmillan books are sold to students with cash discounts at three universities, and the students of one other university in effect save ten per cent on Macmillan books by means of credit slips they receive when buying texts.

Reports from two other universities indicated some discount policy but did not describe very clearly the exact nature of the discounts. The following is the information in detail received regarding discounts on Macmillan texts.

Get 15 Per Cent Off

At the University of Montreal discounts of from 12 to 15 percent are received by students.

Students of Laval University receive discounts which "average ten percent."

Carleton College students receive about a five percent discount.

A system of "Credit notes" is used by the co-operative book store on the Queen's campus. A student receives a credit note valued at ten percent of his purchased text book. Fred Cederbarg, news editor of The Queen's Journal, describes the system thus: "Buy a text list price five dollars. Pay five. Receive credit note for 50 cents. This note can be used to buy anything in store."

Reports from St. Francis Xavier University and Dalhousie University indicate that there may be discounts on Macmillan texts. Nine other universities reported no discounts.

U OF T GIVEN GRANT TO AID RESEARCH IN MENTAL HEALTH

A $314,000 grant to the University of Toronto for mental health purposes was announced last week by President Sidney Smith. The grant, largest to any Canadian university for work in this field, was made by the Provincial Government from federal funds as part of the national health scheme.

Ten men and two women representing seven University departments and headed by Dr. C. T. Bissell, assistant to the president, are carrying out the program under Dr. Smith's supervision.

"Blame it on the pace at which we live, feelings of insecurity, or what you will, mental illness has become one of the gravest problems we face as a nation," the President said. "There are 50,000 Canadians in mental hospitals only because the hospitals won't hold any more."

Part of the grant would be used to stimulate research into the causes of mental breakdowns and how best to counteract them, the president said. He mentioned particularly biochemical research in the problem of schizophrenia.

Vic C.C.F. Club To Argue Nature Of Labor Program

Professor and Mrs. David Cass-Beggs will be the guest speakers today when the Vic CCF Club debates the subject, "Labor Britain —Socialist or Reformist."

Professor Cass-Beggs is an associate Professor in the School of Practical Science at the University and has written several books on the Hydro Electric Power System. He has been chairman of the Provincial Executive of the Ontario CCF, chairman of the Ontario CCF Research Department, and a member of the CCF National Council since coming to Canada.

Mrs. Cass-Beggs is Director of Music of the University Settlement School of Music and is President of the Toronto District Council of the CCF.

Personal Life Of Birds Shown In Nature Film By Robert C. Hermes

Robert C. Hermes, artist and nature photographer presented his motion picture, "Bonaventure Diary," to members and friends of the Royal Canadian Institute on Saturday evening in Convocation Hall. Hermes is an artist and nature photographer of Buffalo and New York. He has attended courses at the Albright School of Fine Arts in Buffalo, and the Arts Students' League in New York.

The film, "Bonaventure Diary," is the story of a bird sanctuary off Perce in the Gaspe Peninsula. It is a bird city whose inhabitants include gannets, kittiwake gulls, murres, puffins and razor-billed auks. The film shows the lovemaking, feeding and nesting habits of the birds. Slow motion pictures afford an opportunity to study the flight patterns and landings of these water birds.

Much of the flora of the island is shown in the film. The lichens in the woods are magnified until they appear as strange trees from another world. Various sequences show the quaint homes and the inhabitants of the island, a crab burying itself in the sand, and underwater shots of starfish showing their method of locomotion. The scenery of the Gaspe forms a background for the picture.

SUNDAY FIRESIDE

The SCM Fireside will be held this week in the Women's Union at 8:30 p.m. Don Evans and Mary MacCrimmon will talk on their trip to Europe, particularly the SCM's relations with WAY and WFDY. This is a vital topic.

Thieves Active

"Treasure Room" Protects Canadiana

By RICHARD CLEE

Would you like to see the first book ever printed in Upper Canada? The "Codex Torontonensis"? The first Canadian botany book? These are but a few of the three to four hundred volumes to be found in the "Treasure Room" on the second floor of the University Library.

The "Codex Torontonensis," a Greek manuscript of the gospels, features the first picture of Christ with an Italianate beard. A magnificent volume, all the illustrations and illumination in it is done by hand. Close beside it in the locked steel cabinet is the oldest general book in the Library, a large volume entitled "Petri Lombardi," published by Strasbourg in 1468. It was printed on a hand press, the only type known at that time, and with the capitals illuminated by hand.

Printed Before 1500

Close beside it are more plebeian editions of similar works without the hand illumination. These are a part of the "Incunabula" (literally translated, swaddling-clothes) or books printed before the year 1500.

In this group by only one year is the Bamberg Missal, printed in the year 1499, of which the library possesses one of the only two copies in North America. Made in a monastery, it is done entirely by hand. In those days it seems that people had more time.

Thieves Take Some

These books are part of a group donated to the library by Dr. Scadding about fifty years ago. They are not, of course, in general circulation, but are available for the use of anyone who has a legitimate need of them, although the use is generally RESTRICTED to within the library building itself. However, since the library has already lost a few rare books to thieves, this limitation is understandable.

The main content of the library, however, is Canadiana. In this group are the Simcoe papers, put out by the King's Printer at Newark Niagara-on-the-Lake) in 1793. This is the first book published in Upper Canada. Also in this collection are the papers of the voyages of Champlain of both 1527 and 1532, and the page proofs of a biography of William Lyon MacKenzie by LaSueur. Unfortunately this book was never published. Another article of interest is an extra-illustrated edition of Montcalm and Wolfe, expanded with maps and letters from the original two volumes to ten. This was first offered to the University for $3,000, far above the original value. This offer was declined, so the owner, wishing to dispose of the books at that price, solicited $100 from 30 citizens on the promise that they be given to the library. Thus the library acquired this valuable set at no cost.

All these books are available to any scholar who can show a legitimate need, by request to the library. And anyone who is privileged to see them will find some of the finest early books available in Canada.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Art Payne

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1949

The Atomic Race

(The following editorial is reprinted from the Sheaf, student newspaper of the University of Saskatchewan.)

There seems to have been a tendency to treat the atomic bomb like an insurance policy—we didn't want to be forced to use it, but nevertheless, it gave us a vague feeling of security. It was realized that this weapon was only an insurance against attack while it was a monopoly, but at least it seemed to eliminate the necessity for direct action. Even Russia's discovery of the bomb has not seriously altered this attitude. Military experts confidently state that it will be many years before Russia has an adequate stockpile of atomic bombs, and that United States can maintain her lead indefinitely.

But is it logical to attach so much importance to superiority in the atomic race? United States is not likely to attempt a settlement by dropping atomic bombs unless Russia is the aggressor. And Russia will certainly not force the issue while United States maintains the lead in atomic production. Consequently this "cold war" may continue indefinitely, while the antagonists build more and different weapons. Thus it is unlikely that the atom bomb will ever be a decisive factor in the struggle.

Then, if procrastination can only lessen our atomic superiority, wouldn't it be better to use the atomic bomb now? We hurriedly put this Satanic thought behind us. It would mean subordinating all our democratic principles of justice and virtue, and would defeat rather than convert the communists. In other words, we can't use the bomb now because we are fighting an ideological war. But is it really obvious that we are fighting only for democratic ideals? In such a struggle we would be forced to reject communism wherever we found it. Yet Tito is now one of our allies! Such an "Unholy Alliance" smacks of power politics. And if we are fighting for power rather than democracy, it would surely be sensible to use the atomic bomb now.

So the important question is whether we are opposing Russia because communism is a threat to democracy, or because Russia's power is a threat to ours. All our foreign relations must hinge on our answer to this question. Until we reach a decision we can do nothing but build more and more atomic bombs and hope for the best.

A M & D

Brigadoon

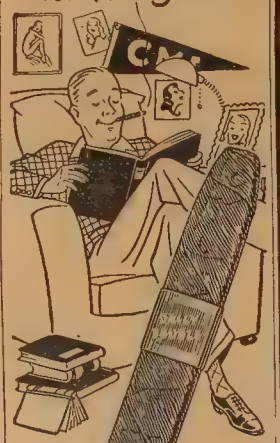
Toronto society paid its ultimate compliment to Brigadoon Monday night, when many turned out in formal dress to welcome this musical classic to the Royal Alexandra Theatre for a return engagement. Needless to say, they were not disappointed.

This modern myth of the Scottish village which appears to the mortal world for only one day in every hundred years is just as sprightly and its music and dancing just as charming as they were when it first appeared here last spring.

It seems to this reviewer that the cast deserve a great deal of credit for the freshness of production which they maintained. Their spontaneity and actual enjoyment of dancing and singing are clearly evident.

The principals sang well in every instance, and were a decided improvement over last year's leads. Especially good were Jeff Warren, (Charlie Dalrymple), in his song, 'Come to me, Bend to me,' to which he imparted a piquant charm, very effectively, and Kenneth LeRoy as the ill-fated Harry Beaton. The dancing of the latter in the chase sequence and the sword dance were a delight to behold.

The gaunt Oliver Smith sets, although leaving the stage bare for the necessary action, nevertheless conveyed a distinct impression of fetid swamp and gloomy thicket through which the chase wound to its tragic climax in the death of Harry.



Susan Johnson,' (Meg Brockie) who looks and acts remarkably like the Betty Hutton of five years ago, brought down the house with her singing of 'The Love of my Life," and 'My Mother's Weddin' Day.' She had the satisfaction of leaving the audience calling for more.

Agnes de Mille's dance sequences are still show-stoppers. Indeed, the best moments in Brigadoon occur when the entire cast is on stage, whereas the production drags badly when but a few are present. Also on the debit side is the chorus work, one of the weakest parts of Brigadoon. There seems to be a collective difficulty in singing anything but sounds.

In every respect but one, Monday night's performance would have passed for a first night. That in itself is a tribute to the conservativism of Toronto's matrons. Not one of them was carried away to the point where she felt it necessary to stand on her head in the lobby during the intermission.

Paul Break

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢ DAILY DOUBLE

WHAT'S ON TODAY

RUSSIAN NOVELISTS

Prof. L. I. Strakhovsky will lecture on Tolstoy (Anna Karenina and Resurrection) on Wednesday at 5 p.m. in Room 8, University College. This is one of a series on Great Russian novelists.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC RECORD HOUR

Vic Record Hour: Laurence Olivier in 'Henry V'; Wymilwood, 4.30 p.m. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEAR EAST CLUB

Principal Taylor invites the Members of The Near-East Club to his home (223 Stibbard Avenue) on Wednesday, November 16th, at 8.00 p.m. Principal Taylor will speak to the Club.

✣ ✣ ✣

IRC MEETING

R. M. MacDonnell, Canadian Charge d'Affaires in Czechoslovakia, will address the International Relations Club at the Museum Theatre Wednesday afternoon at 4.00 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

GERMAN CLUB

There will be a rehearsal today at 2.00 p.m. in Cartwright Hall; St. Hilda's for the German Club's presentation of Faust.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Badminton Club meets tonight at the COTC Drill Hall at 7.30. The Debates group will meet at the Club at 8.30.

✣ ✣ ✣

TRINITY SCM

The regular meeting of the Bible Study Group will take place in the Board Room at 1.25. Study: I John 2 & 3. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular missionary meeting of the E.C.F. will be held in Room 336 of the New Mechanical Building at 1.25 today. The Rev. D. B. Phillips, B.A., B.D. will speak on Bolivia.

✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. CONSERVATIVE CLUB

There will be a meeting of the University Conservative Club at 8 p.m. at 45 South Drive. A talk will be given on "The Fundamentals of Conservatism", followed by a general, informal discussion. Coffee and doughnuts. Students interested in joining the club are welcome.

THE ALL-VARSITY REVUE

TALENT QUESTIONNAIRE

Name ..... Sex .....
College ..... Faculty ..... Year .....
Address ..... Phone .....

Put a check opposite the department in which you are interested and state experience — IF ANY.

1. ACTING ☐
Experience .....
.....

2. DANCING ☐
Ballet ☐
Tap ☐
Chorus ☐
Specialty ☐
Experience .....
.....

3. SET BUILDING AND PAINTING ☐
Experience .....
.....

4. SINGING ☐ Choral ☐
Specialty ☐
Experience .....
.....

5. STENOGRAPHY,
Secretarial and General Assistance ☐
Experience .....
.....

6. COSTUME DESIGNING ☐
Experience .....
.....

Please fill out above form and drop in All-Varsity boxes in the halls of J.C.R., U.C., Victoria and S.P.S. OR bring to S.A.C. Hart House.

SUPPORT THE ALL-VARSITY

GRAD STUDIES

Music Night at the Graduate Lounge,

Thursday, Nov. 17 — 8:15 p.m.

All graduate students and friends invited

If you were to ask
Are the tickets going fast?
We would surely reply
There's but a small supply
For the big
DANCE OF ROMANCE.

University College Players' Guild
Presents HAMLET
Recordings and BRIAN DOHERTY
WED. NOV. 16. 8.15 P.M.—WOMEN'S UNION
Refreshments

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

REVOLVER

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 tonight.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 tonight.

NOON-HOUR ADDRESSES

Rev. S. S. Selvaratnam will speak on Thursday, 17th November, at 1.30 p.m. in the Debates Room. His subject will be "An Indian's View of the Personal Religious Life." All members will be welcome.

LIBRARY EVENING

Professor Keith Feiling of the Department of History will be the speaker for the second Library Evening of the year which will be held on Thursday, 17th November, at 8.00 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Professor Feiling will speak on "Biography and Biographers." All members are invited to attend.

TALK IN ART GALLERY

Mr. Bertram Brooker, whose exhibition of oil and water colour abstract paintings is now on view in the gallery will give a talk on the show on Thursday, 17th November, at 1.30 p.m. in the Art Gallery.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP
Tonight at 8.00 p.m. at Wymilwood, Dr. J. S. Glen of Knox College will speak on "Why I am a Presbyterian".

✣ ✣ ✣

The first meeting of the Hillel Current Events group will be held today at 1 p.m. at the Zionist Building, 651 Spadina Ave.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL BRIDGE GROUP
The first meeting of the Hillel bridge group will be held tonight at 8.00 p.m. at 18 Croydon Rd. (West off Bathurst St., north of St. Clair).

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC CCF
Prof. and Mrs. Cass Beggs will debate "Labor Britain — Socialist or Reformist" today at 1 p.m., Room 1

CARNEGIE RECORDS
Program today for the Carnegie Record Collection is Bizet: Carmen Suite; Wagner: Excerpts from Der Gotterdammerung; Dukas: Sorcerer's Apprentice; Moussorgsky: Pictures at an Exhibition. The recital is given at the Mechanical Bldg. at 4.30 p.m.

Acadia Engineers Tops In Parade

Wolfville, N.S. —(CUP)— In a closely contested parade, the Engineers carried off top honours in the 1949-50 Penny Parade held last Friday at Acadia University. The Engineers piled up two hundred and twenty per cent of their quota.

The Canadian Travel Bureau estimates that Canada's forests draw $100,000,000 annually in tourist trade.

She took my books with loving care
She took my costly flowers so rare
She took me for all that money can buy
And then she took the other guy

To the Sigma Alpha Mu Anniversary Ball on Nov. 26.

PRESBYTERIAN
TONIGHT 8.00 P.M.
WYMILWOOD
DR. J. S. GLEN
will speak on
"Why I am a Presbyterian"
MUSIC REFRESHMENTS
All students are cordially invited
FELLOWSHIP

"Tailored to fit like your own"
FORMAL RENTALS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS
Freeman's
256 College St. — KI. 0991
(At Spadina)
556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270
(At Wellesley)

BETH McVEY
Violinist
SIMEON JOYCE
Accompanist
EATON AUDITORIUM
Saturday, Nov. 26th, 8.30 p.m.
Tickets: $2.40, $1.80, $1.20
STUDENTS HALF PRICE
Box Office opens Nov. 17th
Mail Orders to
Dorothy Parnum Management
255 Manor Rd. E. HY. 3153

25th Anniversary
JEWISH FOLK CHOIR
EMIL GARTNER
Conductor
and
PAUL ROBESON
The Great Negro Singer
Sat. and Mon. Dec. 3 and 5
8.30 p.m.
MASSEY HALL
Tickets: $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50
No Tax
ON SALE AT:
Moodeys, 90 King W., 21 Bloor W. and 2069 Yonge St.
Overseas Travel, 762 Bathurst
Varsity, 501 College
Choir Office, 83 Christie St., LA. 4690

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!
GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE
United-De Forest
Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage
Your Nearest Branch
633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY
Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new $50 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 7715

NEW 1950 PORTABLE
Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery JU. 3575.

WANTED
Passengers from Kingston Rd.-Birchmount district for 9 a.m. lectures. Return 5 p.m. Phone OX. 1997.

ALTERATIONS
All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Alice, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS
Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978

LOST
"The Scarlet and Gold", sensational Musical Review by Victoria College, has lost one Persian kitten. Finder please feed and return to Victoria College undergrads.

LOST
Parker 51. Will party picking up same by mistake in West Hall Monday, 2-3, please return to S.A.C. office?

"HARD TIMES"
Variety Dance at O.T. Huts at 6 Devonshire Place, Thursday, November 17, at 8 o'clock. Come on men, it's FREE.

BASKETBALL REFEREES

APPLICATIONS ARE NOW BEING ACCEPTED FOR BASKETBALL OFFICIALS AT THE INTRAMURAL OFFICE.

ANYONE DESIROUS OF OFFICIATING INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL MUST ATTEND THE FLOOR DEMONSTRATION IN THE UPPER GYMNASIUM OF HART HOUSE ON TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3RD AT 7 P.M.

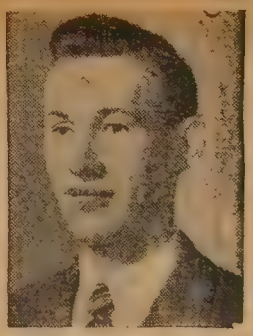
GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	East	4.00	Med II vs Forestry	W. Thompson, Klarman, Salsberg
SOCCER	North	3.30	Forestry vs Sr. Med	Montemurro
	South	4.00	Knox vs Dent	Barton
LACROSSE		1.00	Sr. SPS vs Med I	Prendergast, Ross
		4.00	Pre-Med vs St. M. B	Walder, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Law vs Med I Yr	Cohl

TOMORROW Is The Day!!
OPUS '49 DANCE

Casa Loma, $2.50 per couple, Dancing 9-1
Benny Louis Orchestra, Nov. 17, 1949, Dress Optional

TICKETS at S.A.C. Hart House and Royal Conservatory



GRADS! HART HOUSE GRADS!
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2nd
MART KENNY
TICKETS NOW ON SALE
AT 44 HOSKIN FOR THE ANNUAL DANCE
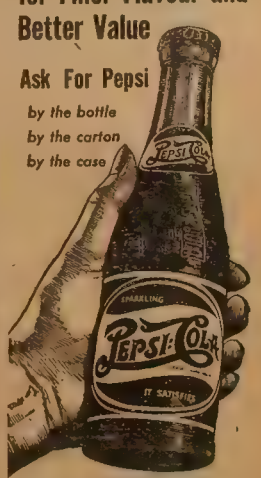
JOIN THE RUSH
WHILE YOU'RE FLUSH!
SEMI - FORMAL
$3.00 per couple
MART KENNY
GRADS! GRADS!

UTDU DEBATE

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16 — 8.30 P. M.
IN TRINITY CHAPEL (Library)
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
vs.
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO
MR. RODNEY ADAMSON
Guest Speaker
P.C. Member of Parliament for West York
Topic:
"Resolved that the Supreme Court should supercede the Privy Council as the final Court of Appeal"

Should the Vic-at-Home BE Formal??????

Voice your opinion at the Open Meeting, Thursday, 1 p.m. in Vic's Chapel.



Basil Kearney, men's wear salesman in Kingston, Ont., changed to Pepsi-Cola because, he says, "Pepsi really satisfies my thirst, doesn't just tease it." That's important. When you take time out for refreshment, you want something that really hits the spot! Take home a carton today – 6 big, big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢.

Teen-agers, too, are changing to Pepsi-Cola. Margot Rudland, Toronto student, says, "My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola for its better flavour and bigger value." And that's true of the handy new quick-drink size Pepsi, too, Margot. You get more for your money—costs only 5¢. Try Pepsi in the new 8-ounce bottle today. You'll find it at your nearest cooler.

More and more people are changing to
PEPSI-COLA
for Finer Flavour and Better Value
Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50¢

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPENS THURSDAY, NOV. 17

Sr. Skule Mauls UC 13-5, Mikemen Take Trinity 23-5 As Playdowns Draw Near SKULE — U-C.

Sweeping for a touchdown in the first five plays, SPS finished off the schedule in sole possession of second place by beating UC 13-5 yesterday. UC got several good marches going, showing plenty of offensive power, but couldn't stop the Engineers' strong running attack. The game featured several long runs, Adair, Valenti, and Walker all pulling the stunt to score or set up scores.

Paul Valenti opened the game with a thirty yard runback of the kick-off. Adair and Valenti carried thirty around end to UC's 27. Adair and Folinsbee pounded for a first. Adair ran the end to the five, and Folinsbee sliced off tackle for the major. Valenti converted, booting the ball all the way across Hoskin St.

UC stayed in their end for the rest of the half, in spite of hard line plunging by Miles and Shapiro, as poor kicking kept them back. A poor punt from their goal line went out on the twent-five and at the end of the first quarter, and Scott kicked a single for SPS, Rowe making the tackle. On the previous play, Valenti threw a touchdown pass to one of two sleepers out on the sideline, but it was called back. Somebody must have been reading about a game in Kingston last Saturday; there was a sleeper out on nearly every other play.

As soon as UC got the ball again, Shapiro tossed a forward right into the arms of Engineer Jack Jones. Again the Red and White held the line for two downs. Valenti's placement attempt was wild, but the UC safetymen did an Alphonse and Gaston over the ball till Valenti got down to fall on it, his convert making the score 13-0.

The second half began more like a circus than a football game. Shapiro ran the kick-off back 70 yards, only to be called back for interference. SPS fumbled the kick, and the recoverer fumbled it back to him. After another exchange of fumbles, UC rolled up the field, Walker going the last 35 yards for the touchdown on a beautifully-executed reverse. At about this point, it started to rain, and the fumbling stopped.

Line-ups

SPS: Quarter, Valenti; halves, Adair, Folinsbee, Crandell, Jones; centre, Keen; insides, Rickaby, Laprairie; middles, Gordon, Richards; ends, Rowe, Wood. Alternates, McColm, Hellard, Benstein, Firth, Gibson, James, Phemister, Scott.

UC: Quarter, Mitteff; halves, Shapiro, Miles, Walker, Barnhill; centre, P. Webb; insides, Taylor, Smith; middles, Dugan, Grasser; ends, Yates, Hynbids. Alternates: Cullen, Terry, Wass, Hyrnyshyn, T. Webb, Davidson, Steinberg, Ellis.

ST. MIKE'S — TRINITY

The Trinity College footballers averted a scoreless season yesterday as they drove over early in the first quarter of their interfaculty contest with St. Mike's for their sole major of the year. However they were no match for the Irish gridders who took the win by a 23-5 score in a clean but hard fought tilt.

Rugged little Gerry Washington accounted for two of the St. Mike's touchtowns once via the plunge and once via the end run route. Flannigan and Ross got the remaining two majors for the Mikemen.

Trinity's major was a picture effort by McIntish who took a short jump pass over the center of the line and ran fifty yards to score.

A Tony Adams to Ross pass from about fifteen yards out was good for the first score of the game. Adams played a stellar game throughout passing, running and kicking splendidly. Bud Brennan, who made three converts during the afternoon and showed well in middle, made the convert. Trinity made the count 6-5 as McIntosh sprinted down the center but the major was not converted.

Gerry Washington was next to score as he drove over from the left side of the line in the second quarter. He duplicated the feat in the second half around the left end this time, Brennan making the convert. Flannigan re-recovered a Trinity fumble behind the goal for the last counter which Brennan again converted.

Lineups

St. Mike's: Flying wing, O'Hara; halves, La Petito, O'Heaney, Washington; quarter, Adams; snap, Kite; insides, McKenna, Brennan; middles, O'Keefe, Bergin; outsides, Mauchley, Ross. Alternates: Mulligan, Neill, Sullivan, McIntyre, Grosel, Flannigan, Dowling, Schmaltz, Horton, Davin.

Trinity: Flying wing, McCarter; halves, Leichman, Rogers, Thomson; quarter, Grey; snap, White; insides, Skinner, Linklater; middles, Hunt, Hall; outsides, McIntosh, Bell. Alternates, Eastmuir, Meredith, Madison, McLaughlin, Wardrop, McDonald, Sparling, Beatty.

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

There will be a meeting of the club on Nov. 17, 8 p.m., at the Women's Union. Three archaeologists, Mr. Bill Taylor, Miss Joan Prasant and Miss Jane Carson, will speak on "Arizona," "Archaeology Digs Seattle," "Archaeology Digs Near North Bay" respectively.

SPORT IN SHORT

Football
Sr. SPS, 13; UC, 5.
St. Mike's, 23; Trinity, 5.
Soccer
Jr. SPS, 2; St. Mike's, 0.
Vic, 0; Wycliffe, 0.
Lacrosse
Forestry, 10; Pre Meds, UC III, 7; Jr. SPS, 3.

EATON'S

A Wide Selection of Styles in MEN'S PULLOVERS

EATON'S Main Floor pullover counters are always well stocked with an excellent assortment of sweaters in a wide variety of styles, patterns, and colours. Some cable, and fancy stitched, others in rich coloured plain and interlock knits. Sleeveless and long sleeve styles from both imported and domestic makers . . . including fine, light botany wool; smooth, comfortable lambswool; and soft, luxurious cashmere.

Sleeveless 3.95 to 13.50 — Long Sleeved 4.95 to 19.50

Phone TR. 5111

Main Store — Main Floor — Dept. 228

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED

RCAF NEWS

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants — FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER men due to graduate in '53, '54 or '55 from Architec., Lib. Sch., Meds, OT, OCE, Phys. Ther., or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3, preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.) Undergrads who have already filed applications have been notified of meeting tonight. Others who desire to file applications should call at RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. BEFORE THE END OF THIS WEEK.

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L. Information and application forms for eligible veterans are available at RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. "First come, first served".

DRINK —

Wilson's ORANGE

5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

On Monday, November 21, Victoria College Makes History. A Gold Souvenir Will Be Given Free With Each Ticket To

THE SCARLET AND GOLD

THE REVIEW FOR YOU!

Reserved Tickets $1.00 per person • At The Eaton Auditorium -- November 30, 1949 • Ticket Sales At Victoria College

Trinity Soph Injured In Cake Fight

THE VARSITY

VOL. LXIX, NO. 40 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Thursday, November 17, 1949

Chemical Blisters Defender

Injured last night in the annual Trinity Cake Fight, Eric Ford was removed to the General Hospital where he is under doctor's care.

Injured By Titanium Bomb

He was splashed with Titanium tetrachloride when the freshmen began their attack on the East archway leading to the Trinity Quadrangle.

The bomb was set off by dousing the contents of a bottle with water, and it was this that caused Ford's injuries.

The "water-soluble" character of the freshman bomb may be the factor that will save Ford from permanent disfigurement. He was sent to the General as soon as the nurse at the Trinity Infirmary saw that he was burnt.

After cursory treatment in the Emergency Ward, he was sent up to Ward B where he was put in a bath. While immersed in water his eyes were washed with saline solution.

Contact Chemical Company

The doctors were forced to phone a chemical company to learn more about the nature of the Titanium compound, which is a rare substance.

After more than two hours of bathing Ford was removed from the tub, to await the arrival of a skin specialist.

The medical history to date has few details of Ford's injuries. He is suffering from chemical burns about the neck and face. "There are multiple pin-point blisters" about the eyes and face, according to the nurse on the floor.

The doctor attending Ford said that there will be no permanent markings, and the orange coloring on face and neck would probably disappear under the present treatment.

Nfld. Timber RCI Subject For Saturday

Mr. A. W. Bentley, consultant on forest management for a pulp and paper mill in Newfoundland, will deliver a lecture on Forestry in Newfoundland in Convocation Hall on Saturday, November 19, at 8:15 p.m. The lecture, under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Institute, will be illustrated with a sound motion picture in colour and will be open to the public.

A native of Ontario, Mr. Bentley received his B.A. and B.Sc.F. degrees from the University of Toronto in 1921 after interrupting his course to serve with the active forces overseas during World War I.

He has worked as a forester for the government and for various paper companies since his graduation.

HONOUR SCIENCE PARTY

The first Honour Science Party of the year will be held tonight, Junior Common Room, University College at 8 p.m. Dancing, cards and refreshments provided. All Honour Science and Household economics students are invited.

Massey Commission

RECEIVES ISS BRIEF

Seek Forty Varsity Reps For Annual Carabin Trip

Would you like to visit the University of Montreal as an official delegate of the U. of T.? The choice of students to make up the contingent of forty making the trip to Montreal over the week-end of December ninth, tenth and eleventh will begin this week.

Applications will be available in the SAC office beginning tomorrow and throughout next week. Candidates from the faculties will be particularly welcome, because the student hosts at the U. of M. are largely faculty members.

A committee with Warden Ignatieff at its head will consider the applications and decide who will represent Varsity on the week-end.

Expenses Cut Down

Expenses on the trip are being cut to a minimum in order to allow as many students as possible to go. The delegates will be guests in the homes of U. of M. students, and expenses in Montreal should be almost negligible. The joint committee set up by ISS and NFCUS has definite hopes of getting the train fares which at present amount to $12.80 subsidised. In this case the week-end would almost certainly be opened to anybody who was interested in applying for it.

The exchange week-end with the Carabins was started last year on the suggestion of the U. of T. students returning from the summer seminar. Having met and made friends with the Carabin delegates, it was decided that an exchange week-end with the U. of M. would be beneficial to students on both campi. This week-end will combine both the cultural and social aspects of the campi represented in an effort to draw French and English speaking Canadians closer together.

If you are interested please go to the SAC office as soon as possible and fill out an application form.

Suggest Financing Student Exchange From State Funds

By RALPH WINTROB

As a national voluntary organization representing students, faculty and graduates in all of Canada, ISS felt that its activities would be of interest to the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences, ISS Canadian National Secretary Matt Saunders said yesterday in an interview. A brief was presented to the commission yesterday afternoon, outlining Canada's unique project in international education with particular reference to the International Seminar which Canadian ISS has sponsored in Europe during the past two summers. More than 100 Canadian University students and prominent Canadian professors attended the Seminar.

Recommended Federal Support

"ISS recommended to the Royal Commission that this significant national project be put on a permanent annual basis through financial support from the federal government," Saunders continued. "The brief also stressed the interest of Canadian ISS in promoting an increased exchange of students between Canada and Europe. In this regard ISS recommended that the federal government consider the use of funds frozen in overseas countries for the provision of exchange scholarships in a manner similar to those now provided under the Fulbright Act in the United States."

Where Money Goes

The brief further contained information about funds from the annual campaign which are earmarked for such projects as displaced persons scholarships and material assistance to needy students in Europe and Asia.

Support National Scholarships

"ISS also recommended the early creation of a national UNESCO commission to coordinate and assist the work of such organizations as ISS which sponsors projects in the field of UNESCO in Canada. The brief also supported the need for a system of national scholarships to assist deserving and needy Canadian students who wish to enter our universities," Saunders concluded.

The brief was presented by Professor Marcus Long and L. E. M. Lynch of the University of Toronto, Warden Ignatieff of Hart House, Ed. Eberle, University of Toronto student, Professor Raymond David of the University of Montreal, and Mr. Saunders.

No Canadian Seminar

The Commission asked when the brief was presented, why ISS seminars are not held in Canada, and were told that this was impossible at the present time since under the present set-up, the provincial governments were willing to supply funds for seminars overseas but would not supply funds for foreign students to attend seminars in Canada. The commission also asked whether ISS is planning to bring more DP students to Canada again soon. It was explained to them that no more students would be brought since the first responsibility was to assure the success of those ISS-sponsored students already in Canada. The excellent reports of these students, money for whom is being supplied by yearly campaigns in the universities, was also commented on after enquiry from the commission.

Decision Today

A decision as to whether this brief will be included in the commission's final report of its findings will be given (by the commission) in the Senate Chambers this morning.

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

There will be a meetting of the club on Nov. 17th, 8:00 p.m. at the Women's Union. Three archaeologists, Mr. Bill Taylor, Miss Joan Prasant and Miss Jane Carson, will speak on "Arizona," "Archaeology digs in Seattle," "Archaeology digs near North Bay" respectively.

The Royal Commission

—Globe and Mail Photo.

Members of the commission are: N. A. M. Mackenzie, president, University of British Columbia, and Most Rev. Georges-Henri Levesque, dean of social sciences, Laval University (back row); and Dr. Hilda Neatby, professor of history, University ofSaskatchewan; Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, chancellor of the University of Toronto, chairman, and Arthur Surveyor, Montreal civil engineer (front row).

Trinity Cake Fight

Has Everything But A Mixmaster

By FRASER FAIRLIE

Ever been peppered with rotten eggs, bombed with cold water, and gassed with acrid chemical smoke, all at the same time? We were, last night. But it was all in fun (it says here) as the Sophomores and Freshmen of Trinity College held the 1949 cake-fight, an annual tradition almost as old as the College itself.

Yes, cake-fighting is an ancient and revered pastime at Trinity College, but if you think it's a parlour game for gowned kiddies, you are sadly mistaken!

The general idea of the action is this. The freshmen form up outside the east walls of the college, and are presented with 2 or 3 small cakes, specially prepared for them by the most experienced homemakers at Saint Hilda's, and the object of the game is to carry one or more of the cakes through the narrow long archway to the Quad inside. It's as easy as that. There is only one small difficulty—the Sophomore year are congregated in the archway and tower above and it is their duty to see that none of the Frosh or the cakes get safely to the Quad.

"Get your hands outa there," snapped the Supply Officer, as one of the over-ambitious Freshmen had opened the box containing the largest cake; a beauty smothered in white icing, with 5T3 written on top. So well done too it's a pity that this was the last time anyone was to see the cake in one piece.

Four minutes to go! In four short minutes the whistle would blow, and the fight would be on. From there we would have just one short minute to climb the hill and pass through the arch with our precious cargo. Just time for a last minute briefing. Commander-in-chief Andison stepped up and as his 1st year commandos loaded themselves with eggs, apples, and tomatoes, added "Ok, guys. We'll go in waves of four. Now hand around several bags, so the Sophs won't know which ones the cakes are in. The fellows in back push the front ones through." One minute to go. Both of the surrounding hills were now lined with "sports-loving" spectators, mostly girls from St. Hilda's, and men of other years. It was easy to tell the participants from the audience (without a program), for the fighters wear clothes they are not likely to need again, and it looked it.

Only a few seconds to go, and look! Hardly more than a handful of Sophs in the archway; this ought to be a cinch. We tightened our crash helmets, steel and otherwise. Maybe they have a secret weapon? No time to worry now . . . there goes the whistle.

A cheer went up with the cry of 'Charge,' and the attackers moved foreward in a body. Already we were drawing their fire, for several eggs whistled overhead and splattered harmlessly on the trees behind. But what was this? They were fighting something at the gate way. Smoke rose, and fanned by the powerful breeze coming through the

(Continued on Page 5)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Knight
ASSISTANTS: Ian Montagnes, Kathlyn Smith, Jim Simpson

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1949

We Suggest . . .

Amid all the hullaballoo that has been raised on this and other Canadian campi over the problem of price of new text books, the problem of used texts which is probably of more importance to most students has been, for the most part, overlooked lately.

The SAC Book Exchange did a good job while it existed. Such a service to the students for about a month and a half at the first of the session, while of undeniable benefit, is hardly enough. Many, if not the majority of students don't have the money to buy all the books they need at the first of the year. Proper budgeting often necessitates deferring the purchase of books that are not needed until the middle or last of the year until that time.

With this in mind, and in consideration of the fact that McGill will open a bookstore as a university department, to operate for the benefit of the student body, we offer this suggestion to the Board of Governors and the President of the University:

We suggest that a permanent book exchange be set up by the University to operate at a small profit which would be used directly for the benefit of the student body. In this respect it would be similar to the proposed set-up at McGill.

The actual work of running the exchange could be placed in the hands of the SAC, while the management could rest with the University, either through the University Press or apart from it altogether

It is recognized that one of the major problems to be met is that of supplying the physical space needed storing and handling. We suggest that the University allot between five and ten thousand dollars for an addition to the present bookstore. In this way nearly all students' textbook requirements could be filled from one central spot on the campus.

The expenditure of ten thousand dollars in this way would result in the alleviation of the Library's burden, which is heavier now than present allocations from the University can adequately lighten. It would take a heavy financial burden off many students, and it should certainly take a load off the minds of University officials.

COMING EVENTS

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB
The next social of our club will be held on Friday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. at the Women's Union, 79 St. George St.

✣ ✣ ✣

NISEI STUDENTS
There will be a meeting of the Nisei Students Club Nov. 19, 8:00 p.m., 23 Grange Road. (University Settlement House). Two vacant positions on the executive must be filled so all members are asked to be present. After the meeting there will be a social, with a floor show by the fellows of S.P.S.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC V.C.F.
Rev. D. H. MacLennan of Hamilton will conduct a series of noon hour talks commencing Tues. 22 to Friday 25 at 1:20 in the Chapel.

✣ ✣ ✣

TRINITY COLLEGE ARTS AND LETTERS CLUB
Etorre Mazellini, the Principal of the Royal Conservatory of Music, is speaking to the club on, 'Originality and the Composer' at the meeting to be held next Monday, Nov. 21st, at 4:00 p.m. in the College Board Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

CANTERBURY CLUB
The second Communion and Breakfast will be held Sunday, Nov. 20 at 8:00 a.m. The speaker will be Archdeacon Wilkinson on "The Church in India' All Anglican students welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

LIBERAL ARTS CLUB
Come to our Open Meeting with Mayor Moore as guest speaker. Tuesday, Nov. 22nd; Wymilwood at 8.15 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

UNIVERSITY GERMAN CLUB
The next meeting of the University German Club will take place on Nov. 24, at 8:00 p.m., in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's College. The programme will include a marionnette show and folk-dancing. All students interested in German are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORDS
The program of the Carnegie Record Hour for tomorrow will be Bach, Mass in B minor, part two, with the London Philharmonic Choir; Balfour, Schuman, Widdop, Scherr; soloists; Eric Coates, conductor.

✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. BADMINTON CLUB
Drill will NOT be available for badminton Wednesday or Thursday afternoons this week.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION
The monthly meeting of the organization will be held to-day at 5 o'clock in the Blue-room, Wymilwood.

RCAF NEWS

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants—FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER men due to graduate in '53, '54, or '55 from Architec., Lib., Sch., Meds, OCE, or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3, preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.) EVERY undergrad who wishes to join the University Flight and was NOT at meeting in Engineering Building Wednesday night should call promptly at RCAF Orderly Room 119 St. George St. APPLICATIONS CLOSE NOON SATURDAY, 19th NOVEMBER.

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L. Information and application forms for eligible veterans are available at RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. "First come, first served."

S.A.C. BULLETIN

TORONTONENSIS

Meeting today of all Torontonensis reps at 119 St. George St. — 5 p.m.

University of Toronto Symphony Orchestra
Rehearsal Sunday night, 8 p.m. — Convocation Hall

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

COLOR SHOW
The second Color Show will take place in the Club Rooms today at 1.20 p.m. Johannus Holmboe will present a series of slides taken in Norway and Sweden.

TALK IN ART GALLERY
Mr. Bertram Brooker will give a talk on his present exhibition of oil and water color abstract paintings in the art gallery at 1.30 p.m. today. All members are cordially invited to attend.

NOON HOUR ADDRESS
Rev. S. S. Selvaratnam will speak today at 1.30 in the Debates Room. His subject will be "An Indian's View of the Personal Religious Life." All members will be welcome.

LIBRARY EVENING
Professor Keith Feiling of the Department of History will be the speaker for the second Library Evening of the year, which will be held tonight at 7.30 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Professor Feiling will speak on "Biography and Biographers." All members are invited to be present.

BRIDGE
The Hart House Bridge Club will meet this evening at 7.15 in the Map Room.

ARCHERY
There will be a shoot in the range tonight at 7.30 o'clock.

ART CLASS
The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 this evening.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT
A limited number of single tickets for the concert on Sunday evening next will be available at the Hall Porter's desk at noon today. The programme for this concert will be presented by Dr. Robert Gr: am, violinist.

THE VARSITY

Thursday, November 17, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Trip To NY Visit To UN IRC Project

Sixty-five Varsity students will visit the United Nations at Lake Success on Friday morning and at Flushing Meadows on Saturday. These representatives of the International Relations Club will watch the Security Council of the U.N. in action at Lake Success and the General Assembly at Flushing Meadows. They will also hear debates, committees, and meet delegates during their weekend visit to New York.

An IRC official expressed the hope that the group will be entertained by various councils and at International House on Saturday evening. However, this has not been confirmed.

Last year the IRC sponsored a trip to Ottawa, where the students met government personnel. One of these was External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, who is now a Canadian delegate to the U.N.

Forty-five of the students will meet in the Union Station tonight at 9:00 DST, and twenty will be driving. The women will stay at the Martha Washington Hotel and the men at the YMCA. They will return to Toronto on Sunday evening.

Europe Weekend Features Culture At Newman Club

The European Catholic Cultural Exhibition will be open Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 19th and 20th at Newman Club, 89 St. George St.

This exhibition, open to the public from 2 to 5 both days, is sponsored by the International Group of Newman Club. Its theme is the demonstration of the bond between countries on both sides of the Atlantic, beyond national barriers.

The patrons are James Cardinal McGuigan, President Sidney Smith, and The Most Reverend Isidore Boreckey, bishop of the Ukrainian Catholic Diocese of Eastern Canada.

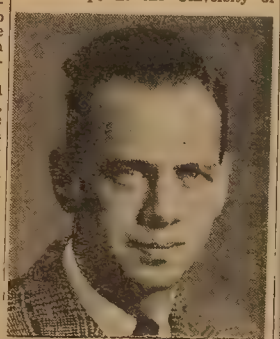
The Exhibition is part of a larger "European Week-End" for members of Newman Club. This includes a dance Saturday evening for members of Newman Club and their guests. Folk-dances of Lithuania, Scotland, Hungary, and Latvia will be featured, in which all may participate.

On exhibition will be displays of items from Canada, Ireland, Scotland, Lithuania, the Ukraine, Hungary, Latvia, France, Slovenia, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia. These include handicrafts such as wood carding, jewellery, leather work, and a collection of valuable Hungarian paintings.

As part of the special week-end there will be Mass in the Newman Chapel, followed by Communion Breakfast in the Club, at which the Cardinal will speak.

Sunday evening at 9 o'clock there will be a closing concert, which will feature such artists as Pierre Boutet, the Masaryk trio, and a Slovene choir of eight men.

Feethy Peectures

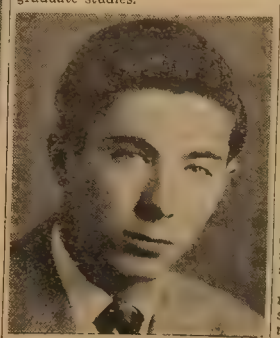


—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade.

The Character known as Bucket O'Slops tries to sell dirty postcards to a pretty lady. Margaret Bronson and Gordon Gibson in a scene from Robertson Davies' FORTUNE MY FOE which opens at Hart House Theatre Saturday, Nov. 26, under the direction of Robert Gill. Box Office opens today.

Forestry Students Win Scholarships To Encourage Entomological Research

John Anderson, of Toronto, and Kenneth Elliott, of Peterborough, both III Forestry, have been awarded Forest Industries entomological scholarships at the University of Toronto, President Sidney Smith announced.



K. R. ELLIOTT

The Forest Insects Control Board got the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, the Canadian Lumberman's Association, the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association, and the British Columbia Loggers' Association to provide the scholarships to encourage undergraduates to engage in forest entomological work. This is the third session in which the awards have been made here.

Anderson served in the Canadian Navy before entering Forestry. During the summers he has been employed by the Dominion Department of Agriculture on field studies in connection with problems on spruce budworm in the Sioux Lookout and Rainy River districts.

Elliott entered the Faculty of Forestry after serving in the R. C. A. F. He too was employed by the Dominion on spruce budworm in the Lake Kipawa region of Quebec and in the Red Lake district of Ontario.

Both hope to carry on post-graduate studies.

J. M. ANDERSON

Lessons Sole Way To Stop Prejudice, Dissension - Tatham

With over thirty national and cultural groups in the city and its schools, there is a great tendency toward racial, religious, and sometimes worse — cultural and economic — prejudice and conflict, Professor G. Tatham of the Geography department commented before the Anthropology Club, Tuesday. "Only by welcoming cultural pluralism, allowing foreigners to contribute their variety of culture and allowing it to appear can progress be made," he added.

Professor Tatham has done a great deal of work in intercultural relations and cited numerous illustrations of experiments in various schools to reduce prejudice through comprehensive projects that the different age levels can understand.

Learn Independence

In the primary and nursery school groups, children learn prejudice quickly. Thus in this age level, the children should be introduced to a democratic atmosphere in their schools. They should be taught to handle their own affairs, the basic rules of behavior, and how to be independent by learning how to do things for themselves. In addition, a process of selective story-telling should be used to build up a defence against prejudice early in life. Also children in this age group should learn to understand secular and religious celebrations by having the child who celebrates them explain the meaning to the other children.

Courtesy Necessary

Intermediate age groups should learn primarily the elements of courtesy and good manners. Specifically, essays and projects on different religions and prejudicial problems in their city can be introduced in English or History courses. He cited as examples — doing an essay on religion by going to a minister personally for information. Thus the children will be learning a lesson and will also be helped with their homework; or the children can be shown the universality of music by demonstrating the many songs of different nations and cultures.

Teach Democracy

On the Junior High School level the students could be given a project such as writing an essay about a recent immigrant and the problems he encounters. Thus the student can learn in a symbolic manner the problems behind people comprehensively. In the Senior High School level, the problem of prejudice can be presented openly by teaching the meaning of democracy and discussing whether Canada is a democrary. "Prejudice can be attacked in any subject," Taitham said. He noted that science should be understood to have been developed by the contributions of all groups. In addition the stuents should be given an opportunity to learn democratic processes through student councils, and could exchange ideas with their parents on various social and prejudicial issues.

Of course the co-operation of the teachers is the most important factor in such a program of intercultural relations, Tatham emphasized.

Eight Characteristics

Generally speaking, Prof. Taitham presented eight basic democratic characteristics on which the philosophy of inter-cultural relations is based. They include a broad concern of the people for civil liberties and the willingness to fight for them, an appeal to reason and not force in solving national problems, training people to use their leisure time constructively, which can lead to learning much from other people. He also mentioned that there should be cultural and economic co-operation, and an ability amongst people to defend themselves against propaganda by an understanding of social structure and democratic responsibility.

Open Book-store To Be Department With Staff Board

Montreal—(CUP)—A book store operating as a university department will be opened in time for the 1950-51 session, S. H. Dobell, comptroller and assistant to the principal of McGill University, has announced. Any profits arising from the business will be used directly for the benefit of the student body.

A managing board will be set up to consist of the book-store manager, the Students' Society president, three members of the faculty and the comptroller. Final plans will be laid down by the managing board. University officials decided the book store should be operated as a university department rather than as a students' co-operative for two main reasons. "The yearly turn-over of personnel of student executive bodies unavoidably precludes that continuity of knowledge and supervision which is so desirable."

"Furthermore, a student group is not in as good a position as university authorities to deal with chairmen of departments and with publishers in matter of ordering numbers and titles of textbooks that will be required," said Mr. Dobell. "Student representation will interpret the views of the student body to the managing board."

Present details are preliminary information only; final plans are to be laid by the managing board.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

NURSING I.V.C.F.

School of Nursing I.V.C.F., Post and Undergrad regular joint meeting. Mr. Wm. Pape will speak on Missionary Life on the Burma Road. Meds are invited. Thurs. Nov. 17, 12:45-1:30 in the Annex.

❖ ❖ ❖

MEDICAL ARTS AND LETTERS CLUB

A meeting of the Medical Arts and Letters Club will be held in the Banting Institute at 5 o'clock on Thursday, Nov. 17. Mr. J. E. Eberle, IV St. Michael's, will speak on "Inside Europe." Mr. Eberle was one of our representatives at the Second International Summer Seminar of the I.S.S. at Breda, Holland during the past summer.

UNIVERSITY BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP

The opening meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Canadian School of Missions, 97 St. George St. Rev. T. B. McDormand, Editor of the "Canadian Baptist," will speak on "The Baptist Principle of Independence."

❖ ❖ ❖

CHRITIANITY AND MATHEMATICS

This week's forum will be conducted by Dr. John Coleman in R.22, Vic. at 4:00 p.m. Please note change in topic.

❖ ❖ ❖

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

Archaeology night will be held at the Women's Union tonight at 8:00 p.m.

❖ ❖ ❖

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The regular meeting of the E.C.F. will be held to-day in Room 326 of the New Mechanical Building at 1:15. Study: I John I. All welcome.

ISS At Work

Hollywood Gives DP DT's

By MARGARET WORLD

If, after years of High School rugby games, Varsity men still get a thrill out of cartwheeling cheerleaders, they can imagine the excitement of Miloslav Pechan, who has seen them for the first time in his fourth year of university. Milo-slav, who arrived here from Europe last fall on the ISS exchange student plan, explains that cheerleaders and pep rallies are unknown entities over there. People, he says, get so excited in watching any kind of game that they don't need these attention-raising devices.

Milo-slav, who is in IV C & F at St. Mike's, arrived in Halifax on September 7, expecting to find Canada full of thrills. The only event of his Trans-Atlantic trip was a Hollywood movie in which he found the English hard to understand. He is somewhat reassured to find that we sometimes share his difficulty. He travelled to Toronto via Montreal and Ottawa. He likes Canadians, finding them kind and interested in his experiences and ideas. The Toronto campus is like any other in any part of the world, but he particularly likes the Varsity song, feeling that it creates a school spirit in itself.

Works Hard

Milo regrets that he is unable to take part in many campus activities, but his time is pretty well taken up with combining third and fourth year C & F. In Czechoslovakia he took a Law course which was a combination of Law and Finance.

The opportunity to study in Canada came through an organization for aiding displaced persons to which Milo belonged in Germany. He was one of those who applied for the scholarships offered to European students to study in Canada. And, lucky man, he was chosen to enter Canada's finest university.

Money and Politics

Milo's comment on the opinion that Canadians and particularly students are too optimistic about the present state of world affairs was that it all depends on how you are brought up. America, he said, is primarily concerned with making money, whereas Europe is mostly concerned with making politics. This obsession with politics gives the governments more control over the life of the individual. Canada, in Milo's opinion, is more practical.

Milo and his fellow exchange students are an example of what your ISS can do. They have the opportunity to start life afresh in free Canada. And it is these little things that make a success of big things like the United Nations.

Evangeline

"Lucky 7" Sale!

Thursday – Friday – Saturday

SPECIAL PRICE REDUCTIONS BRING YOU GENUINE BARGAINS IN REGULAR EVANGELINE MERCHANDISE

Buy for Yourself and for Gifts Now!

REGULAR $1.85

First Quality Nylon Stockings

Glamourous, sheer stockings in perfect quality, 51 gauge nylon with fine hair-line dark seams. New shades that are flattering to wear with all the fall and winter colours. $1.47

Tender Beige—Cocoa Frappé—Taupesheen—Sizes 8½ to 11

Our Regular 59c

Rayon Panties

47c

Good-fitting, rayon briefs made of long-wearing, run-resistant knitted rayon. Sizes small, medium and large in white only.

Our Regular $2.98

Lace Trimmed Slips

$2.47

Well-proportioned, sleek-fitting, bias-cut slips made of fine quality satin and lavishly trimmed with imported French lace both top and hem. Sizes 32 to 38 in white only.

NEW AND LOVELY

"Petaldown" Print Housecoats

Pretty, flowered petaldown housecoats in both zippered and wraparound styles. Nicely made with well-cut shoulders, long sleeves and self tie. Black, royal, fuchsia and powder in sizes 14 to 20. $6.47

Our Regular $3.98

RASCHEL KNIT "LASTEX"

Girdles

$3.47

Wonderful, wisp-weight girdles in the popular Raschel knit "Lastex", designed for young figure control. Available in white and tea rose in sizes small, medium and large.

Our Regular $3.98

PRINTED SPUN RAYON

Pyjamas

$2.87

Pretty, flowered pyjamas in pastel shades of spun rayon that will wash and wear well. Sizes small, medium and large in powder, rose and maize.

Sorry—NO MAIL ORDERS

UPTOWN STORES OPEN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TILL 9 P.M.

Evangeline

• 113 Yonge at Adelaide
• 751 Yonge at Bloor
• 1458 Yonge at St. Clair
• 3414 Yonge at City Limits
• 444 Eglinton W. at Castleknock
• 656 Danforth at Pape
• 62A Bloor at Bay

OTTAWA • BROCKVILLE • LONDON • HAMILTON • GUELPH • ST. CATHARINES

Our Readers Write

International Students' Day

Editor, The Varsity:

The students have always been found in the first lines in the struggle for freedom, liberty, and essential human rights. The student youth has been the chain between the nations to help in international understanding. The mentality of all students the world over has been nearly the same. Their common interest, their common sense for right and good have been the basis for building the better future of tomorrow.

In the last war the students of the democracies made great contributions to the victory of justice and freedom. They condemned the barbarism of Nazis and Fascist enemies. They protested against the violation of every human right, against persecution and executions of European students, against the closing of the Universities. They promised to fight for the victory, and for human order in the world. They put essential principles in the constitution of the international students' organization founded during the last war.

They proclaimed November 17 to be the international students' day—the day of the Nazis' purge against the Czech universities in 1939. This student movement arose in the battles and blood of war. Students were dieing in the hope that there would be peace, freedom, and respect for the ideals they fought for. The others swore to guard the human rights and to live and work for them. There is only one truth and one good and one right.

But the International Union of Students failed a few years after the war. It was intoxicated by the communist doctrine of certain deleagtions, which betrayed the very principles up on which it was founded. The democratic delegations left the IUS which today represents only the Communist doctrines. Perhaps we could ask why this is so. It is because the students in the last war didn't die to replace one kind of terror with another.

In all the states where they seized power with violence, the Communists started a new terror and violation. Their tactics have been the same in all countries, working according to a schedule of party doctrine. You can learn by observation and experience that it is exactly the same in Bulgaria, Hungary, Rumania, Poland, Jugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia. But let us speak the facts.

In Czechoslovakia after the violent change of government by revolution in February, 1948, the student organizations where the democratic students by free elections had the majority of about 89% were abolished and replaced by nominated "Action Committees."

The communist police and militia were shooting into the students; they were beaten, many of them arrested. The universities were occupied by police. The "politically unreliable" professors and students expelled from the universities. Up to today, about 8,000-10,000 students, and 150 staff members have been excluded. Newcomers are obliged to pass special political screening. They are required to present a certificate of "good political conduct" issued by the party appointee in the house, local "action committee", or Communist youth organization. Not knowledge but political orthodoxy is decisive.

Political doctrine replaces sci-

(Continued on Page 6)

TODAY Is The Day!!

OPUS '49 DANCE

Casa Loma, Benny Louis Orchestra
$2.50 per couple Nov. 17, 1949
Dancing 9-1 Dress Optional

TICKETS at S.A.C. Hart House and Royal Conservatory

"WINNER and still CHAMP"

10 years in a row, ALPACAMA's come out on top! ALPACAMA takes a strangle hold on cold winter weather. Slip on a really warm, smartly styled ALPACAMA . . . masterfully tailored, mothproof, showerproof, an outstanding value at

THE GENUINE ALPACAMA

$45.

ALPACAMA

Canada's Most Famous Coat

At Leading Stores From Coast-to-Coast

*REG. CAN. PAT. OFF.

Has Everything

(Continued from Page 1)

arch it was headed right for us.

A couple of our sappers had lighted our smoke bomb in the archway, but in this wind it wasn't doing us a bit of good. Eggs were everywhere, flying in both directions, and at such close range they were finding their marks.

Then it happened. The front line reached the narrow gateway, and stopped. The rear ranks piled up and that horrible smoke was all around us. At this moment, Dave Fry, (Sophomore strategic officer) up in the high tower dumped over two garbage cans full of cold water, and from the other floors came all manner of refuse, including potato peelings, coffee grounds and rotten fruit. The holocaust was complete, for we were now a seething mass of coughing, choking humanity. The gas was overpowering, we couldn't stay there, some moved back, and took another run.

This aided those in front to move foreward, and a final surge started just as the whistle blew. The fight was over, but who were the winners?

Freshman Commander Linklater and one other commando had gotten through, but alas, none of the cae bearer had.

This meant that the Sophomores had again won the 'game.' Most of the attackers, at this point, were too overcome with chemical gas to care, and rumors started that one side had not complied with the rules by using sodium or phosphorus in their bombs. One lad had chemical burns, but both sides had used chemicals; it has not been ascertained which side is guilty—but what ever it was that combined to make that stench it was sure effective.

As a result most Trinity men and especially those in first year will be sporting bad coughs for a few days.

The awful mess that was now to be cleaned up by the losers was indescribable, but the undignified job was delayed momentarily by the arrival of 4 fire engines. Someone had sent in an alarm, having spotted smoke pouring out of Trinity College! What an anti-climax; as if there wasn't enough excitement already. The firemen had to content themselves by spraying a few hundred gallons of water on a pile of leaves that had been burning all day near philosopher's walk, and despite pleas from Bradshaw, Carson and some of the other cleanup men they just would not wash out the archway.

All members of both sides then repaired to the showers and later sat down together to a sumptuous Athletic dinner.

Readers Write

Cannoneer Comments

The Editor, The Varsity;

By the beards of our engineering ancestors, who is this co-called Skule man who dares to castigate those little gems of female pulchritude who trod our campus?

Yes, Ajax spirit is strong in Skule, and Skule is strong in Varsity, but Mr. Nelson must be weak in the head — or perhaps his eyes bother him.

As Director of Cultural Activities in Skule it is my duty to voice the protests of the Lady Godiva Memorial Band and the Ancient and Honourable Company of Skule Cannoneers, and wish upon Mr. Nelson a life of bachelor-hood.

Paul LaPrairie,
Director of Cultural Activities,
Chief Cannoneer,
Bass Drum, L.G.M.B.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

U.C., it's this way...

Greetings, gates and gals. Well, the Follies, with its weeks of rehearsals, script-writing, publicity and set-building, is all over and a hearty vote of thanks was passed by the Lit and W.U.A. at Tuesday's joint executive meeting to all who took part in making the show the terrific success it was.

By the way, we thought it was far from "indifferent" as The Varsity said. The chorus lines showed their stuff very well at the 10:30 show Friday which we attended and special kudos go to the Bloomer Chorus for a really swell effort. They deserved the spontaneous applause they received.

High marks also go to John Bull and Jane Young for their music and directing choices. The skit directors, come in for a pat on the back for producing clean skits of very high quality. (It's a hard thing to do.)

More than 2,400 people saw the show and Saturday night especially they were packin' them in the aisles. Regrettably, the show lost money, mainly due to the poor attendance at the early and late shows and dance Friday night.

News of the Follies CAST PARTY is filtering into party headquarters in the Lit Office slowly. John Bull made tentative arrangements to rent the J.C.R. next Monday night. Watch for further announcements. It's going to be a great party (Roo-dee-doo). The social directors have decided to make it a cast only affair. Single tickets may be picked up today and Friday, 12 till 2 in the rotunda.

Speaking of parties, there's going to be a big one when the Lit and W.U.A. start discussing amalgamation. Don Evans and his committee have prepared their report but so far it is secret stuff. Our spies in the W.U.A. however tell us that the report will be aired at their Open Meeting, next Wednesday, Nov. 23, at 4 o'clock in the Women's Union Theatre. If the report is passed, they say, the W.U.A. will dissolve itself and become part of the Lit.

This W.U.A. Open Meeting is important for a couple of other reasons too. Nominations for the S.A.C. rep for 50-51 will take place. If you haven't heard, those efficient women elect their council rep in the Fall so she (lucky girl) can sit in on S.A.C. meetings for part of the year to get some experience.

A career forum will also be held featuring talks by Ruth Wells on Travel and Publicity, and by June Dennis on the subject, People, What They Are Doing. By the way, what ARE they doing? It sounds interesting.

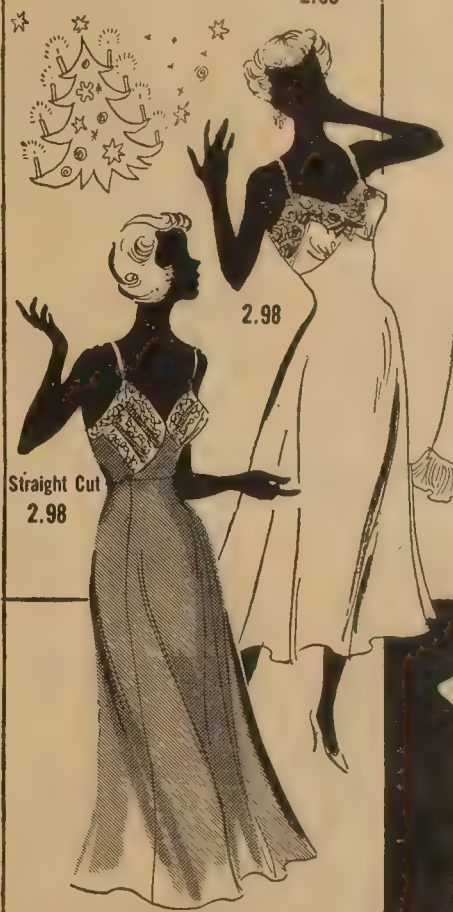
Wake up there, old man, we're through with the W.U.A. now. Hockey practices for U.C. at Varsity Arena will be held Friday, 4-5, Tuesday, 1-2:45, and a week from tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 25, 4:30 to 5:30. The teams haven't been picked yet so lace on your figure skates and come on out!

Ugly rumors have been circulating the college to the effect that the Arts Ball may be formed this year. It is up to the Open Lit Meeting, next Nov. 22, to decide. Certain members of the executive have signified their intention of raising the issue so it should be a pretty lively meeting. Lit Director Bob Sutherland has promised us a few other attractions such as the filming of the theft of the Skule Cannon. And don't forget the gratis food and cigs. As they said in the Follies—Why not attend the Open Meetings, you paid for them.

A short concluding note to the victims of John Palmer—Torontonensis Biography cards were supposed to be in the letter box of the Lit Office (women too) by last Tuesday. The new deadline is Friday, (and that's final).

Apologies to the clubs of U.C. for neglecting them in the past couple of weeks. Will be on our mettle (just call me Steelskull) from now on.

Oh, don't forget the Christmas Party, Dec. 9, Women's Union, Second Year Party, Dec. 2. Same place and, above all, the Arts Ball, Feb. 3. The Arts Ball date was changed from the 10th to the 3rd at Tuesday's joint executive meeting to avoid conflict with the All-Varsity Revue.



As always,

Bill Francis,
Lit Publicity Director.

SLIPS – low priced yet luxurious

To Wear Now...To Give at Christmas...

A Lot of Value for a Little Money ... only $2.98. This bias cut satin beauty has a deep frosting of delicate lace with ribbon drawn through to glorify the bodice. The hem is double stitched, the satin is extra fine quality. 32 - 40. White only—and only..... 2.98

2.98

Straight Cut 2.98

Virginia Dare

Reduced to $3.98 . . . A lovely Lee Stock Original. It's a rich satin beauty, lavished with French galoon lace. The top is carefully roll-edged, the hemline has a fine flourish of pleated ruffles. It was a luxury slip at $4.98... but NOW you pay less... it's a wonderful buy and makes a wonderful Xmas gift. 32 - 38 - White satin, bias cut. NEW LOW PRICE. 3.98

Satin Beauty 3.98

3.98

Pretty, Practical, and at a Very Low Price . . . Enjoy the luxury of a slip in delicious pastel shades of Pink, Blue, Yellow and frosty White. It won't ride up because the skirt is cut in straight panels. Of fine crepe with romantic lace inserts on the moulded bodice—double stitched seams and hem—buy them now for Xmas gifts. 32 - 40 - only..... 2.98

Virginia Dare

MAIL ORDERS—A personal service for your convenience. Send color preference (first and second choice) and money order to 146 Yonge Street, Toronto.

A STORE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Detailed with that Hand-Done Look. It's another Lee Stock Original Design. And it looks luxuriously expensive with saddle stitching on the three embroidered bodice pleats. Framed with delicate lace on the bodice and at the hemline. In luscious white crepe—bias cut. 32 - 40. 3.98

GRADS ★ Hart House Friday, Dec. 2 Semi-Formal ★

THE DANCE EVENT OF THE YEAR

Mart Kenny playing

★ Tickets on Sale NOW at the 44 Hoskin ★ GRADS

$3.00 PER COUPLE TICKETS LIMITED

(Advertisement)

Art - Music - Drama

Bertram Brooker

The Hart House exhibit of Bertram Brooker's paintings displays the wide range of that artist's abilities, generally concentrated on the representation of the vegetable kingdom. Varying his technique from the natural reflection of the object to simple patter, he provides both entertainment and perplexity.

His treatment of foliage can be natural, or it can move towards geometric pattern, as with "Leaf Sonata" and "Petals". This is most effective work. The subject is clear, but a sense of movement passes through the whole. This rhythm takes complete control at times. "Petal Forms" is a collection of forms, and forms alone. It is the active, surging strength of line and colour contrasts that give the piece value and make it palatable. This part of the exhibition is, essentially, attractive.

On another tangent, he passes into pure symbolism. "Willow Stump" is clear and straightforward, and we suspect that it has "meaning" — just what, we are not sure. Yet we admired the work. But that admiration faded somewhat with the sight of "Rising Forms" and "Glad Morning". These are richly coloured, strongly outlined, informal patterns. "Enigma" is in the same trend, and this title summed up the group.

Less obscure, but less attractive, is the cruder technique of "Jar and Apples". The harshly outlined forms, lacking the true proportion and solidity usually attached to such subjects, seem to be jumbled onto the canvas without any pretense at order.

Mr. Brooker's use of contrast in light and shade is careful and gratifying, but the monotones are much more appealing than the colour contrasts which frequently seem unpleasantly forceful. His technique is varied and sure. This is a master of his medium, whether it be water colour or oil — and the water colours are particularly delicate. It is only in his conception of the abstract that he sometimes makes us wonder, but where he is offering grace and pleasure in his work we are well satisfied.

Graydon Bell.

\+ + +

"Knock"

While "Knock" embodies the fundamental doctrines of a social philosophy and a literary theory, it does not lose those qualities proper to dramatic presentation and degenerate into a mere expression of an abstract idea. That is not to say that the idea contained in the play, the unification of a social group into "l'ame collective", is of no significance.

It is, on the contrary, of the greatest importance in appreciating what lies behind the piece, but Jules Romains, dramatist and philosopher at the same time, takes time to develop his characters and plot as well as his idea at an even pace. One is not allowed to lag behind the others, and as a result "Knock" emerges as a play of great dramatic vitality, humor, and psychological interest.

It is the study of the credulity of mankind in general, and the gullibility of one particular social group. By exaggerating the most salient traits of the play's central figure, and making the action evolve from the character's idiosyncracies, Romains hearkens back to Moliere and turns "Knock" into the mainstream of traditional French comedy as a serious farce. He ties in, however, the theme of the dynamic effect of an individual whose conscious will reorganizes the environment upon which it enacts. In this case the individual is a shrewd charlatan named Dr. Knock, who exploits the weaknesses and gullibility of the inhabitants of a small French village, and assumes control by creating through his own effort and unanimistic mind within his environment.

The harbinger of the Great God Medicine, Knock arrives in Saint-Maurice and proceeds to unify the villagers into one collective soul. He enlists the assistance of the local druggist and a simple-minded schoolmaster. In a matter of a few months the worship of the medical deity has penetrated every house in the village and the surrounding countryside. The current let loose by the master-mind sweeps up the existence of every individual. Its force is irresistible, and only when we realize that Dr. Knock himself is caught in the turmoil does the play present a sinister twist. Bathed in the green rays of "la lumiere Medicale" as he points with pride to his conquered domain, he assumes the posture of a fanatic, diabolical in his power and influence. Nevertheless, he commands a certain respect and remains triumphant before the eyes of the spectator.

Arnold Baxter.

David Ouchterlony

Last evening in Eaton Auditorium David Ouchterlony, Toronto organist, presented the second Casavant Organ Musicale. His was a recital of varied interest, which indeed it proved to be, for rarely does an artist successfully exceed the demands of the composer, but this was Mr. Ouchterlony's achievement.

The Liszt Fantasia and Fugue on the Chorale "Ad Nos, Ad Salutarem Undam," intriguing in its unorthodox character, took up the first part of the program. "Portraying the chorale theme in an astonishing number of moods," it became at times almost haunting under the phenomenal treatment of Mr. Ouchterlony. Leggiero and maestoso, legato and staccato, adagio and allegro—all had a rendezvous here and never seemed confounded as to time and place.

Bach's "Fantasia and Fugue in A minor", Max Reger's lovely "Benedictus" and the "Toccatina for Flutes" of Pietro Yon, all had something to say, but long after the Vierne's "Cloches de Hinckley" thundered the evening to a close, both audience and organ seemed to be left dazzled by Mr. Ouchterlony's display of pedal wizardry in Flor Peeters' "Air with Variations" for pedals alone. What more could be expected of mortal genius?

Although primarily a church organist, Mr. Ouchterlony does well in the concert field dispite an incessant use of the crescendo pedal and a piano-like technique with the expression boxes. The rich field of organ music will ever find a haven in his soul.

Assisting in the program was the Leaside High School Choir, directed by Evelyn Wharram. They might well be lauded for such strong points as clarity of tone and enunciation, but just as well denounced for poor balance and a tendency to flatten, due in part to an over-abundance of male volume. Their mixed program of modern, folk and spiritual songs was sympathetically accompanied by Mrs. Williams, and greatly contributed to achieving the satisfaction evinced by the large audience.

Kenneth Davis

Our Readers Write

(Continued from Page 4)

ence; freedom is replaced by party dictatorship. Political booklets replace literature. Censorship of everything — art, music, religion, science, and even private life, takes place. The same is going on in the High Schools. The "politically unreliable" are transferred to camps of forced labour, mines, etc., for education in the "new freedom."

Hundreds of students are starving in the prisons. Many were executed for "high treason". About a thousand Czech students have been in exile. Thousands of others from countries behind the Iron Curtain are dispersed all over the world.

Answer for yourselves who is the traitor. Who betrayed? Who betrayed the principles for which the students died and suffered in the last war? Who betrayed the principles of the students' constitution?

IUS will probably "celebrate" November 17; they will dare to speak about freedom. But the principles are unchangeable and we hope that the students and all people in the western Democracies did not lose their sense of what is good and what is right.

Remember the communists are calling for democratic principles for themselves until they are strong enough to take the power.

J. S.

Ed. Note: The writer of the letter above is a Czech student now studying at the U. of T.

Lady Ellis

Why is Wool Jersey In "Grey Mix" So Popular?

Leaf through any fashion magazine. Look in the windows of any plush specialty shop. You'll see Wool Jersey separates everywhere in "Grey Mix." Why?—because it's new; it's exciting; it's perfect for day—or date-time. Mix or match these mates any way you like. Leave it to Lady Ellis to pare, prune, clip prices and give you this complete ensemble for

$13.96

WOOL JERSEY CARDIGAN BLOUSE $4.98

Grey Mix with stand-up stitched collar and matching cuffs—buttons open down front in cardigan style. Sizes: 12 to 18.

REPEAT OFFER!

WOOL JERSEY SKIRTS

in Grey or Beige Mix .....

$8.98

Light weight with unpressed pleats that drape over your figure in a flattering manner. Back zipper closing. Well-cut, well-finished, flawlessly tailored. Sizes 12 to 18.

Lady Ellis Shops LIMITED

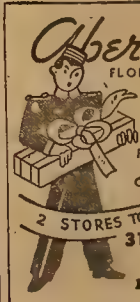
VIC

OPEN MEETING

TODAY 1 P.M. CHAPEL

Will the At-Home Be Formal?

GRAD STUDIES



Music Night at the Graduate Lounge,

Thursday, Nov. 17 — 8:15 p.m.

All graduate students and friends invited

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered

FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

2 STORES TO SERVE YOU

31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495

1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

BOX OFFICE OPENS TODAY

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

FORTUNE MY FOE

Directed by Robert Gill

SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

SATURDAY, NOV. 26th TO SATURDAY, DEC. 3

TWO TICKETS ONLY ON EACH A.T.L. CARD

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL - UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY 10 - 6

ENGLISH RUGBY

Team picture will be taken on Saturday, Nov. 19th, at 1.45. All team members are asked to meet at Hart House for this picture, before the game.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TEAM PICTURES

Team pictures will be taken of the following teams:

SR. & INT. SOCCER	1.00 P.M.	Monday, Nov. 21st
SR. FOOTBALL	1.20 P.M.	Tuesday, Nov. 22nd
SR. TRACK & SR. HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Wed., Nov. 23rd
INT. TRACK & HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Thursday, Nov. 24th

Will all team members make an effort to be present at the time noted, in UNIFORM. Report to Athletic Office in Hart House, or to the Manager.

SOCCER PLAYOFFS

GROUP PLAYOFFS (if necessary)

Mon., Nov. 21 South 3.00 Pre-Med vs Wyc ..... Reed
North 3.00 Sr. SPS vs Sr. Vic ..... Barton

N.B.—The regular league game between Sr. SPS and Sr. Vic will be played on Fri., Nov. 18, at 4.00 on Trinity Field.

Playoffs

(1) Tues., Nov. 22 North 3.00 Sr. Med vs Trin II Emman or Knox Reed
(2) Wed., Nov. 23 North 3.00 Pre-Med or vs Sr. Vic or Wyc Montemurro
Sr. SPS
(3) Thur., Nov 24 North 3.00 Trin I vs Winner (1) ..... Reed
(4) Fri., Nov. 25 North 3.00 Jr. SPS vs Winner (2) ..... Barton
FINAL Tues., Nov. th 2. p.m. North Referee, Barton; Linesmen, Reed Montemurro

N.B.—If Sr. SPS wins against Sr. Vic, Sr. SPS and Sr. Med will be changed in schedule.

SPORT SCHEDULES — WEEK OF NOVEMBER 21st

VOLLEYBALL (Balance of schedule)

Mon.,	Nov. 21	1.00	Med I Yr	vs Sr. U.C.	Carr
		4.00	U.C. V	vs Emman	Edwards
Tues.,	22	1.00	SPS VI	vs St. M. C	Goodman
		4.00	St. M. A	vs SPS III	Kroll
		5.00	Pre-Med	vs Dent A	Kroll
		6.00	For. B	vs Law	Scott
		7.00	Knox	vs Wyc	Scott
		8.00	Trin A	vs U.C. III	Scott
Wed.,	24	1.00	Med II Yr	vs Jr. U.C.	Cohl
		6.30	SPS IV	vs St. M. B	Seunarine
		7.30	U.C. VI	vs Trin B	Seunarine
		8.30	SPS V	vs Pharm	Seunarine
Thur.,	25	1.00	Arch	vs Vic III	Brown
		5.00	SPS VI	vs Inst. Mgt	Edwards

HOCKEY—Free Practice reservations

Mon., Nov. 21	Tues., 22	Wed., 23	Thur., 24
8.00- 9.00 Dent
12.30- 1.30 Trin		8.00-10.00 SPS
1.30- 2.30 Vic	1.00- 2.45 U.C.	12.30- 1.30 Vic	9.00-10.00 SPS
4.00- 5.00 Med	2.45- 3.30 L. Mgt	1.30- 2.30 Law	12.30- 1.30 Trin
8.00-10.00 SPS	4.00- 5.00 Arch	4.00- 5.00 Knox

Fri., 25
8.00- 9.00 SPS
12.00- 2.00 Vic
4.30- 5.30 U.C.
6.30- 7.30 Forestry
8.00-10.00 Dent

SWIM LEAGUE PLAYOFFS

Mon., Nov. 21st—4.30 SPS II vs Inst. Mgt. ..... Hamilton, Shepherd
Semi-finals: Tues. Nov. 22 5.00 Winner Group I vs SPS II or Inst. Mgt Hamilton, Rosen
5.00 2nd in Group 1 vs Forestry Hamilton, Rosen

Final: Thur., Nov. 24 5.00 Rosen, Shepherd

SOCCER AND LACROSSE PLAYOFF SCHEDULES WILL BE PUBLISHED AS SOON AS KNOWN. WATCH FRIDAY'S & MONDAY'S "VARSITY"

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER	North	3.30	Sr. U.C.	vs Trin I	Barton
	South	4.00	Emman	vs Trin II	Leach
LACROSSE		1.00	Vic I	vs U.C. I	Prendergast, Stuckey
		4.00	Med III	vs St. M. C	Raymond, Phillips
		6.30	Med II	vs U.C. II	Chadwick, Phillips
		7.30	Inst. Mgt	vs Knox	Chadwick, Phillips
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Sr. SPS	vs Sr. Vic	Cohl
		4.00	For. B	vs Jr. U.C.	Kroll
		5.00	St. M. C	vs Inst. Mgt	Kroll
		6.00	Arch	vs Pharm	Kroll
		7.00	U.C. VI	vs St. M. B	Edwards
		8.00	Trin B	vs SPS IV	Edwards
SWIM LEAGUE		4.30	Trin	vs U.C. I	Rosen
		5.00	Vic I	vs SPS I	Rosen
		5.00	Dent	vs Med II	Rosen

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

WANTED

Passengers from Kingston Rd.-Birchmount district for 9 a.m. lectures. Return 5 p.m. Phone OX. 1997.

LOST

Blue Eversharp pen, Monday, 12-1, Museum Theatre. Will finder please phone HO. 7964.

FOR SALE

Suit of tails, good condition, $30.00. Phone MI. 7612.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability, non cancelable income. Premium $6.00 a month. HU. 1929.

FOR RENT

Comfortable bed-sitting room and kitchenette. Private entrance. Suitable for two students, $6.00 each. Phone HY 9865.

TYPIST

Manuscripts, Essays, Theses, Plays, etc. Phone HU. 4544.

BARGAIN

One black English serge dress topcoat, size 38, tall. Call evenings, HO. 3579.

"HARD TIMES"

Students' Dance at O.T. Huts at 6 Devonshire Place, Thursday, November 17, at 8 o'clock Come on men, it's FREE.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

LOST

Parker 51. Will party picking up same by mistake in West Hall Monday, 2-3, please return to S.A.C. office?

WANTED

Girls to act as baby-sitters during evenings. Earn while you study. Ph. GE. 6178 for details.

TYPING

Quickly and efficiently done. Reasonable rates. Phone GE. 6178.

LOST

Black kitten in vicinity of Dean's House, University College. Phone KI. 3313, last Monday night.

PERSONAL

Button, Button! Who's got an S.G Button? Everyone who is going to the Scarlet and Gold in Eaton Auditorium, Nov. 31, is getting an S.G. Button.

LOST

Parker '51 grey pen — Lost in Room 11, U.C. on Friday afternoon Nov. 11. Please leave at Women's S.A.C. office.

TENDERS WANTED

Fotogenic Female Fotographer for Grad Dance Dec. 2. Apply in writing to Allan Santo, Grad Union, 44 Hoskin.

SKATERS!

For sale—1 pair of black tube skates (girl's, size 8); 1 pair of white tube skates (size 7). Good condition, reasonable. Phone JO—Agincourt 1-W after 7.

FOR SALE

Two lamps, suitable for students' room. Wrought iron floor lamps, $5.00, and small black and silver table lamp, $2.00. Telephone, evenings 7-8, KI. 3809.

Vox Varsity

By JOHN LIVINGSTON

Tonight is Toronto's world premiere:—no, not Danny Kaye and Variety Village, but something just as terrific. It's your radio Committee's presentation of The Scarlet Letter by Nathaniel Hawthorne and adapted by Deirdre Haines.

This little opus will be aired over C.J.R.T.-F.M. tonight at 7.30 p.m. on 88.3 megacycles. We have been able to secure a nucleus of talented actors and actresses, and under the able direction of John Howe a first rate performance is promised.

This is the beginning of our weekly radio series, and to give these shows we must have scripts and more scripts. To do this your Radio Committee is announcing their script writing contest with the deadline slated for December 15. First prize will be $25 for the best original script and $15 as the second prize for the best adaptation. This doesn't mean that all types of scripts are not wanted — comedy shows, commentaries, discussions and musicals; in other words everything of interest to our radio audience can be entered.

Naturally all scripts become the property of the committee until the end of the radio season. The judges will be Robert Gill of local radio and stage fame, and Professor Bagnani of the University. So get busy, script writers and give the judges plenty of work to do during the Christmas holidays. More information will be announced next Thursday in this weekly column. Don't forget you have a date tonight at 7.30 with your radio and your favorite morris chair.

See you next week in Vox Varsity.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

JR. PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Junior Philosophy Club meeting at Croft Chapter House at 7:45 p.m., Thurs. Nov. 17. The subject will be "The Christian approach to Psychiatry," introduced by Prof. Fielding of Trinity College.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC SINGERS

The UC Singers will practice today from 4-6 p.m. in the Women's Union. Please note the change of time.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC PARLIAMENT

Resolved: that with the huge Liberal majority in Ottawa the country can expect five years' of autocratic, inefficient, government.

For the motion Politsky, Wetstein; Opposed: Medcof, Tinker. Junior Common Room 4 p.m.

BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP

REV. T. B. McDORMAND
(Editor of The Canadian Baptist)

will speak on

The Baptist Principle of Independence

Tonight Thur., Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Canadian School of Missions, 97 St. George St.

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!

GLADSTONE 3511

For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery

OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE

United-De Forest Cleaners • Dyers • Cold Storage

Your Nearest Branch 633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

UNITED NATIONS TRIP

All students going by train to the U.N. are asked to meet in the Union Station, (where the CPR New York train leaves) at 8:00 p.m. train time, 9:00 DST.

✣ ✣ ✣

BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP

The opening meeting of the University of Toronto Baptist Fellowship will be held at 8 p.m. at the Canadian School of Missions, 97 St. George St. Rev. T. B. McDormand will speak on "The Baptist Principle of Independence."

✣ ✣ ✣

V.C.S.U.

A meeting of the first year Victoria Church Students Union members and associates, will continue discussion of book on "Apostate Christendom" by Edis Fairbairn. Time: today at 2 p.m. Place: 77 Charles St. W.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE LIBRARY EVENING

Prof. Keith Feiling of the History Department will speak on "Biography and Biographers" at 7:30 in the Hart House Library.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORDS

Program for the Carnegie Record Hour today will be Bach, Mass in B Minor, part one, by the London Philharmonic Choir, Schumman, Balfour, Widdop, Schorr, soloists; Eric Coates, Conductor.

DON'T MAKE A MOVE!!

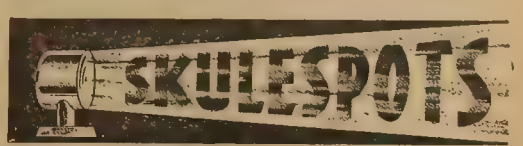
. . . Until you inspect the UNBELIEVABLY large selection of choicest IMPORTED GABARDINES, FLANNELS, COVERT CLOTHS, GLEN PLAIDS, etc. just waiting to be admired at the friendly, "five-minutes-from-the-campus" STAIRWAY SHOP of

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE STREET
Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. on the south side.
TROUSERS TAILORED IN JUST 5 DAYS FOR ONLY

$14.95

Ask Your Schoolmates About Us.



VIC FROSH

DON'T MISS YOUR

5T3 CLASS PARTY

NOVEMBER 18—8.30 p.m.—BURWASH HALL

There was a young girl from Wym'wood
Who didn't think that she should,
But the guy was so sly
That he convinced her to buy
The ticks for Inform, which was good.

Do you suffer from impecuniosity? Are you forced to vacuum your wallet out every two weeks, to remove the accumulation of dust? Well, here's your big chance to be a success and join the ranks of the idle rich. Transactions, the SPS Year Book needs a lot of advertising to offset the high cost of printing, and hizzoner Willie Walker has announced that a 5% commission will be given to anyone procuring such. In other words, for every $100 of advertising that you bring in, you receive the magnifico total of 'sank dollair' for your efforts. That kind of dough will keep you in ale for a long time, unless you are like a couple of characters I know.

The offer is made for a limited time only, until about three months from now, so dinna delay, get cracking and earn your keep.

On to the athletic doins' . . .

The boxing and wrestling classes are in full swing up at Hart House every afternoon now, but I haven't noticed more than a handful of Skulemen grunting, groaning, or battering Artsmen to a pulp. Boxing and wrestling are definitely two activities that our boys have dominated in past years, so why let the old faculty down now? You get excellent instruction, the competition is the usual poor Arts variety, points are liberally bestowed for "S" men. With a lineup of rewards like that, how can you refuse? Get up there now, and help collect a few more thousands of points for our Reed Trophy hunt. The football and soccer boys have been doing their parts well, aided by the boys in the other fields, so don't you shirk.

Well, the junior version of the potential Mulock Cuppers have another chance to make the big-time playoffs when they play St. Mike's tomorrow. The boys will definitely be 'Tigers' out there but that invaluable bit of support from the sidelines always reminds them that the rest of us are in there pitching, too. The Skule crowd has been plenty large in the past, but this time it has to be enormous. Get out there and liven it up for the kids, as they march right into the semis.

Hey, whatsa matter with the Third Year types? They seem to be the deadest bunch of clods to hit this Scarlet Sanctuary in years. Sure, a few of them are keen, and have really been doing their bit for the cause, but the majority seem to prefer to sit around and watch the goings-on, without making any effort to help. It seems to be the same answer from them, no matter where you look—Year Cards, Skule Nite Tickets, Athletics, any activity.

It's tough that the few who are working have to suffer the stigma of being included in a group of deadheads, but they can be proud of their efforts. Don't forget, chappies, a good proportion of you will be Seniors come 1950, and you'll have to be the leaders of this greaaaat organization. Jump in and get some practice in being a true-blue and through to the core Skuleman. There's still plenty of time left before the big slaughter, annually held round hyar about April time.

Did you happen to see the score of the lacrosse game last week? SPS whipped the top-dog UC squad 10-5. It's tough that they couldn't get untracked like that for almost the whole season, but I suppose that the victory is somewhat of a consolation. Oh well!

Morna,
BENNY.

Three Blue Gridders Make All-Star Firsts

Forestry Swamps Hapless Doctors By 23-0 Margin

The regular intramural football sked ended last night when Forestry rolled to a 23-0 victory over the winless Junior Meds crew. It was the sixth straight win for the "Big Green" as they scored touchdowns in every quarter save the first. Having finished in first place in group three they will meet either Vic or Senior Skule in the semi-sawoffs at Varsity Stadium Monday.

It was obvious from the start of the game that it would be only a question of how soon and by how much the Foresters would down the Meds. The superior line of the Greenshirts pushed the smaller Medsmen all over the field and opened gaping holes for the large plungers, Masterson and Austin.

Masterson Majors

After a scoreless first quarter in which Forestry had one touchdown called back, the team started to click and make use of their devastating ground attack. Paul Masterson (no relation of the other one) set up the first major with a sparkling 35 yard jaunt to the 30. On a cut-back Booth took it to the one, and Masterson rumbled over. Sid Sheldon converted.

Sheldon did most of the work for the next score as he ran a kick back for 30 yards after which Bell and Collict carried to the ten and then the most original play of the year was called. It might be called the step-ladder play, and is for use when a team has the ball on the opponent's one yard line. The deep back takes a direct snap, runs up to the line where one of his team-mates obligingly bends over and makes like a step-ladder. It didn't work this time but Vic or Sr. Skule had better watch out for it come the semi-finals Monday. After the failure of that play, Sheldon carried wide and went over; Sheldon also converted.

Clarke Catches

In the third session Dave Wilson of Meds made a few sparkling runs but his team's habit of throwing the ball into interceptors' arms detracted from the value of his gains. The prettiest TD came when Clarke of Forestry intercepted a pass with one hand and ran 50 yards for the score. Sheldon converted. Clarke snared the ball away above his head in basket-ball fashion.

A Sheldon to Clarke pass good for 40 yards to the Meds 20 set up the next TD. Phil Austin, king-sized plunger, slashed away and carried over from the ten. The game meant nothing to either team in the standings, and was exceptionally well-played.

Line-ups:

Forestry — Flying wing, Booth; halves, Masterson, Collict, Austin; quarter, Sheldon; snap, Dowsett; insides, Winters, Devries; middles, Magnus, Julian; outsides, Price, Clarke; alternates, Seeley, Nelson, Honeybourne, Armstrong, Hundt, Vernon, Deconkey, Beatty, Boake, Bell, McKay.

Junior Meds — Flying wing, Taylor; halves, Railton, Wilson, Mackenzie; quarter, Colwell; insides, Irwin, Armstrong; middles, Moran, McGilvray; outsides, Jones, Kilty; snap, Johnson; alternates, Worling, Asselstine, Colapinto, MacKenzie, Rundle, McIntyre, Kerr, Naiberg, Hiltz, Martin, Pace, Tench.

The Coach

Pictured above is a man who needs no introduction to Varsity hockey fans of a few years back. He is Wally Halder who has been elected senior intercollegiate coach of the 49-50 edition of the hockey blues. Wally starred for the Blues as well as Olympic and Major league teams before accepting the post at Toronto.

Unanimous For Mustard Brown And Danylchuk Are Among Select Team

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 16—(CUP)—Fraser "Moose" Mustard was the unanimous choice of the selectors of the 1949 Canadian University Press "Dream Team" for the position of middle on their squad. Dick Brown, sensational Varsity halfback and Bill Danylchuk joined Mustard on the first string this year. Danylchuk was tied with Al Lenard of Queen's for one of the half slots.

The remarkable upsurge of the McGill Redmen to top place in the loop has been reflected in the choice of the sports editors of the four colleges around the senior league. Five Redmen were chosen to the all star aggregation first team while Queens, Western and Varsity placed three men each.

McGill mentor Vic Obeck was named to mastermind the squad with Frank Tindall of the Golden Gaels selected to coach the second team.

Toronto placed two men on the second team this year. The editors selected Jack Gray for the end spot and halfback Bruce Cummings for the backfield. Queen's dominated the second squad as they supplied five men and a coach. George Valois was the lone Redman to make the second team while Western added three.

Rocky Robillard, McGill's high scoring ace, joined Mustard in the unanimous list for the first squad while fleet Jack Parry of Western was also a unanimous choice.

Parry, Lenard, Mustard and Newman were the only holdovers from last year's selections while Robillard and Logan moved up from last year's second string. The all stars were selected on a point basis with three points for a first team vote and two for every second vote.

First Team: Ends, Logan (Q), Mitchener, (M); middles, Mustard, (T), Meirowitz (M); insides, Newman (M), Thompson (W), tied Salari (Q); center, Wesrring (W); quarter, Irving M); halves, Danylchuk T), tied Lenard (Q), Parry (W), Brown (T), Robillard (M).

Second Team: Ends, Harrison (Q), Gray (T); middles, Duck (W), McCarney (Q) tied Ort (W); insides, Newman (M), Thompson (W) tied Simola (Q); center, Charters (Q); quarter, Arnott (W); halves, Lenard (Q), Sisson (Q), Valois (M), Cummings (T). Coach, Tindall.

Blue Soccerites Seek Blackwood From Aggies

By BILL LEACH

Can the Varsity Soccer Blues win the Blackwood Trophy, emblem of Intercollegiate soccer supremacy, for the sixth consecutive season? This question that faces the Senior squad when they confront their foremost rivals, O. A. C., Aggies, her Saturday. To accomplish this feat Varsity must score a clear-cut victory, as Aggies have already one win over the Blues this season, and a draw would be sufficient to give Aggies the title for the first time.

Would it be an all-time record if the Blues win? No, in the good old days the Univ. of Toronto team won the competition from 1904-1911 inclusive—that is, for 8 successive seasons! Incidentally, a member of the 1906 team, Bishop Lofthouse, of the Keewatin Diocese of the Church of England in Canada, is in Toronto today! He recalls vividly how both Univ. Colleg and the Varsity clubs were both remarkably strong teams in his playing days, and his comments on soccer in general are most interesting—"Play the game with your head as well as your feet" he advises, "Play the game for the game's sake—and the things which count most are conditioning and practice—real conditioning and plenty of practice. Sport should be played with intelligence, just the same sort of intelligence as is used to win the more important battles of life." The Bishop is sure to be cheering for the Blues on Saturday, though unable to witness the game.

Bishop Lofthouse learnt his early soccer in th north of England, and this weekend the Varsity boys will be under the guidance of another Englishman, coach Brian Barton, of Manchester, whose United team is so well known in soccer circles. The team is itself largely made up of boys from outside Canada, Alain Wyler, who is noted for his vim and dash, learned to handle the ball in his magic way while in Switzerland. Wyler has a deceptively youthful appearance, and while playing in Buffalo this year, was the recipient of a choice remark as he blazed the ball over the bar. A tiny 8-year-old urchin roared "Hard luck, Kid" in tones of deep sympathy. Jim Wotherspoon, who shone brightly in his half-back position in all his games this year, is a canny Scotsman at heart, and Bob Antoni, the man with the best goal average in the league this season, (6 goals in 5 games), hails from Trinidad. These are some of the boys who will be seen to advantage on Saturday.

The Varsity team has a most amazing and commendable record down the years. In the 35 seasons the championship has been contested, Varsity have emerged winners no less than 25 times. McGill stand next with 7 wins. Looking back for the past five years, the postwar teams seeme to be as good as any of their predecessors. In league games alone their record to date reads—

1949-50	P.	W.	L.	T.	G.F.	G.A.
	23	17	2	4	80	18

and including exhibitions, friendlies, and all other games over the same period, the over-all picture reads—

1949-50	P.	W.	L.	T.	G.F.	G.A.
	33	26	3	4	115	28

so it can be seen that they have a goals-for average of just 3.5 per game! To continue in this vein may seem unnecessary, but the figures for 1945 matches—all league games—are worthy of note—

1949-50	P.	W.	L.	T.	G.F.	G.A.
	6	5	0	1	28	3

Toronto has had the Blackwood Trophy in their cupboard ever since 1937, and it has been rightly said that for any one team to hold a trophy for such a long period is generally to the detriment of the sport involved, in which case an Aggie victory Saturday would be a welcome surprise. However, Aggies have a tremendous job on hand, for the Blues have not conceded a game on their home turf since the war. It would also seem that the all-round standard of the game has not been impeded by this circumstance, for this year's Blues squad are amongst the "strongest-ever" line-ups, yet it is fancied that they will be hard pressed by Aggies to maintain their supremacy.

The standard of sportsmanship prevalent wherever soccer is played has always been an impressive feature of the game, and that shown in Intercollegiate circles is no exception. All the games this year have been keen and entertaining, and the grand finale scheduled for 11 o'clock Sat., on the Toronto front campus should be a rattling good game.

This year's League standings, to date:

	P.	W.	L.	T.	G.F.	G.A.	Pts.
Toronto	3	2	1	0	11	4	4
Aggies	3	2	1	0	6	3	4
Western	4	1	3	0	5	15	2

MAY CHANGE SOME BASEBALL RULES

Several changes in baseball rules are up for acceptance or rejection here by organized baseball's rules committee at Cincinati.

One provides that a base runner if he is hit by a batted ball while standing on a base. Warren Giles, general manager of Cincinnati Reds said the rule would hold if the player were running.

Another recommendation would do away with the so-called curfew law about not standing an inning in a night game after 12:50 a.m.

During the next couple of years, the ISS on the U of T campus hopes to open an International House on the campus, as has been done in Chicago and New York.

Sportswoman

Softball, swimming and basketball seem to be holding the spotlight in the women's sport world this week.

Swim Meet

The intramural swimming meet was held last night in Hart House pool and unfortunately all the results were not compiled when this column went to press.

Six teams from UC, Vic, Trin, PHE, St. Mike's and the amalgamation of Meds, Nursing and Physio Therapy competed for the championship, as well as individual high honours.

In the 50 yard free style event Marg Harrington PHE came first, with Phil Manning, Trin, and Sheila Lennox, Vic, second and third.

Lois Cossar, MNP, copped top place in the backstroke race, while Jean Cassar, MNP, took the 50 yard breast stroke.

Marg Harrington shone again in the Medley race of 75 yards and Charlotte Chisholm, Trin, won the Cochrane Cup for diving, with Marg a close second.

In the Medley Relay Vic came in first aided by the strong team of Marion Mulloy, Pam Perrin and Sheila Gill.

Basketball

Ev Aiken starred last night in the Vic Sen A vs. PHE III game. Her fast footwork and accurate shots were the main reason for vic's 27-18 win.

Ann Oakes was the Johnny-on-the-spot guard for Vic breaking up many of PHE's passing attacks. Although in general their shooting was poor, PHE's Helen Channen was the top scoring forward, placing long shots beautifully.

Physio A had a poor turnout for the second game scheduled for last night and had to default to UC Sen. Jun. B.

Vic Sophs A vs. St. Hilda's Sophs started out slowly in the third game but pepped up in the last half with the game ending 20-19 for Vic.

Saints were leading at the half but Vic's determination plus the carried them through the fourth quarters with flying colours.

Basketball Results For Tuesday

UC Sr. Jr. A defeated Vic Sr A 24-19.

PHE III defeated Saints Soph 39-.

Saints Fr. defeated Vic Fr A 23-14.

St. Mike's A defeated Physio A 16-9.

VARSITY SPORTS

Vic Edges PHE's In Playoff Game

Although nosed out by PHE I in the first final softball game on Tuesday with a score of 10-9, Vic I turned the tables yesterday when they walked off the Trinity field as victors of the second struggle after tallying 15 runs to the Fiz Edders' 14.

PHE started off the game at the dish and by the end of the first inning were leading Vic 4-2, while the second inning saw only two more runs for each team.

In the first of the third the Vic gals kept the Fiz Eds to no score by Dot Parkinson's pitching and Barb Weatherhead's able fly-catching. However once at the plate, Vic lost little time in adding three more runs with Ev Aiken batting a neat triple into deep right field. Thus Vic led 7-6.

Marnie Leeson knocked a homer for PHE in the first of the fourth with only one more Fiz Edder crossing the plate.

Nevertheless by the end of the fourth with no runs for Vic, PHE was again in the lead 8-7. The Fiz Edders tightened up their plays and a force out at second sent Ann Carnworth back to the players' bench.

With two runs for PHE and three for Vic the score was tied when the fifth inning finished. Few runs point to good fielding for both teams, although Barb Weatherhead brought in two runners for Vic. Alma Hatch starred on first base when she grabbed a ball from Vic's bat to put out Alison Jefferies between first and second.

Alma brought in two in the first of the sixth for PHE but the Vic squad held them to four runs with Alison Jeffries clicking on the field.

Ev Aiken batted another triple to the right field when Vic came up to bat, however Irma Bulloch, Alice Jamieson and Alma Hatch deserve all the credit for the fielding that allowed Vic only three runs.

The last inning was bleak for PHE since they were unable to get any runs. Vic managed two and then called the game when the score was 15-14.

The final issue will be decided next Monday at 10 o'clock on the Trinity field with Joan Hume and Bev Morrison umping.

SPORT IN SHORT

Football

Forestry, 23; Meds II, 0.

Lacrosse

Meds I, 8; Sr. SPS, 5.
Pre Meds, 8; St. Mike's B, 5.

Soccer

Sr. Meds, 2; Forestry, 0.

CANADIANS DRUB BELGIANS

At Antwerp, Belgium, the touring Hull Volants trounced an all-star Antwerp hockey team 13-4, demoralizing the Belgians before a crowd of 8,000 who roared with appreciation at the brand of hockey served up by the Canadians. It was the Hull squad's second straight victory on the continent. During their tour in the United Kingdom they won one game and lost three.

Injured Trinity Soph Ridicules Reports

THE VARSITY

VOL. LXIX, NO. 41 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Friday, November 18, 1949

Trinity's Tradition Menaced

On the eve of his release from hospital, Eric Ford, injured in the Trinity Cake Fight Wednesday afternoon, still does not know who will be paying the bills. Provost Seeley of Trinity contacted last night had nothing to say about either the payment of Ford's bills, or about a decision on the stoppage of future Cake Fights.

Trinity Says Nothing

Yesterday, rumor had it that Trinity students were cautioned to say nothing about the affair until the provost had made his official statement.

The Trinity Provost said last night "We have not had time to investigate the facts as yet, and can come to no decision for two or three days."

"The question of Ford's hospital bills had not come up before now, so I cannot say what action will be taken along this line," provost Seeley said.

Meanwhile Eric Ford was resting quietly in his room at the hospital. "I plan to be out tomorow afternoon, probably about five," he said.

Looking well, he stressed he was not as bad as reports made out. "The whole thing has been ridiculous," he said, "and I would like to see it all forgotten."

Cake Fights Banned?

One Trinity student voiced fear yesterday that the Cake Fight might be banned in the future. "It would be a shame as it is one of the oldest traditions of the college," he said. "Of course it is unfortunate that this had to happen, but this year's fight was really mild compared to other years."

Ford was not the only casualty of the cake fight. Another sophomore was taken to the General Hospital Wednesday night. John Dashwood had complained about a sore eye after the fight, but did nothing about it until a friend persuaded him to visit the emergency ward of the General, in case it should be the same thing as had hospitalized Ford.

At the emergency ward he received treatment for the titanium tetrachloride, had his eye bandaged, and went home for the night. The eye specialist who treated Dashwood had been called in just before to look after Ford.

(Continued on Page 7)

U.C. Parliament Does Not Fear Liberal Majority

This country does not need to expect five years of autocratic, inefficient government because of the huge Liberal majority in Ottawa, it was decided yesterday in the debate at the University College Parliament by a vote of 13-12 after a shift to the Opposition of a large part of the Government forces.

Speakers for the affirmative were H M.M. Politsky IV U.C. and G. I. Wetstein, IV U.C. Politsky contended that recent election had brought to a head the danger of Liberal domination, which has been developing for 20 years.

In rebuttal, J C. Medcof, II U.C. first speaker for the negative, pointed out that the mere possession of power by the government did not mean its abuse. The faith of Canadians that the Liberal government would not do this was shown in the recent election.

The second speaker for the affirmative, said that an overwhelming majority leads to apathy on the part of the party members, who no longer feel that their wholehearted support is necessary.

The voters had supported the Liberals, rather because they were repelled by the Progressive Conservatives than because they were attracted by the Liberals, he stated. J. B. Tinker, III U.C., second speaker for the negative, said that the affirmative still had not proved that any Liberal abuses were due to their great majority. He declared that the voters did not fear Liberal abuses or they would not have supported them so strongly in the last election.

Peace Council President

BARRED FROM UN BY U.S.

Refuse Permission Allowing Student To Take 4 Day Trip

Omar Walmsley, II Emanuel, has been refused permission to enter the United States in order to visit the United Nations Assembly in New York. "This means that a student is barred from going to see the world government in action just because it is in the U.S.", Walmsley said last night.

"What Right To Bar Me?"

"What right have The United States to have the United Nations in their country if they won't let people in", he continued. "They are denying the rights established in their own Bill of Rights."

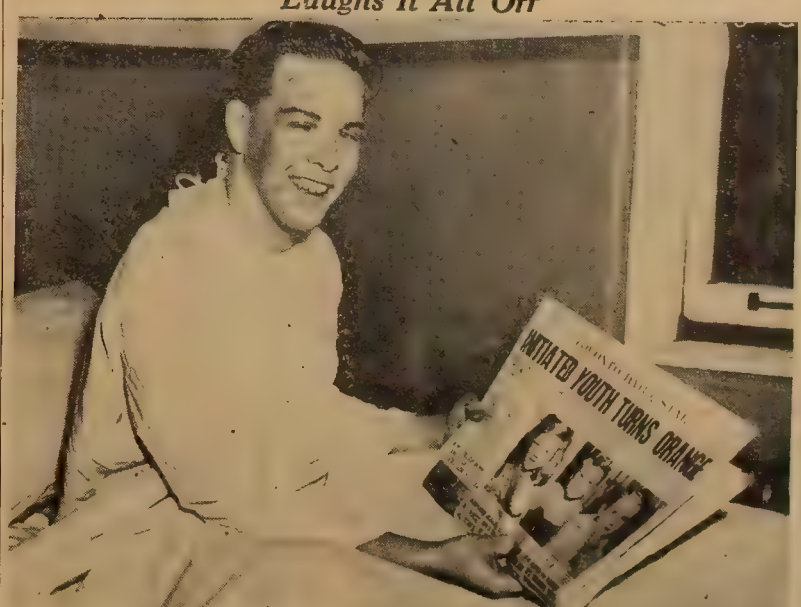
Walmsley had intended to go to the U.N. at Lake Success along with about sixty other U. of T. students on the weekend trip sponsored by the International Relations Club. The other students left for New York last night and will return Monday morning.

In September Walmsley was accepted by the Boston University School of Theology but was not allowed to enter the United States. When he applied last week for a special permit to visit the U.N., U.S. immigration officials here refused him, saying his case had gone to Washington and was out of their hands. They said he would be barred from the United States pending the results of the investigation of his case.

The immigration officials told the Toronto student there is a great misunderstanding in Canada about people being barred from the U.S. Because they refused him a visa it does not mean they believe him to be a "communist" and "subversive", they explained, adding that they reserved the right to examine individuals in their own way and in their own time.

"They have been considering my case since September but have not yet reached a conclusion," Walmsley stated. "It was impossible for me to go on the trip because they have not decided my case. By this method they are keeping me out without explanation. Officials here told me I could do nothing to speed up a decision but I intend to write to Washington."

The question of the difficulties encountered in obtaining a visa to enter the U.S. was brought up by External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson on Tuesday. Discussing Canadian-American relations Pearson stated that Canadians were disturbed by the border incidents in which innocent Canadian citizens had been embarrassed and inconvenienced by security delays and some of them prevented from visiting the United States. He said



(Continued on Page 6)

Battle Scene

LEFT: In the midst of the Trinity cake fight in which student Eric Ford was injured, water poured from the upper windows of Trinity College, dousing fighting frosh and sophs below.
BELOW: The injured student, Eric Ford, laughingly reads the newspaper account which told of him turning orange. Ford said yesterday that he thought the whole incident "ridiculous" and wanted to see it forgotten as soon as possible. Last night, Trinity Provost Seeley said there had been no action taken to reprimand students involved in the incident and that no arrangements had been made to pay for expenses incurred in the battle.
—Varsity Staff Photos by Peter Wade

Laughs It All Off

Literary Issue

The Varsity is now receiving contributions for the Annual Literary Issue. The special issue will feature short stories, essays, poetry and a section on photography.

The work handed in will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be given to their choices.

The Editorial staff of The Varsity will be greatly aided if all entries are typewritten, preferably to 66 space lines.

The entries should be delivered to The Varsity, room 78 in the basement of UC.

The deadline for this year's Literary Issue is Dec. 7.

Arts, Letters and Sciences

Royal Commission At Simcoe Hall

The Royal Commission on National Development in the Arts, Letters and Sciences opened five days of local sittings at Simcoe Hall on Tuesday with briefs presented by eleven organizations.

The Commission, under the chairmanship of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Chancellor of the University, was ordered by the federal government, at the last session of parliament, to study and examine everything directly or indirectly connected with Canada's cultural life with a view to subsidizing worthy ventures. The field of investigation covers radio, television, architecture, music, ballet, films, etc.

The Commission is also authorized as announced in the speech from the throne to examine the activities of the government "for the encouragement of arts, sciences, research, the preservation of our national records, a national library, museums, exhibitions and activities generally designed to enrich our national life, and to increase our own consciousness of our national heritage and knowledge of Canada abroad." The relationship of the Canadian government to UNESCO is also being studied.

The other members of the Commission are Arthur Surveyor, Montreal civil engineer, President Norman Mackenzie of UBC, Rev. Georges-Henri Levesque, Dean of Social Sciences at Laval, and Dr. Hilda Neatby, acting Head of the History Department at the University of Saskatchewan.

The Commission began its sittings in Ottawa last August. From there it went to Winnipeg, and is now in Toronto. An oft-repeated suggestion in the briefs that have been presented is that greater encouragement in the form of scholarships, fellowships and other measures of governmental assistance should be given to Canadian men and women engaged in arts, letters and sciences.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moriteugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Gleneak, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Pat Quinn
ASSISTANTS: Tom Cameron, Ronar, Jim Simpson

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1949

School Spirit

School Spirit is commendable. Class solidarity is equally commendable. There can be no objection to the display of either, if kept within the bounds of common sense. But these displays have sometimes gone beyond the bounds of common sense.

The latest example is the Trinity Cake Fight. The Cake Fight has been an institution at Trinity for almost fifty years. It is followed by the Athletic banquet, at which the freshmen receive no cake unless they have been able to get a cake past the soph guard at the fight.

It is a pity that so old an institution should degenerate into what only can be called a brawl. This year, two students were admitted to hospital suffering from acid burns caused by titanium tetrachloride which was used in the fight. One of the students is still under observation in the hospital, for fear that his eyes may have been affected by the acid. Nor is this the first time such has been the case. Last year, according to a report in yesterday's Star, a student was knocked unconscious during the fight.

Irresponsibility of this kind is not confined to Trinity College, of course, or even to this universty.

Last Saturday a student in an American university was shot and killed by a fellow student following a cocktail party celebrating a home-coming. The student accused of the crime pleaded drunkenness.

Last February, following the Chariot Race, the Medical building was entered and the Medical Board Room damaged.

During the Western week-end this fall, a London hotel was damaged by thoughless students.

These are only a few iolated instances, but they are indicative of the irresponsibility so often and unaccountably shown by university students.

We have heard a lot lately about the maturity of university students. It is time we asked ourselves the question: Are we mature? The answer seems to be: At times. Surely a group of people who can debate intelligently on matters of government policy are mature. Surely a group of people with the vision and foresight to bring displaced students from bombed-out colleges in Europe to our own university to continue their studies are acting in a mature manner. But is a group of people acting in a mature manner when they allow their emotions to run away from them to the extent that they cause actual bodily injury to their fellow students and damage to their own property and that of other? Evidently not.

Student irresponsibility is most flagrant in cases where students gather to show their solidarity, or to display their school spirit.

If students are unable, on their own, to prove their school spirit without the unhappy results outlined above, they must accept the alternatives of management by authorities capable of controlling these functions, or their complete elimination.

It is unfortunate that these few flout their immaturity at a time when some students are acting maturely in their efforts towards obtaining stronger student government. If they can only show their school spirit so foolishly, then perhaps the eliminating of some traditional functions is indicated.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

CARNEGIE RECORDS

The program of the Carnegie Record Hour for today will be Bach, Mass in B minor, part two, with the London Philharmonic Choir; Balfour, Shuman, Widdop, Schorr; soloists; Eric Coates, conductor.

U.C. RECORD HOUR

Three of Rachmaninoff's major works will be PLAYED in the long common room of the Women's Union at 4.30 p.m. by Gray Knapp.

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB

The next social of the Ukrainian Students' Club will be held this evening at 8 p.m. at the Women's Union, 79 St. George St.

Readers Write

Frigid Frails Complain

Editor, The Varsity:

We read with much interest and chagrin Mr. Harold Nelson's article in Tuesday's Varsity. It may be snobbish of us to enquire, but do you know if he is any relation of Lord Nelson? As we recall, Horatio had only one eye; possibly this inherited defect has hampered Harold's judgment. You may be interested to learn that we took a poll at our fraternity today. Eighty-two per cent of the girls voted they would rather date Jack-the-Ripper than Harold Nelson. The other 18% are already married or engaged to engineers anyway, and in process of expulsion from this fraternity.

We would like to ask Mr. Nelson if his claims are based on personal experience or on hearsay. How does he measure his girls anyway, with a slide-rule? In closing, we wish him good-luck with his dates from Willard Hall—if he would care to look any of us up, our permanent address is the Plaza Room from 12 p.m. till 12 a.m.

Yours truly,
The Mentally and Morally Frigid,
Pat Kerr III Pass
Jane Hamilton "
Mary Watson "
Marg Horning "
Betty Murphy II Hist.
Nancy Webster II Pass
Barb Bainard " Joan Williams "

• COMING EVENTS •

C.O.T.C.

Will the C.O.T.C. Grads who will attend a C.O.T.C. Dinner please notify the Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. Read Unit Orders for further notices.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL

A meeting of the Student Seminar in Jewish History will take place on Sunday, Nov. 20, at 8:30 p.m. at 68 Baby Point Crescent. Evelyn Kotzer and Grace Stein will speak on "Napoleon's Twelve Questions."

✣ ✣ ✣

MATHEMATICS AND PHYSICS SOCIETY

There will be a lecture meeting on Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in Room 132 of the Physics Building. Professor E. C. Bullard, Head of the Dept. of Physics, will speak on: "Radioactive Time." Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

✣ ✣ ✣

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SPANISH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the University of Toronto Spanish Club at the Women's Union on Thurs., Nov. 24. The programme will include a sing-song, Spanish piano selections by Miss Rosa Arzu, of the Conservatory of Music, and slides on Spain taken by Miss W. A. Campbell of the Spanish staff during her trip last summer.

RCAF NEWS

FOR UNDERGRADS DESIRING TRAINING AND SUMMER EMPLOYMENT WITH RCAF

For three successive years a limited amount of winter training and up to 24 weeks summer training and employment (ground or air) with the RCAF is available to undergrads selected for appointment as Flight Cadets of the local RCAF (Reserve) University Flight. Officer's rank and pay. Eligible applicants—FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For., but including Pharm. and Theol.) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55, AND ALL OTHER men due to graduate in '53, '54, or '55 from Architec., Lib. Sch., Meds, OCE or Theol. (Applicants for AIRCREW training must be from 5T3, preferably though not necessarily in App. Sci., M & P or Hon. Sci.) EVERY undergrad who wishes to join the University Flight and was NOT at meeting in Engineering Building Wednesday night should call promptly at RCAF Orderly Room 119 St. George St. APPLICATIONS CLOSE NOON SATURDAY, 19th NOVEMBER.

FOR VETERANS OF RCAF, RAF OR OTHER DOMINION AIR FORCES

Undergrads, PREFERABLY BUT NOT NECESSARILY EX-AIRCREW, of 5T1 or 5T2 in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M & P or Psych., and in Meds 5T1, 5T2 or 5T3. You may apply for up to 24 weeks employment at some RCAF unit next summer in the field of your undergrad course. Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L. Information and application forms for eligible veterans are available at RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. "First come, first served."

Students from Austria present a Viennese Musical Revue
Massey Hall
Nov. 26th, 8:20
Sponsored
By I.S.S.
Tickets: 75c, $1.00
available at S.A.C. Offices until Nov. 23rd.
Available Nov. 23-Nov. 26
at Massey Hall.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room today at 1.30 p.m.

LEE ROOM

The Lee Collection (medieval and renaissance works of art) will be open to members of Hart House on Wednesday from 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. The general public will be admitted on Visitor's Day (the last Sunday in each month) between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

ART GALLERY

The exhibition now on view in the Hart House Art Gallery is composed of oil and water colour abstract paintings by Bertram Brooker. Members may see the exhibition during the following hours: 12.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. and 5.00 to 7.00 p.m.

THE VARSITY

Friday, November 18, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

NFCUS Plan Debate Final With Quebec

Plans are now being made for the first truly all-Canadian University debating meet, Chairman Tom Symons of the Toronto Committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students announced at the Committee's meeting yesterday in Trinity Board Room.

To Include Quebec

While reporting on the meeting of the national executive of NFCUS over the past weekend, Symons said the Canadian University Debating Association is making arrangements for a national debating finals contest to include, for the first time, winners of the Villeneuve Trophy, which is emblematic of debating supremacy among Quebec universities.

"The national finals will be held at the University of Ottawa," Symons reported. "It is Canada's only bi-lingual university, and it is felt that it would be appropriate to hold the first national meet in the capital."

He said the prize for the winner at the national finals will probably be called the "Macdonald-Laurier Trophy", in honor of former Canadian Prime Ministers, Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfred Laurier.

Reports On Travel

Continuing in his report on the national NFCUS executive meeting, Symons said the executive decided only ship travel will be practicable for most university students travelling abroad next summer. (NFCUS is trying to aid such students by getting lower rates and large numbers of tickets.) The executive had learned there might in the future be reasonable tourist rates for air travel overseas, but this plan could not be implemented until after next summer.

While reporting on the national executive's discussion of the Quebec Seminar which NFCUS hopes to sponsor next summer, Symons stated it will probably be held on a lake north of Montreal. There would be two students for each 1000 students in universities affiliated with NFCUS. Students would be selected on the basis of interviews letters of recommendation and scholastic ability.

Hear From Alberta

Besides listening to Chairman Symons' report on the national executive conference, the University of Toronto Committee heard a report from Owen Jones, head of the sub-committee investigating the possibilities of a student union on this campus. He told about the University of Alberta, where students will build a student union with $100,000 they have raised themselves, and with a $400,000 interest-free loan they have received from the Alberta Government.

The next report was from George Morrison, chairman of the sub-committee working on prices paid in Canada for American text books. He said he is going to send inquiries to twelve or more United States universities to get statistics on prices paid there for American books sold on this side of the border also.

Lastly Don McKellar, head of the sub-committee working on this year's Carabin weekends said that the SAC will probably give some sort of aid to help students pay their fare to Montreal.

McGill Charity Drive Threatened By Apathy

Montreal, Nov. 14.—(CUP)—The Combined Charities Drive, which started at McGill University, Monday morning, had netted nine dollars by press time Monday morning.

A "Dime Drive", fashion show, swimming meet, and dance are being planned to swell the total, and to prevent the lowering of McGill's reputation in the eyes of the public.

The drive, in aid of the Welfare Federation, Catholic, Jewish, and French Catholics, and International Student Service, has a goal of $25,000 and is to continue for the remainder of the week.

The I S is planning to inaugurate a service to aid foreign students arriving on the campus in finding residences, arranging courses and smoothing out their problems.

Gather 'Round Girls

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

All the work that goes into a college show is not boring and stiffening. Some of it is fun and enjoyable as those students working on Vic's Scarlet and Gold Revue are finding. June Cudmore, left, and Shirley Tabb look over the chorus music with the show's director, Ted Snider.

Varsity Revue Needs Men Triumvirate Signs Scribe

By MORLEY TORGOV

Yesterday we came upon an intent-looking triumvirate made up of All-Varsity Revue Director Ben Wise, Assistant Director Irwin Pasternak, and Producer George McCowan. Bent over an open cardboard box, they were scrutinizing a pile of ballot-like paper and sorting them into files.

"Who's winning?" we asked, "Truman or Dewey?"

Can You Dance?

"Never mind the wisecracks; can you dance?" all three shot back at me.

We obligingly executed a few sequences from Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." "Okay, Nijinsky," Wise said, "report next Tuesday between four and six at the Women's Union and ask for Norma Pankhurst, or her assistant, Herb Wedderburn."

From this we concluded that the All-Varsity Revue was hard-up indeed for male dancers and chorus men. This conclusion, we were assured, was elementary. "We've had questionnaires that we printed in The Varsity returned to us with applications for jobs such as trapeze artists, etc., and one fellow sent us his credentials from the International Union of Magicians," McCowan told us.

Male Dancers Needed

"But when it comes to male dancers," he continued, slapping his forhead, "it seems that all our Fred Astaires and Gene Kellys are either too modest, or they've all left for Hollywood!"

Casting Tuesday

We learned that the first casting session for the Revue, next Tuesday, would be devoted entirely to dancers and chorus, and would be supervised by Toronto's outstanding young choreographer, Norma Pankhurst. "We can't emphasize too strongly," Pasternak said, "that previous experience is not necessary. This is primarily a student production, and we want everyone who has any interest at all to come out and try out."

Filing Questionnaires

As for the questionnaires, we were shown the new filing system which the producers have introduced. Every category of entertainer

(Continued on Page 4)

Mission In Minature Planned By Vic VCF

"Freedom" will be the theme of a series of noon-hour addresses in Vic's "Week of Meetings" to be held daily at 1.20 p.m. in Vic Chapel, Nov. 22-25. Speaker will be Rev. D. H. MacLennan, rector of St. George's Anglican Church, Hamilton, and popular advisor of students at MacMaster University.

Vic's "Week of Meetings" has been an annual project of the Varsity Christian Fellowship for many years. Similar to last year's University Christian Mission, even to having an Anglican clergyman as chief missioner, it will be complete with assistant missioners, interviews and residence discussion groups.

At Home Question Still Undecided After Vic Meeting

One of the most fiery open meetings in the history of the VCU Assembly filled the Vic chapel to overflowing to vote on the motion of the Social Directorate that the Vic At Home should be formal. Voters crowded into seats, choir stalls and into the back of the Chapel at noon yesterday to defeat by the narrow margin of 168 to 155.

Uproar Stops Meeting

During the presentation of speeches for and against the motion, the meeting was kept under control by the insistence of strict parliamentary procedure from the Chair. But after the vote had been taken the hubbub increased. Saying that in the face of the large body of opposition the Social Caput would not have enough support to go through with plans for a semi-formal dance, Marge Mills, VCU Social Directress, made a motion that the dress for the dance should be optional. After this it was impossible to restore order, and general opinion seemed to favour another meeting.

To Be Continued Tuesday

Stan Kurisko, VCU President, made the following statement as regards the outcome of the meeting. "In view of the fact that it was two o'clock and people were rushing out, it was the ruling of the Chairman that the meeting could not be carried out with the proper dispatch due to confusion and noise. The meeting was therefore adjourned, and will be continued next Tuesday."

At the last regular meeting of the VCU Assembly, the Vic At-Home was made a formal dance. Acting in accordance with the VCU Constitution, 25 members of the college signed a petition against the decision of the Assembly, and an open meeting was called to decide the issue. One of the speakers for the motion referred to the elaborate publicity campaign put on by the people who wanted a semi-formal dance in order to cut down expenses.

Corsages Would Be Provided

Speaking in support of a formal dance, Jack Birkenshaw, VCU Social Director, Paul Break, IV Vic, and Phoebe Templeton, VCU Assoc. President, pointed out that the biggest objection — the expense of a formal dance, was not actually as formidable as it would seem at first glance. The Great Hall and the gym at Hart House would be available for a formal, so that only two orchestras would be needed and flowers could be provided for the girls, thus eliminating the expense of corsages to balance the expense of tails or tuxedos. The Great Hall would not be available for a semi-formal, making it necessary to hire several orchestras to serve smaller

(Continued on Page 4)

OPEN LETTER

The following letter protesting the high cost of rentals for men's formal wear is soon to be sent to the managers of all Formal Rental shops in Toronto. The St. Michael's SAC confidently hopes that authorized representatives from other colleges and faculties will sign the letter before it is sent. The master copy will be in the SAC office in Hart House for signatures until Thursday, November 24.

Dear Sirs:

We, the undersigned Councils, have recently considered separately and jointly the problem of having a formal dance upon our campi. We are faced this year with the problem of trying to present a really formal dance at a price that the average student, who has far less money at his disposal this year than in previous years, can afford. We have cut ticket prices and all other costs where it was possible and have taken all the steps within our means to give the students a real dance, and yet the price of formal attire remains a stumbling block to our desires.

In the immediate future we shall have to decide whether or not our dances can be formal this year, and the decision will be based completely on whether the students can afford such a dance We feel that perhaps you can lower your prices to a reasonable level (say $3 or $4) and thus help us give the students a real dance, and at the same time insure yourselves continued patronage from our colleges and faculties, for unless we do get a reduction in price many of us will be forced to abandon the formal dances we have sponsored in the past.

David J. Quigley,
President Student's Administrative Council,
St. Michael's College.

SAC Radio Committee

Varsity Hits The Airwaves

ROCKY MARTINO

Last night, the SAC Radio Committee offered the campus its first program of the year. Those who listened in to CJRT-FM heard, at 7:30: "Production Book—Item I. 'The Scarlet Letter'. A story by Nathaniel Hawthorne, adapted for radio by Diedre Haines and produced by John Howe."

If you're interested in what the program was like, don't read any further. I'm prejudiced in favour of all radio productions. My purpose in writing this is to tell you, the future listeners, we hope, just what CJRT is and something about the "behind the scenes" of a program.

An Educational Station

To begin with, CJRT-FM is an educational station. It carries no sponsored programs and doesn't care what its "Hooper Rating" is. The general aim of programming at CJRT is to supplement existing radio fare with programs of a specialized nature. An example of this is the current series "Your Architect". This series of round-table discussions by prominent members of the architectural profession is directed mainly towards architects and those interested in modern trends in architecture. Plans are being made to continue with similar broadcasts on behalf of other groups.

In addition to this type of programming, general listening will form a large part of CJRT's schedule. Large periods have been set aside for the playing of symphonic works which are not very often heard on the air. Also in the "transcripts" vein will be many of the outstanding feature and "documentary" programs of the B.B.C. Some of these, from the B.B.C.'s famous "Third Program" are unexcelled by any other broadcasting organization in the world.

Live Talent Featured

While these exchange programs and a good deal of the music will be recorded, a large part of the programs will be "live" originations—studio shows and "on-the-spot" broadcasts. It is under this phase of Ryerson's work that the University Radio Society have been given time. Every Thursday, from 7.30 - 8 p.m. this group will present a series of dramas, round table discussions, and perhaps a musical show. The first in this series was "The Scarlet Letter".

It all sounds very easy. The producer picks a script, picks a cast and then "broadcasts". Don't be fooled like the art critics. There's a lot more to it than that.

Producers Critical

Let's take "The Scarlet Letter" for example. Two weeks ago we held preliminary castings. We sifted what we had and recalled some to read for parts in the "letter". With a script and cast chosen everything should have been perfect. It wasn't quite. John Howe, senior producer wasn't quite satisfied with the script so he went down to Ryerson to discuss it with Mr. Paine, our guardian angel at CJRT. While John worried about the script, Dan McCarthy, associate producer worried about general casting. Nothing bothered me so I went to a Physics Seminar.

Came the beautiful Saturday morning and the happy souls who missed the grief at Kingston and whom we had chosen, turned out for the first rehearsal in the Medical Building. I won't go into details except to say that one "script-cadaver" was added to the specimens in the Anatomy Building.

Rehearsal Mixed-Up

One producer and two associates worried not until Tuesday afternoon when the first "run" was made in the studios of CJRT. Our half-hour program ran for thirty-six and a half minutes; all our actors wanted to speak through the same mike—some even tried to speak in the dead side; two of our leads sounded alike; cue after cue was missed. On the whole, the entire affair went off like any other radio program. That pleased us very much since it was only a rehearsal.

Personally I had a good time at the rehearsal. I stayed in the control room and watched the operator change records with breath-taking speed. In fact I became so engrossed in watching him flip records around that I almost forgot to get out of John's way when he wanted to give somebody a "finger" cue.

A Perfect Performance

That was Tuesday's rehearsal. Thursday's was different. This time nobody dared make a mistake. From

(Continued on Page 4)

OUR READERS WRITE

Complains of Review

Editor, The Varsity

The executives of the U.C. Lit and W.U.A. have instructed me to bring to your attention what we consider to be a neglect of student affairs on the part of The Varsity. We refer to the review of the U.C. Follies which appeared in Monday's issue.

There are two points to our criticism of The Varsity's handling of this review—1. The Assistant News Editor, and not a member of the Feature Department which usually covers campus shows, was sent to the Follies.

2. Space given the review, which would be of interest to the 175 students working on the show and the 2,400 people who attended, was less than that devoted to, among other things, Stage 50, a radio program, a pianist who performed at Wymilwood and a violinist and the Woody-Herman-King Cole show, both off the campus.

It is natural that there is considerable difficulty involved in running a newspaper without a paid staff of reporters and reviewers. And we would welcome criticism from competent reviewers who put some thought into what they say.

What we do object to are apparently hurriedly written reviews by people unacquainted with campus shows and in which sound criticism is replaced by a few glib comments.

Let us hope that other on-the-campus shows will receive the coverage to which they are entitled.

Yours Truly
Bill Francis,
Publicity Director, U.C. Lit.

Ed. Note: In answer to 1, The Varsity assigns stories and reviews as it sees fit; 2, The Varsity assigns space to stories and reviews as it sees fit.

✣ ✣ ✣

Smith Speaks For Smith

Editor, The Varsity:

With reference to three letters which appeared in recent issues of The Varsity, I am instructed to inform you that the writer of these three letters, one Dean Smith of this College, was expressing his own views therein."

In no way whatever do Mr. Smith's letters express the opinions of the Knox College Association, and his letters were not endorsed in any way by the Association.

James R. Moore,
Secretary,
Knox College Association.

✣ ✣ ✣

Services Offered To Vic

Editor, The Varsity:

We the undersigned offer our services at the Vic-at-home to liven up the affair. You can depend on us to come suitably attired and with a siren, fog-horn, or and other musical intruments desired.

We yould humbly suggest that Vic should seriously consider having neither a formal nor semi-formal dance, but a square-dance at which we will gladly do the calling at no extra charge.

The Major Miners,
G. A. Griffiths,
D. G. Schell.

P.S. How about music by the Lady Godiva Memorial Band?

✣ ✣ ✣

Baha'i Supported By Bible?

Editor, The Varsity:

Your recent report on the Baha'i World Faith movement brings to mind a great many scriptures, a few of which I quote.

And then if any man shall say to you, "Lo, here is Christ, or lo he is there," believe him not; for false Christs and false prophets shall rise and show signs and wonders to seduce, if possible, even the elect. Mk. 13; 21,22.

Suppose you that I come to bring peace on earth? I tell you nay, but rather division. Luke 12; 51.

And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God. Rom. 12: 2.

I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but me. John 14; 6.

Does scripture, as Mr. Roberts claims, support Baha'u'llah?

Peter Grant III Vic.

At Home

(Continued From Page 3)

rooms, and thus also making the dance less of a unit.

Cost Prohibitive

The opposition insisted that the extra cost of a formal would be enough to prohibit many of the students from attending the dance. Against the statement that a formal At-Home is Vic tradition which has had to be discontinued for a few years due to wartime circumstances, a member said that the unity of the college is more important than tradition, and that traditions were founded when only rich men's sons came to college.

Don Lawson, VCU Vice-President, said that the idea of a formal was to have one really special and memorable dance for the year. He pointed out that the social schedule is already overcrowded, and that a semi-formal At-Home would be just another dance of the type that is already too frequent.

Two Formals Too Many

Other arguments that were discussed were the mediocrity of the floor of the Great Hall, the difficulty of getting rented suits to fit comfortably, the fact that residence men already had their house formals and should not be expected to finance two formals.

The meeting was definitely divided between the two opinions, and the suggestion of optional dress was not very well received, except as a way out of a difficulty. Both the speakers for the motion and opposition speakers appealed to the students to consider the matter with open minds, as whatever they finally decided would probably mould future Vic tradition.

Radio Committee

(Continued from Page 3)

3 o'clock till program time, with a break for supper, this cast went through its paces and got a really polished performance ready. The time was finally cut to thirty minutes; two mikes were used; nobody missed a cue; and in fact the whole thing went off like a dream. Take my word for it, the program was good. I don't know what the critic has to say about it, but if he's "agin" it, he's crazy and if he's for it, he's a swell guy. I wanted to write the review but someone or other thought it wouldn't be quite right.

Clear Reception Ensured

Before I stop, let me say that CJRT is operating on a frequency of 88.3 megacycles (FM only), with a power of 3,000 watts. This power will ensure good reception over an area of southern Ontario covering three-quarters of the population. In fact, if you have a television receiver, don't tune in to the Rochester station. You might end up getting their picture and our program. During a wrestling match you might hear one wrestler say to the other: "Tune in next week to hear Varsity Radio present, "My Brother's Keeper"; script by Mel Breen, production by John Howe" (and assistants).

Varsity Revue

(Continued from Page 3)

and stage-hand was represented and those which were not immediately useful were being kept regardless. "You can never tell who or what you may need as a stage production of this proportion progresses," Wise commented.

Before we had time to compliment him on this last piece of alliteration, Wise went on to explain what would take place at next week's casting.

"There'll be a few simple dance routines, following which the chorus will be picked. We're pretty confident of a good response from the girls, but there seems to be something about this dance business which scares males. Honest fellas, we aren't gonna make you wear tights!" Wise promised.

And thus, fortified by the Director's solemn pladge, we pirouetted away to await next Tuesday's try-out at the Women's Union.

Every Student Needs these Famous

DIXON PENCILS

Everywhere a pencil is needed, students will find that one or all of these three time- and quality-tested Dixon Pencils, will do a truly satisfactory job.

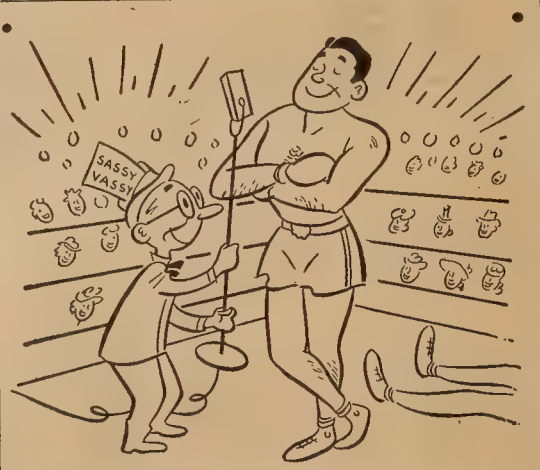
"TICONDEROGA"

The fast, smooth writing pencil—easy on the hand, no push, no effort. Makes clean, definite marks. Rubber eraser in strong metal ferrule with double yellow bands. 8 degrees from 2B to 4H.

"ELDORADO"

The master drawing pencil, made with Typhonite leads. The first choice of artists, engineers, and draftsmen everywhere. Makes sharp, crisp, even lines, every time—without crumbling. Made in 17 degrees from 6B to 9H.

"THINEX"



Here are colored pencils that really sharpen up. Thin leads of smooth, even texture and surprising strength, with points that stand up. Made in 24 permanent moisture-proof pastel shades.

ORDER FROM YOUR REGULAR SUPPLIER

Made in Canada by

DIXON PENCIL CO. LTD.

Montreal, Newmarket, Toronto, Vancouver

"Sockem Stiff wins by a knock-out! How about a word to the folks, Sockem? Were you ever in trouble?"

"Yes, I had lots of trouble with Dry Scalp and unruly hair. But I kayoed both with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic."

Vaseline HAIR TONIC
TRADE MARK

'VASELINE' IS THE REGISTERED TRADE MARK OF THE CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. CONS'D.

MEN!!

. . . . . who know their way around . . . . . .
. . always select SLACKS tailored by EMBASSY . .
. . . . . to keynote their attire . . . . . .
. . . . . For here are the choicest fabrics . . . . . .
. . . . . from Europe's leading mills . . . . . .
. . . . . strong he man colours . . . . . .
. . . . . and dominant patterns . . . . . .
. . . . . for active occasions . . . . . .
. . . . . more muted tones . . . . . .
. . . . . for subtle moods . . . . . .

To look YOUR best . . . AND TO KNOW IT, slip into a pair of EMBASSY CLOTHES SLACKS. All are smartly designed and deftly tailored-to-your-measure to figure flattering perfection.

Yes, you'll be glad you came to friendly, "five-minutes-from-the-campus." . . .

EMBASSY CLOTHES

287 COLLEGE ST.
NOW OCCUPYING ALL OF THE SECOND FLOOR MI. 9010
(Just a dozen doors west of Spadina Ave. South side)
"WHERE THE OVERHEAD IS SMALL AND THE VALUES ARE BIG."

AFTER THE

WESTERN-McGILL Game,

Come to the

SKULE NITE

DANCE

In HART HOUSE, Sat., Nov. 19th, 8 p.m.-12.

3 Bands—Benny Louis, Modernaires, and Johnny Perkins

TICKETS $1.50 PER COUPLE

In Engineering Stores (Little Red Skule House) Friday, 9-5, Saturday morning 9 a.m.-12. and Observatory Bldg., Saturday night, 8-10 p.m.

Ticket Sales Open Monday at 10 a.m.

— for —

THE SCARLET AND GOLD

Vic's Sensational Music Revue in

EATON AUDITORIUM — NOV. 30 at 8:15 p.m.

Reserved tickets $1.00 per person at Vic College.

Limited number available

ART MUSIC DRAMA

Edinburgh Festival

CBC Wednesday Night gave music lovers a rare treat this week when it presented a series of recordings of highlights from the recent Edinburgh Music Festival.

The musical portion of the programme began with the Griller String Quartet playing Mozart's Quartet in G Major (K.387). That the members have been playing together for twenty years was certainly proved in their excellent teamwork and fine balance. However, the work as a whole seemed to lack the sparkle and gaiety of Mozart, and did not always hold the attention of this listener. The intonation was not always clear, and the tone was too harsh. The work was pleasant but not always captivating.

Bruno Walter conducted the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra in Beethoven's First Symphony. During the first two movements in this work the rhythm seemed to drag and there seemed to be lack of contrast. It was as if the orchestra was not at home until it reached the scherzo-like third movement and the bustle and good humour of the "Haydnesque" finale.

Scotland's most famous choir, the Glasgow Orpheus Choir, under its veteran conductor Sir Hugh Roberton was indeed the high spot of the evening. Its programme was well-chosen and varied and it delivered tasteful renditions. Sir Hugh himself announced the numbers, thus adding a personal touch, especially for the radio audience. The diction of the choir was excellent except in its opening spiritual "Great Day." That we might "savour the tune undiluted" in Bach's "Come Kindly Death," the choir sang one verse with words and hummed the next verse with excellent effect. The choir is in good proportion and has perfect balance. Excellent sectional work was demonstrated in Elgar's "The Shower" and in "Scots Wha Hae." In this group of Scottish songs the dynamics and phrasing were superb.

From this programme of varied tastes and moods, with world-famous artists and organizations participating, we cannot help but compare our own musical situation here in Canada with that of the old world. In many fields, perhaps, Canada is far behind, but is steadily gaining. In others, it is obvious she is ready to take her place with the leaders.

G. Russell Brooks.

♦ ♦ ♦

Nino Martini

Like a beneficent and gracious host Nino Martini charmingly entertained a capacity audience of Eaton Auditorium habitues last night, and sent them home humming Italian sentiment and purring contentedly. With a disarming smile, he poured Italian, French, German, English and Spanish songs into the eager ears of his enthusiastic listeners who found his smooth and effortless lyricisms irresistable.

Mr. Martini's sense of shading, almost comparable to chiaroscuro technique, coupled with sensitive phrasing and dramatic, but not ostentatious, delivery place him high on the list of vocal artists.

It is interesting to note that of the whole program there was but one English composer represented, although there were four compositions with English words.

There is a uniformity of style in Martini's treatment which does not vary with the spirit of the music. For instance, Aikin's setting of Shakespeare's "Sigh No More" was sung in the same mood as Carisimi's "Vittoria Vittoria"; he seemed less at home in the English group.

Mr. Martini's program was romantic rather than dramatic, including "Caro Mio Ben" (Giordano), Plaisir d'Amour (Martini), Aubade (Lalo), The Floods of Spring (Rachmaninoff), La Partita (Alvarez) and a Mozart aria. We are inclined to believe that the choice was a deliberate condescension to the taste of Toronto audiences, whose applause thunders as the encores grow more and more sentimental.

Theodor Haig as piano assistant accompanied sensitively and unobtrusively. Occasionally Mr. Haig was even too self-effacing; however, he proved himself as a capable concert artist in his piano group, the Faure Nocturne No. 4 and the Chopin Ballade in A flat Major.

The Italian tenor's temperament and artistry suit him well for roles in Italian or French dramatic opera, but never could he safely be a Wagnerian Germanic hero. The Valkyrie would passionately pursue him off the stage. The remark was passed that Nino Martini is the Sinatra of the opera world. And in a sense this is true.

Sylvia Moss.

♦ ♦ ♦

"Knock"

A.M.D. Editor's Note: In today's Varsity appears a letter, from a member of the department of French and German which deplores yesterday's review by Arnold Baxter of Romains' play "Knock."

Owing to conditions beyond our control the last half of the review did not appear. But in defense of the first half, which did appear, I hold that no critic is under obligation to give credit, to backslap or to shower praise on anyone, regardless of merit or position in a performance, a contention which was set forth in the letter.

Here then is the remaining text of Mr. Baxter's critique.

As Knock, C. R. Parsons was superb. The central character, he dominated the play from beginning to end, and realized Knock not as a mere farcial exaggeration, but as a recognizable human being, the victorious victim of the hoax by which he regenerated the villagers of St. Maurice. One does not have to believe in the individual as the source of all progress to acknowledge the value of Dr. Knock to counter-act a Dr. Parapaid in whose hands the social group to which he belongs is allowed to stagnate.

Robert Lightfoot, however, as Parapaid failed to present enough contrast to his progressive, energetic confrere. His mannerisms were not in keeping with the character of Parapaid, as a modest unsolicitous foil to Knock. But the rest of the players were well cast.

La Societe Francaise of University College is to be congratulated for bringing to the Hart House stage a remarkably fine presentation of the best in recent French theatre.

Arnold Baxter

There was a young man from the Kremlin

Who, with the aid of a Gremlin,

Arrived in a trance

At The

Dance of Romance

And was swept off his feet by a fem'nin.

YOU'LL BE GLAD TOMORROW— YOU SMOKED

PHILIP MORRIS today

Call for PHILIP MORRIS

EB-9C

Beverley Cameron, Montreal student, says: "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives you more for your money." Yes, more in flavour, more in value, too. Treat yourself to a Pepsi-Cola today—in the new 8-oz. quick-drink size for 5¢. Or take home a carton of 6 big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢.

"There's real, satisfying refreshment in every sip." That's why W. J. Hendricks, photo-engraver, Saskatoon, changed to Pepsi-Cola. And that's one of the reasons why people all over Canada are changing to Pepsi. It hits the spot. Its quick, delicious flavour gives you a lift when you're tired... satisfies you when you're thirsty. Drink a Pepsi today.

More and more people are changing to

PEPSI-COLA

for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi

by the bottle

by the carton

by the case

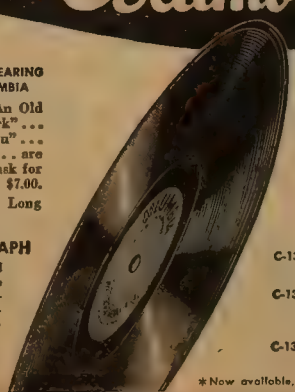
"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

FOR TOP TUNES Columbia IS TOPS!

"Miss Liberty"

ANOTHER IRVING BERLIN SMASH HIT CURRENTLY APPEARING ON BROADWAY AND RECORDED FOR YOU BY COLUMBIA

What a brilliant musical score! The nostalgia of "An Old Fashioned Walk"... the homey appeal of "Homework"... the heart appeal of "Just One Way To Say I Love You"... and the magnanimous offer "You Can Have Him"... are all yours in crystal clarity of tone and styling. Just ask for Album Set D250 on 6-10" Blue Label Records. Only $7.00.



This album also available on single 12" Columbia Long Playing Record ML4220 — only $4.85.

SPARTON PORTABLE ELECTRIC PHONOGRAPH

A completely self-contained luggage-type portable 3-tube phonograph with permanent-magnet speaker. Specially designed for better-than-average tone quality plus volume.

Model 348P $49.95

*CURRENT COLUMBIA RECORD HITS

C-1385 — A DREAMER'S HOLIDAY
— ENVY Buddy Clark with the Girl Friends

C-1389 — THAT LUCKY OLD SUN — COULD 'JA? Frank Sinatra

C-1390 — I NEVER SEE MAGGIE ALONE
— I'VE GOT A LOVELY BUNCH OF COCONUTS Tony Pastor and his Orchestra

C-1391 — DEAR HEARTS AND GENTLE PEOPLE — SPEAK A WORD OF LOVE Dinah Shore

C-1392 — THE RIVER SEINE
— THERE'S A BLUEBIRD ON YOUR WINDOWSILL Doris Day

C-1393 — I CAN DREAM, CAN'T I?
— A LITTLE LOVE, A LITTLE KISS Toni Arden

*Now available, or within a few days. 780

IF IT'S A HIT — IT'S ON Columbia Records

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50¢

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

TRINITY COLLEGE CHAPEL
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20th
8:15 A.M.—HOLY COMMUNION
11:00 a.m. HOLY COMMUNION
Preacher:
The Provost
All students of the University are welcome at all services in the College Chapel.

BLOOR ST. UNITED CHURCH
Corner Bloor and Huron Streets
Ministers:
Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, S.T.M., Ph.D., D.D.
Rev. Kenneth Irving Cleator, B.A., B.D., S.T.M.
Organist and Choirmaster
Frederick C. Silvester
Sixty-second ANNIVERSARY SERVICES
11 a.m.
THE STABILITY OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH
7 p.m.
ALMIGHTY GOD SEEKING A MAN
DR. LYNN HAROLD HOUGH
will preach at both services
6.40 p.m. Organ Recital
8.15 p.m. Friendship Hour
Students Specially Welcome

VENUS
VELVET
PENCILS ARE STRONG

PRESSURE-PROOFED
This means that the lead is actually bonded to the wood. You can't buy better school pencils!
VENUS
VENUS PENCIL CO., LTD., TORONTO

Barred From UN

(Continued from Page 1)

he felt a solution would be found.

After he had been refused a visa in September, Walmsley said "I know I was barred for interest I took last year and this spring in the Canadian Peace Congress . . . The immigration knew perfectly well that I am not a Communist." Walmsley is the president of the University of Toronto Peace Council.

Christian Science
First Church of Christ Scientist
St. George St. at Lowther Ave.
Branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13th
Subject
"SOUL and BODY"
SUNDAY SERVICES
11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL
11 A.M.
Pupils and visitors up to the age of twenty years welcome.
WED. EVENING MEETING
8 P.M.
Including testimonies of healing through Christian Science
FREE PUBLIC READING ROOM where the Bible and authorized Christian Science Literature may be read, borrowed or purchased.
120 BLOOR STREET WEST
All are Welcome

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH
Bloor Street East
Rector: Rev. Canon F. H. Wilkinson, M.A., D.D.
8 a.m.—Holy Communion
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Holy Communion
Preacher:
Rev. Roland F. Palmer, D.D.
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer
Preacher:
CANON WILKINSON
Fireside Hour in Parish Hall after the Evening Service
Organist: Charles Peaker, Mus.D., F.R.C.O.
University students welcome

CAMPUS SHOW

Skule Nite

Skule Nite 1950 has been banned in Boston. That is Boston's loss and our gain. Although it suffers from several of the traditional college show faults, it is a good revue full of fun and with several outstanding features.

First outstanding feature: Machines. Second outstanding feature: Sets. Third outstanding feature: The girls. Fourth outstanding feature: The girls. Fifth outstanding feature: the — perhaps we are labouring the point.

Skule has a lot of men to build sets and dream up machines. But it only has fourteen girls, and nine of these contribute to a chorus line which would do credit to any college on the campus. They may miss a few steps, and we love the delicate way they get their pants dirty while romping around the floor in "Tars and Spars, or, Hips Ahoy", but all in all they had good rhythm, good timing, and a pleasing effect.

Skule, which does nothing by halves, imported one gal, Miss Agnes Portnoff. In a scene in the Venezuelan jungle, backed by a savage drum beat, Miss Portnoff bumps and grinds until she has us wondering if she was straight from the Montreal night club circuit. The "Tropical Madness" dance sequence is one of the best in the show. (Besides Miss Portnoff it has an excellent set, a six-armed Buddha whose eyes light up, and some imaginative lighting.)

The Skule Nite machines get bigger and better with each passing year. There are a couple in this year's show: one of them, which takes care of many of the entr'actes, combines some Skule traditions. A super-still, whose name is "Roscoe," gives birth to two kinds of spirit: Liquors and The 'Skule Spirit', which hovers mysteriously above "Roscoe", and gives out with a traditional haunting voice. The whole effort is an effective display of Skule talent.

The sets are excellent. We always hope, when we go to see a campus show, that we will see a little more experimenting. Skule Nite sets are not experimental, but they are well conceived, and in a couple of cases, outstanding. The "Tropical Madness" scene, and the "Moon Finale" will give us something to judge other show sets by this year.

People we particularly liked: Herbie Wedderburn, who knows as much about tap dancing as he does about slide rules; John Couse, whose Scotch accent is vurra good; Miss Portnoff, for reasons before mentioned; Messrs. Rowe, Wilson and Bethune, whose dancing brought down the house; Sol Friendly, because; and the Ajax Glee Club, who can sing.

Gripes: The show needs some tightening. The pauses, some of which were due to mechanical difficulties (a fuse blew out), some of which were due to opening night confusion, and some of which were due to cast slowness, made the audience restless. Some of the jokes are a little raw, without having the grace of being screamingly funny.

Director Jack Pulford, and The Men and Ladies of Skule have a good show. We enjoyed Skule Nite, 1950.

Jack Gray.

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

PARK ROAD
Park Rd. and Asquith Ave.
Minister
Rev. C. G. Stone, D.D.,
DR. N. H. PARKER
(McMaster University)
11.00 a.m. and 7.00 p.m.
8.15—Young Peoples—
Director Clair Clark
Muriel Gidley—Director of Music

Vic V.C.F.
WEEK of MEETINGS
Nov. 22-25 1:20 p.m.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S
(ANGLICAN)
Ulster St. at Manning
(From the University, west on Harbord to Manning, south 1 block)
REV. R. F. T. BRAIN, M.C., Rector—KI. 8291
Healey Willan, Mus. Doc. Organist
EVERY SUNDAY
8 and 9.30 Holy Communion
11 Solemn Eucharist and Sermon
7 Evensong, Sermon and Devotions
Students who would like to join server's Guild or Choirs, please see the Rector.

Emmanuel Wins

In a hard-fought game, even all the way, Emmanuel College took its group from Trinity II, 2-1, on the back campus Thursday afternoon. Don Hooker scored first for the Theologs, and Crerar for Trinity. Score at half-time, 1-1. Stars for the winners were Scumarine and Orth. Trinity were pressing hard at the end, but a long-shot goal by Bob McLellan clinched the game for Emmanuel and sent his team into the playoffs.

KNOX
Spadina and Harbord
Minister: Rev. Robert Barr M A
9.45 a.m.—ADULT BIBLE CLASS
11.00 a.m.—THE WOMEN OF BETHLEHEM
7.00 p.m.—HIS GLORIOUS NAME
(1) "Jesus and Rachel"
(9) "Jesus, the Lamb of God"
8.30 p.m. Knox Fellowship
Mr. Barr will give an address on "The Open Sunday". Discussion.
Students cordially invited to all services.

CHOOSY ABOUT SPORTS SHIRTS?
Then see Arrow Araglow!

Arrow Araglow sports shirts have the same expert styling that goes into Arrow shirts — the best, that is.

Fabrics are washable, foolproof SANFORIZED labelled — guaranteed never to shrink out of fit.

Wear your Arrow Araglow sports shirts with or without ties . . . Either way, they're comfortable as can be, handsome as you'd wish.

See your Arrow dealer for Arrow Araglow — sports shirts for choosy buyers. Cluett, Peabody & Company of Canada Limited.

Look for the Registered Trade Mark ARROW
ARROW SHIRTS
TIES • HANDKERCHIEFS

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH
BLOOR W. at WALMER RD.
DR. E. CROSSLEY HUNTER, Minister
John W. Linn, Organist.
SERVICE 11 A.M. and 7 P.M.
Evening subject: "THE PERIL OF PREJUDICE"
8:15 p.m. Fireside Hour
Music and message to help and interest students.

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP
SPEAKER: F. ST.G. SPENDLOVE
SUBJECT: "WHAT DID BAH'A'ULLAH BRING?"
PLACE: ROOM 64 U.C. (BASEMENT)
TODAY 1 P.M. ALL WELCOME

SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES
Department of Germanic Languages and Literature
THE GOETHE BICENTENARY LECTURES will be delivered by PROFESSOR L. A. WILLOUGHBY
University of London
Monday, November 21—Goethe The Man
Tuesday, November 22—Goethe The Natural Philosopher
Wednesday, November 23—Goethe the Poet at 5 p.m. Emmanuel College Lecture Hall

OUR READERS

Obscene Suggestion

Editor, The Varsity:

I must write in support of Dean Smith of Knox College. I too was present with many others at the recent Pep rally. The means used to arouse enthusiasm were not commendable. Perhaps those responsible thought they were shining in their glory that night, but some of us thought differently. Many of us men and women have lived and served in an environment of frequent filthy communication. I refer to my particular branch of military service, the Canadian Army.

It is easy to smile and wink at the subtle suggestion depicted in burlesque. To some of us that night it was obvious where the minds of many were tending. While many can easily smile and wink at obscene suggestion, others of us recognize it for what it is and deplore it.

This letter is not directed only to those responsible that night, but to all those who might similarly desire to take advantage of human weakness. We beseech you earnestly in God's Name and for the sake of all of us, be careful that what you say "be simply 'yes' or 'no' for anything more than this comes from evil."

J. C. Silvester,
I Emmanuel.

The ISS hopes to inaugurate, next year, some system of exchange with European students, as is now being worked between American and European universities.

STAMMERING

Stammering corrected by modern scientific methods. Dormitory & Camp. Helpful 48-page booklet gives full information. Write today for FREE copy.

W. D. Dennison, 543 Jarvis St. Toronto

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

"Tailored to fit like your own"

FORMAL RENTALS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Freemans

256 College St. — KI. 0991
(At Spadina)

556 Yonge St. — KI. 3270
(At Wellesley)

FOOTBALL — VARSITY STADIUM

MULOCK CUP SEMI-FINALS — Monday, Nov. 21st

If St. Mike's win group—1st game 1.15 Vic vs Forestry Pasternak, Smylie, Emon
2nd game 3.15 Sr. SPS vs St. Mike's Luck, Thompson, Stepkowsky

If Jr. SPS win group—1st game 1.15 Vic vs SPS .. Officials as above
2nd game 3.15 Sr. SPS vs Forestry

FINAL—Thursday, Nov. 24th—2.00 p.m.

ADMISSION TO ALL GAMES FREE!

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FOUR SEMI-FINAL TEAMS PLUS THE OFFICIALS ASSIGNED TO THESE GAMES WILL MEET IN THE OFFICIALS' ROOM AT VARSITY STADIUM AT 12.30 P.M. SHARP ON MONDAY.

BASKETBALL REFEREES

APPLICATIONS ARE NOW BEING ACCEPTED FOR BASKETBALL OFFICIALS AT THE INTRAMURAL OFFICE.

ANYONE DESIROUS OF OFFICIATING INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL MUST ATTEND THE FLOOR DEMONSRATION IN THE UPPER GYMNASIUM OF HART HOUSE ON TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3RD, AT 7.00 P.M.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL	4.00	East Jr. SPS vs St. M.	Pasternak, Luck, Emon
SOCCER	3.30	North Pre-Med vs Jr. Vic	Leach
	4.00	South Wyc vs Jr. U.C.	Franco
	4.00	Trin Sr. SPS vs Sr. Vic	Montemurro
LACROSSE	1.00	St. M. C vs Trin	Raymond, Walder
	4.00	Pre-Med vs St. M. B	Stuckey, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL	4.00	Jr. Vic vs Jr. SPS	Fine
	4.00	Knox vs Emman	Carr

C.R.U. FINAL (East vs. West)

Varsity Stadium, November 26th

500 tickets have been allotted to the student body and will be placed on sale on a priority exchange slip basis on Monday, November 21st.

Priority slips will be issued on Monday morning at the north door of Varsity Arena, off Bloor St. parking lot, and tickets will go on sale at the Stadium box office on Devonshire Place at 9.00 a.m.

Seats are in temporary bleachers at north end of the field and are priced at $2.00 each.

ENGLISH RUGBY

Team picture will be taken on Saturday, Nov. 19th, at 1.45. All team members are asked to meet at Hart House for this picture, before the game.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TEAM PICTURES

Team pictures will be taken of the following teams:

SR. & INT. SOCCER	1.00 P.M.	Monday, Nov. 21st
SR. FOOTBALL	1.20 P.M.	Tuesday, Nov. 22nd
SR. TRACK & SR. HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Wed., Nov. 23rd
INT. TRACK & HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Thursday, Nov. 24th

Will all team members make an effort to be present at the time noted, in UNIFORM. Report to Athletic Office in Hart House, or to the Manager.

TWIN SET! Fancy cable stitch in pullover, across shoulders of cardigan. All wool, popularly priced, everywhere.

Lady Anne TORONTO - CANADA

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

BARGAIN

A black English serge dress topcoat, nearly new. Size 38, tall. Call evenings, HO. 3579.

LOST

Blue Eversharp pen, Monday, 12-1, Museum Theatre. Will finder please phone HO. 7964.

WANTED

Girls to act as baby-sitters during evenings. Earn while you study. Ph. GE. 6178 for details.

FOR SALE

Suit of tails, goo condition, $30.00. Phone MI. 7612.

WANTED

Girl to share bachelor apartment. Beautiful location; private bath and telephone, $12 weekly. Phone RO. 1284 after 5.

LOST

Black kitten in vicinity of Dean's House, University College. Phone KI. 2313, last Monday night.

TYPING

Quickly and efficiently done. Reasonable rates. Phone GE. 6178.

TENDERS WANTED

Photogenic Female Fotographer for Grad Dance Dec. 2. Apply in writing to Allen Santo, Grad Union, 44 Hoskin.

FOR RENT

Well furnished bedroom; breakfast optional; male student, $8.00. 150 Walmer Road.

LOST

At Women's Union Tuesday evening, black Sheaffer automatic pencil, a gift. Please contact Jack Patterson, ME. 1953.

DANCE

When? Every Saturday. Where? West End Y.W.C.A., Dundas & St. Johns. How much? 35c a person.

FOR SALE

Two lamps, suitable for students' room. Wrought iron floor lamps, $5.00, and small black and silver table lamp, $2.00. Telephone, evenings 7-8, KI. 2970.

TRANSPORTATION

Passengers from Whitby or Ajax daily. Hours: 8.00 a.m. and 4.30 p.m. Apply Box 8.

PERSONAL

All Vic undergrads wanting S.G. buttons for the semi-finals on Monday afternoon get a free S.G. button with every ticket to "The Scarlet and Gold".

TYPING

Accurate typing by experienced stenographer. Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9923.

LINGUAPHONE

Or any language. Days, PL. 5401; nights, PL. 5524.

TYPIST

Thoroughly experienced, theses, manuscripts, etc., 15c per page, 20-lb. bond, 1 carbon, minor corrections free. HA. 0462.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

Book Review

Sculpture: Principles, Practice

Sculpture, Its Principles and Practice (McClelland and Stewart: $5.95) is one of the few good 'Teach Yourself' books. It starts from scratch: materials (clay and plastilene), a few tools, and simple blocked forms without interior supports. He next moves on to modelling a head from life, with copious examples and illustrations, as everywhere in the book. Here he discusses fundamental problems of sculpture: what makes a sculpture good or bad; what is the difference between a wooden apple and the 'fine vibrant strength of a true apple'. He says that in the case of the apple it is the natural outward growing that gives the apple its essential quality. With trees it is the upward and outward growth. He gives us diagrams showing the natural push and pull in various objects: trees, apples, heads, human beings. This is the theory repeated throughout the book: 'Try to remember you're attempting to build a shape that bursts out from within and grows up and down throughout the whole length and breadth of your sculptural piece. Apples and tree-trunks.'

From there he goes on to modelling figures from life and a good practical discussion on tools and permanent materials: copper, bronze, plaster, terra cotta, granite, etc. His reflections are simple and to the point: 'Study the balance and growth of tree-shapes, plants, hills, people, rocks, shells, or whatever you are looking at. Sculpture must be strong, simple, balanced'.

A word should be said about the illustrations. Those illustrating the methods described in the text are fairly good from a practical point of view, but too many are just third-rate pieces by the author, probably a far more imaginative and creative teacher than an artist. In the little collection at the back, he has chosen some good but lesser known examples mainly from Egyptian, Chinese, Indian, and primitive art. He believes that the essentials of sculpture are thus more observed and reproduced by the beginner. It is a clear, straightforward, unpretentious book, warmly recommended to all mute, inglorious Epsteins.

John Grube.

Trinity's Tradition

(Continued from Page 1)

Yesterday Dashwood was playing soccer again. He is reported to have some difficulty in seeing colors but other than this, which is improving, his vision is normal.

When information about the titanium tetrachloride was sought yesterday afternoon, chemists and doctors alike had trouble defining the properties of the compound.

When approached for a statement yesterday afternoon, J. C. Evans, Registrar of the University and secretary of the Caput had nothing to say. He was busy when reporters tried to see him, and did not leave any message as to where he might be contacted.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE
NOVEMBER 21-28

GAMES — O.C.E. —

	Mon., Nov. 21	Thurs., Nov. 24 (Quarter-finals)
6.30-7.30	P.H.E. II vs U.C. Soph	— — — — —
7.30-8.30	Vic Sr. B vs. St. M's A	League V winner vs League VI winner
8.30-9.30	Meds vs Nurses	P.H.E. II vs. League IV winner

PRACTICES — O.C.E. —

	Tues., Nov. 22	Wed., Nov. 23
5.30-6.30	U.C. Sr.-Jr. A	— — — — —
6.30-7.30	League V	P.H.E. II
7.30-8.30	— — — — —	Winner of League IV
8.30-9.30	— — — — —	Winner of League VI

NOTE:—League Winners will be notified as soon as possible. If any games reports are not in, will managers make sure they are in by Monday morning at the latest. Finals will be in Hart House onNovember 29th and December 1st.

When It's Time To Eat It's Time To Refresh

Ask for it either way . . . both trade-marks mean the same thing.

5¢

COCA-COLA LTD. — TORONTO

ST. MIKE'S, SPS IN RE-PLAY

Tomorrow will see the end of the regular interfaculty football season as the Saint Michael's College grid aggregation face their arch rivals in the form of Jr. SPS. They will vie for the spot of playoff representative for group two in a sudden death encounter at four o'clock on the back campus. Both other groups are sewed up and the play-offs are scheduled to start on Monday.

The play-off plan as outlined by the intramural office has a double-header scheduled for Monday in Varsity stadium. The first game will get under way around one o'clock and the nightcap half will start at four.

Confusing Group 2

Victoria College has salted away the first place in group one with Senior SPS, the second place holders also in the play-off picture. Forestry has done away with all the opposition in group three in handy fashion and will face Vic in the first encounter on Monday. Senior Skule will face St. Mike's if they win today and if Jr. Skule wins then Jr. SPS will meet Vic in the semi-finals. Two teams from one faculty can't meet in the semi-final. The finalists will meet on Thursday next to decide this year's Mulock Mug keeper.

Real Contest

Tomorrow's encounter promises to be a real contest as the two contenders for the group two crown have split the honors in their two previous meetings which tended to be a little on the rough side. The Mikemen last appeared on Tuesday when they handed the Trinity footballers a 23-5 beating. The engineers have not played since last week when their meeting with St. Mike's was nullified by a protest by the Skule manager. Both teams are confident of a win tomorrow and the game may well be one of the standout affairs of the season.

Aggies, Blues, Meet In Finals Of Soccer Loop

Tomorrow the two Toronto University soccer teams will be taking on the O.A.C. Senior and Intermediate teams in what promises to oe the keenest twin-bill of the year. In each case the game will decide the group championships, and this factor should insure some excitement to make it a great spectacle for all who can make it a date. Toronto can afford to tie the Intermediate game yet still take the championship, but the reverse is true in the case of the Seniors, who must win outright to claim the top spot. Both games are scheduled for the front campus—the Intermediates kick off at 11 o'clock, and the Seniors follow at 12 noon.

TEAMS, SENIOR: Newt. Reed, Doug Moffat, Tom Broadhurst, Jim Wotherspoon, Ted Evans,(capt.), Erri Thompson, Alec Kuchkuda, Brian Barton, Bob Antoni, Alain Wyler, Jim Allan. Sub. Bill Leach.

INTERMEDIATES: Kersey, Raymond, Horney, Friele, Moffat, L., Schuler, Wilson, Rigabert, Montemurro, Delfosse, Comrie. Subs: Dos Santos, Osadchuck.

Gals In Hart House 'Twas Legitimate Too

Fun, excitement, talent — this year's swim meet had them all on Wednesday night when the girls from PHE, Vic, UC, Trinity, St. Mike's and MNP competed for the Intramural Cup championship.

For the first time in the past few years a team has managed to beat the indomitable PHE girls, and the honours go to the amalgamation of Meds, Nursing and Physio Therapy who copped top place with 27 points.

The second trophy, the Ishbel Robertson cup for the person with the highest individual points, goes to Jean Cossar, Physio, whose skill in the speed and synchronized departments chalked up 18 points for her team.

The runner-up for individual points was Marg Harrington whose speed and diving won her 16 points, going far towards putting PHE in second place with 20 points in all.

Synchronized Swimming

This year the synchronized swimming took the form of two compulsory figures, (tricks that is), together with a solo routine performed to the music of the contestant's choice. The five solos provided a very enjoyable interval in the evening's program and featured everything from a thrilling interpretation of "Spellbound" to a beautiful rendition of "A Hawaiian Love Song."

In the 50 yard free style event, Marg Harrington, PHE, set the pace at 29.3 seconds, closely followed by Phyllis Manning, Trinity, and Sheila Lennox, Vic, who thrashed through the water in 30 seconds and 32.1 seconds respectively.

Back Stroke

The back stroke race was won by Lois Cossar, MNP, who did the course in 40.0 seconds. Sheila Lennox, Vic and Cay Catto PHE copped second and third spots when they completed the course in 40.2 and 41.4 seconds.

In the breast stroke race, MNP again led the way when Jean Cossar finished in 41.2 seconds with Pam Perrin, Vic, and Nan Soothern, Trinity, close behind with times of 42.0 and 43.4.

Charlotte Chisholm, Trinity, copped the Cochrane Trophy when she won the diving event with 108.6 points. Margaret Harrington, PHE, was close behind her with 107 points as was Rosemary McDonald, MNP, with 102.3.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

G-RRRRR! RRROWF! UGH- OW! LEGGO! GRUNT! . . . As you may have guessed, those are the sound effects coming out of the daily afternoon meeting of the Beef Trust in the Hart House wrestling room. Boy, if another war comes, they'll have to cut out the intercollegiate wrestling competitions because the black marketeers will be down there with a carving knife and a set of scales. Are those guys ever big, and have they got muscle!

Don't let anyone tell you that grunt and groan racket is any soft touch. Those guys aren't kidding. We saw two sinewy-looking boys going a round or two, and the whole room shook every time they threw each other against the wall. Suddenly a sharp crack was heard, and one of the grapplers stopped and said to the other "Hold it, I feel blood."

"So what," replied his pal.

Then Morris Sobel, the instructor, broke it up and examined one of them.

"You'd better hold it up for tonight," was Morris's verdict, "you've got a broken leg. But you better be out here tomorrow night, though, and no excuses. We don't want any pantywaists on our team!"

"This is just the Junior team", Morris told us "stick around for the seniors; they'll be on in ten minutes". Ten minutes later we felt an earthquake shake Hart House . . . the seniors were running down the hall. And then these old eyes lamped more meat on the hoof than they have ever seen since the cattle stampede scene in "Union Pacific".

When the seniors were paired off, Hart House really began to take a beating. One guy got his mitts on a two hundred pound bar-bell, which he promply wound around his opponent's neck. "Strangle hold!" squeeked the wrappee. Morris came over and admonished the ruffian . . . "That's okay for practice, but don't try it in a bout. The ref might disqualify you."

Ye Gods- Cuddles Chetwynd blew a whistle. "Okay, now that you're limbered up, we'll begin training. Mr. Sobel will show you the chicken wing-half nelson fall hold".

Morris came out and began his lecture. "This hold, boys, is very easy. All you have to do is grab your man right, pull, and presto . . . his arm's broken. Right then and there you've got an advantage. Once his arm's gone, apply a crotch-and-neck and you've got him."

That ended the lecture, and Morris took one of his mastodons for a demonstration, he got the hold on him, pulled, and an arm flew by us, splattering our gym shorts with blood.

"Oops," commented Chet, "he must have pulled too hard. Get me the first aid kit and a bottle of mucilage, will you, please, Morris?"

At that precise moment we decided not to make our fortune wrestling. In fact, from now on we will take our P.T. credits playing Musical Chairs, if that's okay with Cuddles.

Interfaculty Sports

Unbeaten Trinity "A's" finished their season by defeating Senior U.C. 3-0 on the front campus yesterday afternoon. Soccer fans were treated to a smart game as both teams displayed the best form they have shown this season.

The first goal came from a nice centre from Al Forbes to Tim Clarkson, while the second was a solo effort on a blasting shot by Dick Butterfield from the pivot-half position. The lone counter of the second half came when Hugh Rowan beat the goalie after a nice passing play with Al Forbes.

The loss meant nothing to U.C. who had already been eliminated, but it guaranteed the Buttery boys first place in the first group, and a bye to the semi-finals of the Arts Faculty Cup playoffs.

The onrushing Vic boxla team beat the daylights out of loop-leading UC yesterday 9-2. The Vixen scored within four seconds of the start of the game and lead 7-0 early in the second quarter Davidson, Hamm and Hastings were the sparklers for Vic. The win tied Vic with Meds for second place.

St. Mike's "C" team edged Meds III 6-3, in another boxla encounter. Wiechorek and Ryan scored thrice and twice respectively.

Emmanuel soccer team cinched top spot in group four beating Trinity II 2-1.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Vic Freshies B. 27, O. T. 23
P. H. E. II, U. C. Sophs, cancelled.
U.C. sr. jr. A, 35, St. Hilda sr. jr. 13
Nurses, 36, St. Mike's B. 12.

VARSITY SPORTS

12,000 Out Of Town Fans Here For Yates Cup Final

Reports from London indicate that the fans from the University of Western Ontario are not too pleased with the choice of Toronto's Varsity Stadium for the Yates Cup final tomorrow.

In an editorial in the "Western Gazette" Western's bi-weekly newspaper, the editor remarks on the failure of McGill to reciprocate a "sporting gesture" made by Western toward McGill in 1938. In that year, in answer to the pleas of McGill, Western agreed to travel to Montreal for the final. Apparently the Gazette expected McGill to go to London this year, but were sadly disappointed at the decision reached last week-end to have the playoff in Toronto.

Lots of Followers

No matter, however, how the teams like the location they got the fans seem eager enough to come to Toronto as advance ticket sales indicate. Western ordered 8,000 ducats and nearly that many have been sold so far. About 4,000 were sent to McGill. The rest have been sold to Varsity students and to the general public. The Western team is not staying over Saturday night and most of the fans will return to London for a post-game dance and perhaps, celebration, according to Students' Council plans.

McGill last won the Yates Cup in 1938, and since that time it has been monopolized by Western except for last year. In the war years the cup was not awarded, only exhibition games being played. This year it looks as if the Redmen should carry the Cup back to Montreal with them in view of their win last week and their two decisive conquests of Varsity. The only bad news from the Redmen's camp is the fact that Jim Mitchener all-star end, will probably be out of action with a severe ankle strain.

Bloor St. Blues

The Mustangs will be at full strength but they have the "Bloor Bowl Blues". They have not won a game in Toronto since 1947. That psychological jinx may handicap them. Regardless of who wins the game will be a great one to watch from an impartial Toronto fan's viewpoint.

Rugger Wanderers Take On Blue Team

On Saturday Varsity meets Wanderers champion team, who through lack of a sponsor could not make the trip to Nova Scotia. Toronto Varsity is producing its very best to play the city team. Wanderers have lost a scrum half through a broken ankle as well as their star centre and kicker Freddie Spence, who is being moved from Toronto. Their line-up is still the greatest threat that Varsity is liable to meet this side of the Rockies and the game will be a very close battle. Wanderers beat McGill 8-5; Varsity beat McGill 8-0 and 11-5. The line-up for Saturday is Anderson; Cox, Jack Gibbs, Al Gowdey, Jim Miles; Rick Gaunt, Dave Donaldson; Dugan, Matsui, Reisberry, Day, Douglas, Cameron, Gerard, and Sam Toy.

EATON'S

Attractively Priced for Christmas Giving!

LITTLE JEWEL BOXES

From New York!

Jewel boxes . . . practical gifts with a hint of luxury . . . in the embossed simulated leather coverings, the rayon satin and velvet linings, the soft-toned feminine colours! Compact little 7" x 4" x 1½" size, cleverly sectioned to hold and protect those easy-to-mislay earrings and costume pieces.

Choose deep rose with turquoise lining, ivory with deep fuchsia lining, or turquoise with palest pink lining . . . in 3-bar earring box, or costume jewelry - and - earring box. EACH 2.75

Phone TR. 5111
EATON'S Main Store — Main Floor — (Dept. 217) and EATON'S College Street — Main Floor

THE T. EATON Co LIMITED

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Colder with Snow

VOL. LXIX NO. 42 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Monday, November 21, 1949

Four Out Of Five

WESTERN RETAKES YATES CUP

Right Outside Left Outside At U.S. Line

Alec Kuchkuda, right outside for the Senior Soccer Blues was stopthe Senior Soccer Blues was stopthe team was on its way to Buffalo Nov. 9.

American Immigration officials refused him entry to the United States when he said that he was not a Canadian. He answered that he was Polish.

This left the team with only twelve players, allowing coach Brian Barton only one substitute throughout the game. While the Blues went on to win the game, 3-1, Kuchkuda stayed behind in Niagara Falls, Canada.

Kuchkuda came to Canada under the Displaced Persons act three years ago and entered the University of Toronto this fall.

Buffalo State Teacher's College officials were reported to be amazed and chagrined at the news of the barring of the Varsity player.

Formal-Informal? UC Ball Problem At Lit Meeting

Details of the UC Lit-WUA amalgamation and the form of this year's UC Arts Ball are the important questions to be considered at the University College Literary and Athletic Society open meeting tomorrow, Tuesday, Nov. 22. The meeting will be held in the Junior Common Room, UC, at 8 p.m.

This year's Arts Ball is to be on the campus for the first time, instead of at the Royal York Hotel as has been the custom. The question of whether the dance is to be formal or informal will be discussed. Before the war, the Arts Balls were formal, but in the post-war period the rule became informal. It is suggested by advocates of a formal ball, that with the decrease of student veterans, the time has come for a return to the pre-war custom.

A report on the proposed amalgamation, approved last year, will be presented by the amalgamation committee which has been working on the details of the problem for about six months.

Lively debate is expected on these questions, and UC Lit executives are requesting all members to attend this meeting.

Nice Teeth...

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

In this scene from Robertson Davies' comedy Fortune My Foe, Frances Halpenny, as a recreation expert, admires what she calls 'a nice piece of project work.' Margaret Bronson and Gilda Newman don't seem too impressed. The play, under the direction of Robert Gill, will appear at Hart House Theatre from Saturday, Nov. 26 through Saturday Dec. 3.

University Campus Shows To Learn From Austrians

Thirty-one Austrian students will visit the campus next week-end, Nov. 25-27, to entertain and to be entertained. Sponsored by the ISS, the troupe will be in Toronto to present a musical revue, "Merry Scenes from Austria", at Massey Hall, Saturday night, Nov. 26.

"This Austrian student show may be an eye-opener to producers of Toronto college shows," an ISS spokesman said Wednesday. "From all reports it is overflowing with talent, originality and spontaniety."

The program is composed of folksongs, folk-dancing, yodelling and music combined in a series of scenes. Dialogue and story will be in English and the songs in German. Typical of the numbers to be presented are "A Peasant Festival", "At a Village Winegarden", and "A Visit to Vienna".

Felix Malzer, who led the Austrian choir boys who were here last year, directs the accompanying orchestra which will contain some instruments foreign to Canadian students such as mountain zithers.

In addition to the Saturday performance, on Sunday at 10 a.m. the group will sing the mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

In return, I.S.S. plans a full program of entertainment for the Austrian students. On Friday at Wymilwood a reception will be held from 3-5 p.m., to which all University students are invited. Friday evening in Burwash Hall a formal dinner will be given for the visitors and their hosts, followed by a party held by John Madsen, a teacher of Canadian folk-dancing in Toronto.

On Saturday morning, President Sidney Smith will officially welcome the Austrian students and they will be taken on a tour of the campus. In the afternoon students will receive the visiting group in their homes.

Sunday afternoon closes the week-end's entertainment when I.S.O. will hold a farewell reception to which all University students are invited.

Newman Cultural Exhibit Has European Handicrafts

With an emphasis on European national culture that is contributing to Canadian heritage, the International Committee of the Newman Club presented a diversified parade of handicrafts and manufactured products over the week-end in Newman House. The aim of the exhibit was to show that there are many different cultures and peoples, all of the same faith, contributing to make a Canadian culture.

Most of the groups presented examples of weaving and embroidery made by hand as the backbone of their exhibit. Slovakia, Lithuania, the Ukraine and Hungary had some examples of this art. France displayed bolts of Lyons silk and Scotland had some wool plaids. The Dutch exhibit emphasized the advertising ability of her country with posters and a magazine devoted to advertising, but Dutch chocolates and hand carved silverware were also displayed. The intricately designed and painted Easter eggs of the Ukraine attracted much attention.

The Polish exhibit displayed paintings and graphic prints executed by Polish artists in Canada. In addition each national group included books and a few tangible examples of art and sculptures of their respective countries.

Each group also had people in native costumes to explain the displays. Religious emphasis was to be found in the hand-made priests' garments and antique prayer books.

Many of the objects displayed belong to new residents of Canada who brought these objects with them when they came to Canada. Often noticeable were signs that objects had been made in Displaced Persons camps during the war, and some examples of political consciousness were apparent.

One representative of each national group in the club was responsible for arranging a display, and they went to either private parties, consuls or international associations to acquire objects.

In addition to the display itself a communion breakfast was held Sunday morning at which Cardinal McGuigan spoke, emphasizing again the variety of people and cultures united by a common religion.

On Saturday night a dance was held which featured national dances with the participants attired in their native costumes.

STUDENT-PROFESSOR GET-TOGETHERS HELD BY McGILL SOCIETY

Montreal—(CUP)—A chance for students and their professors to get together was provided at McGill recently through a tea in the Union sponsored by the education committee of the Arts and Science undergraduate society.

The chairman of the education committee declared that since students get little opportunity for personal contact with their professors during the year, the most valuable part of their university education is limited. Similarly, professors rarely get to know their students intimately.

The hope was expressed at the tea that "get" sessions of this type could be held regularly to further student-professor relations.

Western Passing Wraps Up Game— Robillard Is Star

The University of Western Ontario were crowned Champions of the Intercollegiate Football League when they won the Yates Cup Saturday by beating the McGill Redmen 12-9. Western held the cup for four straight years until Varsity won it in 1948, and the Mustangs brought it back to London this season to make it four out of five.

Western Passes Count

Western held a slight edge during the whole game, although McGill gave them some anxious moments with sustained ground drives. The passing ability of the Mustangs pulled them out of holes and accounted for the winning touchdown. Western fumbled several times and McGill recovered some of these fumbles, but Western evened up these breaks by intercepting several McGill passes.

In the first quarter Western kept the Redmen in their own end of the field with neither team having an advantage until Bill Nicholls of McGill recovered a Western fumble on Western's 45 yard line. Bob McFarlane on the next play intercepted a Montreal pass and ran it to the McGill 9 yard line. The Mustangs tried two plunges and fumbled on the second to lose 18 yards when they recovered their own fumble. Dave Hackett ran the third-down kick to the McGill two, and Robillard quick kicked to the centre stripe. Western gained a first down, and when they failed to make ten on the next two downs, kicked to Fairhead behind the McGill line. Fairhead dropped the ball behind his line as he fell and Bill Ford recovered for a major. The convert attempt was blocked to make it 5-0 for the Mustangs.

Robillard Makes Point

After that score, McGill came out fighting and marched up the field on plunges, end-runs and a roughing penalty to Western. On third down Robillard kicked a single over the deadline from the Western 27 to put the score at 5-1.

The Mustangs began to roll themselves after this, and tried a field goal from the McGill forty, which failed. Robillard again quick-kicked to his own 32. Western plunged twice and kicked. Robillard was rouged for one point when he lateralled the ball over the deadline. Western tried some long passes when half time approached, but the score was still 6-1 at the half.

Robillard TD Ties Game

A few minutes after the kickoff in the third quarter, McGill drove down to the Western forty. Robillard cut in short on an end run and got by the defending Mustangs to run for a touchdown. The convert try just missed the posts, and the score was tied. McGill pressed in the third quarter, and had several scoring chances from Western's ten, but failed, and the Mustangs pulled out of danger when the Indians threw a third down end zone pass.

The Londoners uncorked a passing attack from their own 25 that brought them to the McGill 45. Gray tried a long pass that failed, and the teams changed ends for the fourth quarter. On the first play of the fourth period, Western's Gray threw a long pass to Dick Hill who caught it on the McGill 5 and ran over for another major. The convert hit the post, but bounced good, to set the score at 12-6.

The Redmen took to the air from there, but failed to get anywhere until Vince Capogreco recovered a fumble in the Western zone. End runs and plunges carried McGill to the Western five yard line, but the Purple front wall held off and got the ball on downs.

Robillard Again

The Mustangs were not seriously threatened from then on, and the only other scoring was done by Rocky Robillard, when he kicked a beautiful field goal from forty yards out with just a minute and a half remaining. Western took the ball and held it until the end of the game.

Robillard played a great game and was easily the best on the field, while Bob McFarlane and Blake Taylor went well for the winners.

Game Ducats Go Begging Scalpers Left Out In Cold

An almost full stadium of hardy fans sat through rain and snow to watch Western win the Yates Cup again. The Blue and White had their all-star team on hand (a bear, a mule, a leopard and of course, a monkey). The only other sign of the presence of the U. of T. was when some loyal supporters sang "Old Toronto, Mother Ever Dear" at the start of the game.

✣ ✣ ✣

This was the first game of the year in which there wasn't even one Toike Oike. Some of the sturdy Skule men looked lost standing around the goal-posts at the end of the game having nothing to do. It was a miracle that no one was hurt when the goal posts came down as they fell across the path of part of the crowd heading for the exits. One post did hit a Western student—he was only bruised.

✣ ✣ ✣

Western cheerleader Ruthie Summerlin was not dressed for the game as she strained her back at the McGill- estern game in Montreal. Ruthie is the girl who was given a Skule "S" for distinguished cart-wheels on lady Godiva Memorial Day.

✣ ✣ ✣

One drunk waving a pennant with a large M turned out to be from McMaster and was not trying to raise support for the Red and White but for the Grey and Maroon.

✣ ✣ ✣

Just before the game started some of the fans in the south end stood up for a piece being played by the McGill band which they thought sounded more like the "King" than "James McGill."

✣ ✣ ✣

The Western drum majorettes were prepared for tough weather as they carried on with their baton twirling in plastic capes that still revealed their uniforms or the lack of the same. Several of the lovelies brought out fur coats when the rain-snow stopped and even when bundled up in these moth-baits they still threw a mean baton.

✣ ✣ ✣

The paper vendor at Bloor and Devonshire sold out all the Star and Telys that he had when the crowd came out at half time to get something to kill the damp.

✣ ✣ ✣

At last the ticket scalpers were taken for a ride when they had to sell their tickets at a loss, if at all. Some of these human blood-suckers were yelling "2 tickets for the price of one." And they couldn't even

(Continued on Page 7)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T3
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Gleneck, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... R. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Don Stevenson

ASSISTANTS: Jim Simpson, Isobel Ward, Audrey Parrett

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1949

We're Still Here, Louis....

Last week the Montreal Standard carried a story on the International Student Service Conference being held in Montreal, which read in part:

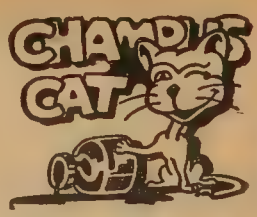
"About 70 students from 30 universities across Canada are participating in the meeting which is the fourth annual gathering to be held by I.S.S., but the first in Canada. Previous annual meetings have been held in Toronto."

The Montreal Standard is a good newspaper, and we are shocked that it has seen fit to suggest that our fair city is not a part of Canada. When we think of the thousands of Montrealers who may have read that report we shudder. They have called us a lot of things in various parts of the country, but until now, no one has gone so far as to suggest that we are aliens.

Admittedly, there are some aspects of life in Toronto which might lead people to think we hail from foreign parts. One blue, barbarous Sunday here could do it. Or a look at the faces of the good citizens on their way to work on the morning street cars. Or a serious consideration of some of the trivia which Toronto City Council plays with.

Our laws are a little different from those in Montreal; our traditions spring from other sources and are often very conservative. But we are and have been, part of Ontario, and part of Canada for quite a while. Last time we heard anything about it we still were in the Dominion.

If the Montreal Standard could sit back and imagine the trouble that such a condition would cause it would be more careful in its reporting. Can you imagine getting a visa to come to Toronto, and being barred from the city by the council because you don't think right.



"You come from Montreal?" asks one of the Toronto Immigration Officers. And on an affirmative answer he bars you because Montreal believes in allowing its theatres to stay open on Sunday, its football team to play on Sunday, and its citizens to have a good time, on Sunday. "Your presence is undesirable at the present time." And that is that.

Think of the unutterable confusion of stopping at the "border" for customs, and the red tape involved in getting milk into our children. Some of our better known controllers would start running for "Prime Minister of Toronto", and that would be insufferable.

The British made a fine film recently on the subject of what happens when a small part of a country suddenly gains its independance. But let's not have it happen here.

As permanent and transient Torontonians we would ask The Montreal Standard to be more careful of what it says about us in the future.

We want to assure The Montreal Standard and any other doubting Thomases that we are still in confederation. And if any reports to the contrary have gone up to Ottawa, we want to reassure Mr. St. Laurent (and Mr. Drew) that Toronto Is Still Part Of The Dominion.

By-Ways And Fly-Ways

The other morning as I approached Trinity College by way of Philosopher's Walk, I noticed, just as I was passing a clump of leptocephalus which has not as yet dropped its foliage, a Red-Crested Skiplecture.

This bird, about the size of a lesser Flat-tailed Grebe, is most uncommon in these latitudes at this time of year, although its species is often observed earlier in the fall, and usually reappears after the Christmas season, disappearing again near the middle of March.

My Skiplecture—I call him 'mine' simply because it was I who observed him—was uttering low, plaintive cries, not at all reminiscent of the usual boisterous, happy squalling of its species.

Of course, on first observing him, I took out my Bird-watchers Guide, revised Aug. 1933, and searched through the index until I found the page on which his species is described. My Guide, written by Professor Tattle J. Myosis, describes the Skiplecture in great detail. "The Great Northern or Red-Crested Skiplecture," writes Prof. Myosis, "is a most singular bird. It is extremely numerous in the vicinities of colleges in the fall. It disappears in the middle of November, not reappearing again until after the first of the New Year. Its food commonly consists of egg, peanut-butter, or cheese and lettuce sandwiches. Its cry is most singular, consisting of titters and giggles, sometimes interspersed with chuckles and something that sounds like 'Naw, I never go to HIS lectures'."

Any avid bird-watcher can understand the thrill of discovery that ran through my veins upon discovering so rare a bird (for this time of year) at this time of year. Naturally, all thoughts of Polly Sigh (whose lecture I was on my way to attend) vanished immediately from my mind.

Undoubtedly any other connoisseur of bird-life, or for that matter, any public-spirited citizen, would do just as I did. It is hardly to be expected that student apathy, the all-too-nearness of essay deadlines, or even the imminent prospect of

(Continued on Page 7)

WHAT'S ON TODAY

HILLEL

The musical that was to be held today is to be postponed until a future date. Watch for the announcement in The Varsity.

♣ ♣ ♣

TRINITY ARTS AND LETTERS

Etorre Mazellini, the Principal of the Royal Conservatory of Music, is speaking to the Trinity College Arts and Letters Club on 'Originality and the Composer', today in the College Board Room at 4.00 p.m.

♣ ♣ ♣

VIC S.C.M.

"Open Sunday" will be the subject for discussion in room 26 at 4 p.m. today. The second group will be held on Wednesday.

♣ ♣ ♣

LPP FORUM

"Is Tito a Communist?" will be the topic of discussion today at the LPP Forum, Room 2, UC at 1 p.m.

♣ ♣ ♣

BAHA'I

Mr. F. St. George Spendlove of the Royal Ontario Museum will address the Baha'i Student Group today at 1 p.m. in Room 64 (basement) of University College. His subject: "What Did Baha'u'llah Bring?"

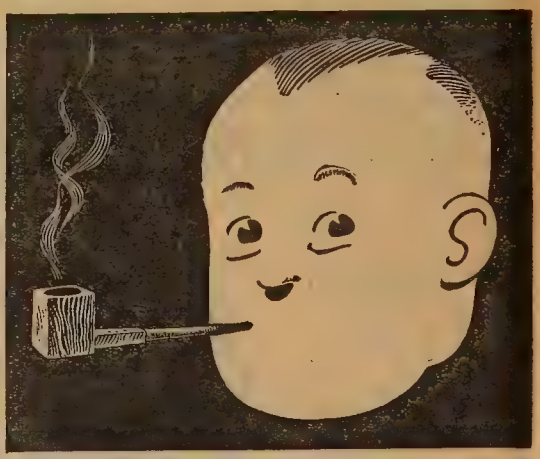
♣ ♣ ♣

PEACE COUNCIL

The University of Toronto Peace Council will hold a membership meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in Wymilwood.

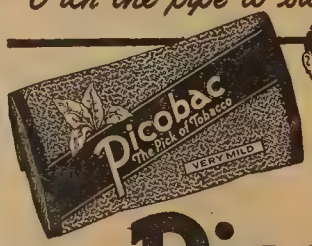
♣ ♣ ♣

VICTORIA COLLEGE UNION



All members are urged to consider the notice on the main bulletin board.

♣ ♣ ♣



CARNEGIE RECORDS

The program for the Carnegie Record Collection musicale today at 4.30 p.m. in the Mechanical Building will consist of Corelli's "Christmas Concerto" and Schubert's "Symphony No. 9 in C."

NEVER PUT A SQUARE PIPE IN A ROUND FACE!

Pick the pipe to suit Your Type

When you've picked your pipe right—pick your tobacco right. Pick Picobac the pick of pipe tobaccos.

Picobac

Picobac is Burley Tobacco—the coolest, mildest tobacco ever grown.

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

SPEAKER: F. ST.G. SPENDLOVE

SUBJECT: "WHAT DID BAH'A'ULLAH BRING?"

PLACE: ROOM 64 U.C. (BASEMENT)

TODAY 1 P.M. ALL WELCOME

Come - Single

U.C. FOLLIES CAST PARTY

Tickets at the Door

TONIGHT 9:00 P.M. J.C.R.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1:30 p.m. today.

REVOLVER CLUB

There will be a shoot in the range at 7:30 tonight.

GLEE CLUB

Regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5:00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7:30 tonight.

CAMERA CLUB

The second in a series of noon-hour movies will take place in the Club Rooms on Wednesday, 23rd November, at 1:15 p.m. All members of the club are invited to attend.

EXPLORATION SOCIETY

Mr. Andrew Lawrie, who spent a year studying the migration of the caribou and lived among the Eskimo will speak to the Hart House Exploration Society, in the Music Room, Thursday, 24th November, at 8:00 p.m.

TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL

The third of the Tuesday informal recitals will be held in the East Common Room tomorrow at 1:25 p.m. All members are invited to attend.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB VE3BPD

Time tables for code and theory instruction groups will be issued at a brief meeting on Tuesday, 22nd November, at 5:00 p.m. in the Debates Room. All members interested in participating should attend.

THE VARSITY

Monday, November 21, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

Archives Give Past Presence Asserts Smith

"The erection of the Archives and Sigmund Samuel Canadiana Gallery is a symbol of national maturity—a sign that we are growing up as a nation," said President Sidney Smith in an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the new building on Saturday afternoon.

President Smith said that the Archives and Canadiana Gallery "will preserve the records, not only of this City and this Province, but of Canada." It will be a perpetual reference to the glories of the past, he said.

"The books, documents, maps and pictures will not be placed in the building to be locked up in order to preserve them," he said. "They must be interpreted and explained for the purpose of throwing light on the past and thereby of enlightening the present and illuminating the future."

President Smith likened the continuity of Canadian development to a stream, through a study of the headwaters of which "we can better harness its power for the present and the future." In the study of Canada's history made possible by the facilities afforded by the erection of this building "we will recognize out of the pastness of the past, the presence of the past," he said.

The president congratulated the Provincial Government for its contribution of $250,000 towards the erection of the building, a sum matched by Dr. Sigmund Samuel, who contributed $150,000 towards the cost of the building, and donated $100,000 for the endowment of the collection of Canadiana and Americana. Dr. Samuels has selected a collection of over one thousand pictures and an abundance of maps, charts, documents and books directly related to Canada's national development and growth.

"By reason of that unselfish purpose and his success in fulfilling it, Dr. Samuels has full warrant to the designation — a great Canadian," said Pres. Smith.

Dr. Smith outlined the use of the Archives and Canadiana Gallery to Canadians of all walks of life, from boys and girls from our schools who will find here the stories of Canada's leaders, through men of industry, to the student and teacher of the University who will find here "the opportunity for scholarly research and the challenge to interpret the record of the past."

Library Evening Attacks Motives Of Biographers

"The personality of the author is often overly dominant in biography writing," said Professor Keith Feiling of the Department of History at the Hart House Library evening, last week. He was speaking on Biography and Biographers. During his address he noted that the motive for writing biographies is often "bread and butter" or self or family-justification. As an example of the latter he selected the Churchill biographies of Marlborough and Lord Randolph. Prof. Feiling felt the motive should be that of any other "work of art".

The school of biographical writers founded by Lytton Strachey, while preferable to that of the prejudicial writers, is open also to criticism because of too often being overly selective and arbitrarily analytical. The audience questioned Professor Feiling at the end of the lecture on the distinction between facts and opinions in biography research. The reliability of the press in reporting the activities of the more important figures of the age also entered the discussion. Professor Feiling is at present engaged in writing a biography of Neville Chamberlain, and is planning to write a biography of Warren Hastings of India.

SOCIAL WORK CLUB

There will be a closed meeting of the Social Work Club Tuesday, Nov. 22 at Wymilwood at 8 p.m. Report and discussion on survey of "Cabbage Town".

Student Pilots

The boys in the picture above are shown as they prepare for a training trip at one of the RCAF stations where University students do summer training. Applications are now being accepted at 119 St. George St. in the RCAF Orderly room.

RCAF Accepting Students For Summer Employment

"First come, first served" is the motto at the RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. They are accepting applications from Air Force veterans who want summer employment with the service.

These opportunities are open for any student taking Theology or any other course which involves training in some line that could be utilized by the RCAF.

To be eligible students must be in '51 or '52 and preferably ex-aircrew.

There will be another test for the University Flight of the RCAF, on Tuesday Nov. 22 at 7 p.m. Open to all students, it will be held in Room 16 of the Engineering Building, and is for all candidates who did not complete tests last Wednesday.

To be eligible for the University Flight, candidates must be in their freshman year in a course leading directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54, or '55. This includes all courses except Dentistry and Forestry, but including Pharmacy and Theology.

All other men due to graduate in '53, '54, or '55 from Architecture, Library School, Medicine, OCE or Theology may also try the test.

Decide In Referendum UBC To Levy $1 Fee For European Relief

Vancouver — (CUP) — In a referendum to decide whether the ISS could continue its relief and educational program in Europe, UBCers voted two to one for levying a flat one dollar fee from each student to pay for the program. This will be added to student fees.

The dollar boost in fees will enable ISS to supply books and clothes to students in European countries. It will also enable ISS to bring European students to more Canadian Universities. At present, University of British Columbia are subsidizing two European students on the campus, and University of Toronto have five.

Speaking editorially, Ubyssey, the undergrad newspaper, said: "The Ubyssey is inclined to feel that the greater good would be achieved, in the long run, were we to attempt to get students who can, after the completion of their education, return home."

B'nai B'rith Foundation Finds Permanent Home

A permanent building has been acquired by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, announced the chairman of the Toronto Hillel Commission, Jack D. Pearlstein.

The twelve room house at 186 St. George St. will contain chapel, assembly room, lounge and office. The building will be dedicated next January, when a meeting will be held for representatives of all B'nai B'rith units and the Jewish community.

No Lower Prices For Formal Rental Say Toronto Firms

Little hope for lower prices to men students renting formal suits was given by officials of Toronto formal rental shops interviewed Friday. The officials were asked to comment on an open letter printed in The Varsity last Friday in which St. Mike's SAC President, Dave Quigley, asked that the price for rentals of men's formal wear be lowered to about three or four dollars.

Increases Discount

The consensus of the officials was that such a price would be impossibly low. A discount of one dollar is already given by three stores to students, making the price six dollars rather than the regular seven dollars. H. Mallabar of the Mallabar Costume Company indicated he would increase his present discount of ten percent, or 70 cents, to one dollar. This would bring his prices in line with the other three companies.

Mallabar also said he considers it a good idea for all four companies to increase the discount to students, but the other officials gave no hope of any decrease in price.

Buy New Suits

F. G. Foster, manager of the Formal Rental Department at Syd Silver's emphasized the increase in costs during and since the war. He said the price for rentals when he first entered the business was $3.50, but that he was earning $30 a week at that time. "I couldn't live on that now," he commented.

He said it is necessary to carry a large stock of suits for certain occasions and these suits are not usually in use. To illustrate this argument he told of a recent order for 300 suits received by his firm from Queen's University. So many new suits had had to be bought to fill the order that the cost used up all the profit.

Fashions Change

I. Freeman of Freeman's Formal Clothes Rental Store said costs are made surprisingly high, partly because of the way in which suits quickly go out of fashion. He said his firm has 200 single breasted tuxedos it cannot rent out because they are no longer in style.

Claiming that a price of three or four dollars cannot seriously be considered, he pointed out that a decrease from six dollars to five dollars would mean little to each student. "A one dollar drop in price wouldn't mean much to each student," he said. "But it means plenty to us."

Costs Increase

During the interview with the owner of the Mallabar Costume Company, H. Mallabar pointed out that cleaning and pressing costs have increased greatly. He said the price for laundering a collar and shirt has now reached 60 to 70 cents.

A. Brown of Brown's Formal Wear also emphasized increased costs when he said it is impossible to lower prices.

Ceiling Collapses, Traffic Diverted At Vic College

Vic billboards, chairs, long hanks of rope, two copies of The Varsity, one green plaid scarf and one janitor, George Scott, stood guard Thursday over a large portion of the Victoria College ceiling.

Students climbing the stairs to the second floors were slowed to single file as half the staircase was roped off under the first lamp by the stairway. This lamp was hanging dangerously three inches lower than it does normally.

Comments were far from sympathetic as those bound for the Tuck-shop were forced to detour out the front door and in again by the side entrance.

"The old place is going. It's about time." "I knew this was going to happen."

Explanations varied. Someone remarked admiringly, "It's the Revue! They've practised right through the ceiling!" Another volunteered, "Too much scrubbing. The water soaks through." Or, "She's just getting old. It happens in the best of places." And someone darkly suggested, "Espionage! What goes on behind that locked door to the Tower?"

The man who knew, Reuben, the head janitor, explained: "It's just old age and constant vibration. Perhaps one of the joists has loosened a bit over a period of time and the resulting increased pressure has caused the ceiling to sink. It might hang there for weeks, or it might pfall while I'm talking to you."

The bulge in the ceiling which lowered the light three inches, is just above the first stairway, and was discovered yesterday morning and was immediately roped off. It had been cracked before but not as badly.

The architect was called in for an opinion, but the exact cause of the trouble will not be determined until the ceiling can be taken apart. Meanwhile, it was planned to commence work on reinforcing the ceiling, Thursday night.

Architects At Detroit

See Latest In Design

During the weekend of November 11 to 13, third and fifth year students of the Faculty of Architecture visited Detroit in order to see an exhibition of Interiors and Furniture by leading American designers at the Civic Art Gallery, and to visit some of the examples of modern architecture around the city.

The Exhibition displayed how the creative artist is solving the practical problems of today in the field of interiors and furniture, by the use of new materials, products and technology. The evolution of the chair in the last hundred years was featured, as well as examples of modern and functional glassware, and lighting fixtures that looked like bursting, miniature skyrockets. In the field of interior decoration, washable fabrics such as jute, plastic, leather and sailcloth plus hard durable surfaces for floors and tables were emphasized in the displays.

Some designers featured built-in storage units and low wide furniture. One dining room had white canvas chairs and a light turquoise floor; another a studded cabinet unit with an excessive use of colour. One designer displayed a plywood chair that looked more like a bathtub than an object to sit on.

On Saturday the students visited Kingswood Girls' School, an example of modern architecture that features green marble stairs, terrazzo floors, heavy broadloom carpets and small windows contrasted by the main entrance door which is nine and a half feet high. The brightly lit corridors are twelve feet wide and are lined with settees and chairs and writing desks. Semi-circular coffered ceilings dominated by round aluminum lamps are used in the auditorium.

Later the aspiring architects were entertained in a house designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. The house was built entirely with brick and stained cyprus. Special volumes are interpreted with a low canopy entrance, a kitchen of immense height and a very low, narrow hallway. A skylight roof made of one sheet of glass secured with mastic adds to the special effect.

Another house visited had a roof jutting off at many angles and pitches to facilitate an awkward kitchen and confused bedroom wings. The wide staircase, however, leads to a living room on the upper level crouched in the nearby pond thus providing a natural panorama.

Altogether the trip was an enthusiastic one for all the participants.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

Orient Authority To Give Lecture At Baha'i Meeting

F. St. George Spendlove, Keeper of the Later European Galleries in the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology, will be the guest speaker at the third open meeting of the Baha'i Student Group in Room 64, University College, at 1 p.m. today.

Spendlove is well known to Toronto audiences for his museum lectures on Chinese porcelains and related subjects.

In 1935 he was chosen to edit the catalogue for an international exhibition of Chinese Art in London and is recognized as an authority on Buddhist Art.

A graduate of the Courtold Institute, University of London, Spendlove has travelled extensively in the Orient. In addition to his professional work he has spoken on the subject of the Baha'i World Faith in Canada, England and the United States.

While living in England, he was a member of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of England and his subject for today's lecture is "What Did Baha'ullah Bring?"

ATTENTION!!

ALL GRADS OF LAWRENCE PARK COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
ALUMNI MEETING
Wednesday, November 23, 8 p.m.
L.P.C.I. Auditorium

1949-50 Committee Elections
DANCING WILL FOLLOW MEETING

You Are Cordially Invited to Attend
A FREE LECTURE ON

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

entitled

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE:
THE WAY OF FREEDOM

By Arthur Perrow, C.S. of Chicago, Illinois Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

to be Given in

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
196 St. George Street at Lowther Avenue
TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 22nd, AT 8.15

ART MUSIC DRAMA

TSO Pops

Parked away in a dark corner of sold-out Massey Hall, we had grave misgivings about an ultimate review, as we could see only the conductor's baton in a row of heads, but with crowds of people storming past regularly until intermission, including a noisy cluster of ushers, we missed not only a visual impression of the concert but also an aural one.

In spite of all however, the Metropolitan's bosomy, glamorous mezzo-soprano Gladys Swarthout held back even the passers-by, and we heard a magnificent voice infused with a skilful dramatic presentation that lifted the singer's interpretations into the realm of the ethereal. Miss Swarthout sang a Handel aria, a viennese waltz, two moderns by John Duke, and Sadero's Fa La Nana Bambin in her first group.

What we heard of Nicolai's Merry Wives of Windsor Overture was technically precise, but the performance dragged somewhat, thus avoiding the true spirit of the opera that it precedes. But in the broadcast portion, Paul Scherman's conducting gained some life. (It had little before.) And Frescobaldi's Toccata came through with beauty aand resonance, as did Bach's Air For The G String (Suite in D) and Rimsky-Korsakov's Cappriccio Espagnole.

Gladys Swarthout appeared again to sing the Letter Scene From Massenet's Werther, Offenbach's Tu n'est Pas Beau and El Vito. To each the soloist gave a different mood; moved with the spirit of the role of which the aria is part. The welling flow of her soprano transcends all recordings we have heard, both in drama and in fidelity.

The amazing part of this Pops performance was the general absence of vitality and accuracy in the orchestra, notably in the French horns' wavering production of tone, that we do not find in the regular series' concerts Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

William Glenesk.

Malcuzynski

Polish pianist Malcuzynski played an all-Chopin concert Thursday at Massey Hall to a fairly small audience of Chopin devotees. For an evening of one composer's works it was a surprisingly well-rounded program.

(Continued on Page 5)

"V.C.F. TUESDAY TALKS"

Hear Jane Hollingsworth

1:10 p.m. Tuesday — Room 64 U.C. Basement

YOUR HOST - U.C. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

* A Confessing Christian Group
* A Biblical Christian Group
* A Catholic Christian Group

OFFICIAL
CREST PINS AND RINGS
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

.... may be purchased to your order in three places

S.A.C. OFFICE
ROOM 62
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

EDWARDS
INSIGNIA JEWELLERS
536 BAYVIEW AVE.,
MO. 4212

SHORNEYS
OPTICIANS
70 BLOOR ST. W.
(cor. Bay St.)
Written S.A.C. order required

Unless it is something "special" approximately 2½ weeks are required to complete an order. All Rings are made to your measure, and Guards are individually cut.

A-V.R. A-V.R.

ARE YOU
A FRED ASTAIRE? A GINGER ROGERS?
- WELL -
THE
ALL-VARSITY REVUE
CASTING of the
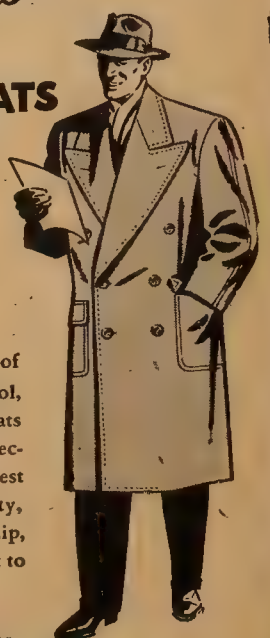
DANCING CHORUS
IS ON TO-MORROW, NOV. 22
WHERE?? THE WOMEN'S UNION
WHEN?? FROM 4 TO 6 P.M.
WHO?? ANYONE: MALE OR FEMALE, FROSH OR SOPH!!
WE NEED YOU!!

A-V.R. A-V.R.



FOR GRADUATION

Make Appointment Now for a Christmas Portrait
Special Prices for Individual Student Sittings

ASHLEY & CRIPPEN LIMITED
196 Bloor Street West, Toronto
Kingsdale 6113

Lamkasha
OVERCOATS

100% VIRGIN WOOL & PURE ANGORA HAIR
Lamkasha
needled by Savil-Row

Luxuriously blended of angora and virgin wool, LAMKASHA overcoats are tailored to perfection in all the newest models. For quality, style and workmanship, their value is difficult to duplicate.

$55.00
HAND STITCHED

Pick your coat now while the selection is good and take advantage of our Lay-Away Plan.
$5.00 deposit holds any coat

Teasdalls
CLOTHES SHOP
804 YONGE STREET
(Just North of Bloor)

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

Art Gallery

A show comprised of contemporary artists, British, American and French, is now hanging in the Art Gallery of Toronto. The vast majority of these pictures were painted during the last ten years. There are nearly as many different artists in the show as there are pictures and one begins to realize the vast diversity in contemporary painting. The styles of painting range from strictly representational to pure abstract.

Modern, abstractionist technique is a dangerous thing and should be left to the French, who seem to know how to handle that sort of thing. The British modernists are, generally speaking, uninspired and uninteresting, while the great majority of the American paintings are blatantly vulgar. There is more to painting any abstract than the flinging of paint onto canvas as Mr. Jackson Pollock does in "The Cathedral." The French section is the most enjoyable part of the show, for the Paris artists achieve their effects without alienating the respect of the viewer. You may not agree with the effects these artists strive for but you will give them a sympathetic study. In such a picture as Mr. W. Stanley Hayter's "Death of Clytaemnestra" or Mr. Balcomb Greene's "This Architectural World" you will begin to wonder whether it is worth while to work out the artist's ideas. And after seeing Mr. Robert Motherwell's "The Emperor of China," which consists of two large triangles of dirty yellow on a dirty white background you will probably think that there are no ideas behind them at all,

This show is like wax fruit. Shiny, eye-catching, slick in workmanship but with no lasting taste whatsoever. There are excellent and interesting paintings in the show, even in the American section. The show affords an interesting commentary upon the gullibility of the art conscious, newly rich.

Philip Creighton.

ALL-VARSITY REVUE

Casting of the male and female dancing choruses will take place in the Women's Union on Tuesday, Nov. 22 from 4 to 6 p.m.

Malcuzynski

(Continued from Page 4)

Polonaise in F sharp minor made a good opener with a surreptitious introduction leading to a bold statement of theme. The pianist seemed more at ease with the soft lyric section than with the rigid tempo of the march. The C sharp Minor Nocturne began with a very bleak figure in the bass consisting only of tonic and dominant tones, rising into a more heroic mood which finally dwindled into the depression of the opening.

A thoughtful feeling opened the Fantasy in F Minor, out of which burst a shot of light with true Chopin brilliance. From here a series of colours passed before the audience, many of which suffered unfortunately from a surfeit of pedals.

Mr. Malcuzynski was always able to conjure up dramatic impressions with different moods, but lack that crystal-clearness which one associates with the greatness of Chopin. The piano was giving him a little trouble, for between numbers a small man came on stage and calmly tuned several notes on the instrument to the audience's aumusement.

Five Etudes, Opus 10, nos. 3 (Song to Remember), 4, and 12 (Revolutionary), Opus 25, no. 7, and A flat Posthumous were showy yet lacked control of tempo and volume. Worst in this respect was the Revolutionary Etude which began in a rush yet slackened painfully for the theme. He possessed a suitable technique, but failed to keep it under control. In the Mazurkas there was again rhythm-lackness, made up in the B flat Mazurka by a finesse which one couldn't help admiring.

Largest and most interesting work was the Scherzo in C sharp. In its polished phrases dwells agony that ranks it most dramatic of Chopin's four scherzoes. This feeling of agony was almost brought out by the pianist, but he labored on the opening and his octaves needed polishing. The chorale was well sustained, containing passages which can only be described as beautiful.

Mr. Malcuzynski certainly has feeling for Chopin. One couldn't help thinking, however, that if he would view a piece objectively as a whole, instead of dwelling on each section, a more unified performance would result. It would be worth a try.

Blandford Kay

COMING EVENTS

M. AND P. SOCIETY

There will be a lecture meeting of the Maths and Physics Society on Wednesday evening, Nov. 23 at 8.00 p.m. in room 132 of the Physics Building. Professor E. C. Bullard, Head, Dept. of Physics, will speak on "Radio-Active Time." The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides.

✣ ✣ ✣

LIBERAL ARTS CLUB

Don't forget our Open Meeting tomorrow night at Wymilwood. Mayor Moore will be the guest speaker. Come at 8.15 p.m.

NOTICE

BEAVER CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 1950

These Scholarships, of an annual value not exceeding £500 sterling, are tenable at any University or College in Great Britain, the duration of each being at the discretion of the Selection Committee. In the choice of scholars, emphasis will be on the humanities and social sciences; including such subjects as law, pedagogy, fine arts and sociology. The purpose of the scholarships is educational, AND NOT FOR RESEARCH. There will be no written examination. The conditions of eligibility are as follows:

1. Candidates must be
   (a) Canadian citizens,
   (b) men who served at least one year in the Canadian armed forces during the period from September 1, 1939, to August 31, 1945, OR the son of a man who so served.
2. Although preference will be given to candidates who will be completing their undergraduate studies at a University or College in Canada during the current academic year, candidates who have completed at least two years of university or college work in Canada are eligible to apply.
3. Candidates will not be disqualified by marriage, but the value of each scholarship will be determined solely by reference to the needs of the candidate himself, and will, in no circumstances, be increased on account of dependents.

The final date of application has been postponed until December 10, 1949. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the University Registrar, Simcoe Hall, or from Mr. P. L. P. Macdonnell, Secretary, Beaver Club Trust, 10439 - 136th Street, Edmonton, Alberta.

ONLY 4 DAYS TILL

THE VIC INFORMAL!

There was a Vic lass full of woe
'Cause her beau had been terribly slow,
They hadn't much chance
To the dance of Romance
Since tickets had gone weeks ago,

BUT a few tickets are still left for YOU!

Pick them up in Alumni Hall 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

U.C. PINS

YEAR - GUARDS, CRESTS ON SALE IN ROTUNDA 10 to 1 TUESDAY AND THURSDAY

ORGAN RECITAL

by

MURIEL GIDLEY

at 5 p.m.

TODAY

CONVOCATION HALL

BETH McVEY
Violinist

SIMEON JOYCE
Accompanist

EATON AUDITORIUM

Saturday, Nov. 26th, 8.30 p.m.
Tickets: $2.40, $1.80, $1.20
STUDENTS HALF PRICE
Box Office opens Nov. 17th
Mail Orders to
Dorothy Parnum Management
255 Manor Rd. E. HY. 3153

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

2 STORES TO SERVE YOU

31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

TRA-A-CK

Make way for ski accessories from Simpson's Ski Shop. Third Floor.

Swiss handmade mitts. Pair 1.98.
And bonnet. Each 3.50

Embroidered angora and wool mitts by Grand'mere. Pair 1.50.

Felt-soled foot warmers by Grand'mere. Pair 1.95.

Cameo woven money belt from England. Each 2.98.

Department 304 Simpson's

At all times when good grooming counts, a single application of BRYLCREEM "The Perfect Hairdressing" keeps your hair in place, and easy to manage. BRYLCREEM supplements the natural oils of the hair and helps remove loose dandruff. Available in handy tubes everywhere. 9-40R

NO GUM • NO SOAP • NO ALCOHOL • NO STARCH

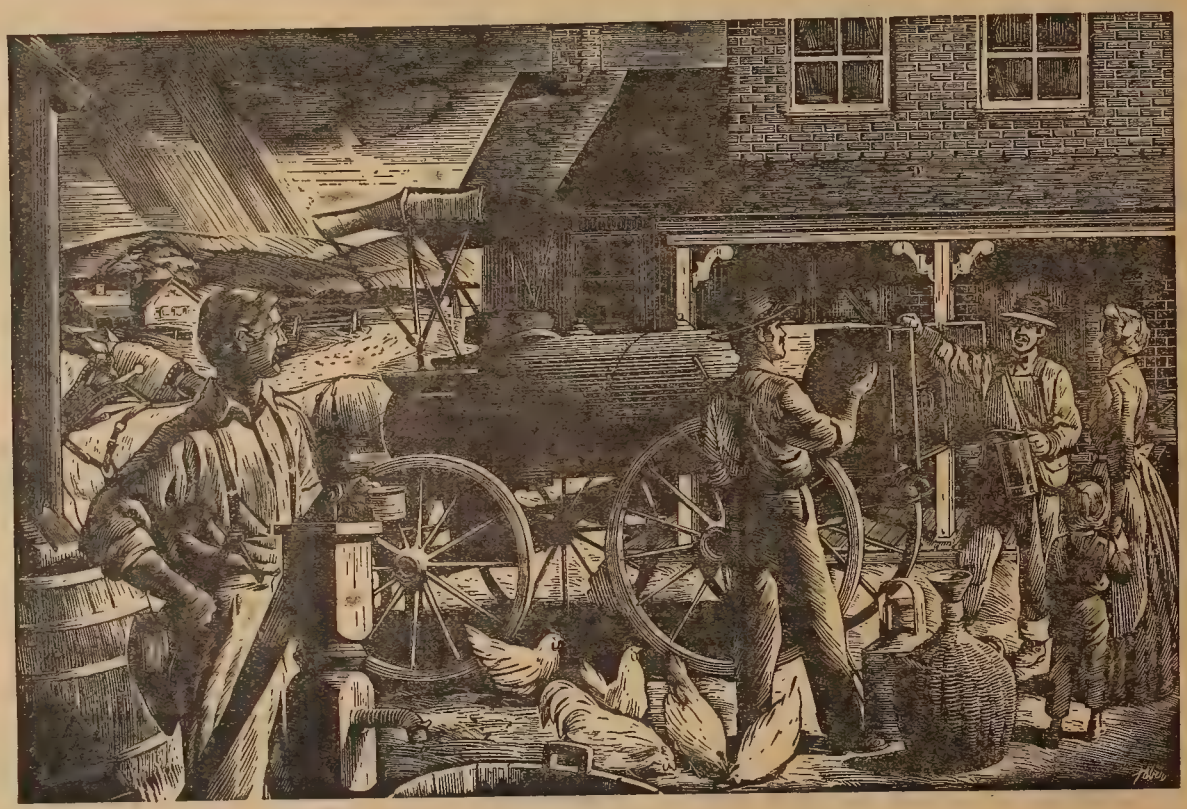
SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill



SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

1889 1949

Lamp oil or kerosene, the most valued product derived from petroleum in 1889, was often peddled from door to door in horse-drawn tank wagons. Gasoline, a dangerous by-product, was a drug on the market for many years. Today the search for new oil deposits and the search for still greater efficiency in refining petroleum into hundreds of useful products have become the objectives of a vast petroleum industry. Nickel steels, because of their exceptional strength and toughness, are practically indispensable in the machinery which drills deep into the earth. In the refineries, Nickel alloys have solved numerous problems because they resist acid corrosion and stand up under terrific heat and sub-zero temperatures.

Canadian Nickel sold Abroad brings in U.S. Dollars

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

INCO

CANADIAN NICKEL

FIRST PRODUCED IN CANADA IN 1889

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

THE INTERNATIONAL NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, 25 KING STREET WEST, TORONTO

SIGMA ALPHA MU

ANNIVERSARY BALL

KING EDWARD HOTEL

Mart Kenny's Orchestra
$4.00 couple
Proceeds to Mount Sinai Hospital and U.J.A.

SAT., NOV. 26
DRESS OPTIONAL

Champus Cat

(Continued from Page 2)

Christmas Exams would deter even the most phlegmatic pedant from following the example of Charles Audubon. However, it is not my Audubon's endeavour to delve into these various endeavours. Suffice it to say that I did. Follow his example, don't. It is. Charles Audubon's, that's right. Whose.

Nonetheless, with my bird form, and form for taking down bird facts then, I warily stalked the Skiplecture. He hopped listlessly from perch to perch. It uttered disconsolate mounding cries which I was not near enough to hear. They sounded something like "WHY? why?" to me though. However, I kept after it, endeavouring, of course, not to startle it. Skiplectures, incidentally, are easily startled. I managed to follow it all the way down to Convocation Hall, before it realized I was bird-watching it.

Suddenly it turned on me. To my great surprise, it said, "Why aren't you in that lecture?"

I, of course was too startled to reply, so I just said, "Recording the habits of the Skiplecture for posterity is more important by far than an old Polly Sigh lecture."

At this the bird chuckled horribly. "Hop over here and let me shake you by the wing," it said. And you know what? I DID! I was a Great Northern or Red-Crested Skiplecture.

It is later than you think! It only takes one.....

Janus.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TEAM PICTURES

Team pictures will be taken of the following teams:

SR. & INT. SOCCER	1.00 P.M.	Monday, Nov. 21st
SR. FOOTBALL	1.20 P.M.	Tuesday, Nov. 22nd
SR. TRACK & SR. HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Wed., Nov. 23rd
INT. TRACK & HARRIER	1.20 P.M.	Thursday, Nov. 24th

Will all team members make an effort to be present at the time noted, in UNIFORM. Report to Athletic Office in Hart House, or to the Manager.

MULOCK CUP PLAYOFFS

DATE CHANGES

Monday, Nov. 21—1.15 p.m. Varsity Stadium—Vic vs Forestry Pasternak, Smylie, Emon

Thursday, Nov. 24—Varsity Stadium—Sr. SPS vs St. Mike's ..... Reed Thompson, Stepkowsky

(Time will be announced later)

FINAL

Tuesday, Nov. 29th——2.00 p.m.—Varsity Stadium

ADMISSION FREE

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL - Semi-Final	1.15	Varsity Stadium—Vic vs Forestry	Pasternak, Smylie, Emon
SOCCER - Group Playoff	3.00	North Pre-Med vs Wyc	Reed
LACROSSE - Playoff	1.00	Pharm vs Trin	Chambers, Prendergast
Group Playoff	4.00	Dent vs U.C. III	Prendergast, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL	1.00	Med I Yr vs Sr. U.C.	Carr
	4.00	U.C. V vs Emman	Edwards
SWIM LEAGUE Playoff	4.30	SPS II vs Inst. Mgt ..	Hamilton, Shepherd

LACROSSE PLAYOFFS

Group Playoffs:—

Mon., Nov. 21—4.00 Dent vs U.C. III ..... Prendergast, Hastings
Tues., Nov. 22—1.00 Forestry vs St. M. B ..... Chambers, Raymond

PLAYOFFS:—

1. Mon., Nov. 21—1.00 Pharm vs Trin ..... Chambers, Prendergast
2. Wed., 23—1.00 Med I vs St. M. A ..... Chambers, Raymond
3. 4.00 U.C. II vs Vic I ..... Chambers, Raymond
4. 6.30 Dent or vs For or ..... Hastings, Warren U.C. III St. M. B
5. 7.30 U.C. I vs Trin or ..... Prendergast, Hastings Pharm

SEMI-FINALS:—

Fri., Nov. 25—1.00 - 2.30 Winner (2) vs Winner (3) Chambers, Raymond
Mon., Nov. 28—1.00 - 2.30 Winner (4) vs Winner (5) Prendergast, Hastings

FINALS——Wed., Nov. 30, Fri., Dec. 2, and Mon., Dec. 5 1.00 - 3.00
(Officials will be appointed later)

SAILING CLUB

A meeting of the U. of T. Sailing Club will be held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room, Trinity College. Mr. James Hyland, Fleet Captain, R.C.Y.C. will speak on the subject "Birds I Have Known" or "Saints, Devils and Ordinary Seamen." Everybody welcome.

JR. & SR. VIC BASKETBALL

All men interested in turning out for Vic. Major League basketball teams are urged to be on hand for two important practices in the Lower Gym, Hart House, Tuesday, Nov. 22, 4 p.m., and Thursday, Nov. 24, 4 p.m.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

Women's Union Tuesday evening, Jack Sheaffer automatic pencil, a gift. Please contact Jack Patterson, MS. 3630.

FOR SALE

Suit of tails, good condition, $30.00. Phone MI. 7612.

FOR RENT

Well furnished bedroom; breakfast optional; male student, $6.00. 150 Walmer Road.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable prices, same as last year. Phone Madame Rose, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Student discount, $1.00 weekly buys new tube. Radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 9322.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Touch typing course, free home demonstration and delivery JU. 3575.

TRANSPORTATION

Passengers from Whitby or Ajax daily. Leave 8.00 a.m. and 4.30 p.m. Apply

For Rent

Private room and breakfast for one gentleman in quiet private house. Phone before 10 a.m. RA. 7672.

FOR SALE

Will-Me-Knot Diamond ring, 3 diamonds. Almost new. Ideal Christmas gift. $110. OR. 2145.

PERSONAL

Attention! Buttons? Buttons! S.G. means Scarlet and Gold! Backwards G.S. means Gilbert and Sullivan! Topside G.S. means Great Show! Get yours Monday at Victoria.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable. Income premium $3.00 a month. HU. 3929.

FOR SALE

Suit of tails, size 36—$25.00. Phone OX. 3453.

LOST

Covert cloth, taupe, army type raincoat from the basement cloak-room, Botany Building. Between 3 and 4 p.m. Please return to the S.A.C. Office, Hart House.

LANSING PASSENGERS

Passengers from Lansing area or south daily to University by nine to suit earliest needed. Contact Bill Higgins, 318 Princess Ave., Lansing or Box 7, Varsity.

FOR SALE

Engineering and Business Blazer with crest. Size 38. Never been used as too small for owner. Contact Room 110, South House Residence. Phone MI. 0353.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Heimar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

TYPING

Accurate typing by experienced stenographer. Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9023.

Our Readers Write

Love Terrific

Editor, The Varsity:

I would like to correct a horrible misprint in my review of "Pinky" printed on November 15th. The love scenes were not "terrible". They were terrific! Thank you.

D. Davidson
Arts 52.

Review Annoys

Editor, The Varsity:

Your "review" in Thursday's Varsity of "Knock" was extremely disappointing. It sounds as if it had been taken from a book and makes absolutely no mention of the fact that it was extraordinarily well presented under Prof. Finch's direction, that it was the work of the French Club of the U. of T., that the players were very capable with splendid French accents, that it took place in Hart House Theatre which was well filled, and so on, and so on.

I am only one of the many who enjoyed "Knock" immensely, and I feel quite indignant that credit was not properly given for all the hard work that went into it.

Sylvia M. Nelson,
Dept. French & German.

Ed. Note: This letter was inadvertently left out of Friday's issue, in which the A. M. and D. Editor explained the case for his department.

Game Ducats

(Continued from Page 1)

sell the tickets at that bargain price. Anyone who wanted to get in after the first quarter only had to ask someone who was leaving for their stub. One Toronto student who had 3 tickets finally sold them for 30 cents for the three.

✣ ✣ ✣

The 2 McGill cheerleaders who dressed as blondes to add the feminine touch to the McGill group were outstanding in their cartwheels and other antics. They stole the show from the Western gals when they went skipping up the field after the Western Band. The short, muscular blonde was wearing a "Mangle McGill" button on the back of his little red skirt.

Seniors Drub

(Continued from Page 8)

the "game we had to win" after a goal-less season. Well done Jim. Yet he would be the first to credit his partners for his success, and it was undoubtedly team work which won the day. So this great performance by a magnificent team brings to a close a very successful season for the Blues club.

	P	W	L	T	GF	GA
Varsity Blues 1949	8	7	1	0	32	9

Final League Standings

	P	W	L	T	GF	GA
Varsity Blues	4	3	1	0	20	5
O.A.C. Aggies	4	2	2	0	7	10
Western	4	1	3	0	5	15

PLEASE!

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

ALL-VARSITY MIXED CHORUS

REHEARSAL TO-NIGHT 8 P.M.
WOMEN'S UNION BUILDING
Girls: Bring shorts and dancing slippers.

TORONTONENSIS

Help wanted—Proof readers, copywriters or anyone interested in working on Torontonensis—come to the Torontonensis office, 119 St. George, 2-5 today—Monday.

Movie Review

Tokyo Joe

Humphrey Bogart's latest movie "Tokyo Joe" is now playing at the Odeon Toronto and it seems as if the tough Mr. Bogart is mellowing with the years. There is no longer that air of Public-Enemy-Number-One that dominated him in his early movies. This change began in "Treasure of the Sierra Madres" where he was a plain coward, and went further in "Key Largo" where he played the part of a red-blooded 100 per cent American boy.

In Tokyo Joe there is some return to the old pattern but only to the point of an airline operator whose past is somewhat shady. Essentially Bogart is a good guy who gets involved with a group of unsavoury individuals. As usual he acts with great competence.

The story begins as Bogart arrives in Tokyo to take over a night club he had operated before the war. From here on in events take a sinister cast. Bogart suddenly finds himself the dummy operator of an airline controlled by Baron Kimura, a thoroughly evil character acted with the right evilness by Sessue Hayakawa. Incidentally, the red tape which Bogart is entangled in by the American Occupation authorities is a parody of triumphant bureaucracy.

While this has been going on Bogart's pre-war girl turns up, herself a White Russian singer who had worked in his night-club but is now married happily to an American official. Florence Marly acts langorous as the White Russian and Alexander Knox gives a definite if miscast performance as the American official.

At the climax Bogart is given the job of flying Japanese war criminals back to Japan so they may organize a subversive underground. He foils this attempt and with the U.S. Army to the rescue manages a morally good if somewhat strained ending. One of the finest things about this movie is the authenticity of background and language spoken by the Japanese.

Jack Ferguson.

W.C. Fields

W. C. Fields is back in Toronto again. Two re-releases, "My Little Chickadee" and "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man," both starring Fields, are currently playing at the Astor on Yonge Street near Charles.

If you haven't seen these pictures we suggest you do. If you have you will need no urging to go again. "Chickadee" is one of the more famous Fields films. As well as Fields it has Mae West, with her particular brand of "I am a bad girl and we all know it" kind of humour.

Working over an old hackneyed Western plot it provides Fields with many opportunities to practice the dry, sardonic type of humour which he made famous. He gets into trouble, he pretends to be brave, he enlarges on the truth, always coming through with his almost casual drawl to master the situation.

In the second picture, which also stars Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd, Fields plays a circus owner who is deep in financial trouble. "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man" is not as good a picture as "Chickadee," but it has Fields.

As far as we are concerned a picture with W. C. Fields in it is a picture to see.

John Russell.

WANTED:

LOAN OF SQUARE AND FOLK DANCE RECORDS

The Graduate Students Union of the School of Graduate Studies is forming a square and folk dance group. This group needs square and folk dance records and would appreciate the loan by students of such records for a period of one month. Students who have records and would like to loan them kindly bring same to the Office of the School of Graduate Studies, 44 Hoskins Ave., near the O.T. and P.T. huts by Friday, November 25.

Toronto Daily Star, Nov. 17— INITIATED YOUTH TURNS ORANGE

The Globe and Mail, Nov. 18—"It is more of a yellow discoloration of the skin..." a doctor on the staff (of the hospital) said.

The Telegram, Nov. 17—BURNING ACID THROWN AT "U" CAKE FIGHT TURNS STUDENT RED Color stories?

ATTENTION Vic Students

LIMITED NUMBER OF TICKETS ON SALE TODAY AT 10:00 A.M. IN ALUMNI HALL

FOR THE

SCARLET and GOLD

VIC'S SENSATIONAL MUSICAL REVUE

With every ticket that you buy we're going to give you FREE! an S.G. Button you can wear TO EACH ACTIVITY.

RESERVED TICKETS $1.00 PER PERSON ON SALE 10:00 A.M. TO 4:00 P.M. AT ALUMNI HALL

For constant Smoking Pleasure

Roll your own with

"EXPORT"

Cigarette Tobacco

ALSO AVAILABLE IN ½ POUND TINS

Senior, Intermed Soccer Teams Triumph

Mulock Cup Date Changes

A change was announced Saturday in the dates for the Mulock Cup semi-finals and finals. Mr. McCutcheon of the intramural office after a consultation with the St. Michael's College team and George Soulis of the Engineering Society decided to postpone the St. Mike's-Senior SPS game until Thursday of this week. The Vic and Forestry game will be played today at 1:15 p.m. as scheduled.

The decision for a postponement was a logical one in view of the fact that should St. Mike's be compelled to play today as was originally planned, they would meet Sr. Skule in a weakened condition due to St. Mike's heavy schedule last week that was topped by a very hard-fought struggle Friday night that went overtime.

Full Co-operation

Both St. Mike's and Skule co-operated to the full with McCutcheon regarding the postponement. St. Mike's agreed to withdraw if the SPS officials did not want to play later in the week. But George Soulis, representing Skule would hear none of that and gave full agreement to play the semi-final on Thursday.

If St. Mike's played today it would be three games in six days for the winners of group two, and would be detrimental to their physical well-being, it was agreed. Friday night's encounter with Jr. Skule was really played hard and St. Mike's sustained a couple of severe injuries.

The winners of today's tussle and Thursday's, will meet for the Mulock Cup a week Tuesday at Varsity at 2.00 p.m.

VARSITY SPORTS

Female Scribe Moves In On Fourth Estate Boys

By CONN SPARROW

Sitting in the press box for the Yates cup finals was one of the most terrifying yet exciting experiences that I have ever had. Besides being the only woman there and surrounded by famous men sportswriters from London, Montreal, as well as our own Queen City's newspapers, I'm sure I knew absolutely the least about writing up a rugby game and just a bare minimum about the technical part of it.

However I went with but one object in mind — to keep my eyes glued to that football, record the numbers of the players, the plays, and which side had the ball.

Pass In

My pass got me through the first gate off Devonshire Place onto the field, but as I mounted the steps to the bleachers I was just a bit scared that everything was going too easily and somebody would flag me down with a "Hey you, where do you think you are going?" Nevertheless I got to the box without a hitch.

Once inside, a man approached from the right and asked to see my pass. I showed it and all was well. Nothing was left for me to do but find a seat in one of the two rows which were gradually filling up.

I plunked myself down beside a friendly looking man who smoked cigars and was very helpful when it came to advising me who were and weren't playing.

Confusion Begins

Then it all started with the kick-off. Purple and white bodies, red and white colors tangled together. Western was in a huddle, they were out, they played and they were back in the huddle before I could catch my breath.

Numbers? Who said anything about numbers; I couldn't even keep track of the players. The second down was ready to be played and I realized that if I kept my eyes glued on that lump of purple I might just see where the ball was.

Arnott Comes Up

Then I saw number 33 go through the line. Glancing quickly at my program I discovered it was Arnott and just at that point the radio above my head (luckily for this I managed to keep up if I lost track) confirmed that it was Arnott good for eight yards.

After that it was comparatively easy. About the middle of the first quarter I found that my scoring tactics were a bit muddling and I wondered how I would ever figure them out once back at home.

Glancing at the pile of papers that the man beside me was working over, I noticed that it was much more concise to write M-1 rather than first down for McGill.

Falling Snow

It began to snow! I felt sorry for all my friends sitting in the open stands and during a lull in the game I took a quick peek outside. Everybody looked so cold and wet.

At half time wieners were served from a big cardboard box, with mustard (not Moose) coming along the line, followed by hot, steaming coffee. At first I refused the hot dog, but the man beside me came to the rescue by saying that they were for everybody. Thank goodness, because I was really hungry.

The second half of the game was even better. I was catching on fast and getting down the names of attackers as well as the defenders. Then the game was over and I set out with 24 pages of notes that came to only one conclusion — Western 12 - McGill 9.

Win Group

Thrilling Overtime Tussle As St. Mike's Down Skule

St. Michael's College football team made it into the Mulock Cup play-offs again this year, but it took a re-play and a thrilling overtime period to do it. Friday afternoon they took on Junior Skule to decide the winner of group two and squeaked through with a 7-6 win.

The victory, which came after a ten minute overtime period, enables St. Mike's to advance into the semi-finals where they will play Senior Skule Thursday afternoon of this week at Varsity Stadium, not Monday as was originally planned. (Explanation elsewhere on this page.)

SPS Start Strongly

Junior SPS started the game very strongly and majored within three minutes. Up until the fourth quarter they dominated the play and seemed to have the game sewed up. However, a sensational run by Flanagan of St. Mike's and the convert put the Double Blue ahead temporarily in the fourth quarter.

Although Skule in the last couple of minutes had two opportunities to major they collapsed and salvaged only a tieing single. In overtime SPS controlled the first five minutes and lost the chance to win when Washington ran out a short kick from St. Mike's 30.

St. Mike's took over in the last five minutes of overtime led by Washington and O'Heany and the latter succeeded in kicking the game-winning point with less than two minutes of play remaining.

Prendergast Shines

Prendergast of Skule scored his team's TD six plays after the starting kick-off; two passes and four running plays and he carried over for an unconverted touchdown.

After two more quarters of football in which SPS led the way, George Flanagan of St. Mike's took a short pass over centre and ran 60 yards for a major which Bud Brennan converted. For the rest of the last quarter SPS tried ineffectively for a major score. After two plays on the St. Mike's ten Prendergast succeeded in hoofing the tieing single, forcing the game into overtime.

The game showed good, hard but clean football and was viewed by the largest crowd of the season.

Line-ups:

St. Mike's: Flying wing, McIntyre; halves, O'Heany, Washington, O'Hara; quarter, Adams; snap, Tierney, Insides, Davin, Schmaltz; middles, Dowling, Timmins; outsides, Ross, Marchley; alternates, Mulligan, Flanagan, O'Keefe, Knollmeyer, Grossl, Neill, Horton.

Jr. SPS: Flying wing, Bernhardt; halves, Prendergast, Macpherson, Bush; quarter, Snider; snap, Grinton; insides, Hutchkiss, Stoyan; middles, Slattery, Riddell; outsides, Beattie, Campbell, alternates, Wansborough, Royce, Fleury, Laubitz, Greenly, Perry, Pullan, Mowatt, Neff, Brown.

Scarlet vs. Green In Semi-Final Today At Varsity

Now that the smoke has cleared from the Junior Skule-St. Mike's playoff in group two, the Intramural Office officials have come out of their huddle and declared the times and opponents for the Mulock Cup semi-finals next week. Victoria College, winners of group one, will play Forestry, undefeated winners of group three, at Varsity Stadium, 1.15 p.m. this afternoon. The second game, in which St. Mike's meets Senior SPS, has been postponed to Thursday, as playing it Monday would mean three games in one week for the Mikemen.

Vic has been hit hard with injuries, mainly among their reserves, as end John Fairley is out with a broken leg, middles Bill Allen and Ed File and inside Bud Martin have knee injuries. However, the starting lineup that carried them to the group one championship figures to be in top shape.

The passing of Harry Damp and the running of Keith Sumner and Bob Rumbell will be their main weapons against the big Forestry team whose backfield is led by quarter Sid Sheldon and hard running backs Fred Collict and Phil Austin.

Lacrosse Play-offs Start In Hart House

Lacrosse play-offs get under way today with two games being played. One game is a group three play-off between Dents and UC III while the other is a saw-off between Pharmacy and Trinity. The first game is at 1 p.m. and the second at 4. Tuesday another group play-off will be played between Forestry and St. Mike's B.

The play-offs will be run through the following weeks and the Dafoe Cup will be won before Christmas which is much earlier than in previous years.

WAYNE UNIVERSITY TAKE VARSITY HARRIER TEAM

The Varsity harrier team, intercollegiate champions, visited Detroit Saturday where they were defeated by their hosts, Wayne University by a score of 19-36. It is reported that the team encountered no difficulty crossing the border.

A course record was set by Wayne runner Chalmers Alexander, negotiating the distance in 21:45. Dick Brown of Wayne came second shortly behind the winner followed by George Doull of Varsity, the only Toronto man in the first five.

Dave Barr, next Varsity runner, came in sixth, with Webster, McMullen and McCurry, Toronto, copping the number eight, nine and ten spots. The first mile was run in 4:48.

Blackwood Trophy Kept By Seniors, OAC Outplayed

Unbeaten Season, Intermeds Champs

By GENE RAYMOND

The Varsity Intermediate Soccer Blues crowned themselves champions of the Intermediate Division by defeating the Aggies 2-0 on Saturday morning.

This was the third occasion in four years on which the Varsity intermediates have come out on top. This year's success was particularly outstanding as the Blues have been unbeaten for the whole of this season and had only one goal — a penalty — scored against them, as compared to 11 scored against opposing sides in six matches.

Fast And Clean

The game was a fast and cleanly contested one, particularly in the latter stages when the Aggies made a bold but unsuccessful bid to get level with the Blues. The homesters went into the lead early in the first half when they notched two quick goals; they, however, lost several glorious opportunities to increase the score due to over-anxiety on the part of the forwards.

In the first half the Aggies wilted under a blistering Blues attack and, after three minutes of play, Rigabert put a neat placement out of Kingston's reach after receiving a pass from the left flank. About six minutes later Montemurro received a long throw-in from Schuler and scored with a spectacular hook-shot. The shot took the Aggies' custodian, Kingston, completely by surprise at Montemurro's bask was to the Aggies goal when he pivoted around and scored. The Blues were once more on the warpath and were awarded a penalty when Masturton handled the sphere in the area. Montemurro took the spot-kick and feebly shot outside. During the remainder of the first half the Aggies defence was forced to cede several corners as a result of the relentless pressure applied by the Blues' forwards.

Aggies Improve

On the resumption of play the Aggies were better organized and play was better balanced in this period. Hickichi, Thomas and Calhoun were hard triers and spearheaded the Aggies attack but could only get as far as the Blues' backline. The Blues lost the services of Montemurro, their goal-scoring machine, who was rendered hors de combat after receiving an eye injury. Osadchuck substituted but the re-shuffled forward line lacked cohesion and the Aggies' backs had no difficulty in foiling the Blues' thrusts. In the dying stages of the game the Aggies turned on more steam but the final whistle found the Blues victors and champions.

Teams:

Varsity - Kersey; Raymond, Horney; Schuler, Moffat, Friele, Wilson, Rigabert, Montemurro, Delfosse, Comrie. Subs: Dos Santos, Osadchuck.

O.A.C. - Kingston; Masturton, King; Williams, Cawley, Kennedy; Brown, Thomas, Calhoun, Hickichi, Doane. Subs: Maybee, Doane.

Sportswoman

PHE I and Vic I come together this morning on Trinity campus for their last softball game. The first inning starts at 10 o'clock and the outcome will decide the 1949 championship.

Last week PHE defeated Vic 10-9 in the first final game, while Vic put on a good show on Wednesday to win the next contest with a score of 15-14.

Basketball quarter finals start this week in the OCE gym. Winners of each of the six leagues will play off to three final teams with this last issue to be played in Hart House on Tuesday, November 29th and Thursday, December 1.

UC Sr.-Jr. A team copped top place in league I, while St. Mike's A took league II. League III was won by PHE II and league VI has OT as first notcher. The winner of league IV depends on the game tonight between Meds and Nurses. PHE I and UC Fr. are tied for first place in league V and first place will be decided tomorrow night.

Seniors Drub Aggies Game Never In Doubt

By BILL LEACH

O.K. Blues, you've done it again! On their home campus Saturday, the Univ. of Toronto Senior Soccer Blues retained possession of the Blackwood Trophy, symbol of Intercollegiate soccer supremacy. By virtue of their only loss sustained this year, the Blues were called to beat their nearest rivals the O.A.C. Aggies in their last engagement, and this they did to the handsome tune of 9-1. A really great effort was put in by each and every member of the team, who deserved to win all the way, and the boys have every reason to be proud, as this is the sixth consecutive season they have had the honour of finishing as champions.

Dull Morning

It was a dull morning on Saturday, and there was much conjecturing before the game whether the wet pitch would suit the champions or the challengers. Toronto had lost the previous encounter 2-0 and it was little comfort to learn that the team would be without Jim Wotherspoon, laid up with blood-poisoning, as this meant they had only 11 players, who must of necessity all be 90-minute men! Barton, too, was said to be having a slight relapse after a recent illness, and captain Ted Evans, playing his last game for the Blues, had a severe cold, and was not in his usual fine condition. The Aggies had some bus trouble on the way down, but eventually the game started, 35 minutes late, under the capable handling of referee Bobby Aulds.

Aggies Game

Play started at a moderate rate, and fluctuated from end to end for the first 15 minutes; Toronto had one or two possible chances, but could not penetrate the Aggies' defence. Aggies were game enough, and their rough, bustling type of play was particularly evident at this stage of the match. In fact, it was through a penalty for rough play that the Blues scored their first goal, smashed home by Alain Wyler.

The game still appeared to be pretty even, and play centered around mid-field, as each centre-half was called upon to work his pivot spot in turn. Passes distributed to the wings often as not were crossed neatly, but neither defence seemed likely to break. Then the Blues began their big offensive, as the forwards seemed to catch fire. A second goal came as a result of some neat passing which Alan made good. Four minutes later Leach put them further ahead after being put in the clear from Wyler and Antoni, and shortly afterwards Barton crashed home a fourth. Just before half-time Aggies obtained their lone tally on another penalty for roughing. McAnuff was the scorer.

Blues Dominate

The second half saw only one team in action, as the Blues dominated from start to finish, and the longer the game progressed the better they looked. The Aggies played well, just as well as they were allowed to, but they were unfortunate in that they met the finest combination yet to be seen in Intercollegiate soccer, at their best form. Nothing could have stopped them. Aggies were not disgraced, just beaten. McAnuff and Louis played fine defensive football throughout, but early in the second half Varsity went further ahead on a glorious effort by Antoni. Next Alain Wyler hit the net with number six, and the Aggies defence began to look like a sieve.

2 For Barton

Allan was the next to score, this from a rasping drive from an acute angle, with seven minutes left to play. With only four minutes to go, Barton cannoned in a shot from 35 yards, and finally Allan, not to be outdone, pushed in yet another right-footed shot on the two minute mark, to complete the scoring spree.

Jim Allan really had himself a time on Saturday. Three goals

(Continued on Page 7)

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Cold

VOL. LXIX NO. 43 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Tuesday, November 22, 1949

Ladies' Day For Them

"Every Day Is Ladies' Day For Them . . ." this chorus sings in rehearsal for the U.C. Music Club production of the Red Mill to be presented at Hart House Theatre on Dec. 6, 7, 8. Left to right they are: Harry Soper, Bruce Snell, Ken Stubington, George Roberts, John Beckett, Jarvis Stoddart, Earle Matthews, John Strathdee and Raymond Glover.

U.S. And Canadian Student Exchanges NFCUS 1950 Plan

Plans for the inclusion of the University of Toronto in a student exchange scheme between Canadian and American universities, at its December 5 meeting of the Toronto Senate, will be presented with a brief discussing the plan.

Fifty To Choose From

Fifty universities in the US have indicated their interest in such a plan, and ten Canadian universities, including Manitoba, McMaster, New Brunswick and Queen's will be in the set-up.

The plan has been in the consideration stage for some time, and it is hoped that once it is started many more universities will join the scheme, and the local NFCUS committee hopes that Toronto will be one of the exchange participants.

About the only barrier in the way of the mass-scale exchange is the lack of standardization of undergraduate courses. When the exchanges do start it will be much simpler for Arts students to take advantage of the plan—particularly those in History, English, Economics, and Philosophy.

Smith System Similar

The system of exchange will be similar to the present one between Smith College and Trinity, Vic and UC. The Canadian student going to American university must have a counterpart at that university who will attend the Canadian university.

Currency regulations will be facilitated by each student paying fees at his own university for his exchange "brother." Living accommodations will also be arranged and financed by each student at his own school, so that a minimum of details will be presented to the visitor.

The SAC offices have details of the plan, complete with list of the American and Canadian universities in the plan. Some of the American schools participating are Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Syracuse and Washington.

English Firms To Distribute Cheap Texts

Montreal —(CUP)— Preliminary arrangements are being made for an exhibition in Canadian universities of about 500 textbooks, which are being used in Canadian courses or may be used in the future. The books, which have been printed in England, will be available to Canadian students without any duty, tariff or 8% Federal sales tax, according to the McGill Daily. Furthermore the recent devaluation of the pound will enable the British product to compete favourably with American texts.

Closer Relations Faculty-Students ISS Topic Today

Student-faculty relations and the meaning and importance of the university community will be discussed at the ISS open meeting today in the UC Women's Union at 4 p.m.

This meeting is the first of a series on problems facing the university. The series is planned to emphasize a part of the ISS program which has not received much attention in the past.

Closer contact between students and professors is advocated by the ISS and these talks are aimed at bringing out opinions from both groups. Preliminary work has already been done in conversations and recommendations that have come out of past ISS seminars in Europe and the work of the national joint faculty-student committee.

A report on various ISS activities and information on opportunities to participate in such programs as the Scholarship Exchange Information, the Aid to Foreign Students and the International House will be presented at the open meeting.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photograpny work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

NEED IDEAS AND WRITERS

Ideas and writers are needed for the Women's Page. Anyone who has inspiration is welcome in The Varsity office, U.C. basement.

How To Get Gray Cup Tickets

Everybody thought we were crazy to get up at 3:30 Monday morning to get tickets for the Stampeder-Alouette football playoff next Saturday. Maybe we were but we got our pair of ducats and the 150-odd students who arrived at Varsity Arena after 5:15 a.m. didn't.

Six campus men made sure of their tickets. They showed up at the Arena at 8:30 Sunday night complete with thermos bottles full of coffee, sleeping bags, flight boots, cards and a coal oil lantern. Sympathetic nightwatchmen let them into the Arena shortly after midnight where they bedded down on the concrete floor. The first one in line, Joe Kelly, II PHE, brought a text book with him. He got a lot more studying done than you'd expect . . . two pages, to be exact.

Two coeds, walking along Bloor St. at a quarter to five laden down with blankets, were stopped by a police patrol car. Finding out they were seeking Grey Cup tickets, the officers gave them a lift and later divulged that they had thought the coeds were "getting home from a late blanket party."

Away ahead of the coeds in the

(Continued on Page 5)

Border Barrier Against Student Causes Protest

The Students' Peace Council decided at a meeting last night in Wymilwood to send letters to External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson and to the Unitd Nations Committe on Human Rights in protest against the barring of the Peace Council President Omar Walmsley from the United States.

Walmsley, a second year student at Emmanuel, was prevented by U.S. immigration officials from visiting the United Nations Assembly in New York as a member of a group that went to the Assembly headquarters under International Relations club sponsorship over the weekend.

At the meeting last night the Council also decided to ask other campus groups to send similar letters of protest to Lester Pearson. Endorsation by other campus groups of the letter to the U.N. Human Rights Commission was to be sought.

Before discussing the protest letters, the Council set up a committee to investigate possibilities of changing the Council into a campus branch of the United Nations Association. President Walmsley reported he has been approached by United Nations Association officials, apparently with the idea of bringing about such a merger.

Membership Secretary Barbara

(Continued on Page 5)

Marriage, Ghosts, Rescue All Find Place In Red Mill

Writers on the art of fiction tell us that there are only 8 truly different plots in the whole field of literature. This being the case, Victor Herbert probably deserves a medal for incorporating the greatest number of these into his well-known operetta, The Red Mill which is being staged in Hart House Theatre December 5 to 7 by the U.C. Music club.

The plot (or plots) revolves around a rescue scene, an accident and a marriage celebration. Thrown in for a sobering effect is the suggestion that the mill may be haunted.

In the midst of one of the Tuesday rehearsals recently, Director Ward McAdams said that the purpose of the Music Club was to provide opportunities for student singers, actors, and designers to gain experience as well as to present entertainment for all tastes.

"The Music Club was organized last year to integrate all U.C. musical activities," McAdam said. "It proved its worth in the first year by successfully staging the original American folk-opera, Down In The Valley by Kurt Weill."

Ticket sales for The Red Mill open tomorrow and McAdam and stage director Nipper Benson have been busy rehearsing the cast for some weeks.

Each Tuesday night the Women's Union has been rocking to the tune of the Herbert melodies that punctuate the score. Such songs as "In Old New York", and "Every Day is Ladies Day With Me" have made the musical comedy a constant hit in its many runs on Broadway and continent wide tours.

Geophysicist

PROF. E. C. BULLARD

Campus Profile

Professor With Magnetism

By ROCKY MARTINO

To the world, he's "the centre of gravity of geophysical research"; to his students, he's "a personality that brightens things like the rays of the sun after a storm"; to the university, he's Professor E. C. Bullard, M.A., Sc.D., F.R.S., Head of the Department of Physics.

In the short time since his arrival from England last fall, Professor Bullard has won the confidence and admiration of staff and students alike. There is no doubt that his loss to the University will be deeply felt. Professor Bullard is leaving Canada in December to succeed Sir Charles Darwin as director of the National Physical Laboratory immediately outside London. At this new post, he will direct research in such fields as Aerodynamics, Metallurgy and Physical standards.

There's no doubt that Professor Bullard will find his relation with the Admiralty quite cordial. During the war, he was their "star" in the combatting of enemy mine and submarine warfare.

Worked For Navy

It was shortly after the outbreak of war that the Admiralty asked him to proceed to Portsmouth and look into the problem of protecting ships from the new magnetic mines perfected by the Germans. He went, but as he put it, "I didn't take anyone with me because I thought nothing would come of it. I didn't mind wasting five or six weeks but I didn't see the need of all of us losing time." Well, that "five or six weeks" turned into three years and that "wasting time" turned into fascinating research problems which just about destroyed the effectiveness of enemy mines.

The first problem was to degauss the ships. The solution, in simple words, was to wind a wire about the ship and pass a current through it. That was the start of a cat-and-mouse game.

The Germans countered by making their mines more sensitive. This time the solution was to sweep the mines. A cable was strung between two sweepers and a current passed through. As the ships steamed up and down a channel, the mines merrily, and harmlessly, exploded.

Nazis Countered

The Nazis countered again, this time with an acoustic mine. The solution: sweeping, and here the ingenuity of Professor Bullard came to the fore. To sweep acoustic mines, you need a terrific racket. What makes the most noise on land? — an air-drill knocking on iron. That was it — or was it? When they tried it, the drill wouldn't work. A lot of testing revealed that it wouldn't work because the handle was off and apparently no-one had ever bothered to design a drill properly so that when the handle was removed, a weight was removed from some other piece of the drill so it wouldn't work. They finally left the handle on and swept the mines.

During this time, Professor Bullard was rising rapidly until he assumed command of a station. One day, sitting in his office, the telephone rang and a voice said, "Your destroyer is ready, sir." What destroyer? He hadn't ordered one. He phoned up the previous C.O., Commander ——— and he said yes, he'd ordered a destroyer, but he'd forgotten why.

With the end of the war, Professor Bullard was anxious to resume his seismological work at sea. But ships were hard to get and it wasn't till last summer that he returned to his exploration of the ocean's floor. In the meantime, he had left his post as head of the Dept. of Geodesy and Geophysics at Cambridge and had come to Canada.

Says Earth A Dynamo

It was in Toronto that he presented his paper on "Terrestial Magnetism," You all know that a compass needle points North, that the earth acts as a huge magnet, but do you know why? Not until last winter was a fairly consistent theory developed. This theory is

(Continued on Page 5)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinions of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Art Payne

ASSISTANTS: Jim Simpson, Barbara Murphy, Cathy McDermott, Mary Ann Wheeler

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1949

PM On Communism

(The following is reprinted from the Queen's Journal. It was originally run as a feature column but The Varsity reprints it here as an editorial.)

I believe there are two ways to fight the enemies of freedom in one's own country. One of those ways is to shout about them until we get red in the face and to urge repressive laws, prison terms and concentration camps. In doing so, we might be starting down a road at the end of which we could well lose the freedom we are trying to protect.

The other way is to proclaim our faith in our free institutions and to proclaim that faith by making those free institutions work to the advantage of the great majority of the community; to proclaim our faith in the brotherhood of man not just in words, but by treating our fellow citizens like brothers; and to proclaim our faith in social justice not just by talking about it but by working to eradicate injustice and exploitation and oppression wherever they may be found.

We should adopt stern measures, very stern measures against those who are proven traitors, those who commit overt acts which amount to infractions of our penal code. Under our system, however, every man is innocent until he is proven guilty and we must be careful not to turn prosecution into persecution because if we do we will be very apt to lose the freedom we are trying to save.

Certain Communist leaders in other countries have said or implied that it is the duty of all Communists to ally themselves with the Soviet Union in the event of another war. In our country that is, or would be, treasonable conduct. To deal with such conduct we already have laws with plenty of teeth in them. I do not like the kind of laws that are put in the statute books and then forgotten. That is not the way to maintain respect for the law in a free country.

The real truth is that the Communists are not going to be able to do much damage so long as we help keep the world at peace. Their opportunity would come if we had to have another war.

Within our own country, I am convinced that the main defence against Communism is the maintenance of freedom and the provision of social security and enlarged opportunities for the mass of ordinary people.

So long as we are free to elect our own Parliaments and to choose our own governments; so long as we are free to express our own ideas and to advocate such political and social changes as can be made peacefully; just so long will we be masters of our own destiny.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent

• COMING EVENTS •

EXPLORATION SOCIETY
The Hart House Exploration Society will meet in the Music Room, on Thursday, November 24th, at 8 o'clock. Among the speakers will be Mr. Andrew Lawrie, who will give a talk on his recent year's work among the Eskimo and Caribou in the North West Territories.

GERMAN CLUB
There will be a meeting of the University German Club on Thursday, Nov. 24, at Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's College, at 8 p.m. The program will include a marionette show, "Hansel and Gretel", and folk dancing. All students interested in German are cordially invited.

U.C. - CCF
Prof. George Grube will speak to the U.C. Unit of the CCF club Wednesday at one p.m. in room four of U.C. on "The Ethics of Socialism". Question and discussion period will follow.

VIC RECORD HOUR
By special request—Repeat performance of "Henry V" by Sir Laurence Olivier. Wednesday, 4.30 p.m. at Wymilwood. All welcome.

PRESBYTERIAN FELLOWSHIP
All members are invited to the annual Christmas Carol Service to be held in Knox College Chapel on Wednesday, December 7th, at 8.00 p.m. The speaker will be Rev. Principal W. W. Bryden, M.A., D.D.

WEEK OF MEETINGS
A series of addresses on "Freedom" will be given in Victoria College chapel at 1.20 p.m. daily, Nov. 22 to Nov. 25.

HILLEL
All those who are interested please attend the Current Events Group on Wed., Nov. 23, at 1 p.m. in Room 5, the Zionist Building, 851 Spadina.

WOMEN'S CAREER FORUM
Career Forum featuring Miss Ruth Wells, Department of Travel and Publicity, and Miss June Dennis, Women's Commentator at C.J.B.C. in the Women's Union Theatre, Wednesday, Nov. 23, at 4 p.m.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
Prof. Frank Underhill will speak on "The State in a Free Society" before the School of Social Work on Nov. 23 at 4 p.m. in Room 153, 273 Bloor St. W. The meeting is open to the public.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION
The Record Collection Program in the Mechanical Building today will feature Berlioz—Roman Carnival Overture; de Falla—Nights in The Gardens of Spain; Villa Lobos—Choros No. 7, and Moussorgsky's — Excerpts From Boris Godunoff.

VIC V.C.F.
Miss Hollingsworth will speak to members at a luncheon at the C.I.M. at 150 St. George St., at 4.30 p.m.

I.S.S. OPEN MEETING
Students and faculty interested in I.S.S. activities are welcome today at 4 p.m. in the Women's Union. A discussion, "The University Community—What Is It?" will follow a report on I.S.S. projects including the Campaign.

V.C.S.U.
All members are urged to consider the notice on the main bulletin board.

SOCIAL WORK CLUB
Closed meeting, Tuesday, November 22nd, in Wymilwood at 8 p.m.
Report and discussion on the Survey of "Cabbage Town".
New members will be accepted.

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB
There will NOT be a meeting of the Ukrainian Students' Club this evening. It is postponed till next Tuesday.

THE STARDUSTERS
VARSITY'S FAVORITE ORCHESTRA!!
FOR THE FULL BAND OR OUR SMALLER ORCHESTRA
PHONE ME. 4455

A-V.R. A-V.R.

TODAY

CASTING OF DANCING CHORUS
ALL-VARSITY REVUE
THEATRE WOMEN'S UNION 4-6 P.M.

MALES and FEMALES ! !

Girls are requested, if possible to appear in shorts and dancing shoes.

A-V.R. A-V.R.

TORONTONENSIS

Arrangements for space contracts in Torontonensis 1950 must be completed by Dec. 16th. Contracts are to be signed at the S.A.C. Office in Hart House as soon as possible.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

TUESDAY INFORMAL RECITAL
The third of the Tuesday informal recitals will be held in the the East Common Room to day at 1.25 p.m. Al W. Chapple (III Dentistry) will present a programme of modern piano music. All members will be welcome.

BRIDGE CLUB
Bridge classes for beginners will be held each Thursday night and separate games will be run. Prepare now for the University of Toronto intercollegiate team by attending the Thursday meetings. Special instruction will be arranged.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB VE3BPD
Time tables for code and theory instruction groups will be issued at a brief meeting this afternoon at 5.00 p.m. in the Debates Room. All members interested in participating should attend.

LIBRARY RECORD HOUR
The Library Committee is presenting a record hour at 1.30 p.m. today in the Record Room. The following numbers will constitute the programme: "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Pensees" by Mons. E. M. Stephan, and Orson Welles reading "Julius Caesar."

ARCHERY
There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

ART CLASS
The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

GLEE CLUB
Regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5.00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

VISITORS' DAY
Next Sunday, 27th November, will be Visitors' Sunday when members may introduce their friends between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL
Ray Dudley and John Beckwith, pianists, will give a programme of music for piano four-hands, in the Music Room at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, 27th November. Members and their guests, including ladies, invited.

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, November 22, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

Watch That Swing!

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

Barb Weatherhead, Vic's strong outfielder, just missed connecting with the ball as Joan Sommerville, PHE, expertly catches it in a final playoff game between the two contenders for the 1949 Softball Championship which PHE walked off with yesterday. Behind the ump's mask is Bev Morrison, PHE, giving the call on the play.

Hon. Paul Martin Greets Students Visiting The U.N.

Seventy-one Varsity students visited the United Nations and New York City last week-end, under the sponsorship of the International Relations Club, and leadership of B. Hutchins, III Trinity.

Secretary of the Carnegie Endowment For International Peace, Miss Lillian Parker, met the group who had spent Thursday night on the train with little sleep for some, and none for most.

After checking in at the hotel and the "Y", the group left for the United Nations. The General Assembly is at Flushing Meadow in a converted Fair building and the Security Council at Lake Success in a remodelled factory.

At Flushing Meadow, about an hour's drive from the heart of New York City the students sat in on a session of the General Assembly. The Balkan question was the subject for debate and delegates from Russia, Poland and the United States took part. Although the speakers do not necessarily speak in English there is no difficulty in understanding, as there are earphones provided for all visitors over which foreign languages are translated.

Student Ambassadors

The Canadian Delegation gave a luncheon for the visitors from Varsity in the delegates' own dining room. Hon. Paul Martin, acting head of the delegation in Mr. L. B. Pearson's absence, welcomed the students. He said that they would go back home as ambassadors of the United Nations. Other Canadians working for the U.N. were also present.

After lunch Mr. Martin and Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy took part in an informal discussion with the students. The Polish Delegate outlined his country's stand on the Greek question, which Mr. Martin said was different from Canada's point of view. Atomic control was also discussed.

The World Represented

The group then proceeded to Lake Success, a half hour's drive, where the Security Council, Committee Rooms and the Secretariat are located.

After a brief introduction to Lake Success by a young lady in the Public Information Department the group split up to go to the various Committee meetings, Trustee, Legal, Budget and Human Rights.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was representing the U.S. in the Human Rights Committee and Senator Wilson was one of the Canadian delegates. As in the General Assembly many foreign languages were spoken, except in the committees the speeches are translated simultaneously into French, English, Chinese, Russian and Spanish.

Later Mr. Ridell, Canadian representative, explained to the group the functions of his office and how representatives are chosen. His position is between a delegate's and an advisor's. He stated that people in his job had not enough tact or brains to be one or the other.

While this was going on five students made a recording of an informal unprepared discussion for the U.N. Radio Division.

Gen. McNaughton Receives

The Canadian Council gave a reception at the Biltmore Hotel for the Varsity contingent. General A. G. McNaughton, Mrs. McNaughton and other diplomats were there to meet and talk to the students. The General's welcome was most cordial and he spoke to many and shook hands with all.

The group left the hotel in the early evening with a free night for sight-seeing.

Flushing Revisited

Saturday morning there was another excursion to Flushing Meadow to watch the General Assembly in session.

The rest of the week-end the students were on their own, although several impromptu tours of the city were organized by members of the group.

(Continued on Page 5)

C.C.F. Speaker

George Grube, Professor of Classics at Trinity College, and member of the Provincial Executive of the Ontario CCF will speak to the U.C. CCF Unit at one p.m. on Wednesday in Room 4 of U.C. His topic: "The Ehtics of Socialism". Prof. Grube was CCF federal candidate in Broadview riding in the last federal election, and has held the position of Provincial President of the CCF in Ontari.

World Unity Goal Of Bahai Students Told

"The coming of Baha'u'llah represents the coming of age of the whole human race," Mr. F. St. George Spendlove, Keeper of the modern European, Japanese and East Inidan Collection at the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology, told the third open meeting of the Baha'i student group yesterday in University College.

Mr. Spendlove stressed that no divine revelation was final but was progressive. "The purpose of the prophet is to reveal the word of God to his generation. Baha'u'llah taught us a new concept of justice and morality. He also envisioned all our principles of social uplift and foresaw the unity of the human race to be achieved in this century."

Mr. Spendlove told the audience of some of the teachings of Baha'u'llah, including the unity of science and religion, the principle of universal education, the equality of the sexes, the establishment of world government based upon the Baha'i concept of divine justice. He challenged his listeners to turn to the writings of the prophet, assuring them that they contained the answers to the problems of modern man.

When questioned concerning the Baha'i view of God, Mr. Spendlove said: "Baha'u'llah teaches that the

(Continued on Page 5)

"Scarlet And Gold" Review Newest Addition To Shows

Most of the current activity around Victoria College these days is caused by rehearsals for the 'Scarlet and Gold,' the newest addition to college shows, which Vic undergrads are presenting for the first time this year.

With the Vic Bob returning to its former status as a freshman affair, there was no outlet for student talent except in the annual music club productions. As a result, a musical review is being produced to fill this gap, and with an eye to the program, the show has been called The Scarlet and Gold.

Kick Chorus of 25

The Review has been cast and in rehearsal for several weeks now. Especially energetic is the kick chorus of 25 who have been polishing up on their routines for over a month, under the direction of Shirley Tabb and Bruce Werry. Half a dozen skits directed by George McCowan and Ted Snider are worked in throughout the show, and deal with topics familiar to all students. The directors say that these skits will appeal to anyone with a sense of humor, as they are not limited for material to Vic.

The Scarlet and Gold Review is being presented at the Eaton Auditorium on the night of November 30, at 8:15 p.m. Producer John Finlay pointed out that due to the impossibility of obtaining Hart House Theatre this year, the show had to find a stage off the campus, and Eaton Auditorium was the only place available. As a result, there are only a limited number of tickets available, and Finlay suggested that all those who want tickets should apply early to avoid disappointment.

Parlow Quartet Perform In First Of New Concerts

The first of the Royal Conservatory of Music's "Wednesday Five O'Clocks" series will start in the Royal Conservatory Concert Hall on Dec. 7 officials have announced. Featured will be the Parlow String Quartet.

The program will be made up of two major works from the classical repertoire: the Mozart Quartet in D Major K499, and the Brahms Quintet in G Major, Opus III. Ross Lechow, violist, will assist in the latter number.

The series will resume after Christmas January 18 with a concert by a string orchestra under the direction of Ettore Mazzoleni with Greta Kraus as harpsichord soloist.

The concerts will be presented every two weeks and among the guests will be the Canadian Artists Trio and Andre de Ribaupierre, violinist.

Co-eds Discover

A Salt Mine Can Be Thrilling

The Austrian miners are great ones for a thrill. Take the way, for example, they go down a salt mine.

Forming themselves into closely seated groups of six, they slide for a depth of 50 or 200 feet at a time along what resembles an enlarged coal shute. The man at the back has a piece of leather to apply on a cable running along side to serve as a brake, if necessary.

4 U. of T. Girls On Tour

This handy bit of information was passed on to us by Marg. Haultain, III UC, who made one of these flights last summer as a member of the U.S. National Student Association touring Europe.

Along with her was her twin sister, Pat Haultain, III Vic., Barbara Knowles, Psy. 49, and Jo-Anne Stoddart, III Vic.

They made a stop at Insbruk and travelled by bus to mountain chalet for dinner. Afterwards, in a conversation with their student guides, they found two of them were organizers of a tour to America. Immediately, the girls invited the Austrian students to visit the University of Toronto. They accepted.

Austrian Students Visit Campus

This week, a group of Austrian students made up of 14 girls and 17 boys will visit the campus from November 25 to 28. The students landed in New York on the 15th of this month for a tour that will cover 64 American Universities and last until June of 1950. The University of Toronto will be the only Canadian campus to be visited by this group.

The purpose of the tour is to present to the people of North America various phases of Austrian culture and in this way they hope to create a better understanding among the students and the people of the three countries.

Getting back to the salt mine, and to Miss Haultain, we asked politely if the friction on those chutes wasn't a bit noticeable.

"Well yes, we were a bit warm, but we were wearing huge blue jeans and smocks. We shoved our hair up-under our caps."

"Hum . . . what did everyone do, particularly the lead man, when you reached the bottom — was it lighted?"

"The end of the chute had a gradual slope that deposited us quite carefully.... Everything was pitch black except for the torch that the guide carried."

One of the most eerie experiences that the girls had underground, was the trip across a salt lake, half a mile wide, on a barge controlled by a cable than ran overhead.

"It was like something from Buck Rogers," said Pat Haultain. "There were coloured lights, chiefly red and blue strung across the water that gave everything an unreal appearance."

German Students Want Contacts

The girls, in conversations with German students, learned that they hoped for greater opportunities of student contacts in every country. These students wanted the chance to observe the way of life in other countries, voluntarily and objectively.

This weekend the University students will be host and hostess to the visiting Austrian students. There will be a round of dinners and receptions for the students who will in turn give talks and illustrations of Austrian life.

This Saturday the Austrian students will give a concert of singing and dancing in Massey Hall. Officials announced that they would put tickets on sale for the performance today at the S.A.C. office, Wednesday at Vic, U.C. and Trinity, and after Thursday at Massey Hall.

Montreal College Urges Athletes Stay On Campus

Montreal—(CUP)—Students who want to play for teams other than the Sir George Williams College, will not be granted releases unless the sport does not exist within the college or the student in question proves that he has a very good reason to play on an outside team, according to a ruling at the College. If a student does not abide by this ruling, then he will be refused the privilege of all social and athletic extra-curricular activities.

TALKING SHOP

UP AT THE INTERNATIONAL CINEMA, you'll see what Jean Cocteau can do in film magic ... "Beauty and the Beast" is designed to prove the French can still show the world how to do it, in form and that intelligible stuff called fantasy ... it's a picture that's a dancy antidote for logic and puts dreams in your eyes ... also "Lost Boundaries" is still rolling them in at the Towne Theatre, Bloor at Yonge ... It's the picture that proves to skeptics there's fourth dimensional thinking possible back of screen work, and goes on from that to prove that such thinking can turn itself into extraordinarily gripping entertainment.

✣ ✣ ✣

FOR YEARS SCHEUER'S at 131 Yonge Street, have featured a hundred dollar diamond value for the just-engaged couple ... they have made this ring and its value a point of pride ... in fact they advertise it continually because it represents good value and a choice of two beautiful rings, a three-stone style, or a solitaire, both beautifully mounted. Suggestion, take the girl in and have a look, then compare values. Scheuer's is Canada's oldest diamond importing house, they buy and sell for cash, saving carrying charges. Address: 131 Yonge, facing Temperance.

✣ ✣ ✣

THE ADVANTAGE OF shopping at the Evangeline Shops is you can build a wardrobe, adding a skirt and a sweater and a separate item week by week ... the Bloor Street Evangeline is your nearest ... and you'll find it's got just about every item from a housecoat to a tailored blouse, that the gal on the campus needs most and needs to find without too much shopping around. It's not by chance that the Evangelines have grown to one of the biggest chains in the country. Reason, they feature the fashions that speak with authority, at prices that can be easy because you shopseparate items.

✣ ✣ ✣

TEN PERCENT OFF SOCIETY Brand Suits is the news from Teasdall's for the College man. That's something to make a trip to 804 Yonge Street worth the time it takes ... 804 is just north of Bloor, and a good spot to remember for the smaller accessories as well as suits and overcoats. Teasdall's do a big trade with the college man, and their ten percent concession to the U. of T. makes sense because a good many of the lads patronize 'em "for keeps". Budget terms too, if you're interested in doing it the slow way.

✣ ✣ ✣

F. J. WATT'S SPORTSWEAR is having a sale of suits at 35.50 these used to be priced, some of 'em as high as 75.00 and it makes an opportunity to grab off something you can look happy in for a couple of seasons or more. These suits have the "look" you need when skies get grey... suave and sure of themselves, and made to par off to perfection with one of the new cashmere sweaters, just in at Watt's. These new cashmere sweaters come in a variety of colours ... can be tried on with the suit while you're deciding. Watt's, at Bloor and Avenue Rd., in the Park Plaza, likes you to drop in and hunt around. It's the college girl's shop.

ONLY AT Virginia Dare

EXCITING HOSIERY SALE

— for Xmas giving — for yourself

51 Gauge

mist sheer NYLONS

20 denier

— first quality

— sizes 8½ to 11

regular 1.95

now 1.69

2 pair for 3.30

• Taupesheen
• Cocoa Frappe
• Grey Ev

Amazing value — with Christmas only 28 shopping days away! Perfect quality nylon hose, exquisitely wisp sheer, snag resisting ... made with dull finish for loveliest appearance. Contrasting dark seams, slenderized heels for smartest wear. For yourself — for the gift that's always appreciated! Wonderful Virginia Dare value!

Virginia Dare

Mail orders filled only if remittance is enclosed. Please state size and color. Send to 146 Yonge St., Toronto.

Women's Page

Our Readers Write

Women's Ed Note—

We are glad at least one man on the campus objects to a black picture of coed character. It would be disheartening to feel that every campus coed, including ourself, was "mentally and morally frigid," a "party killer," etc. However we do not feel that every girl on the campus is so perfect that she can not benefit from male criticism, although one must always take men's remarks about women, whether raving or rapping, with a grain of salt.

Remember that Nelson wrote the story from his angle, as the by-line shows. We had two letters from Skulemen denouncing Nelson as an unrepresentative spokesman from Skule. One of these, which we printed, was an official letter from Chief Cannoneer Paul LaPrairie, of the Engineering Society. We believe the article contained too much truth to be laughed off. We also believe that a similar article might have been written by a man in any faculty . . . yes, even an artsman.

✣ ✣ ✣

Defends Co-eds

Women's Editor, The Varsity

I object vigourously to the opinions stated in this space last week. I am in total disagreement with the editorial and with the misguided comments of Skuleman Nelson.

Let me start off by mentioning that I am an Artsman—M & P to be exact. Being an Artsman I feel that my mind is clear when it comes to appraising a personality. For me, the English language is not sophisticated. I don't think a girl dull and unemotional if she doesn't occasionally mutter 'Tolkie-Oikie' or if she doesn't laugh at every low-brow 'joke' (?).

Harold Nelson specifically accused co-eds of being "types," "mentally and morally frigid," "party killers," "wet blankets," "snobbish without reason," "sophisticants." He couldn't be farther from the truth. In fact I think he missed the boat entirely. You'll notice, if you trouble to go back and read his comments, that he restricted his enquiries to Skulemen and Forestry students. No wonder they all objected strenuously to the women they had dated.

The poor girls had no alternatives when out with such 'men' (?)—she had to be a 'wet blanket', so to speak. What else could she do. She obviously couldn't sing the songs of Skule; she couldn't speak the 'language' of Skule; she had to speak her own language—a language as pure and simple as Webster would have it. For this she is accused of being sophisticated.

Invades Arts' Affairs

Nelson goes on with his accusations, "Not only are they bores, they are man-hunters." How far from the truth can you get. From the way Engineers react in the presence of women, you'd think they never saw one before and had to make a conquest before she disappeared. Their 'men' constantly invade "Red and White Nite," Vic tea dances and in general all the bettter affairs on the campus—Arts' affairs to be more explicit. They cut in on dances, dance a round or two and then scurry off to cry on each other's shoulders. "She was snob. Wouldn't let me kiss her." "What a wet blanket I got; she insisted I hold her a bit looser so she could breathe." "I got a sophisticated dame who looked shocked when I told her about the 'Auction' ". And so the comments run.

These are the charges made, can they be refuted? The answer is a simple and unequivocal (Skulemen see dictionary) "YES!"

Ask any intelligent male, preferably an Artsman, though Meds or Dents will do. They'll gladly tell you that co-eds are exciting, vivacious, "lots of fun at parties." As one Dental student so aptly put it; "I never had as much fun in my life as I did on a double date with two Dental Nurses."

These men have never met such a thing as a "mentally and morally frigid" coed; but they have met cool and reserved girls who wanted to know something about the boy they were out with before letting him take her home. Quite a difference, isn't it.

Nor have they met coeds who spent the night talking about 'strange things'. However they did meet girls who were as interested as they were in the world situation and who made some rather striking observations on current problems. Such an event was always a happy one.

Personally, and I know that many men share my opinion, I like to spend the odd evening discussing politics—and I don't care if I'm discussing them with a boy or a girl. Perhaps we're in a special group; I guess it's strange to have some men go out with a girl they don't expect to marry because they've taken her out once or twice.

And as to the charge that girls size up a man by thinking how big a diamond he'll buy—well, I just don't believe it. If it's true then the girls I've been out with probably think I can't afford one.

As I wrote two weeks ago, "The Perfect Woman is a coed at the University of Toronto." When I say 'Perfect', I MEAN PERFECT!

Rocky Martino, III, U.C.

✣ ✣ ✣

Objects To "Vulgar"

Editor, The Varsity:

I am very disappointed with your review on the Contemporary Art now hanging in the Art Gallery of Toronto. Mr. Creighton picks out the one or two ridiculous and unintelligible pictures in each section and dwells on them instead of commenting on the wonderful variety of exciting pictures to be seen. He calls American Art "blatantly vulgar," when it shows a diversity of style, technique, and subject all excellently handled and most inspiring. It seems that Mr. Creighton took a cursory glance through the Gallery and walked out.

He does not take time to enjoy the sensuous array of colour in the French section, the introspective few in the French and American sections, or the charming lyrical elements in all sections. How about letting an art lover do your reviews in future?

Pat Ciglen,
II Pass Arts U.C.

Series Of Talks To Aid Students In Career Plans

How to keep a square peg out of a round hole is the main purpose of the Career Forums at the University of Toronto. These Forums were started two years ago by the Pan-Hellenic Association to instruct and inform undergraduates on the pleasures and pitfalls of various careers. This year the Women's Undergraduate Association of University College will hold the first Career Forum at the Open Meeting of the Association.

Careers on Parade tomorrow afternoon in the Women's Union will feature Miss Ruth Wells of the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, and Miss June Dennis, Women's commentator at C.J.B.C.

Miss Wells is a graduate of the University of Manitoba. She began her career as an art teacher, globe-trotter and sales clerk in a department store in London, England. Later she became a member of the fashion and advertising department of the same store. During the war Miss Wells travelled in Europe and the Near East with one of the Women's Services.

Miss Dennis began her varied career as a stenographer for the Hudson's Bay Company in Winnipeg later moving to Victoria, B.C. and continuing stenography there. Quite accidentally Miss Dennis entered radio in Victoria in 1943. After doing everything from turning discs to preparing and announcing a two and a half hour Opera Broadcast, Miss Dennis came to Toronto and C.J.B.C. in 1945. She is one of the few people in radio who received their training while they worked.

The Career Forums in the past have been very potential careerists. Both Miss Wells and Miss Dennis are celebrated in their fields and will discuss opportunities for new graduates.—P. Z.

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL MANUFACTURING CO. LTD. TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

For Graduation and the Years to Come . . . .

Have a really fine Camera Portrait to remember this important event.

CAMERA PORTRAITS

by

RANDOLPH MacDONALD

Special rates for Graduation Portraits

26 College St. (opp. Eaton's College St.) . . . . Ki. 6624

ART - MUSIC and DRAMA

(Continued from Page 6)

desire to maintain the status quo and the children who want to try out the new inventions and ideas of progress—in this case a tractor.

Frank Peddle as the patriarchal Gramp was a concrete example of the tyrannical parent but gave the feeling of not being completely at ease in his role in the opening scenes. Don Harron gave intensity to his role of the son whose ideas are continually thwarted by his overbearing father.

Margot Christie as 'Annie, a daughter-in-law, was completely the farmer's wife and gave a sympathetic portrayal. Lawrence Law as her son brought a naturalness and ease which were delightful.

The set was excellently contrived. Several technical faults were apparent: chief of these being the blackouts to denote the passage of time—curtains would have been more suitable. Also apparent was a confusing mixture of 20's and 40's costumes on the female members of the cast. Best scenes were those when the whole family were grouped around the table at meals —created a complete illusion of family life.

Harry Boyle's expansion of his radio script denoted craftsmanship and ability. It is hoped that his next play will be one that is originally designed for stage production.

Isabel B. Ward.

Hon. Paul Martin

(Continued from Page 3)

They boarded the train at 8.00 p.m. in Grand Central Station to spend another sleepless night and arrive back at Toronto at 9.00 yesterday morning. Although they lost much sleep, said Barry Hutchins, the group gained much in understanding of how the U.N. works in its struggle for peace.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

I.S.O.

Tickets for the Austrian Concert Saturday night, Nov. 26, are reserved at the Women's SAC office, Room 62, U.C., until 5 p.m. today. Tickets are for the first balcony, right hand side.

ALL-VARSITY REVUE

Casting for the male and female dancing choruses will take place in the Women's Union today from 4 to 6 p.m.

LIBERAL ARTS CLUB

Don't forget our open meeting tonight at Wymilwood. Come at 8.15 p.m. Mayor Moore will be the guest speaker. All welcome.

S.C.M.

Mr. MacLennan's first address will be at 1.20 p.m. today in Alumni Hall. (Note change of place; Tuesday only.) Men's discussion group will be in Room 21, Vic; women's group in Annesley Tea Room at 7.00 p.m.

RANKIE SPILCHOK of the Montreal All-Wets says — "I been passing balls for nigh on 25 years now, but I refuse to pass this SIGMA ALPHA MU ANNIVERSARY BALL on Nov. 26."

Campus Profile

(Continued from Page 1)

the product of Professor Bullard's experimental results and theoretical calculations.

In essence the theory suggests "that the earth contains a dynamo which produces the currents that maintain the field. This dynamo must be self-exciting, that is, it must itself generate the magnetic field required to produce the currents. Motions are supposed to take place in the earth's core which cause the conducting material of the core to cross the lines of force of the magnetic field and thus to produce an electromotive force and a system of electric currents. These currents, which are supposed to maintain the field are of the order of five thousand million amperes." (E. C. Bullard, Terrestial Magnetism.)

There are many reasons which could cause such motions in the core. Professor Bullard favours two, precession of the earth and thermal convection. As yet, neither leads to a conclusive argument due to a lack of experimental results.

Investigations are now proceeding in various places on the earth which will show, in a very few years, whether Professor Bullard is right or wrong. The trend of results now at hand seems to verify his theory. Time alone will tell.

If you have never met Professor Bullard or have never heard him speak, you have two last opportunities. The first is this Wednesday when he will speak to the Maths and Physics Society on "Radio-active Time"; the second, this Dec. 3 when he will speak at the R.C.I. on the subject of "Sunspots."

World Unity

(Continued from Page 3)

essence of God is unknowable, but that his attributes are everywhere evident. In man the attributes of God find their centre in the prophet."

U.B.C. Frat Faces Lawsuit

Vancouver—(CUP)—Psi Upsilon, a University of British Columbia fraternity is faced with a lawsuit as the result of complaints from residents near the fraternity house. Complaints against the fraternity have been coming in since the frat house was made in a residential district. This purchase was made against the advice of city council, but with legal advice.

There is a by-law which prohibits anything other than single unit dwellings in the area in question. During the war the by-law was relaxed in order to permit the opening of houses to boarders, in order to relieve the housing shortage. Residents of the area now feel it is time to enforce the old by-law.

Border Barrier

(Continued from Page 1)

Bambridge spoke in support of becoming the United Nations Association's campus branch. She argued that this would add prestige to the Peace Council's main work of campaigning for "peace."

Secretary Shirley Endicott said she opposes affiliation because it might restrict the scope of the Council's work and force it to stick to merely publicizing the United Nations.

Norm Endicott, IV Vic, pointed out that Caput might refuse to recognize any organization linked with an outside group.

How to Get Tickets

(Continued from Page 1)

lineup was a native of Calgary, Mo Papermy, III UC. This Stampeder, complete with ten gallon hat, let out with a blood curdling western "Yyyahoo" for their benefit.

The last man to get his two tickets was Don Hubble, IV SPS, who felt the money he had spent on a taxi to get there by 5:15 a.m. was well worth it.

Joan Eddis.

ROYAL CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC OF TORONTO
WEDNESDAY
FIVE O'CLOCKS
Season 1949 - 1950
Six Concerts of Chamber Music

December	7:	Parlow String Quartet
January	18:	Greta Kraus and Ettore Mazzoleni Harpsichord and String Orchestra
February	1:	Canadian Artists Trio
February	15:	Andre de Ribaupierre, violin Boris Roubakine, piano
March	1:	Woodwind Ensemble
March	15:	Parlow String Quartet

CONSERVATORY CONCERT HALL
University Avenue at College Street
Series Ticket $3.00; Single Ticket $1.00
Students: Series Ticket $2.50; Single Ticket 50c
Available at the Conservatory or by Mail Order
Address Royal Conservatory of Music, 135 College Street

I.S.S. OPEN MEETING

STAFF AND STUDENTS WELCOME REPORT ON

I.S.S. PROJECTS

and

FACULTY - STUDENT DISCUSSION on THE UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY—WHAT IS IT?

U.C. WOMEN'S UNION - - 4 P.M.

Distaff Side

By ANNE BURTON and MARGOT MURRAY

How tired can you get before something snaps? How rushed do you have to be before something gives way? How worn out . . . Oh never mind. Without being rhetorical we will come to the point. We, and all the rest of collegedom's women, are dead tired. Nervously exhausted. In short, beat complete.

Some people (men) can't understand us. We members of the distaff side are an enigma to them. It's all your own fault, they say. You wouldn't be so tired if you got ten hours sleep a night, ate your Wheaties every day, and didn't rush at things so. Take it easy, they caution . . .

But pardon us while we snort a derisive snort. This is all very well. Sure, ten hours sleep and take it easy. Wheaties and don't rush — but how?

About this time of year, we've discovered, most women begin wondering just what kind of an animal, vegetable, or mineral this Sleep is. You won't find the answer in twenty questions either. The reason for this query about the Life and Times of Sleep is that most women are too busy to do much research into the question. Instead they have a little (?) list of Things To Do, which they are bound and determined they are going to get done. There are such complicated problems in a woman's life as trying to work in three dates before six-thirty and midnight next Saturday night, and cajoling the dentist into straightening out those pushed-in front teeth. The list may include Knitting His Christmas present, having a Toni, remodelling an evening dress, Trying out for the All-Varsity, writing seven essays, polishing fingernails, buying a girdle, and wangling a seat for the Sadler Wells Ballet from Dick.

We aren't complaining. We don't say that no one but women have problems. They may. But women surely get the lion's share . . .

And then again, maybe it's all in the way you hold your teeth.

VIC'S CORNER

Dear old turtle is sporting some fancy work on his shell these days. Just to be in the spirit, mind you! It's a big scarlet "S.G.", like the SG pins worn by those going to the Scarlet and Gold.

And besides that he's wearing an old sports jacket and jeans ... going to the informal this Friday! Tickets on sale 10-2 in Alumni for both events.

Don't miss the big poster above the SG desk in Vic, will you? A terrific job by Bev Pearson and Carol Graydon which is bound to bring a smile at the very least.

• • •

The Open Meeting last week was quite a show. After defeating a motion to make the At-Home formal most of the gang left. But another motion to make it optional came up. It never got voted on.

The question bothering the exec is whether to call another open meeting. Some say yes, some say no. (Turtle says no.) What's to be done will be settled Monday night. It's a problem!

To clear up a point which confused a few last week. "Optional" means either formal or Sunday suit. It does not imply sweater and sports coat.

Watch The Varsity re the open meeting. There will be one soon, in any case, to pass an amendment to the constitution. A quorum is 50 members of the college.

• • •

The impromptu debates go into their second round this week. They are truly getting entertaining! Sessions every Tues., Thurs., and Friday in rooms 14 and 18 of Vic.

SCM is sponsoring another open forum this week. Their progressive program is catching the eyes of many who enjoy provocative discussions.

Dr. Robbins will speak on Thurs. on Christianity and Literature.

VCF'ers take a reminder here to be on hand for the noon hour talks in the chapel. In case you forgot, Rev. D. H. MacLennan of Hamilton is Chief Missioner for the occasion.

Mayor Moore speaks to Liberal Arts tonight 8.15 p.m. in Wymilwood. All welcome.

Dramatics Club has its monthly meeting on Wed. Features a debate with St. Mike's Senate Club, a one-act play and records of Stanley Holloway — with food!

• • •

T-Dance this Wed., folks! Don't forget it. The gang had planned a Mulock Cup Finals hop for Thurs. (provided we played). However, news has just reached us that there will be no finals this Thurs. So we shall carry on with a regular T-Dance, Alumni Hall, 4 p.m. Wed.

And on the topic of Mulock Cup finals, don't forget to plan in advance to be there. Acting President Bennett says he will cancel all lectures in Vic the afternoon of the game, provided, of course, that we are in it! Maybe there will be a T-Dance then too. Who knows??

Class 5T3 had their party last Friday. For a year with so much spirit at the first of the term, the turnout looked disappointing. However, certain residence men wish to thank the class for leaving them so much food! Miss 5T3 was named during the evening as Joan Heagle. We won't haggle about that.

• • •

Rugby boys got a shaking up last week, dropping a touchdown to Meds, and losing 3-1. It was tough to lose, but made little difference to Vic's league status. No use speculating now (Sunday) on Monday's game, since no one will bet for Forestry!

Sr. lacrosse boys kicked in for a 9-2 win over the league-leading UC team. Might mean a play-off berth for the boys.

Vic's hockey team exhibits on Thurs. night 7-9 p.m. with St. Mike's. Understand they are guinea pigs for the "referees' clinic". Should be a bang-up game in that case!

Minor League basketball teams are almost all signed up. Need but 4 more teams. Director Al Strike wants the managers to be sure to mark in their phone numbers. Arrangements for practice time can then be transmitted via good old Alexander Graham.

• • •

A pep rally for old "rah rah Victori . . . ah" is planned the day of Mulock Cup final, if we should be blessed with the privilege. Things will take place on Vic's front steps with the "Burwash Bugle Boys" as feature attraction. Do keep this in mind, since it's likely to be next Monday when few, if any, will hear of the news.

• • •

Snoopography. Don Lawson, vice-president of VCU, is but 21, over 6', and a lover of "good" jokes. (Aren't we all?) He labored through UTS, played most sports esp. Bball, showed interest in acting in last year's Bob as "Lou". Commerce and finance is his chosen course and future work. If you need help, or want something done, Lawson is your lad!

Subversively yours,

PIK

(ADVERTISEMENT)

Don't think that you will be misled
By such a little rhyme
For all it wants to tell you, is
The place for a good time.
It's Hart House Theatre, the eve,
December fifth, sixth, seven,
When U.C. Music Club's "Red Mill"
Will be your seventh heaven.

TICKETS - $1.00, $1.25
SALE STARTS TOMORROW
U.C. ROTUNDA

ARE YOU IN LABOR?
—OR A CONSERVATIVE PARTY
Don't worry about politics, just be liberal and see Vic's Double Features

VIC INFORMAL
FRIDAY, NOV. 25 - HART HOUSE
$1.50 Couple. Tickets V.C.U. office
"The Dance of Distinction"

THE SCARLET and GOLD
WED. NOV. 30 - EATON AUDITORIUM
Tickets $1 - Alumni
"The Revue for You"

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

Victoria College Exhibition

When Goethe exclaimed that life is short and art long, he echoed in part what Epictetus said some centuries past, but who added that opportunity is fleeting, experiment slippery, and judgment difficult. Thus defined is the writer's predicament in this critique.

Hanging in Victoria's Co-ed Common Room until December 15 are representative works of twelve Canadian artists of some repute.

There is Tom Roberts' blanket view of an old homestead, complete with horse, cart and driver outside, entitled "Rural Delivery!" His foreground black and white "stop sign" is an excellent eye-catcher, but draws from the work's point of balance. Brush strokes are short and thick, lending depth and dimension to the work.

Frank Panabaker's "Old Mill, Speed River" presents an old mill welded into a blue-gray mist of snow-laden trees. The artist reflects them in the river with smooth, definite strokes, which lend to the painting's pervading atmosphere of repose.

F. H. Brigden's "Blossom Time" is a quiet pasture scene, a range of blossoming orchard across the canvas, whose boughs reach into an azure sky. Although a landscape, there is less of the real and more of the ethereal in its effect, more lift than depth.

A skilful piece is Jean Forbes' "The Lobster" wherein a dead lobster, in company with two shells, a canticler of wine and a half lemon, reaches out for a glass of wine. Tremendous sense of movement pervades the painting, built up by intricate colour shades, and much allowance for the influence of light and shade.

In Evan MacDonald's "Old Stope Mine, Cobalt" we see a mastercraft of compression, in the massive rock formations, combined with a tactile quality and carefully constructed balance and bilateral poise, on which three boys looking into a cavern forms the paint's pivotal point. Mr. MacDonald's craftsmanship creates an almost kodachromatic harmony in his brushwork that instills a stimulating colour synchronism into the scene.

Kenneth Forbes' "The Catch" is typical of this artist's medium, the portrait, an example of which hangs in the Vic corridor in the portrait of Dr. Pratt. The painter employs rich, deep tones, endeavors to represent his subject's character in terms of highlight and linear development.

"Morning Eden Mills" presents a sombre, mist-blanketed setting of an old mill. His tone construction and interfusion of blue bleak hues in bold strokes build an impression of strength and rest, set off by reflection in the river.

Marion Long's "Madame de Gedeonoff" a locally reputed teacher of voice, in native costume is an honest achievement in revelation of essential character, in the subject's countenance. Her tones are dark and definite, her brushwork intricate and craftily moulded to the madame's highly expressive, dominant personality.

Although the exhibition is representative of modern Canadian art, the craftsmen represented have not forgotten the eternal principles of their craft.

William Glenesk

✦ ✦ ✦

The Inheritance

The New Play Society's production on Friday evening was especially interesting, since it is a new play by a Canadian author. Its basis was a radio script by Harry J. Boyle performed on "Stage 49" last spring called The MacDonalds of Oak Valley. There was such enthusiastic response to this script that the author developed it into a stage play, The Inheritance. In this the main theme with its developments has been prolonged a little too long and the future action becomes apparent.

This is the theme of conflict between the older generation who

(Continued on Page 5)

Radio: Stage 50

Sunday night Andrew Allan attempted something very difficult, and he was moderately successful.

"The Widow and the Waitress," written by a Canadian playwright, Harry J. Boyle, describes what happens when a worldly Toronto hash-slinger marries a simple boy from the farm.

Tom, the farm boy, was a big lout with a heart of gold. Unfortunately, he wasn't much of a hand at talkin', and it took him a full hour to convince Gloria, his bride, that he really loved her. The intervening 57 minutes were filled with the catticisms of a small-town gossip who was a little too good to be true, and some rather uncertain and improbable dialect. Ontario farmers seldom mosey along (whatever that is!) — they usually just walk.

The central theme of the play is the adjustment of Gloria to her new home and its mistress, her mother-in-law (the widow). This adjustment was accomplished in a very workmanlike and predictable manner.

Living in fear that her past would catch up to her, Gloria found little ease at home. The widow resented her presence in the family homestead and gave no quarter in the domestic see-saw that developed between wife and mother. Torn between two loyalties, said very little. Poor Gloria, afraid that she was not good enough for her silent spouse, found herself in a situation that was almost freudian. Eventually, through the efforts of the local gossip, her past as a waitress was revealed to the widow, along with some rather sordid stories about a wild party she had attended. Confronted with her past, Gloria took the only honorable way out and made a dash for the 6:15 back to Toronto.

However, in spite of the prosaic plot and the difficulties of production, the play somehow seemed to capture the essence of life on the farm. Never achieving greatness, its very awkwardness enhanced its authenticity.

Gerry Jaeger.

Sunday Night Concerts

Last Sunday, Robert Graham proved in his Hart House concert that he has graduated into a really rewarding musician.

The young violinist displayed his excellence best in his opening work, Chaconne by Vitali. The melody was warmly rendered yet always encased in the formal structure pattern. The Chaconne has complex and powerful aspects and good technique can satisfy these demands. But the delicate underlying structure requires an ability to make the instrument sing. It certainly sang in Dr. Graham's hands.

His Brahms Sonata in D minor was very well played with the movements nicely contrasted in speed and mood.

However, I thought all contrast in tone and volume was lost because I could not always hear above the accompaniment. Again, the Brahms strikes me as mostly display and the lyrical pieces and dances — the Gluck Melodie, Debussy's Girl With Flaxen Hair, and Dvorak's Slavonic Dance No. 1 — were most welcome. I thought the dance lacked enthusiasm (or abandon), but the restrained melody was beautifully contrasted with the warm Debussy work. Both were notable for their smooth transition in tone and effective controlled vibratto with all the upper notes strong and clear.

Graham closed with the powerful Allegro from Elgar's Concerto in B Minor. It was an excellent rendition with feeling in it, not just accuracy.

Murray Pashley.

"V.C.F. TUESDAY TALKS"

HEAR JANE HOLLINGSWORTH

1.10 p.m. Today—Room 64 U.C. Basement

YOUR HOST U.C. VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

- A CONFESSING CHRISTIAN GROUP
- A BIBLICAL CHRISTIAN GROUP
- A CATHOLIC CHRISTIAN GROUP

ATTENTION U. C. WOMEN

YOUR AUTONOMY IS AT STAKE

Amalgamation Discussion

at the W.U.A. Open Meeting

To-morrow - Wed. 4 p.m. Women's Union Theatre

LOTUS SUTRA

PRINCIPLE OF THE BUDDHIST RELIGION

8 p.m. Wednesday, November 23

ALL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WELCOME

TORONTO BUDDHIST CHURCH

134 Huron St. WA. 5265

MADE-TO-MEASURE

SUITS, TOPCOATS, OVERCOATS - $45.00

SPORTCOATS - $29.50

BLAZERS - $29.50

SLAX - $14.50

Your choice of the finest imported woollens, in all the latest shades. Individually styled, hand-tailored to your specifications. Service and quality unsurpassed at any price. Just around the corner.

Fashion Studio Clothes

61 AVENUE RD.

Hours:
Daily 11 am. to 9 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Phone RA. 7135

RCAF NEW NEWS

FOR AIR FORCE VETERANS

If you are taking Theology or some other course in which your University training could be utilized by the RCAF next summer, you may now file application for summer employment even though you are not in App. Sci., Architec., Hon. Sci., M&P, Pschy. or Meds. To be eligible, however, you must be from '51 or '52 ('51, '52 or '53 in the case of Meds). Preferably ex-aircrew. "First come, first served" at RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George Street.

FOR UNIVERSITY FLIGHT APPLICANTS

All undergrads who wish to join the University Flight and did not complete tests in Engineering Building last Wednesday night have their last opportunity to attend meeting and tests in Room 16, Engineering Building, TONIGHT (NOT to-morrow night) at 7.00 p.m. Eligible are FRESHMEN of all courses (except Dents and For. but including Pharm and Theol) which lead directly to a degree in '52, '53, '54 or '55 AND ALL OTHER men due to graduate in '53, '54 or '55 from Architec, Lib Sch, Meds, OCE or Theol. (Aircrew applicants must be from '53.)

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

Movie Review

The Inspector-General

To an addict of Danny Kaye, surely our most exuberant and fresh comedian, a new Kaye film is an event. And after the cavalier treatment accorded Kaye in the jazz-technicolor potpurri of "A Song Is Born," Kaye addicts can be excused for hoping that his new picture gives more Kaye and less other miscellany.

Happily, "The Inspector-General" does this. The "world-premiere" now showing at the Imperial is a Danny Kaye field day. Equipped by words and music from the fertile genius of ex-wife Sylvia Fine, responsible for most of the "git-gat" boy's wonderful and memorable routines, Kaye cavorts about the screen using his voice, body and face, all imbued with the utmost in sensitive expression, to provide a marvellous Kaye-standard ball.

We have been told by sour reports of the local press that Danny Kaye made more enemies than friends with his attitude during his recent visit to Toronto. With his picture, "The Inspector-General," Kaye will make more friends than enemies, and then some.

It should be qualified that "The Inspector-General" is not on the same par as the tremendous "Walter Mitty." His routines, although more plentiful, do not quite have the unforgettable mania and frenzy of "Symphony on an Unstrung String" for example, but his quartet with himself, "Shall I be Arrogant, Elegant, or Smart?" and his wild "Drink Gypsy" routine with wine-glass and fiddle are well worth the price of admission.

Those who competently set up the pins for Kaye's strikes include Walter Slezak, Elsa Lanchester, Gene Lockhart, and Alan Hale. The heroine is the pretty Barbara Bates, who is no exuder of physical presence that the blonde Virgina Mayo was, but whose modest blushes and radiant smiles fill in the necessary intervals of a simple and untroubled romance.

Filling out an excellent program is a better-than-usual Bugs Bunny cartoon, "Long-Haired Hare" in which the cheeky rabbit lampoons some of our more famous classical musicians.

Frank Moritsugu

Mass Meeting Protests Increase In Bus Fares

Winnipeg—(CUP)—The University of Manitoba students protested an increase in bus line fares at a mass meeting recently. The basis of the protest was that the university line had been formed as a non-profit unit, and any increase in fares took it out of that category. Murray Smith, editor of the Manitoban, stated that university students only ask to be treated like the rest of Winnipeg citizens and that the increase in fares was discriminating against university students.

Sportswoman

Winter coats and warm snow boots are appearing on the campus as the weather gets colder with the thermometer hitting 25 above yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

Ski Team

Every November about this time Conn Sparrow starts thinking about skiing and she is looking for intercollegiate team potentials to take up their skis once the snow begins to fall.

This year Toronto again hopes to go down to the McGill Winter Carnival in February for the slalom and downhill events after placing second in the combined effort last year.

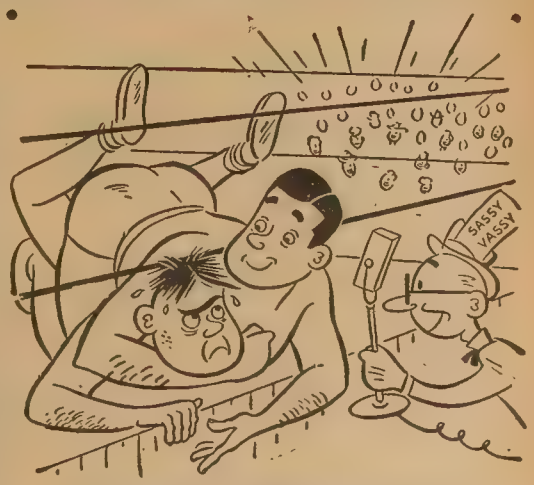
Anybody who is interested in trying out for the Women's Ski Team should get in touch with Conn as soon as possible.

Basketball

UC Soph's and PHE II started off the first game of last evening with much rough play. UC was leading at half time, but due to Pat Montgomery, PHE, making some spectacular shots in the second half, PHE edged out UC with a score of 19 - 16.

Vic Srs. defaulted to St. Mike's when Vic failed to show up.

In a fast-moving, exciting game, Nurses defeated Meds with a score of 32 - 24. This means Meds and Nurses are now tied for top position in their league.



Play off games for league championships which take place tonight, at OCE, are:

League IV — Meds play Nurses at 8:30 p.m.

League V — UC Freshies play PHE I at 7:30 p.m.

Badminton

Tomorrow is the day for badminton players at St. Paul's Anglican Church on Bloor St. E. White-soled shoes are in order and the book must be signed.

"Hold on, folks! Handsome Harry is saying something to his opponent. Let's listen!"

(On the air.)—"Say, you lug! If you'd lick Dry Scalp with "Vaseline' Hair Tonic you'd have nice looking hair and get across with the crowd, too."

Vaseline HAIR TONIC
TRADE MARK
"VASELINE" IS THE REGISTERED TRADE MARK OF THE CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. CONS'D.

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER PLAYOFF	North	3.00	Sr. Med vs Emman	Reed
LACROSSE GROUP PLAYOFF		1.00	Forestry vs St. M. B	Chambers, Prendergast
SWIM LEAGUE PLAYOFFS		5.00	SPS I vs SPS II or Inst.Mgt	Hamilton, Rosen
		5.00	U.C. vs Forestry	Hamilton, Rosen
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	SPS VI vs St. M. C	Goodman
		4.00	St. M. A vs SPS III	Kroll
		5.00	Pre-Med vs Dent A	Kroll
		6.00	For. B vs Law	Scott
		7.00	Knox vs Wye	Scott

VIC V.C.F.
Week-of-Meetings
Tuesday 22 - Friday 25
REV. D. H. MacLENNAN
will speak on
"FREEDOM"
1:20 P.M. CHAPEL

VIC T-DANCE
WED. 4 p. m. ALUMNI
Featuring!
Lord Nelson's Navel Battle

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

At "Skule Nite" Saturday—white silk scarf initialled "W.L.H." HU. 0358.

FOR SALE

Tails, $30.00—height, 5'6"; weight, 135; excellent condition. Phone HU. 2178 after 6.30 p.m.

FOR SALE

Forget-Me-Knot Diamond ring, 3 diamonds. Almost new. Ideal Christmas gift—$110. OR. 2145.

LANSING PASSENGERS

Passengers from Lansing area or south daily to University by nine to suit earliest needed. Contact Bill Higgins, 318 Princess Ave., Lansing or Box 7, Varsity.

LOST

Covert cloth, taupe, army type raincoat from the basement cloak-room, Botany Building. Between 3 and 4 p.m. Please return to the S.A.C. Office, Hart House.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable. Income premium $8.00 a month. HU. 3929.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

LOST

2 parkas at Vic-Forestry game Nov. 21. They were left on the Vic bench. Ph. LA. 4251.

FOR SALE

Suit of tails, size 36—$25.00. Phone OX. 3452.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

U. C. GRADUATING CLASS
Due to non co-operation with your Reps. it has been necessary to make TODAY AND TOMORROW the last days in which to make your Grad photo appointments in the rotunda. There are times for the remainder of this week and for next Monday, after which it will be necessary to make appointments with the photographer directly, where your choice of times will be much more limited.

U.C. LIT
OPEN MEETING
TO-NITE
—Report of Amalgamation Committee —Should the Arts Ball be Formal?
8:00 P.M. J.C.R. U.C.

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH DAILY MAIL
CIGARETTE TOBACCO

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SKI TRIP
to SAINT SAUVEUR, QUEBEC
Organized and arranged by the Students' Administrative Council
ALL EXPENSES - Hotel, Railway, Meals, Checking
$25.00
Leave Toronto Friday evening, January 27th, 1950, by special Canadian National Railways train 8:00 p.m.
Return leave St. Sauveur Sunday, January 29th, 1950, 7:30 p.m. arriving Toronto, Monday morning January 30th, 1950.
As accommodation is limited, reservations will be accepted from now on at Students' Administrative Council offices.
DEPOSIT $5.00 REQUIRED, BALANCE BY JANUARY 9th, 1950.
Pullman accommodation will be available, if desired.
Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, University College

Forestry Eliminated By Victoria Gridders

PHE Takes Title In Softball Finals Defeat Vic 27-6

by BETTY ASTON

For the third 'raight year PHE have copped the Women's Softball title, after defeating Vic on the Trinity field yesterday morning by a score of 27-6.

PHE took the first game of a best two out of three series, 10-9, and the playoffs went to three games when Vic edged them 15-14 in the second game

PHE scored thirteen runs before a Vic runner crossed the plate and continued to outplay the opposition throughout most of the game. After scoring three runs in the first inning they quickly downed Vic and then clinched their lead with nine runs in the second.

No Score for Vic

This was a fateful inning for Vic with Peg Dipple, Alma Hatch and Irma Bullock all hitting homers with players on base for PHE making the score 12-0 when Vic came to bat in the bottom half of the second inning.

Jane Macklin was the big gun in the PHE infield. In spite of cold hands Jane snaffled up grounders and took infield flies in true baseball form. Vic went down in the second when she put out Ev Aiken who was caught between second and third after a double to left field.

Merry Cochrane, PHE's star pitcher, brought in the only run scored in the third inning after hitting a triple to deep right field.

The fourth inning started off when Alice Jamieson hit a triple to left field for PHE and then brought the run in on an error. Three other runs score before Barb Weatherhead downed the side with a caught fly in centre.

PHE Way Ahead

Vic began to roll in the bottom half of the fourth bringing in two runs before they took the field again after Jane Macklin snagged a pop fly on third. Thus the score at the beginning of the fifth stood 17-2 for PHE.

PHE ran wild in the fifth scoring eight runs before they were finally put out on a fielder's choice. Irma Bullock and Jane Macklin both hit homers to bring home five runs altogether.

Di Rogers whammed a double into left field, stole third and then crossed the plate for Vic's only run in the fifth.

Barb Weatherhead Pitches

Both teams buckled down in the sixth and there were no runs scored. Barb Weatherhead took over for Dot Parkinson in Vic's pitcher's box and PHE went down scoreless as did Vic when Marie Briard gathered in a long fly to right field.

After two PHE runners had crossed the plate in the seventh, Vic came to bat with renewed drive and scored three runs before the game ended on a strikeout making the final score 27-6.

Vic put up some tough competition for the champs but once again PHE have finished in top place in the Women's Softball League.

SPORT IN SHORT

Football

Vic. 19; Forestry, 11.

Lacrosse

Trinity, 7; Pharmacy B, 2.
U.C. III, 5; Dents, 1.

Soccer

Wycliffe, 2; Pre Meds, 1.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

The University of Western Ontario has again taken the Yates cup. We would have given our right arm to see Varsity take it, but the Fates were against us, and the Blues lost out. We wouldn't have minded it if McGill had won the championship; they're a good bunch and after eleven fruitless years deserve either a championship or a medal for perseverance above the call of duty. Oh, well, the intercollegiate rugby doin's are over, and in one more short week the football season will be relegated to Smirle Lawson's Museum on Adelaide St.

* * *

Those sportswriters on the downtown papers couldn't have been trained very well in the gentle (not to mention, profitable) profession of mooching and sponging. Our lesser contemporary, Mr. John (or is it Harry? It has slipped our memory) Coleman claims in bold letters across the top of his column "Sorry, No Grey Cup Tickets". The other writers seem to have the same trouble obtaining billets; but we are happy to announce that we are able to supply a reasonable number of tickets to all our readers. Just send along the contents of a branch bank and three quarts of blood for each seat desired. The tickets will be mailed to you sometime during the week of November 28th.

* * *

Boy oh boy! Did the scalpers ever get scalped on Saturday. It is always a gratifying sight to these poor old eyes when a guy figures to make a good thing out of student activities and then gets dunked. Things were getting so bad at half time of the McGill-Western game that a block of three went for a buck, and we heard of a case where a couple went for a dime apiece. Which reminds us, why is it that this year a pile of guys were selling Varsity colors on Varsity property without being bothered by the police? If licences to peddle are handed out by the police commissioners to these shady (we are giving them the benefit of the doubt in calling them shady) characters why not to the representatives of the Blue and White Society?

* * *

Up till now, we have been on fairly friendly terms with Gord Walker's baseball friend Sam (remember? the guy who was always beating the scribes' ears with tales of Western's football prowess) but we are afraid our little friendship might go on the rocks. After Western's recent win, Sam will have all the more ammunition to shoot, and being a staunch Varsity supporter, we will not be overly recipient. Maybe we will form a Scrag Sam Club, so we warn you Sam. . . . .

Three Timer

* * *

Three Varsity Hoopla Teams Now Training

Now that the Intercollegiate football sessions are over for the Blues and Intermediates, the Varsity basketball teams are rapidly taking tape. Senior coach Bob Masterson and Barry Lowes, who will guide both the Intermediate and Junior teams, will have a very busy time ahead of them selecting and preparing the teams for the coming hoop season.

The large number of candidates has been trimmed down so that about 25 men are working out for the Senior and Intermediate teams, and Barry has 20 eager aspirants for his Junior team practicing at nine each morning.

The only holdovers from last year's Blue team are Bill Lachance, who is now in his fourth year of Blue play, and Johnny McManus and Jack Gray, both third year men with the Blue cage squads. However adequate replacements should be found in the rest of the squad which is composed of some of last year's Seconds, Juniors, Interfaculty stars, and Freshmen. Tony Adams, who is still toiling for St. Mike's football team, and Alex Lawson of the football Blues, are expected to put in an appearance later. Bill Lachance looks as if he might have a very good year this year; maybe his week-old daughter is an added inspiration.

The Junior hopefuls are all big and eager, but generally speaking, they lack experience. Barry Lowes' able coaching should produce some outstanding future Blues from this young crop.

Two exhibition games next week —Tuesday against Y.M.H.A. and Thursday against Central 'Y'— should go a long way towards determining who will be chosen to play on the Senior team.

The Blue team is scheduled to make a jaunt south of the border, playing Buffalo State Teachers, Syracuse, and Colgate on successive nights beginning on Thursday, Dec. 1. On Wednesday, Dec. 7, the Blues travel to Niagara to take on the very highly rated Purple Eagles. The popular Athletic Nights are almost here again!

Wycliffe Wins 2-1 Take Third Group

Wycliffe College won group three of the Intramural soccer league yesterday by virtue of a 2-1 victory over Pre-Meds. Cheesman and Brightling were the scorers for Wycliffe, whose team-work proved to be the deciding factor, while Perkins netted for the losers. The Theologs, who missed a penalty, had the better of the play throughout—and Gerber, Toppin and Fralick all looked good for the winners, who now meet Sr. Vic, in the playoffs.

Vic Stages Drive In Second Frame To Enter Finals

After playing the first half as though they thought the Mulock Cup had been reserved for them, the Victoria gridders wiped out a six point deficit in the first two minutes of the second half and went on to smother Forestry 19-11 at Varsity Stadium yesterday. This puts Vic in the final to be played next Tuesday with the winner of the St. Mikes-Senior SPS game Thursday.

The Foresters rolled for three first downs in a row after the kick-off before being forced to punt. Sheldon kicked over the goal line where the receiver was swamped, but no yards were given. Vic got nowhere. Price and Clarke stopping their end runs consistently, and insides Devries and Winters holding back the line plays. However they gained occasionally off tackle, Sumner doing most of the toting until he was injured, but not enough to get a first down until towards the end of the half.

After a poor kick by Sheldon which bounded backwards resulting in another no-yards penalty against Forestry, Vic seemed to be out of danger. Vic then fumbled on their thirty, and again the Woodsmen were away. Sheldon took eight off tackle, Collict for five more, Austin and Collict to the three. Vic held two line plays, but Masterson rounded the end on the Western end run that Vic used so effectively against group one teams, and crossed over for the major. Masterson was Forestry's biggest gainer; his end sweeps gained yardage all through the game, after the big boys had been stopped. Anderson blocked the convert.

The Forestry line pushed Vic's back five yards or so en masse on many plays. Vince Magnus was outstanding at middle for the Foresters, as was Booth in his blocking on end runs.

Vic's tackling consisted mainly of futile hand-grabbing, particularly by the ends, although the middle of the line, led by big Brad Colbert, who was playing with torn ligaments in his knee, stiffened up as the half wore on. They seemed to have turned the tide, until Damp tride to run on a third down pass with twenty yards to go, and Forestry took over, Sheldon getting a single out of it. Sheldon quarterbacked very well in a losing cause and passed fairly well in spite of the freezing weather and muddy ball.

Vic played like an entirely different team in the second half. Anderson blocked Sheldon's kick from the goal line after the latter had let the kick-off roll past him to the seven. Lorne Lodge plunged over for the touchdown, and Little converted. After this Vic's offensive rolled for two more touchdowns and a single, climaxed by Harry Damp's sixty yard run around, shaking loose at least half a dozen tacklers as he rolled down the sideline. Lodge passed to Ludwig from the ten for the TD off this run.

Vic's other touchdown was a picture pass, Damp to Walton, from the thirty. Walton seemed to be well covered, but was just about two steps ahead of the defender. Two steps proved to be enough. Rumbell got the other point on a kick to the deadline.

Two pass interference penalties in a row against Vic brought Forestry to the four yard line in the last quarter and Masterson rounded the end for a touchdown, the Woodsmen's only score in the half. Their running plays ceased to click at Vic's line, especially middles Hill and Barford, held them in check, and interceptions by Damp, Pick, and Rumbell, with a lovely runback by the last, kept their pass attack from scoring on its own merit.

Although Damp pulled the longest run of the game, Rumbell was the most consistent gainer. His high knee action and speed shot him for extra yardage time and again when he seemed to be stopped. His kicking was long and high. Walton, with whom he shared the kicking duties, got lots of height, but not his usual distance.

Little's place kicking after touchdowns was faultless, getting three extra points in three chances.

Line-ups:—

Victoria	Position	Forestry
Anderson	Left end	Price
Hill	Left middle	Masterson
Ledger	Left inside	Winters
Rogers	Centre	Devries
Colbert	Right inside	Austin
Barford	Right middle	Collict
Howard	Right end	Sheldon
Lodge	Quarter	Booth
Rumbell	Back	Magnus
Sumner	Back	Collict
Gore	Back	Austin
Little	Back	Brown

Vic Alternates: Ludwig, Dyke, Pick, Merman, Kilgour, Bodrug, Pile, Williams, Fick, Dryden, Damp.

Forestry Alternates: Boake, Sloan, Deconkey, Hundt, Beatty, McKee, Johnson, Brackenbury, Honeyborne, Armstrong, Nelson, Bell.

Soccer Skeds Finished Now Wycliffe Wins

After seven weeks of close contests, the regular soccer season came to an end last Friday. Five of the six playoff teams were selected by then and the other was decided in a third group playoff yesterday as Wycliffe displaced Pre Meds 2-1 in a three o'clock front campus tilt.

The six playoff teams selected are Trinity A, Senior Vic, Junior SPS, Senior Meds, Emmanuel and Wycliffe. By the end of the week a series of four playoff contests will have decided the two teams to meet in the finals for the Arts Faculty Cup. This match will probably be held at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday the 29th. The finalists in the last two years have been Jr. SPS (Ajax) and the Trinity A's. The Junior Skule men won 1-0 in an overtime contest in 1947 and Trinity registered a comeback by winning 5-0 in last year's finals over the same opponents.

Only two teams struggled through the season unbeaten — Wycliffe in group three and Trinity A in group one. Both are markedly strong defensive teams. Junior SPS has the best goal average of the league and are rated by many as the best balanced team in the runnings.

At present the indications are that either Junior Skule or Senior Vic will meet Trinity A in the finals. The defending champions are in the easier half of the draw and although Senior Meds and Emmanuel are strong teams they are not favored to reach the finals. A semi-final match between Junior Skule and Vic seniors is likely and should be about the best contest of the year as both teams play the same brand of ball and seem to be evenly balanced.

Group Standings

Group One

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Trinity "A"	6	4	0	2	9	2	10
Senior Vic	6	3	1	2	7	3	8
Senior SPS	6	2	4	0	5	7	4
Senior U.C.	6	1	5	0	2	11	2

Group Two

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Junior SPS	6	4	1	1	22	4	9
Senior Meds	6	4	2	0	9	8	8
St. Mike's	6	2	3	1	7	8	5
Forestry	6	1	5	0	4	22	2

Group Three

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Wycliffe	7	4	0	3	8	4	21
Pre-Meds	7	4	2	1	9	7	9
Junior Vic	6	1	2	3	6	6	5
Junior U.C.	6	0	5	1	4	10	1

Group Four

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Emmanuel	6	4	1	1	9	4	9
Trinity "B"	6	3	2	1	9	7	7
Knox	6	2	2	2	6	6	6
Dents	6	1	5	0	2	9	2

Jerse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

Said a Skuleman, all loaded with beer,
As he put his bull-dozer in gear,
"This device is real dandy
I find it quite handy
For getting the hill out of here."

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Cold

VOL. LXIX NO. 44 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Wednesday, November 23, 1949

U.C. Arts Ball Semi-Formal Lit. Decides

Criticism of a U.C. Follies deficit of $800 charges that student apathy was to blame for the loss, and passing of a motion that the Arts Ball this year be semi-formal and held at the "cheapest possible rate" featured an open meeting of the U.C. Lit last night in the J.C.R.

Half an hour's debate preceded the passing of a motion by Fred Giles that the Arts Ball be "semi-formal and run at the cheapest possible cost consistent with the place in which it was being held."

Giles pointed out that the Arts Ball was to be held in the college this year and costs should be low. His motion passed 26-14. A majority of the Lit Executive voted against the measure.

Also included in the Giles amendment was the removal from the report of a motion that the Arts Ball be formal and limited to 200 couples.

"A certain group of students, 200 to 300, attend U.C. affairs regularly," Social Director John Bull said. "We want these people to have the opportunity of attending a real Arts Ball, not a glorified Red and White night."

Giles accused the executive of a "take it or leave it" attitude in voting a formal Arts Ball. G. H. Carter, III U.C., said the executive was crossing itself up in proposing a high-priced affair when it had been shown earlier in the debate that the U.C. Follies lost money mainly through poor attendance at the Friday night dance and show, which cost three dollars a couple.

The resultant apathy may well arise out of affairs not made attractive to the students," he commented.

Opposing the "cheapest possible price" section of the original motion, Bob Lippert, III U.C. said "If you look at the women's side you will see it costs them two or three dollars to have their formals cleaned and from four or five dollars for a new hair-do, making a total of about six or seven dollars."

"It doesn't seem fair to me that the men should grouch about paying even five or six dollars." His amendment to delete the section was ruled out of order by the Honorary President, Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson.

Criticism of the Follies included charges the publicity was "inadequate" and an off-the-campus band was hired. One member suggested to Bull, Follies producer, that a campus band could have been hired and told of talking to one student musician who offered to organize an orchestra and was turned down.

"The fault if any lies in the arrangements, which were done very cheaply," Bull said.

'Flees Reins, No Commie' L.P.P. On Tito

A Yugoslav-Canadian student who wished to remain anonymous so he could get a job after graduation, spoke on conditions in Yugoslavia and aroused a spirited discussion in the LPP Forum Monday on "Is Tito a Communist?"

Norm Endicott, IV Vic, Speaker of the Forum, said that "the Tito leadership has ignored the international tradition of Marxism-Leninism, by the terrorist jailing of 1400 communists, and by supporting the kulak rich landowners in a nationalistic plan of establishing a bourgeois democracy, relying on western support against the U.S.S.R."

Tito, a student claimed, had dissolved the Communist Party and therefore is not a communist. One speaker from the floor said Tito just wanted to be another Stalin. Another suggested it was "ridiculous to think Tito is a communist and can still get support via the American Truman Doctrine"—and that "communism" was a weapon of the cold war.

It was felt by some Forum members that Tito was returning to an earlier kind of Marxism, which is still socialist, and that he was merely trying to escape Moscow dictation.

Come To Me, Baby

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade.

Gordon Gibson offers a not too polite proposal of marriage to a reluctant Gilda Newman in this scene from FORTUNE MY FOE. The Robertson Davies comedy opens at Hart House Theatre under the direction of Robert Gill on Sat., Nov. 26th and plays through Sat., Dec. 3rd.

Mavor Moore Denounces Slavish Regard For Stars

Canadian audiences consistently refuse to recognize the talent of their compatriots. Thus Mavor Moore summed up the situation of the Canadian theatre in his address to the Liberal Arts Club last night.

Four Theatre Elements

There are four elements that go to make up the theatre, he pointed out. They are the play, the players, the place and the audience. The audience presents the greatest problem, since, he said, it is impossible to have a native Canadian theatre until there is the demand for one. Specifically Canadian talent is discouraged here because so often our standards are imported from another culture, either British or American, the speaker observed. Our actors become versatile in interpreting the art of other countries, but cease to be truly Canadian artists.

Theatre Thought Amateur

Mr. Moore outlined the many reasons why such a state of affairs exists in the field of Canadian drama today. A tendency to regard the theatre as either an amateur effort or a travelling company, has lasted from early days, he said. As a result we have an essentially romantic notion of the theatre, which combines a slavish admiration of visiting celebrities with a total disregard for our own talent. "Canadian actors or playwrites are here because they are third-rate," is the typical reaction to homegrown talent as Mr. Moore sees it.

Many Handicaps

The speaker mentioned the serious financial handicaps a Cana-

(Continued on Page 4)

Northern Review Gives $100 Each To Poetry, Prose

Two $100 prizes for literary works have been offered by the editors of Northern Review. The awards, one for poetry and one for fiction, will be made on the basis of work published in the magazine during the coming year.

The award for poetry will be made to the author of the best short story, or selection from a longer work accepted by the editors, and published during the same period.

Information may be obtained from the Editor, Northern Review, 2475 Van Horne Ave., Montreal, Que.

Abbott's Assistant Lib. Club Speaker

The third open meeting of the University of Toronto Liberal Association will be held Thursday afternoon at 4:15 in Room 5, University College. Jimmy Sinclair, M.P. for Vancouver North will be guest speaker.

Mr. Sinclair first represented his constituency in the general election of 1940 and has retained the seat since that time. A former Rhodes Scholar, he is now Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Finance, Mr. Douglas Abbott.

Plans for a proposed membership drive will be discussed, Liberal Association officials said last night.

UWO Budget Low Consider Dropping NFCUS And ISS

The University Students' Council of the University of Western Ontario may withdraw support from the National Federation of Canadian University Students and the International Students Service. The withdrawal of such support would dissociate Western students from all other university students.

Uncertain Spending

These possibilities were the result of a lengthy UWO Students Council budget meeting early last week, when the UWO donations to these organizations were discussed.

It was stressed that the reason for the severance would be financial. The UWO student newspaper, The Gazette, said that the USC members are "very uncertain as to exactly where this money is being put." The USC had agreed to pay a sum equal to six cents per student, which would amount to approximately $125. THE USC owes NFCUS an outstanding debt of $150 from last year, but USC treasurer Eric Johnston "intimated this will be paid."

USC members want to know to what use this money is being put before any more money is donated or allocated to these organizations from Western students.

USC External Affairs Minister Lil Foote suggested that lack of adequate publicity is the basis of the trouble. Western's ISS Treasurer Bill Hull said, "Students at Western never read the stuff we give them on ISS, and consequently they don't know what it's all about. They worry about where their money is going, but if a story appears in The Gazette with the letters ISS in it, nobody reads it."

Something Shady In Europe

President Bill Downes said Western last year raised nearly $1,000 for ISS and still does not know what the money was used for. Some council members thought there was something "shady" at the European end of ISS.

Western ISS president Mary Halstead said, "If Western continues in ISS work this year, the money collected in campaigns will be used to bring a DP student to Western. We are one of the few universities who have not already undertaken this project."

"We decided at our conference to concentrate on bringing a DP student here," Hull said. "On a basis of this we feel we are justified in getting support from the USC."

The council will take no action until more information is secured on NFCUS and ISS and their activities.

Carabin Trip Expense Cut, Forty To Go

Applications from Toronto students who want to go to Montreal for the Carabin Weekend, Dec. 9, 10, and 11, must be in by Friday, the committee in charge of arrangements said last night. Application may be made at the SAC offices in Hart House and the basement of University College.

Forestry students from Toronto will go to Montreal. About twenty girls and twenty boys will make up the group, to be chosen by the committee from the applications. Names of these going will be announced early next week.

A full program has been planned by the University of Montreal for the visiting Varsity students, the Toronto Committee said. Among the activities will be a banquet given by the mayor of Montreal, and a production of Alfred de Musset's "Fantasie."

"Those who want to go should have their applications in by Friday," the committee said last night. "We want to have as representative a group as possible from Toronto, and expenses are being cut to a minimum to open the field to as many candidates as may want to go."

Start Series On Debating

The Hart House Debating Lectures, to be given this year by Professor Bagnani and Professor Hayne will begin today. These lectures will be given on every Wednesday until the end of the series.

The lectures will deal with the technical and practical aspect of debating and public speaking, and are oriented towards helping University of Toronto students in perfecting their oratorical technique.

In order to accommodate the women students it has been decided to hold the lectures away from Hart House, in Room 37 of University College, where the first lecture will be given today at 1.00 p.m.

The series will consist of both lectures and practical work. Students will give speeches during the lectures and be criticized. The emphasizes will be on the art of presentation rather than on the content of the speech.

Call For Review Of City's Sunday —Vic SCM Group

"Laws governing Sunday observance are long overdue for reconsideration in this province, and should be settled by all citizens with a same regard for the health, interests, and worship habits of all concerned." So thought the Soph-Frosh round table meeting, held Monday at Victoria College, under Vic SCM sponsorship.

"This issue," the round table decided, "is usually confused and not helped by statements given either by church authorities or by rash secular pressure groups."

A call for a motion of regret for the irresponsible editorial in Monday's Varsity about "blue barbarous Sunday" opened the meeting. This remark, it was felt, voiced the feelings of only a small group of peevish dilettantes and offered no creative attitude toward the real issue.

The Wednesday group will meet at 4:15 p.m. in Room 21, Victoria College, to consider the same subject.

Chorus Line Tryouts

705 Toes Twinkle

By NORM SHERMAN

One-two-three — kick. One-two-three — kick. The floor of the Women's Union Theatre rocked in a rolling rhythm to the waving legs of the All Varsity Revue Dancing Chorus.

Over 70 bare footed girls in shorts tried out for the first casting. Norma Pankhurst, the new All-Varsity choreographer has created a series of new modernistic rhythmatic dance routines for the show.

There were short girls, tall girls, plump girls and slender girls. They wore short shorts, long shorts, loose shorts and tight shorts in white, blue, red, orange, yellow and purple. They had long sweaters, short sweaters, loose sweaters, and tight sweaters of white, blue, red, orange, yellow and purple.

One hundred and forty-one muscular legs — seven hundred and five wee little toes twinkling up at me.

"All right girls," said Norma, "we'll try it with music this time. Swing your shoulders. That's it."

Stomp, stomp, stomp — kick! Stomp, stomp, stomp — kick! Limbs glimmered and flashed. The oak floor bounced in time, and the doors of the dining room below rattled ominously. I thought of the sagging ceiling at Vic — and shuddered.

The theatre is small, so the girls were divided into two groups. Then Norma Pankhurst took each group in turn, and demonstrated simple steps. The line caught on very quickly and after only a few minutes of instruction, were 'brushing and kicking' like seasoned chorines — legs waving and torsos dipping and bobbing in unison, while Bob Taylor deftly ground a lively tune out on the piano.

Director Ben Wise commented on the enthusiastic turnout. He said that there will be another casting next Tuesday because there are many numbers, and the best talent available will be used.

"Boys are wanted especially — we have masculine dances," Wise said. Herb Wedderburn, S.P.S. will direct the men.

The All Varsity Revue will be presented in Hart House Theatre during the first week in February.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 76 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Featura Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP EDITOR ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Knight
ASSISTANT: Eileen Fine

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1949

We Should Participate

This year not one Toronto student has taken advantage of the National Federation of Canadian University Students' one-year-transfers to other Canadian universities.

The NFCUS exchanges, set up in 1926, enable a student to spend his pre-graduation year tuition free at a university in one of the other three regions in Canada. This plan has been approved for Arts students by the University of Toronto who have waived the tuition fees of many students (three this year) coming from Western Canada, Quebec or the Maritimes.

However, surprisingly few Toronto students have been able to get permission for a one-year transfer to these other universities.

The Senate and Faculty of Arts seem to agree in principle but have refused many Toronto students permission to transfer on the grounds that standards here are much higher than anywhere else. Realizing the value of exchanges, they are willing to lose money by accepting other students here but do all they can to discourage their own students from going to other universities for one year.

Perhaps it is true that the other universities do not have a standard comparable to that of our honour courses, but what is the object of a university education, particularly an education in Arts? . . . To stuff a student with as many facts as possible or to broaden his outlook and understanding—to develop him into a mature person able to think for himself?

Obviously it is the latter. How far this objective is reached depends more on the individual effort than on a higher standard. For this reason the University of Toronto should do all they can to stimulate student thought and broadmindedness through the medium of exchanges instead of hampering interested students on the grounds of lower standards.

Comment....

We note that one of the campus religious groups feels we were voicing "the feelings of only a small group of peevish dilettantes" in our remarks when we treated the subject of a Toronto Sunday rather lightly in these columns on Monday. Just for the record: The group isn't so small; we are not at all peevish; and as for being dilettantes, our budget doesn't allow it. We wish some people would get as serious about some of our more sober editorials as our Vic friends do about one written on a "blue Sunday".

A M & D

Don Cossack Chorus

Sergt. Jaroff, the mighty mite, again showed a receptive Toronto audience just what choral magic can be pulled out of twenty-three male voices. The Don Cossacks on Monday night put on one of their finest performances, and any favorable superlative could describe the quality of their singing. As they would say in Russian, "oni mali teknikoo"; which translated means "they had great technical skill".

The deep, powerful bass tones literally shook the large auditorium, and blended perfectly with the smooth, clear tenors. Their recurring crescendos and diminuendos were executed with a precision and fineness which this writer thought impossible to attain. Each of the twenty-three voices blended in perfect harmony in the varied program, and the songs came out as perfect as the New York Philharmonic on a recording.

The first part of the program consisted of several beautifully angelic Slavic church songs and a traditional Ukrainian Christmas carol, in which the chorus reached the acme of perfection in harmony. The choir achieved a continuity and compactness in this number that we have never had the pleasure of hearing before, and probably will never hear again.

The second part of the program consisted of light, gay, songs from the bottomless well of Slavic folk music. The gay "Russian Fair" had the audience laughing uproariously; and anyone familiar with choral work will admit it is no mean feat to make an audience laugh by a choir's song.

The singing, wonderful as it was, was overshadowed by the unbelievable performance of the two dancers — Johnny Kozak and Nicolai Botschko, who showed just simply unbelievable gymnastic and dancing abilities. They received eight curtain calls. Don't miss their next appearance!

Bob Dnieper

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢

DAILY DOUBLE

WHAT'S ON TODAY

HILLEL

There will be a meeting of the Current Events Group of Hillel, today at 1 p.m. in Room 5, the Zionist Building, 651 Spadina. All interested are invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

WOMEN'S UNION

Open Meeting of the Women's Undergraduate Association to discuss Amalgamation in the Union Theatre at 4 p.m. Also nominations for '50-'51 S.A.C. rep and Career Forum.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC DRAMA

Vic Drama Society monthly meeting will be held at Wymilwood tonight at 8.00. Dual featured program. Debate with St. Mike's Senate Club and one-act play.

✣ ✣ ✣

SOPH - FROSH

The Soph - Frosh Round-Table will continue its discussion on "open Sunday" in Room 21, Victoria College at 4 p. m. All those interested are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

FLYING CLUB

Last Flying Club ground school lecture on Air Regulations today at 5 p.m. in R. 229, New Mechanical Building.

✣ ✣ ✣

MATHS AND PHYSICS

This evening, at 8.00 p.m., Professor E. C. Bullard, Head, the Dept. of Physics, will deliver a lecture on "Radio-Active Time" in Room 132 of the Physics Building. The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides.

✣ ✣ ✣

FAUST

There will be a rehearsal of the whole cast in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's College, at 2.00 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The missionary meeting will be held today in room 34 of the Electrical Building at 1.25. Mr. Geo. Nicholson will showmovies on his work in the Arctic. All are welcome. Please note the change in the room.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC - CCF

Prof G. M. A. Grube will speak to the U.C. unit of the CCF club today at one p.m. in room 4 of U.C. His topic will be "The Ethics of Socialism", and a discussion and question period will follow his talk.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC PLAYERS GUILD

Casting for plays by the U.C. Players' Guild today and tomorrow between four and six. Room numbers posted on notice board in southwest corner of the rotunda.

✣ ✣ ✣

S.C.M. - TRINITY

The regular meeting of the Bible Study Group will take place in the College Board Room at 1.25 today. Study: I John 2 & 3. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

SLAVIC STUDIES

Professor L. I. Strakhovsky will deliver a lecture on Socialist Realism in Room 8, U.C., at 5 p.m. this afternoon.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Lecture Series

MR. B. K. SANDWELL, LL.D., D.C.L.

will speak on

"THE BASIS OF THE CANADIAN STANDARD OF LIVING"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25th, at 8.30 p.m.
West Hall, University College

VIC OPEN MEETING

THURSDAY, 1 P.M. CHAPEL

(1) TO VOTE ON MOTION:

"Dress at the At-Home will be optional."

(2) TO PASS CONSTITUTION AMENDMENT THAT:

Amendments to Constitution (passed by assembly) be considered ratified without approval of open meeting. A petition signed by 25 calls for an open meeting to reject the amendment.

To the Student—

When purchasing ring covers and Loose Leaf of any description ask for the DOMINION LINE, the finest quality obtainable

See your Bookstore,

DOMINION BLANK BOOK CO.
LIMITED

But 2 days left till

VIC INFORMAL

TICKETS: $1.50 per couple. VCU office 10-2 p.m.

If you be man of brains galore
You shouldn't hesitate much more.
Just phone the lass
Who's got some class
And plan to meet us at the door of Hart House
at 9 p.m., Friday

DON'T FORGET!

Just one more chance to the "Dance of Romance."

R.C.A.F. GEN

FOR AIR FORCE VETERANS

If you are taking Theology or some other course in which your University training could be utilized by the RCAF next summer, you may now file application for summer employment even though you are not in App Sci, Architec, Hon Sci, M & P, Psych or Meds. To be eligible, however, you must be a veteran of the RCAF, RAF or other Dominion Air Forces, and in the class of '51 or '52 ('51, '52 or '53 in the case of Meds). Preferably ex-aircrew.

COMPLETED APPLICATIONS to be handed in to the RCAF Orderly Room, 119 St. George St. as soon as possible—and in any event BEFORE NOON, SATURDAY, 26th NOVEMBER.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

CAMERA CLUB

The second in a series of noon-hour movies will take place in Club Rooms at 1.15 p.m. today. All members of the club are invited to attend.

EXPLORATION SOCIETY

Mr. Andrew Lawrie, who spent a year studying the migration of the caribou and lived among the Esquimaux, will speak to the Hart House Exploration Society in the Music Room, Thursday, 24th November, at 8.00 p.m.

NOON-HOUR ADDRESS

The Reverend B. G. Buley will speak in the Debates Room, tomorrow at 1.30 p.m. His topic will be "The Student and Mental Health."

BRIDGE CLUB

Bridge classes for beginners will be held each Thursday night and separate games will be run. Prepare now for the University of Toronto intercollegiate team by attending the Thursday meetings. Special instruction will be arranged.

REVOLVER

Shooting will take place in the Hart House Range at 7.30 tonight.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 tonight.

VISITORS' DAY

Next Sunday, 27th November, will be Visitors' Sunday when members may introduce their friends between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL

Ray Dudley and John Beckwith, pianists, will give a programme of music for piano four-hands, in the Great Hall at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, 27th November. Members and their guests, including ladies, are invited.

Book Review

Chipmunk

Len Peterson's Chipmunk (McClelland & Stewart: $3.25) tells the story of Claude Widgewood, a sort of Torontonian Casper Milquetoast, whose life is beset by minor crises arising from such routine situations as crowded street cars, and the attempt of fellow employees to form a union. At best, Widgewood is a spineless, timid creature dominated by his wife, his friends, his fear of "Reds", and an earnest desire to be left alone. At the worst, he is a moral coward refusing to face his problems squarely, a toady seeking to ingratiate himself with his boss, and an unthinking creature who reacts instinctively according to preconceived notions.

The background of the novel is Toronto, or "Tronuk" as Widgewood and his cronies say. It is a Toronto gleaned from a cursory reading of the daily press, a Toronto of juvenile gang wars, abortion details, and lethargic apathy. And the appalling thought strikes the reader that perhaps this is the only Toronto that most of the ant-like toilers of the city ever see — crowded street-cars, theatres showing sentimental Hollywood movies, and the excitement of an occasional scandal in the newspapers. At any rate, the dullness of this background affects the novel as a whole.

Something should be said about the style. Chipmunk is written in a sort of stream of consciousness manner; the hero's imaginings, fears, reflections, and longings are interspersed throughout the story. Most of them are unconvincing, as is the last fantastic episode in the book.

Ken Kee

• WHAT'S ON TODAY •

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION
The Record Collection Program this afternoon at 4:30 in the Mechanical Building will feature Borodin—On the Steppes of Central Asia; Rossini—"Duneque lo son" from the Barber of Seville; Bruch—Kol Nidrei; Beethoven—Violin Concerto in D.

✣ ✣ ✣

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
The first in the series of Wednesday afternoon lectures will be delivered today at 4 p.m. in Room 153, 273 Bloor Street W. Subject will be "The State in a Free Society", by Professor Frank H. Underhill, of the Department of History, U. of T.

RECORD HOUR
Wymilwood four-thirty. Recordings from Henry V, Laurence Olivier. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC-VCF
Mr. MacLennan will continue the series of talks on Freedom at 1.20 in the Chapel. Evening discussion groups at 7 p.m. in Middle House and Annesley Tea Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

VCSU
All members are urged to consider the notice on the main bulletin board.

TRACK & HARRIER CLUB

Sr. Track & Sr. Harrier team pictures will be taken on Wed., Nov. 23rd, at 1.20 p.m. Uniforms will be given out at 1 p.m. See Pete Niblock in locker room.
Intermediate Track and Harrier pictures will be taken on Thurs., Nov. 24th, same time. Same arrangements will apply.

FOOTBALL, SOCCER, LACROSSE OFFICIALS

YOU ARE REMINDED TO RETURN YOUR OFFICIAL REFEREES' JERSEYS TO INTRAMURAL OFFICE AT CONCLUSION OF ABOVE SCHEDULES.

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER PLAYOFF North	3.00	Wyc	vs Sr. Vic	Montemurro
LACROSSE PLAYOFFS	1.00	Med. I	vs St. M. A	Chambers, Raymond
	4.00	U.C. II	vs Vic I	Chambers, Raymond
	6.30	U.C. III	vs St. M. B	Hastings, Warren
	7.30	U.C. I	vs Trin	Prendergast, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL	1.00	Med II Yr	vs Jr. U.C.	Cohl
	6.30	SPS IV	vs St. M. B	Seunarine
	7.30	U.C. VI	vs Trin B	Seunarine
	8.30	SPS V	vs Pharm	Seunarine

TODAY

W.U.A. OPEN MEETING

- NOMINATIONS FOR S.A.C. REP
- CAREER FORUM
- AMALGAMATION

"Will the W.U.A. dissolve and join the 'Lit.'?"
The UC-PHE women will answer at 4 p.m.
WOMEN'S UNION THEATRE

UNIVERSITY SKIERS!!
HAILEYBURY
EXTENDS YOU A REAL NORTHERN WELCOME
To a
GALA NEW YEAR'S WEEK-END!!!

- A full 3-day SKI HOLIDAY. Leave Friday evening, Dec. 30th, by excursion train returning Tuesday morning, 7.00 a.m., January 3rd, in time for school or work.

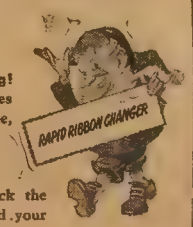
SPECIAL ALL-EXPENSE RATE OF $29.95 INCLUDES

Return Railway fare—Hotel room and meals Saturday to Monday—Bus to and from Hills—also 3-day Tow ticket. Truly All-Expense.

- Your chance to be sure of snow at New Year's
- Gala dance and party New Year's Eve
- Special busses to the hills with Electric Tow.

SPACE LIMITED - BOOK NOW - CALL IN or PHONE
MARGESSON'S TRAVEL SERVICE
79 Victoria Street Toronto ADel. 3818

Here's the gift that's really ROYAL!



The New "GRAY MAGIC" ROYAL PORTABLE

The Standard Typewriter in Portable Size . . . has a fully standard keyboard in size, slope, distance between rows of keys, and in position of controls.

For faster, easier typing — these keys are shaped to the contour of your finger tips! Only Royal has them.

Eliminates fumbling and fussing! Simple down-up motion secures new ribbon in place! Saves time, trouble, temper!

Position the carriage, flick the lever with one finger, and your margin is automatically set.

Streamlined, compact beauty goes along with these and dozens more outstanding Royal features.

Royal Gray Magic is easy on the eyes — easy to the touch. It's designed for beauty, built to maintain its looks and precision for years of rugged use. To get — or to give — it's the gift that's really Royal!

Both models — Quiet De Luxe and Arrow — are now on display at Royal dealers. And they're available on easy terms!

GRAY MAGIC ROYAL PORTABLE

Made in Canada by Royal : : :
World's Largest Manufacturer of Typewriters

"Magic" and "Touch Control" are registered trade-marks of Royal Typewriter Co., Limited

Now listen, listen Ladies gay,
I would declare a wonder,
Both you and your gentlemen
Will clap with sound of thunder
For what you've both desired long
At last is really here,
On Dec. 5, 6, 7, in Hart House
"The Red Mill" will appear.

TICKETS $1.00 - $1.25
SALES BEGIN, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23
U.C. ROTUNDA

Everywhere people are changing to PEPSI-COLA

Mrs. M. E. Jones, Montreal housewife, says, "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because it's a favourite with family and friends alike." And it is! Sparkling Pepsi-Cola is first choice for refreshment with millions of Canadians. Take home a 6-bottle carton today. You get 12 full glasses for only 30¢. Compare the taste. Compare the value. You'll never again be satisfied with any other soft drink.

"My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives us better flavour and bigger value," says Leo Barrette, Ottawa student. And that's true of the new quick-drink size Pepsi, too. You get 8 full ounces of sparkling Pepsi-Cola for only 5¢. Once again, you get more for your money when you buy Pepsi!

for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

VARSITY SPORTS

B-Ball Blues Try Out With Senior YMHA

The first exhibition basket ball game of the year was played last night, YMHA seniors being the guests of this year's edition of the Blues. About 24 Toronto players saw action in a game that was very scrambly and in which neither team showed to advantage. Varsity won 55-42.

Senior "Y" have been considerably weakened this year by the loss of such stars as Litvack, Grossman, etc. It was reported that Charlie Justice, Negro ace who played fast ball for People's, would show the "Y" team but such was not the case. The boys probably could have used him as they had nothing to show at all except some fair playing by former Varsity players, Harry Mazsell and Sid Himel.

A few Toronto players stood out and should stick with the Blues this year. Bill Buycke, playing guard for Varsity showed some clever ball handling and play-making. Bill Gough, last year with the Intermediates, was the hottest shooter on the floor, scoring often on fast down-centre breaks on which he broke right through to the basket.

John McManus the oldest vet on this year's team made several nice set shots. Wigle, Bell and Ted Luck all turned in creditable performances as did Wiley and Jud Gibbs.

Junior 'B' Season Opens With Loss

The Varsity Junior B hockey team opened the season last night with a very close loss to the Marlboro Juniors when they were squeezed out 4-3. The Blues started out like a house on fire and had two goals into the Marlie net before the Marlboros got their bearings. Phil Arrowsmith and Dave Kent were the scorers on these. Varsity, with strong backchecking and good defence work, held off a sustained drive by the Marlies until the 17 minute mark when Jamieson of the Smythe C-formers snagged a goal.

In the second period the game really roughened up with both teams handing out vicious bodychecks, and Marlies managed to score at 14.25 when the Varsity defence failed to clear. Varsity came back with some smart passing plays to take the lead again on Yeo's goal. Varsity missed a couple of chances, and the period ended with Varsity on top.

In the third frame Varsity just couldn't cope with the Marlboro drive, and Reid got a counter when he shot a low one that bounced off Milne's stick into the left hand corner. The Marlies added another before the period ended to put them one up. With eighteen seconds to go, coach Bill Wade pulled the goalie in favor of another forward. With five seconds left, Marlies got a penalty. Varsity almost scored then, but the puck just missed. Good, hard, game, though.

Wanderers Win Waterloo Crushing Rugger Blues 11-3

The University of Toronto rugger team made a gallant effort last week when they tried a comeback against the powerful Wanderers team. It bore painful resemblance to the Hundred Days and the game itself was a veritable Waterloo.

Desperately the organisers dialed little-known numbers to attract the attention of a team. Miles could not play, Toy could not play, Matsui could not play — however a team was selected and appeared on the slimy field Saturday afternoon, and it looked pretty strong. It was, until Jack Gibbs, the fastest and shiftiest three-quarter on the field went off with water on the elbow, the scrum was weakened by the loss of a man to the backs, and another forward discovered charlie-horses in both legs.

John Gerard and Shaw Cameron led the forwards in magnificent rushes in the first few minutes, and before very long Toronto had scored from a kicking and dribbling attack by Jack Gibbs. The convert failed. Minutes later Alan Gowdy cut through the Wanderers opposition and passed to Vince Dawson, who seemed to score, but he was held off the ground and there was a scrum on the five-yard line instead. From then on the heavy Wanderers scrum (they get heavier and better every week) had it all over Varsity's forwards except in the loose rushes.

But Wanderers couldn't score in the first half, and Toronto led 3-0 at half time. Then Varsity was taken by surprise. Although at the kick-off Wanderers were driven into their own 25, Varsity could not capitalise, and suddenly found themselves in their own territory — and deep in. The scrum held like a rock against the opposition, but Wanderers scrum half scored with a drop between the posts.

Varsity kicked off to Wanderers again and this time made no great showing. Wanderers tried a three-quarter attack but time and again they fumbled the slippery ball and Varsity forwards managed to take it out of danger.

Then the white clad scrum (at least it was supposed to be white) pushed the blue and white pack right back onto their own one-yard line and applied continual pressure. They pressed for a very long time indeed, and Varsity held like heroes. Don Anderson played the finest defensive game that has been seen this year for Varsity, tackling and falling on the ball without making one mistake. It was inevitable, though, that Wanderers should score, and their scrum made a 'try' in due course. The convert was good.

The final try was made by Rory Grant, very far out, to make the score 11-3. The convert failed. Thus Wanderers scored one dropkick (3), one try which was converted (5) and one try not converted (3) to Varsity's try. That marks the end of the season.

Line-up, Anderson; Cox, Gowdy, Dawson, Morris; Gibbs, Donaldson; Allen, Reisberry, Morgan, Day, Douglas, Cameron, Cavallini, Gerard.

Mavor Moore

(Continued from Page 1)

dian company experiences, the inadequacy of most of the buildings, the lack of opportunity offered those at the top of the Canadian field. He pointed out that the Canadian theatre must grow gradually; "we must work on the material we have, and learn to recognize Canadian artists before they have succeeded abroad."

Beef Trail of the Calgary Damp-Eaters says—

"Ah been throwin' balls for nigh on 20 years, but I've never seen anyone throw a Ball like the one those Sammy boys are throwin' Nov. 26th at the King Eddy."

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

CLEANING at its Finest regardless of price!

GLADSTONE 3511
For Free City-Wide Pick-Up & Delivery
OR VISIT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE

Your Nearest Branch
633½ Spadina (at Harbord)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

At "Skule Nite" Saturday—white silk scarf initialled "W.L.E." HU. 0358

FOR SALE

Tails, $30.00—height, 5'6"; weight, 135; excellent condition. Phone HU. 2178 after 6.30 p.m.

FOR SALE

Forget-Me-Knot Diamond ring, 3 diamonds Almost new. Ideal Christmas gift—$110. OR 2145.

LOST

Covert cloth, taupe, army type raincoat from the basement cloak-room, Botany Building. Between 3 and 4 p.m. Please return to the S.A.C. Office, Hart House

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar. Just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now

For Sale

Suit of tails, size 36-37, and accessories, good condition KE 5652.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Student discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU 3575.

FOR SALE

Tails, size 36; good condition—$25.00. Phone JU. 7383.

WANTED

Free room and board for refined girl in return for light services and baby sitting. North Toronto MA. 8411.

FOR SALE

Pair of new hockey gloves, never used. Also good pair of matched ice skates; reasonable. Phone KE. 9606 after 7.

WANTED

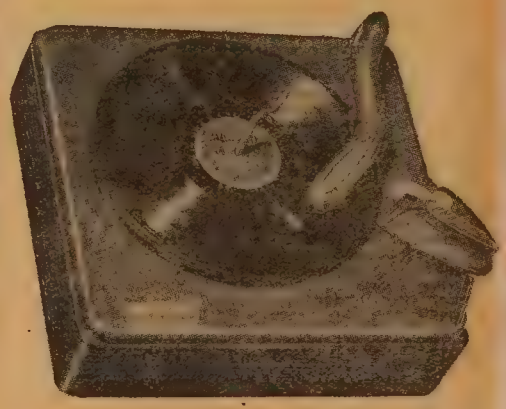
Will pay reasonable price for the following: "Constitution of Canada", "Statutes, Treatise and Proclamation of the Constitution of Canada" by W. P. Kennedy Phone RA. 7263.

FOR SALE

Man's evening suit, tails, size 38; excellent condition. Reasonable. Phone MI. 9263.

P.A. SYSTEM RENTALS

Super Sound: Dance music for your next class, year or house party. Stage and orchestra work. Largest stock of rental equipment on the campus—Call Don Eller, HO. 0868



LOST

Scarlet and Golden opportunity to get tickets to best Show on the campus. Didn't get tickets to "Scarlet and Gold", in Alumni Hall at Vic, soon enough.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

EATON'S

Your Favourite Records on The 1949 Stewart-Warner

AUTOMATIC RECORD PLAYER

Listen to your favourite records played through your own radio or amplifier with this low priced precision instrument. Just stack eight 12" or ten 10" standard records on the spindle of this open top record player and enjoy the same volume and tone quality as your radio. Works smoothly and quietly with dependable self starting electric motor, push button switch and sensitive semi-permanent needle. Can be attached to most modern radios ..... Each 29.95

Phone Tr. 5111
Television and Radio Main Store Dept. 260

T. EATON Co LIMITED

VIC V.C.F.
Week-of-Meetings
Tuesday 22 - Friday 25
REV. D. H. MacLENNAN
will speak on
"FREEDOM"
1:20 P.M. CHAPEL

AUSTRIAN SUNDAY
Reception at Hart House for the Austrian students
Tickets and information in UC ROTUNDA
25c A PERSON

DRINK—

5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Cold

VOL. LXIX NO. 45 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Thursday, November 24, 1949

Milling It Over

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade.

If hard work and large scale publicity are good criteria for judging the newly formed U.C. Music Club should offer a good rendition of Victor Herbert's operetta, "The Red Mill" on December 6, 7 and 8. Pictured are Bill Copeland and June Roust who are among those hard at work at rehearsals.

Text Discounts Harm Trade Declares Macmillan Official, Help Not Hurt, Says SAC

Students at the University of Toronto and officials of the Macmillan Co. of Canada definitely do not agree on the problem of giving discounts to students on text books. This was strikingly brought out at last night's Students' Administrative Council meeting held n the Medical Board Room, when Mr. John Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada, discussed the problem of discounts on texts with the Council.

Book Trade In Poor State

"No privileged bookstore should be allowed a discount which will compete with other retail outlets," Mr. Gray said. "It is not the proper thing for the University Press Bookstore to do. The retail book trade in Canada is in a precarious position — there are no first class bookstores west of Toronto, none east of Montreal, and very few between."

To give students discounts on texts is not the solution to the high cost of text books, Mr. Gray declared. In any case, the saving gained is "peanuts", and probably didn't matter that much in the overall cost of a university education. Mr. Gray said that he thought the average saving would be about $2 per student.

Will Protect Retailers

Mr. Gray said that the policy of the Macmillan Co. in withdrawing their books from the University Press Bookstore as long as the Bookstore gives a ten percent discount to students on texts was determined by their desire to protect retail booksellers in Toronto who are suffering from a loss of trade due to the Press discount.

He claimed that the University Press discount acted as a "bait", that students who bought texts in the Press Bookstore bought other books (not sold at a discount) at the Bookstore, therefore depriving the downtown stores of their trade, and that the entire practice and policy being followed by the Bookstore is unfair.

Council Answers Argument

Council members met each one of Mr. Gray's points. They pointed out that the Bookstore dealt mainly with text books which are not carried by other stores. Arts members of the Council pointed out that Arts students who were interested in a wide range of books go to the downtown stores in any case. They said that the saving to students, which amounts to many thousands of dollars every year, could hardly be considered peanuts, and that cutting book costs was only one part of a program to keep the costs of a university education at as low a level as possible.

It was pointed out by Council that many other universities have discount plans of one kind or another. Mr. Gray said that the only case he knew of which was at all comparable to Toronto was at Carleton College, and that steps were being taken to investigate the situation there.

The discussion lasted well over an hour. Mr. Gray outlined the Macmillan position for the Council at the beginning. "The retail trade in Canada is in a precarious position," he said. "By European standards . . . we have not any really first class bookstores, and we are doing all we can to build the retail trade here . . . Two years ago we put a protection plan in operation by which bookstores are able to return books to us which they cannot sell.

Steps Taken By Macmillan

"Last summer we increased our discount to commercial bookstores, to help them out. And yet, in the last year four of the oldest bookstores in Canada have folded.

". . . I regret very much that our policy (of discontinuing the supply of books to the University Press) has put us in the position of being a 'big bad wolf', but we have considered this problem very carefully . . . If we had to decide the matter again tomorrow, we would have no option but to do the same thing again."

SAC President Bob Hetherington (Medicine) pointed out that for Medical students, the saving was more than "peanuts". He said that a medical student buys about $300 worth of books during his course, and that a $30 saving was important. Although there were only 900 students in the faculty at present, during a six year course they would save something like $50,000, and that when looked at this way, it represented a tremendous factor in the whole problem.

"Why has the Macmillan Co. allowed a discount to Medical students for 20 years, and suddenly decided they aren't entitled to it," Hetherington asked.

Students Not Damaging Trade

"We don't feel we are damaging the book trade . . . We are in a position similar to educational institutions, technical schools and those groups who currently get discounts. We want to know why Macmillan has picked on the University of Toronto Press."

Mr. Gray: "It is quite true that a majority of bookstores don't carry text books, but they do depend to some extent on casual student trade . . . Anything which discourages students from dropping into retail stores should be stopped."

Scores NFCUS Probe

He also had some remarks to make concerning the National Federation of Canadian University Students investigation of text book prices. He said that "some statements made by NFCUS stagger me . . .". Books which are published by Macmillan in England and United States are sold in this country at 19 cents to the shilling for English books, and at the American list price for American texts. On books which Macmillan distributes the mark-up varies, depending on the conditions.

"But any reputable publisher does not mark up a book too high — he can't afford to, because his public and competitors will go after him," Mr. Gray said.

As far as NFCUS' investigation was concerned: "I think if people are going to investigate the book business, they should investigate the book business. For goodness sake, stop fooling!"

The main question as far as Macmillan is concerned is: "Is the University Press, with its ten percent discount to students, competing unfairly with other retail bookstores?" The Macmillan answer, as brought out in the discussion, and as shown by their move which stopped Macmillan boks from being sold at the Bookstore, is "Yes".

Discount Promotes Trade

The Council didn't think this answer correct. Joyce Rous (Trinity) said that she thought students get interested in books at the Press Bookstore, and often spend more than they save through discounts

(Continued on Page 7)

WUA Approves But Lit Rejects UC Amalgamation

The Women's Undergraduate Association vigorously approved of amalgamation with the U.C. men's Literary and Athletic Society Wednesday. In a vote of 72 for and 15 against, the women favoured union with the UC lit. on the basis of equal rights, in all cultural and social activities. Athletic activities are separate.

The proposed society, to be University College Literary and Athletic Society, was rejected by the UC LIT Tuesday night.

It was suggested that the men "clean up and sober up" the meetings of the "illustrious Lit." The 96 year old men's society, it was stated, is possibly looking forward to a centennial celebration.

Jane Hill, SAC representative, for UC women, recalled that last year a plebiscite taken of UC students showed a majority of both men and women favoured amalgamation of the two societies.

The meeting of the UC Lit Tuesday was attended by forty men. This would indicate, it was pointed out, that all the men did not approve of maintaining separate societies.

The women decided on a joint open meeting in the near future to discuss union in the light of the

(Continued on Page 8)

Time and Tide Wait For No Man

Montreal (CUP)—A sign in the Royal Victoria College reads:

Friendly calls ..... 10 min.
Friendly calls ..... 9 min.
(When busy)
Friends "letting us in on the ground floor" ..... 1 second
Friends inviting us to lunch ..... 2 hours
Auto Salesman ..... all day (promising immediate delivery)
Bill and tax collectors.. All day (tomorrow)

Ya Wanna Make Movies? So Does The Film Society

By JOHN PINKERTON

From the rumours that have been leaking through the celluloid curtain lately, it seems that Hollywood is going to have some strong competition this year.

Make Two Movies

It has been reliably reported that the University Film Society is going to make at least two productions before next spring, starting after Christmas.

Last year, it took the Society one month, using a student cast and two cameramen, to produce "As The Twig Is Bent," the documetary film on the University Settlement House.

Faster Shooters

This year, with the addition of a 16 mm Bolex, operating at sound speed, it is expected that shooting of scenes will be faster and more successful.

There are still openings in the acting, writing, music, script and other departments. New memberships are available for the rest of the year at a reduced rate, which will include admission to the remaining films on the program.

The Selections

The films to be shown throughout the year have been carefully selected for their artistic merit. They range from an early newsreel to Walt Disney's original cartoon. Some films not readily available to the public have been listed for showing as well. These include "All Quiet On The Western Front," Garbo's last swedish film; "Mother," directed by Pudovkin, perhaps the greatest director in the world; Douglas Fairbanks Sr., in "The Black Pirate"; and "Intolerance," produced by D. W. Griffiths, which is one of the landmarks in movie history.

The members of the society, led by Bill Campbell, IV Dents, and Lloyd Graham, School of Social Work, are willing to teach newcomers all the technical knowledge required for film production.

Campus Dramatics Not Beneficial Decide Debaters

That dramatics is the most beneficial extra-curricular activity on the campus was the resolution of a debate between St. Michael's Senate club and the Vic Dramatic Club last night. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 37-6.

The affirmative opened the debate by pointing out that the Drama Society offers its members a profession. Alan Evan, Vic, stated the legitimate theatre depends on small theatre groups and clubs such as the Vic Drama Society. These clubs will be the foundation of a Canadian theatre using plays by Canadian playwrites.

Bob McLaughlin, St. Mike's, began the negative's debate by pointing out the fact that students come to university for the purpose of an education not a contradiction of main purposes. He went on to say he believed the student participation was a far better indication of benefits of extra-curricular activities. He used as an example football and the corresponding participation of students in dramatics and football.

Mike Roberts, Vic, second speaker for the affirmative, stressed the fact of maturation of mind and body control which is developed by studying dramatics. Also he stated the economical advantages in participating in dramatics.

Again, the negative, Margaret Cairns, St. Mike's, stressed the point of participation and the representative numbers in drama compared with other extra-curricular activities.

ISS VOTE QUESTIONED

Vancouver — (CUP) — Nov. 23 — Legality of the recent ISS referendum at the University of British Columbia, which okayed a $1 hike in student fees next September, has been questioned by two UBC students. Students, appearing before Council Monday night, claimed the vote was illegal since the AMS is governed by the Societies Act, which requires that any vote must have a 75% turnout to be legal. Approximately 25% of the students voted on the referendum.

Man Must Have Security To Be Moral Says Grube

Unless men enjoy the "essential nature of the material minimum" —i.e., fundamental material satisfaction, moral behavior cannot be expected from individuals. This was an argument of Professor G. Grube of the Trinity College Classics Department in his talk on "The Ethics of Socialism" to the UC CCF Club yesterday afternoon.

Extension of social control over production and distribution are necessary to guarantee the basic requirements of man, Professor Grube said. Man, a social animal, has achieved the good found in civilization through the empirical facts of co-operation, he suggested. The facts of waste and want demanded further development of common resources for the satisfaction of common needs.

Unscientific destruction of resources and the inefficient distribution of goods produced are immoral, Grube said, because one destroyed material needs, and the other resulted in slums, poor health, and a waste of talent.

Sage View Needed

Need for a rational appraisal of man's moral capacities and his human nature was stressed by the speaker. A wise view would avoid the dangers of postulating complete selfishness and so excusing jungle law; of having no faith in humanity, thus paving the way for dictatorship, or of having too much faith and ignoring the power of temptation, he said.

Socialists, Grube declared, ought to concern themselves with the necessity of removing temptation from man economically and politically. Then, he suggested, the grounds would be provided for the discovery and enjoyment of talent, the attainment of the highest average living standard, and the best possible help of the needy.

Reminding his audience that Plato called politics "the kingly science," Grube urged all young people to associate actively in a party, for "the more people of integrity, honesty, and intelligence in any party, the better for all parties."

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 75 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Dave Butters
ASSISTANT: Kathlyn Smith

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1949

Skeleton in the Closet

The bitter November cold and even more bitter term tests are upon us bringing with them the abrupt reality that the school year is now past its stage of blithe infancy. Things are in earnest now.

Things should be earnest with the Students' Administrative Council now too, and last night's meeting proved to be a well-packed session of business. But in the productive hubbub, no one mentioned the skeleton in the closet: the proposed Students' Union.

One of the more important committees of the SAC is the one concerned with the Students' Union. And yet, at last night's SAC meeting — the fifth meeting of the maturing year — no reports were forthcoming to indicate any work is being done by the Students' Union committee.

To those who have just come in, here is a resumé of the history of the University of Toronto Students' Union proposal:

In 1947, an overwhelming student vote approved the building of a students' union building. In 1948, a SAC committee was set up to explore the ways and means of this project — to be financed by the students themselves. In the fall of 1948 — last year — actual working committees investigated all phases of the proposal.

Last spring, plans reached their furthest possible peak — the then SAC president Gordon Gwynne-Timothy issued a statement at a February SAC meeting that Students' Union building plans had gone as far as they could without definite financial support. The SAC committee was to meet with the administration to confer about the various methods of financing the project. Since then silence.

A project like the building of a Students' Union is not a one-year affair. Any proposal for financing the building would entail a period of many years. If Toronto is to have a Students' Union building, the present SAC committee concerned must roll up all sleeves and pitch into the job.

It may be that the plans for the Students' Union building have been politely elbowed aside for "more pressing" problems of administration. When the vital need for a Students' Union building is carefully considered, no other problem seems to be more "pressing." This is a student project, and the responsible student officials owe it to the rest of us that they should do something constructive on the matter.

The danger of shelving a proposal like the Students' Union is that this shelving may result in the proposal being cobwebbed into oblivion.

In the last two years, extensive work has been done by SAC officials on the Students' Union building plan. Is this work to be completely wasted?

As students, we want to know what happened. The skeleton gives us the creeps.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

NOON HOUR ADDRESS
Hart House noon-hour address—Rev. B. G. Buley will speak on "The Student and Mental Health" today, 1:30, in the Debates Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION
The Carnegie record program in the Mechanical Building this afternoon at 5 p.m. will feature an all-Schubert program: String Trio in B flat, Soirees de Vienne, and "Unfinished Symphony" No. 8.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC SINGERS
The U.C. Singers will practise today from 4-6 p.m. in the Women's Union Theatre.

✣ ✣ ✣

BADMINTON CLUB
There will be no meeting of the University Badminton Club today in the Drill Hall.

✣ ✣ ✣

CHEMICAL CLUB
Tonight at 8.00 Prof. Rogers will speak on Technical Evidence in Court, Room 24, Old Chemistry Building. Refreshments will be served.

✣ ✣ ✣

N.F.C.U.S.
There will be a meeting of the N.F.C.U.S. committee in the Trinity Board Room at 5 p.m. today.

✣ ✣ ✣

RUSSIAN CIRCLE
There will be a meeting today at the Women's Union at 8 p.m. Professor L. I. Strakhovsky will speak about his experiences during the Russian Revolution.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN
The regular meeting will be held today in room 336 of the New Mechanical Building at 1.25. Study: I John 4. All welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

EXPLORATION SOCIETY
Mr. Andrew Lawrie will speak tonight on the Eskimo and the Caribou in the North West Territories, at the Hart House Exploration Society, at 8 o'clock in the Music Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

MEDICAL ARTS & LETTERS CLUB
Dr. Robert B. McClure will speak on "Medical Work in China" at the fourth open meeting at the Lecture Hall of the Banting Institute at 5 p.m. today.

✣ ✣ ✣

UT LIBERAL CLUB
There will be an open meeting of the UT Liberal Club in Room 5 at 4 p.m. in the South-east corner of the building. Jimmy Sinclair, Parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Finance, will be the speaker. Everyone welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

VCSU
All members are urged to consult the notice on the main bulletin board.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC - VCF
Mr. MacLennan will present the third of a series of talks on Freedom at 1:20 in the Chapel. Evening discussions at 7 o'clock in North House and Annesley Tea Room.

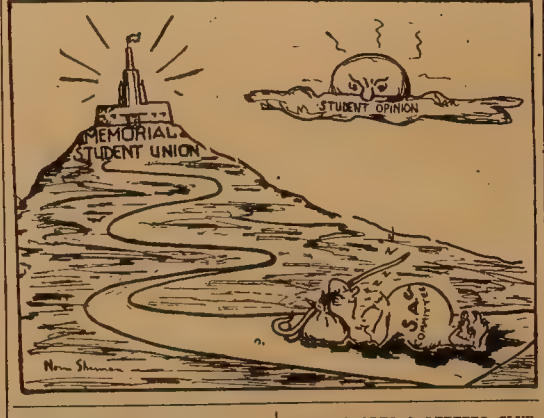
✣ ✣ ✣

U. OF T. SPANISH CLUB
There will be a meeting tonight of the U. of T. Spanish Club in the Women's Union at 8 p.m. The programme will include a Spanish sing-song and slides on Spain taken by Miss A. Campbell of the Spanish staff during her trip to Spain last summer. Election of the first year rep

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

EXPLORATION SOCIETY.
Mr. Andrew Lawrie, who spent a year studying the migration of the caribou and lived among the Esquimaux will speak to the Hart House Exploration Society in the Music Room, tonight at 8.00 o'clock.

BRIDGE CLUB.
Bridge classes for beginners will be held each Thursday night and separate games will be run. Prepare now for the University of Toronto intercollegiate team by attending the Thursday meetings. Special instruction will be arranged. Tables will be set up ready for play in the Map room at 7.15 tonight.



ARCHERY.
There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

ART CLASS.
The Art Class will meet in the Gallery at 7.30 tonight.

VISITORS' DAY.
Next Sunday, 27th November, will be Visitors' Sunday, when members may introduce their friends between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL.
Ray Dudley and John Beckwith, pianists, will give a programme of music for piano four-hands, in the Great Hall at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, 27th November. Members and their guests, including ladies, are invited.

NOON-HOUR ADDRESS.
The Reverend B. G. Buley will speak in the Debates Room today at 1.30 p.m. His topic will be "The Student and Mental Health."

Terse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young fellow named Sprockett
Who put a lit pipe in his pocket.
He tarried a while
With a bland little smile
And then he took off like a rocket.

THE VARSITY

Thursday, November 24, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

Perilous Crossing

From ship to ship goes this UNTD Cadet in a dramatic transfer at sea on a bosun's chair. In the background is HMCS "Nootka." At the other end of the line, but not shown in the picture is HMCS "Iroquois." Both ships are tribal class destroyers with distinguished war records.

Rescue Work While Hurricane Rages Initiates UNTD During Summer Cruise

By HERB WOOD

One of the best ways we know of explaining the work and training that the U.N.T.D. represents is to recount an incident that happened this summer.

When the aircraft carrier Magnificent was holed off the coast of Nova Scotia last June, the officer cadets on board had to find another ship in which to complete their cruise. The only one handy was the destroyer "Iroquois" and she was laid up as part of the reserve fleet.

In a remarkably short space of time, less than a month, the UNTD's had her "ship-shape and tiddly". To reach this degree of perfection, the boys put in a lot of hard work scraping and repainting the ship from "stem to gudgeon".

Picks Up Signal

During the summer, separate trips were made from the home port of Halifax to New York, Charlottetown, Sidney, and Newfoundland.

One day in September, shortly before dark, a message of distress was picked up from the Eugenia, a vessel of Panamin registry, with a broken steering column.

Commands were quickly given. "The Iroquois" slid out from the protection of the harbour into a gale of near hurricane proportions. Over 100 UNTD's were on board, some with no previous sea experience.

Found In Heavy Seas

Once outside the harbour, the wheel was taken over by the helmsman, a UNTD; the 2nd officer of the watch also was a UNTD. Most of the manual work of laying out the towing cable was done by officer cadets.

After considerable searching, the Eugenia was found and the "Iroquois" stood by for the rest of the night and the next day while emergency steering gear was rigged. Then the "Iroquois" escorted the Eugenia 70 miles back to port.

Many Were Seasick

That was some trip to put it mildly. One compartment was flooded and three sea boats were carried away. Also missing was the radio direction finder atop the mast.

The galley was shut down during the worst weather. In the brief periods when the weather eased, the galley prepared "Kye" — a form of cocoa. The rest of the time the men made themselves sandwiches.

Nearly everyone was sea-sick. However, it was an excellent test that crew and ship stood up to in fine form.

U.N.T.D. Organization

During the University year, the cadets learn the theory of seamanship and navigation at training periods every Tuesday at H.M.S. York. The training is based on a four year course.

In the summer, the cadets take courses at either coast that will later qualify them as Lieutenants. The courses vary in their particular length from one to eight weeks. Depending on the course, the cadets in the summer spend up to one half their time at sea.

The UNTD was started in 1942. In 1948, it was reorganized on an officer training bases. Lt. Cdr. R. F. McRae R.C.N.(R.)—is the C.O. of the U.N.T.D. Candidates join as ordinary seamen before going before a selection board which bases its selection on qualities of judgment and reliability. If accepted they are considered as junior officers.

Students in the faculties of Engineering and C & P who are in the Navy are given credit for practical work.

Eskimoes Clever

One of the more interesting stories to come out of a summer cruise concerns the Magnificent on a trip to Ungava Bay in Labrador. The carrier stopped off the coast and a boat was lowered and put to shore.

One of the officers, out of curiosity, gave an Eskimo a cigarette, wondering if he would eat it, or feed it to his dogs. Instead, he carefully tapped the cigarette on his thumb nail, then reached in his pocket and lit the cigarette with a silver Ronson.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

Freedom Definition Needs Clarification Says F. Underhill

More careful definition of the meaning of freedom is necessary if people are going to avoid the "hysteria" against "Statism" and socialism which is at present sweeping the western world, Prof. Frank H. Underhill said yesterday in the Economics Building during a lecture sponsored by the School of Social Work. He was speaking on "The State In A Free Society."

What Is Freedom?

Prof. Underhill said the word "Freedom" is being used loosely by conservatives who are constantly warning against socialism and the growing power of the state. "You must always ask those who speak of the danger to freedom, 'whose freedom and freedom to do what,'" he commented.

He outlined the steady movement toward collectivism in the United States, Great Britain and Canada. In illustrating this statement, he referred to the new power of the Democratic Party in the United States. Until the 1930's the Republican Party was usually in power, he stated. The Democrats had been used by the American people as a means of "disciplining" the Republicans. But recent election victories of the Democrats indicated the party was going to take over the Republicans' position now.

The speaker said the conservative parties in the United States and Canada have suffered their most disastrous defeats recently when they have campaigned on a platform which runs counter to the present tendency toward collectivism.

Foresees Equalitarian State

"In England both the Conservative Party and the Labour Party are going in the same direction toward the same destination," he stated. "The destination is an equalitarian state."

Although he termed most conservative warnings against the collectivist state as "hysterical", Prof. Underhill said it is necessary to consider the problem of maintaining freedom in the collectivist state.

The way to maintain freedom is to make use of the classical liberal method of preventing too great concentrations of power, by building and maintaining of the "balance of power" within society, he said.

The balance of power is made possible by people's tendency to form free associations spontaneously, like political parties, fraternal associations and trade unions, he said.

Need Middle Class

The future of freedom would depend in the future as it had in the past on a vigorous middle class. This class still existed and had in fact grown, although the modern middle class was part of the wage-earning class whereas the old middle class had been made up of people of greater financial independence.

Vitamins, Vacuums In RCI Lecture By K.C. Hickman

Dr. K. C. D. Hickman, research consultant of Rochester, N. Y., will address the Royal Canadian Institute on November 26 at 8:15 p.m. in Convocation Hall on the subject "Adventure With Vitamins and Vacuums." The meeting will be open to the public and will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Dr. Hickman, an Englishman and graduate of London University is at present doing research in high-vacuum, multi-effect fractionation at Arthur D. Little Inc., Cambridge, Mass. He was Vice-president and research director of Distillation Products Inc. from 1939 to 1948. He has many inventions tohis credit, including modern photographic processes, the molecular still which processes most of the Vitamin A and E of commerce, and the present source of Vitamin E in waste liquors from oil refineries.

Dr. Hickman will explain the theory and practice of evaporation and distillation in a high vacuum. This subject originated, he explains, with the determination of scientists and industrialists to operate in the earth asmosphere. In high vacuum distillation scientists try to catch evaporating molecules when they emerge from the surface of the chemical in their still. The art of high vacuum was adapted to many purposes during World War II, including the drying of blood plasma and penicillin.

Mission Doctor To Tell of Work In Asiatic Field

Dr. Robert B. McLure, medical missionary in China and authority on Chinese affairs, will speak on "Medical Work In China" at the meeting of the Medical Arts and Letters Club this afternoon at 5 p.m. in the lecture hall in Banting Institute.

Dr. McLure is a graduate of The University of Toronto and his lectures on China and the work he has done there are familiar to Canadian audiences.

When his mission hospital in North China was occupied by the Japanese, Dr. McLure served with the International Red Cross and as Medical Director of the Friends' Ambulance Unit. In these capacities he transported medical supplies to the more inaccessible regions and setting up military and civilian casualty and epidemic teams. In the postwar field he was primarily concerned with the setting up of new hospitals and rebuilding and refurnishing old hospitals throughout devastated China.

Toronto, Queen's, Western, All Victims of Ransackers

Warden Ignatieff of Hart House said today that the U. of T. seems to have got over its thievery wave. Earlier in the term there had been considerable petty thefts, but with the advent of plain-clothesmen on the campus and a tighter coat-checking policy there had been improvement in the situation. However there still continues to be a heavy loss in Hart House silver, but the Warden indicated that steps were being taken.

Western Cash

London—(CUP)—A wave of unexplained losses — or thefts — in the last three weeks has cost students of the University of Western Ontario more than $100 cash, a plane ticket and various personal belongings.

One of the largest losses was $56 and a plane ticket, which mysteriously disappeared in the Arts building. Other thefts included rifling a co-ed's suitcase, cash box rifling, and overcoats, including one fur coat.

Comptroller R. B. Willis of Western has said that any student caught taking money or articles would be dealt with "ruthlessly."

Queen's Silverwear

Kingston (CUP) $650 worth of silverware was stolen from the Student Memorial Union of Queen's University during the past operating year. "Couples furnishing their apartment, and those students who see no harm in having a knife, fork and spoon in their room manage to get away with only one hundred and eighty pieces of silverware each month," according to the Queen's Journal. Apparently the silver disappears fastest at the beginning of the term when students are just getting settled.

Books Wet All Wet

Vancouver (CUP) Nov. 24. The course of true love can sometimes be dampened, a U.B.C. co-ed has discovered.

The pretty strawberry blonde got playful with one of her boy friend's books and threw it into the lily pond in front of the library.

The boy friend became angry and tossed her in after the book.

Neither was available for comment.

SAC At A Glance

At its meeting last night, the Students' Administrative Council:

Heard a letter from Mr. Alex Mankin advising the Council that Thos. Nelson and Son, publishers, had served notice to the University of Toronto Press that Nelson and Son would distribute no books to the Press while the present system of discounts was in effect. This is the second publisher to take this action Several weeks ago Macmillan cut the Press off from further supplies of books.

Heard a letter from International Student Organization thanking the Council for the cheque for $600 for the support of one DP student now studying at the University.

Heard a letter from the Faculty of the School of Law asking that the School be accorded SAC representation since it is now a recognized school of the University. Council deferred decision.

Heard a letter from John Pulford, producer of Skule Nite calling attention of the Council to the destruction of the Skule Nite marquee and asking that Council make good the expense of replacing it.

Appointed, Dorothy Stillwell, Meds, and Barbara Hughes, Phys. Therapy as members of the newly formed inter-Cultural Affairs Committee.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Lecture Series

MR. B. K. SANDWELL, LL.D., D.C.L.

will speak on

"THE BASIS OF THE CANADIAN STANDARD OF LIVING"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25th, at 8.30 p.m.

West Hall, University College

Movie Review

The Informer

Here is a movie without the low neckline, technicolor, commercial Hollywood and yet it stands as one of the greatest films of all time. There is nothing hidden, it isn't polished and is as real as you or I. Modern Hollywood would do well to analyze this film and perhaps in this way recapture some of the artistic realness which they have lost.

Such a film is "The Informer" now playing at the Towne Cinema. It has been retrieved from its dusty shelf for the benefit of new movie fans, those who missed the opportunity 15 years ago and the many who want to see it again. The screen play is based on a story by Liam O'Flaherty who successfully interprets the internal struggles of the Irish Revolution into human emotions.

The Informer is Gypo Nolan, a giant of a man with massive strength who has been court-martialled by the Irish Rebel Movement for disobeying orders. Weak minded Gypo, bitter against the Rebels plus his desire to keep his girl friend's love — betrays the whereabouts of his best friend and former fellow revolutionary for £20 reward. The story goes on to focus on Gypo who lavishly spends the reward with the help of many false friends. The comparison of Gypo's conscience, fears, good and evil within him is the struggle of Ireland herself. The Movement watches Gypo's every move and finally he goes on trial before them.

Victor McLaglen as Gypo Nolan never appears as if he were acting. He was Gypo from beginning to end. His facial expressions which changed with his moods were excellent. He well deserved the Academy Award he received for his performance.

Gypo's girl friend Katei (Margot Graham) warrants notice and we doesn't notice pretty girls. Although she had a small part she shows her dramatic ability near the end when she pleads for Gypo's life. Preston Foster plays the part of straight role of Dan Gallagher, the Commandment of the Movement. It is interesting to note how young he looks then compared to his present roles.

Scenes you can never forget:

The blank expression on the blind man's face as Gypo sees him for the first time. In the death of Gypo's pal Franky, all eyes watch his fingers as he slips slowly and tensely from a window ledge after being shot by the military. The silence after Gypo drops 4 coins to the floor while attending his friend's funeral.

The Informer is rough, realistic and very emotional. John Ford must be complimented for his direction. The suspense can be compared to Hitchock's best. The sound track is good yet the voices seem too loud at times.

This movie will not appeal to everybody. If you are one that appreciates good acting, realism and tend to be a wee bit emotional the Informer is a picture to see.

Ed Rasky

Our Readers Write

Macmillan

Editor, The Varsity:

I have followed the articles concerning the Macmillan Company's dictatorship with a mixture of interest and disgust. Mr. Gray, the company director, contends that his interest is only for the retail book trade, since his company's margin remains the same. Of course his motive lies in the fact that the publishing business is directly dependent on the retail trade. He later claims that if any commercial bookstore were to sell books at any discount it would mean that they would be operating at a loss. He then blandly without explanation proceeded to state that a breaking of the traditional price lists would mean a small inflation on the book market. Poor man! How did prices ever manage to change in the last twenty-five years?

He then continues to argue that the University Book Store's policy is based on inadequate research, and on a used book operational basis. I am unaware that the book store deals in used books. Mr. Gray demands that our book store work on the same competitive level as other taxpaying stores.

If the discounts in question would cause other book stores and publishers to accept a lesser profit then I say "Hurrah!" I think that Mr. Gray should be informed that this is the twentieth century, and that we babes-in-the-woods students are not to be deceived by big business tactics.

Naturally, some coercion has been applied to the Macmillan Company by retailers who refuse to allow our economy to return to a more stable and normal basis.

Arthur Freeman, S.P.S. I

• COMING EVENTS •

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

M. Raymond Las Vergnas, professor at the Sorbonne in Paris, will speak on "Art et Boheme dans le Paris d'entre deux guerres" on Friday, November 25, at 8.30 p.m. in Emmanuel College.

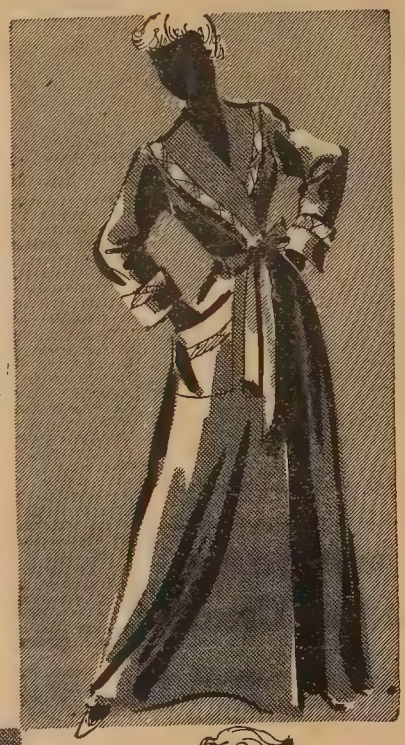
✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. RECORD HOUR

Keith Rowe will present a program of music by the modern composer, Bela Bartok in the Women's Union Long Common Room at 4.30. The new Union record player will be in operation.

✣ ✣ ✣

VARSITY RADIO



Tonight, Varsity Radio presents "My Brother's Keeper" on station CJRT 88.3 megacycles, FM. Program time 7.30. Script by Mel Breen; production by John Howe.

Virginia Dare

Send Warm Xmas Greetings in These Smartly Styled—Low Priced—

HOUSECOATS

—and you'll love them for yourself!

Warm Wool Flannel—and only $10.98! Relax in warmth and comfort! You'll like the classic cut, with full sweeping skirt...the smart new revere with gay multi-coloured trim. Handy patch pocket, self tie. Wine, Powder, and Royal Blue. 14-20. Just the value you're looking for—at only $10.98

A Lee Stock Bengaline "Ballet" Print—Just 9.98! Design is practical yet graceful. Convenient waist-to-ankle zipper is hidden under fly front on the exceptionally well cut skirt. Cutaway pockets and self tie emphasize a slim waist... pretty shawl collar frames the face. Full sleeves, gathered to banded cuffs complete the graceful lines. Royal Blue, Wine and Black. 14-20. Grand Value at..... $9.98

11.98 is such a Low Price for this Genuine Woven Plaid Flannel! Generously cut skirt... with trim fly front to conceal the free-sliding waist-to-ankle zipper closing. Neat little slash pocket... self covered plaid buttons . . . full, cuffed sleeves. Convertible neckline is flattering open or fastened... colourful self belt. She'd love it for Christmas! Green and Wine Plaids. 12-20 Just..... $11.98

MAIL ORDERS—A personal service for your convenience. Send color preference (first and second choice) and money order to 146 Yonge Street, Toronto.

Virginia Dare

A STORE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

TORONTONENSIS

Arrangements for space contracts in Torontonensis 1950 must be completed by Dec. 16. Contracts are to be signed at the S.A.C. Office, Hart House as soon as possible.

RECEPTION FOR AUSTRIANS

CONCERT AND TEA

This Sunday, 3.00 p.m.

Hart House

Sponsored by A.S.S.

TICKETS 25c, IN U.C. ROTUNDA

U.C. MUSIC CLUB

TICKET SALES NOW ON

In U.C. Rotunda

10 a.m. — 2 p.m.

for

The Red Mill

$1.00 $1.25

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies's Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

T.S.O.

Last night's TSO concert offered Robert Graham, violinist, as the replacement for Ginette Neveu, the young French violinist who died recently in the Azores plane crash. The Sibelius Concerto in D minor which Dr. Graham played is certainly one of the most difficult works in the violin repertoire, and he tackled it with vigour and resourcefulness. While his playing is intense and exact, yet in trying to give a well-defined performance he was sometimes too brittle and abrupt, especially in the lyric passages of the second movement.

The orchestra itself opened with a lukewarm performance of the Beethoven Coriolanus Overture which Sir Ernest only saved in its last moments. However, the orchestra got to business in the Second Symphony of Beethoven; in spite of some blurred violin passage work in the second movement, it is still possible to conclude that the TSO can boast of having a first-rate string section. It's rather sad, though, to note that with the Barrows offstage during the Beethoven the remaining French horns were somewhat lost. There is some compensation, though, in the excellent work of the oboe and English horn sections throughout the entire evening.

Two works by contemporary English composers were also performed; Benjamin Britten's Canadian Carnival was especially interesting. His compositions are always absorbing, and Canadian Carnival with its intense, sustained opening, its uncanny rhythms and use of folk-tune motifs is certainly no exception. It displays effectively the composer's mastery of the resources of the wind section and his wonderful dramatic sense. The concluding English work, Portsmouth Point, an early work of William Walton, was rather unfortunately placed after the Sibelius. It is a colorfully noisy work and received a breezy, effective performance.

Lillian Becker.

CBC Wednesday Night

Just as drama is enlivened by performance so poetry is lifted by the spoken word. Thus it was with Alice Mather's reading of works by Canadian poet Patricia Page to commence last evening's production of CBC Wednesday Night.

Author of one volume As Ten-As Twenty Miss Page draws her themes from the world in which she moves. As philosopher she underlays her verse with a definite theme: the individual as a social animal, isolated and alone, who by love and faith in the future breaks through the bonds of isolation into gregarious living.

A typical poem is The Bonds and the Beautiful Children, a panoramic picture of childlife studded with onomatopoeia. The reading, however, was meticulously cold and elocutionary and remained thus in each poem read — artificial and strained.

A shorter poem, Puppets, light of title but serious of theme, was more like poetic prose than verse, as was The Condemned where the poet's philosophy of love as conqueror of isolation is brilliantly, if not prosaically, set forth. Her poetry is largely modern pieces, no rhythms, little structure, but all pungent with meaning, acrid and sincere.

Ghosts was a repeat of the prize-winning radio drama of 1948. Most of the credit still goes to the author. When Henrik Ibsen moved "a few boundary posts" in the 1860's, the play was received (eventually) as "foul, degenerate, dull, immoral, obscene and disgusting". Such a commotion would have to be about something either very good or very bad, and Ghosts is still very good.

Its drama: Mrs. Alving, the widow of a profligate official, erects a memorial orphanage to secure the good memory of her bad marriage. She recognizes it as an admission of cowardice, but while she grapples with a ghostly heritage, a dead belief, a worthless convention, her son's mind collapses in a heritage of congenital syphilis.

Lister Sinclair's adaptation has modernized the speech with the desired effect presumably of bringing the characters familiarly into our own times. But our society in its shapelessness, in the apathy of both its prejudices and its partialities, recoils less from breach of convention. Examination of "irregular unions" as opposed to arranged marriages, incest, and the hypocrisy of the double standard of morality, is more dramatic in the original pedantic idiom of the play.

Of the cast I liked Francis Peddie as the pastor for an unprudish interpretation, to the greater force of his hypocrisy, and John Drainie for a chilling lapse into idiocy. Ruth Springford made a sly Mrs. Alving, though, seeming to calculate the effect of her speeches on the pastor. Mrs. Alving's years of suffering would leave a more world-weary dignified woman, a more moving rebel. As it was some of Ghosts sounded like the "Craigs".

Finally Agostini's score usually good was conspicuous by its absence except between acts with a few self-conscious drums and horns. However, so far did Mr. Sinclair leave the content untouched in an hour and a half that it remained on the whole a good radio play, thank you, Mr. Ibsen.

Jim Dickinson.

Unity in Diversity

It was a one-world weekend at the Newman Club last November 19, the ideal setting for the protaganists of world government. Hanging within were paintings, crafts, weaving, books, and relics from the Old World. To enter the Newman Club was to step across the Atlantic into Hungary, Poland, Slovakia, Lithuania and France.

A highlight in the exhibition was a 16th century pluviale (worn by the priest when pronouncing benediction) in hand-woven, golden embroidery. This relic, the property of Count Teleky, came from the Benedictine Monastery of Pononhalma to Canada for the purpose of sale to finance Cardinal Mindszenty's defence. There was an original photograph of Franz Liszt, autographed by the composer.

Of Hungarian painting there were masterpieces by Nicholas Hornyanski of Budapest, an exponent of one-plate color copper aquatint printed in one pull. Stellar examples were: Moses, skilled geometric study of the prophet—Noah, stern and forbidding, a falcon on his hand. Two pictures from "The 4 Evangelists" series.

Climax to the week-end was James Cardinal McGuigan's address at communion breakfast at the Newman Club. His Eminence voiced the sentiments of the occasion in terming the weekend a symbol of unity and charity in diversity. The cardinal said, "It was the church that founded the first university," and that it did so well before the earth was divided into East and West. He held that leadership of the people means we must be servants of the people, and help newcomers to Canada to find their way. The Cardinal maintained that Kipling's "East is East" was contradicted by such a meeting before him in the Hall, as it comprised all nationalities at the same table, worshipping at the same altar, and filled with the same ideals. He warned his listeners to have the same unity in diversity in the land to which they had come to live.

William Glenesk

RUSSIAN CLUB

Women's Union

8 p.m.

Professor Strakhovsky

My Experiences in the Russian Revolution

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL

Lullaby

BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL

MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.

TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

U.C. It's this way...

At Tuesday night's Open Meeting, the "Lit" rejected the proposed Amalgamation Report and defeated Fred Giles' motion that the U.C. Lit adopt the principle of Amalgamation. By the time that the Amalgamation issue came up it was 12:30 and the 35-40 members present passed Earl Orser's motion that Amalgamation be thrown out of the Lit for another year. This does not mean however that the Amalgamation question is dead. It may be introduced into the Open Lit Meeting again upon the motion of any member present last night who voted in favour of it.

As we write this the Women's Open Meeting has not yet discussed the question but their decision should be found elsewhere in the paper.

Earlier in the evening dress for the Arts Ball was decided. A motion was passed that the Arts Ball be informal and as cheap as possible. This Dance should be sacrificed to save money. The Dance will be held in is not the feeling of the Executive that the enjoyment of a Centennial West Hall and in the proposed budget $300 will be spent on decorations. For the first time in many years a light supper will be served to the 400 who are lucky enough to get tickets. But you will be hearing more about the Arts Ball later.

Now to tell you about the U.C. activities coming up in the three weeks before Christmas. Keeping you posted on the news of the Follies took up most of the column last month.

Barbie Davidson and Jon Christianson, the second year presidents, who did such a wonderful job on this year's Soph-Frosh, are handling the U.C. Christmas PARTY. And we predict that it will be a smashing success. Santa Claus will be there — different refreshments, games and lots of fun. Tickets are only 50c a couple and will be on sale next Wednesday in the Rotunda. Incidentally, it's on Dec. 9, that's Friday evening so we'll see you then.

Earlier that week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 5, 6, 7, Ward McAdam and the Music Club are presenting Victor Herbert's Operetta, "The Red Mill", in Hart House.

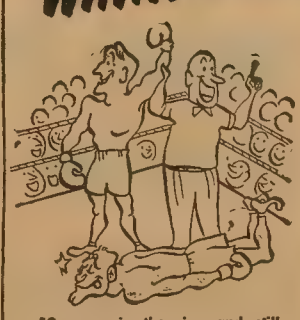
June Rowat, whom you may have heard on "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" and who has one of the loveliest soprano voices in the university, will sing "Moonbeams" from a window of the Red Mill. June will also sing "Isle of Our Dreams" with the handsome hero, Bill Copeland. Bill, you will remember, starred in last year's "Down in the Valley" and this year's Follies.

Sylvia Grant sang with Bill in the Follies and is playing the "innkeeper's fair daughter" in the operetta. Sylvia won the I.S.S. talent hunt in the Drill Hall two weeks ago. John Howe, the distracted innkeeper, sings about his daughter, "You Can Never Tell About a Woman".

That popular vaudeville star from this year's Follies, Ted Follows teams up with Eric House for a terrific number, "In Old New York". If you missed Ted in the Follies you shouldn't miss the Red Mill and if you saw him in the Follies you'll want to see him again.

The '49 Queen of Arts, Margot McKinnon sings "Because You're You" with casanova John Becket. John also sings "Every Day Is Ladies' Day With Me". Harvey Narroll, Dorothy Thornton and Don Charters are also principals in this extremely talented cast. We haven't forgotten Ted McGillvray but nufortunately Ted strained his voice and will be unable to sing. Nor have we forgotten the exceptionally fine singing choruses and those "behind the scenes"; everyone is working hard to produce a wonderful show.

Lit Director Bob Sutherland reports that Harold Carter will be speaker of the House at the next U.C. Parliament. Mr. Wally Framm, speaker at the last Parliament, has been elected to go on the University Debating Tour to Rochester, Princeton and New York University.



The Red and White Committee has a supply of U.C. pins, year guards and crests which will be on sale in the Rotunda on Thursday, today, from 10-1. Barbie Davidson will also take orders for those beautiful red U.C. Blazers.

The U.C. Singers are working on their annual Christmas Musicale. It will be held in the theatre Sunday, December 11, at 9 o'clock.

Paula Zumstein,
W. U. A. Publicity Director.

(ADVERTISEMENT)

"WINNER and still CHAMP"

10 years in the ring and still unbeaten in popularity! ALPACAMA . . . handsomely styled, masterfully tailored, mothproof and showerproof. Your best bet for smartness, value and true warmth without shoulder-dragging weight!

THE GENUINE ALPACAMA

$45.

ALPACAMA

Canada's Most Famous Coat

At Leading Stores From Coast-to-Coast

102 ®REG. CAN. PAT. OFF.

VIC OPEN MEETING

THURSDAY, 1 P.M. CHAPEL

(1) TO VOTE ON MOTION:

"Dress at the At-Home will be optional."

(2) TO PASS CONSTITUTION AMENDMENT THAT:

Amendments to Constitution (passed by assembly) be considered ratified without approval of open meeting. A petition signed by 25 calls for an open meeting to reject the amendment.

RESERVED SEATS $1.00 PER PERSON

A Few Good Seats are Still Available

OPEN SALE TO-DAY

for Tickets to the

"SCARLET and GOLD"

Vic's Sensational Revue in the Eaton Auditorium

November 30, 1949, at 8:15 p.m.

ALUMNI HALL 10 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

MEDICAL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
A Missionary tea is to be held this coming Sunday,Nov. 27, in the China Inland Mission, 150 St. George St., at 4.00 p.m. Kodachrome pictures will be shown on life in Baffinland and Labrador by Mr. Al. Weir. The speaker will be the Rev. Maurice Flint, and his subject will be "What Constitutes a Missionary Call?"

TALKING SHOP

FOR AN EVENING that revives your faith in the motion picture industry, "Lost Boundaries" at the Towne Theatre is recommended ... it's a picture to discuss and see again with someone with opinions ... a picture that gets deep into its subject and finds the only possible solution. Another celluloid aristocrat ... Jean Cocteau's Beauty and the Beast, at the International Cinema ... these pictures prove that the motion picture is capable of growing up, and will doubtless continue to do so ... just so long as audience prove themselves interested in supporting grown-up performances.

✣ ✣ ✣

TEN PERCENT OFF suits and overcoats for the Varsity man is the news from Teasdall's, at 804 Yonge Street ... also budget terms are available, making Teasdall's a good shopping area round about now. Small items of large importance are also available, the best ideas in sportswear, ties, socks, dressing-gowns, pyjamas, etc. From now on Teasdall's is a busy spot, and they like to have the college crowd drop in even if only to look. Feminine shoppers are not despised at Teasdall's since it's obvious an intelligent woman has to shop somewhere for the man on her mind.

✣ ✣ ✣

CALL: MI. 6361 for quick delivery of something romantic to pin on your girl's shoulder any festive evening ... Jerry Cooper points out it isn't necessary to give the gal a corsage, only fun if you're inclined to be extravagant ... the very fact it isn't necessary makes it all the more of a good idea, sometimes Jerry's Shop is near at hand, corner of Avenue Road and Bloor, the Park Plaza Building ... and he'll make up any kind of corsage that occurs to your own creative instinct ... remember, the phone is MI. 6361.

✣ ✣ ✣

AND YOUR TALKING SHOPPER walked into Scheuer's yesterday with a well-beloved, but slightly tarnished bit of jewellery in hand. "Fix it up," we said ... "re-gild the thing if necessary ... we can't live without it." Mr. Scheuer took the object, turned it over critically, then directed our footsteps to the display of costume jewellery, marked "one dollar". Well, there were so many others, but better ones, for less than the price of fixing up the original, that we decided to hang sentiment, invest the whole of a dollar ... problem was which of the remarkably good-looking pieces to choose from . ... They've lapel pins and ear-rings, and bracelets and chokers ... all at the flat price of one dollar ... reason ... Scheuer's specialize in diamonds, don't aim to make much money out of costume jewellery, but they buy the best dollar's work items we've seen around.—131 Yonge facing Temperance.

✣ ✣ ✣

LADIES LIKE LEISURELY shopping ... and that's why they like Evangeline Shopping ... there are stockings, gloves, lingerie, accessories, skirts, sweaters, suits, blouses ... all within a thirty seconds' walk between counters, and all in full fresh and various assortments. ... That's why an Evangeline shopping trip is a clear-thinking shopping trip where you can plan your work and work your plan ... and by the way today we saw one of the smartest collections of costume jewellery at the Evangeline's ... liked items in the new multi-coloured, simulated precious stone effect, with fine set pearls as background ... antique in effect, new in fashion-mood, and very charming with sportswear or dressy clothes.

✣ ✣ ✣

A SALE OF SUITS ... for 36.50 ... is now in progress at the F. J. Watt's Sportswear ... those are the ones you've looked at since early autumn and waited to possess ... the price was sale-levelled last week, and now's the day and hour to have a try-on. ... Imported fabrics, lovely tailoring, man-chosen for style, they're honeys at the price and designed especially for the gal with a career in mind, and an eye for the sort of suit that does the right things in the right places. Park Plaza corner.

(Advertisement)

OUR READERS WRITE

Vic-At-Home Dress

Editor, The Varsity:

Far be it from me to heap coals on the fires of dissension at Victoria College which have been kindled by the dispute over the Vic-At-Home, but I feel that someone should raise a voice for the minority. Since I shall attend neither the informal dance nor the At-Home, I consider myself merely an observer with the right to speak in the interests of fair play.

First let me point out that, whether he is aware of it or not, Mr. Kimber and his supporters have a slightly selfish attitude toward the question. The supporters of a formal affair are in the minority and any petition or plebiscite will certainly defeat their cause, but why must every dance at Vic be an affair to be attended by every Vic student? Surely those who support the informal dance will be content with the Vic Informal and let those who wish a formal (and there are enough of them to fill a dance hall) enjoy the formal Vic-At-Home.

As for the financial aspect, I am told that it would cost at least five dollars more for a couple to attend a formal affair. True, fees and costs in general are much higher than they used to be, but as far as I can see, a good many of my fellow Vic students spend five dollar bills quite freely on rugby weekends, etc. Surely the cost will not keep out many! A student in C. and F. informs me that a saving of fifty cents a week between now and Jan. 27 will finance a formal suit.

Perhaps it would be a good idea to have a private ball for Vic on the same night, but why not for Mr. Kimber and his friends?

M. L. Bell,

✣ ✣ ✣

New Organization

Editor, The Varsity:

The campus of this university is crawling with societies. Dozens of altruistic organizations are zealously working to promote the welfare of practically everybody. Politics, national unity, international relations, peace, communism, and discrimination against students who are being discriminated against . . . all these have organizations dedicated to their preservation or liquidation, or sometimes both. Every religion that the fertile brain of man could invent is well represented.

Now, just to test the degree of freedom of expression on the campus, we are forming an Atheists' Club. This is to be a non-discriminatory outfit; all men are welcome, no matter what church they are staying away from. Our policy is embodied in the following quotations from our patrons:

"For when a lady is badly sexed God knows what God is coming next."
—Ogden Nash.

"And so Man created two beings, Jehovah and Satan; yea, in his own image created he them."
—Clarence Day.

". . . But I was never deep in anything but wine."
—Omar Khayyam.

We propose to huddle together to keep our iconoclasm warm. Atheists of the world, Unite! Nobody gets nowhere these days without no union.

B. C. Stonehill,
N. A. Forbes,
III SPS.

RANKIE SPILCHOK of the Montreal All-Wets says — "I been passing balls for nigh on 25 years now, but I refuse to pass this SIGMA ALPHA MU ANNIVERSARY BALL on Nov. 26."

Art, Music & Drama

On The Side

A light, bright one-act play called "Utter Relaxation" took place last night at Wymilwood. It was a boudoir scene where a hampered husband (Gord Smith) sparked the air with cries of rest and peace, which a bevy of characters including his wife was reluctant to give.

Anne Ward played convincingly the wife, Joan Hanley the maid, Don Urquhart the partner, Janet Waite a friend, and Chuck Rea the phone repairman.

For its calibre the play moved fast, likely due to direction by Doug Davidson. Lines were fast as fire, the entire cast contributing to a highly humorous performance, in spite of no curtains, no lighting and no stage.

W. G.

COMING EVENTS

HILLEL

An Oneg Shabbat will be held on Friday, November 25, at 8:30 p.m at the B.B.Y.O. House, 492 Spadina Ave. All members of Hillel and IZFA are cordially invited and requested to bring their friends. A Social Hour and Refreshments will follow the program.

RCAF GEN

FOR AIR FORCES VETERANS

Undergrads, preferably but not necessarily ex-aircrew, taking App Sci, Architec, Hon Sci, M & P, Meds, Psych, Theology, or any other course in which your University training could be utilized by the RCAF next summer, may apply for up to 24 weeks summer employment in the field of your undergraduate courses at some RCAF unit. To be eligible, however, you must be a veteran of the RCAF, RAF or other Commonwealth Air Force, and in the class of '51 or '52 ('51, '52 or '53 in the case of Meds). Rank and pay for summer ranges from that of F/C to F/L.

COMPLETED APPLICATIONS TO BE HANDED IN TO THE RCAF ORDERLY ROOM, 119 ST. GEORGE ST. AS SOON AS POSSIBLE —AND IN ANY EVENT BEFORE NOON, SATURDAY, 26th NOV.

Why not drop into TEASDALL'S and see what you look like in a really fine suit. We have a good range of stock suits or made-to-measure samples to choose from.

$55.00 to $75.00

(Budget Terms Available)

Teasdall's CLOTHES SHOP

804 YONGE ST.
(Just north of Bloor)

DEC. 9 - 10 DENTANTICS HART HOUSE

Our Readers Write

Challenges Skule

Editor, The Varsity:

In connection with a recent letter from some boors at Skule, offering to send the Lady Godiva Memorial Band to the Victoria College At-Home, we would like to challenge the L.G.M.B. to a band contest to decide just how good they really are. They are hereby challenged by the "Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry and Regimental Parade Band" or as they are better known, THE BURWASH BOYS' BRIGADE, to a band contest to be played at the half-time of the Mulock Cup finals, assuming that by some fluke Skule are lucky enough to squeeze past St. Mike's. The bands are to be judged upon regalia, spirit, numbers present, and adherence to melody. The last mentioned is of minor importance.

The winning band, to be judged by impartial V.C.U. executives, will receive a gold trinket, and a blanket invitation to "THE SCARLET AND GOLD," Vic's sensational musical revue, tickets for which are now selling in Alumni Hall at $1.00 per reserved seat.

Yours for better music, we are

Drum-Maj.
Gen. Doug Thomas,
Sgt. in charge of combs,
Paul Break;
Sgt. in charge of tissue paper,
Kip Fleming.

VOX VARSITY

By JOHN LIVINGSTON

Page one of "Varsity Scrapbook" for Nov. 17 featuring the Scarlet Letter over CJRT-FM has marked the opening of the S.A.C. Radio Workshop.

All reports proved very favourable and so with that added incentive page 2 of "Varsity Scrapbook" for November 24 will be presented once again to-night at 7:30 p.m. over CJRT-FM broadcasting from the new FM station at Ryerson Institute. Page 2 of the Scrapbook is entitled "My Brother's Keeper" a rebroadcast of Mell Breen, prize winner of last year's S.A.C. Radio Script Writing contest. Mr. Breen is well known as the music critic of Saturday Night and a grad of this University

My Brother's Keeper was so well thought of as a story of university life that it was presented last year by the Vancouver Theatre of the Air. Production will be by John Howe of University College, ably assisted by Dan McCarthy of St. Mike's. With these two radio enthusiasts My Brother's Keeper will be another high light of CJRT-FM, 88.3 megacycles.

Enough of to-night, come Friday the Radio Workshop will be in high gear at 5 p.m. at the observatory on the campus. The observatory has been turned over to us (after five) for our workshop and with these facilities at hand we are well on our way. All the students who signed up for the Workshop a few weeks ago are urged to turn out. There will be casting for three shows, talks on production, acting, script writing and technique. The observatory will be a real radio roost and all who turn out will be promised some place on the many shows which will be aired weekly. If possible we plan to have a complete unit for each production, giving to the Varsity Scrapbook true Varsity variety.

Script writers don't forget your December 15 deadline for the script contest; see you next week in Vox Varsity.

Text Discounts

(Continued from Page 1)

ir outside bookstores on other books.

Don Wilson (Emmanuel) said that he thought book buying is a habit. "If a student buys books at the bookstore and finds that he can still survive financially, then he will buy more books. When he graduates, he will be buying in outside bookstores, and will contribute to their growth."

S. A. C. RADIO WORKSHOP

Thursday, 7.30 p.m. CJRT
Varsity Scrapbook Page 2 for November 27th feature presentation
My Brother's Keeper
By Mel Breene

Friday, 5 p.m. at the Campus
Observatory open meeting of S.A.C. Radio Workshop. All who are interested in announcing, writing, producing, script writing, please turn out.

Track Club Dance

All who participated in track this year
J.C.R. Saturday, November 26th, 8:30-12.00, $1.00
Dancing - Entertainment - Food

VIC V.C.F.
Week-of-Meetings
Tuesday 22 - Friday 25
REV. D. H. MacLENNAN
will speak on
"FREEDOM"
1:20 P.M. CHAPEL

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

'Nothing old, everything new, everything original, sometimes blue' just about sums up the dope I hope to disseminate through this most popular column this frosty, frozen Thursday.

Number one on the 'bouquets parade refers to a large rah, rah, pip, pip, three cheers and a tiger to the 200 odd gallants (male and female alike) who banded together to make Skule Nite 5TO the roaring success it most definitely was. Tops on the list are the handles of Brian Hooper, Jack Pulford, and Merv Couse. Sorry there is no room for all of the names to be publicly lauded, but sports are still my main angle.

To be blue for a while—I hope the two clods who did not turn up for that soccer tilt with Vic last week are quite proud of themselves. They should only live so long. In case you don't know, the team lost 1-0 with the playoff spot at stake. The gallant nine who did show up fought well in a losing cause, but the odds were too high. So held me, two yolts like that shouldn't get points or even a sweater after such a poor effort. T'wouldn't be cricket to mention their names, but if you ask around they can be easily discovered.

Something original, with Skule anyway, is our excellent Golf School which seems to be rapidly paddling itself up a proverbial creek. By that comprehensive statement I refer to the fact that you dear little shirkers are about to be sued for non-support again. This time I know all of your excuses: it's too near Christmas exams, it's too long a time till summer, I can't afford it!

I'm not going to try to disprove your claims, even though they are silly. Just remember you get four hours of excellent instruction, for $3.00, saving you $9.00 on the cost of the same lessons outside. You may pick a time, any weekday, 9-11 a.m., one hour of which is sure to suit you. There is a possibility of dividing this second term of lessons between before and after Christmas, to help you in your struggle against the powers that be.

To prove to you that I'm not merely trying to drum up business, go and find some chap who has taken the first term, and he'll testify to the value of the instruction. There are still openings for about 25 divoteers for lessons starting next Monday, so why not talk it over with the dull type sitting next to you right now, then toddle on down to the Stores and ask Barb, Jerry, or Marion to sign you up. You'll never regret it, s'help me.

Tough luck that the junior football squad couldn't knock off St. Mike's last week, but they really went down fighting. It was a hard game to loose for either side, as it proved to be one of the tightest tilts this campus has ever seen. Today, however the seniors have a chance to revive the honour of Skule as they take on the same Double Blue twelve in the semi-final go up at Varsity stadium at 3 p.m. It seems that my request for a large cheering section got results last week, so I'll repeat it today, and hope for the same results.

Remember, you can sit down up at the Stadium, and concentrate on cheering, instead of pushing the eager beaver ahead of you because he is blocking your view of the play, if you are patient enough, you can wait and be sure of a seat for the Grey Cup finals, 1950 version anyway.

Auf Wiedersehen,
BENNY.

• COMING EVENTS •

BADMINTON CLUB

There will be a meeting of the U. of T. Badminton Club featuring a Ladder Tournament, Friday evening from 8.00-10.00 in the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall. All players are cordially invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC - VCF

A Sunday Tea, Nov. 27th, at Wymilwood will conclude the Week-of-Meetings.

✣ ✣ ✣

WYMILWOOD CONCERT

Miss Dorothy Johnson, Toronto pianist, will give the Sunday evening recital at Wymilwood at 9 p.m. Included in her programme will be compositions by Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin.
All faculties are invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

UT LIBERAL CLUB

There will be a meeting of the UT Liberal Club on Thursday, Nov. 24, at 4 p.m. in Room 5, U.C., Jimmy Sinclair, Parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Finance, will be the speaker. Everyone welcome.

VARSITY RADIO

Tomorrow night, Varsity Radio presents "My Brother's Keeper" on station CJRT, 88.3 megacycles, F.M. Program time is 7.30. Script by Mel Breen; production by John Howe.

✣ ✣ ✣

RUSSIAN CIRCLE

There will be an important meeting on Thurs., Nov. 24, at the Women's Union at 8 p.m.

ATHLETES LIABLE

Vancouver, Nov. 23—(CUP)—U.B.C. athletes who don't go through the normal channels to obtain permission to play for outside teams are liable to a $5 fine, suspension from the Alma Mater Society, and a recommendation will be sent to the administration that they be suspended from the University.

Hockey Schedule — Week of November 28th

Mon.,	Nov. 28	12.30	Jr. SPS vs Jr. U.C.	McLoughlin, Robertson
		1.30	Sr. Vic vs Sr. SPS	McLoughlin, Robertson
		4.00	Jr. Vic vs Pre-Med	Allen, Hayes
		8.00	For. A vs Dent A	Gawinski, Wright
		9.00	Arch vs Inst. Mgt	Gawinski, Wright
Tues.,	29	1.30	Sr. U.C. vs Sr. Med	Carr, Hayes
		4.00	Trin Cvs Vic IV	Allen, Robertson
Wed.,	30	12.30	For. B vs SPS V
		1.30	U.C. IV vs St. M. B
		4.00	Emman vs Wyc
Thurs.,	Dec. 1	12.30	SPS III vs U.C. III
		1.30	SPS IV vs Med III
		4.00	Law vs Trin B
		8.00	Pharm vs Vic III
Fri.,	Dec. 2	12.30	SPS VII vs Dent B
		1.30	Sr. Med vs St. M. A
		4.00	Jr. SPS vs Jr. Vic
		6.30	Knox vs SPS VI

N.B.—See Monday's Varsity for further referees' assignments

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL PRACTICES — WEEK OF NOV. 28TH

Mon.,	Nov. 28	Lower	gym	4.00 - 5.00	U.C.
Tues.,	29	Lower	gym	1.00 - 2.00	Forestry
		"	"	4.00 - 5.00	Vic
		Upper	gym	7.00 - 8.00	Med
		"	"	8.00 - 9.00	SPS
Wed.,	30	Lower	gym	4.00 - 5.00	St. M.
		"	"	6.00 - 7.00	SPS
		Upper	gym	6.30 - 7.30	Med
		"	"	7.30 - 8.30	Trin
		"	"	8.30 - 9.30	Pharm
Thurs.,	Dec. 1	Lower	gym	1.00 - 2.00	SPS
		"	"	4.00 - 5.00	U.C.
		Upper	gym	7.00 - 8.00	U.C.
		"	"	8.00 - 9.30	St. M
Fri.,	Dec. 2	Lower	gym	4.00 - 5.00	Trin
		Upper	gym	1.00 - 2.00	Law
		"	"	4.00 - 5.00	Emman
Sat.,	3	Lower	gym	1.00 - 2.00	Dent
		Upper	gym	1.00 - 2.00	U.C.

VOLLEYBALL PLAYOFF SCHEDULE

GROUP PLAYOFFS (If necessary)

Thurs.,	Nov. 24	4.00	U.C. V	vs Knox	Kroll
Fri.,	Nov. 25	4.00	Law	vs Med II Yr	Fine
Sat.,	Nov. 26	1.00	SPS V	vs Vic III	Coh
Mon.,	Nov. 28	1.00	Music	vs Inst. Mgt	Cohl
Mon.,	Nov. 28	4.00	U.C. V	or Knox vs Emman	Kroll

PLAYOFFS:—

1. Tues.,	Nov. 29	1.00	SPS V (?)	vs U.C. VI	Cohl
2. Tues.,	Nov. 29	5.00	(U.C. III) (Trin A)	vs (Law) (Med II Yr)	Fine
3. Tues.,	Nov. 29	4.00	(Emm) (Knox)	(U.C.V.) vs Sr. U.C.	Kroll
4. Tues.,	Nov. 29	6.00	(Music) (Inst. Mgt)	vs Pre-Med	Fine
5. Thurs.,	Dec. 1	5.00	Med I Yr	vs Winner (1)	Cohl
6. Thurs.,	Dec. 1	6.00	Dent A	vs Winner (2)	Cohl
7. Thurs.,	Dec. 1	4.00	For. A	vs Winner (3)	Kroll
8. Thurs.,	Dec. 1	1.00	(U.C. III) (Trin A)	vs Winner (4)	Fine
9. Tues.,	Dec. 6	5.00	Winner (5)	vs Winner (6)
10. Tues.,	Dec. 6	1.00	Winner (7)	vs Winner (8)

FINAL — Thurs., Dec. 9th 5.00 p.m.

N.B.—Referee assignments for semi-finals and final will be made later.

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL — MULOCK CUP SEMI-FINAL		Stadium	3.00 p.m.	Sr. SPS vs St. M.
SOCCER PLAYOFF	North	3.00	Trin I vs Emman	Reed
SWIM LEAGUE FINAL		5.00	SPS I vs U.C.	Rosen, Maslen
VOLLEYBALL		1.00	Arch vs Vic III	Brown
		5.00	SPS VI vs Inst. Mgt	Edwards

RUGGER

The Annual Election Meeting of the English Rugby Club will be held on Friday, November 25th at 5 p.m. in the Debates Ante Room, Hart House.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 8171.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978

FOR SALE

Man's evening suit, tails, size 38; excellent condition. Reasonable. Phone MI. 9263.

TYPING

Want your theses, etc., typed fast and accurately? If so, call HA. 3461 after 6. Reasonable rates.

TYPIST

Thoroughly experienced, theses, manuscripts, etc. 15c per page. 20 lb. bond, 1 carbon, minor corrections free. HA. 0462.

TYPIST

Manuscripts, essays, theses, plays, etc. Call HUdson 4544.

FOR SALE

Tails, complete with shirt, vest, gloves, excellent condition, size 37. Phone MI. 6207.

FOR SALE

Tails, size 36; good condition—$25.00. Phone JU. 7383.

FOR SALE

Microscope Model Spencer, New 1949, Objective for Immersion 4mm, 16mm, 32mm. Ocular 5X, 10X. Call after 5:30 p.m., 155 Sumach St. AD. 8075.

LOST

One Scarlet & Golden night of entertainment. Didn't go to Alumni Hall soon enough for tickets to Vic's sensational "Scarlet & Gold" Review. Eaton Auditorium, Nov. 30, 1949.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable income. Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 3929.

WANTED

Will pay reasonable price for the following: "Constitution of Canada", "Statutes, Treatise and Proclamation of the Constitution of Canada" by W. P. Kennedy. Phone RA. 7263.

Sports Staff Drubs News In Hoopla Farce

Double Bill Faces Blues On Weekend

Under the watchful eye of their new coach Wally Halder, the Senior Blue hockey squad will travel to Montreal this weekend for the first two games in their Intercollegiate schedule.

The team leaves by train tonight, and the first game is against McGill Friday evening. Saturday night, the opponents will be the Carabins of the University of Montreal, league-leaders last season, and reputed to be an even stronger aggregation this winter.

From all reports the McGill squad will not be too tough a test for the Varsity stick-handlers. The Redmen have had trouble getting practice ice in the Forum because of the Ice Capades which are being held there, so are sadly in need of some real workouts.

Queens, the other team in the Intercollegiate loop has won its only exhibition game this season, and seems to have lots of material for a good squad this winter.

The Blues squad has many players still of Junior age on the roster this year, and they hope to build a team this year that will be able to stick together for several seasons. Bob Bazos is one of the newcomers who is hoped to add strength to the Blues.

Coach Halder will take along a full complement this trip in an effort to make the final decision just who will comprise the permanent squad. Two Intermediate regulars who are expected to make the grade but are not going along are Rich Howson, out temporarily with a broken hand, and Artie Bell, who has been out only since the football season drew to a close.

Back from last year's squad are Cec Turcott, Fry, Fox, Boyd, and Hayes. Digby, another last season man, is taking time out to get married this weekend so will not be along. Two goalies will make the trip and each play in one game.

The lineup for the games will be: Goalies — Orr, Carl. Defence — Adison, Hayes, McDougall, McKane. Forwards — 1. Turcott, Bazos, Frey. 2, Boyd, Walters, Vernon. 3, Holmes, Fox, Moore.

VARSITY SPORTS

Mikemen Face Sr. SPS In Second Installment Of Mulock Playdowns

The second instalment on this year's Mulock Cup semi-finals will be played today at three o'clock in the p.m. at Varsity stadium with Senior Skule and St. Michael's College lining up to vie for a spot in the finals. The Skulemen will be out to eliminate the same double blue squad which crowded their junior cousins out last week in a sudden death playoff for group two honors. The Seniors took the second position in group one by virtue of a big, strong line and a swift crew in the back pastures. The victor in this contest will face the red and gold grid warriors from Victoria for the coveted Mulock silver on next Tuesday.

The mikemen will be without the services of their ace quarter-back and captain, Tony Adams. Adams suffered a severe leg injury in the Jr. SPS game and will not start along with Roger Knollmeyer who also sustained a serious leg injury in the same contest. Knollmeyer is at present in St. Michael's Hospital receiving treatment for severed ligaments and will not see action again this year.

The SPS aggregation will feature triple threat quarter Paul Valenti whose potent boot has meant the difference in many of the Skule wins this year. Speedy Bob Adair, who sparked their backfield in group one games will also be on hand and secondary half Jack Jones, linemen Brent Rowe and Norm Firth are expected to be buiwarks on the defence.

St. Mike's will depend largely on the backfield ability of Bob McIntyre, Gerry Washington and Bill O'Heany and the stalwart line play of Bud Brennan, Jim Kite, Ed O'Keefe and D'Arcy Mulligan.

Lou Barnes, St. Mike's mentor and Ed Weaver, playing coach of SPS, have been working their boys through the freezing weather every day this week and figure to make it quite a contest.

'Hook' and 'Buckets' Assisted By Dainty Apply News' Blues

In what was laughably billed as a basketball game yesterday afternoon in Hart House the sports staff of The Varsity drubbed the inept news staff by the pitiful score of 36-6. The game was not as close as the score would indicate.

After a brief altercation midway in the first frame regarding the right of the aforementioned teams to monopolize the Hart House floor, the game proceeded without further interruption. 'Dainty' Dnieper for sports finally convinced the rabid throngs of spectators that he did have a permit. The weakness of the news staff was evident from the opening whistle and it is to be deplored that the promoters could not produce a more worthy competitor for the hot sports quintet.

However in spite of the obvious inferiority of the newsies the sportsmen condescended to go on with the contest which rapidly deteriorated into a sports shooting practice. The news team was considerably handicapped by the fact that their ace 6'6" centre, Stan Lee Phil More was out of action due to a sudden attack of water on the elbow. Yes, the attack was very sudden, in fact when informed that he was expected to play Stan slumped to the floor and dealt his left elbow a terrible blow on a cigarette butt that had been carelessly deposited there, by a negligent sports writer.

The sparkling sports attack was lead by "Hooks" Macdonald and "Buckets" Kennedy offensively, while 'Dainty' Dnieper, better known as "the Clutch" by his opponents, controlled the sports backboard. Macdonald lead the scoring for sports, hopping in 16 points. Closely following "Hooks" was "Buckets" with fifteen.

For the news staffmen, Muscles Moritsugu persistently threw up the ball but with little or no success. By the time that Muscles was through shooting he was not the only one who was throwing up. Wee Walt Mackenzie, gigantic centre for the newsies shared the joys of shooting at the backboard with about as much result as Moritsugu, Jolly Jack Gray also played.

A gross canard was started by some sorehead on the news staff when he accused the sportsmen of using ineligible players. Such was not the case, they won fair and square. After the game the Porter Cup was presented to the captain of the winners by J. Eddis, who gave an impromptu address on the merit of non-profit sport and only regretted that she was not allowed to play. It seems that there is some stuffy rule over at the House whereby females of the opposite sex are not allowed to use the locker rooms. Eddis could easily have gotten around this difficulty if she had sufficient spirit, but at the last moment she became rather squeamish and defaulted.

Medsmen, Vic Wil. UC Tops Trinity In Lacrosse Tilts

Meds I handed the St. Mike's "A" Lacrosse team their first loss of the season yesterday in one of the quarter finals at Hart House. Meds, led by Beaton and Hetherington batted home nine goals to St. Mike's seven. The win enables Meds to advance into the semi-finals where they will meet Vic on Friday. St. Mike's got off to a good start but faded in the second quarter and gave the Medsmen a lead which they never relinquished. Best for the losers was Pat Duffy with three goals. Mohr played his usual stellar hard-hitting game on the defence for Meds.

In the 4 p.m. boxla fixture Vis, the hottest team in the league rignt now, smashed down UC II by an 8-3 count. Davidson hurled home two goals as did Rush. Hastings and Ham also played well. Keegan with two and Stucky with one tallied for UC.

St. Mike's "B" team will go a little farther than the "A" entry as they edged UC III 8-6 they will take on UC I in the semi-finals next Monday. McBride, Mahoney and Robertson all scored twice Sabadasz and McRae adding singles.

In the nightcap encounter UC I had to go all out to down Trinity 7-5. After taking a 4-0 lead in the first half, the Redmen were almost overtaken by the fighting Trinities who narrowed the score to 5-4 at one point late in the game. However a couple of penalties to Trinity put out their scoring fire and UC went ahead and stayed there.

Semi-finals are Friday and Monday with the best of three finals starting next Wednesday.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

Idea for Rich Man: The Intermediate Soccer squad, as we all know, won the Intercollegiate Intermediate Championship this year, as they have for several years past. They went through the season with only one goal being scored against them, and that goal was scored on a penalty shot. As a matter of fact, we were at the game in which the goal came, and both linesmen claimed the ball did not go in. But the referee (standing in the opposite end of the field) ruled it good. A team with a record like that should, we think, have a cup for which to expend their expert energies. Now wouldn't it be a swell idea if one of you pillars of the community slipped a buck or two to Birks for an intermediate soccer cup?

From the C.U.P. shelf: Mr. Victor Obeck, described by "The Carleton" as "the manager of the McGill football team," has submitted a bill to the Carleton Students' Council for $75.00 to cover damage done by Carleton students to the Molson Stadium goal posts after the Carleton-McGill Intermediate game. Must be McGill is feeling the pinch of inflation. Wonder how much Varsity could collect from Queen's and McGill? Nothing from Western, of course, since they never got close enough to the posts to do any damage.

Interesting heads on two issues of the Boston University News: TERRIERS FACE BIG TEST . . . TERRIERS TAKE FIRST LOSS . . . so Varsity are not the only ones that sometimes lose big tests.

Speaking of big tests, the Varsity senior hockey team takes a little jaunt down to Morryal for the season openers this week-end. They play McGill and the U of M on two successive nights, and two wins would give them a nice lead in the cup race. We don't know how they'll stack up against the Loan Rangers or les Bleus-et Ors, but Wally Halder is nobody's fool when it comes to hockey, and we expect the Blues to make their presence felt.

Varsity's Junior B (OHA) entry opened their season Tuesday, and lost to Marlboros. The Marlies took the championship last year, and are a very strong club. Varsity came close last season, winning top place in the standings, but lost out in the playoffs. Exam time, you know. The league as a whole looks like it has improved greatly this season, and the club that takes the marbles will have to hustle. And with some of the players moving up to the Blues, it is doubtful whether our boys will trample the opposition. Now they'll probably turn around and win, just to keep our record for predictions intact. Jack Life's Intermediate hockeyists show their wares on the fifth, playing the Varsity Grads. Varsity Arena, eight chimes.

Point well taken We have received a letter from a Western student (not a Calgary Stampeder; a UWO man) who censures the University of Toronto students for singing "Old Toronto" at the Western-McGill game rather than cheering for Western. And he writes it in all seriousness, too; so don't forget, next time Western is playing, shout for Western.

on the sideline

By CONN SPARROW

Tra-a-a-ack!

And doesn't every skier know the meaning and sometimes urgency of this vital word, which (we hope) will soon be heard throughout the land.

With the promise of snow just around the corner, boots and boards are being hauled out of storage and clothes taken from their resting place in moth balls.

But what about skiing? Remember the fun you had last winter on one or two of those week-ends when there was actually enough snow to cover the mud and grass? Maybe you managed to get to the Laurentians for one of those trips you'll never forget or perhaps you tasted your first bit of competitive skiing in the intramural meet.

There's always lots to talk about and plenty to do when it comes to skiing for women. Nylon jackets, new types of hats, Norwegian skiis, reservations and trips, ski tows, snow plow, sitzmarks and turning, slalom and downhill events are a few of the many things that add up to make this sport just what it is — wonderful!

At least that is what we think it is and we're sure a lot of men in the little red skule house will back us up on this statement. However we need some support from the female side of the fence.

Right now the most important item is the Women's Intercollegiate Ski Team. Already invitations have come from McGill and St. Lawrence to compete in their winter carnivals.

All we need is a team to be sent out, proudly displaying U of T crests on their left sleeves. Actually this is a sad story — last year there were four, now there is one — so we are on the hunt for racers to fill up those three holes.

Anybody who is interested in this phase of skiing should stop, look and listen, because there is to be a meeting today at 5 o'clock in the Women's SAC office for all those who would like to try out for the team.

You might think you haven't a chance, but nobody will know until after the practice races in January and it's well worth the try, believe us.

Sportswoman

Quarter-final basketball games begin to-night in Hart House. The first one is at 7.30 between OT and UC Freshies, while the second sees Meds take on PHE II.

In a basketball game Tuesday night to decide the winner of League V, UC Fr. outplayed and outscored PHE I, downing them 18-14.

Also Meds and Nurses vied for the top notcher of their league. With a score of 32-28 Meds copped the honours in a game that was hard-fought and well-matched through the whole four quarters. Nurses led in the first quarter but the doctors came from behind in the second and kept the lead.

The Intercollegiate Swimming Team has been decided with Mary Harrington, PHE, Phyl Manning, Trin, Sheila Lennox, Vic, and Pee Rowntree, PHE, looking after free style. Others are Zaira Murray, UC, Pam Perrin, Vic, Charlotte Chisolm, Trin, and Rosemary MacDonald, Meds.

WUA Approves

(Continued from Page 1)

WUA decision. All women are emphatically urged to attend.

It was also passed that the UC Arts Ball would be semi-formal.

Miss Ruth Wells and Miss June Denis were the first speakers in a series discussing vocations for women.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Snow and Sleet

VOL. LXIX NO. 46 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Friday, November 25, 1949

Leg Work

George McGowan, co-director of the Scarlet and Gold, Vic's musical review, is caught in a serious moment examining one of the props, namely one of Betsy McLaren's legs. Looking on from the left is Lois White, and on the right is Betty Bassingthwaighte. The girls are three of 25 co-eds who are members of the show's shorus. It is not probable that all the director's work is as easy as the "job" he is shown doing. The two-act review is only going to be put on for one night: Wednesday, November 30.

Cut Railway Fares For Forty Students On Montreal Trip

Students going to Montreal on the Carabin Weekend slated for Dec. 9, 10 and 11 will have to pay only eight dollars for railway fare, rather than the regular price of $12, President Tom Symons of the University of Toronto NFCUS Committee pointed out at the Committee's meeting in Trinity Board Room yesterday.

The saving on fares has been made possible by a $160 grant passed by SAC Wednesday night to lessen expenses for students going on the Weekend.

Don McKellar, NFCUS representative on the joint NFCUS-ISS committee handling the Weekend, reported 50 students have applied to take part in the trip. Decisions as to who will be chosen to go are being made by a committee of Hart House: Warden Ignatieff, SAC Secretary-Treasurer E. A. Macdonald and C. T. Bissel, Assistant to President Smith.

To Choose 40

The selection committee will choose 40 students. Toronto NFCUS President Tom Symons said the aim is to select a representative group of students interested in extra-curricular activities and willing to help arrange entertainment for University of Montreal students when they visit Toronto in the reciprocal Carabin Weekend sponsored here.

Don McKellar said entertainment planned in Montreal will probably include a civic reception by Mayor Camilien Houde, tours of the university and the city and a reception by the president of the university.

Last Day

Today is the last day for entering applications, which may be obtained in the SAC offices in Hart House and the basement of University College.

At the meeting yesterday President Symons also announced plans are being made in McMaster University for an Ontario university music festival during the school year of 1950 to 1951, although hopes that one could be arranged for this year have had to be abandoned.

Joanne McWilliam, St. Mike's representative on the Committee, announced she has received official NFCUS application forms for students wanting to take part in the NFCUS-run plan of student exchanges between Canadian universities.

Tales Of Arctic Explorers' Theme Very Few Igloos

The first fall of snow for this season was well timed as illustration of two talks given last night before the Exploration Society.

The speakers, Ralph Gwatkin, IV Biology and Andrew Lawrie, Graduate Studies, reported on field trips to the Arctic during surveys on the Caribou and the breeding of mosquitoes.

Gwatkin's talk centred on his summer in the Baker Lake district where he was engaged in the study of the hatching of those familiar pests the mosquito. He had colored slides to illustrate his talk.

Andy Lawrie, a graduate in Biology, was north studying the conditions amongst the Caribou population of the South Keewatin area. There had been reports that they were dying out, and their economic value made the survey necessary to the survival of the Eskimos in the region.

Mr. Lawrie was careful to point out that he made the count in larger figures than the traditional system. The herds he met were numbered in the tens of thousands, and had to be studied in respect to their age and sex as well as number.

The Eskimos met by Mr. Lawrie were not the type met in the popular fiction of the area. Only one in forty-five knew how to make an igloo—mostly on account of the scarcity of snow in that particular area, and partly because most Eskimos are much too civilized to fit in with our modern concept of stupid and illiterate aborigines. Far from backward, Mr. Lawrie found them quick and eager.

Mr. Lawrie spent seventeen months in the region, and came to know wide ranges of temperature. The high was 126° in the middle of August, but once he spent a night when it was closer to 50 below. These extremes make the furlined parka a necessity.

The pictures shown by Mr. Lawrie were mostly of the barren wastes, with few trees to be seen, and these were of the dwarf variety.

The informal discussion was aided by the introduction of a real Caaribou-hide parka, complete with B. O.

Scarlet and Gold Swamped By Beer Party Atmosphere

Take out your telescopes, fellows, because there are some really lovely women in the Vic "Scarlet and Gold Revue." They have managed to get 25 curvaceous co-eds to display their shapes in what should be one of the best chorus lines seen around these parts in quite some time.

New Atmosphere at Vic

To really add interest the Vic people are even going way into the smoky rooms and beer party territory to put on a production number of the "Persian Kitten." It is the story of the Persian kitten so perfumed and fair who has led a sheltered life. This kitten gains experience in a trip down the primrose path with a travelling cat. Later on her eight kittens tell the inquiring people that their daddy was a travelling, scratching man.

De Woiks

The song is ideal for a production number and is being given the full treatment. There will be eight dancing kittens and a tom cat plus a singing chorus, with Bob Cringan's orchestra.

At last night's rehearsal, most impressive was the professional quality of the original music written for this show. The music is actually of the kind that you can hum to yourself without straining a tonsil to stay with the melody. The vocalists are also half decent—which really helps in a show like this which is mostly music. Any local members of the Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartets will be pleased to learn that there is a quartet in the show that can sing in that good old harmony.

. . . Tail and Trouble

Putting on a revue, as any producer or any chorus girl knows, means a lot of hard work. Rehearsals can go on into the wee hours of the morning; tempers can become short. Directors and leading ladies have been known to have hysterics. So hats off to the chorines who sweat their way around hardwood floors kicking their toes as high as their shouders. Judging from the smiles being directed these days at blank walls, we'd say the audience is in for a grand experience when the Vic show hits the Eaton Auditorium stage next week.

SMC Residence Badly Damaged By Acid Bombs

Two tetrachloride acid bombs were let off in the senior residence at St. Mike's at 2 a.m. a week ago last Wednesday morning. These bombs have done extensive damage to the walls and floor of More House, and Dave Quigley, president of the St. Mike's SAC, stated that he estimates that it will cost about $400 dollars to replace the damaged terrazzo floor.

The chlorine smell from the bombs awoke the students and drove them from the house. After affects were also evident. The students and professors suffered raw throats and coughing head-aches, and one faculty member was unable to lecture the next day.

Dave Quigley announced that as yet the vandals have not been marked down, but action is being taken to trace them down. He stresses, that the bomb's damage is serious, but that the damage and discomfort which it caused the students should also be given attention.

Revive Square Dancing At Mountaineers' Show

Vancouver — (CUP) — The revival of old time square dancing was illustrated at UBC a few weeks ago when a group of campus square-dance enthusiasts were entertained by the colorful exhibition of Lloyd Shaw and his Cheyenne Mountain Dancers.

Now Rule Roost Coeds Boast At UBC

Vancouver, (CUP),Nov. 25 — UBC's campus activities are in danger of being taken over by women.

While women in the outside world continue to make learned statements about sexual inequality, UBC co-eds are steadfastly refusing to admit any inequality whatever.

Five members of the student council—almost half of the total—are now women. Two of the five hold positions never before held by women—President of the Literary Society and Sophomore member.

Way Of The World

Universal Geometry

By IVAN ARON

The newspapers may claim the universe is in terrible shape, but Dr. Leopold Infeld of the Applied Mathematics Dept. finds its possible shape not only good, but very interesting, it would appear from a talk delivered in the McLennan Laboratory of Physics yesterday afternoon.

Universe Shapeless

To the laymen, the universe may not seem to have any particular shape, but mathematically it appears that there are quite a lot of forms for this old Universe of ours, and there are very definite conditions for a shape to fulfill if it is to be a 'possible' one.

The problem Dr. Infeld discussed is briefly this:

Astronomers have found that the gigantic spiral nebulae which are revealed by large telescopes, are rushing away from the earth and from each other at speeds running into thousands of miles per second. The farther the nebulae are, the faster they go. Scientists are led, by certain conclusions of Einstein's theory, to require a uniform universe. This means that not only should we, living in our own spiral nebula, observe other nebulae running away with speeds that are related to their distances by a definite law, but that observers on any other nebula should see the rest of the universe rushing away under exactly the same laws. A shape for the universe is considered a possible shape only if it fits this uniformity criterion.

Next, What Is Shape?

How do you describe a shape? Dr. Infeld does it by stating how a distance is measured in the universe in question. May seem round about, but it's really quite simple. Take a flat space, like a piece of paper for instance.

To find the distance between a point and another one three inches east and four inches north of it, just use Pythagoras' rule from High School Geometry. The square on the hypotenuse is the sum of the squares on the other two sides and the answer is five inches. Try it out on the earth's surface, however, and it doesn't work. The distances east and north from Toronto to Edinburgh don't add up that way. If we knew the law for adding them to get the straight line distance, we could deduce that the earth is a sphere if we didn't know it already. Dr. Infeld writes down an equation for distance, including 'distances' in time which serves as a fourth dimension and presto, that defines a universe.

Take Your Choice

It turns out that there are three basic distance formulae which fit the uniformity requirement. Each of these formulae contains a multiplying factor which can take a number of values, so there are really three groups.

The first type Dr. Infeld finds "boring" and did not discuss. The other two types are more interesting, one kind being 'open', the other 'closed.' In the open type you can go as far as you want in any dir-

(Continued on Page 6)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T0
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A

NIGHT EDITOR: Pat Quinn

ASSISTANTS: Rose Marie La Palme, Don Stevenson, Jim Simpson

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1949

Education In Democracy

The following editorial is reprinted from the Tuesda November 8, issue of "The Ubyssey", the undergraduat newspaper at the University of British Columbia.

The overwhelming vote in favor of continuing our inte national student scholarship should be a source of pride t all of us.

We have shown that we value humanitarianism mo than the dollar. We have shown that we have not forgotte the Europe shattered in defense of freedom. We have show that we have enough faith in our democracy to make i benefits felt abroad as well as at home.

But there are a lot of questions yet to be answered.

The original "Belkov-Greer Education in Democra Plan" was vetoed by the Department of External Affai which refused to permit the entry of German nationals t Canada. It will be some time before that ruling will b reversed.

Meanwhile students we want to bring to UBC are, mo sensibly, that sort of student who will do the most good fostering international goodwill.

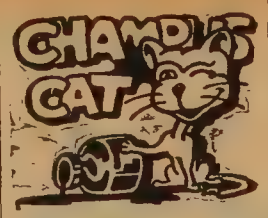
The question at the moment is whether the scheme i to be purely relief work, in which case we can bring dis placed persons without regard to the possibility of thei returning home, or whether we want students who can return to their native lands to foster democracy and spread international goodwill. In the event that we decide upo the latter, our choice will be much more restricted.

International Student Service remains undecided on th issue.

The Ubyssey is inclined to feel that greater good would be achieved, in the long run, were we to attempt to get students who can, after the completion of their education return home.

It is our contention that the influence of these students on mankind would be greatly increased were they to return to their homes. They could be of material help in keeping the wheels of European-democracy running smoothly and, with their understanding of North America they could assist in strengthening international ties.

The Few Who Serve



There are twelve people who consistently contribute to the publishing of this paper. There are 14,000 who criticize the efforts of these contributors.

Daily we receive criticisms from every source on many counts: lack of news coverage, unfair distribution of advance copy, and the poor writing in general of campus events. These critics are often the very culprits. There are 14,000 "missing, not in action" who contribute nothing to the operation of The Varsity, but deride the efforts of the workers.

They have every right, as students of the University, to criticize The Varsity, their undergraduate daily. But they forgot the duty which this right implies.

Student functions are not spontaneous, but the result of concerted, hard work. It is the regular efforts of a few which make possible this publication daily. Every issue represents some 60 to 70 hours of donated time.

This contribution is not begrudged. On the contrary, we are proud of it. But the right to criticize is merited by these few alone, who fulfill the duty of contributing.

Two Heads Are Better Than One

Dear Editor,

I'd like to bring something to your attention.

The other day I saw my friend Igor Beaver, free lance Espionage Agent, who is offering a special discount this week on Alouette football plays. Igor stood talking to a student on the campus.

Now this student was exactly like all other students, except in one respect, or maybe it should be two respects . . . anyway he had two heads. I carefully smelled my own breath, felt my pulse and listened to my heart. I was neither drunk nor sunstruck, so I walked over and was introduced to Tom-and-Jerry McGurgledorf, a man who is two of the most unusual people I have ever met.

As I walked up I overheard Tom-and-Jerry say, "And if I am elected we will exert every effort to make this the most successful year the club has ever had."

After introductions Igor explained, "Tom-and-Jerry were just trying out his campaign speech. He is running for the executive of their political club". Naturally I was curious as to what party a two headed man would support. As you might expect, Tom-and-Jerry made his unanimous choice the Progressive-Conservative Club. Tom, being the head on the left, is the Progressive.

They are running for the post of Secretary-Treasurer. He feels he is especially fitted for the job as he is the only people on campus who can keep an eye on the members and an eye on the executive and still watch where he is going.

Tom-and-Jerry attend UC and Vic respectively. They had a lot of trouble with time-table conflicts last fall, and so they have decided they will both transfer to Vic. next year. "It's the only solution," he says, "since the United States won't let us cross the border to go to Washington-and-Lee. They don't mind Jerry, but Tom has red hair. Attending two sets of lectures is producing a split personality, and I can't let that happen to us."

Well Mr. Editor, here's the problem: Tom-and-Jerry want to work on The Varsity. He feels that The Varsity is one place where a level-headed fellow won't attract notice. He's right of course, but what can we do? He has only two heads, so he won't be of any use to the Art, Music and Drama staff, and I don't think he'll fit in very well with the other departments.

Oh, well, it's your problem, and now that I've warned you, you may have a solution.

Yours sincerely,
Themistocles

Art, Music and Drama

(Continued from Page 5)

Society at their monthly meeting.

From the calibre of the play I feel that short student efforts such as this merit mention, if not a review. I therefore invite other college societies engaged in similar activities, if they wish mention here, to notify this department in advance and we will endeavour to review their work.

Readers Write

(Continued from Page 4)

a date for the Vic Informal. His peculiar organic make-up is such that he can accommodate any idiosyncrasies or biological disturbances in his partner.

Now, Mr. Editor, this is our problem: Can Mr. Kurisko arrange to meet one of these strange girls in time for the dance? Any way in which you might help Mr. Kurisko, or enlighten us, the undersigned empiricists, would be appreciated.

Doug Thomas,
Gos Guest,
Harry Green,
IV Poli. Sci. & Ec.

● COMING EVENTS ●

WYMILWOOD

Miss Dorothy Johnson, Toronto pianist, will give the Sunday evening recital at Wymilwood at 9 p.m. Included in her programme will be compositions by Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin. All faculties are invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE RECITALS

An informal recital will be held in the Great Hall, Hart House, Sunday at 3.15 p.m. The artists will be duo-pianists John Beckwith and Ray Dudley.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE GLEE CLUB

The Hart House Glee Club will present a concert in Convocation Hall at 5 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 28. Admission free.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL

The Student Seminar in Jewish History will meet at 8.30 p.m. on Sunday, November 27, at 118 Spadina Rd. Jerry Chertkow will speak on "The Rise and Development of the Jewish Community in Spain".

✣ ✣ ✣

MEDICAL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

There will be a Missionary Tea, this Sunday, Nov. 27, in the China Inland Mission, 150 St. George St., at 4 p.m. Mr. A. Weir, IV Meds, will show Kodachromes of Baffinland and Labrador. The speaker will be the Rev. Maurice Flint, whose subject will be "What Constitutes a Missionary Call?"

✣ ✣ ✣

FILM SOCIETY

The U. of T. Film Society is holding its fourth meeting this Sunday afternoon at 2.15 p.m. in the Museum Theatre. Please note special time. Program: The City, Italian Straw Hat (Rene Clair.)

✣ ✣ ✣

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB

A regular membership meeting of the Ukrainian Students' Club will be held Tues., Nov. 29, 8 p.m., in Room 4, University College Building.

✣ ✣ ✣

SOPH-FROSH ROUND-TABLE

"Abolish Christmas?" will be the subject for discussion at the S.C.M. group, Monday, at 4 p.m. in Vic. Room 21. All interested are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

KNOX COLLEGE CAROL SERVICE

Members of the Presbyterian Fellowship are invited to attend the annual Knox Carol Service to be held in the chapel on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. The speaker will be Rev. Principal W. W. Bryden, M.A., D.D.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

SALVATION ARMY STUDENTS

All S.A. students are urged to be present at the regular meeting of the Association today at 1.00 p.m. in Room 64, UC basement.

✣ ✣ ✣

TRINITY S.C.M.

Rev. Father Brain will speak on Christian Evangelism today at 1.30 in the Trinity Board Room. This talk is being sponsored by the commission on Evangelism.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL

An Oneg Shabbat will be held this evening at 8.30 p.m. at the B.B.Y.O. House, 492 Spadina Ave. All members of Hillel and IZFA are cordially invited and are requested to bring their friends. A Social Hour and Refreshments will follow the programme.

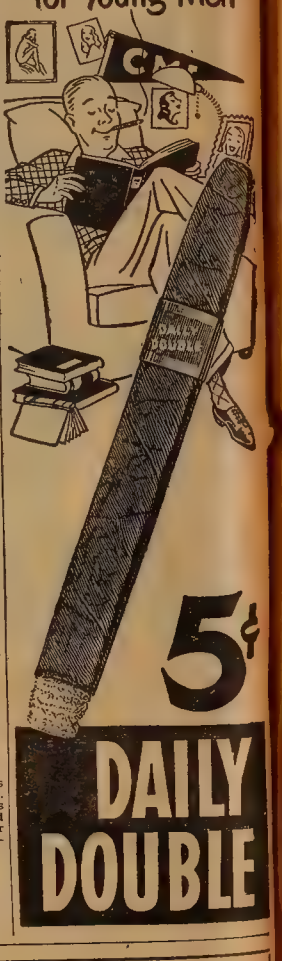
✣ ✣ ✣

U.T. BADMINTON CLUB

Come and play badminton with the U. of T. Badminton Club tonight from 8 until 10 at the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall. A ladder tournament will be conducted All players are cordially invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD MUSICALE



A recital of Modern Piano Music by Albeniz, Copland, Balakirev, Griffes, Stravinsky, Ravel, Prokofieff and Poulenc will be held today at 4.30 in the Mechanical Building.

✣ ✣ ✣

UC RECORD HOUR

A program of modern music will be given by Keith Rowe in the Women's Union at 4.30. Bela Bartok is the composer.

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢ DAILY DOUBLE

S. A. C. BULLETIN

RADIO WORKSHOP—Friday, 5 p.m. at the Observatory, Open Meeting of S.A.C. Radio Workshop. All who are interested in announcing, writing, producing, script writing, please turn out.

U OF T FILM SOCIETY—Fourth meeting Sunday afternoon, Museum Theatre at 2.15 p.m. Please note special time. Programme "The City" and "Italian Straw Hat" (Rene Claire).

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA—Rehearsal Sunday, 8 p.m., Convocation Hall.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG

There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 this afternoon.

VISITORS' DAY

Next Sunday, 27th November, will be Visitors' Sunday, when members may introduce their friends between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL

Ray Dudley and John Beckwith, pianists, will give a programme of music for piano four-hands, in the Great Hall at 3.15 p.m Sunday, 27th November. Members and their guests, including ladies, are invited.

GLEE CLUB

There will be a full rehearsal of the Glee Club in the Music Room tonight at 5.00 p.m.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The Hart House Glee Club is giving a concert in Convocation Hall at 5.00 p.m. on Monday, 28th November. An invitation is extended to everyone. Admision is free.

TUESDAY MID-DAY RECITAL

The fourth of the Tuesday informal recitals will be given on Tuesday, 29th November, in the East Common Room at 1.20 p.m. by Keith Girard, flautist, II Music.

CAMERA CLUB

Members of the club are invited to attend the illustrated lecture, "Colour Made Easy" to be held in the club room on Thursday, 1st December, at 7.00 p.m.

THE VARSITY

Friday, November 25, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

All Together Now

Seen above is the Hart House Glee Club in rehearsal. Under the direction of Dr. Charles Peaker, of the Royal Conservatory of Music, the Glee Club will present about ten concerts during the coming season. First of these concerts will be presented in Convocation Hall on Monday, Nov. 28 at 5 p.m. The club is a non-profit organization asking no charge for its concerts.

Old Graduates Still Sing In Hart House Glee Club

The Hart House Glee Club will open its 1949-50 season with a concert in Convocation Hall, Mon., Nov. 28, at 5 p.m. The program includes arrangements of choral music by Bach, Healey Willan, Vaughan Williams, Dr. Peaker.

The Glee Club was formed in 1933 and had 15 members. Throughout the years it has grown until today it has well over one hundred members. In the first year of existence the Glee Club presented only one concert. This year it will present about ten concerts, some on campus and some outside.

Forbidden To Use Name

At its inception the Glee Club was forbidden to use the name Hart House Glee Club and was called the University Glee Club until 1935. The Glee Club is composed of members of Hart House — most of the members being undergraduates. The club is a non-profit organization which does not charge for its concerts.

The members are in the Glee Club solely because of the love of music and ability to sing. One member, Dr. Grant, OT9, has been with the group since 1935. Many graduates have been in the club for years after their graduation.

Plan Outside Concerts

This year the Hart House Glee Club is under the direction of Dr. Charles Peaker, a senior organ teacher at the Royal Conservatory of Music. Dr. Peaker joined the club in the fall of 1934 as conductor of the group. He still holds this position. He is organist and choirmaster at St. Paul's Church, Bloor St. E. Previous to this, he was organist and choirmaster at Rosedale United Church.

The club attempts to have one concert held outside Toronto each year. Due to difficulties of financial expenses of the club, few of these have taken place in recent years. The club had made tentative plans to journey to Hamilton this year but as only a few members were asked to go, the club decided not to travel. They have made it a rule not to send any portion of the club to concerts which could not accommodate the entire club.

Theology Aid For Mind, Says Buley

"We must have a sound theology to meet the problems of our generation," said Rev. B. G. Buley rector of Trinity Church, Port Credit, speaking on the "Student and Mental Health" yesterday afternoon in Hart House.

Stresses Home

"The foundation of good mental health is found in the home itself," he declared, "Children find their security in the love parents have for each other. The Christian conception of marriage is very important, for if one of the couple has ceased to love the other it affects the child."

The example he gave to prove this statement was his personal experience with a boy who became emotionally upset when his parents ordered twin beds. The twin beds had symbolized a loss of parental love in the eyes of the boy.

Decries Rigidity

"Parents must not fit their children into rigid patterns," Mr. Buley said. "The result is either the child rebels or accepts it and cannot make adjustments to a changing world. These rigid patterns are the cause of many emotional upsets."

"There are many elements of bad mental health which are often caused by bad theological thinking," he continued. "On the one hand there is the depravity of man, the sin who hates himself and the man who tries to obtain perfect goal which he hasn't the ability to reach. For fears there is the therapy of creative love. Put man to work and you have the source of creative outlets.

Would Face Challenges

"When you escape you run away from life's challenge and deal with it.

(Continued on Page 6)

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photograpny work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

McGill Debaters Win At Vermont, Learn Pointers

Montreal, Nov. 21 —(CUP)— McGill's debating team came through with flying colors at the Debating Conference at the University of Vermont last weeknd.

Fourteen Out Of Twenty-Four

Participating with 41 other American and Canadian colleges the McGill Debaters chalked up 14 wins out of 24 debates, thus placing well up among the leading teams. This accomplishment was all the more noteworthy, a faculty spokesman said, since most U. S. colleges have debating departments with a professional staff to train their debating teams.

In addition, the topic of the conference: Resolved that the United States should nationalize basic non-agricultural industries, was a national topic that was debated for a year at all the participating American colleges.

Women Better Talkers

The 12 members of the debating team were divided into six pairs: four men and two women. These were in turn halves, with one taking the affirmative on the topic, the other the negative. A breakdown of the 14 victories in terms of pairs shows the men's teams on the affirmative took four out of eight debates, the negative five out of eight.

The women's pair on the affirmative took two out of four contests while the negative won three out of four. Noting that most of McGill's wins were made mostly on the negative column, the side considered more difficult, the conference judges were very liberal in their praise for the team's achievements, it was said.

The chief aim of the Vermont Conference was to improve debating techniques. In this respect, the McGillers profited immensely. Working under considerable pressure to reach the same level of preparation and knowledge as the other colleges, McGill picked up all the pointers it could to improve its techniques and style, according to the advisors who accompanied the

UBC Botanical Gardens May Permit Courses In Outdoor Subjects

Vancouver — (CUP) — Botany and Horticulture courses may literally blossom forth at UBC. The possibility of an extensive Botanical Garden on or near the campus is being considered by the university officials.

Dr. T. Taylor, UBC botanist stated that the mild coastal climate of lower B.C. is ideal for many varieties of plant life and more varieties bloom there all year round than anywhere else in Canada.

If the Botanical garden becomes a reality, outdoor courses will be held in such subjects as Landscape Architecture, Floriculture, Silviculture, Tree and Plant Breeding, Ecology and Entomology.

Government's Aim Planned Economy, Says Liberal Head

A new trend in parliamentary legislation towards planned development of Canada's resources and industrial possibilities was stressed by Jimmy Sinclair, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Abbot, in an address to the University Liberal Club yesterday afternoon in U.C.

Attacks Socialism

What the socialists forget in trying to bring security to everyone is the complementary necessity for a healthy expanding economy, he said. Liberalism could bring security by providing employment to all, and this was the aim of Canada's present government.

Mr. Sinclair was a Rhodes scholar, and studied at Oxford and Princeton after graduating from a Canadian university. He is now M.P. for Vancouver North.

Sinclair characterized the trends of the last two parliaments as first, prosecution of the war, and then a drive for security and re-establishment of veterans and civilian war workers in peacetime life. Social security legislation made up 33% of all legislation in the last parliament, he noted.

Reviewing the work done so far by the present parliament, such as abolition of appeals to the Privy Council, and plans for amendment of the constitution without resort to England, Sinclair said the important work of the government will be its successful development of Canada's domestic and foreign possibilities.

Would Aid C. N. R.

That meant expansion of trade, a Trans-Canada highway which Sinclair called essential for Canadian unity and inter-provincial trade, elimination of the great debt burden on the C. N. R., and development of resources. He said development of resources involves helps to mining, improvements in irrigation methods, conservation and encouragement of forestation, and aids to efficient transportation of fish to distant markets.

Such expansion of industry and resources will answer the problems of unemployment, said Sinclair. "The last two wars showed us that economic freedom cannot be won at the expense of political freedom," he declared. Liberalism can give Canada both."

Need Youth

Sinclair spoke of the work that youth can do in young political organizations. He especially emphasized that the Liberal party needs youth. Liberalism was a philosophy constantly seeking to reinterpret the country's changing needs so as to best provide the "maximum happiness for the individual." Youth can help to give a progressive interpretation to the Liberal programme, he said.

Students' Union Newest Addition For Acadia U.

Wolfville, N.S., Nov. 24 —(CUP)— The Students' Union Building at Acadia University, Nova Scotia, was opened at a ceremony on Nov. 10. George Cosman, President of the Student's Union was master of ceremonies, and the speakers at the ceremony wre President Watson Kirkconnell, representing the Administration, Dr. Malcolm R. Elliott, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the university, and Ray Standefer, newly appointed General Manager of the building.

The highlight of the evening was an "Open House" period for staff and students.

Efforts were made to have Harrison McCain of the class of '49, chairman of the committee which handled the purchasing of equipment for the Union, to officiate at the ribbon cutting part of the ceremony. Unfortunately, McCain, who was one of the most enthusiastic workers on the Union project when it was resumed in the year 48-49, after a lapse of thirteen years, was unable to be present at the opening.

Architects' Red Berets Fool Varsity Students

An alert Varsity reporter noticed a great increase in the number of red berets being worn around the south end of the campus. Remembering the Communist menace he checked to find out what group was on the rampage. It is the maroon and grey.

All right so who is the maroon and grey? It is the architects. All first year are sporting these red (pardon — maroon) hats for the same reason that the Skulemen wear their green ties.

The only problem now is how to tell the gray and maroon architects from the gray and maroon McMaster students? Possibly it is a Communist red herring done deliberately to confuse the loyal Blue and White students during the retail book discussions.

Trouble?

Looks as though Frances Halpenny (right) isn't going to respond to the entreaties of Margaret Bronson and Larry Heisey. The indignant lady and her two friends are members of the cast of the Robertson Davies play "FORTUNE MY FOE" opening tomorrow at Hart House.

Our Readers Write

Protests Vandalism

Editor, The Varsity:

Regarding the destruction of the "Skule Nite" marquee at the entrance of the Hart House theatre:

This marquee was constructed at a cost of one hundred and fifteen dollars. Not only was this marquee representative of the Engineers' ability to produce the sensational, but it must be remembered that it was constructed in the University of Toronto's colours and centered by a large U of T crest.

It is quite true that we were able to repair the marquee at an approximate cost of forty dollars, but it must be pointed out that only Engineering ingenuity and spirit made this possible.

In order that our marquee would not scratch the masonry of our much respected Hart House, we had completely padded the woodwork with rubber tubing. However the crowbars used in the destruction of the marquee were not so kind to the structure.

The Engineering Faculty provides an astounding impetus for overall campus spirit but I assure you that vandalism does not constitute one of the implements for providing this spirit.

In concluding, I would suggest that some disciplinary action be taken and that financially we be reimbursed for our loss.

Producer, Skule Nite.
John L. Pulford,

✦ ✦ ✦

Open Letter to Students

Gentlemen:

It is with regret that we note the controversy among the students with regard to formal wear. We are not going to elaborate on why your affairs should be formal. For thirty years we have been sold on th. idea that, when the occasion is a festive and special one, dress should be formal—our opinion stands.

With regard to the reduction in price, we have checked again with our accountant, and are advised that any further reduction would be prohibitive to the sound operation of the business. Our present rates are merely the reflection of proportionate increases in our expenditures, such as the cost of laundry, cleaning and staff salaries.

Freemans' has always taken into consideration the students' economic position. Before the war, our reduction was ten percent; after the war we increased this to more than fifteen percent on each outfit. May we impress upon the student body the fact that this discount was made without any pressure, at a time when the demand was high and the tendency might have been to ask the full price. Another point that is not common knowledge to the student body is the fact that Toronto rental prices are the lowest on this continent.

We hope that this has clarified our position and, perhaps, put us in a more sympathetic light. We would like to think that you are with us in wanting to see the bright lights and big events that have been part of the tradition of your university for many years. We hope we can continue to contribute to their perfection as we have in the past.

Sincerely,
Freemans' Formal Clothes

✦ ✦ ✦

705 Toes

Editor, The Varsity:

Having knocked our socially scientific heads together for some time, regarding the 705 twinkling toes to appear in the All-Varsity Revue the only conclusion at which we can arrive is that one girl has three legs, or three girls have one leg, or your reporter is pulling our leg.

Our V.C.U. President is having his periodic difficulty in obtaining

(Continued on Page 2)

Tickets for

THE RED MILL

HART HOUSE, DEC. 5, 6, 7

On Sale in U.C. Rotunda

$1.00 $1.25

Hey Kids! "HILLELZAPOPPIN"

Thursday, December 1, 1949

at

CLUB KINGSWAY

Ozzie Williams and Orchestra

Dancing 9-1
$3.00 a couple

DO YOU KNOW..

how little it costs to buy protection at YOUR age?

Everybody knows that life insurance rates are affected by the age of the person to be insured . . . the earlier you insure the lower the premiums. But have you found out just how small the annual premium would be in your own case?

There is another very important reason why it is in your own interests to take out insurance while young. Good health is essential before you can be insured . . . and you may become uninsurable in later years.

The proper type of policy for you can best be determined in consultation with an insurance expert. Why not call the Mutual Life of Canada representative? He has been trained in adapting life insurance to each person's particular needs. Ask him to explain the many advantages of Mutual low cost life insurance.

THE MUTUAL LIFE of CANADA

HEAD OFFICE 80th YEAR WATERLOO ONT.

When It's Time To Eat
It's Time To Refresh

Ask for it either way . . . both trade-marks mean the same thing.

5¢

COCA-COLA LTD. — TORONTO

SIGMA ALPHA MU

ANNIVERSARY BALL

MART KENNY'S ORCHESTRA

$4.00 couple

Proceeds to Mount Sinai Hospital and U.J.A.

SAT., NOV. 26

DRESS OPTIONAL

KING EDWARD HOTEL

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

Alexander Lectures

As this year's Alexander lecturer, Dr. E. K. Brown, was introduced in an earlier article in The Varsity, this review will confine itself to the lectures themselves. If some of Professor Brown's listeners were overheard to be remarking, "part of this was above my head", the answer is: "of course, Alexander lectures should be". The delivery was pleasing, the exposition beautifully clear, the material from time to time studiedly lightened with brief humorous digression. The subject, Rhythm in the Novel, was as wide in scope and loaded with controversial matter as any in literature. From the outset, it demanded skilful selection, both as to the varieties of "rhythm" to be specially discussed, and the novels chosen for illustration.

Throughout, E.-K. Brown followed closely in the footsteps of E. M. Forster. Rhythm was defined as irregular "repetition with variation"; irregular, to distinguish it from pattern. The first lecture dealt with some of the cruder, "mechanical" uses of rhythm. The second, ambitiously entitled "Expanding Symbols", discussed the manner in which by skillful repetition (with variation) of certain images, a novelist can endow his subject with a much wider meaning, carrying us far beyond the immediate situation of his novel. The use of hay in Howard's End is an example; 'an appealing as well as revealing symbol, as the amused reaction of the audience to the repeated references to hay-fever demonstrated. In the third lecture, a still broader aspect of rhythm, that of "interweaving themes", was analyzed. But the best lecture was the last of the series, and consisted of a detailed exposition of Forster's own A Passage to India in terms of expanding symbols and interweaving themes.

Most of those who heard Dr. Brown — and Hart House Theatre was filled until the end — were strongly stimulated to reread some of the novels he used for illustration, and to look in them for new insight. Yet, with the exception of the final one, these lectures lacked, in my opinion, somewhat in profundity. And however much appeal to a larger audience ought to count, should not profundity be the primary criterion for Alexander lectures? Strongly aware of the inadequacy of critical vocabulary at his disposal, Professor Brown nevertheless conservatively limited himself to Forster's own. But more than that: "even in some of his illustrations, especially in the references to Proust and James, little was added to the pages of Aspects of the Novel. And one might have wished for some discussion of the limitations and dangers involved in the "rhythmical" approach. Often it may bring us closer to the centre of a novel, and Professor Brown convincingly demonstrated that it does so in Forster's own case, but it may also distort the vision or distract from the important (the analysis of To the Lighthouse and War and Peace was less convincing). But perhaps on such issues one should not even reflect — certainly not criticize — before the lectures have appeared in printed (and probably expanded) form, published by the U. of T. Press. We certainly are loking forward to this book.

F. David Hoeniger

\+ + +

Sadler's Wells Ballet

From the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, via New York came the celebrated Sadler's Wells Ballet to the stage of the Royal Alexandra Theatre last night.

Founded and directed by Irish Ninette de Valois, the famed English company comprised Robert Helpman and Margot Fonteyn, as les premiers danseurs, and Moira Shearer (Red Shoes) and a host of ballet stars, all trained by the director who virtually built a national ballet on a shoe string in England in 1931, that has risen to become the world's foremost exponent of the dance.

Last evening's performance was Le Lac des Cygnes (Swan Lake), music by Tschaikovsky, choreography by Marius Petipa and Lev Ivanov. It would be gross presumption for the critic to attempt an analysis of this masterful, impeccable performance where the merging of music with rhythm and colour produced an unsurpassably beautiful work of art.

There were the four Cygnettes (baby swans) in Act II whose footwork was the essence of precision and perfection. Not only by virtue of tradition, but also through its choreography, Swan Lake is a ballet in true classic form. The Sadler's Wells' extravagant, magnificent rendering left its audience with a classic impression of the ballet as it ought to be performed. There was no question of technique, yet technical mastery was manifested throughout. High spot in the action was Siegfried's reunion with Odette in Act IV that reached an emotive climax both in the choreography and the narrative. In the exit of the swans from Act I one marvelled at the dancers' infinite grace, that the human form is capable of such ecstatic flights of creative expression.

Music was under the direction of Robert Zeller whose capable baton subdued all evidence of blare and pomp, to set off in vivid kaleidoscopic beauty the swiftly moving narrative onstage. Music merged with dance in fruitful harmony.

Setting and decor were achieven on the grand scale. They were magnificent in dimension and in detail. Color combinations in the costumes reminded one of old 18th-century prints. No attempt was made to create theatrical effect by meretricious lighting. All stage devices contributed to the intrinsic unity of the whole.

The watcher was left stilled and shaken even as after a brilliant, eloquent reading of William Blake, in all an inspiration from beholding the poetry of motion. The Sadler's Wells performance of Swan Lake was without question sheer "fearful symmetry" of the dance whose beauty moved the beholders to rise and shout with bravos seldom heard in this city amidst thunderous applause.

C. Salisbury Baker,
W. B. Glenesk.

A M & D Editor's note: In yesterday's Varsity I neglected to mention that the one-act play, "Utter Relaxation," at Wymilwood, was presented by members of the Vic Dramatic

(Continued on Page 2)

IT'S THE SAUCY PRIZE-WINNING COMEDY THAT'S BREAKING ATTENDANCE RECORDS IN BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES!

STARRING ANNA NEAGLE
MICHAEL WILDING with TOM WALLS

EXTRA
Jane Pickens "My Silent Love"
"Kings of the Rockies" Cartoon
News

STUDENT PRICES
35c TO 6.00 P.M. DAILY
(SAT. 5.00 P.M.)
Please present your ATL card

UNIVERSITY
BLOOR ST. WEST NEAR BAY
FAMOUS PLAYERS CANADIAN THEATRES

Austrian Students Present

Viennese Concert

PLEASANT FESTIVAL
MAKING LOVE IN THE MOUNTAINS
A VISIT TO VIENNA, ETC.

MASSEY HALL

Saturday, November 26, 8.20 p.m.

Tickets $1.00 or 75c at Massey Hall

YOU'LL BE GLAD TOMORROW—
YOU SMOKED

PHILIP MORRIS today

Call for PHILIP MORRIS

EB-9C

TONY MARTIN
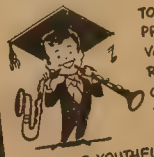
WITH HIS FINEST DISC TO DATE



"THERE'S NO TOMORROW"
RCA VICTOR'S LATEST HIT!

THE PLATTERMATE IS "A THOUSAND VIOLINS" FROM THE FILM "THE GREAT LOVER"

FROM TONY MARTIN'S SCRAPBOOK

TONY WAS PERFORMING PROFESSIONALLY AT 16. VAUDEVILLE SUCCESS ROCKETED HIM INTO A COAST-TO-COAST RADIO DEBUT... AND IT WAS GOODBYE TO COLLEGE FOR THE YOUTHFUL ARTIST. FOLLOWING SERVICE IN THE ARMED FORCES, THE SINGING STAR CONTINUED HIS RISE TO FAME VIA RADIO, PERSONAL APPEARANCES, A FILM CAREER AND RCA VICTOR WAXINGS. "THERE'S NO TOMORROW" HAS BEEN SINGLED OUT AS "THE SWEETEST RECORD OF THE YEAR"

HEAR THESE LATEST RCA VICTOR RECORDS

★ THERE'S NO TOMORROW
A THOUSAND VIOLINS (from the film "The Great Lover")
Tony Martin - 20-3582 (45 rpm Version 47-3078)

★ MULE TRAIN
SINGING MY WAY BACK HOME
(both from the film "Singing Guns")
Vaughn Monroe and his Orch. - 20-3600 (45 rpm Version 47-3106)

★ (There's A) BLUEBIRD ON YOUR WINDOWSILL
I'VE GOT A LOVELY BUNCH OF COCONUTS
Freddy Martin and his Orch. - 20-3554 (45 rpm Version 47-3047)

★ DON'T CRY JOE
SWING TO 45
Ralph Flanagan and his Orch. - 30-0007 (45 rpm Version 54-0002)

★ C-H-R-I-S-T-M-A-S
WILL SANTY COME TO SHANTY TOWN Eddy Arnold, The Tennessee Ploughboy - 21-0124 (45 rpm Version 48-0127)

ENJOY 45 RPM RECORDS, TOO!

Here's all you need to enjoy the new RCA Victor "45" System through your present radio or radio-phonograph. It's the world's most dependable record changer — plays more than 40 minutes without need of attention. RCA Victor model 9-JY . . . Only $29.95.

THE STARS WHO MAKE THE HITS ARE ON RCA VICTOR RECORDS

FRIDAY
DEC. 2nd
at HART HOUSE

BE SMART . . . DANCE TO MART
The Graduate Student Union Sponsors
MART KENNY
and his Orchestra (Norma Locke, vocalist; Billy Meek, comedian)

$3.00 Per Couple
Semi - Formal
Tickets available NOW at 44 Hoskin or Graduate Office Hart House.

RECEPTION FOR AUSTRIANS
CONCERT AND TEA
This Sunday, 3.00 p.m.
Hart House
Sponsored by I.S.O.
TICKETS 25c, IN U.C. ROTUNDA

AIR FORCES VETERANS

'oon, TO-MORROW, 26th November, is deadline for :iling, in R.C.A.F. Orderly Room, 119 St. George St., :ompleted applications for participation in Veteran Undergraduates Summer Employment Plan.

SWITCHING OFF.—OFF.

Egbert says "Now I have to make sure my kid brother passes, too!"

"MY BANK" TO A MILLION CANADIANS B of M

With that kid brother of his in tow, Egbert finds things are tough all over.

But — at the risk of being repetitious — there is one problem he learned to solve long ago. That's the problem of how to make sure he always has money for every emergency. He operates a "fatality fund" at "MY BANK", never runs out of cash any more, since he started dropping his spare cash into his B of M account. Now he's got the saving habit.

U4-7

BANK OF MONTREAL
Canada's First Bank
WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

St. George & Bloor Sts.: EDWARD J. MacKELL, Manager
Bloor & Bay Streets: STANLEY G. HAZELL, Manager
Grosvenor & Yonge Sts.: JOSEPH BURDOCK, Manager

Winter Golf

(Continued from Page 8)

yesterday were just completing the course and Gord said that they were all new to the game. But they looked ready to go out and start chasing that ole' debbil par. For players with just four lessons under their belts they sure looked good, so the instruction really must be taking.

Delaat has plans right now for a refresher course sometime in the spring before the green call the boys out to do battle. He claims no responsibility for the excellent showing of the Skulemen in the interfaculty golf meet earlier in the fall, because he has been operating here for only four weeks. However the other faculties will have to go some next year to displace SPS from the top rung in the golf world.

Maybe some of the other faculties could look into the possibility of running a similar school. Delaat would probably be available at convenient times and the value received from such a course would be considerable. All interested golfers should approach their Athletic Societies if they would like a similar opportunity. Who knows? If enough people are interested your faculty too may improve their golf.

—Kennedy

Geometry

(Continued from Page 1)

ection. In the closed kind you eventually find yourself back where you started, similar to sailing right around the world. We don't yet know which type we live in. We could find out by sending out a beam of light and waiting to see if it came back. but who wants to wait the 3 billion years it would take. Fortunately we don't have to. It is expected that the 200 inch telescope will tell.

ST. JAMES' CATHEDRAL
Cor. King and Church Sts.

8.00 a.m.—CORPORATE COMMUNION OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW IN TORONTO DISTRICT.

9:15 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION

11.00 a.m.—MATTINS AND LITANY.
Sermon:
The Rev. William C. Bothwell

MORNING SUNDAY SCHOOL
3:00 p.m. Sunday School

7:00 p.m.—EVENSONG
Sermon: The Dean

Holy Communion
Wednesday (St. Andrew's Day) 7.30 and 10.30 a.m., Fri. 7.30 a.m.

BLOOR ST. UNITED CHURCH
Corner Bloor and Huron Streets

Ministers:
Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, S.T.M., Ph.D., D.D.
Rev. Kenneth Irving Cleator, B.A., B.D., S.T.M.
Organist and Choirmaster
Frederick C. Silvester

11 a.m.
The Ideal and the Actual
DR. HOWSE

7 p.m.
Christianity
The Faith For Our Time
MR. CLEATOR

6.40 p.m. Organ Recital
8.15 p.m. Friendship Hour
Students Specially Welcome

CHURCH of the REDEEMER
Bloor St. West and Avenue Road
RECTOR:
REV. H. R. HUNT, M.A., B.D.
78th ANNIVERSARY SERVICES
8 A.M.
Holy Communion
11 a.m.—Very Rev. C. E. Riley, M.A., D.D., Dean of Toronto
7 p.m.—Rector: "The Marks and Mission of a Living Church"

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH
Bloor Street East
Rector: Rev. Canon F. H. Wilkinson, M.A., D.D.
ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY
8 a.m.—Holy Communion
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer
Preacher:
Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, C.M.G., D.D., LL.D.
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer
Preacher:
CANON WILKINSON
Cantata—"Sleepers Awake"—J. S. Bach, by the Choir of St. Paul's, under the direction of Dr. Charles Peaker, F.R.C.O.
University students welcome

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S
(ANGLICAN)
Ulster St. at Manning
(From the University, west on Harbord to Manning, south 1 block)
REV. R. F. T. BRAIN, M.C., Rector—KI. 8291
Healey Willan, Mus. Doc. Organist
EVERY SUNDAY
8 and 9.30 Holy Communion
11 Solemn Eucharist and Sermon
7 Evensong, Sermon and Devotions
Students who would like to join server's Guild or Choirs, please see the Rector.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH
BLOOR W. at WALMER RD.
DR. E. CROSSLEY HUNTER, Minister
John W. Linn, Organist.
11 a.m. "THE IGNORANCE OF THE EXPERTS"
7 p.m. "NEW TIMES - NEW VIRTUES"
8:15 p.m. Fireside Hour

ST. PAUL'S-AVENUE RD.-UNITED CHURCH
121 Avenue Road—3 blocks above Bloor
Minister—Rev. Gordon W. Porter, M.A., B.D.
Organist—Mr. John McKnight, F.T.C.L., L.R.S.M., L. Mus. (McGill)
11 A.M. and 7 P.M.
THE REV. DOUGLAS MacINTOSH, M.A., B.D., S.T.M. of Massachusetts
THURS. 8 P.M. ALBERT E. CLIFFE BY TELEPHONE BROADCAST FROM MONTREAL: "HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS." DOORS OPEN AT 7 P.M.

Jerse Verse

By THEMISTOCLA

There was a young girl named Doreen
The rest of this verse is obscene!
And, alas, we do fear
It's been censored right here
Just in order to keep the thing clean.

Theology Aid

(Continued from Page 3)

"The Christian approach to the cure of mental health is to ask the subject to talk and confess his sins to another. We must open up ourselves, our inermost thoughts and tell them to one who can think objectively. Sometimes by months and months of interviews we try to read their pattern of behaviour. Gradually this pattern changes with the Christian theological method."

PLEASE!

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

TRINITY COLLEGE CHAPEL
ADVENT SUNDAY,
NOVEMBER 27th
8.15 A.M.
HOLY COMMUNION
11.00 A.M.
MATTINS
Preacher:
The Reverend The Provost
The general public is invited to be present but is asked to be seated not later than 10:50.

VIC V.C.F.
Week-of-Meetings
Tuesday 22 - Friday 25
REV. D. H. MacLENNAN
will speak on
"FREEDOM"
1:20 P.M. CHAPEL

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
First Church of Christ Scientist
St. George St. at Lowther Ave.
Branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
Sunday, November 27th
Subject
"ANCIENT AND MODERN NECROMANCY VS. MESMERISM and HYPNOTISM DENOUNCED"
SUNDAY SERVICES
11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL
11 A.M.
Pupils and visitors up to the age of twenty years welcome.
WED. EVENING MEETING
8 P.M.
Including testimonies of healing through Christian Science
FREE PUBLIC READING ROOM where the Bible and authorized Christian Science Literature may be read, borrowed or purchased.

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.
SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c
BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

Book Review

Turvey

For a few hours' light, enjoyable reading we recommend the recently published Turvey, (McClelland and Stewart, $3.25), by Earle Birney. Turvey is Mr. Birney's first novel, concered with the adventures of one Thomas Leadbeater Turvey, who, with slightly less than an average complement of brains, wanders through the Canadian army during the Second World War.

Turvey is a rambling story, laced with fun and awkward adventures of its hero. It takes him from enlistment to discharge, through a conglomeration of trials and tribulation which form an amusing commentary on the life of the average "body" who served with the army.

Turvey never gets to be anything more than a private, and spends more than his fair share of time in hospitals, the brig or confined to barracks. He is an easy going kind of person, with simple wants, and a genius for being misunderstood.

Mr. Birney doesn't use his book only to tell the story of his hero. If Turvey was a futile kind of person, then the struggle he was an organized part of was even more futile. The author doesn't often come right out and say so, but there are a few moments in his book when you feel utter helplessness and confusion which the war produced.

Mainly however, Turvey is just good honest fun. For those who were a part of the forces the laughs may come oftener. But many of the situations are timeless (like the description of Turvey's struggle to propose from a hospital bed in a large ward). We think you'll enjoy it.

—Max Parsons

Thin Volume

Willa Cather On Writing (McClelland and Stewart, $3.00) consists of about half or more of Willa Cather's miscellaneous ventures in literary criticism. Included are short studies of Sarah Orne Jewett, Stephen Crane, Daniel Defoe and Katherine Mansfield, of which the Defoe study, with its negative judgment, is the most interesting. Probably more valuable are "The Novel Démeublé," a characteristic appeal for classic austerity, and a few notes on Miss Cather's own work, sources and artistic habits. 126 pages of large print and generously spread lines isn't much for the money, and what there is will probably seem charming, polished and pretty thin, to the general reader. For students of Will Cather, however, it's all meat, I guess.

D. R.

Trinity 'A' Team

(Continued from Page 8)

was Emmanuel who first capitalized on a good shot by centre-forward McLelland. However Trinity, who always looked more impressive, soon equalized on a penalty by Britton-Foster, and then took the lead as Forbes drove in a cross from Wareham.

As the snow gathered on the pitch in the second half, playing conditions became almost impossible, and though Trinity were in Emmanuel's land for 90 per cent of the time, their only tally came from another penalty converted by Britton-Foster.

Trinity now meet Sen. Vic., Wycliffe, or Jr. S.P.S. in the final which may be postponed till the Spring.

Managers meeting noon today in Intramural Office.

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER PLAYOFFS — Re-Play North 3.00 Sr. Vic vs. Wyc ..... Reed
Note:—The Winner of above game will play Jr. SPS on Monday, Nov. 28, at 3.00 p.m.—Official—Montemurro.
The Final game will be played Thurs., Dec. 1st.
LACROSSE SEMI-FINAL 1.00 Vic I vs Med I ..... Chambers, Raymond
VOLLEYBALL 1.00 Trin A vs U.C. III ..... Kroll
Group Playoff 4.00 Law vs Med II Yr ..... Fine

STADIUM USHERS

GAME TIME ON SATURDAY is 1:45 p.m.

USHERS ARE ASKED TO BE AT THE Stadium at 12:30 p.m.

SOCCER TEAMS' PICTURES

Soccer teams will have picture taken on Mon., Nov. 28th, at 1.00 p.m.

Please report, in uniform at Athletic Office.

U.C. BASKETBALL

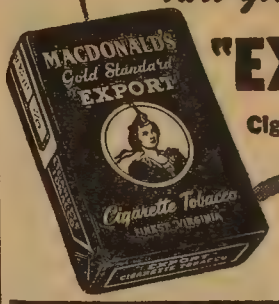
General Practice for ALL interested in playing for any U.C. team.

SATURDAY, NOV. 26 — 1 p.m.

LOWER GYM - HART HOUSE

Women's Basketball Schedule

Playoffs —Hart House



Tues., Nov. 29
7:30 St. Mike's A vs Winner of (V vs VI)
8:30 U.C. Sr.-Jr. A vs Winner of (III vs IV)
Thurs., Dec. 1
7:30 Losers vs losers of above.
8:30 Winners vs winners of above.
Practices — O.C.E.
Mon., Nov. 28
6:30 St. Mike's A
7:30 Winner of (III vs. IV)
8:30 Winner of (V vs VI)

Note:—Teams should be dressed for the game before coming to Hart House except for gym shoes. No [illegible] — all spectators welcome.

Track Club Dance

All who participated in track this year
J.C.R. Saturday, November 26th, 8:30-12.00, $1.00
Dancing - Entertainment - Food

For constant Smoking Pleasure
Roll your own with
"EXPORT"
Cigarette Tobacco

ALSO AVAILABLE IN ½ POUND TINS

AT TIMES LIKE THIS...
Good Grooming calls for
BRYLCREEM

It's true—BRYLCREEM, the Perfect Hairdressing keeps the hair in immaculate condition all day. A single application gives you that well-groomed appearance making unruly hair easy to manage. BRYLCREEM is not sticky or greasy.

When good grooming counts, use economical BRYLCREEM. Available in handy tubes everywhere.

10-49R

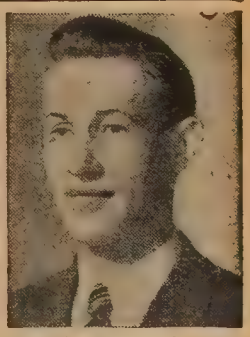
NO GUM + NO SOAP + NO ALCOHOL + NO STARCH

Good News for NIGHT OWLS!

ARROW DRESS SHIRTS

Recommended for proms and glee club concerts, these smart and comfortable Arrows are perfect for college formal wear. Cluett, Peabody & Company of Canada Limited.

Look for the Registered Trade Mark ARROW



ARROW SHIRTS
TIES • HANDKERCHIEFS

HOCKEY

U.C. - P.H.E.

All men interested in hockey turn out at Varsity Arena Friday at 4.30 p.m. All goalies be present. This is the final practice.

Coaches and managers are requested to attend.

Basil Kearney, men's wear salesman in Kingston, Ont., changed to Pepsi-Cola because, he says, "Pepsi really satisfies my thirst, doesn't just tease it." That's important. When you take time out for refreshment, you want something that really hits the spot! Take home a carton today—6 big, big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢.

Teen-agers, too, are changing to Pepsi-Cola. Margot Rudland, Toronto student, says, "My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola for its better flavour and bigger value." And that's true of the handy new quick-drink size Pepsi, too, Margot. You get more for your money—costs only 5¢. Try Pepsi in the new 8-ounce bottle today. You'll find it at your nearest cooler.

More and more people are changing to
PEPSI-COLA
for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

Sr. SPS Knock Out Last Year's Champs

Snow Doesn't Slow Skule; Win 15-2

By JOHN KENNEDY

Senior SPS had little difficulty disposing of St. Mike's yesterday afternoon in the second of the Mulock Cup semi-finals at Varsity Stadium. The game was played under something less than ideal conditions, the snow making for numerous fumbles and few passes. Scoring a field goal in the first quarter and converted touchdowns in the second and third periods, Skule came out on the long end of a 15-2 score.

Missed Adams

St. Mike's took to the field the underdogs but managed to get the first point soon after the opening kick-off on a long punt by Bill O'Heany. The Double Blue fought tenaciously for the remainder of the game but obviously missed the scoring punch that has been usually provided by ace quarter-back Tony Adams. Adams was injured in the Jr. SPS encounter last Friday. Fumbles and a lighter line were two more factors in their defeat.

John Folinsbee was the largest calibre gun in the Skule offence as he consistently got away long punts that kept St. Mike's in check any time that they threatened to break out in a scoring rash. Folinsbee also played a good plunging game, and was a standout defensively.

Valenti For 3

A St. Mike's fumble in their own end, after a long kick by Folinsbee that was recovered by Phemister, put Skule in position for a field goal by expert place kicker Paul Valenti at the end of the first quarter. In the second session Sam Neill, one of the brighter lights in the Mikemen's offence, kicked a coffin corner single that bounced out of touch just behind the Skule line.

Bob Brown and Paul Valenti did most of the heavvy work later in the second period for Skule's first major. Brown and Valenti alternated their runs with Valenti finally carying over from the three. The whole line just advanced the necessary distance and Valenti followed over. Valenti, the deadliest place kicker in the league, made sure of the convert.

Mikemen Close

St. Mike's got within the Skulemen's 25 for about the only time in the game late in the second quarter. Washington and Neill sparked the team but they lost possession on a third down pass that was incomplete. A run on the last play of the half ended on the Skule one and that was the closest St. Mike's came to scoring again.

Even the half time was dominated by SPS as the LGMB gave out with their one and only selection that is known by every band member. A very symmetrical "SPS" was marked in the snow by the band who were no doubt practising for the band concert competition next week at the Mulock final.

Adare Majors

The third quarter was marked by the number of Mikemen being lugged off the field. The offence by both teams was limited to ground attack with Bob Adare, fleet SPS back, getting the final score of the game on a nifty run around the right end of the St. Mike's line. Valenti got the convert.

The last quarter was scoreless, both teams blowing the few opportunities they got. The Mulock Cup final will be played between Senior SPS and Victoria next Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Varsity Stadium.

Line-ups:—

Sr. SPS: Flying wing, Crandell; halves, Folinsbee, Brown, Adare; Q.B., Valenti; snap, Keen; insides, Rickaby, Dellenbach; middles, Watson, Richards; outsides, Rowe, Wood, alts, Gordon, Benstein, LaPrairie, Lumsden, Firth, Weaver, Babcock, Cole, Hellard, Phemister, MacKendrick.

St. Mike's: Flying wing, O'Hara; halves, Neill, Washington, O'Heany; Q.B., O'Keefe; snap, Kite; insides, Brennan, Schmaltz; middles, Bergin, O'Keefe; outsides, Ross, Mauchly; alts., Well, Dowling, Davin, McIntyre, Mulligan, Grossi, Tierney, Flanagan, Giblin.

Above is veteran hockey Blue Cec Turcotte, who is down in Montreal today where his team take on the McGill Redmen tonight and the University of Montreal Carabins tomorrow. The Carabins were the intercollegiate champs last year. Turcotte is the centre on the Turcotte, Frey, Bazos line, and should provide considerable scoring punch this year. At the left is Ernie Frey, chunky right winger who is in his sophomore season with the Blues. University of Montreal are reported to have back practically the same team as won the laurels last year, but McGill are not reputed to be too strong.

Trinity 'A' Team Edges Emmanuel

In the first of the soccer semi-finals of this season Trinity "A" defeated Emmanuel of the fourth group by a score of 3-1. The weather conditions were such that constructive football was out of the question; so much so that an Emmanuel supporter was heard to comment at half-time, "Just boot the ball boys, and leave the rest to God!"

Both teams did well in the first half, but while Trinity missed some early chances on both wings, it

(Continued on Page 7)

Sportswoman

Although the snow is falling and Christmas is getting closer there is still lots being done in women's sports. Swimming, basketball, badminton and even skiing hold the spotlight this week.

Swim Team

The Woman's Intercollegiate Team are hard at work in preparation for the big meet on Saturday, December 3 at McMaster. Marg Harrington, PHE, Phyl Manning, Trin, Sheila Lennox, Vic, and Peg Rowntree, PHE, ar looking after the free style section, while Zaira Murray, UC, will again uphold the backstroke event.

For breast stroke there is Pam Perrin, Vic. Charlotte Chisholm, Trin, and Rosemary Macdonald, Meds, oopped the diving positions on the team, with Jean and Lois Cossar, Physio, handling the synchronized swimming.

Ski Team

There was a good turnout at the Ski meeting yesterday and Conn Sparrow would like anybody who still wants to try out for the team to get in touch with her as soon as possible.

Last night in the quarter finals U.C. Freshies eliminated O.T. by a 24-9 defeat. Joan Mooney and Mary Lewis starred for the UC'ers. Sparked by the brilliant playing of Beth McCrea and Betty Line, the Medicos won out over P.H.E. II with a 30-21 score. The tussle was fast and spirited as both teams struggled hard to make the play-offs in Hart House.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

Sneak-away-from-the-Campus Dept.: Lew Hayman must be getting shrewder and shrewder every day. When the Als were slated to do battle with the Roughriders, Lew started a big, loud rhubarb over the alleged injustice done the Als by scheming league officers in sheduling the final game. He hepped up his players with a good hefty dose of "grudge", and Montreal went on to whip the Riders by a solid score.

Now Lew is beating the drum about the dirty, unfair, and underhanded trick of the Stampeders in obtaining films of the Ottawa-Alouette game for the purpose of studying the Als' formations. The only explanation for this is that Lew wants a repeat performance of the great spirit shown by his team in eliminating the By-towners.

The great mystery is how the players can swallow a story like that. We should imagine, that, being around senior football as many years as they have, they should know that scouting is a respectable and desirable practice. How much good it does, we don't know, but anyhow, if some coach won't allow scouting, he is considered a poor type. Right here at Varsity, not only are the scouts admitted, but they are put into the Press Box and served refreshments at half-time. Hope the Als are not stupid enough to go for Lew's story, because if they are, the Stamps will brainpower them right out of the park.

—WINTER GOLF—

It may seem a trifle unseasonable to talk of golf at this time of year with the snow already flying but there are a few lucky persons who are getting expert instruction in the old Scottish pastime from Gord Delaat, pro from the Weston Golf Course. On dropping into the COTC Drill Hall yesterday morning we were greeted by the familiar "click, click, curse, curse" of the embyro golfers practising all kinds of shots, teeing off on small rubber mats like you see in front of some front doors. About five yards ahead of the tee he has canvas back-drops that stop the shots with a loud satisfying "thwack." The rubber mats give the nearest approach to actual combat conditions that can be Gord maintains that he can tell whether a beginner is slicing or hooking just by watching the position of the hands and the club-head after the swing. He can give individual instruction in the use of all the clubs, even to giving some pointers in putting.

The Engineering Society are the ones behind this excellent plan of golf instruction for the masses and subsidize the eager Skulemen who wish to improve their game. The course lasts for four weeks, with individual instruction for one hour a week. From nine till 11 each morning Delaat teaches eight students. The students we watched

(Continued on Page 6)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

WANTED

Ticket at Sadler's Wells Ballet. Any performance Urgently required. Phone JU. 2541 after 5.

TYPING

Accurate typing by experienced stenographer Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9923.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates, same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

LOST

Covert cloth, taupe, army type raincoat from the basement cloak-room, Botany Building. Between 3 and 4 p.m. Please return to the S.A.C. Office, Hart House.

WANTED

Will pay reasonable price for the following: "Constitution of Canada", "Statutes, Treatise and Proclamation of the Constitution of Canada" by W. P. Kennedy. Phone RA. 7263.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

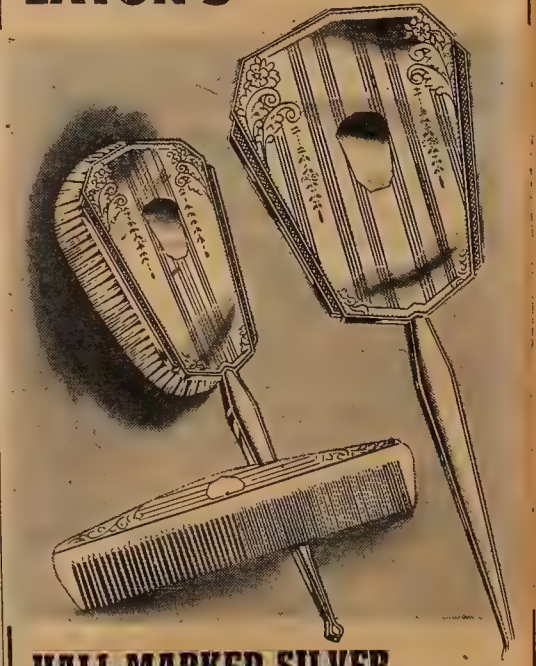
Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter. Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Reimar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978



FOR SALE

Man's evening suit, tails, size 38; excellent condition. Reasonable. Phone MI. 9263.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable income. Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 3929.

EATON'S

HALL-MARKED SILVER

3-PIECE DRESSER SETS

In the Lovely "Pauline" Pattern!

A Christmas to remember always . . . a gift to treasure always! A matched brush, comb and mirror set in beautiful sterling silver, engine-turned and artistically hand-engraved, with place for initial. Each gleaming piece bears the Hall-Mark of the English standard set for silver, and the brush has stiff white nylon bristles. Set .....

$37.50

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

Phone TR 5111

Main Store — Main Floor — (Dept. 215)

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Mild

VOL. LXIX NO. 47 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Monday, November 28, 1949

U. Of Sask. LPP Ousts Party Head, Charges 'Titoism'

Saskatoon, Nov. 27—(CUP)—Jack Guest, leader of the University of Saskatchewan L.P.P. party has been ousted on charges of "Titoism." 140 adherents of the L.P.P. party, which is to be seated next week in the Parliamentary Forum of the University, have unanimously decided that the present leader "does not interpret party policy to suit the times."

Move To Unseat

Following the impeachment, the new President-elect of the L.P.P. group petitioned the Debating Directorate to unseat the old L.P.P. delegation. The Debating Directorate, by a vote of 10 to 0, four abstaining, has decided that the petition is ouside their jurisdiction and should be handed back to the people from whom it came.

The Parliamentary forum has all three other parties in full attendance, and is to be read the speech from the throne by Mr. Justice Stewart McKercher of the Court of the King's Bench.

✣ ✣ ✣

Local L.P.P. circles had no statement to make on the new development in the West. Educational Director Norm Endicott said two members of the provincial party had been expelled last summer for similar reasons, but there has been no such occurrence in the U. of T. L.P.P.

BLUES TAKE FIRST, DROP SECOND TILT IN PUCK WEEKEND

Montreal—Staff—Two games in two days was a little too much for our Senior Hockey Blues who visited Montreal this weekend. After trouncing McGill Redmen Friday by a decisive 5-1 score the Blues dropped one, 5-0, to the high-flying Carabins of the University of Montreal on Saturday night. Mishap of the hectic weekend was Ernie Frey's leg injury.

(See full story by Staff Reporter Mal Crawford on Page 8.)

All Editors Resign "Too Much Work" On Alberta Paper

Publication of The Gateway, the University of Alberta undergraduate newspaper will be discontinued, unless immediate aid is forthcoming.

With the resignation of editor-in-chief Don Smith, and managing editor Irene Bowerman, the Alberta campus paper is in a spot.

Appeal Issued

The University of Alberta Students' council has issued an appeal to all former senior editors of past Gateway staffs to aid in an effort to continue publication and train sufficient staff for the remainder of the year.

In his letter of resignation editor Smith stated that the task of directing the campus newspaper has been over-burdened this year solely because there are too few students who are versed in the technical aspects of newspaper production.

Lack Of Foresight

"This I attribute to the lack of foresight on the part of staffs of the past four and five years, in neglecting to train interested students who were sure of returning the following year," Smith said. "At the commencement of the present term there were only two members of The Gateway staff who had any knowledge of newspaper publication."

The task of training the staff was left to the editor-in-chief and the managing editor. The pressure was too much for them, and the few who were trained found that the problem was not alleviated, and more were bound to fail in their academic work.

When resigning Miss Bowerman said that the assistants and junior editors could not cope with the task, and gradually they were dropping out. "They could not find the time to both work on the paper and study."

"I want to see a paper on the campus next year, and unless some solution can be worked out in which first and second year students can be trained in the business of publishing a paper, there will be no Gateway next year."

Editor-in-Chief Apologizes

The editor-in-chief apologized for the situation in which his resignation left the Students' Union, but felt that he could not continue. "It is now up to those students who have some knowledge of what is involved in publishing a newspaper whether the campus is going to have its Gateway for the rest of the year."

✣ ✣ ✣

Campus newspapers are having difficulties in other parts of Can-

(Continued on Page 7)

When Winter Comes

—Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

Football's out and hockey's in, and the Senior Hockey Blues have started off their 1949-50 season with a weekend split; a victory over McGill Friday night and a loss to the University of Montreal Saturday night. Prior to the inter-collegiate tussles, Coach Wally Halder drilled his pucksters in regular practises in the Varsity Arena. Here Halder is seen dropping the puck for a face-off between veteran Cec Turcott (right) and Blues newcomer Art Homes at one of the practices.

Loss of Hamlets Budget Threat To UC Players

Disappearance of two pictures of Hamlet from a display in the University College rotunda last Wednesday has brought indignant protests from the executive of the UC Players' Guild.

The two missing pictures were of Laurence Olivier and John Gielgud in their interpretations of Hamlet. The display in question was to publicize the UC Players' Guest Night at which Hamlet recordings were played and discussed.

"When the UC gargoyle is missing, or some Artsmen capture the Skule cannon, the reason is understandable," declared UC Players' Guild officials. "The gargoyle is of value both for sentimental value and as an example of wood carving. Even the Skule cannon has value, if only for jokes.

"What is now puzzling us is: Of what value are the two stolen pictures?"

Since the pictures were on loan from the Toronto Public Library and cannot be replaced without cost of time and money, the Players' Guild finds the theft a threat to their low budget.

Anyone knowing of the whereabouts of the two missing pictures is asked by the UC Players' Guild to arrange for their return, either in the UC rotunda notice-board, or in the Players' Guild office in the English department.

Optional Dress Agreement Reached For Vic-At-Home

With only a few more than the quorum of fifty present the VCU passed a motion of optional dress for the Vic-At-Home last week. The Tuesday open meeting was in response to students complaining that the formal attire required for the dance would make it impossible for many to attend.

At the last meeting there was a storm of protest and the president adjourned to give members time to prepare their arguments in more parliamentary terms.

Compromise Satisfies

At the Tuesday meeting one of the members of the social directorate pointed out that optional as a compromise between formal and semi-formal would satisfy as many people as possible. This would allow those who want to go formal to do so.

A suggestion from the floor that the earlier defeat of the social directorate's motion for formal dress was a vote of censure, was dropped when Chairman Stan Kurisko pointed out that they had thought a formal was possible and desirable. When they did find that it did not have the support of the students they had been willing to change the plans to conform with their desires.

The objections raised to the optional dress voted by the meeting were that the students who had voted for formal dress earlier would not bother to rent formal attire now. Also it was felt that semi-formal was a better compromise between formal and informal.

Railroads Have Union Race Bar Says CPR Porter

Vancouver, Nov. 27 — (CUP) — Speaking to the UBC branch of the Civil Liberties Union, Ernest Lawrence, Secretary-Treasurer of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters accused leaders of white railroad union organizations of perpetuating 'Jim Crowism' in Canada.

Mr. Lawrence, a CPR porter, said in his speech last month that other branches of the railroad industry are practising racial discrimination in 'a hypocritical acceptance' of democratic ideals.

He stated that through the years negros working on railroads have been forced off their jobs by whites who have never allowed them to join general union bodies. "This is a black mark against organized labor, in Canadian railroads," he said.

As a result of the meeting a motion passed to draft a letter protesting the Jim Crow constitutions of white unions.

Original Goal Slashed McGill Charities Drive Still $3,339.51 Behind

Montreal, Nov. 27—(CUP)—$600.49 have been collected in the Combined Charities Drive at McGill University. The drive, which has been going on over the past ten days, originally had a goal of $25,000, which was later lowered to $5,000. The Combined Charities are a combination of church charities, Community Chest and I. S. S. appeals.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

Warden Travels

'The Peace'—It's Wonderful

By ROCKY MARTINO

The call of the pioneer stirred Warden Ignatieff and David Mas-all (Forestry '49) last summer. Answering the call to adventure, they spent the summer studying possibilities of settlement and development along the Peace River in British Columbia.

Early in June, they set out on their trip. They got as far as Prince George, B.C., 300 miles inland from Prince Rupert, by rail and from there continued the next 300 miles of their journey by boat, down the Parsnip and Crooked Rivers to a junction with the Peace at Fenlay Forks, and from thence, down the Peace to Fort St. John, "550 miles from Edmonton; 1550 miles from Saskatoon."

Meet One Canoe

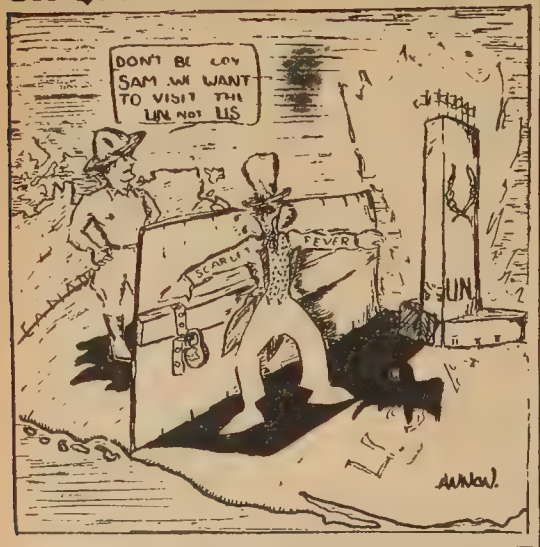
In the three weeks they spent on the river, they met only one canoe, but the trip was far from dull. There were places in the rapids where their 32-foot boat, driven by an 8 h.p. motor, was swung completely around. Then there was the time that the boat rounded a bend and there, directly in its path was a huge fallen tree. It was too late to stop. Luckily, someone else had passed through before and had chopped a round hole through the tree. By keeping low, the boat could safely pass through.

Boat Gets Through

The Warden headed for that hole, and made it—or rather the boat did. They had to come back and get him out of the tree.

Travelling down the Crooked and Parsnip in this manner, they soon reached Fenlay Forks. Here they spent 17 days at the Warden's cabin. It was many years ago, before the war, that Warden Ignatieff first became interested in the development of this region. It had valuable mineral deposits and coal nearby—there is even a possibility of oil. The soil itself is a silty, fluffy reddish loam which is feet deep. Altogether, it is a perfect region for speculative development.

Promise Railroad



It's true, there is no railroad. But American private interests are willing to build a road through the Rocky Mountain Trench provided they are given development rights. The B.C. government has refused, promising to complete the railroad to Prince George and possibly to build a road across the Rockies. The road should be quite easy to build since Pine Pass is one of the best passes through the Rockies.

Whether a link with the outer world is made, or not, the land is still suitable for settling. An example of what can be done is provided in the story of Jim Beatty.

Twenty-five years ago, Jim took over a wooded section 30 miles from Hudson's Hope, close to the shores of the Peace River. There was no road, no cleared fields — nothing. Today, Jim has a large house, and a large family. He has two trucks, two tractors, a combine and a road. (He built that road himself, 30 miles through the brush.) Beyond his home lie fields of alfalfa, potatoes and other crops. Last year, his alfalfa crop alone netted him more than $10,000. In addition to this,

(Continued on Page 7)

UN Quarantine

The U.N., The U.S., and Us

We may be unsophisticated, but the fact of the matter is we still believe that the United Nations Organization can accomplish its major purpose—that is prevent another war.

We believe the U.N. can prevent war—IF the U.N. is allowed to function in the acceptedly-correct fashion. That fashion has its main basis in the participating of all member nations in the workings of the organizaton. A large part of ths participation consists of the citizens of each nation keeping informed of U.N. activities by radio, newspapers and on-the-spot observers.

Last week the International Relations Club of the University went to Lake Success to observe the U.N. One member of the party was under a ban of the U.S. government and was not permitted to cross the border. That member was a law-abiding citizen of this country.

We do not question the legal right of the U.S. to ban anyone it sees fit, for any reason whatsoever, from entering the country. We could discuss obligations and courtesies implicit with a self-acclaimed most powerful nation in the world. But we won't. All we are interested in is the pertinent point—it seems to be getting increasingly difficult to cross the border into the States.

This is no an isolated instance of discussion regarding the rights of member nations to attend U.N. Trygvie Lie, the past president, was forced to use sharp words when the U.S. was reluctant to permit certain appointed delegates to be present at a meeting.

It is unfortunate that the U.N. of a few years back, which accepted the generous Rockefeller gift of American land and money, could not have foreseen some of the complications arising from the U.N. being surrounded by the U.S. Possibly at that time it was hoped the Americans could derive something from the British tradition of intellectual honesty, impartial judicature and political asylum.

We repeat . . . we do not deny the legal right of the U.S. to indulge in a witch hunt. We could discuss the implications, etc., etc.

For years the U.N. has been arguing desperately to have the Russians lift the Iron Curtain. "Let the Soviet citizens see the Western world wants peace," is the plea. And how could a Soviet citizen best see this?—by observing, as we should observe, the U.N. at work. But there's a catch—Uncle Sam wouldn't let a Soviet citizen into the country. Uncle Sam won't even let certain Canadian citizens into the country.

Of course, the example is reducing the argument ad absurdum. But is it any more absurd than putting the key to the lock of a precious possession into the hands of, shall we say, an irresponsible youth?

We understand the building material situation is much better in Britain these days—and for that matter, Switzerland is an old-fashioned straight-thinking sort of a country, too.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221

NIGHT EDITOR: Don Stevenson

ASSISTANTS: Barbara Brown, Lillian Becker, Jim Simpson

The Varsity
ANNOUNCES A
GIGANTIC CONTEST, REAL PEACHY KEEN PRIZES OFFERED!!

In line with the policy of the evening papers of this fair city, The Varsity, the only good morning paper, announces a new contest with gigantic, stupendous, colossal, pumperdinkelly prizes.

The first prize is a perpetual subscription to The Varsity—in effect a guarantee of news coverage unsurpassed by any other paper. The second prize is a ten-year subscription; third prize, Bob Dnieper. There will be 756 additional prizes of five issues each. This makes a grand total of thousands of issues given away .

The Varsity is doing this because it believes, as do the other papers sponsoring contests, in sharing its profits.

The rules and nature of the contest form may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the President of the North Pole, enclosing a gold-fibred stamp.

OFFICIAL RULES:

1. The contest shall be known as the "Greatest Contest in the World Offering the Biggest Prizes in the World Sponsored by the Best Paper in the World."

2. To enter the contest, rummage about in your old notes and lab books. Send them all in to us. The object of the contest is to send in a lab book or essay copied from someone else's lab book or essay. There are two specific classes—lab books and essays—since the contest editor feels that all prizes shouldn't go to Skule.

3. There shall be specific divisions in the contest:

Div. I: A prize will be offered to the lab book or essay submitted which most closely resembles the book from which it was copied.

Div. II: A prize will be offered for the entry submitted which shows the greatest lapse of time between the original and the copy.

Div. III: A prize will be offered for the copy which tries the hardest not to look like a copy.

Note: These prizes are of the 756 variety.

Div. IV: The grand prize will be offered to the copy having the greatest ancestry. The contest editor is at present in possession of a lab book which dates back five generations. If no one else has an older original, then the grand prize shall be his and he shall not be accused of foul play, even if he does lose all entries which might beat his.

Div. V: The second and third prizes will be offered to the best two in the division of staff members. Anyone having a lab book or essay of a present-day staff member who can prove that it's a copy will get a prize.

4. Comments upon the preceding rules:

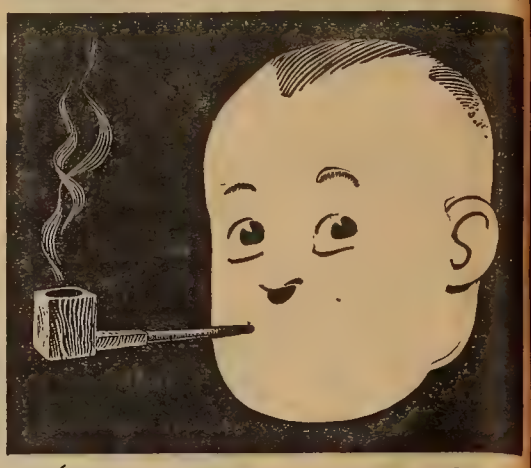
This contest is fair and impartial. The contest editor will be the sole judge and to insure complete fairness, he will be locked in a padded cell until the end of the contest.

This contest is based on irrefutable fact. Prizes will not depend on the whim of contest editors. All entries will be put to the acid test of origin or birth.

Anyone can enter this contest, the only requirement being that he can write. Nothing could be simpler.

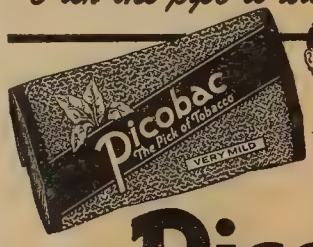
5. Official entry form. A specimen entry form with specimen answers is here reproduced. Official entry forms must be obtained from the North Pole.

Form:
Name ..... Kaprushnick, T.B.
Course ..... Theory and applications of holdups.
Institution ..... state pen
Entry .. Essay on Prison breaks
Source ..... Essay on Prison Breaks written last year.
Comments ..... The copy of my copy is itself a copy of a copy of a copy of a .....
Final Reminder: It's never too



(Continued on Page 7)

PLEASE!



Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

NEVER PUT A SQUARE PIPE IN A ROUND FACE

Pick the pipe to suit Your Type

When you've picked your pipe right—pick your tobacco right. Pick Picobac the pick of pipe-tobaccos.

Picobac

Picobac is Burley Tobacco—the coolest, mildest tobacco ever grown.

We're at home from now on!

ALL-VARSITY REVUE
1949-50

CASTING OF DANCING CHORUS

BOTH GUYS AND GALS ! !

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 4-6 P.M.

at

THE ZION CHURCH
(Our Rehearsal Hame)

Girls are requested if possible to appear in shorts and dancing shoes

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

SING SONG
There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 this afternoon.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT
The Hart House Glee Club is giving a concert in Convocation Hall at 5.00 p.m. this afternoon. An invitation is extended to everyone and admission is free.

GLEE CLUB
Members of the Glee Club are requested to be in Convocation Hall promptly at 4.45 this afternoon.

TUESDAY MID-DAY RECITAL
Mr. Keith Girard, flautist, II Music, will give the fourth in the series of Tuesday informal recitals, in the East Common Room at 1.25 p.m. tomorrow, 29th November. All members of Hart House are cordially invited.

CAMERA CLUB
Members of the club are invited to attend the illustrated lecture, "Colour Made Easy" to be held in the club room on Thursday, 1st December, at 7.00 p.m.

REVOLVER CLUB
There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 p.m. tonight.

TABLE TENNIS
Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 p.m. tonight.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT
Representatives from the various colleges and faculties are asked to pick up their tickets today for the concert to be given on Sunday evening by the St. Mary Magdalene Singers, conducted by Dr. Healey Willan.

LIBRARY EVENING
Mr. John Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada, will be the speaker for the third Library Evening of the year, which will be held on Thursday, 1st December, at 7.30 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Mr. Gray will speak on "The Canadian Literary Scene as Viewed by a Publisher."

THE VARSITY

Monday, November 28, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

Gone Are The Days

. . . when the patch of green between Hart House U.C. and the observatory was converted into a noon-day picnic ground. The hundreds of fresh air loving students who audibly admired the passing scenery, basked and lunched are now deprived of this midday pastime for the green is green no longer. It is white, and even the most rugged engineer braves not the cold and snow for the cause of health and beauty.

Danger To World In East's Poverty, Warns Journalist

"An international cataclysm" may be caused by the great difference between standards of living in the western world and in Asia, B. K. Sandwell, editor of Saturday Night, predicted in his lecture Friday night in West Hall, University College, the third address of the U.C. Lecture Series.

Considers Contrast

The announced subject of his lecture was "The Basis of the Canadian Standard of Living," but, as Sandwell pointed out, he actually spoke on the contrast between the standard of living in North America and standards of living in the rest of the world.

After outlining how that contrast developed and how there is a constant tendency for people of less highly-developed countries to attempt to share in the wealth of the western world, Sandwell concluded, "If it requires an international cataclysm to bring this situation to an end, then I will not be surprised if we have an international cataclysm."

Emigrants Help

He said North America's high standard of living is simply the result of its vast natural resources, in proportion to its population. Europe's standards of living had been increased because it could send emigrants to North America and share in the New World's resources by manufacturing for it.

The result of this high standard of living has been that the value of labor has increased in the western world, Sandwell pointed out. As long as the employer classes had controlled government, the policy had been to bring in labor from less developed countries.

But since 1850 the employed classes had won more and more political power. The result had been regulations to prevent immigrants from Asia, especially China.

Therefore the people of Asia canont share in the New World's natural resources by emigration, Sandwell pointed out. He said trade with the western world has done Asia no good and possibly definite harm, since Asia can get western goods only by selling raw materials which are needed by the Asiatic peoples to survive.

Asia's Problem

He said there is no hope that Asia may increase her standard of living by industrialization or birth control, because the people so badly need everything they produce that they cannot spare anything for capital investment or even for contraceptives.

The western world's great wealth makes it possible for it to maintain military establishments far superior to anything poorer nations can afford, he continued. But this was not a safe guarantee that the West's high standard of living could be maintained in the face of the desires of starving peoples. Western nations had shown that in their quarrels they were willing to arm the great masses of manpower of Asia.

Varsity Graduate Gets Promotion In Skule Staff

Promotion of William Gourlay McIntosh to professor was one of three promotions in the Engineering Faculty announced last week by President Sidney Smith. Prof. McIntosh graduated from Varsity in 1912 and joined the teaching staff ten years later. He will be in charge of the machine design and mechanism section.

The new professor is engaged in research work on saw milling in the Ontario Research Council and is chairman of the Advisory Committee of the School of Mechanical and Industrial Technology at the Ryerson Institute. He has held various offices in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Dr. Smith also announced the promotion of W. A. Wallace to the rank of assistant professor of mechanical engineering and G. Ross Edwards to assistant in engineering.

Galbraith, Varsity Grad Appointed By Harvard As Prof. Of Economics

John Kenneth Galbraith, a graduate of University of Toronto who is a native of Iona Station, Ontario, has been appointed Professor of Economics at Harvard University, it was announced last week.

After leaving Toronto, from where he graduated in 1931, Dr. Galbraith continued his studies at the universities of California and Cambridge. His teaching experience includes terms at California, Harvard, and Princeton.

A specialist in the statistical study of economic problems, Dr. Galbraith has done studies in the fields of agricultural economics and finance particularly. He has also served as administrator or consultant with several U.S. governmental agencies.

CBC Broadcasts Yule Greetings From W.I. Students

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will again broadcast Christmas messages from West Indian students to their relatives and friends at home. Messages will be recorded at the CBC studios on Tuesday, Nov. 29, and mailed to the West Indies for broadcast on local radio stations there Christmas Eve.

West Indian students at Toronto who want to send a message home should go to the CBC Studios at 354 Jarvis Street tomorrow afternoon. The recordings will be made in Studio "H." Students who are interested in sending messages should appear at the following times: Those from Jamaica, 3:30 p.m.; from Trinidad, 4 p.m.; from Barbados, 4:30 p.m.; from British Guiana, 5 p.m.; and from other areas, such as Bermuda, the Bahamas, the Leeward or Windward Islands, at 5:30 p.m.

Students should come prepared to talk for about half a minute. The CBC suggests that the message contain material relating to the student's life and activities here, in addition to containing Christmas greetings. Those wishing to take part are asked to be on time, as the schedule must be adhered to.

Last year about twenty-five West Indian students from Toronto participated in the CBC program.

Austrian Student Concert Sketches Homeland's Lore

No chorus lines, suggestive jokes, or elaborate stage sets were in evidence at a student revue presented Saturday night in Toronto. In fact, the traditional requirements for university productions in this country were absent. But nobody in the audience missed them.

The occasion was the two-hour concert staged by thirty-one visiting Austrian students in Massey Hall. Presenting a series of sketches of Austrian folklore and music, in authentic native costume, the naturalness of the material and of the performers was refreshing.

Despite the ubiquitous influence of Hollywood, Viennese waltzes occupied a minor part of the program. Emphasis was on folk dances and peasant life.

Student Sings

Highlights of the concert were the harp-playing of Peter Friesinger, a commerce student, the singing of music student Vroni

(Continued on Page 7)

Baha'i Youth Leader To Speak At Meeting

Guest speaker at the fourth open meeting of the Baha'i Student Group will be Mrs. Audrey Westheuser, Chairman of the Ontario Regional Teaching Committee, in Room 64, University College at 1 p.m. today. Mrs. Westheuser is a well-known Baha'i speaker; she has lectured extensively throughout Ontario and New York State. In her address today Mrs. Westheuser will expand this theme under the title of "The World Order of Baha'u'llah".

She has had a number of years experience in various Baha'i administrative bodies. Mrs. Westheuser has been particularly active with Baha'i youth.

Varsity Makeup Staff

The following members of The Varsity makeup staff are asked to contact the Makeup Editor either today or Tuesday in The Varsity Newsoffice at 1 p.m.

Joan Aitken, Barbara Bambridge, Louise Bieley, Marilyn Black, Ron Bonar, Joan Cavanaugh, Elaine Cohen, Gwen Dudley, Viola Evans, Mary Glazman, Stan Greenwood, Joan Hanley, Al Hoad, Shirley Johnston, Blandford Kay, Joan Kelday, Ken Landry, Joan Langlois.

Pat Marlow, Ian Montagnes, Helen McCauley, Margaret McCorry, Ken Mackenzie, Dana McWilliams, Roberta Plaskett, Robert Toye, Dolores Robinson, Ruth Roseman, Christie Russell, Corinne Sims, Pauline Smith, Trudy Sniegocki, Lenore Steiner, Terry Scott, Ron Watts.

To Include Serious Injuries In Present Health Service

"Provisions for the care of the more serious injuries is under consideration at present," said Dr. Gossage, Director of the University Health Service. "It is hoped that a satisfactory plan will be worked out in the near future." At present all ambulatory and relatively mild cases are taken care of by the Health Service.

McGill Investigates Group Accident Plan Financed By Students

Montreal, Nov. 27 — (CUP) — A Group Accident Plan designed to provide reimbursement within specified limits for hospital, surgical and medical expenses incurred by undergraduates is currently being investigated by the S.E.C. of McGill. Benefits include hospitalization, surgical fees, medical expenses. The premiums on such a plan would come from a $2.50 increase in student fees.

Queen's Students Vote On Health Service Plan Insurance For Students

Kingston, Nov. 27 — (CUP) — Queen's students will vote this week in a referendum on which health plan will be in effect at Queen's University. There will be three choices. These three choices — the London Life, Group Medical Services, and the Student Health Committee Health Plan — are the selections from five alternatives which were originally considered by the Alma Mater Society.

Explorer Explains

Steak To Caribou Fat

Last Friday night members of the H. House exploration society relaxed comfortably in their seats and leisurely smoked, from pipe and cigarette, while Andy Lawrie talked of Caribou, four hundred miles northwest of Churchill.

Outside the first snow of the year was crowning the chimneys of Hart House and drifting in front of the main entrance.

Andy Lawrie, dressed in a conservative blue suit with watch chain strung across his vest, is a young man with a penchant for details and facts. From the beginning, he declared his trip to northern Manitoba was based on the fact that the department of wild-life, a branch of Land and Resources, required someone to do research on barren land Caribou. It was something he was interested in and at the same time paid a salary. He declared that he was not an explorer but a man doing a job.

Caribou Survey

The Caribou is the foundation of the northland economy, and it would be impossible to carry on without it. The Department of Lands and Forests was interested in determining the trend of the caribou population. Since the official report has not been made public, as yet, Mr. Lawrie would not anticipate the conclusions of the survey.

The usual food while on the trail is caribou meat and tea. The caribou meat was cut into strips and roasted over the fire. Tea was made in a tin, suspended on a stick over the fire.

"It is important when eating caribou meat," said Andy, "to include some of the fat." In the beginning, Andy feasted on sirloin steaks and filet mignon, but the lack of fats soon made him sick. He quickly caught up on his caribou fat.

Fresh Fish Best

The best meal he ever enjoyed was lake trout, freshly caught. "There is a world of difference in lake trout, minutes old and even one day old," Andy said. Most of the fish were caught in gill nets and included Arctic graylings, whitefish and suckers. Occasionally an Eskimo boy, a visitor to the camp, caught the fish. One day, as Andy was watching the lad land a big one it slipped the hook just at the shore. Without hesitation, the lad jumped head first into the water and came up holding the lake trout . . . by the tail . . . in his teeth ! ! !

Through this relationship with the Eskimos Andy developed a hearty respect for them. He learned to perform their dances, sing some of their songs, and developed a capacity for tea of which the Eskimo is inordinately fond. The Eskimos are dying out in this part of Canada. The decline of their culture is evidenced by their lack of carving and decorations and the rough stitching of their clothing.

Our Readers Write

Not in Embryology

Editor, The Varsity:

Your article by Norm Sherman, page 1, Nov. 23 issue, should give the All Varsity Revue a great boost, and according to the article it should be great to see.

Maybe in our faculty we are conscious of our limbs but that "one hundred and forty-one muscular legs—seven hundred and five wee little toes twinkling up at me," was too much to take. Sherman starts out with seventy bare footed girls, which to us would give one hundred and forty limbs—not one hundred and forty-one—what was he counting?—a leg on the piano? If not we'd sure like to see the one-legged girl in the revue and those five extra toes.

Yes, the revue sure has everything—five extra toes! ! We haven't even got those in the embryology texts, let alone in life.

The boys of Clinic No. 1, II Meds.

P.S. Sherman must be an engineer and slightly dazzled by those "short shorts, long shorts, loose and tight shorts"—too bad, he might have made a good reporter.

P.P.S. Maybe it was those sweaters—they sounded good too.

✣ ✣ ✣

Dislikes "Mouthings"

Editor, The Varsity:

At present I have the honour of enjoying a two semester siesta in 4th year SPS. I say this to prove that I am old and wise in the art of judging petty campus squabbles over the merits of us budding Engineers. Back in second year, it was Keith Davey's blathering about 'bottled Skule spirit,' he was followed by various odd personalities. Now someone stumbled over a stone on the campus and what crawled out but Rocky Martino. His cries, printed in the Nov. 22 issue of The Varsity definitely take the booby prize for naivete.

To quote a wit whom I respect and admire above all, "these are but the mouthings of a horde of jealous horn-rimmed half-wits". It is beyond my humble powers of comprehension why these people always choose Skulemen as the targets of their frustrations and complexes. Personally, I am becoming rather nauseated after long and repetitious exposure to their remarks. Why don't they become jealous of some other faculty and let us continue quietly in the old SPS tradition of campus leadership?

I have no desire to become embroiled in this nincompoopish campus tiff ca co-eds, for I firmly believe in the old proverb "to each his bone". My remarks are intended merely as an expression of disgust for this new species of heckler, who seems to be the culmination of a series of perverted Artsian minds, and should be put out of his misery rapidly. If Mr. Martino has been offended by my opinions, let him challenge me to a duel on the front campus—my trusty Oxford against his Yankee Webster any day.

E. H. 'Benny' Benstein,
IV SPS.

COMING EVENTS

FOOD CHEMISTRY CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Food Chemistry Club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 29, Room 117, Household Economics Bldg., at 8:15 p.m. Dr. W. D. McFarlane of Victory Mills Ltd., will discuss soy bean processing and movies will be shown.

✣ ✣ ✣

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

"Are we losing our academic freedom?" is the subject of an informal discussion to be held at the Graduate Union Tuesday, Nov. 29, at 8:15 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

FLYING CLUB

Open meeting of the Flying Club on Wed. evening at 7.30 p.m. in the Music Room, Hart House, will feature an R.C.A.F. training movie in technicolour "Fit FOR G", and a short talk on aviation medicine by Doctor A. Levy, a member of the club. Everyone welcome.

The regular ground school lecture of the Flying Club will take place on Wed. at 5 p.m. in Room 229, New Mechanical Building. Subject: "Basic Navigation".

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC VCF

G. M. Grube, professor of Classics at Trinity College, will speak on the "Nationalization of Industries" at the meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 30, at 1 p.m. in Room 18.

✣ ✣ ✣

CONSERVATIVE CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the Rhodes Room, Trinity College.

✣ ✣ ✣

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB

There will be a general membership meeting of Ukrainian Students' Club held on Tuesday, Nov. 29, 8.00 p.m., in Room 4, University College.

✣ ✣ ✣

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Under the auspices of the U.C. Christian Fellowship Club Dr. H. S. Hillyer of Bolivia will speak on "Martyrs of Metcamaya" at 1.20 p.m. Tuesday, in Room 64 at UC.

✣ ✣ ✣

TRINITY COLLEGE MISSIONARY COMMITTEE

Lt.-Colonel Paul Rusch, resident of Japan for 20 years and recently intelligence officer with General McArthur, will speak in the J.C.R. at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 29.

✣ ✣ ✣

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE DE U.C.

Réunira jeudi, le premier décembre, à 8h.15 au théatre de Women's Union. M. Michel Sanouillet nous parlera de la vie universitaire, ici et en France. Il y aura aussi une pièce, et on chantera les chansons de noël. Tout le monde est cordialement invité.

ALL-VARSITY MIXED CHORUS
Rehearsal 8 p.m. at the Women's Union - Today

ART ex MUSIC ex DRAMA

TSO Pops

The time has come for a defence of Pops and Promenade concerts. We are apt to forget, in what the unbelievers label—and perhaps justly—snobbish superiority, th they are both excellent institutio in their own right. Because th are "pops," that is "popular," a as someone may drink pop, is no ground for deriding them. The music is generally well executed (that is NOT a pun); and th artists are those who have firml established reputations. Such con certs are stepping-stones by whic those who are ordinarily suspicio of long-haired music may be intr duced to a full symphony orchestra and may even have their interest a roused that they will be temerario enough to attend a true symphon concert; eventually they may fin music to their taste among th better compositions of the grea composers.

If the music on Friday night wa predominantly marches and polkas they were counterbalanced b Smetana's tone poem "The Moldau and Mozart's charming "Eine Klein Nachtmusik," both of which ho a well-deserved position in the stan dard repertoire of the best sym phony orchestras. If heads, hands and feet were set in motion by the "Tick Tack Polka," "Pizzicato Pol ka," "Blue Danube," and "Marche Militaire," it shows a natural and unrestrained response to rhythm. What is a conductor, for that mat ter, but the symbol of unifie rhythm and emotion in music?

Whether Eugene Conley, guest tenor, sang "The Garden Where the Praties Grow" (Liddle), "I Hear You Calling Me" (Marshall) or "Una Furtiva Lagrima" (from Donizetti's "L'Elisir D'Amore"), the audience warmly applauded his light effortless tones—that is, when they could hear of them above our self-assertive orchestra. Perhaps they would agree with us that it was not until the second group, which was broadcast, did Mr. Conley come to life; that he did not sing the so-called semi-classics as though they were Italian opera, or vice versa, and that it was any one's guess as to whether orchestra or tenor would finish in Clonep Frank's "Romance" first.

Sylvia Mon

NOTICE

BEAVER CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 1950

These Scholarships, of an annual value not exceeding £500 sterling, are tenable at any University or College in Great Britain, the duration of each being at the discretion of the Selection Committee. In the choice of scholars, emphasis will be on the humanities and social sciences, including such subjects as law, pedagogy, fine arts and sociology. The purpose of the scholarships is educational, AND NOT FOR RESEARCH. There will be no written examination. The conditions of eligibility are as follows:

1. Candidates must be
   (a) Canadian citizens,
   (b) men who served at least one year in the Canadian armed forces during the period from September 1, 1939, to August 31, 1945, OR the son of a man who so served.
2. Although preference will be given to candidates who will be completing their undergraduate studies at a University or College in Canada during the current academic year, candidates who have completed at least two years of university or college work in Canada are eligible to apply.
3. Candidates will not be disqualified by marriage, but the value of each scholarship will be determined solely by reference to the needs of the candidate himself, and will, in no circumstances, be increased on account of dependents.

The final date of application has been postponed until December 10, 1949. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the University Registrar, Simcoe Hall, or from Mr. P. L. P. Macdonnell, Secretary, Beaver Club Trust, 10439 - 136th Street, Edmonton, Alberta.

ARROW WHITE is ALWAYS RIGHT!

And we have a good selection of Arrow's famous white shirts with a variety of up-to-the-minute, perfect-fitting Arrow collars.

Come in today and see our Arrow shirts, ties and other Arrow products.

Teasdale's CLOTHES SHOP
804 YONGE ST.
(Just north of Bloor)

To the Student—

When purchasing ring covers and Loose Leaf of any description ask for the DOMINION LINE, the finest quality obtainable

See your Bookstore,

DOMINION BLANK BOOK CO. LIMITED

● COMING EVENTS ●

U.C. - P.H.E. WOMEN VOTE
FOR YOUR '50-'51
S. A. C. REP
Z. MURRAY or JOAN EDDIS
To-morrow in the Rotunda

VARSITY NITE
at Walmer Road Church
(1 block north and west of Spadina and Bloor)
Baptist Young People's Union
Monday, November 28, at 8 p.m.
The program will be conducted by Varsity students.
Students welcome.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6767
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

DON'T MISS THIS SCARLET & GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY!
LAST THREE DAYS
FOR TICKETS TO THE

SCARLET & GOLD REVIEW

EATON AUDITORIUM, NOVEMBER 30, AT 8:15 P.M.
THERE ARE STILL SOME GOOD RESERVED SEATS AVAILABLE

TICKETS
$1.80 per reserved seat

Available at Economics Bldg., and Alumni Hall - Victoria College

ART MUSIC DRAMA

Fortune, My Foe

Robertson Davies' case for the Canadian artist opened Saturday as Robert Gill's second Hart House production of the season. Mr. Davies' tragi-comedy describes the plight of men of talent in a country whose artistic development still excuses itself as "pioneering," men whose talents will bring them neither opportunity, appreciation nor money. Without even the promise of a future in Canada and the grim example before him of a cankered colleague grown old in a vacuum (Queen's University?) young Nicholas Hayward decides to try his fortune in the States. Mr. Davies is not over-lenient with Canadians — they are "frost-bitten blockheads" who sometimes pervert art as a means, but seldom grasp it as an end — but Canadian audiences may be over-lenient with Mr. Davies' play occasionally accepting topicality and locality for good theatre in parts where little else is offered. Set in a Kingston barhangar, the play threatens, in the first act, to be a two-and-a-half-hour argument, with no very interesting evidence; but with the arrival of an educational-recreational committee the thing comes to life.

From a production stand-point, any faults may seem over-subtle quibbles. Attention in Mr. Davies' play is focused entirely on the cast and they bear the burden of scrutiny. David Gardner and Margaret Bronson are in the difficult position of being "straight" parts surrounded by "characters," and must therefore present subtler delineations, balanced but interesting. Miss Bronson is properly elegant but too brittle; and I now suspect Mr. Gardner of being a type. The same serious idealism that made him perfect for "All My Sons," that made his Mark Antony more of a hypocrite than an opportunist, makes his Nicholas Hayward sometimes too heavy, even self-righteous.

Donald Davis as the older professor well presents the bitterness of a wasted gift in a barren land; Kenneth Jarvis is fine as an immigrant puppeteer whose faith in Canada restores Nicholas'; and Gordon Gibson, as a derelict, is a most effective local colour — a nice contrast in active depravity and suspended animation. Frances Halpenny and Gordon Asquith, pièces de résistance, the priceless educators of tots, teens and morons, arrive in the second act to lift the level of the play from commentary to acutely funny satire. They are happily-written and happily-cast, even if the playwright dampens the satire with a too vehement reaction.

Mr. Davies seems to have the courage of his convictions. At any rate he is still here, was present Saturday night as large as life, and apparently thriving in the wilderness.

Jim Dickinson.

Dress Rehearsal

Last Friday I dropped in on an interesting experiment (which follows American practice) by the Speech Arts and Drama School of the Toronto Conservatory, directed by Clara Salisbury Baker. It consisted of having students act in costume, or recite, certain scenes before an audience. It is wise, I think, to consider the actual acting as part of the training and not merely the culmination of schooling for the display of voice and breathing technique. It is a chance to test the theory.

Stage presentation has certain problems which remain purely problematical until attempted. The usual stress is on nerves, but I think this is overdone; anyone who joins an acting group has already an extraordinary reserve of courage. The urgent problems of exit, gestures, etc., are poignantly felt only one way.

I arrived as Isobel Young started reciting from Childe Harold (Roll on, etc). It had no errors, just pauses, and remained on the level of accurate, unanimated reproduction until "And I have loved you, Ocean." Here it was touched with life and warmth. Louise Winkelmans (Leacock's At the Photographer's) showed no traces of the labour of memory. She used contrasts in speed and tone to establish diverse identity, and effectively brought out the underlying revolt as well as the surface humour.

Now Shakespeare. We started with Portia estimating her various suitors. Of this I understood not a word. It was much too quickly spoken, though the pleasing texture of her voice was noticeable. Her handmaiden was excellent, composed and intelligible. Then we saw Pat Prime as Viola (against a rather immature and unstable Olivia). She was letter perfect and carried off well the page's earnestness and determination. Still her baritone voice left no trace of "thy small pipe is as the maiden's organ, shrill and sound." The best piece came last (Act I, Scene III, As You Like It) when two quite polished actresses (Rosalind, Rosemary Sowby and Celia, Margaret Griffen) ran the gamut from joy to sorrow and back, clearly communicating friendship, anger and excitement with an economy of gesture and complete self-control.

Whether this new technique has merit cannot be answered a priori; a post hoc appraisal must be made by the actors concerned. I think it is an excellent idea, but it should not be done by presenting many bits of plays. My respects to their instructors who taught them to speak so that they can give poetry expression, avoiding both inadequate realism and that cold, colourless, formal stereotype.

Murray Pashler.

Beth McVey

The public recital of a celebrated artist must be less of a strain in the actual performance than that of an amateur. The technique of the latter, being less developed, allows less freedom of expression, hence less confidence. There is often, as in Saturday's concert, the problem of a small audience. Six or seven full rows in Eaton Auditorium is not a heart-warming sight.

Beth McVey gave her violin recital under such circumstances with great reserve and restraint. The programme showed the same characteristics. It consisted of three sonatas, and a fourth group of three short numbers. Miss McVey seemed unsteady in the opening arpeggio figure of the Vivaldi sonata in D, and later in the double-stopping. Heh rhythm was meticulous rather than infectious, and in long sequential passages she tended to rush ahead, losing the rhythmic insistence. This characteristic marred the closing Presto of the sonata. The preceeding Largo was effective. Here the soloist was at her best, as later in the slow movement of the concerto in G of Mozart, and the lyric passages of the second Brahms sonata. There was evident a variety of tonal resource of great beauty.

The Mozart number gave the soloist some problems of intonation, and the endings of both first and last movements were too casual for this writer's taste. If no great effect has been reached in a musical number, a rousing or soothing final cadence will often rescue it. The contour of the main theme of the Adagio would perhaps have been improved by a less heavy emphasis of the main note (the penultimate E).

The Paganini sonata (in A), Godowsky's rich "Alt Wein," and the "Celebre Allegro" of Fiocco formed the closing group. The first had the warmth of tone that had been evident previously only in the slow movements. The "Old Wine" was a bit bubbly, and the Fiocco "Allegro" again showed the rhythmic weakness in long sequences.

Simeon Joyce was accompanist.

Lloyd Zurbrigg.

HOUSING FOR UNB VETS

Fredericton — (CUP) — 114 apartments have been supplied to married vets at the University of New Brunswick through a school housing scheme. The undergrad families among them have 130 children. The apartments which are let at a "reasonable rent" are maintained by the U.N.B.

THE STARDUSTERS

VARSITY'S FAVORITE ORCHESTRA!!

FOR THE FULL BAND OR OUR SMALLER ORCHESTRA

PHONE ME. 4455

A WEST INDIAN PARTY

West Indians and their friends are cordially invited to a party in the JUNIOR COMMON ROOM, U.C., on FRIDAY, EVENING, DECEMBER 2nd

Come and have fun. There will be mirth, merriment and calypsos. Dancing 8:30 p.m.

ADMISSION: 50c

STAMMERING

Stammering corrected by modern scientific methods. Dormitory & Camp. Helpful 48-page booklet gives full information. Write today for FREE copy.

W. D. Dennison, 543 Jarvis St. Toronto

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

2 STORES TO SERVE YOU

31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

REDUCED RAILWAY FARE For CHRISTMAS VACATION

The Canadian Passenger Association has announced that reduced fare arrangements have now been authorized for the Christmas and New Year vacation period. Students and members of the teaching staff may obtain at College and Faculty offices forms which will permit them to buy a return ticket at current normal one-way fare and one-half.

These forms carry the dates of the University vacation period, December 16th to January 3rd, and no member of the University staff has any authority to alter these dates.

J. C. EVANS, Registrar

Like Great Grandmama's

Heavy antique-looking jewelry to flatter a feminine face.
In gold colored metal. Necklace, each 5.00. Bracelets, each 3.00

SIMPSON'S

HART HOUSE GLEE CLUB

DIRECTED BY DR. CHARLES PEAKER

FIRST CONCERT

CONVOCATION HALL

TODAY - 5:00 P.M.

ADMISSION FREE

HART HOUSE

Grads and Expectant Grads ! ! !

ONLY FIVE SHOPPING DAYS LEFT TO GET YOUR TICKETS TO

THE GRADUATE ANNUAL DANCE

MART KENNEY - NORMA LOCKE - BILLY MEEK

$3.00 per couple. Tickets on sale at 44 Hoskin, and Grad. office, Hart House

SEMI - FORMAL

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

SPEAKER: MRS. AUDREY WESTHEUSER
SUBJECT: "WORLD ORDER OF BAHA'U'LLAH"
PLACE: ROOM 64 U.C. (BASEMENT)
TODAY 1 P.M. — ALL WELCOME

NOTICE

The Royal Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1851 have invited the University of Toronto to nominate a candidate, or candidates for the three scholarships, each of the value of £350 per annum for two years, with possible additional allowances, to be offered by the Commissioners for award in Canada, in 1950.

Your attention is drawn also to the scholarship established by the Royal Institution, tenable only at the Davy Faraday Research Laboratory, and open to candidates for the 1851 Overseas Scholarships.

Information regarding these scholarships may be found on pages 258 and 259 of the current Arts calendar.

Applications for these scholarships, accompanied by theses as evidence of the candidates' ability for original research must be received at the Registrar's Office, Simcoe Hall, NOT LATER THAN APRIL 1st, 1950.

November 28th, 1949.

DRINK—

5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

117

Movie Review

Spring In Park Lane

Simultaneously with winter in the rest of Toronto, a breath of spring has blown into the University and Eglinton theatres. "Spring In Park Lane" is one of the very few movies which come anywhere near living up to their billing as "delightful romantic comedy."

The story deals with a gay young black-sheep nobleman who, for reasons of his own, acts as footman in a swanky Park Lane mansion and who, through incorrigible mischievousness and seemingly inexhaustible talents, in turn upsets the household and sets it aright, meanwhile falling for and winning the master's niece. Through numerous holes in this improbable plot the silken gold tassels of good old North American maize are visible to the naked eye. But you won't mind.

Although it was made in Britain, where it won a number of prizes, it is modelled after some of Hollywood's pre-war films and manages, fortunately, to capture their long-lost lightness. The accent over here, though, will be on romance, as Canadian audiences may find the humour just a little too casual and leisurely to tickle their funny-bones past a pleasant chuckle, with the possible exception of a killing scene in which a stuffy young Marquis laboriously drags one of his favourite anecdotes into pieces, snickering uncontorllably from time to time at its punch line, which no one else ever hears.

To effect a romantic atmosphere as refreshing and wholesome as your first romance (and don't tell me you don't remember it, you who are just too blasé for words) a soft pedal has been placed on passion. The setting swarms with blossoming trees and flowers and there is a lovely theme song called "The Moment I Saw You" from a hit London revue. But the high point is a dance on a moonlit terrace executed by the two principals and illustrating what a grand feeling love can be. Ingenious alternation of slow motion and normal speed coupled with beautiful lighting make this sequence enchanting.

Director Herbert Wilcox's wife, Anna Neagle, plays the niece, and she is just as charming as ever, although apparently a little older. Playing a leading role tailor-made for Cary Grant is Michael Wilding, who, being less of a smart-aleck and more of a gentleman, seems at times a little embarrassed having to act as silly as he does. On the whole, however, he comes off fine. Tom Walls, as the Uncle, heads a cast of sturdy supports including Peter Graves as a conceited movie idol, and Nicholas Phipps as the aforementioned dull Marquis, both of whom, naturally, are suitors for the young lady's hand.

For the student whose spirits are snowed under by essays and tests this movie should be a tonic. If I didn't take myself so seriously, I'd break down and admit I got a big kick out of it.

D. Davidson.

Terse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young man from Odessa
Who rudely addressed a professa
The result of his slams
Soon appeared in exams
For his marks became lessa and lessa.

I. R. C.

Mr. Roberts, High Commissioner of South Africa will speak on the topic, South Africa and the World To-day.

4 P.M. - CARTWRIGHT HALL

U. C. BASKETBALL

PRACTICE FOR MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 4-5 P.M.
LOWER GYM - HART HOUSE

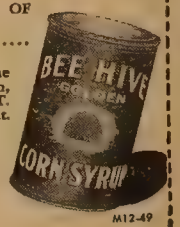
Tickets on sale U.C. Rotunda 11-2 p.m.
FOR
"HILLELZAPOPPIN"
THURSDAY, DEC. 1st
at
CLUB KINGSWAY

OZZIE WILLIAMS & ORCHESTRA
DANCING 9-1
$3.00 A COUPLE

DANCE
ELLIS McLINTOCK
AND ORCHESTRA

FRIDAY	SATURDAY
$2.00 Per Couple	$2.50 Per Couple
9 to 12.30	8.30 to 12

OLD TIME & MODERN DANCING
EVERY WEDNESDAY
OPEN FOR INSPECTION
SUNDAY, 1 TO 6 P.M.
CASA LOMA



A leading Life Insurance Company requires men of character, initiative and integrity, capable of dealing with business executives in all branches of industry, for training as salaried representatives in its Group Division. Previous experience in sales and service work of this type unnecessary as successful applicants receive without fee the Company's special group training course under expert supervision to qualify them for the responsibilities of their position. Applicant must be age 30 or under.

Comprehensive welfare plan including group life assurance, group casualty and pension benefits is provided.

Apply by letter to Box 10, giving full information as to age, education, marital status, salary expected, present and past employment.

GIRLS: IT'S NEW! IT'S DIFFERENT! IT SCORES A HIT!
YOUR HOCKEY STAR LAPEL PIN!
Gold Lacquered Hockey Stick ...with 3/4" photo in jewellery setting! offer
SEND ME A HOCKEY-STAR LAPEL PIN OF
.....
(Print your choice of N.H.L. Player)
For each Lapel Pin you want send 25c in coin and one label or top from Bee Hive Syrup, Durham Corn Starch, Ivory Laundry Starch, or St. Lawrence Oil, to ST. LAWRENCE STARCH CO. LIMITED, Port Credit, Ont.
NAME.....
ADDRESS.....
CITY.....PROV.....

25¢ AND ONE BEE HIVE SYRUP LABEL OR TOP. <SEE OFFER>

M12-49

Tickets $2.00 per couple
Kl. 3680 or Kl. 6932

THE ANNUAL INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL DANCE
AT THE BRANT INN
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30

Train leaves Union Station at 8 p.m. sharp.
$1.90 per couple return

SPEAKING OF SPORT

(Continued from Page 8)

really been burning up the cinders. Don comes from Glebe Collegiate in Ottawa, and we wonder how the kid was ever let out of Canada by our coaches, who are crying for good material. . . . It looks more and more like the University of Toronto will have to start condoning financial help for athletes in self-defence.

* * *

One more football game and the season will be over. As soon as Skule (assisted by the LGMB) and Vic fight it out for the Mulock . . . . and it looks like the frost-bite chapter in the First-Aid books will get a big play. Which reminds us, when are they going to get heat in the Varsity Stadium press-box? The intramural soccer playoffs will be run off at the stadium this week . . . seems their players have some objection to playing in three feet of snow on the front campus. Claim it interferes with their passing. Not having been born in Blighty, we wouldn't know.

Before we sign off, WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE MAPLE LEAFS????? And you can send us the prize care of The Varsity News Office, Mr. Smythe.

The Peace—

(Continued from Page 1)

he supplies the Hudson's Bay Company with all their potatoes and grows his own food. He has his own canning units and proudly boasts that he had enough food ahead to last a year.

Besides having a prosperous farm, he has the world at his feet. In the river he can catch beautiful trout, even pictures of which are enough to send a fisherman into dreams of rapture. When Jim tires of fishing, he walks a mile from his home and hunts — mountain sheep, deer — the animals of the north. He lives like a king — on the 56th parallel.

Many Settle

Jim's story is typical of many The land is there and needs only hard work to produce luxuriant crops. Farmers from the Prairies, tired of fighting the dust, are following Jim's lead and coming to this land of promise. Last summer alone, 38 families took out sections near Fort St. John.

It was with a hope of awakening interest in the Fenlay Forks region that Warden Ignatieff took his trip last summer. He has long felt that the future of Canada lies in an expansion of our economy. Prosperity lies not in centralizing all our wealth and developing only the central regions of Canada, Ontario and Quebec, but rather in the development and expansion of our hinterland regions.

Soil Is Good

Fenlay Forks is ideal for development. The soil is good, the region abounds in mineral wealth, and the land is sheltered. Behind the Warden's 'homestead' is a cliff standing about 4000 feet high.

After 17 days of clearing land at Fenlay Forks, putting in test seed plots, and taking soil samples, the Warden and his party went downstream to Fort St. John, and then home.

Austrian Student

(Continued from Page 3)

Stoekl, the dancing of a male chorus, and the running commentary of Dr. Sussane Polsterer.

Six male members of the student troupe presented a series of Schuplattelen (which word has no English equivalent), and exhilarating but drastic-looking exercises, involving graceful acrobatics and the slapping of alternate feet at every other step.

"Boy met Girl" in a Making Love in the Mountains number. A series of waltz numbers ended the concert.

Champus Cat

(Continued from Page 2)

late to enter our contest. For years now, students have awaited the opportunity for such a contest. No doubt, The Varsity office will be flooded with many, many entries. It is our sole regret that the contest was not announced before. It has been in the planning stage for many months and it was this contest which provoked certain other journals to announce contests along the same lines. Their worst act of stealing concerned the title — both journals stole our contest title. Nevertheless we still use it.

Arty.

University Health Service

Third Mental Health Discussion Group

"Effective Study and Work Habits"

Discussant: DR. W. LINE, Professor of Psychology

Thursday, December 1st at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place

All students are invited, but especially first year

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

TYPIST

Thoroughly experienced on notes and theses. Conveniently located at 218 John St. Elgin 9063.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable income. Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 7929.

WANTED

Will pay reasonable price for the following: "Constitution of Canada", "Statutes, Treatise and Proclamation of the Constitution of Canada" by W. P. Kennedy. Phone RA. 7263.

TYPIST

Manuscripts, Essays, Theses, Plays, etc. Call HU. 4544.

FOR SALE

1 brown, 1 blue suit, size 38, almost new, very reasonable. Phone Ron Lucas, KI. 9745 after 7.

FOR RENT

1 double room in refined home, breakfast optional, vacant December 6. 81 Walmer Rd.

FOR SALE

Full dress suit, also morning suit, perfect condition, size 37-38. $25 each. HY. 7219.

TYPIST

Have your thesis typed by a Science Grad and professional stenographer. Reasonable rates. Reservations accepted. Phone RA. 7028, Mrs. McLaren.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

BAHA'I

Mrs. Audrey Westheuser will address the Baha'i Student Group at 1 p.m. today on the subject, "World Order of Baha'u'llah", in Room 64 (basement), U.C.

✣ ✣ ✣

LPP FORUM

"Culture and the Cold War" will be the topic of discussion at the LPP Forum, Room 11, U.C. today at 1 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE MUSICALE

Today's musicale selected from the Carnegie Record Collection will consist of Vaughan-Williams' "The Wasps Overture", Berlioz's "The Damnation of Faust" (three excerpts), and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 7".

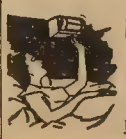
✣ ✣ ✣

VIC SCM

"Abolish Christmas?" will be the subject for discussion at the SCM Group today at 4 p.m. in Vic., Room 21.

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE GLEE CLUB



The Hart House Glee Club will present a concert in Convocation Hall at 5 p.m. today. Admission free.

All Editors

(Continued from Page 1)

ada. The McGill Daily has announced that a new Features Editor has been appointed to replace Elinor Kyte who resigned last month when she found that she did not have enough time to carry the work on the newspaper and still get the honors required in her course.

The original CUP Editor of The Varsity resigned recently when he found that he could not both carry his work in his Engineering course and handle the job for The Varsity.

MORE FUN 'N BED FOR EVERYONE

THE MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL

MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.
TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

EUROPEAN TRADE

A recent resolution of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation urges the European governments which are recipients of Marshall Aid to reduce barriers to normal trade by 50 per cent.

SOCCER TEAMS' PICTURES

Soccer teams will have picture taken on Mon., Nov. 28th, at 1.00 p.m.

Please report, in uniform at Athletic Office.

HOCKEY — REFEREE ASSIGNMENTS

Wed.,	Nov. 30	12.30	Gawinski, Masters
		1.30	Gawinski, Masters
		4.00	McLoughlin, Edwards
Thurs.,	Dec. 1	12.30	Robertson, Graham
		1.30	Robertson, Graham
		4.00	McLoughlin, Ruddy
		8.00	Carr, Wells
Fri.,	Dec. 2	12.30	Allen, Thomas
		1.30	Allen, Thomas
		4.00	McLoughlin, Bayne
		6.30	McLoughlin, Inch

FOOTBALL — MULOCK CUP FINAL

Stadium—Wed., Nov. 30 2.00 p.m. Sr. SPS vs Vic
Referee, Pasternak; Umpire, Luck; Headlinesman, Thompson; Downmarker, Emon

SOCCER PLAYOFFS

Semi-Final	Tues., Nov. 29	3.00	Stadium	Jr. SPS vs Sr. Vic or Wyc
Final	Thur., Dec. 1	2.30	Stadium	Trin I vs Winner above game

Barton
Barton, Montemurro

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER PLAYOFFS—RE-PLAY—STADIUM	3.00	p.m.	Sr. Vic vs Wyc Montemurro
LACROSSE SEMI-FINAL	1.00	U.C. I	vs St. M. B Prendergast, Hastings
VOLLEYBALL GROUP PLAYOFF	4.00	U.C. V	vs Emman ..... Kroll
HOCKEY	12.30	Jr. SPS	vs Jr. U.C. McLoughlin, Farrell
	1.30	Sr. Vic	vs Sr. SPS McLoughlin, Farrell
	4.00	Jr. Vic	vs Pre-Med Allen, Hayes
	8.00	For A	vs Dent A Gawinski, Wright
	9.00	Arch	vs Inst. Mgt Gawinski, Wright

University Health Service

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

FINAL YEAR AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

....who wish to take advantage of the opportunity of a Health Examination, must make an appointment before 15th December.

....who anticipate the need of a Health Certificate for employment after graduation, are particularly advised to make an appointment now.

43 ST. GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE: MI. 9644

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH DAILY MAIL CIGARETTE TOBACCO

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SKI TRIP to SAINT SAUVEUR, QUEBEC

Organized and arranged by the Students' Administrative Council

ALL EXPENSES - Hotel, Railway, Meals, Checking

$25.00

Leave Toronto Friday evening, January 27th, 1950, by special Canadian National Railways train 8:00 p.m.

Return leave St. Sauveur Sunday, January 29th, 1950, 7:30 p.m. arriving Toronto, Monday morning January 30th, 1950.

As accommodation is limited, reservations will be accepted from now on at Students' Administrative Council offices.

DEPOSIT $5.00 REQUIRED, BALANCE BY JANUARY 9th, 1950.

Pullman accommodation will be available, if desired.

Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, University College

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

BLUES SPLIT IN MONTREAL

VARSITY SPORTS

Milne Stars For Jr. B's As Corner Boys Beaten

By J. EDDIS

Weston, Nov. 26— (Staff) — Outskated, out-witted, and out-played as they were for the first period of the ice tilt against the Corner boys, the Varsity Junior B's took a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period and went on to win the game 4-1 Friday night in the new Weston Arena.

The Varsity team, pressed hard throughout the first period, relieved the pressure by skimming the puck down to the other end and scooting after it. The Corner boys had many more shots on goal throughout this period but lady luck and Varsity's lanky goalie John Milne were against them, keeping the red light from flashing.

With less than a minute to go in the period, Don Fullerton fooled the Boys goalie from close in to give Toronto the lead. A passing play right from the centre-ice face-off paid off in another goal for the Blue B's when Bill Yeo bulged the twine just 11 seconds later to make the score 2-0.

With the beginning of the second period the Varsity team began to look like a club that had earned a 2-0 lead but the play was still 'Even Steven'. John Milne was again most efficient in the Blue net, staving off rush after rush. Only one shot passed him — a high screened shot by Steve Posivy from the corner which deflected off Milne's pads into the net.

Only one goal up at the beginning of the third, the Blue boys put on a drive to widen the margin, and succeeded in cornering the Corner Boys. The B's sharpened up their pass attack and deserved the two goals they tallied in this period. Don Fullerton shone again in this period, setting up Ed Brown for a goal early in the period and scoring unassisted at 15.55. This tally was a sensational effort which brought enthusiastic response from the sparse crowd. Fullerton stickhandled through two defensemen, and calmly outwitted the Corner goalie, tucking it in behind him.

Dave Kent and Jim Machin played strong games for Varsity while Norm Gray, Nic Romagnolo and Jimmy Craig shone for the losers.

Line-ups:——

Corner Boys: Goal, Battaglio; def., Dunn, McIntosh; centre, Scott; wings, Plashnik, Craig; alternates, Gray, Romagnola, Gillanders, Gourlie, Smith, Dusto, Posivy, Penfound.

Varsity: Goal, Milne; def., P. Prendergast, D. Prendergast; centre, Shields; wings, Kent, Yeo; alternates, Machin, Koughan, Brown, Fullerton, Nichols, Moore.

First Period

1—Varsity, Fullerton 19:20
2—Varsity, Yeo (Kent, P. Prendergast) 19:31
Penalty——Brown.

Second Period

3—Corner Boys, Posivy (Gray) . 9:50
Penalties—P. Prendergast, Brown, McIntosh, Romagnola.

Third Period

4—Varsity, Brown (Fullerton) .. 3:14
5—Varsity, Fullerton (Machin) . 15:55
Penalties—P. Prendergast, Plashnik, Brown.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

So many cameras on the roof of the Varsity grandstand, and no one got a picture of Mac McCutcheon. Mac was watching the game from the roof, and was sure dressed for it; two overcoats, three scarves, a bright yellow toque, and a pair of hip boots. Mac claimed the boots were anti-gas dress, but we think he cut up an old rubber tube and wrapped his legs with it.

Coaches Obeck, Tindall, and our own Masterson were up having a peek at the Cup final . . . . and that's the last time we will ever watch a game with neutral football coaches. Too dangerous. The visiting firemen had a good time though; in fact, Obeck was having such a good time he offered Masterson a loan if he would come to McGill as an assistant coach. His offer was rejected via a handful of snow down the back of his neck. Obeck hasn't got that $75.00 for the Molson goalposts yet, and he doesn't think he will ever get it.

Nuff color for to-day.

Poor Warren Stevens hasn't had a good night's sleep in weeks since Grey Cup tickets have been hard to get. He has been insulted, threatened, and accused of everything from favoritism, through crookedness, to mopery and gawk by people who wanted ducats . . . . and he hasn't got a thing to do with the allocation or sale of admissions.

FLASH! FLASH! We are informed by the Department In Charge of P.T. Credits that they will be forced to get hard with the boys that miss their periods. It's really a shame to have to fail a guy because he was too lazy to take his 36 credits. And they have to be failed, too . . . no reprieves or sad stories. . . . After a very successful season for the scalpers, the police are finally called in on the day of the last big game to pinch the speculators. So they grab a high-school kid for trying to sell two for ten bucks. How about the cops unloading at thirty per down at the downtown hotels all week? Toronto's finest should be told that the greater part of scalping for a big game is done days before the game.

The Art Editor of the Davis and Elkins (that's a college, son; in the States) "Senator" is named Helen Painter . . . One of the reasons that the University of Michigan has such a red-hot track team is Don McEwen. He is one of the best middle-distance runners in the Big Ten, and has

(Continued on Page 7)

Breaks Ankle

Ernie Frey, chunky winger for the hockey Blues, suffered a broken leg in the game with McGill Redmen Friday night in Montreal. Frey, up until the time of his injury, had scored one goal and had an assist in the Blues' 5-1 victory. Ernie is one of the few veterans back with the Blues this year and his absence will be felt keenly.

Hockey Groups

Interfaculty hockey gets underway today. There are 34 teams entered, five in the first two groups and four in the remaining six groups.

Groupings follow:

1. St. Vic, Sr. SPS, Sr. UC, Sr. Meds, St. Mike's A.
2. Jr. SPS, Jr. UC, Jr. Vic, Pre-Med, Trin. A.
3. For. A, Dent. A, SPS III, UC III.
4. SPS IV, Med III, UC IV, St. Mike's B.
5. Pharm., Vic II, Law, Trin. B.
6. Arch., Inst. Man., For. B. SPS V.
7. Emm., Wyc, Knox, SPS VI.
8. SPS VII, Trin. C, Vic IV, Dent. B.

Sportswoman

Skiers were caught napping with the coming of snow and cold weather. At least those who are responsible for arranging work parties to clear trails on our ski grounds near Newmarket.

However there is to be a meeting for all ski reps, including the women, tomorrow afternoon at 5:00 in the Staff Room, Hart House. It is hoped that all the individuals concerned will turn out because plans for the nearing ski season, as well as those very important trail-cutting excursions will be discussed.

Recreational Swimming

Due to an apparent lack of interest, the hours for recreational swimming have been cut down. They are now 4:00-5:00 every afternoon from Monday to Thursday.

Volleyball

Already Thelma Henderson, president of volleyball, is getting ready for games which start after Christmas, for she is having a meeting next Friday at 5:00 for all those interested in officiating.

If anybody feels that she is in need of some practice, there have been two periods arranged for this purpose in the LM gym on Wednesday at 3:00 and Thursday at 2:00.

Basketball

Tomorrow night will see the start of the basketball play-offs in Hart House. UC Freshies will play St. Mike's at 7:30, while the second game will be between UC Sr.-Jr. A's and Meds.

Exchange—Of two intercollegiate football players selected to The Canadian Press all-star team, Varsity's Fraser (Moose) Mustard was one. Mustard made one of the middle spots on the second team. In the Canadian University press selections Mustard was on the first team. The other college player on CP's dream team was Western's perennial favorite Jack Parry.

Crush Redmen 5-1 Carabins Win 5-0 In Two Ice Tilts

By MAL CRAWFORD

Montreal, Nov. 27,—(Staff)—Wally Halder's started the Intercollegiate schedule in Montreal Friday and Saturday nights, scoring a 5-1 win over McGill Friday, but losing to the fast, smooth-passing, Montreal Carabins by a 5-0 margin. Two games in two nights proved to be a little too much, especially after such a rugged night as the McGill game at the Forum, in which Ernie Frey suffered a broken ankle. Phil Arrowsmith was flown down Saturday afternoon to replace him in Saturday's game. All-star defenceman Wilf Digby didn't make the trip, got married instead.

McGill Mauled

The hockey played in the McGill game was of a very ragged brand. There was an offside about every second minute, and both teams' passing was off. McGill had had only two practices due to the ice carnival at the Forum, and evidently were told to just get out and fight. They got four penalties to Varsity's one in the first period, all minors for hooking or holding, but in the second period, the fireworks really started. Several little scuffles broke out that might have become real battles if the refs hadn't been on the spot as sticks and elbows were carried high. In all, nineteen penalities were called, including a major to Sanderson for putting a gash in Vernon's forehead requiring ten stitches. There were plenty of other occasions where infractions, especially interference, were not called.

Frey Scores

Ernie Frey started the scoring in the first minute of play, and Pete Vernon scored again at the end of the period. Orr lost his shut-out when Bob Marshall, easily McGill's most outstanding player that night, took a pass from Robillard and slipped it in. Bucky Walters scored for Toronto early in the second period, but the most spectacular goal was notched by "Baldy" Turcotte, when he deked Henessey, the McGill defenceman, at the blue line, and skated in on goal all alone for the score.

Tough Luck

Ernie Frey suffered his injury, not from a check, but in skating in on goal alone. His shot missed the pipe by inches, and in shooting, he lost his balance and slid legs-first into the boards. He doesn't recall having been kocked down; he just slipped. His father's laconic answer when telegraphed the news: "Tough luck".

Something new in spectator participation was introduced Friday night, when a bunch of the Montreal youngsters kept throwing tennis balls on the ice. The McGill goalie made his greatest save of the day when he deflected Norm Fox's hard shot tennis ball.

Carabins Edge Blues

University of Montreal, led by speedy Pierre Perreault, swept to a 5-0 victory over Varsity in the wide-open, hard fought contest Saturday night. Perreault scored two goals and assisted in another in an amazing display of skating and shooting. Goalie Marcel Auger celebrated his first start in Senior Intercollegiate competition with a well-deserved shut-out, repeatedly making remarkable saves on Varsity rushes. Except in the second period, and the final minutes of the first period, Varsity had a decided edge in territorial play, but couldn't get past Montreal's tight goal-mouth defence, although in the final period the Blues had eleven shots on goal to Montreal's eight. All the Carabin defencemen checked well, Gariepy and Laperriere especially.

Shooting Off

The Blues weren't lacking in fight, and kept carrying the play to Montreal's end. Norm Fox, Art Bell, and Wes Moore made several thrilling rushes, but couldn't get the puck in the net. The accuracy of the shooting marked the greatest difference between the teams.

The game started out to be a very close-checking contest. Varsity opened with a rush, and Montreal returned, to be stopped by a smashing check by Kane that put the puck-carrier, Greg Bourassa, out for the game. There's nothing fancy about Crusher's style of play. When he gets the puck, he just golfs it to one of his forwards, and when they're carrying the puck to him, he steps in and slams them with a cross-body block.

Doug Orr played a good game in goal, although he had a pretty tough second period, as did the whole team. In the third period, when the Blues' play had opened right up in a last vain effort to score, he made several brilliant saves on Montreal puck-carriers coming in on him unchecked.

The Blues were scrambling around the Montreal net for the last two or three minutes without any luck. Auger must have a good supply of horseshoes besides goal-keeping ability. On one occasion, he deflected a shot with his fingertips, but had it slowed down just enough so that the puck stopped inches short of the goal-mouth.

Line-ups:—

Toronto: Goal, Orr; defence, Kane, Hayes; centre, Turcott; left wing, Bazos; right wing Arrowsmith; alternates, Addison, MacDougall, Holmes, Moore, Vernon, Walters, Bell, Fox.

Montreal: Goal, Auger; defence, Charest, Laperriere; centre, Bouchard; left wing, Bruneau; right wing, Bourassa, alternates, Gariepy, Landriault, Flynn, Pinard, Mongeon, Emblem, Hotte, Perreault, Vernier, Day, Guertin.

SCORING

First Period

11:23—Montreal, Perreault (Mongeon, Emblem)
15:25—Montreal, Mongeon (Flynn, Bouchard)

Second Period

5:09—Montreal, Perreault (Bruneau, Vernier)
13:49—Montreal, Charest (Flynn, Perreault)
15:31—Montreal, Perreault (Charest, Flynn)

Third Period

No scoring.

Meds Goalie Defies Vic I To Star In 10-4 Triumph

Meds I lacrosse team, last year's champions, displaying the form that won them the Dafoe Cup last January, rolled over Vic I by a 10-4 score Friday afternoon in Hart House.

The crowds are getting bigger and bigger every day and by the time that Meds meet UC or St. Mike's "B" in the finals they will be hanging from the girders. Girls have their big chance to get into Hart House during the play-offs.

The key player in Meds' win was Ken Firman, the goalie. He shut the Vicsters out for three periods, making several uncanny stops. Rumours that he had a horseshoe up his sleeve were branded as false by one of his team-mates.

Not until the fourth quarter did the Vic team play good enough ball to break into the scoring column. In this period Gordie Rush rapped home three nice goals while McFadden added the other.

The first goal of the game came soon after the opening whistle and the score was 4-0 by the end of the first. Vic were very disorganized in this period and were outfought by the Docs. Vic held Meds to one goal in the second and three in the third, and outscored them 4-2 in the last frame.

Hetherington and Halliburton were the offensive stars for the Meds with two and four goals respectively. Herbie Mohr played his usual smashing game on defence UC rapping home two counters.

Meds meet St. Mike's "B" to-day at 1 p.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Cloudy and Warmer

VOL. LXIX NO. 48 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Tuesday, November 29, 1949

Music Machine

Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

The intriguing name emblazoned on the bass drum in the above picture is the professional title of the group of itinerant musicians haling from the "Little Red Skule House." This famous band will help support the Senior SPS team in the Mulock Cup final tomorrow at Varsity Stadium. At half time they will take part in a band competition the like of which has never been heard in the better festivals. The "Burwash Boys' Brigade" better known as the "Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry and Regimental Parade Band" have challenged the Lady Godiva Memorial Band to do battle.

Debates Tours Start With Jaunt To U.S. First of UTDU Plan

"The most extensive program we have had yet" is the way SAC debate Commissioner Dave Quigley yesterday described the Hart House Debates Committee's and the Debating Union's series of tours this year. The first of the three tours begins today, when Wally Fram and Elmer Sopha, both IV U.C. students, set out for Rochester University.

Stay At Taft

Fram and Sopha will debate today at Rochester University, tomorrow at Princeton, Thursday at New York University, Friday at Fordham and Saturday at Columbia. Today they will stay in Rochester. For the next four days they will have rooms in Taft Hotel, New York City, in a position to tour night clubs and other sights of the city.

They will have to debate under rules different from the parliamentary system used in Canada. Also, they will have to compete against teams on a topic which these teams have repeatedly debated. Fram and Sopha will take the affirmative at each university on the motion, "Resolved that the basic non-agricultural industries of the United States should be nationalized."

Debates Commissioner Quigley explained yesterday this topic is one chosen by universities throughout the United States to be debated by teams from all of them.

Like Football

"Debating is a pretty big thing south of the border," Quigley commented. He said university debating societies there are organized into "conferences" similar to those of football teams. Teams repeatedly debate the national topic and keep card indexes of the arguments to use in future meets, he said.

At some of the universities Fram and Sopha will probably be taking part in debates that are being broadcast, he predicted. "Princeton and Columbia are among the best in the U.S.," Quigley remarked.

Praises Teams

When asked how University of Toronto teams have done in the past when touring in the United States, he said they have not won many victories but have represented the University well. Two Toronto debaters who have in the past taken part in tours are now attending Columbia and Princeton, Quigley said.

They are Martin Shubik, last year in the School of Graduate Studies, and Myer Brody, who graduated from U.C. last year.

This is the first time the Hart House Debates Committee and the U.T.D.U. have combined to sponsor a debating tour. The next two will be in February, one to the Boston area and one to Eastern Canada. Anyone may try out for membership on a team if he has spoken on a paper or from the floor at debates sponsored by either organization.

S. Africa Hatreds Political Weapon Asserts Official

Declaring that there has been hostility amongst the various groups in South Africa for hundreds of years and that party politics has always fostered and even found it necessary, to stir up hatred, Mr. Roberts, High Commissioner of South Africa, introduced the problems of his country to the International Relations Club yesterday afternoon. "South Africans are always looking to the past, never to the future, making it easy to stir up hatreds by reference to old injustices. Unfortunately it is the people who did not even take part in these injustices who are most bitter now."

Long Race Conflict

Mr. Roberts referred to the long conflict between the Dutch Afrikaneers and the British that culminated in the Boer War. Governors who did not understand the problems of South Africa and the British forcibly taking control of the Dutch free states upon discovery of gold and diamonds caused much of the old conflict. However he felt that South Africans today are beginning to work together to build up the country.

Mr. Roberts dwelt most thoroughly with the Negro problems in South Africa. There are over eight million Africans in the country compared to two and a half million Europeans. Without these natives the gold and diamond mines could not be run. However except for the Hottentots who readily accepted Western methods and have become artisans for the most part, the Bantus and Zulus who comprise the rest of the native population are still wholly primitive, and although related they cannot be kept together because of fatal hostilities.

Witch Doctors Rule

"Even when urbanized they won't use doctors or dentists, but are still ruled by witch doctors. In addition these people are divided into four main groups and have seven main languages, making them extremely difficult to deal with."

Mr. Roberts explained that foreigners tend to overlook the difficulties with which the government is faced. He feels the government is doing more today to help these people than ever before, considering that many politicians continue to breed intolerance.

Not Enough Teachers

A terrific demand for schooling has been created but because of a lack of teachers and schools, there is much overcrowding. "It is impossible to accommodate at present all children who wish to go to school. If we train all the natives who have gone to school, we would still not be able to satisfy teacher demand by 1960," Roberts explained.

Money that could go toward education cannot be fully used because of a lack of schools and teachers. However the Bantu school children are being better fed under the new government. In addition an educational system is being developed that is more according to the traditions of the natives. It has been discovered that Western education and culture cannot be forced on these people as has been tried in the past. Yet Mr. Roberts added these peoples' minds are hopelessly divided and present an almost impossible task in teaching the elements of cleanliness and justice.

Still the government is spending

(Continued on Page 6)

Prizes, Awards, For Six Winners Senate Approved

Six award-winners were announced this week by President Sidney Smith. The awards and the winners, approved by the University of Toronto Senate, are as follows:

The Ramsay Scholarship in Physics: R. A. Aziz, Toronto.

The Mary Keenan Award: E. S. Frey, Toronto.

The Carl Swan Award (for the student who contributes most in social, athletic and cultural fields during his freshman year): M. Van V. Spence, Weston, Ontario.

The Pakenham Memorial Prize: Miss D. I. Crann, B.A. (O.C.E. Award), Toronto.

The Annie L. Laird Scholarship: Miss Beverley D. Brown, B.A. (Graduate School Award), Toronto.

The Benjamin Sadowski Scholarship in Social Work: P. J. Ringer, Leaside, Ontario.

UWO Students Protest Short Yuletide Holidays

London, Nov. 28—(CUP)—Students at U.W.O. are protesting the short Christmas holidays. There are only eleven days off during the Yuletide break. Many of the western Canada students feel it will not be worthwhile to go home for just two days, while other undergrads claim they need a few days more in which to earn a little spending money for the following semester. Explanations for the short holiday are that the annual examinations which usually start May 2 will commence on April 23 this year.

World Affairs Badly Upset Say Educator And Politico

Certain War In 5 Years Seen By Dr. Kirkconnell In Address At Acadia

Wolfville, Nov. 28 —(CUP)— Almost certain war in 1955 was the gist of a prediction by Dr. Watson Kirkconnell before a mixed group of students at the annual S.C.M. services held recently at Acadia University.

"The third world war has already begun", he said, "and with the fall of Canton the first round has gone to the enemy."

In a further statement to clarify his remarks Dr. Kirkconnell pointed out that five years was the time he felt it would take for the Soviet Union to develop its war potential. He thought an accident could cause war sooner.

Queen's House Urges Total Military Training As Drew Guest Speaker

Kingston, Nov. 28 —(CUP)— The Honourable George Drew, National Leader of the Progressive-Conservative Party will be present at the Model Parliament at Queen's University on Dec. 3rd. The bill before the House is "The state of affairs in the world today warrants universal military training." The Progressive-Conservative party holds the majority in the House, while the C.C.F. forms the official opposition.

"The subject of universal military training is particularly timely in view of Canada's committments under the North Atlantic Pact", Archie McKinnon, student P-C leader said in an interview yesterday.

BLOOD OBJECTIVE TOPPED

Montreal, Nov. 28—(CUP)—Dawson College topped its objective in blood donations, a total of two hundred and ninety-four students giving blood. The objective was 260 donations.

Dawson College is one of the few colleges in Canada to go over its quota. Last week the McGill Daily, undergrad paper, charged that the McGill blood campaign had been a failure.

Cakes And Kigmy

Seventy Candles And A Kiss

OH, JOHNNY, OH!
By ROCKY MARTINO

The whole affair took place at 11 p.m. yesterday morning. Professor Satterly walked in, greeted his class and started to write on the board. That's all the lecturing he did that day. Before he had written three words, balloons started falling from the ceiling. Smiling, he tried to brush them off the table. With balloons exploding all about him, the lights went out and everybody started singing the special song written in his honour by Michael Hornyansky many moons ago. After that came "Happy Birthday," and then the deluge.

Everything seemed to happen at once. The song finished, the lights went on and from then on everything was a whirl of activity.

Cake Procession

A long procession wound its way in from the side door. At the head was a small cake suitably inscribed with the good wishes of the class. Behind came two huge cakes, each carrying 35 candles. One cake was placed at each end of the long lecture bench and the gifts in between.

One of these gifts was a large box all decked out in red and blue ribbon. Professor Satterly started to unwrap the box when it started to wiggle. Finally it burst apart and "Miss Fizz-i-cist, J. S. 70" (Nancy Graydon) jumped out, hopped down from the bench and kissed Prof. Satterly with gusto.

Amid the boots of Engineers, Prof. Satterly thanked her and started unwrapping his other gifts. One turned out to be a rubber mouse; another, a rubber bone. With these came a package of tea and a cookbook. To help Prof. Satterly in 'cooking' he was given a cook's chapeau.

Wearing his hat at a cosky angle, the 70-year-old youngster proceeded to blow out all his candles with a mighty gust. "I'm overwhelmed," he said. "It isn't everyday that a man becomes 70 years old. I really appreciate all that you've done and I thank you very much."

At this point, "Kigmy Satterly" walked in and assumed the position. This was the special gift to Prof. Satterly's assistant, Mr. Tonkin. Mr. Tonkin gleefully began to give the kigmy (Alec Xma) the greatest (ugh) pleasure it could experience.

Rubber Smile

To help Mr. Tonkin along in lectures, he was given a rubber monkey mask that constantly smiled. No doubt he will use this whenever an experiment doesn't work and he gets blamed for it.

But poor Mr. Tonkin wasn't forgotten when it came to his greatest effort. As Prof. Satterly's right and left-hand man in the 'Liquid Air' lecture he was given a white scarf to protect him from the cold.

In connection with the liquid-air affair, the class tried unsuccessfully to get a pen that writes under liquid

(Continued on Page 7)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8741
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Pillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... R. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Simpson

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1949

In Theory

Every now and then members of a university, both staff and students, have to re-think what the purpose of their institution is and how it may be attained.

Certainly, the over-all purpose is the development of a fuller, richer, spiritual life in its members and in the community at large, through an appreciative awareness of the finest that has been recorded in the past and of the loftiest strivings of the present.

Just now, on the campus, it would be wise to consider very carefully whether our efforts to assist the accomplishment of things of permanent and elevated value are not being weakened to the point of complete ineffectuality by an attention to the transitory and the trivial. Is it justifiable, for example, for student organizations to spend their funds on lavish decorations (so often wantonly destroyed) at their entertainments, or to vie with one another for even more elaborate trappings for their public relations? Must attendance at club meetings be enticed by the lure of "refreshments will be served"?

Surely a mature student body, conscious of its privileged position and of the duties imposed by these privileges can cast aside cheap, degrading, and puerile manifestations of its activities.

A university stands for spiritual values. It must direct its energies and funds to the achievement of those values—to the creation of a united front against forces of disintegration in society, to stress with all its strength its distinguishing characteristic, culture.

Increased contact with other universities and their experiences, student gatherings where the amusement element is reduced to an insignificant item in time and expense, and a sincere preoccupation by organization executives on long-range planning for worth-while objectives are some of the means to these ends.

To neglect them is to make culture not the essence of student life but merely a hypocritical facade.

In Practice

On the week-end of December 9, 40 Varsity students will travel to Montreal for the first part of a Varsity-Carabin week-end exchange system.

At last Wednesday's meeting, the SAC discussed the financing of the trip. Asked to subsidise the trip to the sum of $312, Council voted $160 towards the expenses of the students.

Not half on hour later, the same Council voted to investigate the cost and trouble of erecting 19 notice boards about the campus. These boards would be for the purpose of publicising the activities of the SAC and would list the names of Council representatives from the various schools and faculties. Council thus approved in principle the spending of a sum which will come close to the $150 pared from the Carabin week-end expenses.

Both of these enlightening incidents came after two guests at the meeting had made pleas for greater participation on the student level in affairs of national and international concern.

We realize that the finances of the SAC are in a none too stable condition. Last year the Council operated on a $500 margin when the budget figure ran into the tens of thousands of dollars.

Still, we feel, it is justifiable criticism to point out the nonsensical contradictions in these two actions of the Council last Wednesday night.

It has been said before but bears repetition here that one of the prime factors in the disturbed condition of the world today is the purely national thinking of the world's people.

The same condition is reflected here on our own campus.

The representative undergraduate body refuses money for the purpose of broadening the cultural and social understanding of the whole University on the grounds that the budget could not stand the expense.

The same group at the same time approves in principle a plan to publicise its own activities at considerable expense.

Surely the only conclusion to be reached is that the affairs of the students of this University are organized and supported on a purely campus basis with no thought for the broader responsibilities of the student.

Our Readers Write

Walmsley Explains

Editor, The Varsity:

I hereby support your editorial view in Monday, Nov. 28th issue of The Varsity and no less the cartoon which represents the Canadian student as a little more normal than Uncle Sam. Since my debarment from the U.S. and consequently from the IRC's trip to the U.N. the first assumption of many people has been that I carry the "scarlet fever" and that Uncle Sam has quarantined me as a result.

It seems obvious to me that there are certain ideas which the U.S. authorities are selfishly afraid to let their people examine. If Communism is bad enough to justify all the press head-lines given to Un-American activities probes and the like, why aren't we democratically secure enough to let these "horriferous" people expound their theories until they discredit themselves in the eyes of the people or break a law? It may be supposed that in the case of Communism our leaders resent or fear certain unpleasant parallels which Communism places against weakness in our social structure. Yet instead of recognizing Communism for what it is and seeking to neutralize its total threat by eliminating from our society these features which are justly criticized, the tendency has been to try to discredit Communism entirely.

This short-sighted policy, which has included the marring and manipulation of fact and the artistic addition of fiction, has gradually blurred the outlook of a large majority of our people until they can't tell the difference between fighting Communism and crushing legitimate reforms and constitutional freedoms among their own people. And the corollary of this tragic state of affairs has been the exponents of Communism have been able to justify their claim that they are indeed a historical reform movement following an inevitable course of development. Instead of profitting from the experience of others and advancing our own way of life, we have confused truth with falsehood and allowed Communism to become a dreadful nemesis of our own folly and confusion. Like a gaunt Macbeth before the ghost of Banquo the Western world is standing today, sword in hand, ready to stab the phantom of Communism wherever it appears. The West has become obsessed by this advancing spectre in Asia and in Europe, and even, one is led to believe, within its own borders.

The haste, instability, and moral decadence resulting from this distortion of truth and emotionalism have slammed shut temporarily those spiritual windows open to the streams of divine light, courage and optimism which fall upon a free people who can recognize and obey the voice of God in history—who know that the true source of their strength lies not in arms but in righteous convictions, reinforced by truth.

It lies in the path of students who seek to break down these barriers of suspicion and unreasoning suspicion in our country and across the border, so that our democracies may be founded on enlightened electorates, and our support of the U.N.O. in the interests of world peace may be creative, impractical, affirmative and worthy of future humanity. Otherwise there may be no future humanity as generally understood.

Omar Walmsley,
II Emmanuel.

◆ ◆ ◆

Skule Band Accepts

Editor, The Varsity:

Victoria College, undoubtedly looking for free publicity for the "SCARLET AND GOLD REVUE," has challenged the pride and joy of SKULE, namely the L.G.M.B., to a musical duel.

SKULE regards this more as an imposition than a challenge, but accepts.

Paul La Prairie,
Director of Cultural Activities.

Jerse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young man from U.C.
Who made his abode in a tree
The reasons he'd give
For this strange place to live
Were: "It's airy, it's vacant, it's free."

Protest Walmsley Treatment

Ed. Note: The following letter has been sent from the University of Toronto Peace Council to External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson and to Mr. Trygvie Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations.

Dear Sir:

Omar Walmsley, a United Church theology student and president of the University of Toronto Peace Council was unable, recently, to visit the United Nations with a group of 65 university students on a trip sponsored by the International Relations Club. On September 14 Mr. Walmsley was barred by the U.S. Immigration Service without explanation and thus prevented from attending the Boston University School of Theology. When he asked for permission to visit the U.N. with the aforementioned group he was told that under no circumstance could he enter the United States since his case had now been referred to Washington and there was no further way of appealing the case.

We of the U. of T. Peace Council share the general opinion here in strongly protesting this act by the U.S. Immigration Service as a break of their responsibility to the United Nations. International territory should not be indirectly closed to any world citizen, particularly since the goal of the U.N. is international understanding. What right has the United States to have the U.N.O. within their country if they arbitrarily use their power as a sovereign state to deny a Canadian citizen the right of visiting it?

Moreover it is ironic that the president of a peace council which has given its whole-hearted and consistent support to the United Nations should be prevented from obtaining first hand information about that very organization. The implications of the matter are so serious that we urge you, sir, to bring it to the attention of the Canadian government and of the General Assembly of the United Nations as soon as possible.

Mary Ringsleben
Barbara Bambridge
Joan Hanley
Shirley Endicott
Omar Walmsley

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢

DAILY DOUBLE

University Health Service

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

FINAL YEAR AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

....who wish to take advantage of the opportunity of a Health Examination, must make an appointment before 15th December.

....who anticipate the need of a Health Certificate for employment after graduation, are particularly advised to make an appointment now.

43 ST. GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE: MI. 9644

University Health Service

Third Mental Health Discussion Group

"Effective Study and Work Habits"

Discussant: DR. W. LINE, Professor of Psychology

Thursday, December 1st at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place

All students are invited, but especially first year

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

TUESDAY MID-DAY RECITAL

The fourth in the series of Tuesday informal recitals will be given at 1.25 p.m. today by Mr. Keith Girard, flautist, II Music, accompanied by Mr. Bill Marwick. All members of Hart House are cordially invited to attend this recital which will be held in the East Common Room.

LIBRARY RECORD HOUR

The Library Committee is presenting a record hour at 1.30 p.m. today in the Record Room. The following numbers will constitute the programme: "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Pensees" by Mons. E. M. Stephan, and Orson Welles reading "Julius Caesar."

ARCHERY

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

ART CLASS

The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

GLEE CLUB

Regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5.00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

ART GALLERY

The exhibition of Canadian oil paintings now on view in the art gallery is from the collection of Mr. J. S. McLean.

LIBRARY EVENING

Mr. John M. Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada, will be the speaker for the third Library Evening of the year, which will be held on Thursday, 1st December, at 7.30 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Mr. Gray will speak on "The Canadian Literary Scene as Viewed by a Publisher."

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, November 29, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

Titoist Charge Just Politics — Local LPP'er

"The L.P.P. party was hoisted by its own petard, yesterday," according to an ex-University of Saskatchewan student now at the U. of T. "The manoeuvre of ousting Jack Guest, L.P.P. leader, was executed by a group of students who were not L.P.P'ers," said the informant. "A new party was formed with a non-L.P.P'er as president. The new party is now petitioning the debates committee in order to get possession of the ten seats, which were originally held by the L.P.P. In short, the L.P.P. lost ten seats, and another political party took over the seats."

Explanation More Logical

When contacted last night no comment on this, the local student LPP Education Officer Norm Endicott said this would sound more logical than the charge of "Titoism" which appeared in yesterday's papers.

"I suppose that something of this sort could happen, it is an old political manoeuver. After all 140 members sounds like quite a few to have voting on an LPP question, when you consider the small number of students at University of Saskatchewan."

Endicott explained the set-up which made this possible at U. of Saskatchewan, where one does not have to be a member of the LPP to join the campus club. "This is impossible here, where we have only certified members of tihe LPP in the local organization."

When we asked for a definite statement Edicott answered that he would rather wait until he had heard from Saskatchewan before stating anything other than personal opinion.

Active Force In West

"However I am interested in the discussions about the LPP in Saskatchewan, for it shows a very active force at work in the LPP party, and anything of this sort serves to bind the party together.

"About their mock parliament, the basis for seats is on a percentage of a popular vote. If there are one hundred seats, and this seems a likely number, then it would appear that the LPP received ten percent of the total ballots."

Other members of the local LPP executive were not available for comment at press time last night.

Hart House Chess Club Down McMaster 6-4

On Saturday, Nov. 26, Hart House Chess Club defeated McMaster Chess Club at McMaster in the first match of the annual home and home series by a score of 6-4.

Individual scoring was as follows: (Hart House players listed first) Guy Perrault 1, N. Christopher 0; H. Ratz 0, D. Goodale 1; J. Medcof 1, D. Garschowitz 0; D. Freeman 1, R. Hendry 0; E. Racicot 0, J. Taylor 1; C. T. P. Galloway 1, T. Ball 0; C. Sanders ½, G. Ward ½; M. S. Gombita ½, A. Rayner ½; R. Robinson 0, R. Watson 1; R. Buck 1, G. Reward 0.

Skiing At Its Best

This is the winter wonderland at Saint Sauveur, Quebec, where the University of Toronto Ski Club has arranged a special weekend for undergraduates. There will be only one chance this year to go to this snow-bound resort, and tickets are available to the first who apply at the SAC offices. In the picture the line forms on the right, but at Hart House and in UC basement the line forms at the left. Come early to get into the picture.

Austrian Student Visitors "Peace Insurance"—Smith

There was only one drawback to the whole Austrian week-end, the inevitable parting. Thirty-one exuberant, stimulating university students from the other side of the Atlantic breezed into Toronto on Friday afternoon, and half an hour after their arrival were smiling and laughing with their new Canadian friends.

The smiles and laughs continued all week-end through a merry round of parties, dinners and receptions. The Austrians like Toronto, and paid our fair city a charming compliment. "It reminds me of Vienna in the winter," one of them remarked. Blue Sundays and all!

President Welcomes

There was a reception for the Austrians at the University, with President Smith welcoming the visitors. "As university students you belong to a great Republic," he said, "made up of all the universities of the world."

President Smith called the visitors carriers of "international good-will' and said that this kind of visit from other parts of the world was the best 'peace insurance' one could buy.

The Austrians put on a concert at Massey Hall Saturday night, and this was described as delightful by those who attended. From this one performance it was clear that the Austrians enjoyed singing and dancing, and their enthusiasm was caught by the audience. The spontaniety of the show was highlighted with performances of several of the troupe who were more than good. One young girl in particular won applause with her yodelling.

Toronto Entertains

In return the Austrians were entertained by Toronto. During the weekend they were guests at several dinners in their honor, and a busy schedule was arranged with the aid of the many organizations who wanted to 'do something' for the visitors.

The students were billeted in private homes during their stay, and several Varsity students gave cocktail parties for them, while many citizens went out of their way to supply a good time.

Even the dentists tried to get into the act, pulling several Austrian molars during the weekend after office hours.

Soy Bean Processing Dr. McFarlane's Topic For Food Chemist Club

Dr. William Douglas McFarlane, director of the Research Laboratory of Canadian Breweries Ltd., will address the Food Chemistry Club tonight at 8:15 p.m. on "The Processing of Soy Beans."

Dr. McFarlane is a Toronto graduate and has lectured at OAC, University of Alberta, and McGill, and since 1946 has been with the Canadian Breweries. He is given credit for the discovery of Haemhorraeic disease in chicks, and was the first to attribute the disease to a lack of vitamin K.

During his discussion he will show a movie to illustrate his lecture. The meeting will take place in Room 117, Household Economics Building.

USA Dominates Canadian Culture LPP'er Asserts

Canadian culture is being overshadowed by the American deluge of movies, books, etc., with a herodelinquent, gun in one hand and a girl in the other, battling his way against society, declared LPP forum chairman Reva Steinberg in opening the discussion on the state of Canadian culture yesterday.

Norm Endicott pointed out that T. S. Eliot, considered one of the foremost Anglo-Saxon poets of the day, was a supporter of a poetry award to Ezra Pound, "war-time Fascist."

Speaker from the floor Mary Ringsleben said that because Pound's poetry was anti-semitic, or anti-communistic, did not mean necessarily that he was a "bad" poet. She continued that poetry was not judged by whether the ideas expressed were right or wrong.

Another speaker said that a poet does not write in a vacuum, but rather as a result of what he sees and does, and that the poem is not independent of itself.

One member of the forum, who refused to give his name, asked if such an opera as Peter Grimes would get a hearing in the Soviet Union.

This gave rise to defining the role of an artist in a socialist country and that in a capitalist country. Ben Shek stated that culture is criticized or appraised in a socialist country, as to whether or not it raises the understanding of the people, whereas in the capitalist country the artist works for the necessities of life and thus cannot write about the realities of life but

(Continued on Page 7)

Forty Chosen For Carabin Weekend Trip

Forty students who will be going to the Varsity weekend at the University in Montreal Dec. 9, 10, and 11, were named yesterday by the NFCUS-ISS sponsors of the Carabin visit.

The trip is subsidized by the SAC so that the 12 dollar ticket was available to students at $8.80. In announcing the successful applicants, NFCUS Chairman Tom Symons expressed his thanks to the selection committee Warden Ignatieff, E. A. MacDonald, and Dean Bissell.

Students chosen were selected on a basis of interest in extra curricular activities, academic qualifications and in general as representative of the University of Toronto.

Approximately the same number of men and women students were chosen.

Anne Cowan; Audrie Fowrie; Carolyn Gratton; Josephine Hibert; Nancy Graham; Catherine M. Johnson; Elizabeth J. Ketchum; Margaret Isobel Lee; Jean Leppington; Winnifred Lownie; Rosemary Montgomery; Joanne E. McWilliam; Pearl Parnes; Joyce Rous; Joyce Thomson; Catherine J. Turnbull; Adrienne Wheaton; Nancy Williams; Connie Young.

James Allan; John M. Armour; Richard Sadlier; Murray Cohl; Emmett Duff; Norman J. Fitzpatrick; John R. Gregory; John Deen Grube; George G. Halpern; Gerald Hart; Douglas Keen; Robert Lightfoot; Lethem Roden; Kent McDonald; Rocky Martino; Edgar B. Singer; Tom Symons; William Turner; David C. Watson; Don McKellar; Herbert G. Wiedderburn.

One of the conditions of acceptance was that the students would accept return visits from Montreal students when they come to visit Varsity.

Egypt Assignment For Dr. Cassidy

DR. H. M. CASSIDY

An assignment in Egypt for the United Nations is the next project for Dr. Harry M. Cassidy, director of the School of Social Work. Three months' leave of absence has been granted Dr. Cassidy for this assignment, President Sidney Smith announced this week.

Dr. Cassidy has been chosen by the Social Affairs Division of the UN to advise the Egyptian government on social welfare measures, the President said. This week, Dr. Cassidy is to go to Lake Success for briefing. He will fly to Cairo December 15.

Masthead Meeting

All members of The Varsity masthead are asked to be present at a masthead meeting this Friday in the Varsity newsoffice at 2 p.m. Matters of policy are to be discussed, and all staffers are asked to come armed with beefs and suggestions, if any.

Like Snakes Or Rabbits

Sing-Song Shadows A Scream

By HERB WOOD

Yesterday a bunch of us had a whale of a time singing our collective heads off in Hart House's East common room. They've been running these sing songs twice a week, on Monday and Friday at 1:30, for the last 25 years.

You wouldn't think a fella's voice could hold out for 25 years would you? Well, take Mr. Ross Workman, OT9, SPS, he's been leading the students all those years and is still going strong.

According to Mr. Workman there is nothing better than singing in the dark to break down all shyness and bring out the latent tenors and basses. Mr. Pat McClory runs the projector, and Jimmy Johnston, Graduate Studies, keeps things bouncing at the piano. Jimmy was the pianist on the ill-fated Noronic, but fortunately didn't stay aboard on that particular night.

Look Like Bugs Bunny

There's a fascinating angle to this sing song business that one can't overlook. With Mr. Workman up front directing with a very flexible writ and fingers, the ever-changing shadow on the screen has an almost hypnotic effect One minute it looks like Bugs Bunny. Again it is a cobra swinging back and forth under the influence of an Indian charmer. But it's all good, clean fun.

There are between 500 and 600 slides and the collection of songs is constantly being augmented. There are songs for every taste, such as "A Gay Caballero," "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," "Frankie and Johnnie," and "Waltzing Matilda."

Everyone does his best during these sing songs. As proof of this we noticed considerable throat clearing before every song. And the harmony is something to hear!

Shadows Cause Laughter

Around 2:00, the kids with lectures began ducking out. My friend sitting beside me nudged me at this point and started to laugh. Outside I said to him:

"Say, what the deuce did you find so funny in there?"

"I just couldn't help it, Herb, when the kids began running in front of the projector's beam it made me think of driving down a country road at night while scared rabbits scooted back and forth in front of the lights."

"Tell that to Mr. Workman," I said.

Mr. Workman was on the staff for 19 years in the drawing dept., SPS. Last year he was given a life membership in Hart House of which he is very proud.

Rinse Mouths With Liver

Looking back on his student days, Mr. Workman recalled some of the rivalry between Meds and SPS. A favourite game for the Meds was to collect outside the Anatomy Building, grab an unwary and unlucky Engineer and pass him back under their legs into the building. Often his clothes were taken off, his mouth rinsed with human liver, or so it was claimed, and subjected to other indignities.

When the Engineers caught a Med, among other things they would write "Skule" in surveying ink across his chest.

The first Dean of SPS, Dean Galbraith, attempted to put a stop to this practice of the Meds. A picture had just been taken of the group in action when he ordered it siezed and handed over to a professor who happened to be handy.

But while he stood there, a Meds man sneaked up behind the professor, snatched the camera, and passed it back. It was never seen again.

Women's Page

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Next week Starry Mary is going to start a lovelorn column to help all campus types in difficulty. She is ready to give advice to Coeds and Eds alike on subjects that they feel are so personal that either they won't ask their best friend for advice or their best friend won't tell them. Starry Mary is anxious for letters in order to make her first appearance a success. Anyone with a problem should write Starry Mary, c/o Women's Editor, The Varsity.

TALKING SHOP

CRITICS ARE HAILING the new Italian film, "Four Steps in the Clouds", as one of the bright omens of the times. The Italians are laughing again, and when Italy laughs Europe begins to feel like itself again. "Four Steps" is one of the films that has its place in contemporary history if only for that reason, but it's a chirpy bit of Italian comedy with a travelling salesman coming to the aid of the farmer's daughter in a predicament that calls for matrimony.

♣ ♣ ♣

THERE'LL BE A HOT TIME in the old town Dec. 13th and 14th ... when the T.S.O. does its concert version of Carmen ... no doubt about it the fans are requiring a higher standard of music than of yore, and when the Toronto Symphony takes a turn at it, there'll classical heat turned on. For the be a Carmen plus ... with the two evenings, Tuesday and Wednesday, it will be Nicholas Goldschmidt, conducting for the first time the T.S.O., making it entertainment to write on your "don't forget" list.

♣ ♣ ♣

IF THE LADY EXPECTS an engagement ring round about Christmas time, have a look at Scheuer's featured one-hundred dollar offer in either of two engagement rings. ... One comes in a solitaire, the other in a three-stone ring that is equally beautiful, both with fine blue-white stones, both specially priced to maintain the hundred-dollar value tradition at Scheuer's. Have a look around, then study these ring values at Scheuer's. The address, 131 Yonge Street, facing Temperance, where the ring-shopping for festive season engagements grows increasingly active.

TEASDALL'S AT 804 suggest that one of the ways to prove if you want a suit is to put it on and have a good look to see whether it makes you feel like the man you know you are. Budget terms can be arranged on a Teasdall suit, and as an addition filip for the university customer, ten percent reductions are available ... this offer is good business for Teasdall's because it brings in the customers, good business for customers. Best idea, compare, compute, try on.

♣ ♣ ♣

MEN ARE INVITED. ... The F. J. Watt Sportswear Shop, Park Plaza, invites skulemen to shop for a gal, or get the women back home, where the assortment is fool-proof from a masculine gift-hunting point of view. Anything you look at she'll like at Watt's ... the hosiery is in the world's best-accepted names, the hand-woven aristocrats in anybody's country, the undies and nighties and sweaters and gloves are all gift-items par excellence ... and best news of all, Watt's tell me they'll help a man out of gift-wrapping articles then and there, and do the mailing.

♣ ♣ ♣

THINGS ARE MORE BEAUTIFUL than ever before at the Evangeline Shops, I hear from Mrs. Low, buyer of those lovely accessories and separate items that have helped build up one of Canada's largest specialty store chains. The English sweaters which you expect to pay ten or eleven dollars for are priced around five of six, the prices of all the better lingerie with a French look are down around what you expect to pay for ordinary things ... the matched sets of lingerie can be purchased separately as well, and you can build up a matching set by degrees. Gloves, the imported kind of French and Italian fabrics and leathers, have new extra cutting for better fit ... and the handbags are in tremendous new assortments.

(Advertisement)

From One Who Knows

On Post-Office Evenings

By SHIRLEY JOHNSTON

So you signed up for work at the Post Office in a moment of absent-mindedness, and are now beginning to feel a little qualm-stricken, not knowing just what you've got yourself in for? Here's advice on the Principles and Practices of Post Office Employment from one who has experienced it—and lived. Forthwith, cold, brutal facts.

We worked the evening shift—4-11:30—chiefly because of an inveterate dislike of getting up to go to work at 8 a.m. There are, of course, also certain disadvantages involved in waiting in the cold, cold breezes at midnight for a street-car at the corner of Bay and Fleet. And don't let anyone tell you there couldn't be a rush hour at midnight.

Starting you off at the beginning, once you've been accepted, you will report in and be presented with your taime-card and badge, along with solemn warnings of the dire pains and penalties involved in absconding with the King's mail. The first night of work, if you're at the main branch, you'll be assigned to either Primary or Secondary sorting. In Primary, letters are sorted by the initial letter of the town, if in Ontario, or under the general area to which they are going, if outside the province. Secondary sorting includes sorting the city mail by streets and the Ontario mail by towns.

The letters are arranged in a row in front of you, and you flip them into the right one of the 20 odd compartments behind them. The idea is to catch up with your neighbours on either side of you, have an empty ledge and no more letters. This has never happened, or if it did was well hushed up by the mortified regular staff; but it adds zest to the job, like getting 16 at cribbage. There's a half hour break for lunch at 8:30, with a small lunch counter running. The rest of the time isn't very quiet either, with everybody talking, singing Christmas carols, or playing 20 questions. After the second night, the work's automatic, with a stiff neck from glancing up and down as you flip them, the only occupational disease.

Oh, and yes, about three days after Christmas, just when your billfold's feeling the flattest, along comes that lovely little cheque—and you decide to do it again next year. Incidentally, if you're going to apply, better hurry up. There are 2,827 applications so far this year, considerably more than last. And girls, all but 773 of them are men, so keep hoping.

Distaff Side

By ANNE BURTON and MARGOT MURRAY

If a man's chief interests in life are women and sports, certainly a women's chief sports are men and clothes. But with the coming of the snow and the Santa Claus parade—and especially with the snow to remind us—the problem of the hour for women centres on: what shall we give Him for Christmas?

To begin with, we have a small clue. Men's chief interests are women and sports. But the question now appears, would He like a photograph of you (with love), or one of the All-Star Rugby Team (with autographs)?

In pursuit of an answer of this annual problem of Christmas presents we happened to run across a few suggestions in the November 15 Vogue, in an article entitled "Christmas Presents A Young Man Told Us He Would Like". The list included some wonderful items for girls with a small gift budget—like (and we quote) "a television set," "an electric blanket," "an air conditioning unit," "valet service for a year—an hour a day," "the smallest possible piano for the smallest possible apartment" (particularly recommended as the ideal gift), "an order with a picture framer to have all my dressing-room pictures framed alike," and other such trifles.

We feel that the Young Man has been wonderfully considerate of us women in allowing us to exercise our interest in clothes in buying his Christmas present. For instance, if we tire of buying television sets and the smallest possible pianos, we can always adopt the alternative choice of purchasing for him such sweet memories as "a dozen coloured silk handkerchiefs—not too big," "a dressing gown made of towelling—like a peignoir," "a bolt of tweed or some other suit material to be chosen by me and taken to my own tailor," "a pair of Peal slippers, velvet, embroidered initials on the toe," "handkerchief Eau de Cologne," and of course the piece de resistence in gifts, "half a dozen white silk pyjamas"! (With initials embroidered on the pockets?)

After reading Vogue, we heaved a sigh of relief. Our Christmas present problem was solved! Hand knits, bill folds, cigarette cases (with cigarettes), records, lighters (or personalized match folders), smart ties and tie clips, plebeian linen handkerchiefs, and all the other ordinary Christmas presents are simply not "comme il faut" this season! (Or so Vogue and the Young Man decee). Better start saving your pennies now—or else quick! break up with your man before Christmas comes, and catches you without the requisite air conditioning unit or silk pyjamas!

Personally, we're only sending Christmas cards this year!

Our Readers Write

Likes A Good Joke

Editor, The Varsity

I did not crawl out of a rock on the campus; I am not a vignette of Keith Davey; I do not go about baiting Skulemen; I do not feel any pangs of jealousy towards Skule. To wit, to woo, Mr. Benstein, you're all wet.

Most of my friends are Skulemen. I am in a course closely allied to engineering. Most important of all, I like a good joke

Rocky Martino,
UC III.

♣ ♣ ♣

Opinions Not His

Editor, The Varsity:

I would appreciate it if you would clear up any misunderstanding about an article that I wrote for the Women's page. This was requested by Miss Joan Eddis and was a POLL of a group of Skulemen in regards to their opinion of the co-eds.

The opinions expressed were the opinions of the engineers polled and were not my own, as I understood that it was their opinions and not my own that were wanted. The article was slanted only in that it was based on the Forestry poll in which 82% preferred business women to the co-eds.

Unlike some of the gentlemen who wrote, I am not an expert on women. However my quotations were at least accurate and did not wander off into the realms of pure fantasy like Mr. Martino's view of the Skulemen.

Yours for better research,
Harold Nelson.

Austrians See Varsity Coeds 'Not Puppets'

Toronto co-eds are different from Austrian girls. This was the belief expressed by both the boys and the girls who were in the contingent of Austrian students who spent the past week-end in Toronto. Walter Weber speaking for the boys expressed the opinion — "I think that Toronto girls have a feeling like Austrian girls. They are not puppets — they are more independent than the Austrian girls — I like them."

Gretel Pohl is a co-ed from the University of Vienna, who is studying German, English, and Philosophy. She told of the Austrian girls' impressions of their Canadian hostesses thus: "Principally they are different in their way of dressing and of making up," she stated. She went on to enlarge upon this statement by telling how practical their clothes seemed, although they seemed less original in their dress. In this way they differ from the French and Viennese fashions which are beautiful but impractical. She commented that the Toronto co-eds were more emaciated than her colleagues.

Gretel went to the Trinity Athletic on Friday and was surprised to see the Toronto students dancing cheek to cheek. "It isn't done in Austria where the people dance for the sake of dancing but nothing more." She was also surprised at how naturally the Canadian men took to housework. In her country the boys are willing if asked, but the gesture is not one that comes naturally.

We decided to ask a few more of the boys what they thought, and were pleasantly surprised. If the Engineers and Foresters won't have us we can always go to Austria for compliments. Helmut Heuberger summed his impressions up very briefly by saying that he thought they were, "Wonderful, Wonderful, Wonderful!" Others said that they found the U. of T. girls presented no cold front, but were friendly and less reserved than the Austrians.

The feeling was mutual, for the Toronto hosts made many friends in the three days that the Austrian students spent in Toronto. The girls in both groups learned much, and exchanged many ideas during the brief goodwill tour that the Austrians made to Toronto.

THERE IS STILL TIME TO BUY TICKETS FOR
"The Red Mill"
by VICTOR HERBERT
Sales will continue this week in U.C. Rotunda and Hart House Box Office.
$1.00 — $1.25
OPEN TO ALL FACULTIES

U.C. CHRISTMAS DANCE
Ticket Sale
OPENS TOMORROW!
10-2 ROTUNDA 50c COUPLE

U.C. - P.H.E. WOMEN
Give EDDIS
The SAC(K)
Today in U.C. Rotunda

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacle-ware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c
HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.
BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

97,000 At Football Tilt

Red Suits To Coon Coats

By LENORE KERT

As good old Gertie Stein would say, "a football game is a football game is a football game." That is what we said too before we saw some of the variations of this theme in operation a week ago Saturday. What game caused us to have this change of heart? It was the Michigan-Ohio State and brother (or sister) what a game that was!

People! People! People! It hardly seemed believable that so many thousands of people were even interested in football games. The stadium at Ann Arbor, Michigan, one of the largest bowls in the United States, seats 97,000 people and every single seat was filled — in fact, there were a couple of thousand people standing. The number, 97,000, is so high that it is hard to visualize. Only after seeing the thousands of cars crawling through that college town and the mobs of fans swarming toward the stadium does it become a reality. Multiply the crowd scene along Bloor after a game by five or ten and then you have a general idea of how many were there.

Students Enter Free

The athletic fees at Michigan include admission to the football games — a fact which accounts for the 15 to 20,000 cheering students that were present. These students came to the game in some of the brightest outfits you could imagine. It was a mighty cold day and the fellows wore everything from brilliant red ski suits to that old Joe College standby, a raccoon coat.

The Michigan cheerleaders are exceedingly agile and look neat in their bright yellow sweaters, but there is not a coed among them. The Ohio State team did have a few girl cheerleaders, all dressed in red and white but they wore knee-length skirts and didn't do a single cartwheel.

Fancy Footwork Displayed

The half-time display more than made up for this lack of color. There is only one word to describe it — tremendous! Both school bands had about 140 members and in addition to their playing, put on the fanciest display of footwork possible. Each band was allotted seven and a half minutes and in that time they formed circles, spelt out letters, pranced like horses and played some very fine tunes.

Both teams had drum majors, dressed in fancy costumes and doing intricate routines — just like in the movies. The Michigan band formed three circles, each one representing a ring of a circus. In one ring, boys twirled burning batons and in the centre, the trampoline champion of America, one of the cheerleaders, performed.

Instead of tossing free lists of the players to the crowd, students get the concession and sell them outside the stadium for a dime.

Coed Hart House

Speaking from the female viewpoint, I got a thrill out of eating in the cafeteria — and there were real live boys in the room too — in the Union; a coed Hart House. There the only restriction is that on weekdays, girls have to use the side entrance.

Most details seem to have been covered, but, oh yes, here's one more minor point. The game was a 7-7 tie which means that Ohio State goes to the Rose Bowl.

HART ACHES

IT MAY HAPPEN HERE!

By MAY BEE

SCENE: A class party at a well-known hall on the campus. Time is nine o'clock. The lights have been dimmed low. A record player grinds on and on and the strains of "Bounce Me Brother With A Solid Four" floats over the dance floor.

ACTION: Enter four co-eds. After being scrutinized by the stag line at the door, they seat themselves on the auction block, the row of chairs around the hall. But none of the fifteen male (could you call them men?) undergraduates lounging about put in his bid for the next dance. An hour later finds three new co-eds joining those already on the auction block. Our male friends still lounge about though some of them have joined the poker game in the rest room.

"Boy! Would I love to dance!" exclaims one of the new girls.

"Huh. What can we slaves of mankind do about it! Just smile at one of those All-Varsity Hunks and he'll make you feel you ought to be scrubbing floors. Nuts! All I want is to dance so I've been sitting here for two hours!"

Has To Wait

Women have gained equal rights on land, on sea and on air, but not on the dance floor. If a gal wants to dance, she just has to SIT until someone — of the male species — comes long and invites her (when and if). If a girl hasn't got an escort, she misses out on a lot of the big dances of the campus whirl and the fuss and fun that go with it. Why? It's a matter of discrimination. She's a girl and she has to be asked!

But, let's fly on our magic carpet to a college in Amazonia, Utopia. There's going to be a dance on tonight, just one of those class get-together affairs. But, look what's happening! The boys are all standing around in nervous groups, wondering if they'll be asked by a girl, or if they'll have to go stag. Some boys have gone so far as to put their hair up in rags — so they'll look extra beautiful (or would it be handsome?).

A Co-Amazed approaches. The boys, recognizing her as a member of their Amazonish class (Amazonish is the language spoken in Amazonia), all hold their breath and cross their fingers. She doesn't go steady — so maybe there's a chance for them. But a breath of cold air blows by.

Retire To Knit

That night they meet each other on the street corner. What could be worse than going into a hall full of Co-Amozeds by yourself. "Together We Stand. . . . " As they enter the hall, they can't help blushing as the Co-Amozeds look them up, up, up, and down. A few lucky boys who were dated by the Co-Amozeds are already dancing.

The more refined Co-Amozeds, after looking over the crop, retire to the Amazon Room where there is a nice little knitting bee going on. Meanwhile, the boys seat themselves around the hall, their feet a-tapping to do an Amazon Fling (similar to the Highland). But custom is custom in Amazonia and a boy cannot go on to the dance floor unless accompanied by a Co-Amozed. So the boys, well, they cross their knees, fold their arms and look demurely at the Co-Amozeds. But these stalwart creatures have got together in a little group at the edge of the dance floor and started talking about "the swell time we had carding wool at Amheart House."

Gets Her Horse

Closing time rolls around. The boy on a date gets his coat while the Co-Amozed brings her horse around to the front. As for the other boys, they slip out the side door inconspicuously.

They all think of the big dance next week, and of wanting to go. However, they know the custom in Amazonia. So they resolve, before the part for the night, to use Lady Jester's mud pack facial mask every night for the next week, brush their hair a hundred times a day, and eat lettuce only. Maybe —.

● FROM OUR FILES ●

1927 — The dull time when women weren't necessary at rugby games: "Varsity women are anxiously waiting to learn whether they will be able to go to the Toronto-Queen's game via the special Varsity train. If there are sufficient men to fill the train, the gals are out of luck." Appears to me, so are the fellows.

Humour on our files: The police recently arrested an 82-year-old burglar. In house-breaking circles it is felt that he ought to retire and let youth have its chance.

Found New York Teeming, Cheap, But Expensive Too

By BARB HARRIS

A little over a week ago seventy Varsity students returned from a trip to New York City and the United Nations. For some it was their first excursion to the big city and they had their eyes opened to the ways of the world.

The saddest thing that happened was mixed with humor. One of the girls left her purse, with all her worldly possessions in it, in a cab. Her nerves were bad and her stomach upset as a result. She dashed off a bus into the nearest building which she thought was a hotel and asked for the Ladies' Powder Room. After she was told it was on the twelfth floor she asked what it was doing way up there. The reply "After all, lady, this is the Yale Men's Club!"

The stores in N.Y. were terrific. The latest styles in the best materials were really inexpensive, in terms of Canadian prices that is. A good looking frock could be had for twenty dollars and often less than that.

Living in the big city isn't as expensive as it's cracked up to be. Cabs will take you a couple of miles

(Continued on Page 7)

VIC'S CORNER

Pik's away so here's my chance to give a woman's point of view as well as giving out the usual gems of information which usually fall from this column.

RUGBY:

Well, this Wednesday is the big day for the Mulock Cup Finals. Everyone around the University is getting rather tired of Vic being in the Mulock Mug Play-offs. It's getting to be a habit—but, just because it is let's not forget that those boys on our team are playing for everyone at Vic. They play their hearts out for Vic and for you so why not go out on Wed. to show them that we're all behind them.

The Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry and Regimental Band or as they are perhaps better known The Burwash Bugle Boys will be there to try and outplay the L. G. M. B. Of course the cheerleaders will be there but what good are cheerleaders if they have no support. There will be a big sign with "VIC'S CORNER" printed on it so let's all sit together near the sign and really cheer that team on to the 1949 Mulock Cup.

Happy news has just reached us. All lectures in Vic will be cancelled the afternoon of the game. There is also news of a big Pep Rally and of course, don't forget the Tea Dance in the Drill Hall after the game. All Skulemen cordially invited.

MEN'S ATHLETICS:

Soccer: Vic played Wycliffe to a 2-2 tie with twenty minutes of overtime in the quarter finals. The replays on Friday were snowed out.

Lacrosse: Vic was eliminated in the semi-finals when Meds defeated them 10-4.

The managers of the minor league basketball teams are asked to watch the bulletin board for practice times in Little Vic.

Hockey: The men's hockey season started Monday, November 28. All four teams are playing the first week and the prospects for the season look pretty good.

Swimming: There is to be a Freshman Swim Meet with preliminaries on December 6. I'm told that if you can Dog Paddle you're in. Further particulars about this great event are available from Gord Bean.

Major B-ball: The senior, junior and third teams will be picked Tuesday (today that is) at four in the Big Gym in Hart House.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS:

Congratulations are in order for the Vic I softball team who lost out to PHE I after two hard-fought softball games for the Interfaculty Championship. Thanks to those wonderful coaches who gave so much time to help the gals.

Bowling: Any girls interested in bowling this year are asked to sign the list on the Bulletin Board.

Badminton: The lists are also up for badminton and there is much talk of a tournament in the near future.

Hockey: And now the thing you've all been waiting for—HOCKEY—at last. The lists are up in Wymilwood, Annesley and Vic. If you can skate you can play hockey. We need goalies (two of them), forwards and defense players. The practices will be starting next week in Varsity Arena so watch the Bulletin Board. Everyone who is interested is asked to come out to practices as the teams have to be ready shortly after Christmas as the schedule starts early in January—the second week to be exact.

In case you haven't heard the results of the Open Meeting last Thursday was Optional Dress for the men. This means either formal or informal. This decision was reached after little discussion.

Congratulations to the hard-working members of the Social Committee and to Nadine Smith and Marg Smith for the terrific job done on the Vic Informal. It was a really good dance and these kids deserve a lot of credit.

DEBATING PARLIAMENT:

Resolved that All-Varsity social activities are detrimental to College interests. This is the subject up for discussion on the Vic Debating Parliament meeting next Monday, December 2, at four in Alumni Hall. Bob Hetherington, president of the SAC, will be guest speaker opposing the resolution. Doug Thomas will also oppose the resolution while Stan Kurisko will speak in its favor.

SCARLET AND GOLD REVUE:

Tomorrow, Wednesday, November 30, is the day for the Scarlet and Gold Revue. There are still a few tickets left for this big show which you won't want to miss. There is a lot of talent around Vic and it's going to be evident in the show. So remember that's tomorrow night at Eaton Auditorium for the Scarlet and Gold Revue.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT:

This annual concert will be held in the Museum Theatre this Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3. The show includes some Fred Waring arrangements and many other interesting numbers. The tickets are available in Vic, so get yours early for good seats. "Annie"

(Advertisement)

Tickets on sale U.C. Rotunda 11-2 p.m.
FOR
"HILLELZAPOPPIN"
THURSDAY, DEC. 1st
at
CLUB KINGSWAY
OZZIE WILLIAMS & ORCHESTRA
DANCING 9-1
$3.00 A COUPLE

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

N. F. C. U. S.
CANADIAN REGIONAL EXCHANGE
Open to Arts graduates of '52
Apply now at S.A.C. office

LAST CHANCES
Today & Tomorrow
FOR TICKETS TO THE
SCARLET & GOLD REVIEW
EATON AUDITORIUM, NOV. 30 AT 8:15 P.M.
RESERVED TICKETS $1.00 per person at Alumni Hall, Victoria College & Economics Bldg.

Tickets $2.00 per couple
KI. 3680 or KI. 6932
THE ANNUAL INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL DANCE
AT THE BRANT INN
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30
Train leaves Union Station at 8 p.m. sharp.
$1.90 per couple return

S. African Hatred

(Continued from Page 1)

$5,300,000 on education a year. The object is to help these people become self-sufficient and to be able to make a contribution to the country. There are district officers in charge of helping with local problems, and schools provide a basic education and training in some vocational skills. Missionaries and church schools are doing particularly fine work in this field. Books are being printed in the various languages for use in the schools now.

The natives although comprising the majority of the population are incapable of having the vote. However South Africa with its limited resources is trying to formulate an alleviating policy, but it must take a long time to make South Africa more of a democracy, Roberts concluded.

TORONTONENSIS
1950
Orders Are NOW Being Taken
SEE YOUR COLLEGE OR FACULTY REP.

We're at home from now on!
ALL-VARSITY REVUE
1949-50
2ND FINAL CASTING OF DANCING CHORUS
BOTH GUYS AND GALS ! !
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 4-6 P.M.
at
THE ZION CHURCH
(Our Rehearsal Home)
Girls are requested if possible to appear in shorts and dancing shoes

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.
SUMMER TOURS TO EUROPE
Small groups personally conducted by well-known university professors. Good hotels. Private baths in many hotels. Extensive motoring. One Canadian management throughout. Preliminary folders on these tours will be ready for mailing Tuesday.

GRAND TOUR—66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9.
$1,265.00
Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 1; June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$1,095.00

WEST. EUROPE—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9.
$1,055.00
Tour—38 days. Sails June 1; Same tour without British Motor June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$865.00

SCANDINAVIAN TOUR —66 days
Scotland, England Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and France. Sails June 1.
$1,240.00
Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 14; June 15.
$1,095.00

CAPITALS TOUR—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9 ..... $925.00

OBERAMMERGAU TOUR —66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, the Passion Play, Italy and France. Sails June 14; June 15 .... $1.420.00

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.
(Kenneth B. Conn, President)
2 College St. Phone WA. 1491

ART - MUSIC - DRAMA

Hart House Concert

In a program almost exclusively devoted to works by contemporary composers, Ray Dudley and John Beckwith, pianists, ably combined efforts in Sunday afternoon's Hart House concert of music for four hands.

The opening work, a short sonata of Francis Poulenc with a spicy little prelude set the mood for much of the humorous material included in the recital. Poulenc evidently decided to overwhelm his hearers with the knowledge that the piano is after all a percussion instrument and his enterpreters therefore used an appropriate non-legato attack.

Igor Stravinsky was represented by Pieces Faciles, a work satirizing the parlour duets so popular at the turn of the century. It is a rather malicious work without the subtlety of burlesque that William Walton for instance, commands; still it does manage to be rather skillfully amusing. Mr. Beckwith and Mr. Dudley caught the flavour of the various pieces, March, Valse, Polka, etc. perfectly and thoroughly enjoyed themselves too.

The Mozart Fantasia in F minor, which should have been a test of musicianship was unfortunately lacking. The performers maintained clarity, but played rather stiffly and without much variation or delicacy of expression.

Alfredo Casella's Five Marionette Pieces are effective theatre music and were played with a fine bravura style.

The program closed with Jock Beckwith's Music for Dancing. In a clever yet musical work, the young composer has used his quick dramatic sense to successfully express himself in this four handed medium.

Lillian Beckerl.

✦ ✦ ✦

Wymilwood Concert

On Sunday evening in Wymilwood, Dorothy Johnson presented a varied piano recital. Miss Johnson is a young Canadian pianist who had her debut as a concert artist in Eaton Auditorium some months ago. She has since been on an extensive tour of Quebec and the Maritimes, currently teaching at the Royal Conservatory.

Before talking about Miss Johnson's programme, I wish to lodge a strong complaint. The piano that this fine young artist was forced to use gave me cause to think that it had been constructed somewhat before the period when Attila The Hun swept across Europe. It certainly caused as much havoc on the selections played as Mr. Attila did on his unfortunate victims. It is difficult to relax and listen to a fine programme which is being well executed when one constantly hears a squeaking pedal, rattling hammers, and a dull thud in the low register of the piano!

The programme opened with the Preludium in D Minor, by Carbonelli. Miss Johnson, despite her youth, immediately showed herself to be a mature musician. She attacked Carbonelli's broad chords with absolute sureness and finesse. The allegro passages were clear and well defined. Despite the poor piano, she executed the fingering of these difficult passages with ease, and managed to produce a clear, warm tone.

The major work of the evening was the Sonata in D Minor, by Beethoven. I felt that the artist was not as happy with this work as she had been with the aforementioned Carbonelli. The work is in three movements: Allegro, Adagio, and Allegretto. The Adagio movement, however, seemed to become bogged down in overtones. Again the piano was partly to blame, but the pianist's poor peddling accounted for most of the unpleasant sound in this movement.

To reiterate what has been said many times before, I only hope, when young musicians like Miss Johnson gain the recognition which many of them deserve, that they will stay in Canada and add to our rapidly expanding artistic culture.

James W. Kilgour.

✦ ✦ ✦

Radio: Stage 50

Last Sunday Stage 50 produced Stevenson's Kidnapped and thereby gave us some rousing entertainment. I thought Andrew Allan's adaptation was masterly; it brought out the violence, gore and speed which make the book a perennial favorite with juveniles. All in the large cast I thought were excellent, clear and convincing. Mr. Drainie was the regal Allan Breck Stewart and he played it wis assurance and enthusiasm. My special bow goes to Don Harron as David Balfour. With a warm human voice, infectious personality and an ability to make characters live he leaves me quite satisfied with anything he attempts. All the small aspects were top-notch; music, split-second timing, and accents (especially compared to Brigadoon).

What follows is a resume of the conversation of my sister and her offspring:

"Yes, dear, Toronto has effected a Copernican revolution and now we move in time with spheres like the C.B.C. So now Stage 50 is from 9 to 10. Everything is an hour earlier, dear. Does that make Sir Thomas a little close to supper? Does he turn your stomach? Too bad. No, dear, it is not too late for a little one like you to hear Kidnapped for it is a children's tale of blood and thunder. Listen to the story, dear. Yes, it is a foreign tongue: they speak Scotch. You can understand most of it? Good. Listen to the fellows shriek as a sword goes through them. Ha Ha, Davey Balfour is sick! He is weaker than you. No, I do not know why Allan Breck yaps for 15 minutes about the political situation of 1751. Perhaps it was the result of his release from a stage of hyper-tension and enforced reticence. You are confused? Forget it. Is not the chase exciting fun? Don't you love it that there is no mushy love? Just think, you may study Scotch some day and learn what some of it was all about. Next week there will be further exciting adventures of Davy. No, I don't know why the peg-legged man wasn't in it. Perhaps that is another book. Go rest your little swimming head."

Murray Pashley.

After the Mulock Cup Finals on Wednesday
TEA DANCE
Drill Hall on St. George Street
Music by Don Eiler

I. S. O.
Yatra visvam bhabaty ekanidam.
Where the whole world forms one single nest.

How ISO Becomes Part of an International House

ISO is probably the only group on the campus that will cease to exist as soon as one of its major aims is successful. Once an International House has been established it will take over the functions of the International Students' Organization.

When foreign students come to this campus they often know only their classmates (and that poorly) and others from the same country. The ISO has tried to provide a common meeting ground between these students and those Canadian students who would like to meet them and help them adjust to living here.

Furthermore, many Canadians feel that they lack an adequate understanding of these people from elsewhere. They would like to meet them and become friends but don't know where to start as any one club of a single national group will only give you the chance to meet that one national group. Again the ISO has been the only organization filling this need.

But the ISO, a single, all-student group, obviously cannot be host to ALL the foreign students (from a social viewpoint), nor can it offer a sufficient number of Canadians the opportunity to meet these people. Only an International House can supply club rooms, common rooms, a cafeteria, and all the other facilities necessary for these functions. This, of course, is not all that the house will supply, but other functions—housing, counselling, et al.—are not within the scope of ISO, anyhow.

So it's easy to see why ISO has tried for years to establish an International House here. It's also easy to see that once such a House is permanently established it will take over all functions of ISO which will then exist only as a House committee.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SKI TRIP
to SAINT SAUVEUR, QUEBEC
Organized and arranged by the Students' Administrative Council
ALL EXPENSES - Hotel, Railway, Meals, Checking
$25.00
Leave Toronto Friday evening, January 27th, 1950, by special Canadian National Railways train 8:00 p.m.
Return leave St. Sauveur Sunday, January 29th, 1950, 7:30 p.m. arriving Toronto, Monday morning January 30th, 1950.
As accommodation is limited, reservations will be accepted from now on at Students' Administrative Council offices.
DEPOSIT $5.00 REQUIRED, BALANCE BY JANUARY 9th, 1950.
Pullman accommodation will be available, if desired.
Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, University College

ART — MUSIC and DRAMA

Viennese Evening

The concert presented at Massey Hall on Saturday evening by a group of Austrian students scored a major diplomatic victory. Thirty younger young people under the capable direction of Felix Molzer portrayed a little of the life and culture of their homeland and completely won our hearts.

Handicapped by the absence of curtains the cast still managed to present a smooth, fast-moving series of sketches. The attractive mistress of ceremonies, Dr. Susanne Ebsterer, quickened the imagination with a witty commentary. Clever pantomime and beautiful costumes made up for the lack of scenery.

The opening scene, a village square at festival time, revealed the local swains and their girls modelling "Auf der Alm." Later six boys performed the tricky "Schuhplattein" or shoe-slapping dance before the girls. A delightful scene was built around a lovers' quarrel and their reconciliation after the "Fensterln" or window-serenade. Karl Santner is to be complimented on his direction of the folk-dances.

Later in the show a professor from Vienna on a talent hunt finds what he wants in this village. Here the harp number by Peter Freisinger was a high point in the show as was Vroni Stoeckl's yodelling. She sang "Der Erzherzog Johann Yodeler" with unbelievable ease. Her voice ranged from rich, deep tones to a clear, bell-like quality, marked at all times by excellent control. There were other songs and dances including a very fine baritone solo by Kurt Freisitzer.

Finally we were introduced to the waltzes and wine gardens of Vienna. Girls in pastel gowns with their escorts watched lovely Linda Zamboni dance to the strains of "The Blue Danube," and then joined in the last waltz to end a perfect Viennese evening.

C. E. Rathe.

Found New York

(Continued from Page 5)

for fifty cents. Of course a tip must be thrown in; we discovered when our driver didn't get one and he turned around and said, "Thanks for the tip, lady." Even eating can be cheap — at the Automats. As you go in you get your money changed to nickels. Even that doesn't happen in Toronto.

The girls stayed at a ladies' hotel where genteel poverty was very much in evidence. There are chairs to sit on while waiting for an elevator and chairs in them. Some of the doddering old ladies, the elevator boy told me, wouldn't get on or off if it was an inch above the floor level.

An unsuspecting couple went to the Stork Club for lunch because they heard there was no cover charge at that time. However they rounded out twelve dollars. Milk was $1.50 and tomato juice seventy cents.

New York the big city, city of extremes. Everything there was crowded, even the grave yards.

Talk By Prof. Fairley At Goethe Bicentennial Conservatory Concert

A Goethe bicentennial program, arranged by the Royal Conservatory Senior School, will be given in the Royal Conservatory Concert Hall, Thursday, December 1.

Professor Barker Fairley will present a brief address on Goethe, and will introduce the program, which is made up of settings of Goethe, lyrics by Beethoven, Schubert, and Wolf. Elizabeth Benson Guy, Mary Morrison, Louise Roy, and Andrew MacMillan will be the singers.

From Our Files

For rent (quoth a classified ad in our files some time back) a bright, newly-furnished room, $8.00 per month.

Those were the days when four dollars covered entrance fees for all rugby, hockey and track events, and when French professors made remarks like this item in a 1929 issue of The Varsity:

"Louis Phillippe provided for his daughter by careful husbanding — of his estates," How times have changed.

✣ ✣ ✣

Item about freshettes (1922):

There is a rumour circulating to the effect that one of our gay, young freshettes is "simply dying to be shown over Hart House — she'd heard so much about these terrible matrimonial beaurous."

✣ ✣ ✣

1922 was also the year when the School of Graduate Studies was initiated into the university as a special faculty, and the book exchange "gets too much business" (even sans discount).

✣ ✣ ✣

Pet Peeve by a 4th year Vic student: "It's SPS men who are egotists enough to think that Annesley Hall appreciates their groggy serenades." Even then!

• COMING EVENTS •

VIC CCF

The Vic C.C.F. Club will meet Wed., Nov. 30, at 1 p.m. in Room 15, Vic. G. M. Grube, Professor of Classics, Trinity, will speak on "The Nationalization of Industries."

✣ ✣ ✣

HART HOUSE

Dr. G. Tatham will speak in the Debates Room, Hart House, Thursday, December 1st, at 1:30 p.m. His topic will be "The Meaning of Success". All members invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

JR. PHILOSOPHY

"The place of sex in our modern social structure" will be the topic of the Junior Philosophy Club meeting on Thurs., at 7.45 p.m. in Wymilwood. Prof. Carpenter of the Anthropology Dept. will introduce the subect.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. PARLIAMENT

Resolved: that Franco's Spain should not be admitted to the North Atlantic Pact.

Thursday, December 1—4:00 p.m. Junior Common Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

PLAYERS' GUILD

Three one-act plays by the U.C. Players' Guild and the Trinity Drama Society in the Women's Union on Wednesday, November 30, at 8:15.

✣ ✣ ✣

ARCHAEOLOGY CLUB

An open meeting of the Archaeology Club will be held at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 30, in the Blue Room in Wymilwood. Mr. K. Kidd, Assistant Keeper of the Ethnological Collections, will give an illustrated talk on Mexican archaeology.

✣ ✣ ✣

RED MILL MAKE-UP

There is a meeting to be held in the Men's Cloak Room of the Women's Union on Tuesday evening, 29 November, at 7:30 o'clock, for all those interested in doing make-up for the Red Mill.

✣ ✣ ✣

FRIEND'S LECTURES

T. S. McIlwraith, Professor of Anthropology, will lecture on "The Place of Religion in the Life of Man", Fri., Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. in Room 64 of the Royal Ontario Museum.

USA Dominates

(Continued from Page 3)

must follow the line of the American State Department.

Arnold Wood, a student from the College of Art, quoted Pablo Neruda as saying the role of artists and intellects in the Western World was to destroy men morally and culturally in preparation for fascism and a shooting war.

Cakes And Kigmy

(Continued from Page 1)

air.

Well, the candles were out, Tonkin was wearing his monkey-mask and gleefully kicking the kigmy, Prof. Satterly was smiling, so Earle Blevis decided it was about time to start cutting the cake. After Elizabeth Kirkpatrick presented the small cake to Prof. Satterly for himself and his wife, the rest of the class was given a piece of the large cake. It was really good. Ask the engineers; they had two pieces.

Buffet Affair

With everybody walking around, eating cake and drinking liquid refreshments, I decided to ask various people what they thought of the party.

Professor Satterly said he appreciated everything but he wished the class wouldn't single him out. "There are many other professors who do a lot for their classes too. I wish the classes would give them parties."

"Wonderful," said Nancy Graydon, when I asked how it felt to kiss a Professor of Physics.

When I asked how he felt about being a kigmy, Alex Xma gave a long sigh. "It was heaven!"

That's all there was; there was no more; there will be no more. This is Professor Satterly's last birthday party given by his students. After 39 years at Toronto, he is retiring at the end of this year. At the age of 70, Professor Satterly he has done great honour, and which has given him much happiness and enjoyment. Though we may say "Good-bye" at the end of this year, we won't forget him—or his birthday parties.

• WHAT'S ON TODAY •

VIC - VCF

Vic - VCF will meet in the Chapel at 1:20 p.m.

VCSU—All members are urged to reconsider the notice on the main bulletin board.

✣ ✣ ✣

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS' CLUB

There will be a general membership meeting of the Ukrainian Students' Club this evening at 8 p.m., in Room 4, University College.

✣ ✣ ✣

FOOD CHEMISTRY CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Food Chemistry Club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 29, Room 117, Household Economics Building, at 8:15 p.m. Dr. W. D. McFarlane of Victory Mills Ltd., will discuss Soy Bean Processing. Movies will be shown. Non-members are invited to attend.

✣ ✣ ✣

MODERN HISTORY CLUB

Prof. Saunders will speak on "The French-Canadian Outlook" at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 29th, at Wymilwood. Discussion.

✣ ✣ ✣

CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

The next in this series will be held in the Bonrd Room at Trinity at 4 p.m. Dr. Edison will talk on "The Christian View of the Nature of Man."

✣ ✣ ✣

CONSERVATIVE CLUB

There will be a meeting of the University Conservative Club on Wednesday night at 8 in the Trinity College Rhodes Room.

CARNEGIE RECORD HOUR

Verdi: Preludes to Act 1 and 3, La Traviata

Tchaikowsky: Nutcracker suite

Beethoven: Piano Concerto No. 4

✣ ✣ ✣

GRADUATE UNION

"Are we losing our academic freedom?" will be the subject for the graduate union debate tonight at 8:15.

✣ ✣ ✣

T.C. MISSIONARY COMMITTEE

The meeting will be addressed by Lt.-Col. Paul Rusch. Col. Rusch spent 20 years in Japan and has recently been attached to General McArthur's staff as an Intelligence Officer. Today in the JCR at 4:30.

FLYING CLUB

Meet Wed. Evening

7.30 p.m. Music Room

Hart House

R.C.A.F. Movie

"FIT FOR 'G'"

Guest Speaker

DR. LEVY

ALL WELCOME

U.C. - P.H.E. WOMEN

Exercise Your Franchise

election of

S.A.C. REPRESENTATIVE

TODAY—U.C. ROTUNDA

10 A.M. - 2 P.M.

CANDIDATES: JOAN EDDIS—ZAIRA MURRAY

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER SEMI-FINAL STADIUM	3.00	Jr. SPS vs Sr. Vic or Wyc	Barton
VOLLEYBALL PLAYOFFS	1.00	SPS V vs U.C. VI	Cohl
	4.00 (Emm)	(U.C.V.) vs Sr. U.C.	Kroll
	5.00	Trin A vs Med II Yr	Fine
	6.00	Inst. Mgt vs Pre-Med	Fine
HOCKEY	1.30	Sr. U.C. vs Sr. Med	Carr, Hayes
	4.00	Trin C vs Vic IV	Allen, Robertson

ATTENTION SKIERS

A MEETING OF MEN'S & WOMEN'S INTRAMURAL REPRESENTATIVES WILL BE HELD IN THE STAFF ROOM, HART HOUSE, TODAY (TUESDAY) AT 5.00 P.M. ENTER BY THE ATHLETIC WING.

The purpose of this meeting is to arrange the winter activities at the Newmarket Ski property. Every college and faculty should be represented.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI TEAM

There will be a meeting of the Ski team on Wednesday, Nov. 30th, at 5 p.m. in the Debates Room, Hart House.

SENIOR SOCCER TEAM PICTURE

Team picture will be taken on Tues., Nov. 29th, at 5 p.m. Will all team members make effort to be present in uniform, at that time.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

WANTED

Will pay reasonable price for the following: "Constitution of Canada", "Statutes, Treatise and Proclamation of the Constitution of Canada" by W. P. Kennedy. Phone RA. 7263.

TYPIST

Thoroughly experienced on notes and theses. Conveniently located at 218 John St. Elgin 9063.

FOR RENT

1 double room in refined home. Breakfast optional, vacant December 6. 81 Walmer Rd.

OPPORTUNITY

Students—sell Christmas trees for easy profits of from $1.50 to $2.25 per tree. Write Box 15 for full information.

P.A. SYSTEMS RENTALS

Super Sound: Dance Music for your next class, year or house party. Stage and orchestra work. Largest stock of rental equipment on the campus. Call Don Eller, HO. 0868.

FOR SALE

1 brown, 1 blue suit, size 38, almost new, very reasonable. Phone Ron Lucas, KI. 9745 after 7.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable income. Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 3929.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

ss Vic ss

A tremendous ovation will greet the debut of the Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry Regimental Band when they lead a pep rally on Vic's front steps before the Mulock Cup finals Wednesday, 1:15 p.m. There will be cheerleaders, songs, and yells plus a big parade from Vic over to the stadium where the victorious Scarlet and Gold is going to put the proper fitting on the plumber.

At half time, the highly touted Vic Band will put on a display in order to prove their undoubted superiority over the Lady Godiva Memorial Band if the last named dares to show up.

Everybody meet at Vic front steps at 1:15—then to victory.

SKUNK SKULE!

Junior Basketball Blues Whitewash YMHA

BOOK REVIEW
French Method Of Skiing

"How to Ski by the French Method" by Emile Allais (Braun and Co. $5.50).

The introduction to Allais' sparkling book is written by Frison Roche and is a lively commentary on the history of the French technique. It begins in a children's story-book manner, telling of Allais' early life on skis and his great and growing love for the sport. Frison Roche relates how after winning the good skier's cup at age 18, Allais was made a member of the French racing team and subsequently met and was trained by Seelos, the world's champion skier. Seelos had a secret style of skiing which he couldn't even explain himself.

Under his tutelage Allais mastered this style and modified it. Today this is the Emile Allais technique.

Allais begins his book with a short exposition on his technique and its success in the ski world. He reasons that too much time is spent in learning "stem" movements which are almost always done away with in the later stages of skiing. To counteract stem movements he postulates that the rotation of the shoulders seemed "to be the most powerful moving agent capable of making the skis turn without having recourse to the limbs which often caused accidents."

This rotational method is illustrated fully, later in the book. Not only is it valuable as an efficient method of turning but also from the standpoint of instruction it is a very simple thing to teach. From this rotational turn Allais also claims to have originated what he calls the "rouade". This is simply a slight lifting of the backs of the skis just as you go from the counter-rotation to the rotation movement.

The book also covers downhill side slipping, the snowplough, and a small section on jumping over small obstacles. All the techniques are illustrated beautifully and from the pictorial point of view the book is also to my mind a great piece of work. Photos were taken by Pierre Boucher.

In summing up the book I would say that it will not teach anybody to ski by simply reading. However, I am sure that anybody who has ever been on skis will not fail to be enthused and excited by it as I was.

By Ron Cohen

Gals Invade H-House For Basketball Finals

By BETTY ASTON

Once again women's basketball has reached the playoff stage. Last year there were some excellent games in the finals with PHE III coming out on top, Physio runners-up and UC Sophs placing third. This year also promises close competition with UC Sr. Jr. A's and St. Mike's are favoured as the winners.

In the quarter finals last Thursday, Meds defeated PHE II and UC Fr. defeated OT with the result that the first game of the playoffs in Hart House tonight at 7.30 will be St. Mike's A vs UC Fr. At 8.30 UC Sr. Jr. A's will play Meds.

The winners from these two games will play off on Thursday for first and second place, with the losers competing for third and fourth spots. Kay Catto, basketball club president, has three top-notch refs, Gwen Smith, Mickey Barnett and Lois Dowson, lined up for the games.

This is the chance of a lifetime for the femmes of the campus. The playoffs offer every girl an opportunity to enter the forbidden portals of Hart House free and unescorted, as a spectator and team supporter.

UC Sr. Jr. A defeated UC Freshies last night to copp the Rosebowl award. The silver Rosebowl, given by W UC Women's Alumni will be presented to the team captain at the annual UC—PHE Athletic banquet.

League Standings	W	L
League I:—U.C. Sr. Jr. A	6	0
II:—St. Mike's A....	6	0
III:—PHE III	6	0
IV:—Meds	5	1
V:—UC Fr.	4	2
VI:—OT	5	1

Aspen, Placid To Be Scenes Of Ski Action

For the first time in the history of ski competitions the World Ski Championships will not be in Europe. Aspen, Colorado, and Lake Placid, New York, have been chosen for this event which is renowned among the international skiing circle.

Crack ski stars have been invited from 31 countries by the National Ski Association to compete in the slalom, downhill, jumping and cross-country events sponsored by the Federation Internationale de Ski (FIS).

Dick Durrance, world - famous downhill skier, designed the hazardous courses out in Aspen where the downhill and slalom races will take place from February 13-18. He also supervised the construction, starting at the tree-clearing stage right through to the moving of great mounds of earth and rock.

It was announced by Leonard Woods, executive secretary of the Colorado Alpine races, that these trails not only meet the strict racing requirements of the FIS, but also provide many places for spectators to watch the greatest race of the year with skiers reaching speeds as fast as 80 miles an hour.

An innovation was brought in last May by the FIS Council. It has been decided that the slalom races will be run before the downhill event, thus eliminating the possibility of skiers being knocked out of the Championships through the dangers and accidents that result from downhill racing.

From January 30 to February 5 the jumping and cross-country events will take place at Lake Placid only about 400 miles from Toronto.

HOCKEY SCORES

Jr. SPS 3—Jr. U.C. 1
Sr. Vic 4—Sr. SPS 4
Jr. Vic 2—Pre-Med 0

Bernie Bernstein Leads All Scorers Juniors Win 54-37

By JOHN LEE

Showing the form that carried them into the finals last year the Varsity junior basketball team romped to a 54-37 win over the MHA entry in a game played at Harbord Collegiate last night. The win was the first of the young season for the team, as they lost Saturday night to the defending champions, YMCA.

24 For Bernstein

This year's team are carrying only three members from the team that showed so well last year in the first season that Varsity has floored a junior team. Those players are Al Dancy, Gary Glover and Dave Bernstein. The last mentioned player really turned in a top effort hooping in nearly half of his team's output.

Bernstein managed to control both backboards and flipped in most of the rebounds that came his way from the Y MHA's board which helped him greatly in racking up 24 points. He displayed plenty of good two arm shooting, tossing in points equally well with either hand. His hook shot particularly played havoc with the Y's defence.

Rough Game

Lots of penalties were handed out in the rather rough contest with YMHA being the chief offenders. By the end of the game three of the Y boys' players had been benched by the officials for five fouls. Dancy emerged from the game in a bruised condition as he drew five fouls of which he scored two.

New-Comer Shows

New-comer Binnington, formerly of the Lawrence Park Binnington, did well for himself in his initial start with the juniors throwing in six points. Coopersmith and Gary Glover added eight each.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

On Saturday morning we had a few words with a chappie from the north who was waiting for his ticket to the Grey Cup final. This boy was voted the most valuable player in the Nickel Belt this year and was sent to Toronto by a sports goods store in Sudbury. When asked about his intention next year, he told us that if he made enough money at International Nickel this summer he would come to Varsity; if not, he would have to go to some other University.

This epitomizes the situation around the intercollegiate loop at the present moment. The Canadian colleges are supposed to be the last strongholds of amateurism on the continent; and we would like to see them stay that way, but unfortunately there are some colleges that do not hold this view. However much a school abhors subsidization of athletes, the time will soon come when the school must itself resort to athletic scholarship in self-defence.

As far as we are concerned, it matters only very little whether college offers financial help to its players. If they don't, that's fine from the standpoint of purity and amateurism in school sports; if they do, that's fine because of the opportunity offered a boy who might otherwise be deprived of the (alleged) benefits of a University education.

The thing about passing out the old mazuma is that the school that starts it will have an advantage over those that are a little slower in letting go their altruistic ideals. If one college consistently loses its games, and there is no university within a reasonable distance that could field a better team, that college is justified in temporarily setting up some system for building up its team to required standards. It is a recognized fact that it is not good for a team to win all the time; it hurts the loop, and it hurts the team in the end.

Subsidization is, on some grounds, justifiable; but within tight limits. As soon as this stuff gets out of hand, things go topsy-turvey, and the college games decide who has the greater powers of persuasion and financial resources. The competition ceases to be athletic, and becomes politic.

To get down to specific details, in our own intercollegiate league, some do, and some don't. McGill comes right out with loans to students, and makes no attempt to hide the fact that some of their players were enticed by these loans. These loans are easily controllable, and can be stopped a tany time. McGill have not had a good team for ten years, so that the loans are doing everybody some good. If McGill gets to the point where they are at the top, we hope the loans will stop. On the other side of the fence we have Western; they give out athletic scholarships more or less openly, (although we will get a flood of mail from UWO to the contrary). They are strictly cash (or equivalent) grants, and are dangerous to the league good. Western has no need for them . . . . they have won enough gridiron glory without this help. Rather than being helped by this, Western will be hurt.

The point is this . . . . if the intercollegiate league is going to allow financial help to athletes, it should keep it equitable. What the C.I.A.U. ought to do now is to pass eligibility rules or gentleman's agreements between the colleges as to just how far this can go. Varsity wil,, of course, never condone, tolerate, or encourage athletic scholarships . . . but Varsity up till now has never needed them. Next season things might be different, though.

The only sure-fire and certain way of keeping things equal and right is to pass a good, hard, league rule with long, hard, teeth in it prohibiting athletic scholarships . . . . and work on from there.

VARSITY SPORTS

Senior Vic Whip Wycliffe In Mural Soccer Playoff

In a semi-final soccer game played in the Stadium under most discouraging conditions yesterday, Senior Vic. defeated Wycliffe by a score of 4-0. The Wycliffe team, who put up a grand performance in holding Vic to a tie on their first encounter, were completely outplayed by the Vic. men, whose superior teamwork, ball control, and thrust were evident throughout.

For the first ten minutes the game was fairly even, although it could be seen that the large pitch suited the Vic players, whose short passing plays were always finding their man. Wycliffe had the first scoring chance of the match, but it proved to be their last. Shortly before halftime Vanstone put the Scarlet and Gold ahead following some brilliant approach work by Williams, and from then on the issue was never in doubt. Only for great work on the part of Baker, the Wycliffe custodian, the total must inevitably have been much higher.

The second half was contested entirely in Wycliffe's territory, as the Vic forwards, sparked by the flank men, Keane and Delfosse, dazzled their opponents with drives and crosses and neat footwork. In this period the ball rarely if ever bothered the Vic defence, whose half-line was working like a charm, in a fine display of two way football. Vanstone, Williams and Keane capitalized on three of the many chances that came their way. Baker made a stylish save on a penalty taken by Mercer, and play ended with Vic still pressing. Tomorrow, also in the Stadium, Vic play Junior SPS in the semi-final.

UC Lacrosse Team Advance Into Finals

UC firsts, riding on the crest of a one game winning streak yesterday drubbed the outclassed boxIL entry from St. Mike's by a 11-1 score. The win enables the UC aggregation to advance into the best of three finals with Meds I which commence Wednesday and continue Friday, and if necessary, next Monday. The Dafoe Cup will be at stake, and the present holders are the classy Meds team.

The game was no contest right from the opening whistle as UC scored immediately following the initial face-off. By the half time interval UC were leading 6-0 and dominated the play just as fully for the remainder of the unspectacular game. The first two shots on the St. Mike's goalie resulted in scores.

Frank Chambers, perennial star for the UC'ers topped his team in scoring with four clever counters. Dutch Young, lanky forward, added three as did Kopsky. Davis got the remaining goal. For St. Mike's "B", McRae was the lone goal getter.

Sportswoman

Although there is still snow in Toronto, the weather threatens to ruin any skiing that might be pushed in after lectures. However for all those who like to take their skiing seriously there will be lots of snow at Collingwood.

From last week-end's report the conditions could not have been better. Evidently there was a hard base with a powder snow covering and what was best of all was the lack of people on the tows that Jozo Weiss had had running over in the Alpine Bowl.

Ski Meeting

This is another reminder that the Standing Ski Committee will meet this afternoon at 5.00 in the Stag Room on the second floor of Hart House. All women who are looking after skiing for their faculties are on this executive and it is hoped that everybody will turn out.

The Newmarket Ski property will be discussed, as well as plans for intramural meets during the coming winter.

Badminton Tourney

Elizabeth Russell, president of badminton, hopes to get some of the tournaments off before Christmas with the rest to come after the holidays. Already lists have gone up for people to sign so that the draw sheets can be compiled.

The All-University Badminton Club has definitely stimulated the interest in this sport and there is a possibility that a lot of the feminine members will enter the competition and make it the best ever for badminton.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Sunny and Mild

VOL. LXIX NO. 49 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Wednesday, November 30, 1949

All-Varsity Revue Try-Outs

—Varsity Staff Photo by Bob Rapp

Take a good look at them now, and then see how many you recognize in the All-Varsity Review next February. This is the second lot of girls who are trying out for the chorus line under the practised eye of Norma Pankhurst, who is one of the instructors and instructoresses who are picking the final lineups for the show. One of the biggest shows on the campus, it takes a lot of work, and even more in the line of personnel. Trials will be held in the old Zion Church on College Street.

IRC Delegates Give Canadian Opinions At U.S. Conference

Nine delegates of the International Relations Club are back from the Middle Atlantic Conference of IRC clubs held at Georgetown University in Washington D.C. last weekend. The conference discussed the United States in world politics.

Split Into Round Tables

The conference was split into five round tables on U.S. relations with Europe, U.N., the American continent, the Middle East and the Far East. Highlights of the conference were addresses by Dr. Alberto Leras, Secretary-General of the Organization of American States (Pan American Union), Mr. John Martini Cates, of the State Department who spoke on the U.S. and the United Nations and a short talk on diplomacy by Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to the U.S., at a tea given for the conference at the swank British Embassy.

The Toronto IRC delegation included President Ed Eberle, St. Mikes, Vice-President Jack Tuker, U.C., Joan Webster, Vic, Shafiek Nadr, Vic; Bill Sproule, Trinity; Kip Fleming, Glenn Ross, George Slater, all from Vic and Tom Pope, St. Mike's. Other Canadian delegations were present from McMaster, University of Montreal and Marianapolis College, Montreal.

Present Canadian Viewpoint ..

George Slater presented a paper in the commission of the American continent titled Canada: United States' Best Customer. The speech pointed out the importance of Canada to the United States for security and economically. The inconsistencies in American policy on multi-lateral trade and the futility of action without the concurrence of the U.S. were developed with reference to recent Canadian statements on foreign policy. Other delegates presented the Canadian viewpoint in the groups on the U.N., Europe and the Middle East.

There was general realization that the present world trade was unbalanced and the opinion of the mpority of the students favored economic and political integration of Europe as a solution. A minority pointed out the difficulties in the path of such integration but the majority felt that it was essential and must be accomplished.

Western Aid Opposes Russia

The problem of relations between East and West boiled down to aiding the Western countries to remain democratic and thus opposing the expansion of Russia.

The discussion of international relations did not take up the whole time. The Canadian group was invited to the Canadian Embassy and met the Ambassador, Hume Wrong. The next afternoon most of the students visited the National Art Gallery where the Vienna Col-

(Continued on Page 3)

Eddis Elected SAC Member In Close Fight

Joan Eddis, III UC, was elected women's SAC representative yesterday for University College. She was opposed by Zahra Murray, UC, for the position.

The vote, totalling 140, had to be counted four times, said WUA President Jane Ratz last night. "There was only a very slight difference in the voting," she said.

The fact that only two women ran for the position is not unusual, said Jane Ratz. "It was a rather quiet campaign. Joan Eddis had the best advertising."

Joan Eddis said she intends to try for a seat on the publications committee and the Women's Athletic Association on the SAC. "I attribute the slight edge by which I won to the efforts of my friends on my behalf," she said. At present Joan is the Women's Editor on The Varsity, in which capacity she has a seat on the SAC but is unable to propose or second motions. "There have been so many times that I have wanted to propose motions when I have been at the Council meetings, that I decided the only thing for me to do was to get elected to the Council," she said.

Baha'i Is Unique Speaker Affirms At Open Meeting

'The Baha'i Commonwealth of the future, of which the Administrative Order is the sole framework, is, both in theory and in practice, not only unique in the entire history of political institutions, but can find no parallel in the the annals of any of the world's recognized religious systems," Mrs. Audrey Westheuser, guest speaker at the fourth open meting of the Baha'i Student Group told a large gathering Monday. Her topic was 'The World Order of Baha'u'llah."

"It finds its centre," Mrs. Westheuser stated, "in the recognition of the organic unity of the human race and the realization that true world citizenship, legally established in terms of rights and duties, is the only social role that humanity can play in this age. This dynamic world citizenship is now being practised within the Baha'i World Community established in some 94 countries of the globe.

'The cornerstone of the Baha'i institutions is the Universal House of Justice, a world government elected by the different nations with legislative, judicial and executive powers and backed by a world police force. This Universal House of Justice handles all problems of international concern such as world economy, world currency, exploitation of natural resources, disputes between nations, etc.

(Continued on Page 3)

Survival Of Their Culture Keynote of Quebec Anxiety

"The question of the French Canadian attitude is the question of the anxiety of French Canadians for the survival of their culture." Thus Professor Saunders summed up the basic problem underlying the relationship between English and French-speaking Canadians in his talk to the Modern History Club last night. This matter is a problem only in the minds of certain minority, rather a question of relationships, and as such has been a fundamental issue in Canadian history, he said. Professor Saunders reminded his audience that French Canada makes up a distinctive cultural unit and that the motto of Quebec, "je me souviens", is the key to the desire of the French Canadian to preserve that culture.

This anxiety, the necessity of learning how to survive, is the heart of the matter, and leads in certain cases to a tendency to nurse wrongs, to face backwards, the speaker pointed out. However the reaction among those who have studied the question most deeply is to employ tradition to further a

(Continued on Page 3)

Students Usually Last Getting Tickets Say CNR Advise Early Purchase

"Students tend to be last minute people as far as train reservations are concerned," said the C.N.R. information bureau at Union Station yesterday. "All those who intend travelling over the Christmas holidays," they continued, "would be wise in getting their reservations in as soon as possible."

Those who wish to travel in Canada or to border points over the Christmas holidays can pick up Canadian Passenger Association Teachers' and Pupils' Vacation Certificates at their respective Registrar's Offices. By filling out this form and presenting it to ticket agents they will be entitled to "One and a Half Fare". These slips are good from Friday, December 16, to January 3rd, 1950.

UTDU Wins First Tilt Against U of Rochester

Rochester, N.Y. (Exchange) Nov. 29.—The University of Toronto debating team won the first of a series of debates last night in Rochester. These debates will take them on a tour of the United States.

The debate, "Resolved: that the non-agricultural industries in the United States should be nationalized" was won by the Toronto team of Elmer Sopha and Wally Fram by a split decision.

Gold Rush Days Again As St. Mike's Hold Dance Gambling Show Tonight

The '49 Gold Rush will take place tonight at Brennan Hall, St. Michael's College. Proceeds of the dance and of the incidental gambling involved will be presented to the European Students' Relief Fund

An innovation in the dance will be its interruption every hour for a fifteen minute floor show. Games of chance will be provided to allow the patrons to lose their money for a good cause.

A wagon-load of prospectors from St. Mike's will reach the front campus at 12.30 p.m. today to publicize the dance.

Stolen Photos Returned Won't Be Used Again Says Guild President

The Postman rang twice at The Varsity yesterday. Besides the Letters to the Editor, there was a plain, typed addressed brown envelope.

The two missing pictures of Laurence Olivier and John Gielgud, stolen last Wednesday from a display in the U.C. rotunda were mailed anonymously to The Varsity and received yesterday morning in the News Office. Enclosed with the two pictures was a clipping from a Varsity story which dealt with the disappearance.

A Varsity reporter presented the pictures to Donald Davis, President of the U.C. Players' Guild, yesterday morning. "I must confess, I thought I'd never see them again," commented Davis. "I greatly appreciate their return."

They will not be put on display again, but returned to the Toronto Public Library. The picture of Laurence Olivier was from a Life feature on Hamlet.

AVR Try-Outs With

Mice And Chorines

By MORLEY TORGOV

The other day we happened to be standing on the corner of College and Elizabeth contemplating general hospitals and chicken chow mein, when we noticed a seeming line of pilgrims entering the old Zion Church, just beside the Banting Institute.

"Some sort of religious observance?" we asked a young girl and her male companion. "Oh, we're from the All-Varsity Revue," the young lady said. Her companion piped up: "The A.V.R.'s gone to church!" While the two chuckled at this, we remained puzzled. Since when did girls wear shorts and ballet shoes to church?

We were then told that the Zion Church is at present the very active headquarters for the 1950 Revue, which made us wonder even more at the unusual nature of this whole business.

Upon inquiry into the history of this time-scarred place of worship, we learned that it had been taken over by the University of Toronto several years ago to relieve some of the over-crowding in campus lecture halls. In addition, we were told that, now that services are no longer held there, and lectures are once again pretty much confined to the regular college buildings, mice have taken over part of the church. It's all very legitimate though. These are white mice, living in the basement at the invitation and expense of the Banting people.

But getting back upstairs once again, the A.V.R. producers have announced that dancing rehearsals and try-outs will be continued today, from 4 to 6 p.m., at the church. Norma Pankhurst is in charge of this operation. "This recent controversy about the 705 toes is strictly for the statisticians," she told us. "I'm only concerned with getting more students into the dancing lineups in this second last casting session. At present we have about 80 girls and 25 boys on file, but we can handle more talent yet."

When would casting for skits be held, we asked. Director Ben Wise informed us that this stage of production would have to be postponed until the new year. Reaching into a bulging folio, he withdrew a handful of papers of every variety from memo slips to foolscap. "So much material has been submitted — or promised — and we are so anxious to make careful selections (here Wise made a razor movement across his throat indicating censorship) that we've thought it best to hold over casting for actors until early January," he stated.

Once more we tried to pump the directors about the theme of the show. "No you don't, brother," they replied. "Services are over." And with this, we left the old Zion Church none the wiser, and eyeing the dancing girls very piously.

Macmillan Head Leads Discussion On Literary Scene

Mr. John Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada will be the guest speaker at the Hart House Library Evening Thursday night. He will speak on "The Canadian Literary Scene As Viewed By a Publisher".

Mr. Gray has recently been on the campus in connection with the Macmillan ban on text books which the University of Toronto Press has sold at a ten percent discount to students.

A graduate of Upper Canada College, Mr. Gray spent two years at Varsity in the 20's. Football and hockey occupied much of his time here.

A member of the Macmillan staff since 1930, with the exception of five years war service, Mr. Gray is well qualified to discuss the literary scene in Canada. He is able to speak from the point of view of an author as well, having written several articles and short stories for various publications.

A discussion period will follow Mr. Gray's talk.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Gleneak, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Pat Quinn
ASSISTANT: Jim Simpson

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1949

Culture And Contradictions

Elsewhere on this page is a letter from the Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the SAC. The letter is for the purpose of correcting "any erroneous impressions which might have been created by the editorial of Nov. 29."

While it is never quite fair to answer letters to the Editor in the editorial column, we depart from the usual procedure in this case to make a few points which the writer of the letter has overlooked.

With the SAC Public Relations Committee we commend the SAC for its action in voting $160 toward the Carabin week-end. It is certainly a fine precedent to have set. But when the original figure of $312 was cut on the argument of a tight budget and almost immediately a motion passed which in effect approved of the erection of bulletin boards, we feel the Council is expressing a contradiction in purpose.

The letter states that the cost of the boards is to be defrayed over a period of years so that the contribution from any one year's budget will be insignificant.

If this means that lumbermen, plasterers, carpenters and hardware stores will accept so much down on the cost of material and labor with the balance to be distributed over a period of years, we say "good". In that case the cost per year will be negligble.

If, however, it means that the display signs will cost a good deal of money now but that their usefulness will be extended over a long period of time, then we say that the money spent in erecting these signs might better be spent in fostering relations between two groups of students with different cultural and social backgrounds, the results and benefits from which will last long after the signs have been replaced several times.

Our estimation of the cost of these bulletin boards was based on what we feel to be a reasonable price of five to eight dollars apiece for some 20-odd signs.

Lastly, we feel that SAC bulletin boards are unnecessary and a duplication of services now offered. The Varsity covers all SAC functions, gives free advertising and generally fills all requirements.

Our assertion that student activities are supported and organized on a strictly campus basis still stands.

A M & D

Speak The Speech

This year the world celebrates the bicentenary of the poet Goethe's birth at Frankfort-on-Main on August 28, 1749. Some weeks ago the CBC saluted Goethe on their Wednesday Night with a talk by Goethe scholar Barker Fairley and a performance of Egmont. Two weeks ago there were the Willoughby Lectures on the poet. Elsewhere the Metropolitan Opera will produce Faust and Albert Schweitzer will speak at the University of Chicago, to name but two of the celebrations occurring all over the world.

Yet one cannot fail to see that these occasions are not marked by an expressive performance of the basic achievement of the man. They are either talks about the poet or performances of musical settings of his works. But nowhere do we find Goethe the poet expressed and interpreted as poet alone.

That on which his greatness lies, his poetry, is either merely discussed or subverted to a musical end. We do not hear the poetry interpreted on its merits as such.

In this festive year we might well take stock of the status, influence and value of poetry in our age. One significant fact emerges from the nature of these Goethe celebrations. Poetry is no longer a medium of the spoken word. With the invention of the printing press a poet sold his birthright to the printed page. Yet, strangely enough, Virgil, Horace, Chaucer and the balladeers composed for the narrator and not the reader, and we depend almost entirely on our eyes to extract the inspiration set forth. Nevertheless it cannot be denied that much of the power, eloquence, beauty, and vision of the poetry are lost in being chained to a book. The truth remains that poetry does not live completely except in sound, for sound is integral to its meaning, its effect and ultimate truth.

The time is ripe to reconsider, in this institution, in the study of poetry the role of the spoken word.

William Gleneak.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

VIC C.C.F.
The Vic C.C.F. Club will not meet today.

✣ ✣ ✣

SLAVIC STUDIES
Professor L. I. Strakhovsky will speak on Socialist Realism—Alexey Tolstoy, Mikhail Sholokhov, Alexander Fadeyev; in Room 8, UC at 5 p.m. today.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION
Today's program, at 4:30, in the Mechanical Building, is: Beethoven: Egmont Overture; Smetana The Moldau; Dvorak: "New World" Symphony.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
The missionary meeting will be held today in Room 336 of the New Mechanical Building at 1:25. The special speaker will be the Rev. E. G. Vine of India. All are welcome.

✣

SMC CHORAL SOCIETY
A full rehearsal of the St. Michael's College Choral Society, tonight in the clubrooms of St. Basil's Church at 7:15 sharp. Everyone out!

✣ ✣ ✣

CONSERVATIVE CLUB
There will be a meeting of the University Conservative Club on Wednesday at 8, in the Trinity College Rhodes Room.

COMING EVENTS

JR. PHILOSOPHY CLUB
"The place of sex in our modern social structure" will be the topic of the Junior Philosophy Club meeting tomorrow at 7:45 in Wymilwood. Prof. Carpenter of the Anthropology Dept. will introduce the subject, and discussion will follow.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC DEBATING PARLIAMENT
Resolved: "That All-Varsity social activities are detrimental to college interests" will be the subject of the next debate on Monday, Dec. 5, at 4 p.m. in the Co-Ed Common Room. Guest speaker against the motion will be Bob Heatherington, President of SAC.

✣ ✣ ✣

MENTAL HEALTH DISCUSSION GROUP
"Effective Study and Work Habits" will be the subject of the Third Mental Health Discussion Group, sponsored by the Health Service, to be held Thursday, December 1st, at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place. Dr. Wm. Line, Professor of Psychology, will lead the discussion. All students are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

HILLEL-IZFA
There will be a "Tour to Israel" meeting Sunday, Dec. 4, at the Pi Lambda Phi House at 115 St. George St. at 4 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

O.T. UNDERGRADS
There will be a general meeting of the Occupational Therapy Undergrad Association on Dec. 1st, at 7:30 at 6 Devonshire Place.

✣ ✣ ✣

KNOX COLLEGE CAROL SERVICE
All members of the Presbyterian Fellowship are invited to the annual Knox College Carol Service to be held in the chapel, one week from tonight, December 7th, at 8 p.m. when the address will be delivered by Rev. Prof. W. W. Bryden, M.A., D.D.

✣ ✣ ✣

VICTORIA COLLEGE FRENCH CLUB
There will be a meeting of the Victoria College French Club at Wymilwood, Tues., December 6, at 8 p.m. The Christmas programme will include an adaptation of Anatole France's "Balthasar" and a talk on Christmas in France by Roger Chalamet. Everyone welcome.

Readers Write

Objects to Editorial

Editor, The Varsity:

I would like to take this opportunity to correct any erroneous impressions which might have been created by your editorial of Nov. 29 that appeared under the head "In Practice." The editorial dealt with an expenditure by the SAC of $160 toward the Carabin weekend, and criticised the SAC for not increasing this amount, since at the same meeting a motion was passed to investigate the cost of SAC bulletin boards.

By giving $160 toward the Carabin weekend from an exceptionally tight budget, the SAC established an invaluable precedent which will be of great benefit in the future. That they could not give more was simply due to the lack of finances. For their generosity the SAC is to be highly commended.

The case of the bulletin boards is quite another matter. These boards are of a permanent nature and will be financed over a period of years, so that the amount which will be deducted from each year will be completely insignificant in comparison to the expenditure on a Carabin weekend. In connection with the cost of these boards, an approximation of $150 appeared in your editorial; I would be interested in learning how you arrived at this figure since it was not until 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning that arrangements were made for the submission of estimates on their cost. How you determined the expense ahead of time, I do not know.

It must, moreover, be apparent to you that any organization must of necessity allot so much money to each one of its activities. The large

(Continued on Page 3)

ENGINEERS

Meeting of Engineering Institute of Canada

Thursday, December 1st, 1949

Room C22, Mining Building

8:15 p.m.

MR. JOSEPH M. BREEN

President & General Manager, Canada Cement Co. Ltd.

will speak on

"This Business of Engineering"

Come early and avoid the rush

University Health Service

Third Mental Health Discussion Group
"Effective Study and Work Habits"

Discussant: DR. W. LINE, Professor of Psychology

Thursday, December 1st at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place

All students are invited, but especially first year

University Health Service

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

FINAL YEAR AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

....who wish to take advantage of the opportunity of a Health Examination, must make an appointment before 15th December.

....who anticipate the need of a Health Certificate for employment after graduation, are particularly advised to make an appointment now.

43 ST. GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE: MI. 9644

DON'T MISS

"THE RED MILL"

by VICTOR HERBERT

U.C. Music Club's talent for this production includes:

June Rowatt
Bill Copeland
Ted Follows
Eric House
Sylvia Grant

TICKETS $1.00, $1.25

U.C. ROTUNDA, HART HOUSE BOX OFFICE

OPEN SALE OF

TICKETS

The Graduate Union sponsors

MART KENNEY — HART HOUSE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2nd

Tickets now available at 44 Hoskin or Grad Office, Hart House

OPTIONAL $3.00 PER COUPLE

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

NOON-HOUR ADDRESSES
Dr. Tatham will speak in the Debates Room, Thursday, 1st December, at 1.30 p.m. His topic will be "The Meaning of Success." All members are invited.

REVOLVER
There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 p.m. tonight.

TABLE TENNIS
Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.00 p.m. tonight.

LIBRARY EVENING
Mr. John W. Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada, will be the speaker for the third Library Evening of the year, which will be held on Thursday, 1st December, at 7.30 o'clock in the Hart House Library. Mr. Gray will speak on "The Canadian Literary Scene as Viewed by a Publisher." All members are cordially invited to attend.

ART GALLERY
The exhibition of Canadian oil paintings now on view in the art gallery is from the collection of Mr. J. S. McLean. The gallery is open to members during the following hours: Monday through Friday, 12.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. and 5.00 to 7.00 p.m.

Jerse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young girl named Carlotta
A professional diver's sole dotta
One day like a fool
She dove into a pool
Which hadn't, as yet, any wotta.

IRC Delegates

(Continued From Page 1)

lection is on display including the Cellini salt cellar fashioned out of eight pounds of gold.

Here British Ambassador

The week-end ended on a high note with a visit to the British Embassy for tea and an extremely lucid discussion of the problems of diplomacy by the dean of British Ambassadors, Sir Oliver Franks. He said there was no mystery about diplomacy and that the hardest thing to agree about were the facts. In reply to questions on Britain's relation to the Commonwealth and Europe, Sir Oliver said, "It is not a question of either . . . or but both . . . and."

The University of Montreal put in a bid for next years conference. This will be the first time it will be held in Canada and it is hoped that this will bring a greater appreciation of Canada's place in North America.

Baha'i Unique

(Continued from Page 1)

"Below the Universal House of Justice are the National Houses of Justice. These in turn represent the legislative body of the various countries of the world and are elected annually by delegates from the whole country at the annual convention." The speaker pointed out that many such Houses of Justice are now in operation and are called at the present time, National Spiritual Assemblies. "The Canadian government recognized the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canada in April of this year," she pointed out.

The speaker spoke briefly on the method of election and the tenure of office within the Baha'i world community. She pointed out that there is no electioneering, no party politics.

"These institutions, designed by Baha'u'llah Himself to fit the requirements of a new world society, provide elements from such forms of government as democracy and aristocracy and yet cannot be identified with either. It is a structure by means of which the unity of mankind can be preserved and developed," she stated.

Readers Write

(Continued from Page 2)

bulk of SAC expenses go toward the promotion of cultural and educational functions; the razzle-dazzle activities pay for themselves.

With the large increase in Council business in the past few years, some co-ordination of publicity on a permanent and continual basis is necessary, and it is hoped that the bulletin boards can help in this direction.

In conclusion, I would like to further inquire why you did not bring this matter up at the proper time, namely when the proposition of the SAC bulletin boards was put before the Council meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 23rd?

I hope this will clear up any false impressions which the student body might have developed toward the SAC on this matter.

Douglas Thomas
SAC Public Relations.

Survival

(Continued from Page 1)

point of view more concerned with the future. Professor Saunders emphasized aspects of the French Canadian outlook which English speaking Canadians must appreciate. They are language, economic insecurity, and religion.

Language, he said, is not a mere external. It is the essence of a way of life. In that regard, the speaker mentioned that the French spoken well in Canada is good French, although it is not always Parisian French. French speaking Canadians are on the defense because they are a minority, not only in Canada, but on the North American continent as well. The French Canadians are a devout people, Mr. Saunders observed, both in belief and in practice. The question of education is closely allied with that of religion, and if it comes to a choice, they prefer to sacrifice technological achievement to the maintenance of a spiritual foundation, he stated.

The French Canadians wish to survive as equals, and English Canadians must exercise sympathy and good-will to bridge the gap between the two cultures. It is up to English Canadians to go more than half way because they are the majority.

Canadians must recognize that "this country is necessarily founded on a dual culture."

HOCKEY

Junior "B"
Final Score
VARSITY 5
ST. MIKES 3

Varsity scored three goals in last minute of play.

FOOTBALL—TODAY

MULOCK CUP FINAL — VARSITY STADIUM — 2.00 P.M.

SR. S.P.S. vs VICTORIA
Admission Free

GAMES TODAY

FOOTBALL FINAL	2.00 p.m.	Stadium	Sr. SPS vs Vic Pasternak, Luck, Whompson Emon (downmarker
LACROSSE FINALS	1.00 p.m.	U.C. I	vs Med I ..Prendergast, Hastings
HOCKEY	12.30	For. B	vs SPS V ... Gawinski, Masters
	1.30	U.C. IV	vs St. M. B .. Gawinski, Masters
	4.00	Emman	vs Wyc ... McLoughlin, Edwards

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY SCHEDULE — WEEK OF DEC. 5th

Mon.,	Dec. 5	12.30	Inst. Mgt	vs For. B ..... Gawinski, Carr
		1.30	St. M. B	vs SPS IX ..... Gawinski, Carr
		4.00	Pre-Med	vs Trin A ..... Allen, Buddy
Tues.,	6	1.30	Sr. Vic	vs Sr. U.C. ..... McLoughlin, Carr
		4.00	Vic III	vs Law ..... Robertson, Wells
Wed.,	7	12.30	Med III	vs U.C. IV ..... Hayes, Wright
		1.30	Dent A	vs SPS III ..... Hayes, Wright
		4.00	Sr. SPS	vs St. M. A ..... Allen, Thomas
Thurs.,	8	12.30	SPS V	vs Arch ..... Robertson, Graham
		1.30	U.C. III	vs For A ..... Robertson, Graham
		4.00	Dent B	vs Trin C ..... McLoughlin, Stuckey
		8.00	Wye	vs Knox ..... Gawinski, Ruddy
Fri.,	9	12.30	Vic IV	vs SPS VII ..... Allen, Edwards
		1.30	Jr. SPS	vs Pre-Med ..... Allen, Edwards
		4.00	SPS VI	vs Emman ..... McLoughlin, Law
		6.00	Trin B	vs Pharm ..... McLoughlin, Law

INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI TEAM

There will be a meeting of the Ski team on Wednesday, Nov. 30th, at 5 p.m. in the Debates Room, Hart House.

After the Mulock Cup Finals on Wednesday

TEA DANCE

Drill Hall on St. George Street

Music by Don Eiler

Tickets on sale U.C. Rotunda 11-2 p.m.
FOR
"HILLELZAPOPPIN"
THURSDAY, DEC. 1st
at
CLUB KINGSWAY

OZZIE WILLIAMS & ORCHESTRA

DANCING 9-1
$3.00 A COUPLE

VIC PEP RALLY!

VIC FRONT STEPS
1:15 p.m.

- Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry and Regimental Band
- Cheer Leaders
- et cetera

SOUND by EILER
SKUNK SKULE
and plaster the plumbers!

HILLEL

Miss Marie Syrkin

LECTURE POSTPONED

We regret to announce that due to the illness of Miss Syrkin, her scheduled lecture at the Museum Theatre on Wednesday, November 30th, has been postponed.

The new date will be announced later.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FOR SALE

Skis—high grade, new condition, made by Andreef—outfit worth forty-five dollars; for cash $25.00. Another good set—bargain $10.00. HArgrave 9609.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

LIFE INSURANCE

Senior male students now eligible for $10,000 insurance plus $100.00 monthly total disability non-cancellable income. Premium $8.00 a month. HU. 3929.

TYPING

Accurate typing by experienced stenographer. Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9923.

1950 PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS

All makes. On time or cash; good allowance on old machines. All makes of machines serviced. Phone HU. 4754 after 5:30 p.m.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

SPARE TIME MONEY

Students wanted for part-time tuition in any subject, especially matriculation and hobbies. Replies should contain qualifications, experience, if any, address and telephone number. Box 16, The Varsity.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS

Order your Christmas formals, etc., now from Helmar, just across from Knox College—or have your old ones remodelled. Reasonable prices, student discount. RA. 5978.

LOST

On Saturday evening, Nov. 26, one hour. Would finder please contact M. Scott. Phone Ozone 0200, immediately as this has been saved for one year. Liberal reward.

A WEST INDIAN PARTY

West Indians and their friends are cordially invited to a party in the JUNIOR COMMON ROOM, U.C., on FRIDAY, EVENING, DECEMBER 2nd

Come and have fun. There will be mirth, merriment and calypsos. Dancing 8:30 p.m.

ADMISSION: 50c

Beverley Cameron, Montreal student, says: "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives you more for your money." Yes, more in flavour, more in value, too. Treat yourself to a Pepsi-Cola today—in the new 8-oz. quick-drink size for 5¢. Or take home a carton of 6 big 12-oz. bottles for only 30¢.

"There's real, satisfying refreshment in every sip." That's why W. J. Hendricks, photo-engraver, Saskatoon, changed to Pepsi-Cola. And that's one of the reasons why people all over Canada are changing to Pepsi. It hits the spot. Its quick, delicious flavour gives you a lift when you're tired . . . satisfies you when you're thirsty. Drink a Pepsi today.

More and more people are changing to

PEPSI-COLA

for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play
"FORTUNE MY FOE"
Directed by Robert Gill
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

Vic Faces Skule In Mulock Final Today

Today will see the long and hard fought battle for campus football superiority settled for this year when the Victoria College gridders take to the field to face Senior SPS in the final contest with the Mulock Cup at stake. Two o'clock is the time set for the meeting and the place is Varsity Stadium. Both teams appear to be in fine form and the contest should be well worth the watching despite the field.

Both teams have scored impressive wins in the semi-finals which were played last week. Sr SPS topped St. Mike's by a 15-2 margin on a snow covered field with a crushing ground attack.

Victoria played similar havoc with the green shirted footballers from the faculty of Forestry as they staged a second half drive to oust the woodsmen from the running. Forestry held a six point lead in the starting moments of the second half but wound up on the short end of a 19-11 count at full time.

Big Brad Colbert will be on hand to strengthen the Red and Gold squad at right inside. Barford and Hill have been oustanding at the middle posts all year with Vic. Harry Damp, Lorne Lodge, Keith Sumner and Bob Rumbell will be white hopes in the Vic backfield. Rumbell and Walton have kicked well all year and other backfield performers for Vic will be Gore, Fick and Little.

The Senior Skule back pasture will feature such stars as powerful Paul Valenti, John Folinsbee and Bob Brown. Valenti is the possesor of an extremely well educated toe which has made him the outstanding field goal artist this year by a long margin. Field goals are not the only skill Paul exhibits. He runs well and was one of the driving forces in last week's semi final. Folinsbee excels in hoofing also and plays a fine plunging game as well as a hard defensive half. Folinsbee's consistent long punting has been a source of consolation to Skule coach Ed Weaver during the schedule.

Weaver is the playing coach of the Sr. Skulemen and he is expecting big things of fleet Bob Adare and bucking Bob Brown on the half line. Middles Watson and Richards and insides Rickaby and Dellenbach are steady performers on the front wall and will be dressed for the test today.

Soccer Draw In Semi Final Means Replay

Playing under impossible soccer conditions, Senior Vic and Junior Skule mudded to a 1-1 tie in an overtime Arts Faculty Cup semi-final in the Stadium Tuesday afternoon. Neither team could score in regulation time, but both tallied in the first overtime period to leave the game tied.

Vic failed to realize that the sloppy field was unsuited to their dribbling, short passing game, and as a result were outplayed by the Skulemen for most of the game. Skule's attack led by Vic Franco and Ken Jessop kept the play around Vic's goal for the most of the second half, while Captain Ole Friele sparked an effective half line. Big Bob Armstrong of SPS played a spectacular game on defence around the nets, at one point booting clear a sure goal from the goal-line as Willy Clark was out of the nets on the ground.

Both goals came in the second half of the first overtime period. Dave Hastings started a play outside the SPS penalty area which split the Skule defence, and Bruce Vanstone booted a nice through pass into the left-hand corner. From the kickoff, Skule fought back, and carried the play into the Vic end. With defeat and elimination just two minutes away Manuel Atucha on the left wing sent over a perfect cross which Ken Jessop bounced into the net to tie the score again.

The tie necessitates a replay, which will be played Thursday afternoon probably at 2:30 p.m. in the Stadium.

UC And St. Mike's Take Hoopla Tilts

In the women's basketball playoffs in Hart House last night the two favoured teams came out on top of very one-sided scores. The first win of the evening went to St. Mike's A's who downed UC Fr. 22-9 Betty Fitzgerald and Kay Schenck, St. Mike's and Joan Mooney, UC were outstanding players. Honours for the second tilt went to UC Sr. Jr. A's who defeated Meds 44-22. Donna Klie and Carol Dunn, UC and Betty Line and Ann Worth, Meds were high-scorers for their teams.

UC And Meds Vie In Lacrosse Finals

Meds firsts and U.C. firsts line up again today to start the interfaculty lacrosse finals for the Dr. Roy Dafoe Cup. Both teams were finalists last year too when the Medsmen took top honours in two out of three games. Meds ousted St. Mike's A in the semi-finals while UC arrested the progress of the St. Mike's Bees.

Last year's title matches were closely contested with the embryo doctors taking the first game by a 10-8 margin. UC came back in the second contest to win 14-11 and Meds took the clincher 13-9. The first game will get under way at one o'clock in the Hart House gym and following games will be on Friday and Monday at the same time if necessary.

Mikemen Trail In Last Canto Against Bees

By DAVE BUTTERS

At the end of the second period in the Varsity Jr. B-St. Mike's hockey games the score read Varsity 2, St. Mike's 1. As a result of a riot in the Corner Boys-Marlboro game the start of the second game was 30 minutes late. Consequently your reporter had to meet a deadline and was unable to witness the last period of the second game.

The first two periods of the game were slow with neither team showing to any great advantage. As usual John Milne in the Varsity nets was superb and stopped many St. Mike's shots when his team was short-handed. At 12.35 John Clark, St. Mike's, sent a screened shot through Milne's legs for the first and only goal of the first period.

The second period started with each team begining to open up and both teams skated and checked so closely that shots on goal were seldom. At 3.05 Phil Arrowsmith bulged the twine for Varsity on a pass from Don Fullerton. Nine minutes later Fullerton received a pass from Bill Moore and beat Jerry Young in the Saint Mike's net for Varsity's second goal. That was the way the score read at the end of the second period—2-1 for Varsity.

Line-ups:—

Varsity: Goal, Milne; defence, P. Prendergast, J. Prendergast; centre, Shields; wings, Kent, Yeo. Alternates: Fullerton, Brown, Arrowsmith, Nichols, Sinclair, P. Wardrop, Andrew, Moore.

St. Mike's: Goal, Young; defence, Lea, Clune; centre, Plata; wings, Millisin, Ratchford. Alternates: Harrison, McDonald, Clark, Peart, Murphy, Lemon, Scanlon.

SPORT IN SHORT

Hockey

Sr. Meds, 3; Sr. UC, 1.
Trinity, 4; Vic IV, 3.

Soccer Semi-final

Sr. Vic, 1; Jr. SPS, 1.

Volleyball

Sr. UC beat Emmanuel, 15-0, 15-6.
SPS V beat UC VI, 15-7, 12-15, 15-3.

Wide Selection of

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS

From Almost Every Leading Maker

Put in a plug for a portable this Christmas. You'll find them plenty useful now for notes and school activities . . . and even more important in your business career ahead. At EATON'S you have your choice of a wide typewriter selection . . . from Smith Corona, Remington, Underwood, and most of the better known makes.

Remington	Each	89.50
Smith Corona (Silent)	Each	95.00
(Sterling)	Each	87.50
(Clipper)	Each	82.50
Underwood (Champion)	Each	99.00
(Universal)	Each	85.00
Royal (Quiet DeLuxe	Each	96.50
(Arrow)	Each	86.50
Hermes (Baby or Empire)	Ea.	65.00

Phone TR. 5111

Stationery Dept. — Main Store — Main Floor — Dept. 208

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

FLYING CLUB
Meet Wed. Evening
7.30 p.m. Music Room
Hart House
R.C.A.F. Movie
"FIT FOR 'G'"
Guest Speaker:
DR. LEVY
ALL WELCOME

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.
DISPENSING OPTICIANS
Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacle-ware at reasonable prices.
Quick, accurate repair service
321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

DRINK—
Wilson's
COLA
5¢ BIG 12 oz. BOTTLE AT ALL COOLERS

In A Hurry?
SAME DAY
CLEANING SERVICE
AT YOUR CAMPUS STORE
633½ SPADINA
IN BY 10-OUT BY 5
CASH 'N' CARRY
(Slight Extra Charge)
FRIDAY IS NOT TOO LATE
United-DeForest
CLEANERS • DYERS

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

Your LAST CHANCE
Before Christmas to Join Our Popular
DANCE CLASS
in Ballroom Dancing
THURSDAY, 8.30
After this week all our dance classes will be filled and closed and no new courses will be available until January —so join now and be ready for the holidays. Private lessons by appointment.
DACOSTA
Studios of Dancing
782 Yonge at Bloor MI. 5624

Tickets $2.00 per couple
KI. 3680 or KI. 6932

THE ANNUAL INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL DANCE
AT THE BRANT INN
TODAY, NOVEMBER 30

Train leaves Union Station at 8 p.m. sharp.
$1.90 per couple return

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Sunny and Cooler

VOL. LXIX NO. 50 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Thursday, December 1, 1949

Third In Four

VIC COPS CUP FROM SKULEMEN

Printing Cost Raises Price Of Yearbook

Faculty representatives for Torontonensis are on the lookout for students in their graduating years willing to pay $3.50 for a copy next spring. This is the highest fee yet asked for the yearbook. The price was $2.00 last year, the first time grads were asked to pay anything for the publication.

Undergraduates not in their graduating year will have to pay $6.00 per copy. Torontonensis Editor Bill Raymond explained yesterday that graduate students are charged the lower price because they have paid SAC fees for several years and these fees help pay for the book.

Recalls College Days

Designed as mementos of their university careers for grads, Torontonensis is the official yearbook of the university and is published by the SAC.

It usually contains messages from the president and from the deans of all the faculties and colleges, pictures and short biographies of graduating class members, and sections on all the organizations and most of the activities of the campus.

In explaining the increased charge for the book, Editor Raymond emphasized increased costs and expanded activities under the auspices of SAC.

Engraving Costs Up

Printing costs per copy have increased 15% this year, he said. Engraving costs are also up, he added. The result is that last year's cost was $2.90 while this year there will be printing costs of $3.40 plus engraving and miscellaneous costs, salaries and eight percent sales tax.

Raymond pointed out pre-war editions containing ten to 12 photos per page in the section devoted to portraits and biographies of graduating class members. Editions during the last few years have had to contain 30 pictures per page in this section in order to keep the book to a reasonable size. Engraving costs have thus gone up very much, he said.

Others Cost More

Other Canadian universities' yearbooks cost their graduates even more money, Raymond said. McGill's and Queen's books cost five dollars and are not as large as Toronto's, he stated. To demonstrate this he picked up a copy of the Queen's book which has about 400 pages and compared it to last year's 576 page issue of Torontonensis.

He predicted this year's issue will be somewhat smaller, about 540 pages.

He said increasing costs have already forced the use of fewer colour engravings and other expensive features.

(Continued on Page 5)

By-Line Belle

—Photo by Serewicz

"Intercollegiate Beauty Queen" is the title Joy Hardy, II U.C., hopes to win today in Kingston as Varsity's representative in a contest sponsored by the Queen's Journal as part of the entertainment at the Journal's "By-Line Ball." Joy has been winning beauty contests since her high school days. Need we say more?

To Choose Beauty Queen At Queen's By-Line Ball

Joy Hardy, II U.C., has been chosen by The Varsity to represent the University of Toronto at Queen's Journal-sponsored contest for the title of "Intercollegiate Beauty Queen," to be held at the Journal's "By-Line Ball in the Lasalle Hotel in Kingston today.

A free-lance model, Joy has won several beauty contests. In 1946 she won the Eaton's Junior Fashion Council award of Canada's Cover Girl." Winning this award meant that her picture appeared one month on the cover of the Canadian Home Journal.

Joy's travelling expenses to Queen's will be paid by The Varsity, and when she reaches that university she will have to compete against girls from whatever universities have answered the Journal's invitations.

Queen's last week had a panel of judges choose their beauty to compete today. Professor Arnold Edinborough, Alma Mater Society Prexy Gelindo DeRe and Kingston photographer George Lilley, chose Arts freshette Cairine Hodgkin.

It is reported that the judges found it necessary to call out contestants four times before they finally decided on Miss Hodgkin. Other contestants included Claire Allard, Beverley Baxter, Shelagh Dunwoody, Raila Mielikainen and Beverley Proudfoot.

Confusion was added to the selection of the Queen's beauty when representatives of Wolfe Island University arrived and demanded that their contestant Myrtle Slop-Cabbage be allowed to enter the contest. These supporters claimed the judges were prejudiced when they didn't pick Miss Slop-Cabbage as the winner.

Engineers' Attack Beaten To Ground By Vic Powerhouse

By MAL CRAWFORD

The Mulock Cup is back home again. For the third time in four years, Victoria College has copped the Interfaculty Football Championship, this year by walloping Senior SPS by a score of 24-5 at the Mud Bowl (formerly Varsity Stadium) yesterday afternoon. Deeper in reserves than the Skulemen, Vic improved as the game went on, striking for repeated long gains in the second half, climaxing by two fifty yard runs in succession by Bob Rumball and Harry Damp near the end of the game.

SPS Scores First

The teams took turns making long but unproductive drives down the field in the first quarter, as Rumball and Adair reeled off yardage again and again. As the quarter closed Adair made a sparkling run around Vic's right end, as the Vic backfielders were sucked in towards the centre, and Adair went from centre field to the twenty yard line. They worked up to the four yard line, but Mel Reid stopped Adair on third down, and Vic took over. As soon as they got the ball again, SPS took to the air, and two passes by Valenti, a short one over the line to Cole and a long one to Scott, produced a touchdown. The convert attempt misfired.

But the turning point of the game was when Skule, after intercepting a pass on their twenty, tried for yards with one to go, but Brad Colbert and Tiger Dyke held them back. "Crazylegs" Ralph, used sparingly but running well when on, carried fifteen yards off left tackle. Damp fired a flat pass to Gore, uncovered, who ran the remaining yards for a touchdown.

Skule Bogs Down

In the last half, the Engineers' ground attack bogged down, and their offensive turned into desperation passes long before the end of the game. Valenti's short passes were very effective, and were Skule's best threat, but frequent interceptions prevented them from scoring. On the other hand, Vic's offensive really started rolling in the second half. In the third quarter, after Jim Rogers intercepted a Skule pass at centre field, Harry Damp went through the right side of his line, headed for the sideline and ran 42 yards to score standing up.

Fumble Becomes TD

Vic's third touch was scored when Valenti fumbled Walton's high kick on his one yard line, and Lorne Lodge picked it up and fell over for a touchdown.

The Red and Gold showed its greatest power in the last two minutes, when Valenti completed three passes to Skuleboy Rowe, and were held on third down on Vic's ten by Brad Colbert. Rumball bucked the centre of the line, and finding himself running right through to the safetyman, deked him niftily and went to centre field. Harry Damp took a pitchout around Skule's right end, and streaked 55 yards down the touch-line for his second long scoring run of the day.

Vic Line Stars

Jamie Little converted all four of Vic's touchdowns, and played a hard-tackling defensive game. Colbert and Ledger were solid at inside, but the line star of the game was Red Hill, who crashed through from left tackle to smash up play after play, and a couple of times knocked the ball out of the passer's hand just as he was throwing. Jim Rogers hit hard, as usual, at centre secondary. Besides the big gainers, Rumball and Damp, Lorne Lodge ran back kicks for good gains, and Tom Dryden's spirit and drive sparked the team on the field as well as in the dressing room festivities after the game.

Skule looked very strong at the

(Continued on Page 7)

To Finish Bridge In Coming Week Claim Engineers

Automobile drivers and students trying to get to lectures on time are probably hailing the removal of the wooden forms from the new bridge on Queen's Park Crescent with delight. Maybe they will soon be able to cross the campus without danger threatening life and limb. But there's a snag. After the bridge is completed the City of Toronto will have to fill in the roadway up to the bridge abutment. So the job won't be finished for quite a while yet.

The steam shovel which most students date as probably having been used at the building of the pyramids—(actually it only dates back a quarter of a century)—is only filling in the abutments on either side of the bridge. After the road is clear again it will be modernized with a new cabin.

The workmen, of whom there were 15 before their company was loaded with extra jobs, seem to like the sight of frantic drivers trying to find a means of reaching the comparative security of the Parliament Buildings. Their comment to an interviewer was that it is much better than being stuck some place where they can't even see a car.

The weather so far has not been a hinderance to construction. The snow and slush are hard on the 'dozer treads, but the fill is not frozen. Let's hope it doesn't freeze before the job is completed, or we may have to wait till spring to cross the street in safety.

CORRECTION

Contrary to the report in The Varsity, yesterday, that the St. Mike's Gold Rush was to be held tonight. The prospectors did not arrive yesterday, and according to St. Mike's officials will be ready for tonight's activities.

The Old Ontario Strand

Sunset Reflects Vic's Glory

By FRASER FAIRLIE

In a blaze of scarlet and gold, the Victoria College pre-game pep-rally suddenly got under way yesterday noon on the steps of the college.

All at once there appeared from nowhere the Burwash Boys' Brigade Band, (a branch of the scarlet and gold Light Infantry, 20 members strong) the 8 luscious Vic cheerleaders, and the Victoria Senior Rugby team, on their way to do battle at Varsity Stadium against Senior SPS for the Mulock Cup.

St. Mike's Add To Fun

The excitement was further heightened at the moment by the arrival of a wagon load of 'Prospectors' from St. Mike's publicising an affair of their own.

At this point the band struck up with the Victoria song, 'On the old Ontario Strand', under the able direction of Drum Major Bill Pearce. This was followed almost at once by 'Macnamara's Band'. Nearly every instrument in the band took part, including the garbage can lid cymbals crashed by Doug Thomas and Paul Break.

Ask For Support

In a rush to get to the Stadium to tangle with the senior Skulemen for the trophy, the team stopped only long enough to hear a few words from their Captain, Lorne Lodge, who asked as many loyal Vic students as possible to come out and cheer them on to almost certain victory.

With that the men in 'Scarlet and Gold' cleated their way over to the field, cheered on by the rapidly swelling audience.

Vic Marches To Game

The proceedings were closed by a Funeral March rendition of the Engineers' song. At this moment some Skulemen were discovered in the audience, principally because they were all wearing colourful crepe-hair moustaches. As they were being driven off by a barrage of snow balls a parade got underway to the Stadium led by the cheerleaders and most of the Burwash Band. It proceeded up University Avenue from the College to Bloor Street, the many colourful costumes moving in unison giving the appearance of a great wave of Scarlet and Gold bearing down on Varsity Stadium. But as the Parade turned south on Devonshire Place, there was a momentary gasp. Proceeding North from Hoskin was the Giant 70-piece Lady Godiva Memorial Band, the Pride of Skule, flanked by almost 3 times as many bearded Engineers as all the Vic supporters put together. Closer and closer came the two rival factions, and it looked as if the irresistible force was about to meet the immovable object. But a miracle of tolerance occurred and the corresponding ranks of both musical organizations meshed to "sully the winter air with

(Continued on Page 5)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880
Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 8111
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Dave Butters
ASSISTANTS: Ian Montagnes, Kathlyn Smith

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1949

House or Home?

The Students' Administrative Council Committee on the proposed Students' Memorial Union will meet with President Sidney Smith and representatives of the Board of Governors within the next week to discuss the proposed Students' Memorial Union.

There are a lot of details to be worked out with the Board of Governors at this and subsequent meetings. Some of the problems which face students and administration are:

THE QUESTION OF FINANCING

— Included in this is the problem of land; whether the university will supply university land free of charge to the students or whether they will have to buy land. If the latter is the case the cost of building a union will be increased to the point where building a union may not be possible. It is hoped that the university will give the land to the students.

HOW TO PAY FOR THE UNION

— There are several ways of paying for a student union. One that has been suggested is to get a loan from the Board of Governors to cover the cost, and to repay this loan over a period of 20 or 30 years from SAC fees. This will require a substantial increase in the present SAC fee, but has the desirable quality of providing the students with a union which is truly a student union, and a fitting student memorial.

THE QUESTION OF BALDWIN HOUSE

— It has been suggested that Baldwin House, now occupied by the Department of History, might be used as an interim union until university building plans are further advanced.

We do not think this is a practical solution to the problem. Baldwin House is not in a central position and would not serve all sections of the campus adequately. It is not the kind of building which lends itself to accommodating a large number of students, nor is it constructed in such a way as to provide the facilities asked for by students in a union after exhaustive research.

In any case, Baldwin House would be only a temporary move. Our experience with "temporary buildings" is such that we can see it as the university's only co-ed union for the next twenty years. This does not answer the students' problems.

◆ ◆ ◆

We are fully aware that the union is only a part of the expansion program of the University of Toronto. We know that there are many things which in the minds of the administration have priority. We also know that all the proposals and plans must be approved by the Board of Governors.

The students too have their problems. They are in desperate need of a large co-educational union to supply the needs of 14,000 undergraduate and graduate students who at present find themselves shoved into odd corners for meetings, without sufficient space for their continuing activities such as the SAC offices, offices for The Varsity and Torontonensis, SAC employment and housing service offices.

The students need a focal point for their activities in the same way that the university administration needs Simcoe Hall as a focal point for its activities. The students have included in their focal point plans for a building which will become the university's Community Centre. We hope that it will be "the living room that converts the university from a house of learning into a home of learning."

When students and administration meet next week we hope that both will keep in mind how much a co-ed union will mean to a great co-ed university. We hope that the Board of Governors will do its very best to help the students achieve the greatest project ever undertaken by the students of The University of Toronto. They need that help, understanding and co-operation if they are to be successful.

Our Readers Write

U.N., U.S. and St. Mike's

Editor, The Varsity:

In reference to the editorial of Nov. 26, we, too, are unsophisticated, and we do believe that the UN, if properly functioning, can prevent another great war.

We know that the "main basis" of this proper functioning lies in "the participation of all member nations in the working of this organization, and that a large part of this participation consists in the citizens of each nation keeping informed of UN activities by radio, newspapers and on-the-spot observers". We know also that no authorized UN members or observers have been prevented from entering the US in this capacity.

You said that the IRC of this University went to Lake Success to observe the UN. You stated that one of the sixty-five members of this organization was under a ban of the US government and, therefore, he was not permitted to cross the border. You failed to state, though, why he was under this ban. Apparently, it must have been for a good reason because all other "law-abiding" citizens in the group did cross the border. You assumed the exception was the rule and, basing your argument on this folly, you begin indirectly to stir up doubt concerning the reasonableness (not the right) of the US immigration restrictions. Then you proceed to say that the US acclaims itself the world's most powerful nation. What effect was this supposed to have? Was it to arouse contempt for the US in the young Canadian reader? We think it was, and that is a very puerile way to conduct an argument because if you must rely on patriotic emotion for the support of your propositions, then those propositions are intellectually weak.

Moreover, you say that this is not an isolated instance of discussion regarding the rights of member nations to attend the UN. And that is ALL you can say, for such rights have only been splendid; they have never been ignored or abused.

It is highly improbable that the intellectual founders of the UN did not see the possibilities of complications which might arise from placing the UN in the United States. They did see this, and they accepted the site anyway since they realized that the US would make an honest effort to be fair. Perhaps, more honest an effort than any other country which might be able to afford the UN. Certainly, Russia would not make any effort to admit anyone. We do not think that anyone hoped the United States would follow British tradition concerning intellectual honesty, impartial just-

(Continued on Page 4)

THE RED MILL

Only 2 more Days to get Your tickets In U.C. Rotunda!

HART HOUSE

REDUCED RAILWAY FARE For CHRISTMAS VACATION

The Canadian Passenger Association has announced that reduced fare arrangements have now been authorized for the Christmas and New Year vacation period. Students and members of the teaching staff may obtain at College and Faculty offices forms which will permit them to buy a return ticket at current normal one-way fare and one-half.

These forms carry the dates of the University vacation period, December 16th to January 3rd, and no member of the University staff has any authority to alter these dates.

J. C. EVANS, Registrar

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

GREAT HALL
Early closing at dinner on Friday, 2nd December, 6 p.m. A dinner at which the Governor General will be present will begin in the Great Hall following the opening of the Wallberg Memorial Building. The Board of Stewards have given approval to the closing of the Great Hall at the above time, in order that this special dinner may be served.

NOON-HOUR ADDRESSES
Dr. T. G. Tatham will speak in the Debates Room, today at 1.30 p.m. His topic will be "The Meaning of Success." All members are invited to attend.

CAMERA CLUB
Members of the club are invited to attend the illustrated lecture "Colour Made Easy" to be held in the club room at 7.00 p.m. this evening.

BRIDGE
Hart House Bridge Club will meet this evening at 7.15 in the Music Room.

ARCHERY
There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

ART CLASS
The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7:30 tonight.

LIBRARY EVENING
Mr. John M. Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada, will be the speaker for the third Library Evening which will be held at 7.30 this evening in the Hart House Library. Mr. Gray will speak on "The Canadian Literary Scene as Viewed by a Publisher." All members are cordially invited to attend.

THE VARSITY

Thursday, December 1, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

Soviet Writings Spoiled by Limits —Russian Expert

"There are limitations upon the freedom of the author in the Soviet Union" Professor Strakhovsky stated in his lecture, Soviet Realism, the last in a series on Great Russian Novelists. They must follow the party and the principles laid down by the party. This straight jacket is the reason why nothing worthwhile has come from Soviet literature.

"Socialist realism is the dogma and rule of Soviet literary works. Because of Socialist Realism, an author according to one Soviet literary critic must always give an optimistic outlook on the future. There is no room for pessimism in Soviet life. The role of the masses is emphasized, not the individual.

"In 1920, Lenin said that literature and Soviet Union cannot be apolitical. Further restrictions were placed upon literature in 1932 and 1946. No one outside of Social Realism could find a place in Soviet literature."

Soviet Has Three Greats

There are three great writers of the Soviet Union. Count Alexei Nikolayevich Tolstoy, a distant relative of Leo Tolstoy is the best. His work "The Road to Calvary" the first part of which is not in line with Soviet Realism, received the Stalin Prize in 1940. This book was modelled after the pattern of War and Peace. It is the best thing that has come out of Soviet Russia in the form of Russian literature.

Mikhail Alevandrovich Sholokhov, whose major work is the Quiet Don, has had tremendous success. In 1946 the Quiet Don had been published in 50 languages. He is the most prominent talent of Soviet writers.

"The most important from the power he wields is Alexander Alexandrovich Fedeyev. His book, The Young Guard, follows the rules of Social Realism. It is a horrible novel in that murder is so realistically described. The book received the Stalin Prize in 1945. Fedeyev is the prime spokesman of Soviet Russia for Soviet literature."

Speaker's Background

Professor Leonid Strakhovsky is a writer, historian and linguist. He was born in Orenburg, Russia. During 1916 and 17 he served in the Russian Army and holds decorations from five countries. He was a student at the University of Petrograd in 1917-18. His studies were continued at the University of Louvain, Belgium.

The Red Mill Stream

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

John Beckett and Margot MacKinnon exchange glances during the U.C. Music Club's production of The Red Mill, featuring Victor Herbert's melodies. The production will be held in Hart House Theatre Dec. 5, 6 and 7. Tickets for The Red Mill are on sale in U.C. Rotunda and Hart House Ticket Office.

Student-Staged Operetta Features Favourite Songs

A University production is no innovation. Many of our best shows attain their popularity because of the enthusiasm of the young talent involved. Most of these shows, however, are dependent on experienced outside direction, "The Red Mill," to be presented in Hart House, Dec. 5, 6, and 7, is an exception to the general rule. Ward McAdam, the director, is a student in the Faculty of Music. Others in the cast have had special training, but all are students whose abilities and desire to make the operetta a success have given them that intensity and earnestness which an audience is so quick to feel.

Taking part in the operetta are June Rowat, who has appeared in "Singing Stars of Tomorrow", Bill Copeland, Sylvia Grant, and John Howe, all well known for their contributions to previous campus shows Ted Follows and Eric House form a comedy team, while Margot McKinnon, John Beckett, Harvey Narroll, Dorothy Thornton and Don Charters have prominent roles.

In many ways "The Red Mill" is an ideal selection for a student production. It is difficult enough to offer a challenge, lively enough to awaken a response, popular enough to receive a sure reception. It appeals to the ear with a score which includes such favourites as "Moonbeams", "Isle of Our Dreams", "In Old New York", and "Because You're You". It appeals to the eye with picturesque Dutch settings, besides colourful costumes of burgomaster, peasants, artists and flower girls. Nor is this all. A generous seasoning of wit, and several exciting sequences in the plot make the production a pleasure to take part in and an even greater pleasure to observe.

WRITER'S GROUP

There will be a meeting of the Writer's Group in the Wymilwood Sunroom on Monday, Dec. 5, at 8 o'clock.

Eddis Not Elected Poll To Open Again Seniors Have Vote

Tuesday's election for UC-PHE representative to the SAC has been nullified, Jane Ratz, President of the Women's Undergraduate Association, announced yesterday. Miss Ratz explained that this was because the WUA Executive had misinterpreted the Constitution and refused to allow graduating members of the College the right to vote.

Eddis Elected

This mistake was pointed out by some of the members of the fourth year who demanded a re-election.

At the previous election Joan Eddis, III UC, was elected representative in a very close race. One hundered and forty votes were cast, and Miss Eddis won by only four over Zaira Murray, also III UC.

Because of this mistake, the Executive of the WUA has decided to hold a new election next Tuesday, December 6, from 10 to 4 in the U.C. Rotunda. At that time the two candidates will again contest the field.

Miss Ratz explained that the Executive had thought that since the graduating class cannot vote in the spring elections, they should not be able to vote for this office. Although SAC representatives are elected in December, the winner's term of office does not begin until the next year .

Advertised: No Senior Vote

She also said that it had been advertised for a week that seniors would not hold a vote, and that this had been explained earlier at the open meeting.

Despite this advance information, the members of the graduating class did not complain until yesterday morning.

A separate vote for fourth year students cannot be held, on grounds of unconstitutionality, since in holding a College election voting must be open to all undergraduate members of the Association.

"Regrettable Mistake"

In a statement yesterday, Miss Ratz said, "This is a most regrettable mistake. Under the circumstances the Executive did not feel that the election could be allowed to stand when such a large portion of the electorate had been disenfranchised."

Both girls have already begun their campaigns for the second time.

If elected, Miss Eddis intends to try for a seat on the publications committee and the Women's Athletic Association on the SAC.

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

The work will be judged by members of the University staff, and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Varsity Office is in Room 78, basement of UC.

Local Publisher Is Guest Speaker

MR. GRAY

The Hart House Library Evening tonight will have as guest speaker Mr. John Gray, Managing Director of Macmillan Company of Canada. Mr. Gray will speak on "The Literary scene in Canada as viewed by a publisher."

"A graduate of Upper Canada College and a Varsity man for two years, Mr. Gray has been on the Macmillan Company staff since 1930, with the exception of five year war service, so should be qualified to comment on the Canadian literary scene. In addition to his experience as a publisher he has written several short stories and articles for various periodicals.

Mr. Gray's talk will be followed by a short discusion period in which he will attempt to answer any questions on the publishing business.

Meds Daffydil Nite

Side-Splitting Scientifically Treated

By KATHLYN SMITH

How many times have you split your sides, or killed yourself, or just about burst in two from laughing? It probably happens every time you go to a college show. But Daffydil Nite '49, is probably the first show that demonstrates what might happen if you were really incapacitated by laughing.

At last year's Daffydil Nite, Elmer Fronderbush, a spectator from III S.P.S., laughed so hard that an emergency operation by embryo doctors was necessary. Dr. Morris Doughfinger, the surgeon on the case, diagnosed the case as "a split gut from laughing." Dr. Doughfinger commented on the patient, calling him "a most unusual case." All the time he was being prepared for the operation he kept ejaculating, between face-stretching guffaws, "Skule Nite was never like this."

The picture of the patient in the operating room makes the impression left on him by the show apparent. Dr. Doughfinger was forced to cut the laughing centre of his spinal cord, when wet towels, tear gas, and other remedies failed. This means that he will never laugh or smile again, but since he is a resident of Toronto, nobody will probably notice. Besides it may be an advantage to Skule to have an engineer who is himself immune to laughing gas.

Prendergast and Cameron expressed the desire to eliminate any repetitions of last year's mishap. Although the patient received first class medical care, and was on his feet in a few weeks, the producers of Daffydil Nite came very close to being sued. (Maybe one can't get past 39 beers without a grimace.)

Director Cameron stated that there is a strong element of nervous, high-strung individuals in Daffydil audiences. "It's all right unless the actors get out of hand, and we never know when that is going to happen. The interact skits seem to do the most damage. This year we are taking people's blood pressure and testing for emotional stability before selling them tickets. Any below par—no sale. (No comment about discount in the interest of medical research.)

In spite of the time that the sale promises to take, tests included, the producers expect an unprecedented sale. This may be due to the fact that the theme for Daffydil Nite '49 is something which has never been tried on the campus before, or it may have something to do with the psychological reaction of co-eds to having their emotional stability tested by "those beeootiful medsmen." Old and popular features of the Meds contribution to campus culchah which will stage a comeback in this year's show are the Meddette chorus line and Don Pushman's Glee Club.

It should be recorded that the episode of School of Nursing girls sneaking into the Meds election last spring is in no way characteristic of Daffydil

Varsity Staff Photo by Walt Mackenzie

Incapacitated by laughter at last year's Daffydil Night show, an Engineer is treated by an operation on the spinal cord. This year's Meds. Show will be just as funny when it is produced on Dec. 12, 13, 14 and 15. But producers promise to take precautions against any possible repetition of disaster.

Readers Write

(Continued from Page 2)

ice and political asylum because if anyone looked up British tradition on these things they would find it highly unpraiseworthy.

We could go on and repeat things as you do. But we should like to emphasize this one pertinent point —The Varsity has a great capacity for making mountains out of molehills. Its editorial board has a peculiar dislike for US policies, not on any one thing, but on almost everything. Consequently, they spread US mistakes all over their paper in such a manner as to plant their own dislikes in the minds of every Canadian student. They hope to accomplish this by altering their presentations. In this way, they reduce The Varsity's editorials to the category of propaganda.

In refusing to see the harm they are doing these young editors undoubtedly are, and we shall say it, irresponsible, not only to this University, but also to the future peace of Canada and the United States.

John Regan, I St. Mike's
Glen Walls, I St. Mike's
Paul Lorch, I St. Mike's
Francis Tierney, I St. Mike's
Bill Kenna, I St. Mike's
Gerry Washington, I St. Mike's
Thomas Mauchly, I St. Mike's

Ed. Note: "apparently it must have been a very good reason, because all other etc."

in other words, the laws of the U.S. decide whether a Canadian is lawabiding.

"doubt concerning the reasonableness"

We are happy to stir up doubt on any subject.

"U.S. . . . self-acclaimed world's most powerful nation" should lead in ethics as well as atoms.

"isolated instance of discussion"

Read U.N. minutes and get the FACTS

"British tradition . . . highly unpraiseworthy"

Check the record, boys; begin at, say, Lord Elgin and end with Gerhardt Eisler.

"peculiar dislike of U.S. policies etc."

We respect the Truman Doctrine, admire the North Atlantic Fact and love American cigarettes.

"young editors etc."

Does being 32 years old, having two children and being born in Philadelphia qualify?

Adjudicators Speak

Editor, The Varsity:

Congratulations are in order for the invincible Scarlet and Gold rugby team; and to that symphonious aggregation known as the Burwash Boys Brigade all hats should be doffed.

With regard to the latter, Mr. Editor, we the impartial judges in the fray, would like to make our position clear — for indeed, our integrity was doubted at the time of the decision, and our positions were dirtied immediately following.

Both bands were judged on their merits, and although the Lady Godiva Memorial Band virtually carried us away in a mighty crescendo, the whole effect seemed to be one which might just as easily have been produced by slippery slide rules and dirty drain pipes. The tone and quality, the rhythm and beauty (of the cheerleaders), and the obviously high degree of efficiency of the Burwash Boys Brigade left us, the impartial judges, with no other course but to declare them winners.

We would commend those many hundreds of persons, who agreed with us, for their acute sense of musical appreciation. The impartial judges' decision was unanimous! It was also final!

Musically yours,

The Impartial Judges,
President, V.C.U.
Vice-President, V.C.U.
Treasurer, V.C.U.
Editor, Acta Victoriana.

• WHAT'S ON TODAY •

HART HOUSE THEATRE
Readings are now starting for Othello, a Hart House production, scheduled for February 26th. All those interested drop in to the Hart House Theatre or phone MI. 7193.

✣ ✣ ✣

JUNIOR PHILOSOPHY CLUB
"The place of sex in our modern social structure" will be the topic of the Junior Philosophy Club meeting today at 7.45 p.m. in Wymilwood. Prof. Carpenter of the Anthropology Dept. will introduce the subject, and discussion will follow.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC VCF
Vic VCF Meeting at 1 p.m. in Room

✣ ✣ ✣

NFCUS
There will be a N.F.C.U.S. meeting at 5, in the Trinity College Board Room.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. SINGERS
The U.C. Singers will practise today from 4-6 p.m. in the Women's Union Theatre. Please note time.

✣ ✣ ✣

POST GRADUATE NURSING
The Post-Graduate Nurses' Christian Fellowship will meet on Thursday, December 1st, in the Annex of the School of Nursing. Major Burnell of the Officers' Training College of the Salvation Army will be the guest speaker.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARNIGIE RECORD COLLECTION
Today's program, at 4:30 in the Mechanical Bldg., will be "Piano Music of Chopin".

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN GLEE CLUB
The Newman Glee Club will meet this evening at 8:30 in the Club rooms.

✣ ✣ ✣

MEDICAL FACULTY
The Medical Faculty Group is sponsoring a dance at Newman Club this evening.

ENGINEERING CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
The Rev. Robert Barr of Knox Church will continue his talk on the subject of "Christ and the African Native" today at 1.25 in Room 336 of the New Mechanical Building.

✣ ✣ ✣

EFFECTIVE STUDY & WORK HABITS
The above subject will be discussed tonight by Dr. W. Line, Professor of Psychology, at the Third Mental Health Discussion Group, sponsored by the Health Service. The time is 8 p.m., in the Lecture Theatre of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, Surrey Place. All students are welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN BADMINTON
The Badminton Group will meet this evening at 7:30 in the C.O.T.C. Drill Hall.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN BRIDGE CLUB
The Newman Bridge Club meets this evening at 8:30 in the Club rooms.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. RECORD HOUR
Irene Shubik will give a record hour on Rhespigi and Italian 17th century composers including Scarlatti and Vivaldi. It will be held in the Long Common Room at the Women's Union at 4:30 today.

✣ ✣ ✣

ENGINEERING ALUMNI ASS'N.
The Engineering Alumni Ass'n., Class of '49, will hold an informal dance at Club Top Hat tomorrow.

✣ ✣ ✣

SCHOOL OF NURSING V.C.F.
There will be a regular undergrad meeting today, in the Demonstration Room at 1:20. Dr. Hillyer will speak on the Martyrs of Mexicamaya.

✣ ✣ ✣

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE DE U.C.
Ce soir, à 8h. 15 au théâtre de Women's Union, il y aura une réunion de la Société Française. On entendra un discours, on verra une pièce, et on chantera des chansons de noël. Tout le monde est cordialement invité.

Smart Outfits AT Moderate Prices IN Blouses AND Skirts

- For Everyday Wear
- For Dressier Occasions

New Blouses

Leaders in style, workmanship and value, these lovely new blouses in both long and short sleeves are ready for the festive season. Made of fine washable crepes and sheers, they come in white and a variety of colours. Sizes 14 to 44 at Evangeline's moderate prices.

$3.98 to $8.95

New Skirts

For daytime or 'after-five'—you'll love our new skirts and want several to wear with your various blouses. Slim, draped or with soft fulness, they are made of 'Celanese' satin-back crepe, velveteen and fine wool. Sizes 12 to 20.

Crepe - - $6.95 and $7.95
Velveteen - - - - $10.95
Fine Wool - $6.95 to $10.95

Business Suits

Light in weight, light in price, these smooth suits of 'Woodwynd' and fine wool-and-rayon gabardine are tailor-perfect with no hint of bulk. Ideal to wear for business and under winter coats—at Evangeline's usual moderate prices. Sizes 14 to 20 in plain colours and checks.

Wool and Rayon Gabardine
~~$25.50~~
'Woodwynd' $22.50

Sorry—NO MAIL ORDERS

Uptown Stores Open Friday and Saturday till 9 p.m.

Evangeline

- 113 Yonge at Adelaide
- 751 Yonge at Bloor
- 1458 Yonge at St. Clair
- 3414 Yonge at City Limits
- 444 Eglinton W. at Castleknock
- 656 Danforth at Pape
- 62A Bloor at Bay

OTTAWA • BROCKVILLE • LONDON • HAMILTON • GUELPH • ST. CATHARINES

"WINNER and still CHAMP"

10 years in a row, ALPACAMA's come out on top! ALPACAMA takes a strangle hold on cold winter weather. Slip on a really warm, smartly styled ALPACAMA . . . masterfully tailored, mothproof, showerproof, an outstanding value at

THE GENUINE ALPACAMA

$45.

ALPACAMA

Canada's Most Famous Coat

At Leading Stores From Coast-to-Coast

103 *REG. CAN. PAT. OFF.

SAME SPECIAL STUDENT RATE 50c

HART HOUSE THEATRE'S TWELFTH ALL-UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Robertson Davies' Prize-Winning Canadian Play

"FORTUNE MY FOE"

Directed by Robert Gill

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26th TO SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3rd AT 8:30 P.M.

BOX OFFICE OPEN DAILY FROM 10 to 6

ART MUSIC DRAMA

Ralph Sheldon

The young New England pianist Ralph Sheldon made his Canadian debut before a small but discriminating audience on Tuesday evening at Eaton Auditorium. He proved himself more than usually promising. The will and temperament to play the piano were ostensibly present in everything he performed, thus enabling him to transcend the mediocre even when the total impression conveyed was not all that might be desired.

In commemoration of the centennial of Chopin's death, the program consisted almost entirely of that composer's works, but the artist auspiciously commenced his recital with the Mozart Rondo in D major. In his execution he managed to capture the delicate, elegant, ornamental spirit of the piece to perfection, displaying a blithe, singing tone, a well-rounded technical equipment, and keen musical discernment. The second offering, the Mozart Sonata in F major was endued with sombreness in the Adagio movement, tending perhaps too strongly to the sentimental; the fluency of his trills was noteworthy, and his carefully-wrought phrasing, but his scale passages were sometimes blurred when attempting to gather momentum, and lack of coordination between both hands occasionally evident. He seemed much less at home in his first Chopin group. It is a lamentable fact that Chopin is not too often but all too badly, played these days; whereas it would be incorrect to imply that Mr. Sheldon's interpretation inspired the above reflection in his listeners' minds, yet it is certain that his rendition of the Waltz in A Flat opus 34 No. 1 gave little expression to the compulsion of the dithyrambic coda which renders this composition a delight to the soul.

The latter half of the programme opened with a sincerely evocative rendition of the hauntingly beautiful Fantasie in F minor, the composer's most salient proof that he could indeed attempt far imaginative flights, in which the technical invention keeps equal pace with the inspiration.

June Gross.

Sunset Reflects

(Continued From Page 1)

a hideous cacophany!"

Snowballs Fly

That one or two snowballs were thrown at this juncture should not be taken as an indication of any intense feeling on either side. An air of indifferent animosity was the prevailing emotion throughout. In fact both sides retained their ammunition to throw at the officials during the game which was about to get underway.

Just because the Skulemen did not hold any pep-rally does not mean that there was any shortage of spirit on their part. In fact the the enthusiasm of their superior numbers on the sidelines was abetted by the conscription of 5 gorgeous cheerleaders from Whitney Hall.

Vic Wins Cup

But both teams had the same number of men on the field and what the Vic team lacked in spectators, they made up for in play by soundly trouncing SPS for the third time this season to take the Mulock Cup by an upsetting of 24-5.

It was indeed a glorious day for Victoria College, and as the sun set behind Varsity Grandstand with a hue of Scarlet and Gold, the victors repaired to the showers and thence to Eaton Auditorium, for the one night musical presentation of a Victoria undergrads' show called, just by coincidence, 'Scarlet and Gold.'

HAMILTON AIR TRIP BY VARSITY FLYERS FEW MORE CAN GO

The University of Toronto Flying Club will hold a breakfast flight to Hamilton next Sunday morning. The trip is open to any undergraduate member of the university, and only a few places have not been filled in the eight planes making the trip.

The two-hour trip will cost about four dollars. Details are displayed on the UC rotunda notice-board.

VOX VARSITY

Last Thursday's presentation of My Brother's Keeper by Mel Breene over C.J.R.T.F.M. has shown that the Radio Workshop is here to stay. From the moment that page two of Varsity Scrapbook was opened a very finished show was aired. All who worked upon it can really feel proud of this presentation.

To-night is La Venus d'Ile that old thriller by Prosper Mérimée will be our feature presentation. This story has been adapted for us by Trudy Konwalina, one of our own undergrads. As usual it will be aired at 7:30 p.m. over C. J. R. T. 88.3 megacycles. Production will be by John Howe and Dan McCarthy with technical assistance by John MacQuarrie.

So far we have only received a few scripts for the script writing contest. Since the S.A.C. is generous enough to offer prizes it is hoped that those students who are interested will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing their work aired by the Varsity Scrapbook Players. Don't forget December the Fifteenth is the deadline.

Now that the S.A.C. Radio Workshop is in full swing the campus observatory will be busy every night at five except Thursday.

See you next week in Vox Varsity.

John Livingston.

Terse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young lady named Lil,
Who said, in the moonlight, "I will.
It's your kissing I like,
It's so wonderful, Mike.
My Gosh! You're not Michael, you're Bill!"

Printing Cost

(Continued from Page 1)

When asked how progress on the book is being made, Raymond said biographies will be in the printer's hands by Christmas and the deadline on all material is January 15. The deadline for space in the book is December 15.

Book Review

The Red Heart

James Reaney, not so long ago the 'enfant terrible' of the University of Toronto, makes a significant contribution to Canadian poetry with The Red Heart (McClelland & Stewart: $2.50). These poems, a number of which were written while Mr. Reaney was still an undergraduate, bear an impact rarely felt in Canadian poetry. This impact is of a dual nature. first, we are brought into contact with a mind that sees 'the skull beneath the skin'. Mr. Reaney is all too aware that we live in a fallen world, a world "That's filled./Not with a child's remembered and pleasant skies./But with blood, pus, horror, death, stepmothers, and lies.' And through this rotten world, with its momentary glimpses of transitory beauty, we move on to the 'grave gray grave'—Death, the final release. Secondly, the reader's regional preconceptions are exploded by such poems as 'The Upper Canadian' and 'Lake Ontario', which transcend their settings so completely that new patterns of thought are imposed. For Mr. Reaney has the gift of discovering rich veins of meaning in the most ordinary subjects.

There is laughter, too, in some of these poems, perhaps malicious in 'Scenes for a Stereoscope', but certainly the laughter of good fun in the satiric, exuberantly witty 'Great Lakes Suite'. And there is laughter of a different sort in the sardonic verses of 'The Beauty of Miss Beaty', with its cynical closing couplet, 'It has always been that lust/Has always rhymed with dust'.

The startling quality of Mr. Reaney's imagination is brought in his imagery, an imagery that ranges from the minute (as in 'The Groats') to the cosmic (as in 'Suns and Planets'). There is, too, an undercurrent of decay in the images, al-

(Continued on Page 7)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

Gold woman's wrist watch with initials H. L. J. Sunday, on St. George between Willcocks and Bloor. Please leave at Women's S.A.C. office, U.C., or phone Helen, MI. 3482.

REQUEST

Have you got your formals ready for New Year's yet? Also please don't leave your alterations till Christmas week! Helmar, RA. 5978—opposite School of Law.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU 3575.

SPARE TIME MONEY

Students wanted for part-time tuition in any subject, especially matriculation and hobbies. Replies should contain qualifications, experience, if any, address and telephone number. Box 16, The Varsity.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done Reasonable rates. Same as last year. Phone Madame Elise, KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

FOR SALE

Skis—high grade new condition, made by Andreef—outfit worth forty-five dollars; for cash $25.00. Another good set—bargain $10.00. HArgrave 9609

TYPIST

Accurate typing, by experienced stenographer. Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9923.

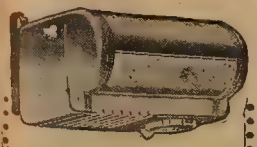
SALE OF HOME BAKING

Alpha Omicron Pi Fraternity is holding a sale of Home Baking on Friday, Dec 2, from 2-5 p.m. Apt 160-A, The St. George Apartments.

1950 PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS

All makes. On time or cash; good allowance on old machines. All makes of machines serviced. Phone HU 4754 after 5:30 p.m.

TYPIST



Thoroughly experienced—theses, manuscripts, etc. 15c per page, 20-lb. bond, 1 carbon, minor corrections free. HA. 0462.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery. JU. 3575.

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO

Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.

MITCHELL MANUFACTURING CO. LTD. TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

ROYAL TRIBUTE TO THE BAHA'I WORLD FAITH

"The Baha'i teaching brings peace and understanding.

"It is like a wide embrace gathering together all those who have long searched for words of hope.

"It accepts all great prophets gone before, it destroys no other creeds and leaves all doors open.

"Unity instead of strife, hope instead of condemnation, love instead of hate, and a great reassurance for all men."

Queen Marie of Rumania

DANCE TO MART KENNEY AND HIS ORCHESTRA

FEATURING NORMA LOCKE ... WALLY KOSTER and THE VOCAL QUARTET

FRIDAY, DEC. 2nd

THE GRADUATE ANNUAL DANCE

HART HOUSE — $3.00

CANADA'S NUMBER ONE DANCE BAND

Big doin's the first three days of next week. The Red Mill opens Monday at Hart House Theatre. From what we've heard of (1) Victor Herbert's music ("Every Day is Ladies' Day with Me" and who doesn't like that sort of thing) and (2) The list of stars including Sylvia Grant, Bill Copeland, June Rowat (of York Mills' Singing Stars of Tomorrow), Ted Follows, Eric House and John Howe, it will be a great show. The Music Club writes—"The Red Mill goes 'round and 'round and there are still tickets available. The folk behind the stage are making final preparations. Rehearsals have been doubled, seamstresses under Lib McKay have been monopolizing the Whitney Hall machine and Ted Whiteside is busy putting the finishing touches on the superb sets." 'Nuff said. Don't get there too late.

Arts Ball talk about the college has mainly to do with decorations. About $400 has been allotted to this and John Bull and Jane Young are planning a wonderful background for the dance.

Tickets for the Christmas Dance (Dec. 9, Women's Union, 50c couple) went on sale yesterday and are disappearing fast. This dance was an innovation last year, sponsored for college members who didn't feel they could afford the more expensive "couples" dance on the campus.

A note to the women: The Amalgamation Question is not dead in the Lit yet. Rumors say certain Lit members will re-open the question at the next Open meeting.

Basketball and Hockey in the college are well underway. Although the hockey teams are pretty well chosen, basketball enthusiasts should keep a weather eye for practice times. The U.C. Lacrosse first team is playing the final for the Interfaculty championship tomorrow and maybe Monday, against Meds. Games are in Hart House Gym, one o'clock, and Girls, it's your big chance to enter these sacrosanct halls.

A reminder: U. C. Pins, Year Guards and blazers go on sale every Thursday, 10-1, in the rotunda.

Joke of the Week (fit for mixed company and children)—Did you hear about the donkey that was killed by the weasel? Well, the donkey was standing on the railway tracks and didn't hear the weasel. Here, we'll run through that again etc. etc.

(Advertisement)

TICKETS ON SALE U.C. ROTUNDA 11 - 2 p.m. FOR

"HILLELZAPOPPIN"

TODAY at CLUB KINGSWAY

OZZIE WILLIAMS & ORCHESTRA

DANCING 9-1 $3.00 A COUPLE

Virginia Dare

GIFT HANDBAGS

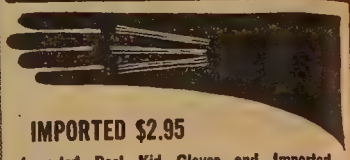
Handbags—Fine Leather and Fabrics in every color—Distinguished gifts, designed in a variety of styles and shapes. And only Virginia Dare brings you such a collection at such low prices.

Genuine Morocco Leather..as low as $7.50
Genuine Davis Calf.....as low as 8.95
Beautiful Corde Styles.....as low as 5.20
Rich Bengaline.....as low as 3.12

• Taupesheen
• Cocoa Frappe
• Grey Eve

51 Gauge mist sheer NYLONS

15 and 20 DENIER



— first quality
- sizes 8½ to 11

1.69 2 pair for 3.30

Whisper Sheer Nylons—Made to sell for as much as $2.25—by a Famous Manufacturer—in the season's loveliest colours. Fashionable dull finish . . . smart contrasting seams . . . dainty slenderized heel . . . perfect quality hose. 51 gauge—15 and 20 denier—for evening loveliness and all day long. 8½ to 11. Pair, only $1.69 (or 2 pair for $3.30).

GIFT SLIPS

Crepe Slips—$2.77—made to sell for so much more. See them—you'll know they were made to sell for a much higher price! Tailored slips, lace trimmed slips, bias and straight cut. All styles are exclusively Virginia Dare's! You'd shop a long time—and not find this quality at anything like this price—Sizes 32—38. $2.77

IMPORTED $2.95

Imported Real Kid Gloves and Imported Fine Suede Gloves $2.95. An unheard of price for these qualities. That's all you pay at Virginia Dare! Our buyers looked to Europe for these classic style slip-on gloves. Made with all the expert skill for which those European craftsmen are famous. Kid gloves also come in pleasing fancy pull-on style—all are pique sewn. Black, Brown, and Navy, all sizes. Black suede gloves are made to sell for $6.50. Genuine Kid or suede, pair $2.95

Christmas Party

Starts Thursday Dec. 1st

While they last

"ALL-OUT" Values that cannot be duplicated anywhere

reg. $8.98
5.98

Only at Virginia Dare

Luxurious White Crepe Blouse—Regularly $8.98—Reduced to $5.98. Look at the detail—the flattering style. It's a super quality Guipere lace trimmed "celanese" crepe blouse. A lot of value for just..... $5.98

reg. $2.98
1.98

Only at Virginia Dare

Large, real Silk Scarves—Regularly $2.98 NOW $1.98. Approximately 36" square. They're beauties—and only at Virginia Dare will you find them at the low, low price of $1.98! Gorgeous for gifts—with unusual modern patterns and smart illustrations in rainbow colours, printed on purest silk, hand rolled edges. Get several for yourself while you're gift-buying. Only.....$1.98

Only at Virginia Dare

EXQUISITE NIGHTGOWNS

Nobody but Virginia Dare saves you so many precious Christmas Dollars on Nightgowns

Price tags should be in the high brackets—Illustrated is just one of the many lovely styles in satin and crepe, to thrill a feminine heart Christmas morning. White, pink and blue—all sizes.

Gowns made to sell for at least $7.98 NOW $5.49

Gowns made to sell for at least $6.98 NOW $4.54

Gowns made to sell for at least $4.98 NOW $3.97

Virginia Dare

Come early for best selection

SPEAKING OF SPORT

(Continued from Page 8)

Toronto campus? My I thought this was an amateur league. . . . Oh, the Board of Governors still thinks so, huh? How about middles? . . . I guess Hardrock Garowski and Ripper Jake Conwell will come out to practice. . . . WHAT? They, too? Ye Gods! But come to think of it, free room and board and a buck or two is nothing to sneeze at. I guess it's pretty hard to practice every night and earn your own living, too. Sure I think they should be helped, but that's your department, Bob. . . . It isn't? . . . Board of Governors, eh?

"Anyhow, Bob, you haven't anything else. Got any ends? Is Lawson coming back? . . . Graduated, huh? Shorty Milquetoast ad Percival Blossom are slated as starting ends, huh? Gosh, Bob, Varsity is in a bad way. Guess I shouldn't ask if you think you can take the championship or not, but I will anyhow. . . . WHAT? You WILL? With what? . . . Oh, Varsity's going to withdraw from the football league . . . going to take the shuffleboard championship, eh, Bob? That's the spirit — get out there and fight, Bob; you can do it!"

Vic Cops

(Continued from Page 1)

start, making nine first downs in the first half, but couldn't keep up to Vic's speed in the second half. Bob Adair, by far their fastest man, also ran off their best gains. Rickaby and Laprairie were outstanding in the line. Brent Rowe, Valenti's favorite pass receiver (for good reasons) was the outstanding end of the day.

Line-ups:

Victoria: Flying wing, Gore; halves, Damp, Rumball, Little; quarter, Lodge; centre, Rogers; insides, Colbert, Ledger; middles, Barford, Hill; outsides, Howard, Anderson; alternates, Kilgour, Sumner, Zimmerman, Ludwig, Fick, Dyke, Newell, File, Walton, Morgan, Reid, Bodrug, Martin, Williams, Dryden.

Senior SPS: Flying wing, Babcock; halves, Jones, Adare, Follinsbee; quarter, Valenti; centre, Firth; insides, Rickaby, Benstein; middles, Watson, Gordon; outsides, Rowe, Cole; alternates, Brown, Maunder, Keen, LaPrairie, McColm, Lumsden, Richards, Wood, Weaver, Crandell, MacDonald, James, Dellenbach, MacKendrick, Hellard, Binnell, Phemister, Gibson, Scott.

Referee, Pasternak; umpire, Luck; head linesmen, McDonald.

First Quarter

No score.

Second Quarter

1—SPS, touchdown (Scott)
2—Vic, touchdown (Gore)
3—Vic, convert (Little)

Third Quarter

4—Vic, touchdown (Damp)
5—Vic, convert (Little)

Fourth Quarter

6—Vic, touchdown (Lodge)
7—Vic, convert (Little)
8—Vic, touchdown (Damp)
9—Vic, convert (Little)

Book Review

(Continued from Page 5)

most a breathless waiting for the 'whole sorry scheme of things' to collapse into darkness and chaos. Mr. Reaney's preoccupation with the evil around us has provoked many to label him 'morbid', an undeserved epithet that seems curiously adolescent when applied to this collection. The attitude revealed here sees all aspects of life and is not content with a false optimism.

Poetry that yields even richer enjoyment when re-read is good poetry, and Mr. Reaney's verse passes this test. The Red Heart is an important event in Canadian letters.

Kenneth Kee.

S.A.C. Radio Workshop

Varsity Scrapbook
Page III for December 1st
PROSPER MERIMEES
LA VENUS D'ILLE
Adapted by Trudy Konwalina
Produced by John Howe and Dan McCarthy
7.30 P.M. C.J.R.T.-F.M.
88.3 megacycles

Attention Script Writers
Deadline for the Workshop
December Fifteenth

JR. BOXING AND WRESTLING CHAMPIONSPIPS

PRELIMINARY BOUTS will be held in the Boxing and Wrestling Rooms Wed. and Thurs., Dec. 7 and 8, from 4.00 - 6.00 p.m.

THE DRAW with times will be posted in these rooms.

ENTRY: A Weigh-in slip must be picked up by EACH competitor at the Intramural Office on Tues., Dec. 6th. Weigh-in must be completed and entry made at Intramural office not later than 5.30 p.m. of the same day.

FINAL BOUTS—Athletic Night, Saturday, Dec. 10th, at 8 p.m.

FRESHMAN SWIMMING MEET

ENTRIES will be accepted at the Intramural up to Wed., Dec. 7th, at 5:30 p.m.

PRELIMINARY EVENTS (if necessary) — Thurs., Dec. 8, at 5:00 p.m.
FINALS—Athletic Night, Saturday, Dec. 10th, 7:30 p.m.

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER SEMI-FINAL RE-PLAY	2.30	Stadium Sr. Vic vs Jr. SPS	Barton
VOLLEYBALL PLAYOFFS	1.00	For. A vs Sr. U.C.	Fine
	4.00	U.C. III vs Pre-Med	Cohi
	5.00	Med I Yr vs SPS Y	Cohi
	6.00	Dent A vs Med II Yr	Kroll
HOCKEY	12.30	Knox vs SPS VI	Robertson, Graham
	1.30	SPS IV vs Med III	Robertson, Graham
	4.00	Law vs Trin B	McLoughlin, Ruddy
	8.00	Pharm vs Vic III	Carr, Wells

WATER POLO INSTRUCTION

Classes will be held on MONDAY and WEDNESDAY at 1.00 p.m. starting on Monday, Dec. 5th. All men interested in the Intramural Water Polo League are encouraged to attend.

Physical Education credits will be given.

WATER POLO REFEREES

All men interested in acting as referees in the Intramural Water Polo League will attend a Referees Clinic starting on MONDAY, Dec. 5th, 1.00 p.m. in the Fencing Room, Hart House. APPLY NOW AT INTRAMURAL OFFICE.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL PRACTICES — WEEK OF DEC. 5TH

		Lower Gym	Upper Gym
Mon., Dec.	5	4.00 - 5.00 Emman	1.00 - 2.00 SPS 4.00 - 5.00 Music
Tues.,	6	1.00 - 2.00 Inst. Mgt 4.00 - 5.00 U.C. 6.30 - 7.30 Med 7.30 - 8.30 St. M. 8.30 - 9.30 Trin	4.00 - 5.00 Inst. Mgt 6.30 - 7.30 Dent 7.30 - 8.30 Vic 8.30 - 9.30 St. M.
Wed.,	7	1.00 - 2.00 U.C. 4.00 - 5.00 Arch 5.00 - 6.00 Vic 6.00 - 7.00 SPS 7.00 - 8.00 Trin 8.00 - 9.30 St. M	1.00 - 2.00 SPS 6.30 - 7.30 Law 7.30 - 8.30 Forestry 8.30 - 9.30 Med
Thurs.,	8	1.00 - 2.00 Music 4.00 - 5.00 U.C. 6.00 - 7.00 Med	1.00 - 2.00 Referee's Clinic 4.00 - 5.00 U.C. 7.00 - 8.00 Pharm 8.00 - 9.30 Wyc
Fri.,	9	1.00 - 2.00 SPS 4.00 - 5.00 Inst. Mgt	1.00 - 2.00 Dent 4.00 - 5.00 U.C.
Sat.,	10	1.00 - 2.00 Forestry

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762
(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)
OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING
Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.

SUMMER TOURS TO EUROPE

Small groups personally conducted by well-known university professors. Good hotels. Private baths in many hotels. Extensive motoring. One Canadian management throughout. Preliminary folders on these tours will be ready for mailing Tuesday.

GRAND TOUR—66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 28; August 9.
$1,265.00

Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 1; June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$1,095.00

WEST. EUROPE—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9.
$1,055.00

Tour—38 days. Sails June 1; Same tour without British Motor June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$865.00

SCANDINAVIAN TOUR
—66 days
Scotland, England Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and France. Sails June 1.
$1,240.00

Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 14; June 15.
$1,095.00

CAPITALS TOUR—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9 ..... $925.00

OBERAMMERGAU TOUR
—66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, the Passion Play, Italy and France. Sails June 14; June 15 .... $1,420.00

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.
(Kenneth B. Conn, President)
2 College St. Princess 1494

In A Hurry?
SAME DAY CLEANING SERVICE
AT YOUR CAMPUS STORE
633 SPADINA
IN BY 10 OUT BY 5
CASH N CARRY
(Slight Extra Charge)
FRIDAY IS NOT TOO LATE
United-De Forest
CLEANERS • DYERS

Your LAST CHANCE
Before Christmas to Join Our Popular
DANCE CLASS
in Ballroom Dancing
TONIGHT 8.30
After this week all our dance classes will be filled and closed and no new courses will be available until January —so join now and be ready for the holidays. Private lessons by appointment.
DaCOSTA
Studios of Dancing
782 Yonge at Bloor MI. 5624

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty
Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES
Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W.
(Near Bay)
MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W.
OR. 3649

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH DAILY MAIL
CIGARETTE TOBACCO

Well, this is it. By the time you scan these witty words it'll all be over. One squad will be drowning its sorrows while the opposition revels in the acclamation of the campus as Football champs of the year. I won't make any predictions, as they will sound silly the day after the game, (especially if I'm wrong), so the only thing left to do is wind up the season with a few impartial notes.

First I'd like to thank, on behalf of the Senior team (and the Juniors too, if they have no objection) the whole body of Skulemen who valiantly braved the weather extremes to come out and cheer the Blue and Gold on to victory. It's really heartening to know that you've got the solid support of about 3000 characters behind you. That's one big way you have proved to the rest of the clods on this campus that Skule is decidely not lacking in real spirit.

I would definitely include several of the Faculty members in that group of ardent supporters, especially Dean Tupper and Prof. Wright, who have been in there all season, rooting for 'their boys', even in the cold and snow of the St. Mike's game. With support like that, how could we lose?

By the way, we received a very complimentary letter from St. Mike's concerning that little tilt, and we'd like to reciprocate in kind. It was a rugged but quite clean tilt, which probably would have been a lot closer under better conditions. The Double Blue and Skule teams always seem to provide a good show, no matter what the sport, so thanks a lot Mikemen, and try again next year.

The hockey season started Monday, with a win and a tie for the Juniors and Senior, respectively. Seems to be a good indication of things to come, once the boys really get into condition. Gus Mortson, of Leafian fame, has been engaged to coach the two first teams for the season. If he is anything like Johnny Macreedy, we have no worries at all about where that Jennings Cup is going this year. Four straight years will be quite a record, so let's make it 'un fait accompli', eh boys?

Minor league basketball is in the throes of organization at this very moment, so a word to the wise should get you off to a good start. Any course, or group of individual which wants to enter a minor league team, had better get cracking and make an application, muy pronto. Just drop a note into the Second Year Rep's. box down at the Athletic Stores, but soon, for we are only allowed a limited number of teams. There'll be plenty of competition, because last year's interfaculty champs, 5T0 Civils, are entering the very same squad, undiminished by by ye Grande Choppe of April. This is another chance to scamper off with a horde of Reed Trophy Points, so get together with your class, or a half-dozen chaps, and enter a team.

A sport that Skulemen haven't done too much about it the past few years is the manly art of Gymnastics. This year however, there are about a score of monkey-types up there in the Upper Gym practising in the afternoons, and they will definitely make their presence felt, come to the meet in February. Now if a like number of you yoits could hie yourselves up to Hart House for boxing and wrestling, we'd be all set for the assaults. At any rate, congrats to the Gymnasts and organizer Jim Dooley for a good turnout—we'll be hearing from you soon.

Hej Da
BENNY

Medicos Take First Boxla Final From UC

Help Needed Interest Ditto For Ski Club

"It's your club and it's up to you," was the final ultimatum of the Intramural Standing Ski Committee when they finished their meeting on Tuesday night.

Up near Newmarket on the west side of Highway No. 11 is a large tract of land with lots of rolling hills and long trails that is known by many skiers here at Varsity as the University Ski Grounds.

The Athletic Association maintains this property for the benefit of all those who are interested in skiing just for fun. However the upkeep of the various facilities on the grounds is one of the responsibilities of the Ski Committee and this is where the difficulty lies.

Clearing Operations

Evidently the University will continue to support the cause of recreational skiing, as long as there is an interest shown, and what is needed right now, before the ski season opens, is some clearing done on a few of the trails, as well as tramping the open slopes.

Bob Sparrow, SPS, is looking after this "operation clearing," and hopes to have a crowd of volunteers on the job this Sunday. Cars are wanted for transportation with a substantial remuneration in return and anybody wishing to add their bit to help out should get in touch with Bob as soon as possible.

Another responsibility of the committee is the Ski Club and this year the program executive, headed by Jean McEachern, UC, is working out a vigorous plan of week-end activities on the ski grounds, as well as open meetings.

Next Wednesday at the club's first open meeting Jim Wait will show his famous color pictures of the French Ski Team competing at Mt. Tremblant. There will also be some shots of last year's intercollegiate teams in action and glimpses of skiing at Collingwood, North Bay, Mt. Washington and the Laurentians.

The club is definitely taking on a "new look." Interesting meetings, Sundays on the hills where everybody joins in on the fun, up-to-the-minute news on what is going on in skiing are some of the things the club hopes to put across.

VARSITY SPORTS

Vic Band Wins

Mulock Tilt Enlivened By LGMB, SGLIRPB

By BRUCE MACDONALD

So the Mulock Cup final is here and gone for another year, taking with it all the rivalry, sportsmanship, and good times that make Intramural football what is really it. Yesterday's game will go down as one of the most colorful in Mulock Cup history.

Signs of the approaching battle appeared early Wednesday morning as Skulemen decked themselves out in multi-coloured handlebar mustaches. One character went so far as to parade around in a top hat and a very distinguished Van Dyke beard.

Vic worked up spirit for the game at a little pep rally held on the front steps of the college. When fans had reached the proper temperature, they moved off to the stadium led by the Scarlet and Gold band.

✣ ✣ ✣

Where, we asked, did SPS hide that squad of cheerleaders during the season——same place as they keep the Skule cannon perhaps. Could it be that we have seen some of the female faces around Whitney Hall?——just a guess of course.

The show at half time was one of the most riotous that Varsity Stadium has ever witnessed. Things started off as a band concert developed into a snowball fight, and when the supply ran out changed into literally a mud-slinging contest.

Judges, four members of the VCU executive, decided that despite the obvious merits of the Lady Godiva Memorial Band, it was only too obvious that the Victoria College Scarlet and Gold Light Infantry and Regimental Parade Band (often known as the Burwash Boys Brigade) was far superior, and thus declared them winners of the contest. Skulemen were quite annoyed at the judges' decision, and expressed their disapproval by dragging the judges trough the mud at the edge of the field.

✣ ✣ ✣

Some rather strange band instruments put in an appearance during the half time show. Members of the Vic band used garbage can lids as cymbals, and the Vic xylophone was a series of empty whisky bottles suspended from a stick. Ingenious, these musicians!

The Skule cheering section, which practically filled the covered stands, came up with a couple of novel yells.

Actually, the officiating, which can football game, was excellent. Neither side had any legitimate reason for complaint, and Mr. Pasternak and his crew deserve credit for their capable effort.

Skule's official timekeeper was equipped with an hour glass, but when he forgot to turn it over at half time, he got confused and was of little help to the officials.

The game as a whole really produced some spectacular football. You won't see that many 50 yard runs and beautiful passes in every football game you watch, Vic and Skule certainly ended the season with a flourish.

Meds Retain Form From Last Season; Win Handily 10-4

By JOHN DUGAN

An old rivalry was reopened at noon yesterday in Hart House Gym, when Meds met UC in the first game of the Dafoe Cup play-offs. The favored Meds team lived up to expectations, notching a 10-4 win over a hard fighting UC squad.

UC Scores First

The game got off to a fast start as Young scored for UC after one minute of play. The remainder of the period was hard and fast with no scoring until five full minutes had been played. A tight Meds defence and sparkling play by Byrne in the UC nets helped to curtail the scoring. In this period UC was unable to get more than eight shots on goal, while Meds shots went wide time after time.

Meds dominated the play in the second period, scoring three goals to U.C.'s one. The checking was much harder than in the first period and U.C. were held in their own end a great part of the time. Sloppy ballhandling on U.C.'s part and Ted Beaton's hard rushes were responsible for the scoring. Byrne again shone for the Red and White, while Ken Firman handled the U.C. attempts with ease in the Meds nets.

Short Scuffle

A short scuffle occurred in the third stanza when Byrne came out of his net to recover a loose ball and was rushed by two Meds players. The play ended in a six man pile-up in the U.C. crease, but no penalties were issued. In this period Meds were hampered by two offside penalties within two minutes, but held U.C. to one goal. Beaton and Hetherington led the Doctors' attack which led to two goals. Frank Chambers, sturdy U.C. captain blasted one past Firman after several fruitless rushes. Raymond also notched one in this period on a very pretty solo effort. Both teams were playing 'rough' ball as the horn sounded to end the period.

Excellent Goal-Tending

Meds put three more past Byrne in the final period, while U.C. were unable to score. Meds were going all out in an effort to put the game on ice and the Red team were hard put to keep them off. Again it was excellent goaltending on the part of both goalies which held the scoring down. "Axe" Haliburton, starry Meds leader, who was used sparingly, regained his old form to beat Byrne on a pretty play which was disputed on the grounds that he had been in the crease when he shot. Shortly after Haliburton was injured as three men checked him at once.

Standouts of the game were the two goaltenders, Ken Firman and Pete Byrne who were making spectacular saves faster than the eye could follow. Bob Hetherington with three goals and Beaton, Moher, and Chambers with two each were the leading scorers.

The rivalry will be renewed again Friday noon when these two teams meet in the second game of this two-out-of-three series.

Line-ups:

MEDS 1: Goal, Firman; defence, Varga; centre, Haliburton; forwards, Beaton, Hetherington. Spares: Moher, Anderson, MacIlwraith, Hobson

U.C. 1: Goal, Byrne; centre, Raymond; forwards, Young, Kopsky. Spares: Chambers, Sukmanowsky, Blouin, Davis, Shepherd.

SCORING

1st Period

U.C.—Young 1 00
Meds—Anderson 5 00

2nd Period

Meds—Hetherington 1 00
Meds—Moher 5 00
U.C.—Chambers 6 00
Meds—Beaton 7 30

3rd Period

U.C.—Raymond 2 00
Meds—Hetherington 4 00
Meds—Beaton 5 00
U.C.—Chambers 6 00

4th Period

Meds—Haliburton 1 00
Meds—Hetherington 4 00
Meds—Moher 45 00
Meds—MacIlwraith 6 00

Referees—Joe Prendergast (St. Ray Hastings (Vic).

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

"Hello, hello. . . . May I speak to Mr. Masterson, please? Yes, I will. . . Ah yes, . . . hello Bob, how are you? This is Zip Newsman of the Timbuctoo Recorder-Inquirer-Post-Expositor. . . . Oh I'm fine, thanks, yes, yes, the kids are all fine. . . . No, little Billy isn't old enough to play as yet, ha, ha. . . . Yes, I'll let you know the minute he turns seventeen. Ah, Bob, I'd like to get a line on your 1950 edition of the Big Blues . . . I beg your pardon? Ah! Ah! Bob, swearing under your breath is just as bad as swearing openly! . . . Oh hold it a minute, Bob. . . . Will you guys shut up with those %$-$X!!-&?-?-& typewriters!!! I'm getting an interview.

"Well, Bob, let's have the dope. . . . What's that, Bob? Dopes is right? What makes you say that? . . . Oh, well anyhow, Bob, who will you have in the backfield this year? Hold it a minute till I get my pencil . . . now what was that? Joan Eddis? Is that John? No? Okay, go ahead. Running half . . . yes, I got it, Elephant-Legs Johnson. . . . Say, just a second, wasn't "Lightning" Jack Tyndall supposed to come to Varsity this year? . . . Oh, went to Western, huh? Needed money, huh? Gee, too bad. Oh well, one man doesn't make a backfield.

"Who's your plunging half? . . . Feather Follinsby of second year Occupational Therapy, eh? Say. I thought only girls took that course. . . . Oh. Well, teams have won without plunging before. But what ever happened to Murdering Magurski? Wasn't he in fifth at U.T.S.? Western, huh? Needed money, huh? Well, Bob, have you anybody from last year's team? Two flunked out, eh? And the third went to McGill because Sid wouldn't give him a bursary? Gee, that's too bad.

"Well anyhow, Bob, you've still got that tremendous passer from Central Tech . . . oh, what's his name . . . yes, I've got it — that kid they call Hawk-eye Young. Oh, his father works for a living too, eh? Yeah, Metras will have a good passing attack, but who's your replacement? Oh, you've got two of them. . . . Say, that's good. Who are they? . . . Just a minute, wait till I get this down. Will you spell that, please? . . . W-e-a-k-e-y-e-s Jones and what was that? . . . Butter? . . . Yeah, as in Grade A butter. . . . Fingers? . . . Yeah, I got it — Butterfingers Smith. They're well named, et, Bob? Too bad. But what the heck, Bob, a good line can stand off a good backfield? How about it? Okay, let 'er rip. . . . Snap — Joe Shlunck the Midget . . . weighs 24 pounds What was that? . . . Two hundred and twenty-four? Oh . . . just twenty-four, eh? . . . Insides — "Skinny" Margaret Watson and Tiny James of the School of Nursing. . . . Two more girls, eh, Bob? I thought for sure your club would be strong at guard with Bulldozer Brakowitz and Terrible Tyler coming out of Parkdale Collegiate.

"How was that? You say they thought they'd rather ride around the Western campus than walk around the

(Continued on Page 7)

Sportswoman

Volleyball, swimming, basketball and badminton are the sports of this week. Although there was some snow, the rain and warm weather seem to have washed out skiing.

To-day is the last chance for anyone who wants some practice in volleyball officiating in preparation for the games after Christmas. This will be at 2:00 in the LM building.

Basketball Finals

St. Mike's A basketball team comes up against UC Sr-Jr A's tonight in Hart House for the final hoopla tilt for the year. This game decides the winner of the Intramural Championship. Also fighting it out for third and fourth places are UC Freshies and Meds.

Try-outs

Try-outs for the intercollegiate basketball team will start on Tuesday at 5:30 at OCE. Mickey Barnett is coaching the team this year and anyone is eligible. Since Varsity took the championship last year, they will defend their title for the 1949-50 season.

Badminton

Faculty badminton tournaments are starting this week, with the object of finishing before Christmas as intramural championships will begin in the early part of January.

Scribes Select All-Stars Vic Dominates 1st Team

FIRST TEAM	POSITION	SECOND TEAM
Bruce Miles (UC)	Flying Wing	Phil Austin (For)
Bob Rumball (Vic)	Half	Bob Adair (SPS)
Gerry Washington (SMC)	Half	Harry Damp (Vic)
Paul Masterson (For)	Half	Al Varga (Meds)
Tony Adams (SMC)	Quarter	Paul Valenti (SPS)
Jim Rogers (Vic)	Centre	Norm Firth (SPS)
Bud Brennan (SMC)	Inside	John Rickaby (SPS)
Brad Colbert (Vic)	Inside	Phil Rosen (Meds)
Vince Magnus (For)	Middle	Dugan (UC)
Gerry Hill (Vic)	Middle	Freeland (Meds)
John Anderson (Vic)	Outside	Bill Ross (SMC)
Brent Rowe (SPS)	Outside	Fred Clarke (For)
Lou Barnes (SMC)	Coach	Lew Fick (Vic)
Bob Dnieper	Water-Boy	Stan Fillmore

Victoria College this year's Mulock Mug winners dominated the first string of The Varsity's all-star selections. They placed five men on the team, four linemen and one back. St. Mike's, ex-champs, managed to place three players and their coach, Lou Barnes. Forestry grabbed two spots and Sr. SPS won the remaining niche.

The second team found SPS with four men, Meds three, Forestry UC one, St. Mike's one and Vic with one and their freshmen coach Lew Fick.

Hockey Results

In intramural hockey Forestry "B" took a decisive 6-1 decision from SPS fifths. Thomson, Kaye, Anderson, Boake, Wilson and Gregory all contributed to the victory. Morish was the lone Skule scorer.

St. Mike's "B" edged UC fourths 2-1 in another hockey session, Rodden and Milne doing the goal-getting for the winners. Gilpin tallied for UC.

In the 5 p.m. ice game Emmanuel topped Wycliffe 2-1, Lougheed and Willis doing the honors for Emmanuel while Lemon got the only Wycliffe goal.

FAUST

Scene from Goethe's Faust and singing will be presented by the versity German Club at 8 p.m. Dec. 8, in Carlwright Hall, College This performance in connection with the Goethe Bicentenary and will be the only presentation the campus. All persons interested are invited to attend.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Sunny and Cool

VOL. LXIX, NO. 51 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Friday, December 2, 1949

Official Opening Of Wallberg Today

Alexander Arrives Today To Open Wallberg Building

The first step in the University's building program will be completed today at 3 p.m. when the Wallberg Memorial Building will be officially opened by His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada. The building, designed to meet the urgent needs of the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, represents five years of planning and building and at a cost of $4,000,000.

Named in honor of Emil Andrew Wallberg, one of aCnada's eminent engineers, the building was made possible by his sister Ida Marie, who left her entire estate, originally bequeathed to her by her brother, to the University in his memory.

Incorporates Latest Innovations

Plans for the building were begun in 1944 when representatives from the departments of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, from the superintendent's office and from the architects toured the continent to see similar buildings with the view of incorporating all the latest innovations available for the Wallberg Building.

The exterior of the building presents a clean, almost austere facade, in keeping with the functional purpose for which it was designed. The interior however shows scant suggestion of austerity in its coloured, glazed, ceramic tile walls, its terazzo floors in the corridors, and its mastic tiled laboratories.

However it is the functional innovations that render it unique on the campus. Hollow walls on both sides of the central corridor carry all the plumbing, ventilating and electrical facilities including hot and cold water, gas, steam, air, distilled water, 60 cycle, 25 cycle and D.C. current. Doors at frequent intervals along the walls provide easy access for repairs and maintenance. Washed and filtered air is supplied to the

(Continued on Page 7)

WALLBERG OPENING AND LECTURE SERIES

Today, 3:00 p.m. His Excellency the Governor General of Canada will formally open the Wallberg Memorial Building.

Saturday, 9:30 a.m. Dr. G. G. Brown, University of Michigan, will lecture on "Equilibrium Relationships of Complex Hydrocarbon Systems" Room 1035 Wallberg Building.

11:00 a.m. Dr. F. S. Dainton, St. Catherine's College, Cambridge, will lecture on "Rates, Heats and Entropies of Polmerization" Room 1035, Wallberg building.

Hart House Hams Get Daily Lessons In Radio Theory

Cliff Brown, Director of Studies of the Hart House Amateur Radio Club, reports that an extensive schedule of classes in code and radio theory is now in operation. Planned to assist beginners in obtaining their operators' licenses from the Department of Transport, instruction is given every day of the week in the Debates Anteroom at hours to suit the convenience of the members. Each of four groups spends two hours on code and one hour on theory weekly. An advanced code class meets for an hour Wednesday afternoons.

An open meeting with a guest speaker is planned for the second week of January. It is hoped that this will be of wide and general interest to the Ham fraternity.

Operation of the club's station is still being delayed by difficulty in finding suitable quarters on the campus, the executive's chief current headache.

A small browsing library of radio periodicals and handbooks is being arranged at the Debates Ante-room. All interested Hart House members may obtain full details from the Graduate Secretary's Office.

Plays Despite Ruling; Special Council Hearing

Vancouver, Dec. 2 — (CUP) — A UBC athlete may be fined, possibly suspended, by the Student Council of UBC. The case of an undergrad hockey player, who has been playing on outside teams without permission of the athletic committee, after being given special hearing. The player has not asked the committee for permission to play, in accordance with a by-law of the governing body, and has persisted in continuing to play despite official warning. Permission is usually given in most cases.

Dating Not Sex But Just A Game Says Carpenter

Dating in modern society should not be a matter of sex, but should be merely a game was the claim of Professor Carpenter of the Anthropology Department last night at the meeting of the Junior Philosophy Club in Wymilwood. The discussion which followed the address had the active participation of an overflow audience.

Dating, the most singular activity in modern society, can be compared to a game of chess Carpenter claimed. The first move, or gamble, must be made by the male member of the date. Each successive movement must then be a counter-movement by each party. There is, however, one difficulty in using this comparison—there must be no loser.

The elaborate structure of modern society sets up the dating system as a means of obtaining social prestige and increasing personal enhancement, said Carpenter. For females, the object of dating is to have the most competitors; while for the males the object is to date the local belle.

In the dating system there are several qualifications which each participant must have. The male should be somewhat of a conversationalist and his conversation should contain autobiographical outlines, wit, humor, and a "line". The girls'

(Continued on Page 5)

Christians Must Respect Personality, Values

"There are two types of success open to the University graduate," said Dr. T. G. Tatham, Associate Professor of Geography, speaking on "The Meaning of Success" in the Debates Room yesterday. "The two types are the materialist, which is very spectacular, and the Christian, not so spectacular, but more valuable in the end."

In our society we tend to use materialistic measures of success, often basing our actions on a relativity of values, he said. But these standards are found wanting in times of stress, as was illustrated in the case of the millionaire who lost his fortune during the depression. He turned to Christianity. Years later he built up another prosperous business. In his office he had two chairs, one for himself, and one for his silent partner—"God."

The Christian principle is to respect personality. We, as Christians, go out into the world with a set of values. But at times it seems that we are living in a pagan society. It is estimated in England that as far as religion is concerned 10% of the people are affected, 10% are hostile and 80% are indifferent.

Opposed to the Christian point of view is that of the sceptics, who say if you don't use the scientific method you have nothing. They would view the parable of the boy with the five loaves and three fishes as absurd. To them the easy way out would be for the boy to hide in the bushes, eat the food and feel sorry for the five thousand who were hungry.

UWO Won't Quit Stays In NFCUS Executive Reports

Reports that the University of Western Ontario may withdraw from the National Federation of Canadian University students are false, Paul Desmarais, NFCUS vice-president for Ontario has informed Toronto NFCUS President Tom Symons.

All a Misunderstanding

Symons, after a meeting last night of the local NFCUS committee, showed a letter from Desmarais commenting on an article printed in the Western Gazette on November 18. In the article the Gazette reported that "Western students may withdraw from the National Federation of Canadian University Students," and possibly from ISS.

Desmarais wrote: "Matter of Western cleared up. Bill Downe (president of Western's University Student Council) assures me that the whole thing is a misunderstanding. Story in Western's Gazette is false."

The article in the Gazette emphasized that any withdrawal from NFCUS and ISS would be only because of financial difficulties. In the article it was reported Bill Downe "stressed that clarification" of Western's financial obligations to NFCUS was needed.

Investigated Situation

Toronto NFCUS Committee President Tom Symons said last night that Paul Desmarais made an investigation of the situation at Western because his position as Ontario vice-president in the NFCUS national executive gives him general supervision of NFCUS affairs in this province.

50 Canadians Attend M.I.T. No Limitations

Attending the opening ceremonies for the new Wallberg Memorial Building, Dr. Thomas Kilgour Sherwood, Sc.D., Dean of Engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology addressed a representative gathering of scientists and graduate students here yesterday. The subject was "The Relationships Between Heat Transfer, Mass Transfer and Fluid Friction in Turbulent Flow."

Points Out Correlations

Dr. Sherwood pointed out the remarkable correlations which exist in a physical and mathematical sense to bring such diverse processes as the transfer of heat, of mass and of momentum together. In illustrating his concepts the problem was discussed in relation to flow through a smooth circular pipe and references were made to earlier work done on the subject.

In connection with this earlier work Dr. Sherwood particularly emphasized the fact that contributors to this field were truly international. The principal group included German, French, Canadian, Russian as well as American representatives. "Unlike their claims in genetics the Russian experiments in this field seem remarkably accurate," said Dr. Sherwood with a smile.

Incomplete Data

In closing his address he emphasized the incompleteness of the data available on the subject and pointed out how, as often happens, research forges ahead in a line of work and then finds it is necessary to go back and study the fundamentals.

In a private interview at the end of the lecture Dr. Sherwood revealed that he was a graduate of McGill

(Continued on Page 6)

CORRECTION

Yesterday's picture on Daffydil Night was erroneously credited to Walt McKenzie. It should have read, J. Osbaldeston, IV Meds.

Social Activities Taxing Students Asserts Kuvisko

"Resolved that All-Varsity social activities are detrimental to college interests" will be the subject at the next meeting of the Victoria College Debating Parliament on Monday at 4 p.m. in the Co-Ed Common Room. SAC President Bob Hetherington will be the guest speaker opposing the motion.

VCU President Stan Kurisko will speak for the motion with George Slater, III Phil. "The question is a very vital one on the campus today," said Kurisko. "We feel that the pressure of extra-curricular activities, particularly the social, which have increased in number for the past few years, is overtaxing the students. This has reached a climax with the entry of All-Varsity social events. There is no doubt about the detrimental

(Continued on Page 6)

Quit Your Ogling, Junior Those Are Engineerettes

Take a closer look boys, if you should happen to see a girl walking around these parts in what looks like nothing on earth. In fact, nothing!

There is a story behind this illusion . . . not very interesting, but here it is:

The boys from down at the south end of the campus had a show this f ll, and having a great lack of feminine pulchritude, they were forced to get some women from one of the arts colleges.

One in particular, for they had to represent Lady Godiva, and not having a co-ed of their own to take the part, and sort of hesitant about using one of those king-size engineers, they called on Agnes Partnoff.

She was willing, so now they feel they owe her something more than a square meal (which was included in the party) so they gave her something to remind her of the part.

Merv Couse, stage manager of the Show held out apparently empty hands to Miss Partnoff, and announced that because of her performance in Skule Nite he had the honor of presenting her with a costume that would hold memories of the part.

The prize? A cellophane skirt and blouse.

Then one of the committee struggled up to the head table bearing a huge carton. Although the box he was carrying was more than twice as large as the person carrying it, there seemed to be almost no effort in holding it.

To Jacqueline LaPrairie, Couse presented one carton of special balloons. This too was in keeping, he said, with the part she had in her stage career . . . bubble dancer.

There were sweaters of a brilliant hue for the three girls emblazoned across the front with 'Engineerettes'. Along with these there were certifi-

(Continued on Page 5)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI. 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A M & D Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Dave Butters
ASSISTANTS: Ian Montagnes, Kathlyn Smith

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1949

Thin Edge Of The Wedge

This week seems to be resurrection week—at least so far as two hitherto-dormant committees of the Students' Administrative Council are concerned.

We asked questions last week about the Students' Union committee. Wednesday, a meeting of this committee was held. We are happy about this.

We are happier still about news this week that the Caput-SAC Liaison Committee is to hold a meeting sometime this month. This will be the first meeting of the liaison committee since its formation. Since the group was approved on September 28, and the members appointed on October 12, we had been becoming anxious about the long silence.

This Caput-SAC liaison group is to deal with matters of administration on the campus. While it will have no final say, it is empowered to present recommendations to the Caput itself. Questions like the banning of beauty contests and loudspeakers from the campus, and the more pertinent question now of parking space, are Caput-rendered regulations.

The Caput-SAC Liaison Committee is composed of ten members. Five of these are members of the Caput. The other five are members of the Students' Administrative Council. We are not so happy about the five SAC representatives.

Of the five SAC representatives—the "student" part of the Caput-students' liaison—only two are bona fide students. These are the president and the vice-president of the SAC. A third member is to be a faculty representative to the SAC. The other two are permanent SAC officials, the secretary-treasurer and the associate secretary.

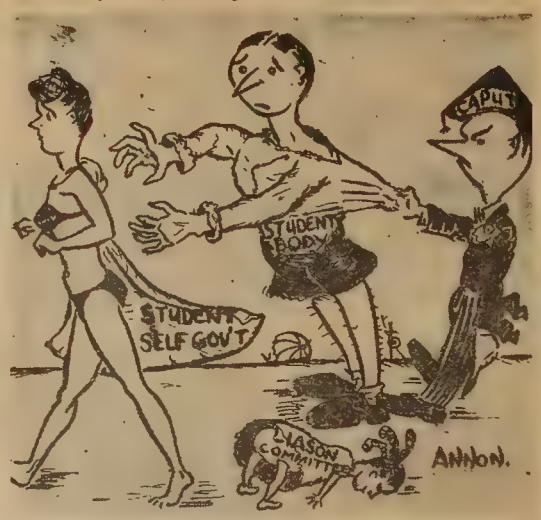
According to the SAC Constitution, Article IV, the status of these officials is:

SUB-SECTION 3. "The secretary-treasurer . . . shall be a male graduate of the University of Toronto appointed by the Board of Governors on the nomination of the President of the University after consultation with the Council, and who shall not have a vote on the Council," and

SUB-SECTION 4. "The associate secretary shall be a woman graduate of the University of Toronto . . . (appointed and chosen under the identical conditions)."

The Caput (referring to the University of Toronto Act, 1947, section 71), is composed of the President as chairman, and includes the heads and deans of all faculties and colleges, and the Warden of Hart House.

Since the third member of the five SAC reps on the liaison group is to be a faculty representative to the Council, the odds seem to be 8-2 for the administration. Far from getting equitable representation, as the idea of five members of the Caput to five members of the Students' Administrative Council would suggest, the students seem to be getting the short end of the stick.



In February, 1947, the SAC asked for two non-voting student representatives on the Caput. If this measure had been adopted, with the accompanying measure of a "formation of a joint committee of staff and students to discuss all questions referring to students which normally come before the Caput," then students would have had an opportunity to voice their feelings at the source of campus administration.

The present liaison committee is at best an emasculated compromise. It can only recommend to the Caput which still retains its over-all autocracy on student administration. And when the disproportionate student representation on the liaison group is considered, perhaps it is understandable that we are doubtful about the value of this committee.

But, the important thing right now is that the liaison committee has at least been stirred into activity.

It seems unduly optimistic to call the relatively minor student representation on the Liaison Committee the thin edge of the wedge. But we hope, no matter how small or thin the wedge may be, it will make itself felt.

"No, No, Play With This One"

Hang The Review!!

"A show comprised of contemporary artists, British, American, and French, is now hanging in the Art Gallery of Toronto."

♣ ♣ ♣

A total of ten artists were seen hanging in the Toronto museum, and it was quite a show. The usual art enthusiasts were at the show which was rated as nothing extra special in art circles.

Artists are always known by those who know to be queer people, did look a little silly hanging in the art gallery, but what better place to hang an artist? Many art critics were on hand to see the hanging of some of the artists they personally would have liked to hang.

Said July Bridle, Toronto Star art critic: "Never have I seen a showing with so much reality. The racial expressions of some of the hangers was something that lacked life, but they had that painted expression that has become a part of the average artist."

Mr. Robert Motherwell didn't look at all well, just hanging there, swinging pendulum-like to and fro, and then fro and to.

Mr. Jackson Pollock hung with his tongue out. But these are the bad manners one expects from an abstractionist.

And Mr. W. Stanley Hayter; he just seemed to hate everybody with that rope around his neck.

The city council, of course, had to comment on the show. Said Controller Ballfire: "They should have hung those artists long ago. They paint indecent things such as nudes that look like umbrellas and such. No, I have never been to the art gallery, and never will."

Mayor Hiram McPhirum, he who gave up the TTC for the benefit of the city, said: "It is indeed a move towards better inter-world relations to have artists of all different countries hanging side by side. More and more hangings for Toronto."

The Varsity Art, Music and Drama representative at the show left hurriedly, saying: "I don't want to be caught hanging around here.

Harpo

CARLETON IN NFCUS

Ottawa, Nov. 28—(CUP)—Carleton College has been officially accepted into the ranks of NFCUS. It is the second Ottawa university to join the federation. NFCUS is now 60,000 strong.

Terse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

Last week, in our class learning Russian,
We had a most violent discussion
Over what was the plural
Third person of 'Ural'—
I got out of there with concussion.

Readers Write

Replies to Mikemen

Editor, The Varsity:

The letter in Thursday's Varsity (Dec. 1) signed by seven students of St. Mike's mentions the fact that the Varsity Editorial of Nov. 28th did not state why I was under a temporary ban from the U.S. Furthermore this letter stated "Apparently it must have been for a good reason because all other law-abiding citizens in the group did cross the border."

On Sept. 14th, after a frank hour and a half conversation with two U.S. Immigration officers in Toronto, in which I was thoroughly probed as to my religious, political and social tendencies, and had satisfied my questioners that I am a Christian student studying for the ministry; further that I am not a Communist, and have never attended a Communist party meeting in

(Continued on Page 4)

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢ DAILY DOUBLE

A WEST INDIAN PARTY

West Indians and their friends are cordially invited to a party in the JUNIOR COMMON ROOM, U.C., on FRIDAY, EVENING, DECEMBER 2nd

Come and have fun. There will be mirth, merriment and calypsos. Dancing 8:30 p.m.

ADMISSION: 50c

All Varsity Mixed Chorus
Rehearsal
SUNDAY 7 P.M.
CONVOCATION HALL

U. of T. SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
Rehearsal
SUNDAY 8 P.M.
CONVOCATION HALL

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

GREAT HALL
Early closing at dinner tonight—6 p.m. A dinner at which the Governor-General will be present will begin in the Great Hall following the opening of the Wallberg Memorial Building. The Board of Stewards have given approval to the closing of the Great Hall at the above time, in order that this special dinner may be served.

SING SONG
There will be a sing song in the East Common Room at 1.30 this afternoon.

CAMERA CLUB
The third in a series of noon-hour movies will take place in the Club Rooms on Wednesday, 7th December at 1.20 p.m. All members of the club are invited to attend.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT
The concert to be given on Sunday evening next, 4th December, will be under the direction of the St. Mary Magdalene Singers, conducted by Dr. Healey Willan.

LEE ROOM
The Lee Collection (medieval and renaissance works of art) will be open to members of Hart House on Wednesdays from 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. The general public will be admitted on Visitors' Day (the last Snday in each month) between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

THE VARSITY

Friday, December 2, 1949 — THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO — Page Three

Ye Olde England

Above is a scene from Monarch Productions color-movie drama at Casa Loma which shows Captain of the Guard John Armour, III SPS, presenting scroll delivered by Royal Herald Ron Toy, IV SPS, to Knights, left to right behind table, John Herron IV Trinity; Gord Macpherson; Jeff Norman, III Trinity. Looking on is Bill Duncan, I SPS. Indoor scenes of film will be made later on the campus.

Kiwanis Loans Casa Loma To Varsity Cinema Group

By FRASER FAIRLIE

"Ready, action, camera!" With these words "Monarch Productions," an independent group of University Cinema addicts recently commenced work on their latest 16 millimetre colour movie drama at Casa Loma.

Location At The Castle

Considering Canada's famous Castle, a perfect place to make a Mediaeval "period" picture, members of the group recently wrote a script full of swashbuckling action, romance, lust and excitement. Then they approached the Kiwanis Club which has charge of Casa Loma for permission to use the terrace and towers as a location for the exterior shots of the new epic.

They were elated when they found that the Kiwanis fell in wholeheartedly with the idea, and plans got underway at once to film the exterior scenes of the picture during the Fall week-ends, this year.

Shoot Canadian Travelogues

Thus was to be Monarch Productions' third drama in their four year history, which has also included the production of more than half a dozen travelogues on well-known Canadian topics. All these films are shown regularly in the usual 16 millimetre outlets, namely, private homes, churches, socials, and public halls, in fact anywhere other than the professional theatre.

The nucleus of this organization, a Board of Governors of up to ten members, at once saw the tremendous task that lay before them and met to discuss the best ways of tackling the production of a Canadian "de Mille type" extravaganza.

Armour And Weapons Loaned

Having solved the problem of obtaining a suitable background for the picture, the other main question was that of costuming. Operating on a shoestring budget, Monarch was in no position to finance the outfitting of up to 40 knights, 'soldiers, peasants' and ladies-in-waiting in styles prevalent in the year 1346 A.D. But again the hand of providence was in their favour. Mr. Brownlow Card, President of the Canadian Drama League had heard of this ambitious student project, and his costume company came through with the loan of over $1,000 worth of Mediaeval chain mail, imported from Germany, as well as tunics, swords, spears and gowns, for the duration of the filming of the picture.

The next thing before actual shooting began was the casting of the principal parts from amongst interested members and other Varsity students.

Skuleman Male Lead

Bill Duncan, I SPS, a regular performer in Monarch films got the coveted male lead opposite beautiful Joan Machell, II Trinity, also a regular. The exacting part of Eric, the father, the Knight, who went to Gord Macpherson, one of Monarch's most talented actors, who hopes to attend Trinity next year. Other Trinity men with major parts are Jeff Norman, John Herron, Don Sprague and Fraser Fairlie.

Owen Jones, now in post graduate studies, and director of the film, was cast as the wicked villain, aided and abetted by such skulemen as Bert Maxwell and cousins John and Dave Armour.

Ladies attendant upon Miss Machell, the heroine, include (1) Barb Piper, II U.C.; (2) Debbie Turnbull, II Vic., who appeared in Vic's "All My Sons", and (3) newcomer Charny Robinson (2nd year O.T.)

Extras Expendable

Those important parts of guards, soldiers, and peasants, which Cinemabographers call 'Extras' have been filled by almost two dozen other students, who come out from time to time and fight each other in Mediaeval Armour 'just for the heck of it'. Notable amongst these die-hards are Chuck Galloway, Dick Houston, and John Griffiths, who said recently 'last Saturday at the Castle I got killed at least six times!"

Amid a good deal of fun, Monarch Productions sincerely believes that there is lots of talent in Canada, and that all that needs to be done is for interested people to develop it.

With the winter coming upon us, the camera crew will be moving 'their Bolex 16' indoors, for the shooting of the interior sequences of the picture, and a 'Typically Mediaeval' location is being looked

(Continued on Page 4)

Indifference To I.S.S. Makes Editor Bitter

A slight tone of bitterness was noted in the editorial column of The Manitoban, undergrad newspaper of the University of Manitoba, today. The editorial was headed "Next week is International Student Week." There followed a full column of blank space. Across the bottom of the column appeared, "So what? You wouldn't have read it anyway."

WHAT'S ON TODAY

U.C. RECORD HOUR

Irene Shubik will give a record hour on Respigi, Scarlatti and Vivaldi, in the Women's Union at 4.30.

Ultra-Violet Light, Radiation, Discussed

Ultra-violet light has a very definite effect in the development of cancer, said Professor Blum of the National Cancer Institute in the United States in a lecture here Tuesday. Professor Blum who is on the staff at Princeton University, lectured on "Ultra-violet Light and Radiation." The lecture was the first in a series of four sponsored by the School of Graduate studies.

Experiments with white rats which are still in an early stage have indicated the effects of ultra-violet light on cancer, the professor said. He pointed out that this is most frequent in exposed areas of the skin. Ultra-violet light effects were first observed among vineyard workers in France who became infected on the arms and hands, Professor Blum stated.

There are numerous unfounded beliefs concerning cancer, he declared. One popular misconception is that cancer is more common in blondes than in brunettes; the professor said that experiment does not corroborate this belief.

The speaker remarked that it is uncertain what happens in the early stages of cancer since it is impossible to observe the tumor in its early stages.

"Canadian Writers Lack Nationalism" MacmillanManager

"No Canadian writer in 1950 will live off the royalties of books published in 1949" stated Mr. Gray, Managing Director of the Macmillan Company of Canada during the library discussion last night.

Talent Lost

He stated that of about 65 major publishers in Canada only twenty publish the works of Canadian authors at all, and that as a result many promising writers are emigrating to the U.S., only to turn out slick-magazine pieces and second-rate material, although almost all authors of any current stature are managing to stay here.

Continuing, he deplored the lack of any sense of nationalism in the majority of Canadian authors, but said that this is in part due to the fact that their works are slanted so as to sell on the American or British markets, because of the public apathy towards books in Canada. As a result of this slanting the books often lack unity and become second-rate, he said.

Writers Discouraged

Mr. Gray said that he felt that our national frontier and Puritanical mentality tended to discourage aspiring writers. He cited as an example of this narrow-mindedness the attitude of the school boards of all but two provinces who refused to place McLennan's book "Barometer Rising" on the high-school course in their respective provinces for reasons ranging from apparent sheer inertia to a statement that, "It's sinful". He seemed more pleased with this last reaction than the majority of replies in that it at least showed a positive attitude rather than the apathetic lukewarm attitude generally found.

Dedicated Life

He also deplored the fact that

(Continued on Page 4)

Public Profits If Engineers In Parliament

Mr. J. M. Breen, speaking to the local E.I.C., said that Engineers should take a greater interest in public affairs because it is for the good of the public that they should be parliamentary representatives and members of public commissions.

He continued, saying that we are approaching a time when enterprise is being stifled by increasing taxes. An engineer takes into account what can happen and adds a safety factor whereas some of the economists, particularly the socialist type, do not realize that when they do something such as the nationalizing of industries that it will have a great outside effect. For example, the drying up of funds for investment and the lack of incentive derived from the desire to work cheaper and save more on production.

Social Improvement Coming

The coming century should show the same advancement in social improvement as the last has shown in industrial development. The same group who have led the industrial

(Continued on Page 5)

Will Conduct St. Mary Magdalene Choir

Dr. Healey Willan, organist and choir master at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene will conduct the St. Mary Magdalene singers Dec. 4 at 9 p.m. in the Great Hall in Hart House for the closing Sunday evening concert of the term. Dr. Willan, university organist and professor in the Faculty of Music will lead his choir in a programme of Christmas carols and liturgical music from past centuries.

Victoria Graduating Class

Please check notice board at Vic as to whether your graduation portraits are finished and what day they may be called for at the V.C.U. Office.

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

Wed. 5 O'Clock

The opening concert of the Royal Conservatory's "Wednesday Five O'Clocks" series will be given next Wednesday, December 7, in the Royal Conservatory Concert Hall by the Parlow String Quartet.

The Quartet, whose members are Kathleen Parlow, Samuel Hersenhoren, Stanley Solomon, and Cornelius Ysselstyn, was organized in 1943 and has gained a distinguished reputation throughout Canada for its many concert and radio performances. Miss Parlow, Canadian-born virtuoso, pupil of the great Leopold Auer, and teacher of many leading violinists, devotes a large part of her busy schedule to rehearsing the masterworks of chamber music with her colleagues, all of them well-known instrumentalists, and the group's annual appearances in the Conservatory's chamber music concerts have become a very special part of the city's musical activity.

On Wednesday the Quartet will play the Mozart D major Quartet (K499) and the Brahms G major Quintet (Opus 111), the latter with Ross Lechow, violinist, assisting.

Art Gallery

The J. S. McLean Collection of paintings, as represented in the Hart House Art Gallery, gives an unbalanced picture of modern art. The emphasis is given to crude, harsh representations which have little pictorial value, although there are some exceptions.

A. Y. Jackson's "Laurentian Hills" is a study in composition and linear pattern, but it says little or nothing. Vague, and less pleasing, is Henry Masson's "Country Dance" with its glaring mixture of darkness and brilliant colour. We pass to Emily Carr's "Landscape" and rhythm without reason. As a study of the Aurora Borealis, this might be acceptable.

It was with relief that we found J. E. H. MacDonald's "The Lake, October Evening." This is a rich, sombre study of a romantic yet unreal world which still manages to be a scene and recognizable as such.

"Naval Trainee Rating" is a study which catches eye. Pegi Nicol has used bright, unnatural colour, but this strong, sure lineation is worth pausing over. It is an expression of strength in repose, an impression at once clear and sturdy.

Carl Schaefer's watercolour landscapes are more subtle, the most appealing work in the exhibition. Rhythm and pattern are well controlled. "Storm over the Fields" with its delicate colour and bold contrast of sunlight and storm clouds is the result of varied brushwork capably handled. From any viewpoint, this work is satisfying. "First Snow, White River" is a sharp yet pleasant contrast. A. J. Casson has caught the warmth, movement and exhilaration of Indian Summer. The overall effect of this oil is of dancing flames, green, red, orange and yellow, conventional yet alive.

David Milne's "Flowers" is another matter. Mr. Milne is an individualist with his own technique, a technique which must grow on one. His poppies in their tin can have a rice-paper texture, carefully described with fading, blotting shades of orange, red and black on a white base which is an integral part of the whole.

At this point, we have the nightmarish memory of a tea table cluttered with a medley of incongrous objects painted in raw, conflicting colours vieing for attention with a plate of very dead fish, but where the exhibit is good it is very, very good.

G. Bell

Kiwanis Loans

(Continued from Page 3)

for now in some of the University buildings.

Premiere On Campus

Monarch Productions hopes to complete its Medieval film in the spring, with the return of the leaves and sunshine, and naturally is planning to hold its "world premiere" on the Campus!

There are other plans afoot, too, for the filming of other pictures at the University in the future, and what started out as an independent group 4 years ago, may associate with the established Campus Society and become a permanent fixture for the further cinematic expression of Canadian culture.

Canadian Writers

(Continued from Page 3)

the status of the author in Canada is generally low as he is regarded by the public in general as an individual looking for a way to avoid work, whereas actually an author must lead "a dedicated life" in order to succeed. He cited this lack of understanding and the lack of any financial award as the prime deterrent to creative writing in Canada.

Canada Has Writers

Finally he stated that "people must be made aware" of the fact that "a national literature has something to contribute to national life" and that Canada has a literature worthy of inclusion in the senior matriculation course. He feels very strongly that our eight million thinly scattered literature population should be made aware of this fact.

Our Readers Write

(Continued from Page 2)

my life, I was advised that I had been "temporarily excluded from the U.S. . . . as a person whose entry is deemed to be prejudicial to the public interests of the U.S." There was no reason given for this act, but I was assured that it did not imply that I was considered by them to be subversive.

On Oct. 24th President Truman, speaking at Lake Success on behalf of the American people at the UN cornerstone ceremonies, said: "We are deeply conscious of the honor of having the Permanent Headquarters of the U.N. in this country. At the same time, we know how important it is that the people of other nations should come to know at first hand the work of this world organization. . . . If the people of the world are to live together in peace, we must work together to establish the conditions that will provide a firm foundation for peace. For this reason, our success will also be measured by the extent to which the rights of individual human beings are realized. . . . The Member nations have learned . . . that disregard of human rights is the beginning of tyranny and, too often, the beginning of war."

The contradiction between these two points of view is characteristic of the U.S. today. On one level is a profestation of the traditional concepts of American freedom and democracy. On the other level is a subtle discrediting of truly democratic sentiment arising among sincere and dedicated citizens by means of anti-American insinuations, charges of disloyalty and public denunciations. This inconsistency is depriving people of one of democracy's basic tenets, the freedom of thought, simply because thinking people are becoming too mixed-up to think. I feel that these students from St. Mike's are suffering from this confusion. With which would they be more likely to agree, the above quoted words of Truman which so beautifully state the obvious but don't necessarily pan out in actuality, or these words: "Any people anywhere, being inclined and having the power, have the right to rise up and shake off the existing government, and form a new one that suits them better. This is a most valuable, a most sacred right—a right which we hope and believe is to liberate the world. . . . It is a quality of revolution not to go by the old lines or old laws, but to break up both and make new ones."? These were spoken on January 12, 1848, in the American House of Representatives by Abraham Lincoln. I am sure that had this statesman been at the helm of the U.S. today, I should now be peacefully studying in Boston University School of Theology, taking week-end jaunts to the U.N., and you should never have heard of me.

OMAR WALMSLEY
II Emmanuel.

STARTING TO-DAY

SPECIAL STUDENT ADMISSION
DAILY TO 6.00 P.M. (SAT. 5.00 P.M.)
Please present your ATL card
35c Inc. Tax

UNIVERSITY
FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE
BLOOR ST. WEST NEAR BAY

Thirst Knows No Season

496X

TUNE IN Every Sunday Evening
EDGAR BERGEN with CHARLIE McCARTHY
Dominion Network & CFRB - 8:00 p.m. E.S.T.

5¢

COCA-COLA LTD. — TORONTO

YOU'LL BE GLAD TOMORROW—
YOU SMOKED
PHILIP MORRIS today

E8-9C

15% Discount to Students
Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's
FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered
FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
2 STORES TO SERVE YOU
31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495
1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3649

DON'T MISS
VICTOR HERBERT'S GREATEST MUSICAL COMEDY
"THE RED MILL"
DECEMBER 5, 6, 7

Tickets on Sale in U.C. Rotunda, Hart House Box Office

Movie Review

Four Steps In The Clouds

"Four Steps in the Clouds" is the first of the Italian films we've been getting of recent years to rely on neither artiness nor ruggedness for its appeal. Consequently its apparently "outstanding success" with both cri[illegible]s and public "on the Continent, in England and in New York" is a surprise to this reviewer. My impression was rather that those who are not bored by "Steps" will enjoy it very much.

This picture could be loosely classified as romantic comedy-drama. But this alone is a misleading description. The story illustrates this much. It is rather unpleasant, but heartwarming. "Poignant" is a word abused by critics, but I believe it is the one I want.

An itinerant candy salesman living in dull urban domesticity (he's henpecked), meets unwed mother-to-be on the train. She's afraid to face farmer father alone and persuades the salesman to pose as her husband for a day. Their ruse is discovered but the salesman patches things up and then reluctantly returns to his cluttered city apartment life.

The story moves slowly and the photography is technically inferior. What, then, aside from an off-the-track subject, does this movie have? It has director Alessandro Blasetti, whose love of humanity and humorous treatment of the subject remind one of Frank Capra. He milks the story for all it's worth, pointing up minor implications and incidental emotions. He packs each scene with story-telling detail, so that in a cut from one scene to another you see at a glance the new situation. Contrasts are employed throughout. On a bus he crowds the "frame" with laughing people; in the farmhouse the room is empty except for a lone figure hunched over a game of draughts.

The other big claim is the characterization. A number of lovable, sympathetic, real individuals are portrayed realistically by a cast new to us, at least. Even Gino Cervi and Adriana Benetti who are among Italy's better known stars, have not been seen before on this continent. Both won festival awards for work in this film.

For those who are receptive this will be remembered as an experience rather than merely a movie.

D. Davidson.

Public Profits

(Continued from Page 3)

development should also lead in this new challenge.

Engineers have a natural bond with workers and are respected by labour. They can speak the same language and are therefore the best men in labour negotiations.

Lack Training In Speaking

Because of this new field for engineers, they should have an increased training in economics and public speaking. The lack of training in public speaking is one of the main reasons why engineers are not more prominent in public affairs. Engineering is the best training in straight thinking that a student can get. It is easier to list the fields that are not affected by engineering than to list the fields that are affected.

Engineers should tell the taxing authorities about the harmful depreciation allowances on equipment that have not been changed greatly despite the doubling of equipment costs. They also should do their utmost to influence a policy of sane expenditures for government in order to prevent wasting. Mr. Breen thought that Canada's financing was good, but that in good times industry should not be so heavily taxed that they cannot make a profit.

Mr. Breen is a graduate of SPS, class of '21, and was an outstanding football player during his time at Skule. After spending one year with the Department of Roadways at the City Hall, he joined the Canada Cement Company. In 1948 he was appointed Vice-President and General Manager, and the following year was made President of that company. He has a wide knowledge of business conditions across Canada as he travelled for Canada Cement for 25 years over most of the country.

Dating Not Sex

(Continued from Page 1)

part should be both yielding and rigid—yielding up to the point of actual love-play and rigid past this point. Each successive date must increase in intimacies, but actual love-play should never come into the question claimed Prof. Carpenter.

"Marriage, the ultimate end of dating, is the exception that proves the rule," said Carpenter, "because it must be based on something other than love and sex."

Quit Ogling

(Continued from Page 1)

cates of membership in the faculty of Engineering.

The show crew were entertained with skits by Jack Pulford, producer of the show, and songs by the FourFlushers, and the Three Gentlemen, Brent, Bert and Cal gave special renditions of their show numbers.

So if you see girls in cellophane, balloons, or yellow and blue Engineerettes sweaters don't jump to conclusions. It's just an aftermath of Skule Nite.

50 Canadians

(Continued from Page 1)

and had received his early education near Toronto.

Canadians At MIT

He said that Canadians, with nearly fifty students at M.I.T., excluding Canadian faculty members, represented the largest single foreign group. The dean qualified the word foreign in stating that while the Institute has a quota for foreign students Canadians were not included in that category and were admitted on an equal basis with Americans.

Failure Rate Low

Contrary to the general opinion the failure rate among M.I.T. undergrads was one of the lowest in the country. This is due, he said, to the high standards required for admission. The basic difference between the systems of teaching at Toronto and M.I.T. was the emphasis on monthly tests and quizzes instead of merely final exams.

Trend To Specialization

Asked to what extent specialization had invaded the engineering profession and whether a B.Sc. Degree was sufficient the Dean admitted that the trend was certainly towards specialization, especially in the fields of chemistry, electricity and metallurgy. He mentioned that, on the other hand, a new course in Aeronautical Engineering had just been introduced, designed specifically to avoid specialization and fit a graduate for the position of Chief Engineer.

As to the question of starting salaries for engineers, Dr. Sherwood quoted figures which indicated that our starting salaries were quite comparable.

Campus Shows

Scarlet And Gold

On Wednesday night, Victoria College presented its first annual review, the "Scarlet and Gold."

The flashing legs of a large and somewhat unwieldy chorus line predominated throughout the show, most of the skits being fairly arty productions, with little of the truly college humour that has characterised previous Vic shows.

College shows are always at their best when lampooning college life or institutions. Trotting out our sacred cows or working over the staff is really the true function of a university revue. Great college shows of the past, such as the UC Follies of 1943 and Daffydill night of three years ago were famous for their campus satires, the more serious skits being forgotten.

It is almost impossible to train a co-ed chorus to the degree of precision required to make a serious chorus routine very effective, and even then, a student audience would usually rather see a burlesque of something that is distinctive on the campus.

This was very much in evidence at the Scarlet and Gold review, when skits like the "Persian Kitten" and the in-between-scenes routines drew more applause than the more complicated efforts to which most of the show was devoted. Watching a dance spectacle or a massed chorus effort one cannot help but compare it with the line at the Casino or the Radio City Rockettes, and since artistically the comparison is usually unfavourable, the effect on the audience is not very impressive.

Only once during the review did the hilarious satire which embittered student script writers excel at, evidence itself, and this was really the high spot of the whole show. To a student who periodically transfers the bulk of his hard-earned savings to the little office where the men with the green eyeshades sit counting their hoard, it was very gratifying to see the mean, depraved, grafting soul of the accountant exposed. Perhaps in real life the accountant isn't such a bad fellow, but when he is reaching for the last of my miserably few dollars I prefer to think the worst of him. To scripters McCowan and Snider who produced "Biddle the Bursar" a big bouquet.

"Kitten" Cudmore and "Tommy" Northmore were standouts in "The Persian Kitten", in a very ably done skit based on the song of the same name.

The scenery was cleverly contrived and the costumes were simple but effective. The Victoria motif throughout left no doubt in anyone's mind that they were seeing the Scarlet and Gold. This college colour and spirit was very refreshing.

All in all the Scarlet and Gold was good entertainment; it had plenty of talent and several very good skits. It could have been much better however, and we hope that next year Victoria College will make better use of the excellent material that exists within its hoary walls.

Terry Jaeger

Christmas Employment

WOMEN STUDENTS

Employment is available with the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., part time, half or full days, until December 16 and full time December 16 to 24. Rate of pay: 60c an hour. Application forms available now in Students' Administrative Council Office, Room 62, University College and Students' Administrative Council Employment Office, Hart House. 1st day of employment, Saturday December 3rd.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

"Pardon me, Mr. Wes. Bang! May I ask to what you ascribe your phenomenal success?"

"Sure! A lot of practice—and a little 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic every day to 'check' Dry Scalp and keep my hair in position."

Vaseline HAIR TONIC

TRADE MARK

'VASELINE' IS THE REGISTERED TRADE MARK OF THE CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. CONS'D.

In A Hurry?

SAME DAY CLEANING SERVICE

AT YOUR CAMPUS STORE

633½ SPADINA

IN BY 10-OUT BY 5

CASH 'N' CARRY

(Slight Extra Charge)

FRIDAY IS NOT TOO LATE

United-De Forest

CLEANERS • DYERS

Top Scorer

From U.B.C. to Dalhousie ARROW SHIRTS, both whites and fancies, score highest with college men year after year.

Good reason, too, for Arrow's policy of finest quality, smart styling and honest value makes sense to college men.

When you need a good shirt, one that will fit well, look, wear and wash well—see your Arrow dealer. Cluett, Peabody & Company of Canada Limited.

Look for the Registered Trade Mark ARROW

ARROW SHIRTS

TIES • HANDKERCHIEFS

COMING EVENTS

FLYING CLUB

The breakfast flight by the Flying Club on Sunday to Hamilton (Mount Hope) may still have accommodation for one or two more. Contact Yves Garneau, North House or Al Heisey, HU. 0358.

✣ ✣ ✣

NEWMAN CLUB

On Sunday, Dec. 4, there will be a Communion breakfast for the faculties of Medicine, Dentistry, Engineering and Law. The following speakers will address these groups: Dr. P. McGoey, the Medical group; Dr. Keenan of Sudbury, the Dentistry group; Dr. James, eminent geologist, the Engineers; the speaker for the Osgoode group has not as yet been determined.

✣ ✣ ✣

FAUST

Scenes from Goethe's Faust and carol singing will be presented by the University German Club at 8 p.m., Thurs., Dec. 8, in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's College. This will be the only presentation on the campus, and is in connection with the Goethe Bicentennial. All persons interested are invited to attend.

✣ ✣ ✣

VICTORIA COLLEGE FRENCH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Victoria College French Club at Wymilwood on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. The special Christmas programme will include a talk on Christmas in France by Roget Chalamet and an adptation of Anatole France's "Balthasar". There will be singing of French carols.

✣ ✣ ✣

EXPLORATION CLUB

A $75 trip to the Mediterranean by the Wilkins Brothers will be discussed at the Hart House Exploration Society meeting on Thursday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m., in the Music Room.

Social Activities

(Continued from Page 1)

effect this has had on the students and the colleges."

The two Vic SAC reps., Douglas Thomas and Ruth Manning, will oppose the motion. Thomas feels that All-Varsity activities provide a tremendous advantage for students to meet others in different faculties and colleges.

The Prime Minister of the Debating Parliament, Fred McFadden, expects the subject for debate will have wide interest as it is a pertinent topic on the campus today.

5T2

APPLY NOW:

Canadian Regional Exchange

Sponsored by N.F.C.U.S.
Forms at S.A.C. Office

St. George & Bloor Sts.: EDWARD J. MacKELL, Manager
Bloor & Bay Streets: STANLEY G. HAZELL, Manager
Grosvenor & Yonge Sts.: JOSEPH BURDOCK, Manager

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.

SUMMER TOURS TO EUROPE

Small groups personally conducted by well-known university professors. Good hotels. Private baths in many hotels. Extensive motoring. One Canadian management throughout. Preliminary folders on these tours will be ready for mailing Tuesday.

GRAND TOUR—66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9.
$1,265.00

Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 1; June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$1,095.00

WEST. EUROPE—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9.
$1,055.00

Tour—38 days. Sails June 1; Same tour without British Motor June 14; June 15; August 9; August 23.
$865.00

SCANDINAVIAN TOUR —66 days
Scotland, England Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and France. Sails June 1.
$1,240.00

Same tour without British Motor Tour—52 days. Sails June 14; June 15.
$1,095.00

CAPITALS TOUR—52 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium and France. Sails May 18; June 1; June 28; July 26; August 9 ..... $925.00

OBERAMMERGAU TOUR —66 days
Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, the Passion Play, Italy and France. Sails June 14; June 15 .... $1,420.00

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.
(Kenneth B. Conn, President)
2 College St. Princess 1494

ST. JAMES' CATHEDRAL
Cor. King and Church Sts.

8.00 A.M.
HOLY COMMUNION

8.30 A.M.
MATTINS

9.15 A.M.
HOLY COMMUNION

11.00 A.M.
HOLY COMMUNION
Sermon: THE DEAN

MORNING SUNDAY SCHOOL

3.00 P.M.—SUNDAY SCHOOL

7.00 P.M.—EVENSONG
Sermon THE DEAN

Holy Communion
Wednesday and Friday 7.30 a.m.

KNOX
Spadina and Harbord
Minister: Rev. Robert Barr, M.A.

9.45—Adult Bible Class
11 a.m.—The Women of Bethlehem ((2) Jesus and Naomi
7 p.m.—His Glorious Name (10) Jesus, the King

Wed. 8 p.m. Knox Mid-Week
Students cordially invited to all services.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S
(ANGLICAN)
Ulster St. at Manning
(From the University, west on Harbord to Manning, south 1 block)
REV. R. F. T. BRAIN, M.C., Rector—KI. 8291
Healey Willan, Mus. Doc. Organist

EVERY SUNDAY
8 and 9.30 Holy Communion
11 Solemn Eucharist and Sermon
7 Evensong, Sermon and Devotions

Students who would like to join server's Guild or Choirs, please see the Rector.

PARK ROAD
Park Rd. and Asquith Ave.
Minister
Rev. C. G. Stone, D.D.,

11 A.M.
"HOW GOD GIVES"
(Communion Service)
7 P.M.
"WHY AREN'T THEY LIKE US"
(Story of an American Couple)
Muriel Gidley—Director of Music

ST. PAUL'S-AVENUE RD.-UNITED CHURCH
121 Avenue Road—3 blocks above Bloor
Minister—Rev. Gordon W. Porter, M.A., B.D.
Organist—Mr. John McKnight, F.T.C.L., L.R.S.M., L. Mus. (McGill)

11 A.M. — TIDINGS OF COMFORT AND JOY
7 P.M. — FOOLS — FOR CHRIST'S SAKE
The Minister will preach at both services
Thursday 8 p.m. Albert E. Cliffe by telephone broadcast from Montreal: "Your Enemy—Fear" Doors open at 7 p.m.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH
BLOOR W. at WALMER RD.
DR. E. CROSSLEY HUNTER, Minister
John W. Linn, Organist.

11 a.m. — LAYMEN'S SERVICE
7 p.m. — Sermon Lecture: "CRIME AND PUNISHMENT"
A study in conscience
8:15 p.m. — FIRESIDE HOUR

NOTICE

BEAVER CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 1950

These Scholarships, of an annual value not exceeding £500 sterling, are tenable at any University or College in Great Britain, the duration of each being at the discretion of the Selection Committee. In the choice of scholars, emphasis will be on the humanities and social sciences, including such subjects as law, pedagogy, fine arts and sociology. The purpose of the scholarships is educational, AND NOT FOR RESEARCH. There will be no written examination. The conditions of eligibility are as follows:

1. Candidates must be
   (a) Canadian citizens,
   (b) men who served at least one year in the Canadian armed forces during the period from September 1, 1939, to August 31, 1945, OR the son of a man who so served.
2. Although preference will be given to candidates who will be completing their undergraduate studies at a University or College in Canada during the current academic year, candidates who have completed at least two years of university or college work in Canada are eligible to apply.
3. Candidates will not be disqualified by marriage, but the value of each scholarship will be determined solely by reference to the needs of the candidate himself, and will, in no circumstances, be increased on account of dependents.

The final date of application has been postponed until December 10, 1949. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the University Registrar, Simcoe Hall, or from Mr. P. L. P. Macdonnell, Secretary, Beaver Club Trust, 10439 - 136th Street, Edmonton, Alberta.

CHURCH of the REDEEMER
Bloor St. West and Avenue Road
RECTOR:
REV. H. R. HUNT, M.A., B.D.
8 a.m. Holy Communion
11 a.m. Rector: "GOD'S WORD OF HOPE"
3 p.m. Bible yClass conducted b Rev. M. J. Cathcart, B.A.
7 p.m. Rector: "FOOD FOR THE SOUL"

TRINITY COLLEGE CHAPEL
SUNDAY, DECEMBER 4TH
8.15 A.M.
HOLY COMMUNION
11.00 a.m. Holy Communion
Preacher:
The Rev. C. J. de Catanzaro
All students of the University are welcome at all services in the College Chapel.

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH
Bloor Street East
Rector: Rev. Canon F. H. Wilkinson M.A., D.D.
8 a.m.—Holy Communion
11 a.m.—Holy Communion
Preacher:
CANON WILKINSON
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer
Preacher:
REV. N. A. BALLARD
D.S.O., B.A., LTh.
Recital after the evening service by Dr. Charles Peaker, F.R.C.O., assisted by Earl Baker, Bass.
UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WELCOME

BLOOR ST. UNITED CHURCH
Corner Bloor and Huron Streets
Ministers:
Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, S.T.M., Ph.D., D.D.
Rev. Kenneth Irving Cleator, B.A., B.D., S.T.M.
Organist and Choirmaster Frederick C. Silvester COMMUNION SUNDAY
11 a.m.
Bread and Prayer
7 p.m.
Costly Freedom
DR. HOWSE
will preach at both services
6.40 p.m. Organ Recital
8.15 p.m. Friendship Hour
Students Specially Welcome
"YOUTH OPPOSES OPEN SUNDAY"
Knox Presbyterian Church
Thurs., Dec. 8, 8 p.m.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
First Church of Christ Scientist
St. George St. at Lowther Ave.
Branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
Sunday, November 27th
Subject
"GOD, THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR"
SUNDAY SERVICES
11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL
11 A.M.
Pupils and visitors up to the age of twenty years welcome.
WED. EVENING MEETING
8 P.M.
Including testimonies of healing through Christian Science
FREE PUBLIC READING ROOM where the Bible and authorized Christian Science Literature may be read, borrowed or purchased.

Alexander Arrives

(Continued from Page 1)

corridors and is exhausted through fume hoods in the laboratories.

The five lecture rooms are completely enclosed and the ceilings sound-proofed, thus providing a minimum of noise and easy darkening for projection.

Labs and More Labs

Laboratories are spacious and plentiful. Working space is provided for 1,030 students in addition to facilities for research consisting of twenty-eight two or three-man research laboratories and a few for individual work. The special laboratories include one for X-ray diffraction, one for micro-analysis and inorganic research. Two small air-conditioned rooms are also provided for physical chemistry research requiring constant temperature and humidity. The largest lab 56 by 72 feet is the one assigned to chemical engineering and has an open-well centre surrounded by a mezzanine. The equipment contained includes a two-ton crane, a 25 foot fractioning still, triple effect evaporators and many others.

Even a Roof Lab

The engineering department contains three large labs and a laboratory on the roof that permits research outdoors. In addition there are 25 other research laboratories, a library, a design and study room.

All laboratories are designed to gain the maximum use of available floor space by careful grouping of work benches and service installations on the walls. An innovation borrowed from the Mellon Institute consists of vertical wall slots at three foot intervals facilitating flexibility in carrying lighting and plumbing services and framework grids for apparatus support.

Determined to keep the facilities abreast of future developments in chemistry, funds have been set aside to provide new equipment and new services as the need arises.

CARNEGIE RECORD COLLECTION

Today's programme at 4.30 p.m. in the Mechanical Bldg. is: Glinka, Kamarinskaya; Debussy – Ravel, Sarabande; Smetana, Overture, Dance of the Comedians and Polka from the Bartered Bride; Brahms, Violin Concerto.

DANCE

ELLIS McLINTOCK
AND ORCHESTRA

FRIDAY	SATURDAY
$2.00 Per Couple	$2.50 Per Couple
9 to 12.30	8.30 to 12

OLD TIME & MODERN DANCING
EVERY WEDNESDAY

OPEN FOR INSPECTION
SUNDAY, 1 TO 6 P.M.

CASA LOMA

GOLF SCHOOL

OPEN TO ALL U. of T. STUDENTS
Sponsored by S.P.S. Athletic Association

For $5.00 — except S.P.S. students, who pay $3.00 — Receive 4 lessons — one hour each.

Sign up — Athletic Office, Hart House.

Pro: Gord DeLaat. Time: 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., Mon. to Fri.

Place: C.O.T.C. Drill Hall

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Intercollegiate Try-outs — O.C.E.

Tuesday, Dec. 6th—5:30 - 7:00

Thursday, Dec. 8th—5:30 - 7.00

Mickey Barnett is coaching the team again this year. Please try to turn out for all practices if you are interested. Intercollegiate meet is at McGill the week-end of March 4th.

GAMES TODAY

SOCCER Final Stadium	2.30 p.m.	Trin I vs Sr. Vic or Jr. SPS — Barton, Montmurro, Leach
LACROSSE Finals	1.00	U.C. I vs Med I — Prendergast, Hastings
HOCKEY	12.30	SPS VII vs Dent B — Gawinski, Thomas
	1.30	St. Med vs St. M. A — Gawinski, Thomas
	4.00	Jr. SPS vs Jr. Vic — McLoughlin, Bayne
	6.30	SPS III vs U.C. III — McLoughlin, Inch

HOCKEY SCHEDULE

REVISED – WEEK OF DEC. 5th

Mon.. Dec. 5	12.30	U.C. III	vs For. A	Gawinski, Carr
	1.30	St. M. B	vs SPS IV	Gawinski, Carr
	4.00	Vic III	vs Law	Hayes, Ruddy
Tues., Dec. 6	1.30	Sr. Vic	vs Sr. U.C.	McLoughlin, Wells
	4.00	Pre-Med	vs Trin A	Robertson, Inch
Wed., 7	12.30	Med III	vs U.C. IV	Hayes, Wrigdt
	1.30	Dent A	vs SPS III	Hayes, Wright
	4.00	Sr. SPS	vs St. M. A	Gawinski, Thomas
Thur., 8	12.30	SPS V	vs Arch	Robertson, Graham
	1.30	Inst. Mgt	vs For. B	Robertson, Graham
	4.00	Dent B	vs Trin C	McLoughlin, Stuckey
	8.00	Wyc	vs Knox	Gawinski, Ruddy
Fri., 9	12.30	Vic IV	vs SPS VII	McLoughlin, Edwards
	1.30	Jr. SPS	vs Pre-Med	McLoughlin, Edwards
	4.00	SPS VI	vs Emman	McLoughlin, Law
	6.00	Trin B	vs Pharm	McLoughlin, Law

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

LOST

Gold woman's wrist watch with initials H. L. J., Sunday, on St. George between Willcocks and Bloor. Please leave at Women's S.A.C. office, U.C., or phone Helen, MI. 3482.

REQUEST

Have you got your formals ready for New Year's yet? Also please don't leave your alterations till Christmas week! Helmar, RA. 5978—opposite School of Law.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount. $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly. Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery JU. 3575.

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates. Same as last year. Phone Madame Elise KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

FOR SALE

Dress Suit, size 38. Tuxedo, size 38. Black velvet evening wrap. Blue dinner dress, 36. Call LY. 9018.

TIE EXCHANGE

43 Yorkville St. Send "Blacksheep" tie with 25c. Wrap coin in tie. Specify colour and pattern desired in exchange. Remember "Quality begets quality".

STUDENTS

Sell Christmas trees for easy profits of from $1.50 to $2.25 per tree. Write Box 15 for full information.

WANTED

1 or 2 refined female students to share 3½ room-apartment with business girl Apartment is cosy, clean and quiet. Bathurst and St. Clair district. Call RE. 2897 after 6 p.m.

TYPING

Accurate typing by experienced stenographer. Prompt pick-up and delivery. HY. 9923.

SALE OF HOME BAKING

Alpha Omicron Pi Fraternity is holding a sale of Home Baking on Friday, December 2nd, from 2-5 p.m. Apt. 106-A, The St. George Apartments.

DRIVING FOR HOLIDAYS

Bluenoses motoring home for holidays? I'll help drive. Phone MI. 5054 at 8 p.m.

B.C. FOR CHRISTMAS

Student veteran in P.H.E. would like to contact someone who is driving to British Columbia for the holidays Would share expenses and help with driving. After 5 p.m. phone MO. 6505

WANTED

Required—5 or 6-piece orchestra New Year's Eve. Phone PR. 2898.

FOR RENT

Large, warm room. Newly decorated. Suit one or two. Quiet home with young people. GE. 6551.

AT TIMES LIKE THIS...

Good Grooming calls for
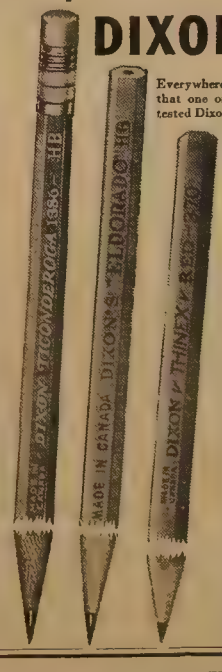
BRYLCREEM

At all times when good grooming counts, a single application of BRYLCREEM "The Perfect Hairdressing" will keep your hair neat, tidy and well-groomed. BRYLCREEM—by actual survey, the largest selling hairdressing in Canada. Available in handy tubes for your convenience everywhere.



NO GUM • NO SOAP • NO ALCOHOL • NO STARCH

7-49R

Every Student Needs these Famous

DIXON PENCILS

Everywhere a pencil is needed, students will find that one or all of these three time- and quality-tested Dixon Pencils, will do a truly satisfactory job.

"TICONDEROGA"

The fast, smooth writing pencil—easy on the hand, no push, no effort. Makes clean, definite marks. Rubber eraser in strong metal ferrule with double yellow bands. 8 degrees from 2B to 4H.

"ELDORADO"

The master drawing pencil, made with Typhonite leads. The first choice of artists, engineers, and draftsmen everywhere. Makes sharp, crisp, even lines, every time—without crumbling. Made in 17 degrees from 6B to 9H.

"THINEX"

Here are colored pencils that really sharpen up. Thin leads of smooth, even texture and surprising strength, with points that stand up. Made in 24 permanent moisture-proof pastel shades.

ORDER FROM YOUR REGULAR SUPPLIER
Made in Canada by
DIXON PENCIL CO. LTD.
Montreal, Newmarket, Toronto, Vancouver

Everywhere people are changing to PEPSI-COLA

Mrs. M. E. Jones, Montreal housewife, says, "I changed to Pepsi-Cola because it's a favourite with family and friends alike." And it is! Sparkling Pepsi-Cola is first choice for refreshment with millions of Canadians. Take home a 6-bottle carton today. You get 12 full glasses for only 30¢. Compare the taste. Compare the value. You'll never again be satisfied with any other soft drink.

"My friends and I changed to Pepsi-Cola because Pepsi gives us better flavour and bigger value," says Leo Barrette, Ottawa student. And that's true of the new quick-drink size Pepsi, too. You get 8 full ounces of sparkling Pepsi-Cola for only 5¢. Once again, you get more for your money when you buy Pepsi!

for Finer Flavour and Better Value

Ask For Pepsi
by the bottle
by the carton
by the case

"Pepsi-Cola" and "Pepsi" are the registered trade marks in Canada of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

The GREAT HALL CLOSES for DINNER TONIGHT at 6 P.M.

Due to a special dinner on the occasion of the opening of the Wallberg Memorial Building.

Soccer Final Features Skule And Trinity

Stadium Is Scene Of Title Contest

By HUGH ROWAN

The closing scene of the interfaculty soccer season today will be a familiar one, with Junior SPS and Trinity "A's" meeting each other for the third consecutive year in the finals. The final game of the prolonged soccer season will be played in Varsity Stadium at 2:30 this afternoon, and the game promises to be an even one as both teams have gone through the season with almost perfect records.

Junior Skule gained their finals berth yesterday by turning back Senior Vic 2 to 1 in a thrill-packed game which was a replay on a 1-1 overtime tie on Tuesday. Trinity eliminated Emmanuel a week earlier by chalking up a 3 to 1 victory on a snowy front campus. It will be the fourth consecutive Arts Faculty Cup final for Skule, and the third for the Buttery boys. Junior SPS won in '46 over Forestry, and in '47 downed Trinity, but the Red and Black made a comeback last year and swamped Skule 5-0 to spoil their third year bid for possession of the cup.

Several veterans of these past encounters are back to spark their teams today. Vic Franco, scrappy Skule center-forward, starred in the '47 game, while Al Forbes, who booted two big goals last year is back at his usual right-wing berth for Trinity. In addition Ole Friele, Denis dos Santos, Manuel Atucha and Bill Clark of SPS, and Barry Britton-Foster, Hugh Wareham, Bill Cox, Dick Butterfield, Hal MacDonald and Tom Matthews of Trinity are veterans from other cup-final tilts.

Coach Vern Wright of SPS, winners of the second group, places his hopes of victory in a strong forward line with the starring combination of Atucha and Dos Santos on the left side, and the adept ball-handling of Ken Jessop at inside-right. In addition, Bill Armstrong and Ron Lee form the strongest fullback line on the campus, and Captain Ole Friele has capably taken over the center-half position vacated by Tommy Andresen's injury.

Trinity will field the same strong team which walked undefeated through the season to win the first group. Wings Wareham and Forbes frame a powerful forward line centered by stylist Britton-Foster, who Captains the squad. Bill Cox powers the team from his pivot-half position, while burly Don Glen plays a faultless game on the full-back line. Goalie Tom Matthews is probably unequalled as a back-stop, having allowed only 3 goals in his 8 games this season.

A fast-breaking, action-packed game is expected, and the fast field should benefit both teams style. Brian Barton, playing coach of the Blues has been given the referee's assignment.

Line-ups:

Trinity. Matthews; Snowden and Glen; Butterfield, Cox and Gaunt; Forbes, Rowan, Britton-Foster, Donaldson and Wareham. Alts., MacDonald, Paterson, Clarkson and Morgan.

Junior SPS. Clark; Lee and Armstrong; Gill, Friele and Kavajami; Wilson, Jessop, Franco, Dos Santos and Atucha. Alts., Miller, Garvie and Andresen.

VARSITY SPORTS

B. Fitzgerald Sparkles As St. Mike's Edge UC For Girls' Hoopla Title

By JACKIE HEFFRON

In one of the most thrilling basketball contests that this university has ever seen St. Mike's A's edged out UC Sr. Jr. A's 26-25 to take the women's intramural championship. This is the first time that St. Mike's have taken top honors although in the 1947-1948 season they placed fourth in the group. The game was close and fast throughout but the champs kept a slight lead through most of the play. Noteworthy was the number of fouls handed out to both teams, with a total of five of the stellar players out before the play ended.

The first quarter was a real ball show with UC having a slight edge on the play. Donna Klie, who displayed some beautiful ball-handling throughout, hooked some lovely shots in this quarter in which UC had a five point lead at one point. Betty Fitzgerald, St. Mike's, sank some lovely long shots and Kay Schenck was outstanding on free-shots. The quarter ended with UC leading 12-10.

In the second quarter St. Mike's tightened up and forged ahead to take the slight lead which they never relinquished. Jane Timmins and Nancy Primeau played good defense for St. Mike's while Jane Armstrong, UC, did a superb job for her team, intercepting innumerable passes and knocking down several sure point shots.

In the last half both team really played hot and heavy with the defense on both sides tightening up on defense. Rosanna Kelly was St. Mike's great threat through this half but was knocked out in the last few minutes of play. Pam Latour, St. Mike's, played a good cool game for the winners as did Dot Doran.

Betty Fitzgerald sank the winning point, a free shot in the last minute of play. The game was tied many times and tension was high to the last second.

In the game between UC Fr. and Meds the final score was 23-23 deadlock. This ties both teams for third place in the final standings.

Lineups

St. Mike's—Jumping centre, Timmins; right forward, Fitzgerald; left forward, Schenk; side centre, Primeau; right guard, Latour; alternates, Grazyck, Day, Morrow, Mahon.

UC—Jumping centre, Hollis; right forward, Kelly; left forward, Armstrong; side centre, Dunn; right guard, Klie; alternates, Lever, Beal, Duff.

Host Matmen Lose Decision To Broadview

By BOB DNIEPER

The University of Toronto last night was edged in a dual wrestling meet with Broadview Y, 20-18. Varsity coach Morris Sobel had the newcomers to the team out, who put on a great show wrestling with the many provincial champions on the Broadview team. One of the best bouts of the evening was put on by George Davies of Varsity and Alex Esson of the Y (who has held several provincial titles) when they fought to a draw. In the heavy division, powerful Pete Samuel (T) won from former Ontario champion Harry Yates on a decision to score a well wrestled upset. Ed Fisher, of football fame, whipped Broadview's Al Boothe (another former Ontario champ) with a fall in the first round with some lightning-fast work.

The Varsity boys put on a red-hot show of spirit and fight, and the only thing that gave the Y the edge was the greater experience of the Y-men, some of whom have been wrestling for fifteen years. Coach Sobel was very satisfied, in fact, extremely pleased with the new boys' showing. "But they need more conditioning and experience," commented Morris.

Results: (125)—Hugh Lubbock (T) decisioned Frank Bouchard (Y); Davies (T) drew with Esson (Y); (190)—Ed Fisher beat Al Boothe (Y); (Heavy)—Samuels decisioned Yates (Y); (190)—Bill Dingwall (T) lost to Jim Connor (Y); (145)—Al Hebert (T) lost to "Uncle" Jake Billinger (Y) on a decision; (135)—Dave Fenwick (T) beat Dick Ley (Y) in 1:15; (190)—Dingwall (T) lost to Boothe (Y); (135)—Fenwick (T) lost to Ron Baron (Y) (another provincial champ).

EATON'S

NOW! New Styling In

SUNBEAM SHAVEMASTER

WIDER SURFACE FOR FASTER SHAVE

One-third more cutting surface that gives you the same smooth shave in much less time . . . something entirely new in electric shaving . . . and introduced by the dependable makers of Sunbeam Shavemasters. This latest model Sunbeam is easy to handle . . . comes with sharpening compound, cleaning brush and about 6 ft. of cord that is conveniently packaged in smart looking simulated leather or bakelite cases. An excellent Christmas gift for the man who appreciates the advantages of electric shaving. EACH 26.75

PHONE TR. 5111

MAIN STORE MAIN FLOOR DEPT. 515

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

Skule Victorious Over Senior Vic In Soccer Match

Junior Skule eked out a narrow 2 to 1 victory over Senior Vic in the Arts Faculty Cup semi-final in the stadium yesterday afternoon. The game was a replay of the 1-1 overtime tie Tuesday, and gives Junior Skule the task of taking on Trinity "A's" for the championship today.

The Skulemen deserved their win as they out-played and out-thought the red and gold players during almost the entire game. Apart from a ten minute lapse in the middle of the first half, SPS carried the plaay into the Vic end, and had many chances on Vic goalie Frank McCamus. Their two goals ironically came from plays that Skule otherwise bungled in a game which was fast rather than good.

Skule gained a 1 to 0 lead in the first half as Denis dos Santos sniped from thirty yards after a Skule throw-in got loose and rolled to his feet. Their second goal came after twelve minutes of the second half, when Vic Franco turned and beat the goalie after a helpless scramble in front of the net. Vic robbed Bill Clark of his shut-out eight minutes later when Frank Gill fouled Bruce Vanstone in the penalty area, and Hugh Delfosse placed the resulting penalty well out of Clark's reach. Brian Barton handled the game perfectly, and kept the hard but clean tilt moving at top speed.

Line-ups:

Junior Skule—Clark; Lee and Armstrong; Gill, Friele and Kavajami; Wilson, Jessop, Franco, Dos Santos and Atucha. Alts. Miller and Garvie.

Senior Vic—McCamus; Baker and Buckles; Mercer, Hastings and Acheson; Keane, Smillie, Vanstone, Williams and Delfosse. Alt. Jack Henry.

Second Shift

Meds, UC Face Off

Varsity lacrosse fans will have an eye out today at one o'clock to see if the UC firsts are able to repeat their performance of last year when they came back strongly to take the second game of their final playoff series with the same Meds aggregation which they face this year. The red and white stick-handlers took the count in their last encounter with the skullshirts on Wednesday when they went down to a 10-4 defeat and have to come out on the long end of this one to keep their title hopes at all alive.

Meds, last year's Dafoe Cup holders are as strong this year as ever. Goalie Ken Firman put on a fine display in the last contest to stem the UC tide and red and white netminder Pete Byrne who sparked his squad in their title efforts last year also made many spectacular saves.

Dutch Young of UC who has become a top notch player in the last couple of years will be starting as will be dependable Frank Chambers and Jack Raymond. Chambers was the top goal getter for the UC team in the last game with two markers to his credit. Both Raymond and Young accounted for singles to complete their total.

Perennial star "Axe" Haliburton who is playing his last year with Med will team up with Ted Beaton and Bob Heatherington on the offence for Meds. Ex junior star Herb Mohr will probably start on defence. Heatherington led Meds last game with a three goal effort while Beaton and Mohr garnered two each. Anderson and McIlwraith were responsible for the remaining Meds' tallies.

Today's affair will start at one in the p.m. in the Hart House gym. Last game saw a near capacity crowd which was not let down by the standard of play exhibited by the two contenders. So, if you like action and contact sport thrills be on hand tomorrow for the second game of the playoffs.

Swimmin' Women Splash Tomorrow In McMaster Pool

To-morrow morning the Women's Intercollegiate Swimming Team is driving to Hamilton to take part in the big meet with similar squads from McGill, Queen's Western and McMaster.

Last night was the final practice and to-night will mean lots of sleep for the Blue and White team which definitely looks good according to reports from the coach Miss Baxter.

In the last two years McGill has been a strong contender, tying with Toronto for first place in 1947 and copping top bracket in 1948, three points ahead of Varsity. Although there is nothing like the Bronze Baby for basketball, the splash honor will be great if the gals bring it home.

Marg Harrington, PHE, is looking after the 50 yd free style race, the 75 yd medley and is on the free style relay team with Phyl Manning, Trin, Sheila Lennox, Vic, and Peg Rowntree, PHE.

On the diving team, Marg will also take her spot on the board along with Charlotte Chisholm, Trin, who copped the Cochrane Trophy in the intramural meet.

Although Zaira Murray, UC, just finished a dose of flu, she will compete in the 50-yard back stroke event. Pam Perrin, Vic, will see to the 50-yard breast stroke race.

Two sisters who were both in the Aqua Show are the synchronized experts on the team. They are Jean and Lois Cossar, Physio, doing a duet, while Jean will solo in another synchronized event.

The medley relay team consists of Phyl Manning, Jean Cossar, and Zi Murray.

Wallberg Bldg. 'Milestone' — Alexander

THE VARSITY

VOL. LXIX, NO. 52 • THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Monday, December 5, 1949

STUDENT SEATS RESERVED?

Unveil Plaque At Opening Ceremonies

"I am sure the life of Emil Andrew Wallberg and the generosity of his sister will give those who use this building inspiration to emulate him." With these words the Governor-General unveiled on Friday a plaque in honor of E. W. Wallberg, after whom the Wallberg Memorial Building is named, and thus formally opened the University of Toronto's new chemical building.

The Governor-General said the opening of the building "marks another milestone in the history of this great university."

The plaque read: "In grateful recognition of the generous bequest of Ida Marie Wallberg this building is dedicated to the memory of her brother Emil Andrew Wallberg 1869-1929, Engineer, Constructor, Industrialist."

Leaves Estate

E. A. Wallberg was a Canadian engineer whose sister left to the university her entire estate, bequeather to her by her brother.

Lord Alexander said Friday the building is a most timely addition to the University. "In a world of progress and development our minds are naturally turned to science," he said.

He then traced "some of the highlights of the growth of pure and applied chemistry" in Canada, emphasizing chemical work done in the mining, fertilizer and aluminum industries.

Tour Building

After unveiling the plaque, Lord and Lady Alexander toured the building. After the hour-long inspection, His Excellency assured University of Toronto Chancellor Vincent Massey that it had been well worth while.

Emil Wallberg was a Swedish carpenter who rose to wealth in Canada after working his way through college in Illinois.

At his death he left an estate of $4,000,000. Some of the companies with which he was connected were Canada Wire and Cable, The Lake St. John Power and Paper Co. and the Leaside Munitions Co.

PC's To Oppose Education Reforms Resolved By LPP

The first Mock Parliament of the year will be held this Thursday night in Alumni Hall at Victoria College. The Labour Progressive Party club will form the government with the Progressive Conservatives as the official opposition.

The LPP will introduce a long resolution for debate on the democratization of higher education. The proposed legislation reads:

—a) That working class and farm youth be proportionately represented among college students; and that there be equal opportunities for college students in all provinces.

—b) That finance monopolists control of Boards of Governors be abolished; and that people's representatives be elected in their place.

—c) That a new national Canadian curriculum be introduced to serve the people; and to assist in abolishing the exploitation of man by man.

"We are opposed to the bill on many counts," Jack Hoolihan, IV UC, Councillor of The P.C. Club said last night. "I question the meaning of certain terms like 'democratize', 'people's representatives' and 'Canadian Curriculum.' As far as I can see the bill is totally impractical."

The debate will be held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Alumni Hall, Victoria College.

Last Week Of Publication

Readers are reminded that The Varsity will publish its final issue for the year on Friday, December 9. Any activity which your organization may be holding after that will have to be publicized by Friday of this week, if you wish space in The Varsity.

The Annual Literary issue will be published on Dec. 14. Deadline for the Literary issue is Dec. 7.

Greet Nobility

—Globe and Mail Photo.

University officials met the Governor-General and Lady Alexander, Friday, on the steps of the Wallberg Memorial Building in preparation for the official opening of the new chemical building. From left to right, Chancellor, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey; the Governor-General and Lady Alexander; acting chairman of the Board of Governors, O. D. Vaughn; President Sidney Smith.

Students Apathetic Here So What!—Says England

Halifax, Dec. 2 — (CUP) — "The University, whether on purpose or not, has gone as far as it can to suppress college spirit without suppressing it," charged Art Moriera, Dalhousie University Students' Council president, last week. Earlier in his address he quoted from an editorial in The Gazette, undergrad newspaper.

"The growth and development of the spirit of Dalhousie has been stunted . . . by the oppressive shadow of Conservatism and obsolete university ideals."

• • •

Edmonton, Dec. 2 — (CUP) — 150 out of 3,575 students of the University of Alberta passed a sports budget of $16,000 at a recent meeting of the University Athletic Board. In addition to this, there have been no candidates for a post on the Student Council. President Miller of the Council has instigated an enquiry by the Council into what was described as a growing uninterest in campus activities.

• • •

Cambridge, England, Dec. 2— "There is a tendency on the part of all writers to think of the undergraduates as a group," declared a recent editorial in the Cambridge Varsity. "There also appears to be an alarming idea abroad that all undergraduates are leaders of the future. . . . The depressing fact is that undergraduates are for the most part normal young men and women who happen to be at university."

• • •

Montreal, Dec. 2—(CUP)—"There is more student self-government in Scotland than there is here in Canada" Prof. J. R. Mallory of Edinburgh said today. Prof. Mallory explained that the probable reason for this is the fact that the Scottish Universities have an older tradition than universities have in this country, and thus are tolerated more.

2 to 1 Is Proportion At McGill Gen Nights

Montreal, Dec. 2,—(CUP)—Twice as many students as professors turned out to the first of a series of "gen" nights at McGill University. The gen nights have been organized in order to give students an opportunity to follow interesting lines of thought which have cropped up during lectures, and to give professors an opportunity to gain a more personal contact with students.

BRITISH STUDENTS GRANTED INCREASE

London England —(Exchange)— Married ex-service students in British Universities are eligible for an additional 20 pounds sterling per year, according to "Student Chronicle", the NUS paper. Single types are not to be given any increase.

There have also been increases in state scholarship grants. These increases bring the amount to approximately 165 sterling per year for male students. Female students get less. There are about 1,000 State Scholarship holders.

Carleton's Entry Unanimous Choice In Beauty Contest

Carleton College's Jackie Stoate, pert, green-eyed second year Commerce student, walked off with the "Miss Intercollegiate 1950" crown in Kingston, Thursday night. Miss Stoate was the judges' unanimous choice for the title in a contest sponsored by the Queen's Journal at their By-Line Ball.

Carleton, Queen's and Toronto entered candidates in the race. Western and McGill were also invited to attend. Western was unable to send anyone, and McGill bowed out at the last moment having previously accepted.

Choice Is Easy

Contest judges George Lilley, commercial photographer in Kingston, Prof. R. L. Fauconnier, professor of French, and Dr. H. W. Curran, professor of biology and comparative anatomy, said they had little trouble in making their choice. "We agreed that she had the best features and the most graceful walk," Dr. Curran said. He remarked that he had not had a chance to use his experience in comparative anatomy in the judging.

Joy Hardy, II University College, and Cairine Hodgkin, freshette at Queen's, received silver bracelets as consolation prizes in the contest.

None of the three girls was a stranger to beauty contests. Both Miss Stoate and Miss Hodgkins had previously won titles: Miss Stoate was "Miss Carleton, 1949," and Miss Hodgkins took the Miss Queen's title last week. Toronto's Joy Hardy, sponsored by The Varsity, is a former "Miss Young Canada," and a part-time model.

NIGHT EDITORS

Would the following makeup staffers meet the Makeup Editor in the Varsity newsoffice at 1 p.m. today?

Don Stevenson, Jim Knight, Dave Butters, Pat Quinn, Jim Simpson, Bud Godfrey.

No Line-Ups No Crushes Aim Of Plan

Reserved seats for football games held at Varsity Stadium may be implemented next year if a proposal of the Directorate of The University of Toronto Athletic Association to be presented to the Students' Administrative Council is carried through.

The proposal suggests that all seats in Varsity Stadium be reserved, and sold to students on a priority basis, the best seats going to students in higher years. This will eliminate the long line-ups before games, allow the Athletic Association to judge the number of seats needed, and avert any danger to students in the initial crush when gates are opened, the Athletic Directorship claims.

Estimates Difficult

The Athletic Association says that they have had great difficulty in estimating how much space will be needed to accommodate students in an unreserved section because of the large number of tickets sold — 8,912 this year. Their suggestions for the new scheme are contained in a letter to the SAC which will be read and discussed at this Wednesday night's meeting.

Advantages of the Athletic Directorates' scheme as listed in the letter:

(1) No need for early line-ups.

(2) Same seats for all games and playoffs in which Varsity participates.

(3) A steady flow through the gates similar to that at any of the regular entrances.

(4) Seats are always available for latecomers.

(5) An adequate check of registration cards is possible.

Outline Disadvantages

Disadvantages:

(1) Students wishing to sit together would have to purchase tickets at the same time.

(2) The rush at the time of said before the season opens in order in order to obtain the best seats would be extremely heavy, and long line-ups would be inevitable unless a priority system is devised.

The Athletic Directorate has suggested a priority system of selling reserved seat coupon books which would give students in the fourth and higher years first opportunity for tickets, with other years coming on later days.

May Separate Friends

The letter points out the obvious disadvantage of students not being able to sit together unless they purchase their tickets at the same time and says:

"It is felt that this limitation must be accepted as a necessary one, since it is obvious that if students can purchase tickets for others there will be an abuse of the privilege."

The Athletic Directorate stressed that their proposals are presented for study only, and suggested that a small joint committee of the SAC and the Athletic Directorate meet to discuss the problem. Action will be taken on the suggestions at Wednesday night's SAC meeting.

Compulsory Service For Canadian Youth

Montreal, Dec. 2—(CUP)—One year's compulsory military service for all able-bodied Canadians on attaining their nineteenth birthday will be the main bill presented to the Model Parliament of McGill University on Thursday, December 15th. The Progressive-Conservatives will form a government, with the L.P.P. as the official opposition. The positions of the other two parties have not yet been determined. The Debating Society, sponsors of the Model Parliaments, plan four esssions this year, with each party alternating as the govern ment.

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5TC
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... R. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Don Stevenson

ASSISTANTS: Kaz Oiye, Barbara Brown

MONDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1949

"Impossible Things"

". . . I really believe that our young engineers and scientists are not doing half the impossible things of which they are capable . . . it is because they are not challenged vigorously enough."

Dr. C. J. McKenzie, December 2, 1949.

We partially agree with Dr. McKenzie. But we feel he is not being quite fair in failing to mention more strongly that scientists and engineers are meeting more and more challenges of a different nature.

Science is undergoing a gradual change—it is no longer only the discovery of shiny new facts, it is also their integration into the larger philosophy of life, with all attendant moral, ethical and teleological implications. This has never been shown more clearly than when J. Robert Oppenheimer, Director of the Institute for Advanced Learning, a short time after the first A-bomb blast said ". . . in some crude way . . . the physicists have known sin."

In short, we believe that science is maturing; is breaking down the walls of snobbishness, blindness and cultism which separate it from the humanities. In doing this the men of science are bridging the gap between the last three centuries' rapid scientific pace and formal philosophies' more measured tread.

Part of this newer concept of the broader function of science is attributable, in a small way, to lectures such as the Philosophy of Science as given at this University. These lectures, at first regarded antagonistically by the undergrads as an Arts invasion of virile scientific ground, are slowly giving greater scope to an increasingly appreciative section of engineers, chemists and medsmen.

Recently Dr. M. E. Mickenden, President of the Case Institute of Technology outlined the tremendous future which awaits the man of science. He showed that in this technological world, the scientist has a great responsibility.

And where does this leave the Artsman—the classical philosopher? At times we fear he is in danger of becoming extinct. No human can occupy an active place in the world without a thorough knowledge of scientific techniques. We agree it is not necessary to know the advanced physics of the atom in order to appreciate the widespread consequences of the bomb. But we insist that if today's education of the Artsman continues in what amounts to ignorance of the sciences, then the Artsman is being prepared for a world which does not exist.

It seems a pity that some of us in our admiration of the great ideas of the past, have neglected to prepare ourselves for coping with the great ideas of today.

Surely we need all possible heads and hands to meet the challenges of today—and the weapon with which we fight must have an edge honed by science.

WHAT'S ON TODAY

The Carnegie Record musicale today will include Weber's "Oberon Overture", Brahms' and Wolf's "German Lieder", and Tschaikowsky's "Symphony No. 6 'Pastoral'". As usual, it will be in the Mechanical Building at 4:30 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

LPP FORUM

"Does the CCF want Socialism?" will be the topic of discussion at the LPP Forum, Room 11, U.C., at 1 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

VIC DEBATING PARLIAMENT

"Resolved: That All-Varsity social activities are detrimental to college interests" will be the subject for debate today in the Co-educational Common Room at 4 p.m. Bob Hetherington, SAC President, will be guest speaker opposing the motion.

✣ ✣ ✣

BAHA'I

Mr. Ross Woodman, M.A., will address an open meeting of the Baha'i Student Group at 1 p.m. in Room 64 (basement) of University College. His subject: "The Baha'i Concept of God".

✣ ✣ ✣

WRITERS' GROUP

The Writers' Group will meet tonight at 8 p.m.; Prof. Frye reading.

COMING EVENTS

VIC CCF

Prof. Grube will speak on the "Nationalization of Industry", at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Room 18, Victoria College.

✣ ✣ ✣

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

Three films dealing with political and economic subjects and an address by Mr. J. K. Bradford of the University Placement Service will be features of a meeting of the club tonight in U.C. Junior Common Room at 8 p.m.

✣ ✣ ✣

SOCIAL WORK CLUB

The meeting of the Social Work Club called for December 6 will be cancelled, due to circumstances beyond our control.

✣ ✣ ✣

U.C. SINGERS

The U.C. Singers will present their annual Christmas Musicale on Sunday, Dec. 11, at 9 p.m. in the Women's Union Theatre. Everyone welcome.

✣ ✣ ✣

MODERN LETTERS CLUB

Prof Grant will give a reading on Graham Greene in the Long Common Room of the Women's Union on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 8:15 p.m. All U.C. students are invited.

✣ ✣ ✣

GERMAN CLUB

Scenes from Goethe's "Faust" and carol singing will be presented by the University German Club at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 8, in Cartwright Hall, St. Hilda's College. This presentation is in connection with the Goethe Bicentennial, and is the only one to be given on the campus. All persons interested are invited to attend.

✣ ✣ ✣

CARABIN WEEK-END

There will be a meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 7, in the Long Common Room of the UC Women's Union for all the students going on the Carabin weekend. It will be held from 4.30 to 5.30 p.m., and there will be a speaker.

THE STARDUSTERS

VARSITY'S FAVOURITE ORCHESTRA!!
13 Musicians—Vocals by Bonnie Clarke and Jack Young — our smaller group —
ART BINNS AND HIS ORCHESTRA
At Victoria College 3rd and 4th years' Dance, Dec. 9th.
For full band or smaller orchestra
ME. 4455 — HU. 7120

For Christmas Give Your

UNIVERSITY CREST

Large variety available at

Students' Administrative Council Office.

PRICED FROM $1.55 TO $12.50

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

DEBATE

The third Hart House Debate will take place on Wednesday, 7th December, in the Debates Room at 8.00 p.m. when the Honorary Visitor will be Dr. Marcus Long of the Department of Philosophy. The topic for debate will be "Resolved that bottle fed babies seldom grow up". All members are cordially invited to be present.

CAMERA CLUB

The third in a series of noon-hour movies will take place in the Club Rooms on Wednesday, 7th December at 1.20 p.m. All members of the Club are invited to attend.

TUESDAY MID-DAY RECITAL

The fifth in the series of Tuesday Mid-day Recitals will be held tomorrow at 1.25 p.m. in the East Common Room. All members are cordially invited to attend.

SING SONG

There will be a sing song at 1.30 today in the East Common Room

REVOLVER

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 tonight.

GLEE CLUB

Regular Rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5.00 p.m. today in the Music Room.

TABLE TENNIS

Tables will be set up ready for play in the Lunch Room at 7.30 p.m. tonight.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL

Miss Muriel Kilby, marimbist and pianist, will give a recital in the Great Hall next Sunday afternoon, 11th December, at 3.15 p.m. Members and their guests, including ladies, are invited.

VISITORS' DAY

Next Sunday, 11th December, will be Visitors' Sunday, when members may introduce their friends, including ladies, between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m.

EXPLORATION SOCIETY

"To the Mediterranean on $75.00" will be discussed by the Wilkins Brothers on Thursday, 8th December at 8.00 p.m. in the Music Room.

THE VARSITY

Monday, December 5, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

See Pictures Of Sunspots At RCI Talk

Sunspots and prominences, those mysterious eruptions on the face of the sun, were the subject of the address by Dr. E. G. Bullard, chairman of the Department of Physics, before the Royal Canadian Institute, at Convocation Hall, Saturday night.

First Seen By Galileo

Dr. Bullard said that the gigantic black sunspots, often as much as one hundred thousand miles across, were first noticed by Galileo when he turned his telescope on the sun in 1611. They are, actually, frequently visible to the naked eye, provided it is well protected with smoked glass.

He continued that the blackness of a sunspot is only apparent. By contrast with the 5500 degrees C surface of the disk of the sun, the 3000 degrees C spots appear dark, but they would be blindingly bright if seen alone. Spots move across the face of the sun as it rotates. He said that those near the equator show a rate of one revolution in about twenty-four days, while those in higher solar latitudes take up to twenty-seven days. This indicates that the sun does not rotate as a rigid body.

Solar prominences, as well as the intense magnetic fields associated with the spots were blamed by Dr. Bullard for much radio static. The prominences are enormous masses of flaming gas which are occasionally thrown off the sun's surface near sunspots. He said the prominences frequently flies away from the sun as fast as one hundred miles per second, and then falls back following a curved path due to the magnetic field of the nearby spots.

Some ordinary movements of prominences were spectacularly shown in fine speeded motion pictures taken with the spectrohelioscope cinegraph by Dr. McMath at the University of Michigan.

The speaker was thanked by Dr. J. F. Heard of the Astronomy Department.

HOUSING FOR UNB VETS

Fredericton — (CUP) — 114 apartments have been supplied to married vets at the University of New Brunswick through a school housing scheme. The undergrad families among them have 130 children. The apartments which are let at a "reasonable rent" are maintained by the U.N.B.

Painless Dentistry

—Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

Tooth-pulling is in their line but their line will be eye-pulling this Friday and Saturday. Sorry, we didn't get the names of the five girls at their Dentantics rehearsal, but the names will be on Dents' revue program. Can be picked up at either of the nightly two shows in Hart House Theatre.

Students Become Wrecks Habits To Blame—Dr. Line

Out of 300 students who applied for help at the Health Service last year, half had functional nervous upsets due to faulty study or work habits, said Dr. W. Line in the lecture on 'Work and Study Habits' at the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Spoon Fed

Dr. Line stressed the difference between high school and university. He contrasted students spoon fed by teachers dependent upon a certain percentage of passes for their jobs, with the situation at university, where professors need not care whether students get the work or not, and where there is less personal contact; no one overseeing to insure that work is done and where the material, even in a general course has an exciting fringe where new discovery is being made.

Exam Jitters

He said that there is a tendency to drift along during the year, and get panicky before examinations.

Social life doesn't garner any marks. Over-consciousness is also bad, because a program of too much study leads to diminishing returns. Students become stale, and less

(Continued on Page 7)

Money Not Enough Challenge Required States NRC Head

Collectively our young engineers and scientists are not doing half the impossible things of which they are capable, said National Research Council President Dr. C. J. Mackenzie at a dinner given by President Smith Friday night in Hart House for the Governor General and Lady Alexander after the official opening of the Wallberg Memorial Building. "This is not their own fault," he said, "it is because they are not challenged vigorously enough."

Today's Vital Problem

Dr. Mackenzie stated this situation is one of the most vital problems of today, not only in the relative "calm and security" of the civil service and the Univearsity, but perhaps even more so in the industrial, commercial, and political world.

Strong Incentive Needed

The means of providing an impelling incentive to scientific workers is perhaps the most challenging problem of all, Dr. Mackenzie said. "The stimulus of combat, of great profit or acclaim. . .will carry men to great heights, but these incentives are not usually present in scientific organizations."

Speaking on the need for "first class men to direct research work," Dr. Mackenzie said, "Opportunity and working conditions are the critical considerations" in getting the right men to enter this field. "Top class scientists won't accept appointments for mere dollars," he said. To do first class work, government laboratories must have men who demand something resembling university working conditions.

Expand Graduate Facilities

The [illegible] in [illegible] government laboratories since 1939 means an increased requirement of trained personnel, Dr. Mackenzie said. "It is most important that some way be found to increase and strengthen Canadian graduate school facilities in pure and applied science," he said, "to meet this increased and permanent demand."

Commenting on the growth of research expenditures in the last ten years, Dr. Mackenzie said there has never been "greater appreciation of the close relation between a nation's scientific effectiveness and its material strength and prosperity." Science is now big business, he said; our 1939 clothes no longer fit; our responsibilities have enlarged; the effective years of maturity are upon us.

Varsity Students Not Communists Balfour Declares

"If students say they did it as a prank, then God bless them," said Controller David Balfour, Friday, when told that a 75-lb., six-armed idol, a prop from Skule Nite left on the steps of City Hall early Friday morning, was not from "Communists."

The idol was deposited at City Hall, inscribed "Gift to Controller Balfour from Conn-Smythe," by members of the cast of Skule Nite, who found that they had no use for it following their cast party.

Steps Surprise

Controller Balfour claimed at first that the wording on the idol showed that it could only have come from Communists. "This was no prank," he said. "The Communists are out to ridicule me. You'd be surprised at the steps those people will take."

He said that he had received a drawing like the idol in the mail, that he was convinced the Communists were behind the prank, and that he was sure Conn Smyth had nothing to do with it.

"Conn would never do this," he said. "Besides, look at that idol. With that height and those arms, who could ask for a better goalkeeper?"

Controller Balfour later admitted that he had made a mistake about the Communists. But, he said, it shouldn't be too hard to forgive him.

(Continued on Page 7)

No Long-Hair

Former "Dodo" Now Conductor

By AILEEN FRITZ

Regarded by his family as a "dodo" in music when he was small, Lee Hepner says now he is a "self-taught" man. Lee is the youthful conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra.

In an interview Friday, Lee, who looks no more like the traditional "long-haired" musician type than do any of his orchestra members, said he was born on a farm north of Edmonton, Alberta. His mother was musically inclined, and started him playing the piano. He joined the Edmonton School Boys' Band, where he played the trumpet, and "fooled around with many instruments, but didn't become proficient at playing any of them."

Studies Hard

He began writing pieces for the band, and then formed a group of his own. When the war broke out, Lee and the members of the group joined the R.C.A.F. as bandsmen. He remained out west for the duration, and eventually became a bandmaster. Lee readily admits he knew almost nothing about conducting, and did a good deal of studying while he was bandmaster.

After the war, he came to Toronto, where he had heard about the Music Course at the University. He confided he was merely a "babe in the woods" then. He is now in his last year of the Bachelor of Music course here.

Prepares Concert

Last summer, Lee conducted the Edmonton Philharmonic in their pop series and the orchestra had a successful season.

The first concert of this year is to be given by the orchestra on December 11. Lee has mapped out an ambitious program for the year, and the orchestra is now rehearsing the Cesar Franck Symphony in D minor.

Rehearsals are held Sunday evenings at Convocation Hall. This is one of the few times when the Hall does not resound to the droning voices of university lecturers. The brass section has several be-bop men, and they manage to enliven the proceedings. The brass section is one of the few sections which is complete, and has no instrument missing.

Bass players are rather scarce, perhaps due to an obvious reason. (Have you ever tried to pick up a bass violin or a cello?)

Varsity Staff Photo by Peter Wade

LEE HEPNER AT SYMPHONY REHEARSAL

Breakfast In Hamilton Postponed By Weather

Bad flying weather washed out a planned breakfast flight to Hamilton by The Ajax Flying Club yesterday morning. The club had planned to leave Island Airport about eight a.m., fly to Hamilton for breakfast and return later in the day.

"We went up to look at the ceiling, and it was there," Joe Brigham, IV SPS, said yesterday. The ceiling at 8:30 a.m. was at 1400 feet, and by 10 a.m. it had dropped to 1100 feet. Four co-eds who turned up for the trip were taken up for short hops, so that their trip down to the airport wouldn't be a complete waste.

PLEASE!

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

BAHA'I STUDENT GROUP

SPEAKER: ROSS WOODMAN, M.A.

SUBJECT: THE BAHA'I CONCEPT OF GOD

PLACE: ROOM 64, U.C. (basement)

1 P.M. TODAY ALL WELCOME

NOTICE

BEAVER CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 1950

These Scholarships, of an annual value not exceeding £500 sterling, are tenable at any University or College in Great Britain, the duration of each being at the discretion of the Selection Committee. In the choice of scholars, emphasis will be on the humanities and social sciences, including such subjects as law, pedagogy, fine arts and sociology. The purpose of the scholarships is educational, AND NOT FOR RESEARCH. There will be no written examination. The conditions of eligibility are as follows:

1. Candidates must be
   (a) Canadian citizens,
   (b) men who served at least one year in the Canadian armed forces during the period from September 1, 1939, to August 31, 1945, OR the son of a man who so served.
2. Although preference will be given to candidates who will be completing their undergraduate studies at a University or College in Canada during the current academic year, candidates who have completed at least two years of university or college work in Canada are eligible to apply.
3. Candidates will not be disqualified by marriage, but the value of each scholarship will be determined solely by reference to the needs of the candidate himself, and will, in no circumstances, be increased on account of dependents.

The final date of application has been postponed until December 10, 1949. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the University Registrar, Simcoe Hall, or from Mr. P. L. P. Macdonnell, Secretary, Beaver Club Trust, 10439 - 136th Street, Edmonton, Alberta.

ART ∞ MUSIC ∞ DRAMA

Paul Robeson

Electric with expectation of fireworks was the air Saturday night in packed Massey Hall. The occasion was the twenty-fifth annual concert of the Toronto Jewish Folk Choir, Emil Gartner conducting, Fagel Gartner at the piano, and Paul Robeson, bass.

Paul Robeson, all-American halfback, star graduate of Rutger University, famed interpreter of Othello, and champion of freedom and equality for his race, who sent his son to school in Moscow to escape race prejudice in the United States, struck a resounding chord for his convictions once again. Unlike his recent appearances in New York where he combined speech and song to a political end, in this performance he confined his message to song — but its impact was just as sharp and true.

He sang Love Shall Find Out the Way, My Love Is Like the Garden (in French), an old English folk song, No, John, No, Ol' Man River, and Waterboy. Infused in each rendition was the deep, sonorous resonance for which Robeson is world renowned. In each, excepting the gay folk songs, there ran a pervading strain of pathos, evidence of the singer's inmost conviction (Show a little grit and you'll land in jail). One sensed from the supraliminal cues manifested in his performance and stage presence, an aura of vindication, a mind and soul harrowed by the piercing shafts of critical crowds.

Emil Gartner conducted a program full of the spirit of the Jewish race. There were Hecher Besser (a traditional wedding song), Kirchs Glokn, a Spanish serenade, and Shir Haemek, in their first group. The choir's flair for the folk songs was evident here. Although primarily unconcerned with Don Cossack precision, conductor Gartner drew from his choir his fervor and rich harmony that amply transcended those few technical discrepancies that occurred.

In the Gloria In Excelsis (from Bach's B minor Mass) the Jewish Folk Choir rose to its stirring, jubilant height. In contrast was the rendering of A Free Song (William Schuman). First, it was too long, and had no melodic line. Neither was there any evidence of structure in harmony or development. In its theme of freedom the work is too free with the basic principles of composition to result in an abysmal cacophony of unrelated sounds.

When the choir combined with Paul Robeson, the effect of both was enhanced a thousandfold as in Joe Hill and Joshua Fit' the Battle of Jericho, where the musicianship of basso and chorus blended in eloquent song.

Saturday night's performance was not primarily a musical event, for the music sung was but the medium through which a principle was proclaimed. That principle is the equality of man. In the calibre of their achievement, Paul Robeson and Emil Gartner spoke convincingly in its behalf.

William Glenesk.

ORGAN RECITAL

by

DR. HEALEY WILLAN

University Organist

at 5 p.m.

TODAY

Convocation Hall

ATTENTION

ALL VIC STUDENTS IN GRADUATING YEAR

Place your order for Torontonensis on Monday or Tuesday, December 5th and 6th in V.C.U. Office — 10 - 2 Price $3.50

5TO 5TI

BURWASH HALL

VIC XMAS PARTY

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9

5TO 5TI

T.S.O. Pops

When a place like Massey Hall calls as big a crowd as it did Friday night, the attraction must be unusual. And unusual it was, for the nationally known pianist, Jesus Sanroma, belongs to the aristocracy of great artists. Playing public performances since 1917, the talented Puerto Rican has literally played his way into the hearts of listeners everywhere. He did just that and perhaps more on this occasion.

Heard first with the orchestra in Saint-Saens' Concerto No. 2 in G minor, he proceeded to weave through a mystical labyrinth of trouncing chords, flying arpeggi and brilliant modulations that called forth every element of imagination and surprise. But as a soloist, whether it be DeFalla's Ritual Fire Dance, the White Indian's Dance of Villa-Lobos or Chopin's nostalgic eighth octurne, Sanroma can always draw on a keen technical and interpretive virtuosity that is almost without equal. Such extreme manual dexterity and legerity is very seldom seen. Too, he carefully avoids that universal fault of overpedalling, with the result that his attacks are sharp and his releases clean.

The orchestral part of the program was very well executed. Sir Ernest opened the program with Anton Dvorak's well-known "Car-

(Continued on Page 5)

The talk of every campus! A must for every school belle!

Revlon's new 'Fashion-Write' the first and only all-in-one lipstick-pen

One end a lipstick!

Revlon's famous lipstick in purse size gold-tone case

all in one 2.50

- Now! No digging for your lipstick...no fumbling for your pen!
- New! Smartest, most-talked-about fashion accessory in years!
- One end a Revlon lipstick in your favorite genius color!
- The other end...a superlative smooth-glide pen!

The way campus queens fall for Revlon's new "Fashion-Write"... it's love at first sight! And small wonder! It's the conversation piece of every gathering...the absolutely-must accessory of the season. So handy, too, because in one slim gold-tone case you get a Revlon genius color lipstick plus a smooth-glide pen (one of the finest pens made, according to independent research laboratories). Be smart...own "Fashion-Write"...this very day!

Smooth-glide pen made by one of America's leading pen manufacturers

One end a pen!

AT BETTER BEAUTY SALONS, DRUG AND DEPARTMENT STORES

Art, Music and Drama

(Continued from Page 4)

nival Overture". In contrast to its abrupt boisterousness, Walton's arrangement of Bach's Sheep May Safely Graze, of fame in organ literature, was a peaceful, pastoral scene which could be attributed to any rural setting. In commemoration of St. Andrew's Day, the gaiety of old Scotland also had a part in the evening with Sir Ernest conducting the orchestra in his own St. Andrew's Day Medley.

But the "orchestra without a conductor" interested me most: two oboes and an English horn playing Beethoven's "Minuet and Finale" from Trio Op. 87. From hearing these three men play, it would be impossible to conceive the difficulties involved in achieving such accurate synchronization and meticulous clarity as they did. The Strauss waltz, Tales From Vienna Woods followed by the serene Clair de Lune of Claude Debussy as an encore brought the well-rounded program of good listening to a close.

Kenneth Davis

Victoria Glee Club

The Glee Club is still the step-child of the Victoria College Music Club. Only eleven of Vic's male enrolment participated in the concert last Friday and Saturday in the Museum Theatre, and as a result the balance of tone was good only below mezzo-forte. The sole exception to this was the beautiful Non Nobis Domine of Byrd, in three part harmony, which allowed the minority to compete on more nearly equal terms; it was effective.

The pianissimos found the club at its best, and perhaps the highlights of the programme were the two Christmas carols Sing We of Mary and I Sing of a Maiden by Patton, which gripped the audience.

The absence of robust tone was all too evident, and at least part of the blame should be ascribed to the choice of auditorium. The Museum Theatre has no reverberation, which makes musical sounds seem pinched, and emphasizes every roughness. Even the instrumental trio from the Conservatory, who performed a sonata by Tartini and part of the Vivaldi Concerto in "A" Minor, failed to overcome this difficulty; in spite of excellent precision, the music seemed choppy and brittle.

In a programme which was mainly Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century selections, the choice of auditorium should have received more careful attention. The third part of the concert was a hodge-podge, in which a quartette managed to execute some barbarous, if not hair-raising harmonies. We would suggest that only experienced performers be asked to fill in for next year's concert. Conductor this year was Elmer Iseler, an undergraduate in the Faculty of Music.

Lloyd Zurbrigg

Our Readers Write

U.S. Tradition

Editors, The Varsity:

According to the spokesmen of St. Mike's and U.S. immigration officers, a man is guilty until proved innocent. Who mentioned "British tradition"?

Barbara Bambridge
II UC

✣ ✣ ✣

Press Prices

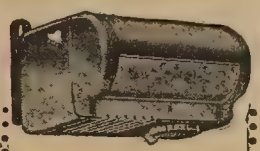
Editor, The Varsity:

Several weeks ago the executive of this Society submitted a letter to The Varsity criticizing what they considered, at that time, the disproportionate rates charged by the University of Toronto Press. Since then, however, an investigation of prices charged by the Press in relation to prices charged by several Toronto printing companies has been carried out, and this Executive feels that Press charges to student societies on the campus are not out of line insofar as their presses are easily adapted to the type of work required.

For printing of ordinary requirements, the Press probably offers better rates to students than many local firms.

The Executive,
University College Literary and Athletic Society.

More than 54,000 Japanese were killed in the 1944 Burma campaign — more than one-third of all the Japanese forces in Burma.

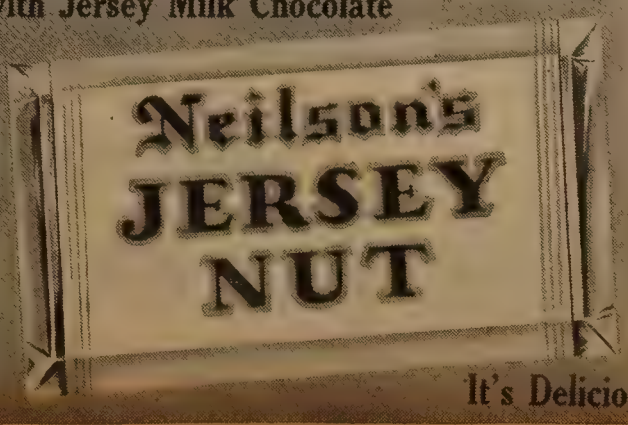


Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary of York, heir to the British throne, was born at Royal Lodge, Windsor Great Park, on April 21, 1926.

THE
STUDENTS' ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL
presents
THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
ALL-VARSITY MIXED CHORUS
LEE HEPNER, conductor

- FRANCK . . . Symphony in D. Minor
- BERLIOZ . . . Excerpts from the Damnation of Faust
- BORODIN . . . Dance Polovtsienne

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 11 — 8.20 P. M.
CONVOCATION HALL ADMISSION FREE



YOU CAN'T MISS
DENTANTICS
★
Fri., Dec. 9
— 2 Shows and Dancing to
Ellis McClintock and Orchestra
$3.00 COUPLE
★
Sat., Dec. 10
— TWO FINE SHOWS
75c EACH
★
TICKETS FOR ALL FACULTIES
ON SALE ALL THIS WEEK
AT HART HOUSE THEATRE

MORE FUN IN BED FOR EVERYONE

MITCHELL Lullaby BED LAMP-RADIO
Here's the smartest bedtime story ever told! Read under perfect light that's kind to your eyes—while your favorite radio program plays softly in your ears. The Lullaby, styled like a dream in gleaming plastic combines a true-toned quality radio with a scientifically designed no-glare reading light. Compact; fits any bed; for AC or DC; lamp and radio operate separately or together as desired. See and buy the Lullaby today! At better radio dealers everywhere.
MITCHELL MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.
TORONTO 8, ONTARIO

Elizabeth Arden's precious
Perfumair

Will not leak . . .
Will not spill . . .
Just tilt it gently
. . . touch it to arm, throat and immediately
the lovely perfume spreads.
Holds 1¼ drams of "My Love", "Blue Grass", "On Dit", "White Orchid", "It's You" or "Night and Day"; with simulated sapphire, emerald or ruby jewel-set top . . . nestled in a grey suede-cloth case . . . 3.00.
Simpson's
Elizabeth Arden Counter — Street Floor

ALL U.C. - P.H.E. WOMEN
Elect Your '50 - '51 S.A.C. Representative
U.C. ROTUNDA 10 - 4
TUES., DEC. 6
Candidates:
JOAN EDDIS
ZAIRA MURRAY

Tasty whole Filberts
with Jersey Milk Chocolate

Neilson's JERSEY
NUT
It's Delicious

ISO IT'S POLISH NIGHT MEETS AGAIN DEC. 7

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

1889 1949

In early days, cream was skimmed from the top of milk left standing overnight in pans in a cool, deep cellar. Or cans of milk were immersed in cold water from the well or spring. When the cream had risen to the top, the milk was drained out of the bottom of the can leaving the cream, which was then churned in a dash churn or barrel churn. Today in modern dairy plants no care or expense is spared in protecting the purity of milk, cream and other dairy products. Nickel alloys are used in pasteurizers, coolers, bottling machines and other equipment, because these alloys are corrosion-resistant and easy to keep clean and sanitary.

Canadian Nickel sold Abroad brings in U.S. Dollars

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

INCO

CANADIAN NICKEL

FIRST PRODUCED IN CANADA IN 1889

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60 page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

THE INTERNATIONAL NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, 25 KING STREET WEST, TORONTO

Movie Review

Four Steps In The Clouds

In "Beyond the Forest", (Odeon) Bette Davis lives in a small mill town in Wisconsin. Every once in a while she wanders down to the railway station to gaze at the Chicago-bound train, but figures the only way she'll ever get out of the place is to wait until the undertaker takes her out. As it turns out she's right. Anyone who has ever spent any time in a mill town will appreciate this frustration.

However this girl is an unstable sort to start with, and boredom only makes her worse. Like the giant incinerator in the centre of the town, she is burning herself up in a personal little hell all her own. Sick of her unambitious husband (Joseph Cotten) and the neighbours who breed like rabbits, she determines to run off with a Chicago millionaire (David Brian). Somewhat hampered in this move, she is obliged to shoot a nasty old man, and abort a prospective child. Then, all set for Chicago and dying of fever, she heads for the station.

The picture has so far had enough bad views to make it a likely candidate for the worst picture of the year, but Davis fans will wonder what all the griping is about. Ever since Warners first threw her over the studio wall, with good riddance, to R.K.O. to be Mildred in "Of Human Bondage", a part no reputable star would touch, she has found it profitable to be bad, or at least unhappy. Since then millions have enjoyed her in a wider variety of suffering and violence than anyone else on the screen. Murder, suicide, insanity, disease, brain tumor, branding, and a leper colony have concluded previous adventures in misery, and this time fans are in for another treat.

In "Beyond the Forest" her performance is, as usual, very strong, but much earthier than usual, and freer of the Davis mannerisms. Joseph Cotten and Dona Drake give solid support, and Max Steiner is on hand in the sound track to accompany her with full orchestra in her last grotesque jaunt down to the station. Of course she never does get beyond the forest; she drops dead beside the tracks.

Nowadays any serious movie in modern dress is liable to fall under heavy panning unless it is widely significant. "Beyond the Forest" is tragic but not significant — merely escapism, and very good as such.

Jim Dickinson

Jerse Verse

By THEMISTOCLES

There was a young speaker named Lamb
Who his pieces composed on a tram
As he rose up to speak
Our suspense reached a peak
Then he came out with "Here's Bay Street, m'am."

Varsity Students

(Continued from Page 3)

"It's only natural that I would think of Communists because the letters I receive indicate they would go to any length to take a cut at me. But if students say they did it as a prank then God bless them. I certainly wouldn't be the one to call those young fellows Communists."

Controller Balfour hasn't always been so liberal minded about students at The University of Toronto. Last year when the University was given a two million dollar grant by the city he made a remark about the University being "pretty red."

Student Wrecks

(Continued from Page 3)

learning results from an ever increasing amount of work, added Dr. Line.

The general mechanics of study call for a familiar, non-distracting place for study, where the materials necessary are at hand, a recognition that study is not a passive process,—that material must be made meaningful through comprehension, not just taken as an array of raw facts. Study must be broken into periods suited to the individual's ability to remain attentive, and varied by change of subject or type of activity for maximum learning. Because learning is an active process, the period of change allows consolidation to take place, said Dr. Line.

Set a Goal

Goals and objectives must be set. Students with a definite course such as medicine, or law tend to concentrate better because they have definite goals. Short attainable goals such as the next exercise, or page, aid learning since they lend this effect, stressed Dr. Line.

Self discipline is needed in concentration—whether to stay up and study or stretch out and sleep?

Material should be skimmed to extract the structure into which the details may be fitted as time permits. One's own appreciation of the meaning of the material, and an original organization of it is necessary, Dr. Line said.

The clearer the objective, the more automatic is the pattern of effective study. If the student's purpose for being at the university is hazy, motivation and incentive to get down and study will be lacking, concluded Dr. Line.

Blue Gals

(Continued from Page 8)

sar edged out Queen's to cop second place.

Excitement ran high when the diving results showed that Marg had placed first in a field of nine contestants.

The evening closed with a 200 yard free style relay. Fast action by Marg, Phyl, Sheila Lennox and Peg Rountree enabled us to finish in 2.03.

Those long hours of practise have really paid off and our congratulations to the whole team on a wonderful display of top-notch swimming, especially to Marg for her four firsts! Finally special credit should go to coach Miss Baxter, whose careful choice and expert training have produced the Champion Swimming team of 1949.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

NEW 1950 PORTABLE

Typewriter, Underwood, Royals, Remingtons, for sale or rent, $1.00 weekly Free typing course, free home demonstration and delivery JU. 3575.

REQUEST

Have you got your formals ready for New Year's yet? Also please don't leave your alterations till Christmas week! Helmar, RA. 5978—opposite School of Law.

FOR SALE

Phillips Portable battery-electric radio. Only 4 months old, in excellent condition. Contact me in Varsity Office any week-day between 1-2 p.m.

LOST

Gold ring, black inset, initial "E". Please noctact E. Mayotte, Knox College.

FOR SALE

Dress Suit, size 38. Tuxedo, size 38. Black velvet evening wrap. Blue dinner dress, 36. Call LY. 9018.

$5,700

$2,000 cash—Easy walking distance from University, old interesting house, well-built, oil furnace, insulated, 3 bedrooms, large living room. HY. 1841.

FOR SALE

New brown leather snowboots, fur lined, felt insoles, zippers, crepe soles, size 8-9. Heavy wool socks. Size 36 trousers, suitable for skiing. C. A. McCurdy, 3 Devonshire Place. MI. 0341.

CIVILS

Have your thesis typed by a Science Grad and Professional Stenographer. Reasonable rates. Reservations accepted. Phone RA. 7025, Nora McLaren.

TIE EXCHANGE

43 Yorkville St. Send "Blacksheep" tie with 25c. Wrap coin in tie. Specify colour and pattern desired in exchange. Remember "Quality begets quality".

ALTERATIONS

All types expertly done. Reasonable rates. Same as last year. Phone Madame Elise. KI. 0457, near campus. Don't wait for the dance or party. Phone now.

FREE PICK-UP & DELIVERY

Guaranteed Radio Repairs. Special Students' discount, $1.00 weekly buys new 1950 radio or radio combination. Free home demonstration. JU. 9321 or JU. 3575.

OCULIST PRESCRIPTION CO.

DISPENSING OPTICIANS R

Prescriptions for glasses filled with quality spectacleware at reasonable prices.

Quick, accurate repair service

321 BLOOR ST. W. Phone MI. 6762

(Ground Floor St. George Apartments)

OPPOSITE MEDICAL ARTS BUILDING

Special Discount to Students and Members of the Faculty

In A Hurry?

SAME DAY CLEANING SERVICE

AT YOUR CAMPUS STORE

633½ SPADINA

IN BY 10-OUT BY 5

CASH 'N' CARRY

(Slight Extra Charge)

FRIDAY IS NOT TOO LATE

United-De Forest CLEANERS • DYERS

15% Discount to Students

Corsages our Specialty

Aberdeen's FLORAL STORES

Phone Orders Accepted and Delivered

FLORAL DESIGNS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

2 STORES TO SERVE YOU

31 BLOOR W. (Near Bay) MI. 2495

1034 Eglinton W. OR. 3849

The Season's First

ATHLETIC NIGHT

HART HOUSE ATHLETIC WING

Saturday, December 10th

BASKETBALL — WATER POLO
BOXING — WRESTLING
SWIMMING
FOOTBALL MOVIES
— DANCING —

ADMISSION 50c

TICKETS ON SALE AT ALL COLLEGES AND FACULTIES
— See Notice Boards for Details —

GAMES TODAY

4.00 Viv III	vs	Law	Hayes, Ruddy
2.30 St. M. B	vs	SPS IV	Gawinski, Carr
4.00 Viv III	vs	Law	Hayes, Ruddy

BASKETBALL REFEREES

Applications are still open for Basketball referees for Intramural series. APPLY NOW — Intramural Office, Hart House.

FOOTBALL & SOCCER OFFICIALS

CALL AT INTRAMURAL OFFICE TUESDAY FOR PAY—2.00 P.M.

Official jerseys must be returned.

WATER POLO REFEREES

All men interested in acting as referees in the Intramural Water Polo league will attend a Referees Clinic starting on MONDAY, Dec. 5th, 1.00 p.m. in the Fencing Room, Hart House. APPLY NOW AT INTRAMURAL OFFICE.

WATER POLO INSTRUCTION

Classes will be held on MONDAY and WEDNESDAY at 1.00 p.m. starting on Monday, Dec. 5th. All men interested in the Intramural Water Polo League are encouraged to attend.

Physical Education credits will be given.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL PRACTICE SCHEDULE

LILLIAN MASSEY:—

Monday, Dec. 5
5.30-6.30 St. Hilda's
6.30-7.30 St. Mike's
7.30-8.30 Meds.

Tuesday, Des. 6
5.30-6.30 Institutional Management
6.30-7.30 School of Nursing
7.30-8.30 Vic

Wednesday, Dec. 7.
5.30-6.30 Physio
6.30-7.30 O.T.
7.30-8.30 U.C.

SOCCER

VARSITY BLUES (Sr. Intercollegiate Champions) vs TRINITY "A's" (Intramural Champions).

Varsity Stadium, Today, Dec. 5th, 2.30 p.m.

Weather permitting

VARSITY TEAM:—Reed, Moffat, D., Broadhurst, Moffat, L., Evans, Thompson, Leach, Allan, Wyler, Antoni, Barton, Ruchuda, Delfosse, Montemurro, Wotherspoon.

SKI

SKI PINS ARE NOW ON SALE AT THE ATHLETIC OFFICE, HART HOUSE

25c

Ski buses will be operated on Sundays during the winter when snow conditions warrant, leaving from Hart House at 9:15 a.m., going to the Athletic Association Ski Property near Newmarket and returning at 5:00 p.m.

Fare $1.00

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SKI TRIP to SAINT SAUVEUR, QUEBEC

Organized and arranged by the Students' Administrative Council

ALL EXPENSES - Hotel, Railway, Meals, Checking $25.00

Leave Toronto Friday evening, January 27th, 1950, by special Canadian National Railways train 8:00 p.m.

Return leave St. Sauveur Sunday, January 29th, 1950, 7:30 p.m. arriving Toronto, Monday morning January 30th, 1950.

As accommodation is limited, reservations will be accepted from now on at Students' Administrative Council offices.

DEPOSIT $5.00 REQUIRED, BALANCE BY JANUARY 9th, 1950.

Pullman accommodation will be available, if desired.

Men—S.A.C. Office, Hart House Women—S.A.C. Office, Room 62, University College

ROLL YOUR OWN BETTER CIGARETTES WITH

DAILY MAIL CIGARETTE TOBACCO

Trinity Beat Skule For Soccer Laurels

Doctors Defeat UC 10-8 To Capture Second Win In Dafoe Cup Playoffs

By BRUCE MACDONALD

Playing a tight defensive game, and showing the ability to score nearly every time they pressed into shooting territory, the Meds I lacrosse team downed the UC Ists. in the second game of the play-off series for the Dafoe Cup at Hart House last Friday afternoon. The UC squad has protested the game because of referee's decision in the final quarter, but if the protest is unsuccessful the win will give the Meds the championship.

Meds opened the scoring after only 2 minutes and 45 seconds of play and stayed in the lead until a UC drive in the final quarter succeeded in tying the score at 8 all. Then Chambers of UC was fouled, but before the whistle blew he committed a foul himself. Chambers protested the slashing foul so violently that the officials tacked a misconduct penalty on in addition. Thus both teams were forced to play one man-short for the remaining two minutes. Bob Heatherington and Axe Haliburton each notched a counter in the dying minutes to make the final score 10-8 in Meds' favor.

Despite the UC attack, Meds scored twice in the first quarter, Ted Beaton and Al Varga getting the counters. The only UC marker in the first stanza came on a nice effort by Dutch Young after he had received a long pass from Frank Chambers. Both team managed to snag two goals in the second quarter making the score UC 3, Meds 5 at half time.

The third quarter started off with Bill Davis of UC and Axe Haliburton of Meds on the sideline for roughing. Meds still monopolized the scoring department and the board read 7-4 in favor of Meds at the end of the quarter. In the final stanza UC began a drive to gain the lead that had the crowd roaring and proved the most thrilling part of the contest.

A goal by Jack Raymond right off the face-off and a beautiful shot by Chambers put UC only one goal behind at the 4 minute mark. UC continued to press the attack and managed to tie the score at 8 all before the Chambers incident came up and seemed to take all the life out of the Red and White squad as they allowed Meds to score two more goals before the end of the game.

John MacIlwrith and Axe Haliburton were standouts for Meds scoring two goals apiece, while Frank Chambers, stocky UC forward was the individual star of the match, scoring three goals and sparking the UC attack throughout the whole game. Dutch Young and Jack Raymond also played well for UC.

UC Protests Boxla Final

The UC Lacrosse team has registered a protest with the Intramural Office in connection with the boxla final with Meds on Friday. If the protest is upheld a re-play will be forced but if the appeal is thrown out Meds will be awarded the Dafoe Cup for the second win would give them the best of the two out of three series. Meds won the finals opener last Wednesday 10-4. A meeting has been called for this afternoon at 5 p.m. to decide the issue. UC are protesting on the basis of a penalty given to star Frank Chambers late in the game shortly after they had tied the score at eight all.

Junior Bees Pounded 6-0 By Westons

Weston, Dec. 2—(Staff)—In a Junior "B" hockey game here Friday Weston Dukes outskated, outpassed, outshot, and outchecked Varsity Bees to the tune of 6-0. The Dukes were so much the better team that Coach Bill Wade could have taken every player off the ice except John Milne and the score wouldn't have been much higher. The superb playing of Milne in gial was the highlight of the game as far as Varsity was concerned.

Weston came out on the ice in the first period and from the face-off pushed the Bees into their own back-yard and left them there until Jago on a three-way passing play with Reid and Jamieson put the Dukes out in front after three minutes of play. Ten minutes later Bell on a pass from Wheldrake sank what proved to be the clincher. With about five minutes to go in the first period Don Fullerton received a hard, clean check from a Duke and was assisted off the ice. Early in the second period Don again was hit and pulled tendons in his right knee which kept him out of the game.

Early in the second period Weston scored again, Jamieson from Nicholson. Midway through this period Weston received two quick penalties and Varsity with a two-man advantage couldn't put the puck behind Chadwick, the Weston goalie. With little more than five minutes of play left in the period Jago scored his second goal of the evening from Reid.

Arts Faculty Cup To Buttery Boys For Second Year

By BILL LEACH

Trinity "A" soccer team took the Intramural Championship and the Arts Faculty Trophy for the second consecutive year yesterday as they defeated Jr. SPS. The Varsity Stadium pitch lends itself to a finer type of football than is usually seen on the smaller front campus fields, and certainly the final was a bright and interesting game, and was not always as one-sided as the 3-0 score would indicate.

Teams Keen

Both teams looked very fit and keen at the kick-off, and for the better part of the first half the game was wide open, and it looked as if the first team to score might prove the winners. That is the way things turned out too, though in the latter part of the game the greater experience of the Red and Black began to take effect, and this was particularly noticeable in the respective forward lines. Whereas the Skule approach work was admirable, their finishing was lamentable.

Armstrong Shines

The best performance of the day was that of big Bob Armstrong, who was as sound as a rock in the Skule defence. The sensation of the day was Don Glen, his opposite number on the Trinity side. Despite momentary lapses which revealed his unfamiliarity with the game, this Wizz Boom boy did many fine things on the back line. Others who showed up well were Britton-Foster, Forbes, and Cox, who played at pivot spot, on the winning team, and Jessop, Lee, and Atucha for the losers.

The first score was a heartbreaker to the game Skule boys, as it came off the boot of Big Bob himself, direct from a corner-kick taken by Wareham. This was all Trinity could do in the first half. Mention should be made of the fine work of both custodians on view. Clark of SPS was brisk and snappy, though lacking in confidence, while Matthews deserves credit for his shut-out performance. Matthews was not severely tested yesterday, but a man who only allows three goals in a season to beat him is a handy man to have around any time!

Officiating Ragged

In the second half play was mostly in Skule territory, and two smart goals by captain Barry Britton-Foster, the first from a goalmouth scramble, and the second following another fine corner by Wareham, were enough to clinch the issue. The officiating was a little ragged at times, but both teams put up a sporting show, which brings another soccer season to a satisfactory conclusion.

Varsity Cagers Defeated In U.S.

The Varsity basketball team, just returned from a three-day journey to the Hew Hess Hay, had a fairly successful trip considering the top notch competition they ran into. Thursday they were edged by Buffalo State 59-45, lost Friday 79-45 to Syracuse U and finished up Saturday being drubbed 72-35 by the powerful Colgate team. Veterans Jack Gray, John McManus and Bill Lachance were the scoring leaders for the Blues. The first game was the closest with Buffalo just pulling away in the last quarter. McManus was tops with 16. Friday the Blues' shooting eyes were really focussed as they sank 35% of their shots from the field. In the Saturday contest the shooting of the Varsity squad was way off and they couldn't cope with the big Colgate team. All scores were better than last year.

Sportshorts

Montreal, Dec. 4—(Exchange)—Next fall may find two ex-McGill Redmen in the Grey Cup champion Montreal Alouettes' line-up. Lew Hayman will invite Rocky Robillard and John Newman to show with the Als. Both are fourth year students. Robillard was in line for an assistant coaching spot at old McGill.

Toronto—(Staff)—Varsity hockey Blues dropped a one-sided game to West York Motors 8-2. Norm Fox got both Varsity goals.

Montreal—(Exchange)—The University of Montreal Carabins dumped the McGill hockey sextet 5-2. The win put the Carabins, defending champions, in first place. Next Friday the winners will meet the Blues in the league opener here.

Varsity Arena—(Staff)—St. Mike's "A" hockey team shut out Sr. Meds 5-0. P. and E. Duffy scored and McLoughlin got two and a few stitches. Dents "B" edged SPS VII 6-1 in another hockey fixture.

Speaking Of Sport

By BOB DNIEPER

A source of wonder and amazement to this department in past years has been the, shall we say, imperfect support given the hockey teams of this fair university. The senior team has won over the past years more than their share of championships (two out of the last three, as a matter of fact) and have always been the leading contenders when they didn't hold the marbles. And it looks like this nice arrangement will be continued this year.

It's a rare day indeed when Varsity Arena (capacity 4.5 M) is filled for the senior games, in spite of the fact that the boys usually put on a red-hot show. Maple Leaf Gardens is always packed for the pro games, and how many of those games are professionally played? For that matter, how many fans can differentiate between the play of pro's and the play of near pro's like the Varsity seniors? It's only a short jump from senior intercollegiate to professional, as witness Montreal's Gelineau; and we don't think more than ten Varsity students know hockey well enough to tell the difference.

Then what's the answer? Why don't people attend Varsity games? We don't know. But we are sure of one thing—professional hockey doesn't show more than twice a year the fire and spirit shown by the college boys. There's a big difference in a guy playing seventy games a season for a salary and a kid playing ten just for the fun, and in some measure the honor, of it. The amateur is going to go out there and play with a driving spirit that finds its way to the spectators and makes a real battle rather than an exhibition out of the game.

And the hockey is good. It's rough, fast, and full of fire. Very seldom (and never to our knowledge) do the teams put on a lackadaisical game like they do in some of the NHL efforts. The intercollegiate stuff is really a lot of fun for the spectators . . . . they know the players are out there fighting for their schools, and not out there just because they happen to be playing for that team.

This coming Friday the Carabins will be here, and it promises to be one of the hottest games that will be played, pro or otherwise. Plenty of color, plenty of hockey; and you guys that are squawking about the high cost of dating should take our advice and bring your girl along to the Arena Friday. Admission free to students with ATL cards, and you won't be sorry you went.

The same thing applies to the Junior B and intermediate hockey. The Bees play every Tuesday at Varsity Arena and every Friday at Weston, and that's a swell place for a guy to get regular entertainment for the winter costing him only a little wear and tear on the wallet that holds his ATL card. Great stuff, this school hockey, but we have run out of space, so . . . . we'll shut up for a while.

VARSITY SPORTS

Blue Gals Cop Top Spot In Intercoll Splash Meet

By DOREEN DUFF

Hamilton, Dec. 3—(Staff)—"Shout and fight for the Blue and White and the honour of U. of T." . . . and we had plenty to shout about last Saturday as we sat at the Municipal Pool in Hamilton to watch some forty mermaids compete for the intercollegiate championship.

In past years McGill has rivalled Toronto, tying with us in '47 and beating us by three points in '48; but this year it was different. From the word "Go" it was Toronto all the way.

Yes, it was our gals who placed in every event to hold the lead all evening and to emerge victorious with 33 points and the coveted championship. The runner-up was McGill with 21 points; Queen's and Western tied with 13 each, while McMaster trailed with 0.

Early Lead

Toronto took an early lead when Marg Harrington won the free style event with ease, completing the 50 yard course in 29.4 secs. McGill's Joan Croll led the breast stroke race in 36.3, while our entry, Pam Perrin, placed second. Marg came through again to win the 75 yd individual medley in 56.2 secs.

The execution of three compulsory tricks was the next item on the program, and this, together with a routine, made up the single synchronized event. Western's June Taylor put on a dazzling show. In a sparkling sequinned suit and cap she swam to "Moonbeam" to win top place. Toronto scored again when Jean Cossar was awarded third place.

Then once again there was a thrashing of arms and legs and from it all emerged Joan Mingie, to win the back stroke race in 37.2 secs.; our Zi Murray was close behind in 37.6.

Synchronized Swimming

The only tie of the evening occurred in the synchronized duet. Choosing "Besame Mucho" for their number Jean and Lois Cossar received 81.66 points for their smooth rendition, equal with the Currie sisters from Queen's. However in the event of a tie preference is given to the ones with the highest marks for execution (this 98% of the possible marks went to the Cunries for their near-perfect performance of "Sunshine and Shadow."

McGill's medley relay team placed the 150 yd race at 146.1 secs. Pris Manning, Zi Murray and Jean Cos-

(Continued on Page 7)

Sportswoman

Now that intramural basketball is finished practices for volleyball, intercollegiate basketball and hockey began this week in preparation for games after the holidays.

Thelma Henderson, president of volleyball, has drawn up a schedule this week for try-outs in the UC gym. To-day from 5:30-6:30 has been allotted to St. Hilda's, while from 6:30-7:30 St. Mike's will have a chance and at 7:30 Meds take over the court.

To-morrow the time for Institutional Management is 5:30, with Nurses at 6:30 and Vic at 7:30. Physio takes the first period on Wednesday, OT is next and UC has to be content with playing after dinner.

The Undergraduate Daily

THE VARSITY

The Weather
Clear and Cool

VOL. LXIX, NO. 53 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Tuesday, December 6, 1949

"All-Varsity" Spirit Challenged By Vic Vote 13-12 Against

"All-Varsity social affairs have run roughshod over college interests," V.C.U. President Stan Kurisko charged yesterday in the Vic Debating Parliaments debate on the topic, "Resolved: That All-Varsity social activities are detrimental to college interests." The motion was supported 13-12.

Hetherington Against

Opposing the motion, guest speaker Bob Hetherington, president of S.A.C., said all-Varsity social affairs and college interests "are mutually complementary."

Kurisko opened for the affirmative, saying he was registering a protest against "the increasing size and numbers of all-Varsity social activities."

He said the aim of all-Varsity social activities is threefold: to create all-Varsity spirit, to create interest among students about other faculties' activities, and to enable students from various parts of the campus to meet. Denying these aims are attained, Kurisko declared all-Varsity social activities merely "throw students together" so that they become "lost in the crowd."

Opening for the negative, Vic S.A.C. men's representative, Doug Thomas emphasized the value of all-Varsity social activities. "In a university this size there is a marvellous opportunity to meet people of different viewpoints," he said.

Victoria "Social"

He claimed such activities are most valuable to Victoria College students who might "easily become localized." New ideas could be got by people working on all-Varsity affairs. Working with students who would at other times be rivals was also valuable, and thus changed "animosity into friendly rivalry."

Second speaker for the affirmative George Slater said all-Varsity social activities are part of a tendency in the whole of society to bury the individual in the mass.

U.S. Blamed

"This trend away from the small integrated group to the big group is part of a movement of society as a whole," he said. "I blame it on the influence of the United States. People have to build up everything to the point where it becomes an extravaganza." But this movement was harmful to character. "We have plenty of followers in the world today and very few leaders."

Final speaker for the negative, Ruth Manning, Vic women's S.A.C. representative, said all-Varsity social activities like pep rallies actually aid college activities by gathering students together on the campus. It was natural for them to proceed from there to college and class parties.

LPPer's Speech Banned By YMCA Students Protest

Montreal, Dec. 5—(CUP)—A large group of students gathered last week to hear a speech on "Communism In Democracy" protesting the restraint on free speech at Sir George Williams College. The speech, written by the Quebec Organizer of the L.P.P., was read by the secretary of the Political Problems Club of the University, who prefaced his reading by disclaiming any similarity of his views with the speech and stated ". . . I would hope that the reading of this speech would serve as an object lesson to show that although a speech may be banned, freedom of thought can never be stifled."

This situation has resulted from the fact that Georgian students have no adequate meeting hall off-campus speakers in the Metropolitan Y.M.C.A. The Y.M.C.A. has a policy of requiring all speakers to be cleared before appearing.

Recent Graduate Surgical Science Award Winner

This year's award of the George Armstrong Peters Prize for important contributions toward surgical science has been made to Dr. W. G. Bigelow, a University of Toronto research fellow in surgery. The announcement of the award was made by President Sidney Smith recently.

The prize consists of cash and silver and is awarded biennially to a graduate of not more than ten years standing. The prize was first awarded in 1912 and is named after Dr. G. A. Peters, former Professor of Surgery at the University.

Dr. Bigelow won the award this year for his work in the field of vascular surgery.

BOTTLE-BABY BITES BACK

DR. W. MARCUS D. LONG of the Department of Philosophy will be the Honorary visitor at the Hart House debate to be held tomorrow in Hart House. The Resolution will be: Resolved that bottle fed babies seldom grow up.

Dr. Long has issued a statement to The Varsity which outlines his position in the controversy.

"I understand this debate is an attack on the present-day system of class-room instruction and that the motion about bottle-fed babies provides a perfect analogy. I don't know about this since I have so little acquaintance with bottles, but I do know about the defects of the present system of education. I shall attack it strongly. For those who have difficulty following a closely reasoned and logically prepared address the outline of my argument is as follows:

"The class-room system of education is wrong because; 1) It is silly; 2) It is stupid, and 3) I should like to be Dean of Women.

"At exactly 8 minutes and 30 second after I begin to speak (allowing time-out for breathing, points of order and sabotage) I shall make the following statement—Any student correctly identifying this will be given A standing in the Christmas examinations. All entries must be written on the back of a ten-dollar note or reasonable substitute thereof and posted to reach me not later than New Year's Eve.

"This will be a fair and open fight with everybody encouraged to exercise his democratic privilege of voting according to his own light. There will be a strong delegation from 4th year Skule to beat the tar out of anyone who fails to vote freely in favour of the motion."

SIEG HEIL TOVARISH

The debates committee of Hart House confidently expects a larger crowd than has attended any of the previous debates this year.

"All-Varsity" Spirit Aim Of St. Mike's Alter Constitution

A sweeping amendment to the college SAC constitution was passed by a mass meeting of St. Michael's students in Brennan Hall yesterday. The change is aimed at closer and more effective cooperation of the college with the University SAC and other university activities.

Hands Free

Under the new ruling St. Michael's SAC president will be freed from the demands of college functions so that he can devote himself entirely to activities "across Queen's Park". The dances and other functions on the college campus for which the president would otherwise be responsible will now be handled entirely by the vice-president.

However all final responsibility and authority will continue to rest with the president. He will also continue to preside over council meetings. This clause was inserted to ensure the continued close contact of the college council with the university.

Job Too Big

Commenting on the change President Dave Quigley said, "The job is simply too big for one person to handle effectively. Yet we felt that we could not afford to fall down either at St. Mike's or at the University. This solution, we hope, will not only maintain the present close co-operation, but will work toward even better relations in the future."

A unanimous vote of confidence was passed after the reading of a report on the council activities so far this year. A serious discussion on the work of the council during the Macmillan University Bookstore fight showed the interest of St. Michael's students in further activities of the council in co-operation with the University.

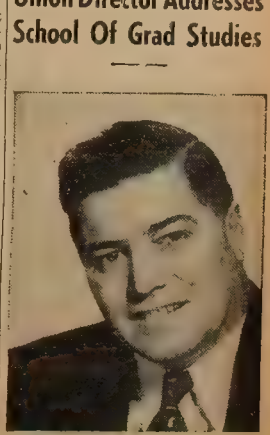
Also written into the books was an amendment admitting professional students now in residence on the campus to representation on the students council. An election to fill the office of professional students' representative will be held next week.

UBC Civil Rights Group Supports Roebuck Proposal

Vancouver, Dec. 5 —(CUP)— A large majority of the Civil Liberties Union voted in favour of a Canadian Bill of Rights at UBC recently. The proposed Bill was recently tabled at Ottawa by Senator Arthur Roebuck.

The "aye" vote was recorded in spite of the denunciation of the Bill by all university representatives of all political parties. The arguments against adoption of the Bill were, that it would not be enforceable due to the provincial-dominion division of power; "as long as man is nothing but a factor of production, a bill of rights will be meaningless and "putting up on the wall" of a list of resolutions would be useless unless there was an understanding of basic general principles.

Not Allowed To Think Students Lose Freedom Claim Of Grad Group



At an informal discussion on "Are we losing our academic freedom?" held in the Graduate Union last Tuesday it was generally agreed that academic freedom is being lost.

The International Relations Club Representative, Mr. Hall, said that academic freedom involves a sense of academic responsibility which is not being met by teachers who persistently attempt to indoctrinate their students with a particular point of view.

Mr. Carlsen, of the Department of Economics, attributed the restriction of academic freedom to the state of strained international relations which exists in the world today. He warned against the general application of this view to all cases and pointed out the complexity of the question and the difficulty of making any general judgments.

Omar Walmsley, representing the Students' Peace Council, called attention to the fact that academic freedom is not merely an absence of restraint, but implies the existence of an active, positive attitude toward freedom.

Union Director Addresses School Of Grad Studies

CHARLES H. MILLARD, National Director of Canada's largest union, the United Steel Workers of America, will address a formal discussion group of the School of Graduate Studies in the Graduate Students Union Lounge, Wednesday evening, December 7, at 8:30 p.m. His topic will be "The American Steel Strike" and following Mr. Millard's address, there will be the usual open discussion period.

Mr. Millard, a CCF member since 1933, joined the Automobile Workers Union and gave local leadership in the General Motors Strike in 1937. Appointed Canadian Director of the Steelworkers' Union in 1940, he helped to found the Canadian Congress of Labour in the same year. In 1947 he was labour delegate to the International Labour Organization of the United Nations in Geneva. In addition Mr. Millard is a CCF MPP in the Ontario Legislature for York West.

"Bucky" Fuller

A Poet Expounds "Dymaxion"

By STU CAULEY

Richard Buckminster Fuller who is making his first visit to Toronto, December 15th, under the auspices of the Architectural Society of the University of Toronto, is a hard man to classify.

He is professionally part engineer, part architect, part writer, part mathematician, part philosopher, part mechanic, part poet.

When pressed for the topic of his lecture here, it was difficult to pin him down to a specific topic. The title he finally decided to use, "The designer takes the initiative—the broadening function of design in the contemporary world," is only a beginning.

Wide Range of Conversation

He has been known, in the space of one evening to discuss fluid geography; the migration of civilizations in a north-west spiral; electronic sewage disposal systems to eliminate the waste of water now consumed by plumbing installations; a telephone voting system by means of which each citizen could register in Washington every day his opinion on issues being debated; combustion engines which could operate anywhere in the world on fuel generated from leaves and brush; and the evaluation of a civilization in terms of the linear total of its curved surfaces.

The engineering world knows Fuller chiefly for his Dymaxion houses that hang from masts. The Dymaxion house is a drum of aluminum and plexiglass suspended above the ground by guy-wires from a central mast running through the centre of the structure. Since the most efficient way to use metals is in tension rather than compression, the walls are hung instead of supporting the weight of the roof.

Result of Years of Research

The house is the result of years of research, starting from the basic principle that if all people are to get high quality shelter, that shelter must be industrially produced in enormous quantities. Since mass production means mobility and that in turn calls for minimum weight, the house is constructed of light materials which can be easily worked with production machinery.

Proof that this end of the problem has been solved is the fact that two full-sized prototypes have been built in an aircraft factory using existing machine tools and techniques.

The Dymaxion house has two bathrooms with fixtures, walls, ceilings and floors all formed of metal in one unit. The living-dining room space and two large bedrooms lie around the circumference like huge slices of pie with the dividing walls which fan out from the centre providing lavish closet space.

Wouldn't Be Dull

In reply to the charge that a street of such houses would be monotonous and dull. Mr. Fuller points out that the charm we so much admire in the early New England towns derives largely from the fact that the streets are a fairly uniform repetition of good original design. The dullness of our residential streets is the result of poor original design which strives to be varied but is prevented by economic considerations. These are the consequence of our failure to make full use of our technology to provide our shelter.

His use of the word "Dymaxion" is the key to his whole philosophy. It was coined from the words "dynamic" and "maximum." His basic concept is this: to obtain in all factors which pertain to living the maximum net performance output per gross energy input. The main interest of his life is the study of man in relation to his physical environment, and the devising of means by which he can most effectively master his environment. He maintains, for example, that world

(Continued on Page 5)

THE VARSITY

ESTABLISHED 1880

Member Canadian University Press

Published five times a week by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto. Opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily the opinion of the Students' Administrative Council.

Editorial Office: University College basement, Room 78 ..... MI 8742
Business and Advertising Office ..... MI. 6221
Editor-in-chief ..... Stan Fillmore, 5T0
Women's Editor ..... Joan Eddis, 5T1
Managing Editor ..... Bill Gagnon, 5T0
Makeup Editor ..... Frank Moritsugu, 5T2
News Editor ..... Jack Gray, 5T3
Assistant News Editor ..... Jim Knight, 5T1
Sports Editor ..... John L. Kennedy, 5T0
Women's Sports Editor ..... Conn Sparrow 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bill Ross, 5T0
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Bob Dnieper, 5T1
Feature Editor ..... Herb Wood, 5T0
A.M. & D. Editor ..... William Glenesk, 4T9
Photo Editor ..... Peter Wade, 5T1
Assistant Photo Editor ..... Walt Mackenzie, 5T2
CUP Editor ..... A. N. Other 5T3
Business and Advertising Manager ..... E. A. Macdonald, B.A.

NIGHT EDITOR: Jim Simpson
ASSISTANTS: Eileen Pine, Richard Clee

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1949

Politics At University

(The following editorial is reprinted from the McGill Daily, student newspaper of McGill University.)

Field Marshal Earl Wavell, in his address to students of Macdonald College Wednesday night, which he termed "a few thoughts on leadership in democracy", presented some views which deserve special thought by McGill students just at this time.

Some will be quick to suggest, of course, that Earl Wavell was thinking of Churchills and Trumans. But he stated pointedly: "It is upon you young men, who have the advantage of education and training in the universities of Canada, that much will depend." Precious little will depend upon those university students who spend four years at the university well insulated from the practical world: "There are too many theorists without practical experience among our present-day politicians", Earl Wavell declared. And he mentioned the difference between "well spoken" and "well done" — a difference which we think stands out more prominently in the traits of university students than in any other group of people.

"If you continue to choose your leaders wisely and to follow them loyally, you will not only be one of the great nations, but you will make a great contribution to the peace of the world and to the advancement of civilization," declared Earl Wavell. Here is where we would like to inject a note of particular concern.

We say so often that university students are "the leaders of tomorrow" that anyone who expresses doubt would probably be branded a heretic. Nevertheless, more and more pressure is being put on university students who would like to discuss all forms of political theory — pressure of various forms which tends to make the average Canadian university student look upon politics as merely a "dirty game", something for "other people." More and more, it seems, political discussion beyond the range of class room assignments is becoming a novelty at Canadian universities.

At McGill political activity is practically at a standstill. Leaders of the campus political clubs, none of which probably have more than fifty active members, snort at each other occasionally through the "letters to the editor" column, and this seems to be the most active part of political discussion on the campus.

University students "could be the leaders of tomorrow" would probably be a more correct way of viewing the use which they could make of their education. But with the apparently increasing political inactivity of university students, we are inclined to think we are in the position of the "leader" Earl Wavell mentioned in his address.

"When I was a boy", declared Earl Wavell, "my father told me a story which has always stayed in my mind. It was of an excitable, uncontrolled mob during a revolution in Paris who were rushing down a street into obvious danger and disaster; a little behind them came a less excited and more reasonable man. A bystander stopped him and asked, 'Why are you following that crowd? Can't you see they are only taking you into trouble?' 'Mais il faut que je les suive' was the answer, 'je suis leur chef.' That, of course, is not leadership."

Our Readers Write

Politics & Music

Editor, The Varsity:

I do not feel that your music reviewer has any right to bring politics into his column. I refer to a review signed by William Glenesk on Paul Robeson. If Mr. Robeson came here as a political figure please write about him in another column than AM&D. As it is, if your reviewer had not been so "electrified with expectation of fireworks" possibly he could have given a review which was not permeated with propaganda — and starry-eyed propaganda at that.

J. Peassey, 5T0.

AM&D Editor's Note:

We remind reader Peassey that the air not us, was electrified — that Robeson's propaganda cannot be divorced from his performance in song.

* * *

Inaccurate Reporting

Editor The Varsity:

Usually the reporting of meetings on the campus is quite accurate but I would like to draw your attention to the write-up of Dr. Carpenter's lecture to the Junior Philosophy Club last Thursday evening. Mr. Carpenter did not say that dating was a game, but compared it to a game in which each partner can visualize the other's moves, in which there is no loser. Nor did the lecturer say that each man should have a line. He said that each man, since a stranger to his date, must make himself known to her by a brief autobiographical outline, mixed with wit and humor, and that this was usually called a line. I am amazed that such inaccurate reporting would appear in such a truthful newspaper.

After finishing his paper, Mr. Carpenter said that he was not there to moralize on human society. I am afraid that your reporter is just one of the many who were disappointed because Mr. Carpenter did not lay down a code of morals for them. After all it is not the duty of a lecturer to say what is right and what is wrong. The subject of the discussion was "Sex and Its Relation to Society" and this subject was covered to the satisfaction of the greater part of the audience. Mr. Carpenter showed the relation of sex in our dating pattern. He did not say that sex was not involved in the dating pattern but that more than sex should be taken into consideration when choosing a marriage partner.

Also I am rather ashamed of my fellow students who seemed to consider it their right to hurl insults at the lecturer. I, for one, am quite satisfied with the lecture and I am certain that I am not the only one.

George Irvine,
III Pass U.C.

No Communists Just Andy And Broda

Dear Editor:

The other day a six-armed statue was left at the City Hall for Controller Wallflour who immediately cried, "Communist." Knowing the tendency of the Honourable Gentleman's foot to head for his mouth like a homing pigeon every time that facial grand canyon gapes, I rather doubted the occasion, but I thought there might be a story in it. Naturally I set forth to obtain the truer story from Igor Beaver, dealer in new and second-hand state secrets.

I did not find Igor, but I ran into our mutual friend Tom-and-Jerry McGurgeldorf, the two headed student, coming out of his fraternity, Sigma Sigma Chi Chi. Tom-and-Jerry was able to explain.

The object is a statue of Handy-Andy Hannagan, a six-headed student. Handy-Andy, a man who has carried ambidexterity to its ultimate conclusion is well known at the better formal parties of Toronto, for he forms a reception line by himself. Always ready to lend a hand or two to any worthy campus cause, his name is a by-word, especially among musicians making a concert who find the applause of any audience which includes him, especially gratifying.

Handy-Andy is an accomplished juggler. His dexterity with his six hands is the reason for the statue. Last week, Handy-Andy performed the incredible feat of juggling the books of the U.C. Lit, for five continuous minutes, something only a six-handed man can do. In recognition of this amazing act, a statue of him was prepared for the Royal Ontario Museum.

While it was being transported to the museum, the statue was stolen by Turk Broda, who put Conn Smythe's name on it as a protest against an enforced diet, and left it on the City Hall steps.

Well, that's how it happened. No Communists involved. Mr. Wallflour should learn not to wave the bull in front of a red flag.

Yours sincerely,

Themistocles.

All Three Parties

(Continued from Page 3)

but the whole thing is too simple, too glib." he said.

"LPP Too Aggressive"

Progressive Conservative Club President Tom Symons said he felt it possible to broaden the educational opportunities within the existing set-up, and this could be done through increased scholarships. "It is my hope," he said, that eventually anyone (a) capable, (b) desirous of a university education should not be kept from it because of inability to pay." "The approach of the LPP is ridiculous," he said. "The term Canadian curriculum implies propagandizing instead of an honest search for truth." Symons said he felt the bill "is typically and aggressively phrased. The LPP alienates much support by its aggressive attitude and terms."

LPP Education Director Norm Endicott charged "the Trinity Tories are now the spokesmen for the financial monopoly of the robber barons of industry in the same way that Bishop Strachan was the spokesman for the 'family compact'." Endicott stated that "Canada has no national curriculum at present. It is possible to get a BA degree without even having read a book by a Canadian author."

The Right Smoke at the Right Price for Young Men

5¢

DAILY DOUBLE

U. of T. Symphony Orchestra
All Varsity Mixed Chorus

REHEARSAL

Wednesday, 8.00 p.m.

CONVOCATION HALL

again

SUNDAY, 10:30 A.M.

HART HOUSE BULLETIN BOARD

DEBATE

The third Hart House Debate will take place tomorrow (Wednesday night), 7th December, in the Debates Room at 8.00 p.m. when the Honorary Visitor will be Dr. Marcus Long of the Department of Philosophy. The topic for debate will be "Resolved that bottle fed babies seldom grow up." All members are cordially invited to be present.

VISITORS' DAY

Next Sunday, 11th December, will be Visitors' Day when members of the House may introduce guests between the hours of 2.00 and 4.00 p.m. The exhibition at present on view in the art gallery is composed of the work of Senior Members of the House and members of the Faculty of the University.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON RECITAL

Miss Muriel Kilby, marimbist and pianist, will give a recital in the Great Hall next Sunday afternoon, 11th December, at 3.15 p.m. Members and their guests, including ladies, are invited.

GLEE CLUB

Regular rehearsal of the Glee Club will be held at 5.00 p.m. today in the Music c

ART CLASS

The Art Class will meet in the gallery at 7.30 tonight.

ARCHERY

There will be a shoot in the range at 7.30 this evening.

HART HOUSE CHRISTMAS DINNER

The House Committee of Hart House is holding their annual Christmas Dinner on Thursday, 15th December, at 7.00 p.m. in the Great Hall. The Warden has sent out invitations to all undergraduate members of the House who are not likely to be able to go to their homes for any part of the Christmas vacation. If anyone who is eligible has not received an invitation will they please come to the Warden's office and obtain their ticket for the dinner before 6.00 p.m. on Tuesday, 13th December.

TUESDAY MID-DAY RECITAL

The recital in the East Common Room at 1.25 p.m. today will be given by Graham Jackson, Pianist, I Music.

THE VARSITY

Tuesday, December 6, 1949 THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO Page Three

U.S. Debating Trip Success —Toronto Duo

A two-man debating team co-sponsored by the University of Toronto Debating Union and the Hart House Debates Committee returned home late Sunday night from a tour of debating at five American universities with a record of two wins, two losses, and a "no decision". The Toronto men, Wally Fram, IV Law, and Elmer Sopha, IV Political Science and Economics, defended the affirmative side of the statement: "Resolved that basic non-agricultural industries of the United States should be nationalized."

Following is a chronological account of the tour, with the debates results:

Nov. 29, University of Rochester. A board of three judges gave Toronto the verdict in a two to one split.

Nov. 30, Princeton University One judge, Gideon Rosenbluth, Graduate of Political Science and Economics, University of Toronto, 1943, decided in favor of Princeton.

Dec. 1, New York University. One judge awarded the decision to New York University. He then asked how many in the audience agreed with his decision. The vote was 34-4 against him.

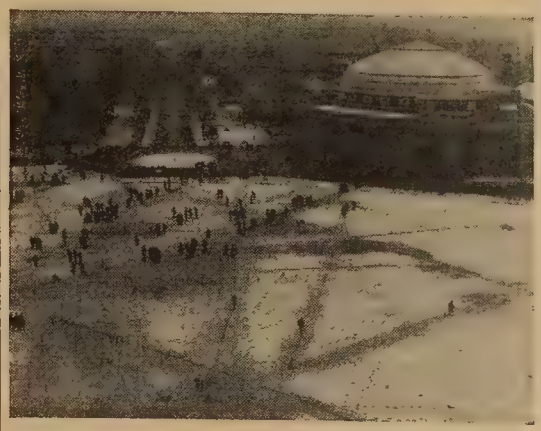
Dec. 2, Fordham University. No judges, shift of opinion poll. Before the debate nine people in the audience were against the motion, none were for it, and one person was undecided. After the debate six were against the affirmative (Toronto) and four were for it. The debaters competed for an audience against the Fordham basketball team, which was playing its first home game of the season.

Dec. 3, Columbia University. Three judges split two to one for Toronto.

The tour was arranged by SAC Debates Commissioner Dave Quigley, IV SMC, who wrote to the American universities and asked for dates for debates.

Officials at all American universities visited expressed pleasure at debating with a Canadian team and asked for the opportunity to have a return debate here. Fram and Sopha said the Americans seemed enthused about the parliamentary style of debate which Toronto uses and wish to learn more about it.

Unofficial Conductor



DR. KENNETH COUSLAND, M.C., Professor of Church History at Emmanuel College, and hymnologist, conducted the College choir in the annual carol festival before a capacity audience at Emmanel College Sunday night. Educated at the University of Edinburgh, Dr. Cousland combines an active chair of church history with an official role as conductor and musicologist at Emmanuel. (This sketch is by Lawrence Purdy.)

Literary Issue

There will be another of the series of annual Literary Issues of The Varsity with the deadline for contributions Dec. 7th. All essays, short stories, poetry and photography work must be submitted to The Varsity office soon as possible.

Off Again On Again

Chances are even whether the front campus will look like this or be a mass of messy gumbo or be a frozen layer of loam today. This interesting study of the network of beaten paths gives a fleeting if realistic impression of chequered paths of the campus scholars.

Holiday Work Still Open At P.O., Department Stores

Taxi-driving! Does this appeal to you as a job for your Christmas vacation? According to Employment Office officials in Hart House, several male undergrads have applied for such positions during the coming vacation season. Such a job, however, is open only for those students wishing to work on Friday or Saturday evenings.

Post Office Popular

Jobs at the Post Office are still open for both male and female undergraduates. According to the officials at Hart House and Miss Parke's Women's S.A.C. Office, the Post Office is the most popular job wanted by students for vacation employment. Over 800 girls have applied to the Post Office for jobs while the majority of the male applicants have applied for Post Office jobs.

Eaton's have sent application forms to the university for vacation job-hunters. At Eaton's a trade-school has been set up to train the rush-time help. This school teaches students the intricacies of filling out bills, working cash-registers, and waiting on customers.

Stores Want Help

Other department stores have positions for both men and women for the Christmas season. Some of these jobs can be taken early and the students may work part-time until the end of the term, Dec. 16, and then full time until Dec. 24. There are still positions for male undergraduates in men's furnishing stores and a few odd jobs in other types of stores.

There are a few people who wish young girls to accept positions of nursery - governesses in private homes. There are, also, according to Miss Parke, several families wanting help for one or two days around Christmas and New Year's.

Force And Spirit Attributes Of God In Baha'i Concept

Speaking yesterday to an open meeting of the Baha'i student group, Mr. Ross Woodman, UC grad, said the Baha'i concept of God was as of a knowable force.

"That God exists is evidenced by his attributes in nature and in man," Mr. Woodman went on. "Although God is unknowable in essence, man knows that he exists in force, spirit, energy and divine intelligence."

The speaker compared the prophets to the cohesive power of the mineral world. Moses provided the cohesion necessary to establish the tribal unit, he said. Muhammed established the national unit. "Today that same cohesive power is manifest in Baha'u'llah whose laws and teachings provide the basis of the world unit," he added.

"The teachings of Baha'u'llah for human society are designed for the needs of a world society and are concerned with world citizenship operating through institutions designed for world government," Mr. Woodman concluded.

All Three Parties To Oppose LPP In Mock Parliament

The leaders of the Progressive-Conservative Club, the Liberal Association, and the CCF Club have all stated their opposition to the bill to be introduced by the LPP Club at the first meeting of the Mock Parliament to be held on Thursday night.

Asks Broader Opportunities

The bill reads: (a) That working class and farm youth be proportionately represented among college students; and that there be equal opportunities for college students in all provinces: (b) That finance monopolists' control of Boards of Governors be abolished; and that people's representatives be elected in their place: (c) That a new curriculum be introduced to serve the people; and to assist in abolishing the exploitation of man by man.

Liberal Association President Henry J. Bradley said, "I think the motion is entirely too vague. In regard to the first part of the motion, who is to decide who is the farming class, who the working class? I have been under the impression that there are no classes in Canada."

About section (b), Bradley said, the Board of Governors "are not entirely monopolistic as suggested here. Since education comes under the jurisdiction of the Provincial Government," Bradley said, "we don't think a national Canadian curriculum is feasible" as outlined in section (c).

Liberals Opposed

"We are opposed to the motion," he said, "By that we do not mean that we are completely satisfied with the status quo, there definitely can be some changes made, but this motion is so far off that it is not even amendable."

CCF Club President Gordon Milling said that section (a) assumes too much. Proportional representation assumes that students proportionately selected from occupational groups will all want to attend University, he said. Milling said that, as for section (b), where control is a monopoly, the CCF IS opposed. "My only fear of the consequences of section (c) will be that the only prominent figure for whom a Canadian background can be found will be Joseph Stalin." We agree, he said, that our educational system is sadly lacking in a great many respects. "There are some good ideas behind this legislation,

(Continued on Page 2)

Sims To Deliver LPP Club Talk

ALDERMAN CHARLES SIMS, one of the two Communist members of Toronto City Council, will speak tomorrow at the open meeting of the University of Toronto LPP club to be held in Room 8, UC.

A coal miner from Tyneside, England, Mr. Sims has mined in Alberta and Soviet Russia as well. His topic for the LPP meeting will be "Why Students Should Greet Stalin On His 70th Birthday".

One of the more colorful members of the City Council, Mr. Sims has often clashed in debate with Controller Balfour. Following tomorrow's LPP meeting there will be a question period.

Skule Brawl Switches From Ajax to Toronto First Time This Year

The Engineer's Ball is to be held in Toronto for the first time since its inception at Ajax three years ago. With the Skule At-Home this will make two big dances to be held each year by the Engineering Society.

The dance was originated as "an excuse to bring a bevy of women out to Ajax, to make up for the deplorable lack of same."

The dance will be held at the Royal York Hotel on Wednesday, Dec. 7.

Social Liberal Not Socialist Say LPP'ers

Student LPP leader, Norm Endicott, charged yesterday at the regular meeting of the LPP forum that the leaders of the CCF had deluded the members of the party into thinking that they (the leaders) were working and fighting for socialism in Canada.

"The CCF is the best reform party in Canada," Endicott added, "but we must remember that a socially-minded liberal party is not a socialist party." The topic for the forum discussion was "Does the CCF Want Socialism?"

Supporting Endicott's view, Vic Tweedy, I Soc. and Phil., said socialism must come by evolutionary and democratic means. "Therefore, the leaders of the CCF are obscuring their ultimate aims to gain support of the Canadian people," he said.

Ben Shek, IV UC, declared that CCF leaders in the last election did not fight for the needs of the workers nor did they challenge the Liberals or Conservatives on any important issue.

The discussion was closed by Chairman Endicott who pointed out that the CCF government of Saskatchewan permitted private enterprise to buy out the oil rights of that province instead of nationalizing the oil industry. "This would have been a step towards socialism but the government did not take it," he declared.

Dents Moving

Back To Vaudeville

No longer do the movies take the place of vaudeville. On Friday and Saturday of this week, Dentantics will prove the reverse to be true. "A Night at the Movies" presents a full evening at the local cinema, complete with newsreel. The "selected shorts" include a March of Time and a Coming Events preview. A feature presentation is one of the high spots, and the directors promise the only omission to a complete bill will be a B picture.

A hush-hush atmosphere prevails around the cavities of the Dental Building regarding the rumor of a mysterious donation. Seems a donor who wishes to remain anonymous will present Hart House Theatre with a valuable token of appreciation. The whole operation is sealed in secrecy until Friday night and officials of the Dents production promise, or threaten, a stupendous surprise.

Ready Early

One remarkable aspect for a campus show is revealed in the fact that final full rehearsal before the dress took place five days before the show. "Dentantics has been ready for months," quotes an official. The original script was written in September with an overall contribution by various types and sexes. There is a dancing chorus of nine luscous Dental Nurses, and an orchestra made up exclusively (with two exceptions) of Dents students.

To replace the quartet of last year's production who managed to graduate this year, a 15-voice choir has been organized under the direction Gid Rowntree, director of the faculty show and an accomplished musician in his own right. Gid plays the trombone, saxophone, trumpet, piano and musical saw, and is member of the Blue and White band. "The choir compares very favourably to the others I've heard," promises its leader.

Gags Understandable

"The gags are not restricted to the interests of Dents students," states Dave Mitchell, stage manager for the production. The local comedy ranges from the University of Toronto to a bit of borrowed talent, Rita Hayworth. Howard Hasenpflug, reputed Horastaccotonist, has a new version for clarinet of the famed melody. Al Chapple, who received raves from the critics in last year's show, and Barney Mass, former Winnipeg CBC star, are important features in the show.

Rowntree, who has taken part in almost every campus show for the past four years, is aided by Messrs. Shaunessy, Mitchell, Pawnell, and Pritchard.

Owing to the reputed demand of other faculties, the show this year will run for two nights, an innovation for the Dents production. There are to be two shows each night, with dancing to Ellis McClintock on Friday.

TALKING SHOP

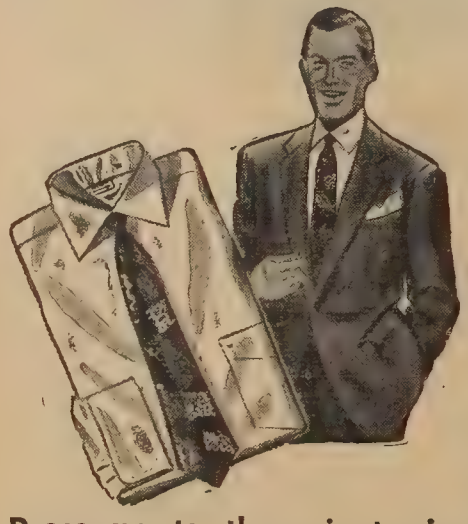
NEWS FROM THE EVANGELINE SHOPS ... bigger and better assortments in every line, with prices down on British sweaters, wonderful extra fitting imported French and Italian gloves, matched sets of lingerie that can be purchased separately or in sets, and a splendid collection of new handbags from which to choose that very special gift. This season every Evangeline Shop is teeming with more variety than ever, and as usual each Evangeline shop is the shopping area de luxe for the canny lady who likes to choose her items with relation to other, where they can be matched or mixed to the exactly right colour shading.

✣ ✣ ✣

THE CONCERT VERSION OF CARMEN ... at Massey Hall, Dec. 13th and 14th will be something to take your girl to if she takes a dim view of be-bop, looks pallid, and is in danger of becoming studious. Designed to take the bleakness out of winter, the event is presented by the C.B.C. Opera Company in collaboration with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and with Nicholas Goldschmidt, conducting. Leading parts will be sung by Margaret Kerr as Carmen, Pierre Boutet as Don Jose, Gilles Lamontagne as Escomillo and Mary Morrison as Michaela. It's going to be quite an event with potent orchestration doing right by the big moments.

✣ ✣ ✣

THERE ARE LOVELY THINGS at Joan Rigby's just now ... and any misguided individual who is under the impression that only such larger purchases as suits, coats, formals and daytime dresses are available at Joan's should drop in and look at the accessory items. Included are exquisite French perfumes, the celebrated Mary Chess cosmetic sets ... wonderfully tailored handbags for daytime and evening ... gossamer-soft nylon undies that are trimmed with fine net and lightly embroidered, soft as a summer breeze, durable, as well ... not as expensive as you think and an investment in durability. The address, 54 Bloor Street West.



TEASDALL'S at 804 Yonge Street are still offering ten percent reductions to University students on the purchase of a suit or coat, also they can help you do it the easy way with budget terms. Women in search of a gift for a man are invited to do some reconnoitering at Teasdall's, where almost everything the eye can see except the lighting fixtures is designed to put a gleam in a discerning man's eye. Teasdall's is just above Bloor on Yonge, where the college crowd does a large share of its men's wear shopping, and they're co-operative in helping a lady with a man on her conscience.

✣ ✣ ✣

ALWAYS AT THIS SEASON ENGAGEMENT RING SHOPPING gets brisk and ing a ring that outshines the years. serious. But all year 'round there's engagement ring activity at Scheuer's where their special value in a choice of two rings at a hundred dollars attracts the man who shops for cash, likes to save an honest penny by so doing, and knows the value of donat-The two choices are between a beautiful blue-white solitaire, and a three-stone ring, both exquisitely designed, in white or yellow gold, and either one a ring to be cherished. The address, 131 Yonge Street, facing Temperance.

✣ ✣ ✣

NOTE TO A YOUNG MAN trying to get along ... the F. J. Watt Sportswear Shops look favourably on the male shopper because Watt's finds that the gents usually know what they want in the way of feminine gift items and have an uncanny way of picking out the best, also give Watt's a sense of direction in what a young man likes to see a gal wear. Watt's are replete just now with gifts of the better type, and don't hesitate to gift-wrap same, to ease the bit-and-piece shopping for paper and ribbon. Being in Campus territory, Watt's will be busier than somewhat for the next three weeks.

Dress up-to-the-minute in
ARROW'S SPREAD COLLAR STYLES

There's a touch of real style in Arrow's spread collar models—Arrow Windsor Soft Spread with inserts and Arrow ARNO Fused collar.

In whites, pleasing stripes and plain colors, (also French cuffs if desired), these Arrows are SANFORIZED—guaranteed never to shrink out of fit. Need we mention that Arrow makes the neatest-fitting collars?

Today's the day to see 'em! Please drop in!

Teasdall's CLOTHES SHOP
804 YONGE ST.
(Just north of Bloor)

Women's Page

WAA Sports Privileges

More Than You Know

By BETTY ASTON

All women undergraduates of the University of Toronto and Affiliated Colleges who have paid their athletic fee are members of the U. of T. Women's Athletic Association. Athletic fees are included in the lump sum coeds pay out in September. Thus nearly every coed is a member of the W.A.A. but few of them know it, or to what privileges it entitles them.

The greatly reduced rates that U. of T. women pay for bowling, riding and golf are made possible by the subsidies granted by the WAA from the Athletic Privileges Fee. Also included are the free skating enjoyed at Varsity Arena, use of the Aurora ski grounds, gymnasia for competitive sports and swimming at Hart House, OCE and the LM pool.

Club Presidents Work Hard

The directorate, however, operates through the athletic clubs. Club presidents are elected each year and have a great deal of responsibility and hard work cut out for them. Most students are inclined to take the various clubs for granted and do not realize what a tremendous job the presidents have mapped out for them. Each president arranges her schedule, is responsible for referees and umpires, and slaves for hours to make everything run smoothly.

The particular responsibility of the directorate however, is intercollegiate competition. They control all the financing and regulations for both clubs and intercollegiate teams, working on a budget which allows each sport a fixed sum to cover costs of equipment, rental of gyms and travelling expenses.

Graduate studies and OCE students are not allowed to represent the university on these teams because the W.A.A. feels they have had their chance in undergraduate years, so that it is only fair to the present undergraduates that they be withheld from intercollegiate competition. Moreover this is the first year that Physio, OT and Arts as Applied to Medicine students have been allowed to try out for intercollegiate teams.

How T's Are Awarded

Athletic awards, i.e., Senior and Junior T's, athletic colours, and shields are issued on the recommendation of the club president, but under the jurisdiction of the WAA who are credited with mature, unbiased and fair judgment.

A senior T is never awarded except for outstanding ability on an intercollegiate team. Members of a winning intercollegiate team and those of exceptional ability on a losing team are usually honoured in this way.

The Junior T is the middle award and colours are third. Winners of intramural competitions and less outstanding members of intercollegiate teams are awarded Junior T's or third colours and all those on winning intramural teams receive shields.

One Came From "Soo"

Anyone in her graduate year who has never been elected for a T may be recommended by club presidents for an athletic award even though she has not played on a championship team. This occurs for faithful attendance and enthusiasm combined with sports ability.

Those who have been awarded Senior T's feel a sense of 'camaraderie' as evidenced by the reunion held on Homecoming Weekend this year. Senior T holders from as far back as 1920, with one girl coming all the way from the Soo, met to renew old acquaintanceships.

Thirteen On Directorate

Getting back to the WAA proper, it is managed by the directorate consisting of two representatives from the Faculty appointed by the president of the university, undergraduates elected by an electoral body of undergraduates, an undergrad director elected by the SAC, the Assistant Director of the Health Service, the Physical Director for Women and the Financial Secretary. This year's reps are Jean Cossar, Rosanna Kelly, Diane Rogers, Alison Jeffries, Jane Mathews, Joan Summerville, and Dorothy Stilwell.

These girls and especially the ten club presidents who are perhaps the ten most important girls on the campus, as far as sports organization is concerned, deserve more than the small amount of credit and recognition shown them.

Distaff Side

By MANNE MURTON and ARGOT BURRAY
(our Lower Slobbovian Correspondents)

Lower Slobbovia (Exchange)—Professors here at the University of Lower Slobbovia are an enigma. They are a select race of near human beings, the anthropologists' delight. This race is divided into various distinct species: the Psychology professor is vastly different from the Chemistry professor; the Geography professor is poles away from the Economist. And of course the English professor is a kind unto himself. All professors, however, of no matter what species, have one common characteristic; each considers that he himself is God's gift to his chosen field.

The chief aim of every professor is to seem to devote enough time to his students to be kept on the U. of L. Slob. staff, and yet to have enough time left over to write The Book—the all-time masterpiece which will leave nothing more in his subject to be discovered. This Book, when it is written (and it often is!) never actually succeeds in being the aforementioned masterpiece. But the professor-author is always assured of one thing. By prescribing his book for his course, his students must buy it (or flunk), and he can live in luxury off the ill-gotten royalties. That is, until one of his rivals writes a more masterly masterpiece . . . ad infinitum, ad nauseam. . . .

In order to camouflage their literary activity, and to create a suitable appearance of interest in their students, professors have dreamed up many complicated devices. Chief among these are essays, tests, and ten-thousand word theses, while as minor affliction may be classed such things as tiresome little papers, book reports, group discussion, unlimited outside reading, and "practical" work.

What is amazing about such student-professor relations is that the L. Slob. student, year after year, meekly accepts these burdens without realizing that the professors couldn't care less about a mere undergraduate's opinions. And at the precise moment when the student is propounding a startling and original theory, the professor, with extreme disdain and inattention, is wondering whether or not the hypothesis in Chapter 3 paragraph 2 should be discussed at length (and we aren't just kidding!) in Chapter 69.

Professors (and this certainly isn't a startling and original theory) are an enigma. Their minds are so supercharged with learning and so hyper-sensitive in their reaction against work that they have devel-

(Continued on Page 5)

Christmas Employment
WOMEN STUDENTS

Employment is available with the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., part time, half or full days, until December 16 and full time December 16 to 24. Rate of pay: 60c an hour. Application forms available now in Students' Administrative Council Office, Room 62, University College. Applicants must attend Sales School, on pay, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. any day this w

TICKETS FOR
"The Red Mill"
BY VICTOR HERBERT
DEC. 5 - 6 - 7 HART HOUSE still available
U.C. ROTUNDA

Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto
WEDNESDAY FIVE O'CLOCKS
SEASON 1949 - 1950
FIRST CONCERT
December 7
PARLOW STRING QUARTET
assisted by Ross Lechow, violist
Quartet in D major (K499) Mozart
Quintet in G major (Opus III) Brahms
Conservatory Concert Hall
University Ave. at College St.
STUDENT TICKETS FIFTY CENTS

ANNOUNCING THE P.B.C.'s FIFTH ANNUAL YULETIDE YUMP
THURS. DEC. 22 — ART HALLMAN — EATON AUDITORIUM $2.50
WATCH FOR TICKET SALES IN THURS. VARSITY

Vigorous "Grandmothers"

Compares Czech And Pioneer

All her life Kathleen Coburn has wanted to write about her "Gran." The resulting book, "The Grandmothers," is the first work of fiction that the Victoria College professor has written.

When some Czechoslovakian friends described their grandmother to her, Professor Coburn saw her story grow from the foresightedness and vigor common to both grandmothers.

"There was my story," said the small, fair-haired authoress. "It hasn't a plot—it has a design."

Miss Coburn wanted "The Grandmothers" to be more than the lives of two women; she wanted a description of the early, rugged background of Upper Canada, and a picture of human nature.

Written during her holidays at Georgian Bay, in the war years, "The Grandmothers" is, in the authoress' own words, "an attempt at something constructive in the midst of destruction."

And, she pointed out, the story was revised many times, "just like your essays."

Czechoslovakia is the home of the second grandmother. This is natural, because, as the merry-eyed professor said, "Czechoslovakia is supposed to be the Ireland of Europe."

"But the Czechoslovakian section took a great deal more research than I had imagined."

Professor Coburn had visited Czechoslovakia on trips to Europe and illustrator John Hall who is also on the staff of the university has imitated the native style and colouring for the book's cover and prints.

"And it has all been checked by the Czechs," laughed the authoress.

For the material on the Canadian section, Professor Coburn went directly to Ontario farms, where the Fenian raids are still remembered by the oldest inhabitants.

Kathleen Coburn has written "The Philosophical Lectures of Samuel Taylor Coleridge." Many of Taylor's lectures previously had been unprinted or in scattered collections.

Miss Coburn is a graduate of Victoria College. After graduation she studied at Oxford University. At present an assistant professor of English, she is the first Canadian woman to be awarded by the International Federation of University Women for her research in English.

How does Professor Coburn pass her spare time? Says the rugged authoress: "I haven't any."

NOTICE

Would all individuals and organizations who want to have items in "What's On To-Day" and "Coming Events" please have their copy in by 4 p.m. of the preceding day. This is necessary for technical reasons.

Please be careful in this respect, since every day we have to refuse a number of items for this reason. If possible type them in this office under guidance of staff members.

UC-PHE Women Vote For SAC Rep To-day; Murray, Eddis Candidates

UC and PHE women go to the polls again to-day to elect their SAC representative for 1950-51. The two candidates are Zaira Murray and Joan Eddis, both in UC III.

An election for the UC-PHE rep. was held a week ago but the result was nullified because the Women's Undergraduate Association had not realized that the graduating years were allowed to vote. In this election 140 votes were cast, giving Joan Eddis a slim majority.

Last week when the WUA executive decided to hold the election again, President Jane Ratz said: "This is a most regrettable mistake. Under the circumstances the executive did not feel that the election could be allowed to stand when such a large portion of the electorate had been disenfranchised."

The WUA executive decided a separate vote for those in fourth honor, third pass and third PHE could not be held because this would be unconstitutional. In holding a UC election the voting must be open to all undergraduate members of the Association.

All UC and PHE women may use their franchise to-day from ten until four o'clock in the UC rotunda.

Distaff Side

(Continued from Page 4)

oped an amazing ingenuity. Of course we aren't bitter—just curious.

We're just dying to know whose ingenuity it was that thought up the short-cut for marking exam papers. Everybody knows that after the professors have thrown them down the stairs in handfuls, they allot to those papers that fell the farthest the highest marks—and so on down up the stairs. If you don't follow us, we don't blame you, because we ourselves can hardly understand. Professors here really are so enigmatic.

WOMEN'S ED NOTE—It is interesting for us to see how U. of Lower Slob. professors operate.

Book Review

The Grandmothers

Kathleen Coburn has in her story of Mary Anne and Anca Marenka created for the readers of 'The Grandmothers' the drama of the two worlds in which these strong, simple women worked and lived. Their lives are the story of the peoples of early Ontario in pioneer days with all the hardships of the new land facing them and of the land which was to become the nation of Czechoslovakia but which at that time was under the yoke of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Miss Coburn has used the ever-changing elements of nature — winds, storm and sunshine — together with the treasured storehouses of the fields and forests as the workshop of these thrifty women. Although continents apart, these two women display the same sterling characteristics, through their devotion to their family and to the community in time of need.

Canada

Mary Anna, in her new environment in Toronto is beset with the problem of providing for her children and their education. The son was to attend the new college, Victoria College, and was to become ordained as a minister. The difficulties of her struggle to give them food and clothing during the depression of the nineties is very vividly told by the author together with an excellent description of Toronto of that day.

Czechoslovakia

On the other side of the world Pani as Anca Marenka is affectionately known becomes the backbone of her community, giving strength to the striking miners and credit to their families when funds ran out. She steels the women of the area not only by financial help but by her sound advice and courageous actions.

Although there are tragic incidents there are many other homely situations which Miss Coburn depicts with subtle humour, as well as some very charming references to the folk songs of Czechoslovakia.

Her knowledge of the regions is very evident in her detailed descriptions of the landscape and costumes and her minute awareness of the customs of the people.

In particular one might call attention to the beautiful prologues introducing each chapter. Their mood sets the stage for the action to follow maintaining in themselves an integrated whole.

Illustrations

In conclusion we must mention the illustrations by John Hall. The artist has captured the writer's mood and has enhanced the book with simple but apt black and white line drawings. Above all the mood and flavour of the story is expressed by the cover which gives an added invitation to read Kathleen Coburn's book 'The Grandmothers'.

Dymaxion

(Continued from Page 1)

Industrialization is still in its infancy and 90 per cent of its visible tonnage is in the service of 25 per cent of the world family. Engineering alone, not political revolution, can arrange the methodical distribution of that tonnage to serve 100 per cent of the world's population.

Fuller spends his time now working at his mathematics and lecturing at many of the important schools across the country. His visit here will give Torontonians an opportunity to see how Bucky Fuller is sure they will be living in the next 22½ years.

VIC'S CORNER

Old turtle really had a day of it on Wed last. Although he wasn't given a chance to swim in the Mulock Cup, nor watch the Persian Kitten in the Scarlet & Gold, he did get a change of water. The first in three weeks!

Speaking of the Mulock Cup, orchids to coach Lou Fick. He did a great job, devoated a great deal of time to the boys, and produced one of the nicest rugby machines in years. When they won the game last week, they proved everything! No matter what Skule does to get the LGMB mobile (synonym for liquid) they can't match Vic.

The evening entertainment at Eaton Aud was in keeping with the afternoon spirit. Our Scarlet & Gold Revue was a great success. They did a wonderful job on the smallest budget imaginable. The gals deserve a lot of the credit, keeping costume costs to a minimum. We'll be there next year with bells on! (Maybe they will too!)

• • •

Class Pins, Grad Pix

The Assembly has selected a Vic pin. This is available with your appropriate year guard at a price of approx $2. This is to replace individual "class pins". Frosh especially will want these pins, but other years can get them too with their appropriate year guard. Orders will be taken till 'Xmas at the VCU office, with a $1 deposit.

Remember to check on the bulletin board first before coming down for your photos this week (Wed. & Fri., 10 until 2) A list will be posted each day with the names of those who have pictures ready in the VCU office. Come prepared to pay the balance you owe, preferably in cash, at VCU office 10-2 p.m. Torontonesis orders this week too in the VCU office.

• • •

Class Parties

The 5T0-5T1 joint party, the big "Santa Shuffle" with live musicians and Santa Claus will come off this Friday, Burwash as usual. The gang have a real show lined up. At last the presidents, Glenn Ross and Dick Bowles are working on it!

Important news for 5T2 too. Class party this Saturday, Dec. 10, at Wymilwood. Looks like a big show with news of dancing and food too. The residence men will be there, even if the rest of the year isn't!

• • •

Mathletics

Your friend and mine, Al Strike, is slowing up! Had planned to make this "pat-on-the-back-week", but says it will be next week instead. Anyway a great big whack for Lou Fick and the boys for now

The soccer lads deserve something more than verbal praise for their showing this week. They played 4 games in 6 days, two of which were replays due to the games. They finally bowed out, down one point. It was a hectic week, and would have meant another game next day if they'd won. A schedule like that isn't human! Know they deserve the cup, and they would be sitting pretty in any ordinary schedule. Nice work anyway, gang.

Basketball 5ths are still open for players in the major league, says coach John McKenzie.

Minor basketball begins after 'Xmas, definitely. Any team wanting practice hours however can get them by signing the board in Little Vic If you want a ball, Mr. Manager, see Walt Pridham, HU. 4357.

Hockey schedule is under way. Sr. Vic tied Skule 4-4 after a lapse in final minutes of play. Jr. Vic took the doctors 2-0.

Freshman swimming meet on 8 Dec Sign your entry form in Intramural office. More points for the Reed Trophy!

Jr. Boxing and wrestling tournament on Dec. 7-8 too. Sign before Wed. in same office.

Gathletics

Gals' hockey, the favorite sport of all men, is under way. First practice on Friday 9.30. "Get your skates out of the moth-balls". (Moth- are getting hard up these days, eh Jeff!)

Volleyball lists are up in Vic and Wymilwood now Guess what you're supposed to do to them? And if you don't hurry up, there'll be no volleyball team! If you add your phone number it might help.

Snoopography

Really snoopin' this time. Jack Birkenshaw is our social director. A Lawrence Park man, he's played football since the cradle the last Recently worked on the Blues intermediates. What he'll do when he graduates in Maths & Physics this year is guesswork. He'll probably be hunting for bands ... it's his hobby now! By the way, he also plays ping-pong.

Merry Xmas to those who won't be around next week.

Back to Zymurgy! PIK

(Advertisement)

THE STUDENTS' ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL
presents
THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
ALL-VARSITY MIXED CHORUS
LEE HEPNER, conductor

- FRANCK . . . Symphony in D. Minor
- BERLIOZ . . . Excerpts from the Damnation of Faust
- BORODIN . . . Dance Polovtsienne

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 11 — 8.20 P. M.
CONVOCATION HALL ADMISSION FREE

MOCK PARLIAMENT
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8 8 P.M.
ALUMNI HALL, VICTORIA COLLEGE
Bill I—
To Democratize Higher Education in Canada
Government: Led by Labour Progressives Opposition: Led by Progressive Conservatives

UNIVERSITY TOURS LTD.
SUMMER TOURS TO EUROPE
Small groups personally conducted by well-known university professors. Good hotels. Private baths in many hotels. Extensive motoring. One Canadian management throughout. Preliminary folders on these tours will be ready for mailing Tuesday.

GRAND TOUR—66 days
